MICAH—NOTE ON 6:9 the city. Probably Jerusalem and its inhabitants.

MICAH—NOTE ON 6:10–11 treasures of wickedness . . . wicked scales. The Lord cannot tolerate his people’s gaining wealth by unfair business practices (compare Prov. 11:1; 20:10).

MICAH—NOTE ON 6:13 Therefore I strike you . . . , making you desolate. This general statement of the Lord’s judgment connects the people’s wickedness (vv. 10–12) with the specific sentence that follows (vv. 14–15).

MICAH—NOTE ON 6:14–15 You shall sow, but not reap. Human activity is useless without God’s blessing. This is God’s sentence against his people for their sin (compare Deut. 28:30–31; Amos 5:11; Zeph. 1:13).

MICAH—NOTE ON 6:16 Omri . . . Ahab. These wicked kings of Israel (the northern kingdom) had been a corrupting influence even on the southern kingdom of Judah (see 1 Kings 16:25–33). walked in their counsels. Replacing the Lord, their true counselor, with the ways of these wicked human kings led to desolation . . . hissing . . . scorn. Hope remains, however, because God still claims them (my people).

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:1–2 summer fruit has been gathered . . . grapes have been gleaned. . . . The godly has perished. In gleaning the fields of the summer harvest, one expects to find leftovers. Micah's search yields no godly remnant, only sorrow and futility (compare 6:14–15; Isa. 17:6).

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:3 The "asking" of the prince and judge and "uttering" of the great man highlight the constant demands of corrupt leaders.

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:4–6 day of your watchmen. Just as the lookout on the city wall warned of approaching danger, so Micah announced the approaching judgment (compare Ezek. 3:16–21; 33:7–9; Hos. 9:8). your punishment . . . their confusion. Both social and family relationships have broken down in a city under attack.

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:7 But as for me contrasts Micah with the unfaithful leaders of vv. 3–4 (compare 3:8). I will look identifies Micah with the watchmen of 7:4. I will wait . . . my God will hear me expresses the quiet confidence that God will act.

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:8 I fall . . . rise; . . . I sit in darkness . . . light. The city is compared to a prisoner of war, near death and in a dungeon of gloom. Yet the Lord provides the sure hope of freedom.

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:9 indignation of the LORD . . . he pleads my cause. The people admit that they have sinned. Yet they also know God forgives those who repent. out to the light . . . his vindication. The rightness and justice of the Lord's action are "seen" in the freeing of the prisoner and the shaming of the enemy.

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:10 shame will cover. . . . My eyes will look upon her. A reversal of roles takes place. Those nations that earlier desired to see Zion defiled (4:11) are now publicly scorned.

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:11–12 Three activities of the future day bind these verses together. (1) building . . . walls. The enemy "now trampled" (v. 10) contrasts with the rising security (compare v. 8) of Zion's walls. (2) boundary . . . extended. Beyond security, there is a promise of territorial expansion (Ex. 23:31; Isa. 26:15). (3) They will come refers to the gathered remnant (Isa. 11:11–12; Zech. 10:9–10) and the nations (Mic. 4:1–2; Zech. 14:16). Assyria . . . Egypt . . . sea . . . mountain. Salvation will go out to all the Gentiles.

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:13 desolate. Safety is found only in Jerusalem. Outside there is only a wasteland.

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:14 Shepherd your people . . . your inheritance is a request that the Lord would feed and protect the nation (compare Deut. 32:9; Ps. 28:9; 78:70–71). Bashan and Gilead. These fertile areas east of the Jordan were among the first lands that Israel gained when entering the Promised Land (Josh. 13:19–31). Centuries later, they were the first lands lost (2 Kings 10:32–33).

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:15 when you came out. The people of God in all ages are included in the deliverance from Egypt (compare Deut. 5:3). The Lord has acted in the past, and he will do so again. marvelous things. This term is associated with the Lord's acts in the presence of Pharaoh (Ex. 3:20).

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:16–17 see and be ashamed. This describes what the nations experience when they observe God's power (compare v. 10). the LORD our God. The shepherd of v. 14 is now identified. fear. The similar sound and spelling of "graze" (v. 14), "see" (v. 16), and "fear" (v. 17) clarify the interaction of the Lord with Israel and the other nations. God's people are fed, and the nations fear (compare Ex. 15:14–16).

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:18 Who is a God like you? The question emphasizes the uniqueness of the God who defends and pardons his people (compare Ex. 15:11; Deut. 3:24; Ps. 35:10; 89:5–8). because he delights in steadfast love. This is why God forgives. The confrontation resulting from Israel's sin (Mic. 1:5; 3:8) yields to the feeding (7:14) and forgiving of God's inheritance (Jer. 50:17–20).

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:19 cast . . . into the depths. As God cast Pharaoh's armies into the sea (Ex. 15:4), so he will deal decisively with the sins of his people (compare Jer. 31:34).

MICAH—NOTE ON 7:20 faithfulness . . . steadfast love . . . you have sworn. The book concludes by summarizing the Lord's key attributes and actions (Ex. 34:6–7; Deut. 4:31; 7:12). the days of old. God's character (his steadfast love) moves him to keep his word (his faithfulness). Thus the old promises to our fathers (Abraham and Jacob) still stand (see Gen. 12:1–9).

Author and Date

The prophet Nahum was God’s messenger to announce the fall of Nineveh and the complete overthrow of Assyria. Nahum refers to the fall of Thebes as a well-known occurrence (3:8–10). The Assyrian king Ashurbanipal conquered Thebes around 664 B.C. Nahum also predicts the fall of Nineveh, the capital of Assyria, as a future event. Nineveh fell in 612 B.C. The book was composed, therefore, between 664 and 612 B.C.

Theme

Nineveh, the arrogant capital of the Assyrian Empire, will be destroyed.

Purpose, Occasion, and Background

Nahum’s book is a sequel to, and a dramatic contrast with, the book of Jonah. Jonah’s mission to Nineveh was probably sometime in the first half of the eighth century B.C. (700s). To Jonah’s dismay, the Ninevites listened to his message, repented, and were spared God’s judgment.

This repentance, however, did not last beyond 745 B.C., when Nineveh became the leading military power in the Near East. In 722 B.C. the Assyrians conquered the northern kingdom of Israel. Nineveh was destroyed in 612 B.C., marking the end of the Assyrian empire.

Key Themes

1. The Lord is slow to anger and long-suffering, jealous for his own honor and for his people, but he is wrathful and avenging against his enemies. He controls nature, nations, and history. He is just, righteous, good, merciful, gracious, loving, and faithful. He delivers and protects those who trust in him.
2. God had used Assyria to punish unfaithful Israel and Judah. He also brought well-deserved judgment on Assyria, according to his timetable and method.
3. Nineveh fell because it was a godless and idolatrous city, a city of violence, lust, and greed.
4. The Lord of history is a “stronghold” for “those who take refuge in him” (1:7). He can handle all problems in individual lives. He has defeated powers far greater than Assyria. He grants to his own the ultimate defense and deliverance.

The Near East at the Time of Nahum

c. 660–614 B.C.

Nahum likely prophesied sometime between the high point of Assyria’s power around 664 B.C. and the fall of Nineveh in 612. During this time the Assyrian Empire was in decline. Meanwhile Egypt, Judah, and Babylonia regained autonomy and eroded the power of Assyria. Nahum foretold of the fall of Nineveh, the capital of the mighty Assyrian Empire.

The Global Message of Nahum

Not long after the Assyrian city of Nineveh repented because of Jonah's preaching, the same city was denounced by Nahum for its godlessness—godlessness which earned God's righteous wrath. "The LORD is a jealous and avenging God; the LORD is avenging and wrathful; the LORD takes vengeance on his adversaries and keeps wrath for his enemies" (Nah. 1:2). Thus opens Nahum's prophecy, and this is the message of this book of the Bible for the world today. The God of heaven is a God of mercy to the penitent, yet a God of doom to the impenitent. Avoiding the fierce punishment of the Lord is not dependent on ethnicity, class, intelligence, skin color, or family history, but on repentance and faith.

Nahum in Redemptive History

Judgment on Israel. God called a nation out from the rest of the world to be a blessing to the rest of the world. Yet even this chosen nation, called to be a kingdom of priests mediating God's grace globally (Ex. 19:6), needed grace themselves. They were themselves corrupt. As a result, God sent various godless nations to punish his people. Seven hundred years before Christ he sent the Assyrians.

Hope for Israel. Yet while God had used the Assyrians to punish his own people, this did not mean his covenant with Israel would be undone. God's gracious intention to bring them a Messiah from the line of David, a true and final king, would not be thwarted. The religious feasts of Judah, which God encouraged them to keep, should have reminded them of this coming king: "Behold, upon the mountains, the feet of him who brings good news, who publishes peace! Keep your feasts, O Judah" (Nah. 1:15).

Judgment for Israel's enemies. Not only is redemption promised for God's own people; judgment is assured for those who will not bow the knee and take refuge in the Lord. All those who cling to their own self-made places of refuge will experience the terrifying flood of divine wrath that is coming at the end of time. No one is exempt from God's righteous judgment that will overtake those who remain hostile to him.

Hope for all. For all those who take refuge in God and in the Savior he sent, however, all the fiery and terrible punishment that they justly deserve has been placed on another. Jesus Christ took God's wrath upon himself for the sake of all who would believe in him. Those who are in Christ, the apostle Paul tells us, were crucified with Christ, so that the punishment they deserve is now a past event to be wondered at, not a future event to be feared (Rom. 6:1–11; Gal. 2:20). This is good news; this is published peace (see Nah. 1:15).

Universal Themes in Nahum

Nahum's prophecy resounds with one key theme above all others: the horrifying experience of being judged by God when he is one's enemy. Listen to the way Nahum describes the punitive action of the Lord:

> The mountains quake before him;
>   the hills melt;
> the earth heaves before him,
>   the world and all who dwell in it. . . .
> His wrath is poured out like fire, >   and the rocks are broken into pieces by him. (Nah. 1:5–6)

The prophet is searching for language that will communicate the awful terror awaiting those who reject God and abuse God's people. For those who "take refuge in him," God "is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble" (1:7). But for those who stand against the Lord and his people, "with an overflowing flood he will make a complete end of the adversaries, and will pursue his enemies into darkness" (1:8).

God is not a kindly, affable grandfather-like figure to those who mock and oppose him. No corner of the earth will escape his hand of judgment—"all who dwell in it" will come under judgment if they have not taken humble refuge in him (Nah. 1:5).

The Global Message of Nahum for Today

It seems strange at first glance that the prophecy of Nahum, whose name means "comfort," would include so much denunciation and judgment. Yet as such denunciation is directed against Israel's oppressors, it is indeed a deep comfort. In Nahum we see that no matter what present circumstances may indicate, the Lord will bring every evil deed under his righteous judgment.

This is profound encouragement for believers today around the globe. Much of the pain involved in being a Christian can never be addressed in a human court of law—gossip, slander, ridicule, scoffing, avoidance. Even if persecution of believers involves actions that are clearly illegal, we cannot always expect justice from the legal system; such systems are operated by those who are themselves fallen and often unjust.

But there remains a divine court of law. And “the Lord will by no means clear the guilty” (Nah. 1:3). No wickedness committed against God’s people, however great or small, escapes the eye of God. His execution of justice will be decisive, overwhelming, and unavoidable. “Who can stand before his indignation? Who can endure the heat of his anger?” (1:6).

Believers worldwide can take heart at Nahum’s prophecy. The Lord is with them. He will bring justice in his own time.

NAHUM 1 [†] [a]An oracle concerning [b]Nineveh. The book of the vision of Nahum of Elkosh.

God’s Wrath Against Nineveh

2[†] [c]The LORD is a jealous and avenging God;
the LORD is avenging and wrathful;
[d]the LORD takes vengeance on his adversaries and [e]keeps wrath for his enemies.
3 [f]The LORD is slow to anger and [g]great in power, and [h]the LORD will by no means clear the guilty.
[i]His way is in whirlwind and storm, and the clouds are the dust of his feet.
4[†] [j]He rebukes the sea and makes it dry;
he dries up all the rivers;
[k]Bashan and [l]Carmel wither;
the bloom of [k]Lebanon withers.
5 [m]The mountains quake before him;
[n]the hills melt;
the earth heaves before him,
[o]the world and all who dwell in it.

6[†] [p]Who can stand before his indignation?
Who can endure the heat of his anger?
His wrath [q]is poured out like fire, and [r]the rocks are broken into pieces by him.
7[†] [s]The LORD is good,
[t]a stronghold in the day of trouble;
[u]he knows those who take refuge in him.
8[†] But [v]with an overflowing flood he will make a complete end of the adversaries,[1] and [w]will pursue his enemies into darkness.
9[†] What [x]do you plot against the LORD?
[y]He will make a complete end;
trouble will not rise up a second time.

10[†] For they are [z] like entangled thorns, like drunkards as they drink;
[a] they are consumed like stubble fully dried.
11[†] From you came one
[b] who plotted evil against the LORD, a worthless counselor.

12[†] Thus says the LORD,
“Though they are at full strength and many,
[c] they will be cut down and pass away.
[d] Though I have afflicted you,
I will afflict you no more.
13[†] And now [e] I will break his yoke from off you and will burst your bonds apart.”

14[†] The LORD has given commandment about you:
[f] “No more shall your name be perpetuated;
from [g] the house of your gods I will cut off the carved image and the metal image.
[h] I will make your grave, [i] for you are vile.”

15[†] [2] [j] Behold, upon the mountains, [k] the feet of him who brings good news, who publishes peace!
[l] Keep your feasts, O Judah;
[m] fulfill your vows,
[n] for never again shall the worthless pass through you;
he is utterly cut off.

The Destruction of Nineveh

NAHUM 2 [†] [o] The scatterer has come up against you.
[p] Man the ramparts;
watch the road;
dress for battle; [1]
collect all your strength.

2[†] For [q]the LORD is restoring the majesty of Jacob as the majesty of Israel, for plunderers have plundered them and [r]ruined their branches.

3[†] The shield of his mighty men is red;
[s]his soldiers are clothed in scarlet.
The chariots come with flashing metal on the day he musters them;
the cypress spears are brandished.
4 [t]The chariots race madly through the streets;
they rush to and fro through the squares;
they gleam like torches;
they dart like lightning.
5[†] He remembers [u]his officers;
[v]they stumble as they go,
they hasten to the wall;
the siege tower [2] is set up.
6[†] [w]The river gates are opened;
the palace [x]melts away;
7 its mistress [3] is [y]stripped; [4] she is carried off, her slave girls [z]lamenting, moaning like doves
and beating their breasts.
8[†] [b]Nineveh is like a pool whose waters run away. [5] “Halt! Halt!” they cry, but [c]none turns back.
9[†] Plunder the silver, plunder the gold!
There is no end of the treasure or of the wealth of all precious things.

10[†] [d]Desolate! Desolation and ruin!
[e]Hearts melt and [f]knees tremble;

[g] anguish is in all loins;
[h] all faces grow pale!
11[†] Where is the lions' den, the feeding place of [i] the young lions,
where the lion and lioness went,
where his cubs were, with [j] none to disturb?
12 [k] The lion tore enough for his cubs and [l] strangled prey for his lionesses;
he filled his caves with prey and his dens with torn flesh.

13[†] [m] Behold, I am against you, declares the LORD of hosts, and [n] I will burn your [6] chariots in smoke, and the sword shall devour your young lions. I will cut off your prey from the earth, and [o] the voice of your messengers shall no longer be heard.

Woe to Nineveh

NAHUM 3 [†] Woe to [p] the bloody city, all full of lies and plunder—
[q] no end to the prey!
2 The crack of the whip, and [r] rumble of the wheel,
[s] galloping horse and [t] bounding chariot!
3 Horsemen charging, flashing sword and [u] glittering spear, [v] hosts of slain,
heaps of corpses,
dead bodies without end—
they stumble over the bodies!
4[†] And all for the countless whorings of the [w] prostitute, [x] graceful and of deadly charms,

5[†] [m] Behold, I am against you,

declares the Lord of hosts,
and [y]will lift up your skirts over your face;
and I will make nations look at [z]your nakedness and kingdoms at your shame.
6 I will throw filth at you and [a]treat you with contempt and make you [b]a spectacle.
7[†] And all who look at you [c]will shrink from you and say,
“Wasted is [d]Nineveh; [e]who will grieve for her?”
[f]Where shall I seek comforters for you?

8[†] [g]Are you better than [h]Thebes [1] that sat [i]by the Nile, with water around her,
her rampart a sea,
and water her wall?
9[†] [j]Cush was her strength;
Egypt too, and that without limit;
[k]Put and the [l]Libyans were her [2] helpers.

10[†] [m]Yet she became an exile;
she went into captivity;
[n]her infants were dashed in pieces at the head of every street;
for her honored men [o]lots were cast,
[p]and all her great men were bound in chains.
11[†] [q]You also will be drunken;
you will go into hiding;
[r]you will seek a refuge from the enemy.
12[†] All your fortresses are [s]like fig trees with first-ripe figs—
if shaken they fall into the mouth of the eater.
13 Behold, your troops
[t]are women in your midst.

The gates of your land are wide open to your enemies;
fire has devoured your bars.

14[†] [u]Draw water for the siege;
[r]strengthen your forts;
go into the clay;
tread the mortar;
take hold of the brick mold!
15[†] There will the fire devour you;
the sword will cut you off.
It will [v]devour you [w]like the locust.
Multiply yourselves [w]like the locust;
multiply [w]like the grasshopper!
16[†] You increased [x]your merchants more than the stars of the heavens.
[w]The locust spreads its wings and flies away.

17[†] Your [z]princes are [w]like grasshoppers,
[a]your scribes [3] like clouds of locusts settling on the fences in a day of cold—when the sun rises, they fly away;
no one knows where they are.

18[†] Your shepherds [b]are asleep,
O king of Assyria;
[c]your nobles slumber.
Your people [d]are scattered on the mountains with none to gather them.
19 There is no easing your hurt;
[e]your wound is grievous.
All who hear the news about you
[f]clap their hands over you.
For [g]upon whom has not come your unceasing evil?

Study Notes for Nahum

1:1 Introduction. This is the only OT book that begins with a "double title." Oracle describes a prophetic proclamation (see note on Hab. 1:1). Vision indicates how God communicated the contents of the book to Nahum.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:2–8 A Psalm Descriptively Praising the Lord. These verses praise God as he has been and will be throughout world history. It presents God's attitude toward, and action relating to, his enemies and his people.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:2–3a The Lord is jealous to protect his relationship with his people. avenging. God's holy anger defends his word and his people. keeps wrath. . . . slow to anger (compare Ex. 34:6). God waits to display his anger until an appropriate time. great in power. If God delays his judgment, it is not due to any lack of power on his part. will by no means clear the guilty. Compare Ex. 34:7.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:4–5 Rebukes the sea . . . dries up . . . rivers recalls the exodus from Egypt (Exodus 14) and the conquest of Canaan (Joshua 3–4). Bashan was famous for its rich pasturelands. Carmel was well known for its beauty and its fruitful countryside. Lebanon was noted for its forests. Hills and mountains are symbols of permanence, but even they cannot stand before God.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:6 Fire is a frequent OT image describing God's wrath (e.g., Gen. 19:24; Ps. 11:6). Rocks, the hardest objects in nature, are easily shattered by the Lord.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:7 In contrast to his anger, God is good to his people. The Lord is the never-failing stronghold for his people (e.g., Ps. 27:1; 37:39), whom he knows with love and affection.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:8 A striking contrast to v. 7. Like an overflowing flood, God's judgment is overwhelming; Nineveh was to be destroyed as by a flood (see 2:6, 8). complete end . . . darkness. God’s judgment will end with death and everlasting separation from him.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:9–15 The Lord’s Coming Judgment on Nineveh and Deliverance of Judah. In these verses Nahum alternates between the Lord’s coming judgment on Nineveh and his gracious deliverance of Judah.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:9 plot. Plots to harm God’s people are ultimately against the LORD himself. Trouble (see v. 7) is what Judah experienced from Assyria.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:10 Entangled thorns can be thrown all at once into the fire, just as the Assyrians as a whole will be wiped out. Like drunkards, the Assyrians will be unable to defend themselves against their attackers.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:11 Worthless counselor refers either to a particular wicked Assyrian king or to the series of kings who reigned in Nineveh after Sennacherib made that city the capital.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:12b Though I have afflicted you. Suddenly God turns his attention to Judah (as he will again in v. 15). This dramatic change in the flow of v. 12 emphasizes the announcement of good news that follows. I will afflict you no more. Since God would overthrow Nineveh, the Assyrians would never again be Judah’s oppressor.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:13 his yoke. The Assyrian monarchs’ burdensome rule over Judah (see 2 Kings 18:13). break . . . burst. Judah was controlled by Assyria from about 734/733 B.C. (during the reign of Ahaz; 2 Kings 16:7–8) until the reign of Josiah (640–609), when Assyria began to decline rapidly and finally ceased to be a nation.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:14 You is masculine singular in Hebrew. Nahum suddenly switches to directly addressing the Assyrian king(s) (see v. 11). The Assyrian monarchy would come to a decisive end. the house of your gods I will cut off. Complete defeat of the Assyrian ruler would also be marked by the defilement of his temple and the destruction or removal of his idols. These represented the gods who he believed gave him power.

Archaeologists have confirmed the complete destruction of Nineveh's temples.

Afflictions of Assyria against Israel

The Neo-Assyrian period (935–609 B.C.) brought renewed threats from the Assyrians. God used the Assyrians to chasten wayward Israel. In Nah. 1:12 the Lord tells Judah that "Though I have afflicted you [through the Assyrians], I will afflict you no longer."

Assyrian Ruler	Reign	Affliction	Significance and Biblical References
Shalmaneser III	858–824 B.C.	Exacted tribute from "Jehu, son of Omri" according to the Black Obelisk	Defeated at Qarqar in 853 B.C. by a Syrian coalition that included "Ahab the Israelite"
Adad-nirari III	811–783	Exacted tribute from Jehoash of Israel	His attacks on Damascus enabled Jehoash to recover Israelite cities lost previously to Hazael (2 Kings 13:25)
Tiglath-pileser III (Pul)	745–727	Invaded the land and exacted tribute	To avoid deportation, Menahem paid tribute to Tiglath-pileser III (Pul) (2 Kings 15:19–20); Pul deported the Transjordanian tribes (2 Kings 15:29; 1 Chron. 5:26); Pul aided Ahaz of Judah against Rezin of Damascus and Pekah of Israel (2 Kings 16:5–10; 2 Chron. 28:16–21)
Shalmaneser V	727–722	Exacted tribute from Hoshea of Israel; took the northern kingdom (Israel) into exile	Hoshea refused to pay tribute and sought Egypt for help, the Assyrians besieged Samaria (2 Kings 17:3–6; 18:9–12)
Sargon II	722–705	Took credit for the invasion and exile of the northern kingdom (Israel) that began under Shalmaneser V	Sargon II may be the unnamed king of Assyria in 2 Kings 17:6
Sennacherib	705–681	Invaded Judah	Sennacherib besieged Lachish and forced tribute from Hezekiah (2 Kings 18:13–16); he besieged Jerusalem and demanded Hezekiah's surrender (2 Kings 18:17–19:9); the Lord delivered Jerusalem from Sennacherib (2 Kings 19:10–37). See also 2 Chronicles 32; Isaiah 36–37

FACT

Jonah and Nahum. During the 700s B.C., the prophet Jonah warned the people of Nineveh that God was going to destroy their city. The people repented and were spared from judgment. Over the next century, however, they returned to their sinful ways. Shortly after the warning from Nahum, Nineveh was destroyed.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 1:15 Nahum addresses Judah again, as in vv. 12b–13. Upon the mountains, a messenger brings the good news of Nineveh's fall (compare Isa. 52:7). peace. Judah does not have to be afraid of any more military action and oppression from Assyria. Keep your feasts. These festivals would remind the people of the Lord's past acts of deliverance and the future hope of the coming Messiah. the worthless. That is, the Assyrians (compare Nah. 1:11).

NAHUM—NOTE ON 2:1–13 Focus on Nineveh: The Lord's Coming Judgment. Nahum's prediction reads like an eyewitness account of Nineveh being attacked, overrun by the enemy, and plundered.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 2:1 scatterer. This description of the enemy foretells the outcome of the attack. Any Ninevites not slaughtered will flee (see 3:17–18) or will be taken into exile. Ultimately, it is God who "scatters." has come up. A technical phrase signifying hostile military action (compare Judg. 1:1; 1 Sam. 7:7). Man the ramparts. Nineveh is told to get ready for battle.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 2:2 God no longer needs the Assyrians to discipline unfaithful Judah because the LORD is restoring the majesty of Jacob. Judah's true majesty was that God had separated them from the nations to be devoted to him. With them he made his covenants; from them would come the Messiah (Rom. 9:4–5). plunderers. The Assyrians plundered Judah (see Nah. 2:13). Their branches are the individual clans, families, or members of the southern kingdom, compared to a vineyard (compare Isa. 5:1–7).

NAHUM

All that is known about the prophet Nahum is that he came from Elkosh, probably a town in Judah. Nahum's name means "comfort." The message he received from God—that Nineveh would be destroyed—indeed brought comfort to his hearers. Following Jonah's warning, the cruel Assyrian capital had expressed repentance. That repentance was short-lived, however, and this time God's judgment was unavoidable. Although God had used the Assyrians to punish the wayward southern kingdom, he would not allow Judah to be annihilated. God's plan for the Messiah to come from the line of David could not be defeated. When Nineveh was destroyed in 612 B.C., the once powerful kingdom of Assyria came to an end. (Nahum 2:2)

NAHUM—NOTE ON 2:3–4 shield . . . red. Perhaps their shields were permanently stained with the blood of defeated foes from previous battles. His. . . . he is a reference to the scatterer mentioned in v. 1. The attacking army was a coalition of Medes and Babylonians, and possibly Scythians. The streets and squares are those of the suburbs surrounding Nineveh, the first areas to be overrun by the attacking army.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 2:5 The attacking army now reaches the wall of Nineveh proper. He remembers. "He" (see v. 3) may be so eager to be involved in the attack that he almost forgets to delegate parts of the operation to his officers. These officers, eager both to join in the attack themselves and to please their superior(s), practically stumble over one another trying to rush into the action.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 2:6 river gates. The Khoser River flowed through Nineveh. North of the city were dams, most likely with gates to control the flow of the river. The attacking army could easily have closed the gates, waited until a large quantity of water collected, and then opened the gates. The resulting rush of water would have damaged portions of the city's wall and internal structures, thus greatly aiding the enemy. The palace melts away because of the floodwaters.

FACT

The palace mentioned in 2:6 was Sennacherib's famous "palace without rival." Built shortly after his reign began, it had more than 80 rooms, many open courts, and even fully irrigated hanging gardens. It is estimated that more than 25 athletic fields could have fit inside the palace. Yet even this great palace would "melt away" when Nineveh was destroyed.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 2:8 like a pool. See note on v. 6. Halt . . . they cry. Nahum places the reader in Nineveh as the city is attacked by enemy forces. The reader "sees" the fleeing inhabitants and "hears" some of the Assyrian commanders crying out, "Halt! Stand and fight," but none turns back to do so.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 2:9 silver . . . gold. Nineveh had taken great wealth during Assyria's military victories.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 2:10 Desolate . . . ruin is a description of Nineveh emptied of inhabitants and destroyed by the victorious invaders. Hearts melt . . . pale. The Assyrians previously had been proud of how they terrorized other peoples. Now they experience such terror themselves.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 2:11–12 lions. Members of the Assyrian royal house. The lion was a symbol for kingship (compare Gen. 49:9). The Assyrian kings exhibited great power in their "devouring" other lands, and even called themselves lions. none to disturb. During the time of Assyrian strength, no other nation dared to attack Nineveh. enough . . . prey . . . torn flesh. That is, the vast amounts of goods taken by the Assyrians in their conquest of numerous lands.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 2:13 Nineveh will fall because this is the will of the Lord. In vv. 1 and 13 Nineveh is addressed ("you," "your"), and both verses express the thought "against you." LORD of hosts. See note on Mic. 4:4. burn your chariots. A striking contrast to the conquering army's swift chariots (Nah. 2:3–4). sword shall devour. The destructive lions (vv. 11–12) shall now be conquered by the enemy.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:1–19 Again, Focus on Nineveh: More concerning the Lord's Coming Judgment. This last major section of the book repeats most of the themes of the previous section (2:1–13). However, it does not mention the plundering of Nineveh (compare 2:9), and it adds the comparison of Nineveh's downfall to the destruction of Thebes (3:8–11).

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:1 bloody. The Assyrians were well known for their viciousness.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:4 This verse uses figurative language to explain the reasons for Nineveh's destruction. graceful . . . deadly charms. Nineveh, with its power and wealth, exerted a corrupting influence throughout the Near East (compare 2 Kings 16:18). betrays. The Assyrian leaders did not hesitate to use treachery and deceit to achieve their aims (see Nah. 3:1).

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:5 Behold, I am against you. Compare 2:13; the repetition emphasizes the certainty of Nineveh's doom.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:7 who will grieve for her? The answer to the rhetorical question is that no one will grieve for or comfort Nineveh. People will shrink back or flee in horror at the sight of what will happen to Nineveh.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:8–11 To those who think it is impossible that Nineveh would fall, Nahum reminds them of what had recently happened to the mighty city of Thebes, in Egypt (see Introduction: Author and Date).

FACT

As safe as Thebes? The people of Nineveh thought no one could destroy their city. Yet they themselves had destroyed the Egyptian city of Thebes, which was also considered indestructible. Nahum reminded the Ninevites of this (3:8–11) and warned them that it was now their turn to see their great city destroyed.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:8 Are you better than Thebes? Nineveh was no more secure than Thebes. Nile . . . water around her. This mighty river and its tributaries surrounded most of Thebes, forming a natural wall for the city. This was part of the city's strong defense system. Rampart a sea is a poetic reference to the Nile (compare Isa. 19:5–6), which was about half a mile (0.8 km) wide at Thebes. Nineveh had no such protection.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:9 Cush was the region just south of Egypt. Egypt refers to military aid coming from northern Egypt. Put may have been on the north African coastline. While Thebes could count on military assistance from these different areas, Assyria could not rely on help from any region.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:10 Despite its strategic advantages, Thebes was conquered by the Assyrians.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:11 This verse directly applies the lesson of vv. 8–10: "Nineveh, you can expect the same!" Just as a drunken man cannot defend himself against an attacker, so Nineveh will not be able to turn back its enemies.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:12–13 Nineveh's surrounding fortresses will be the first to be taken by the advancing enemy army. The gates of Assyria will be wide open to the enemies since the fortresses that guarded those entrances have been destroyed. The troops, that is, the soldiers within Nineveh, will be filled with fear, so that they cannot act as men. fire. See 2:13; 3:15.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:14 As the enemy draws close, Nahum tells the city to get ready for the attack (see 2:1). However, any preparations they make will be useless. Draw water. The Ninevites can assume that the enemy will shut off the city's water supply by closing the river gates (see note on 2:6). forts. The fortresses at the walls and within the city would be strengthened or repaired with clay bricks and mortar.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:15 No matter how well supplied and fortified Nineveh is, there the inhabitants will die. fire. Archaeologists have found evidence of a devastating fire at Nineveh. sword. Compare 2:13. Multiply . . . locust . . . grasshopper. Nahum sarcastically tells the Ninevites, in preparation for the attack, to multiply themselves greatly and thus increase their strength.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:16 You increased your merchants. When Nineveh was the proud capital of a vast empire, her merchants brought enormous wealth to the city. Now, however, these merchants, and the huge treasure in Nineveh, will do the city no good. The locust . . . flies away. Compare v. 15. The enemy, having destroyed all that there was in Nineveh, will quickly leave.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:17 Like swarms of grasshoppers or locusts that quickly fly away and disappear, some of the leading men of Nineveh will flee when the enemy takes the city.

NAHUM—NOTE ON 3:18–19 king of Assyria. See 1:11. Nahum, looking at Nineveh's wreckage, addresses its monarchy with sarcastic language. Many of Nineveh's shepherds (leaders and officials) and nobles are dead. Many of the people are scattered. The wound Assyria has received is grievous and marks the end of the empire. unceasing evil. Assyrian emperors had continually caused terror and suffering. Nahum prophesies that the Assyrian monarchy, and Nineveh, will experience the same disasters that it inflicted on other peoples of the Near East.

Introduction to Habakkuk

Introduction to Habakkuk

Timeline

722 B.C.	c. 640 B.C.	586 B.C.
Fall of Israel	Prophetic ministry of Habakkuk	Fall of Judah

Author and Date

Habakkuk is unusual as a prophetic book. It never addresses the people of Judah directly. Rather it is a dialogue between the prophet and God. The prophet Habakkuk was probably a contemporary of Zephaniah and Jeremiah, and possibly even of Ezekiel and Daniel. He probably prophesied no later than the end of Josiah's reign (640–609 B.C.).

Theme and Overview

The first two chapters are organized around Habakkuk's questions and the Lord's replies. Habakkuk saw Judah's rapid moral and spiritual decline, and this deeply troubled him. Yet God's response puzzled him even more. How could a good and just God use a more wicked nation (Babylon) to punish a less wicked one (Judah)? God makes it clear that both nations are to be judged and appropriately punished for their sin. Although Habakkuk may not fully understand, he has learned to rely totally on God's wisdom and justice. He knows God can resolve issues in ways he could never have imagined. This God is certainly worthy of Habakkuk's praise and worship, which is how the book ends.

Many of the righteous in Judah would have agreed with Habakkuk's words. They wondered what God was doing and struggled with the same issues as Habakkuk. God's words reassured them that he was in control and would deal appropriately with the nations.

Key Themes

1. God is just and merciful, even though his people may not always understand his ways (2:4).
2. Wickedness will eventually be punished, and the righteous will ultimately see God’s justice (2:5–20).
3. God uses some wicked nations to punish other wicked nations, but ultimately God will judge all nations (1:6; 2:5–20).
4. The key phrase “the righteous shall live by his faith” (2:4) summarizes God’s plan for his people. It is quoted three times in the NT (Rom. 1:17; Gal. 3:11; Heb. 10:38). Each time a different aspect of the phrase’s meaning is highlighted.

The Near East at the Time of Habakkuk

c. 620 B.C.

Though the exact date of the prophecies of Habakkuk is difficult to determine, it is likely that he prophesied a short time before the Babylonian invasions of Judah, which began in 605 B.C. During this time the Assyrian Empire was in decline, and the Babylonians were rising to replace them as the dominant power in the Near East.

The Global Message of Habakkuk

Trusting the Lord

Trust the Lord, no matter what. That is Habakkuk's message for God's people around the world today. Believers can, and must, trust in God no matter how tumultuous outward circumstances may become.

Habakkuk is unique in that the prophet is not speaking to God's people but rather to God himself. Habakkuk is perplexed because God is planning to use Babylon to punish his own people, Judah, even though Babylon is far more wicked than Judah. The three chapters of this prophecy show Habakkuk wrestling with God in anguish, but ultimately learning to trust in the Lord no matter what.

Down through history and around the world, this has been the test to which God's children are called. Whatever political circumstances or economic hardships or religious persecution they are experiencing, will they trust him? Will they gladly rely on God for all that they need to nourish and sustain them as they await their inheritance of the world itself (Matt. 25:34; 1 Cor. 3:21–23).

Habakkuk in Redemptive History

Trust in self. Though it is difficult to know when Habakkuk was written, it was clearly at a time when Judah was at a moral low point, possibly during the reign of the extremely wicked kings Manasseh or Amon. Judah had sunk so low that the people were worshiping Baal, offering their children in sacrifice to the pagan god Molech, dedicating horses to the sun god, and neglecting the care of the temple.

The sin of Judah 2,600 years ago traces all the way back to the fall of Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden. Since that critical moment, all of humanity has been plagued with a tendency toward self-centeredness and pride. One way this manifests itself is in unhealthy self-trust and self-reliance—depending on our own abilities or cleverness or resources for a stable existence. This was Judah's sin.

Trust in Christ. Yet Judah's sin reaches not only backward to Eden but also forward to our own day, and it is ultimately healed only in Christ. Only through Christ can the mercy of God toward his people and his justice toward their sinful self-trust be equally upheld. Beholding Christ and his work on the cross, we are freed by the Holy Spirit from self-trust as we learn to trust in Christ. As the New Testament puts it, drawing on Habakkuk, "The righteous shall live by faith" (Rom. 1:17; Hab. 2:4; compare Gal. 3:11; Heb. 10:38).

As we consider the book of Habakkuk in global redemptive history, we remember God's unchanging commitment to preserve his people. He will sustain and purify his people at all costs, yet he does this at times in ways that are deeply mysterious to them. Yet even when it is through strange events that his people are purged, they are called to put their faith wholeheartedly in him, no matter what.

Universal Themes in Habakkuk

Confidence in the Lord. This is the key theme of Habakkuk, and it is a universal need for God's people around the world and down through history. God can and must be trusted at all costs. This has been proven to us supremely in Christ. Jesus Christ gave up everything in heaven to come to earth and die for sinners so that we sinners, having been forgiven, can give up everything on earth when so required, knowing that we will one day be in heaven with him. God is the maker of heaven and earth, the upholder and sustainer of all things. He is sovereign, wise, and abundant in mercy—he can be trusted.

God will bring all wickedness to account. Judah had become deeply wicked, and God brought Babylon to punish them. Yet Babylon too was desperately wicked—in Habakkuk's eyes, even more wicked than Judah (Hab. 1:13). Therefore God would also bring Babylon to account, as well as all other nations of the earth (3:12). God's justice will ultimately be universally distributed in perfect righteousness and fairness. No one will get what is not deserved. All who have walked uprightly will be treated accordingly. And all who have walked in wickedness, no matter how hidden from human eyes, will be judged accordingly (1 Cor. 4:5).

The global glory of God. Habakkuk's prophecy presents believers with a picture of a majestic God who in his dealings with us transcends ethnic, racial, and economic differences. Responding to Habakkuk's astonishment that he would use the Babylonians to punish Judah, the Lord proclaims that "the earth will be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD as the waters cover the sea" (Hab. 2:14). This vision of what will one day be true of all the earth shows us how we should conduct ourselves in the meantime: "But the LORD is in his holy temple; let all the earth keep silence before him" (2:20). Recalling God's great deliverance of Israel from Egypt (3:3, 15), Habakkuk reflects on how "his splendor covered the heavens, and the earth was full of his praise" (3:3) as God "shook the nations" (3:6). In all of this we see the worldwide dimensions of God's glory, his resplendent magnificence as he goes into action.

The Global Message of Habakkuk for Today

It is often difficult to see the hand of God in a fallen world. We become quickly perplexed and doubtful of his faithfulness and care in light of natural disasters, poor stewardship of the earth's resources, political corruption, rejection of the gospel, hostility toward followers of Christ, hunger, economic instability, and a thousand other frustrations and disappointments.

Yet even when all outward evidence points to the contrary, the church is called to trust in the Lord. This trust is based not on what we see but on who God is—the God who will "in wrath remember mercy" (Hab. 3:2). God's character is supremely revealed in Jesus Christ, the final "anointed" one (3:13), in whom divine wrath and divine mercy meet. Because of Christ's saving work on the cross, God calls all people from every tribe and nation to place their trust in him, for "the righteous shall live by his faith" (2:4).

As believers around the globe meditate on Habakkuk's prophecy, may we all join together in affirming,

> Though the fig tree should not blossom,
>   nor fruit be on the vines,
> the produce of the olive fail
>   and the fields yield no food,
> the flock be cut off from the fold
>   and there be no herd in the stalls, > yet I will rejoice in the LORD;
>   I will take joy in the God of my salvation. (Hab. 3:17–18)

HABAKKUK 1 [†] [a] The oracle that Habakkuk the prophet saw.

Habakkuk's Complaint

2[†] O LORD, [b] how long shall I cry for help, and you will not hear?
Or cry to you [c] "Violence!"
and you will not save?
3[†] [d] Why do you make me see iniquity, and why do you idly look at wrong?
Destruction [c] and violence are before me;
strife and contention arise.
4[†] [e] So the law is paralyzed, and justice never goes forth.
[f] For the wicked surround the righteous;
so justice goes forth perverted.

The LORD's Answer

5[†] [g] "Look among the nations, and see;
wonder and be astounded.
[h] For I am doing a work in your days that you would not believe if told.
6[†] For behold, [i] I am raising up the Chaldeans, that bitter and hasty nation,
[j] who march through the breadth of the earth,
[k] to seize dwellings not their own.
7[†] They are dreaded and fearsome;
[l] their justice and dignity go forth from themselves.
8 [m] Their horses are swifter than leopards, more fierce than [n] the evening wolves;
their horsemen press proudly on.
Their horsemen come from afar;
[o] they fly like an eagle swift to devour.
9[†] They all come [p] for violence, all their faces forward.

They gather captives [r] like sand.
10[†] At kings they scoff, and at rulers they laugh.
[s] They laugh at every fortress,
for [t] they pile up earth and take it.
11 Then they sweep by like the wind and go on,
[u] guilty men, [v] whose own might is their god!”

Habakkuk’s Second Complaint

12[†] Are you not [w] from everlasting,
O LORD my God, my Holy One?
[x] We shall not die.
O LORD, [y] you have ordained them as a judgment, and you, O [z] Rock, have established them for reproof.
13[†] You who are [a] of purer eyes than to see evil and cannot look at wrong, [b] why do you idly look at traitors and [c] remain silent when the wicked swallows up the man more righteous than he?
14[†] You make mankind like the fish of the sea, like crawling things that have no ruler.
15[†] [d] He [1] brings all of them up [e] with a hook;
he dragsthem out with his net;
he gathers them in his dragnet;
so he rejoices and is glad.
16[†] [f] Therefore he sacrifices to his net and makes offerings to his dragnet; for by them he lives in luxury, [2]
and his food is rich.
17[†] Is he then to keep on emptying his net
[g] and mercilessly killing nations forever?

HABAKKUK 2 I will [h] take my stand at my watchpost and station myself on the tower, and [i]look out to see [j]what he will say to me, and what I will answer concerning my complaint.

The Righteous Shall Live by His Faith

[2][†]And the LORD answered me:

[k]“Write the vision;
make it plain on tablets,
so he may run who reads it.
[3][†] For still [l]the vision awaits its appointed time;
it hastens to the end—it will not lie.
If it seems slow, [m]wait for it;
[n]it will surely come; it will not delay.

[4][†] “Behold, his soul is puffed up; it is not upright within him, but [o]the righteous shall live by his faith. [1]

[5][†] “Moreover, wine [2] is [p]a traitor, an arrogant man who is never at rest. [3]
His greed is as wide as Sheol;
like death [q]he has never enough.
[r]He gathers for himself all nations and collects as his own all peoples.”

Woe to the Chaldeans

[6][†]Shall not all these [s]take up their taunt against him, with scoffing and riddles for him, and say,

[t]“Woe to him [u]who heaps up what is not his own—for [v]how long?—
and [w]loads himself with pledges!”
[7][†] [x]Will not your debtors suddenly arise, and those awake who will make you tremble?
Then you will be spoil for them.

[8][†] [y]Because you have plundered many nations, all the remnant of the peoples shall plunder you, [z]for the blood of man and [y]violence to the earth,
to cities and all who dwell in them.

[9][†] [t]“Woe to him who gets evil gain for his house,
[a]to [b]set his nest on high,
to be safe from the reach of harm!
[10] You have devised shame for your house
[c]by cutting off many peoples;
you have forfeited your life.
[11][†] For [d]the stone will cry out from the wall, and the beam from the woodwork respond.

[12][†] [t]“Woe to him [e]who builds a town with blood and founds a city on iniquity!
[13][†] Behold, is it not from the LORD of hosts that [f]peoples labor merely for fire, and nations weary themselves for nothing?
[14][†] [g]For the earth will be filled with the knowledge of [h]the glory of the LORD as the waters cover the sea.

[15][†] [t]“Woe to him [i]who makes his neighbors drink—you pour out your wrath and make them drunk, in order to gaze [j]at their nakedness!
[16][†] You will have your fill [k]of shame instead of glory.
[l]Drink, yourself, and show your uncircumcision!
will come around to you, and [m]utter shame will come upon your glory!
[17][†] [n]The violence [o]done to Lebanon will overwhelm you, as will the destruction of the beasts that terrified them, [n]for the blood of man and violence to the earth,
to cities and all who dwell in them.

18[†] [p]“What profit is an idol when its maker has shaped it, a metal image, [q]a teacher of lies?
For its maker trusts in his own creation when he makes [r]speechless idols!
19[†] [s]Woe to him [t]who says to a wooden thing, Awake;
to a silent stone, Arise!
Can this teach?
Behold, it is overlaid with gold and silver, and [u]there is no breath at all in it.
20[†] But [v]the LORD is in his holy temple;
[w]let all the earth keep silence before him.”

Habakkuk’s Prayer

HABAKKUK 3 [†]A prayer of Habakkuk the prophet, according to Shigionoth.

2[†] O LORD, [x]I have heard the report of you, and [y]your work, O LORD, do I fear.
In the midst of the years [z]revive it;
in the midst of the years make it known;
[a]in wrath remember mercy.
3[†] God came from [b]Teman,
[c]and the Holy One from Mount Paran. Selah
His splendor covered the heavens, and the earth was full of his praise.
4[†] [d]His brightness was like the light;
rays flashed from his hand;
and there he veiled his power.
5 [e]Before him went pestilence, and plague followed [f]at his heels. [1] 6[†] He stood [g]and measured the earth;
he looked and shook the nations;
then the [h]eternal mountains [i]were scattered;

the everlasting hills sank low.
His were [j] the everlasting ways.
7[†] I saw the tents of [k] Cushan in affliction;
[l] the curtains of the land of Midian did tremble.
8[†] [m] Was your wrath against the rivers, O Lord?
Was your anger against the rivers,
[m] or your indignation against the sea,
[n] when you rode on your horses,
[n] on your chariot of salvation?
9[†] You stripped the sheath from your bow, calling for many arrows. [2] Selah
[p] You split the earth with rivers.
10 [q] The mountains saw you and writhed;
the raging waters swept on;
[r] the deep gave forth its voice;
[s] it lifted its hands on high.
11[†] [t] The sun and moon stood still in their place [u] at the light of your arrows as they sped, at the flash of your glittering spear.
12[†] [v] You marched through the earth in fury;
[w] you threshed the nations in anger.
13[†] [v] You went out for the salvation of your people, for the salvation of [x] your anointed.
[y] You crushed the head of the house of the wicked, laying him bare from thigh to neck. [3] Selah 14 You pierced with his own arrows the heads of his warriors, who came like a whirlwind to scatter me, rejoicing as if to devour the poor in secret.
15 [z] You trampled the sea with your horses, the surging of mighty waters.

16[†] [a] I hear, and [b] my body trembles;
my lips quiver at the sound;
[c] rottenness enters into my bones;

my legs tremble beneath me.
Yet [d] I will quietly wait for the day of trouble to come upon people who invade us.

Habakkuk Rejoices in the LORD

17[†] Though the fig tree should not blossom,
nor fruit be on the vines,
the produce of the olive fail
and the fields yield no food,
the flock be cut off from the fold
and there be no herd in the stalls,
18 [e] yet I will rejoice in the LORD;
[f] I will take joy in the God of my salvation.
19[†] GOD, the Lord, is my strength;
[g] he makes my feet like the deer's;
he makes me [h] tread on my [i] high places.

[j] To the choirmaster: with [k] stringed [4] instruments.

Study Notes for Habakkuk

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:1 Superscription. "Oracle" translates a common word for "burden." Prophets do not typically use the term "prophet" for themselves, but Habakkuk is called a prophet twice (v. 1; 3:1). This may be because his book differs significantly from most other prophets.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:2–11 First Cycle. Habakkuk is disappointed that God does not seem to be answering his prayers. God's response shows that, although Habakkuk doesn't realize it, his prayers are already being answered.

1:2–4 Habakkuk's Lament. Habakkuk believes that God is letting sin go unpunished and that therefore there is no justice.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:2 O LORD. Habakkuk uses the covenant name for God, which emphasizes the relationship between God and the prophet. how long? This is the common beginning of a formal complaint (compare Ps. 13:1, 2). Violence! During much of the latter seventh century B.C., Judah was morally corrupt, violent, and spiritually disobedient. The description of Josiah's reforms in 2 Kings 23 highlights the depths of the people's wickedness.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:3 idly look at wrong. It seems to Habakkuk that God is tolerating sin instead of punishing it (see v. 13).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:4 the law is paralyzed. The Mosaic law had little impact on the hearts and self-centered desires of these people. justice never goes forth. The rich were trampling on the rights of the poor. righteous. There was still a righteous remnant who refused to break God's laws to get ahead. But life was hard for them because the wicked took advantage of them.

1:5–11 God's Response. God has already begun to answer Habakkuk's request: the Babylonians are coming to punish the Israelites.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:6 I am raising up. God uses nations for his own purposes (compare Isa. 44:28; Dan. 2:21). Chaldeans. Another name for the Babylonians, who defeated Assyria in 605 B.C. bitter and hasty nation. God knows the Babylonians well and uses their character traits to punish Judah.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:7 their justice and dignity go forth from themselves. As they built their empire, the Babylonians were not bound by God's law or even by any rules of common decency.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:9 The Babylonians were known for their violence. They gather captives like sand. They continued the Assyrian policy of deporting captives to other lands.

FACT

The Babylonian horsemen (1:8) were greatly feared by the people they fought against. Taking advantage of their great speed, they would scatter the enemy's foot soldiers and then hunt them down one by one. But even Babylon's horses couldn't save Babylon from the Lord's hand of judgment (3:16).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:10 scoff . . . laugh. The powerful Babylonians had little regard for weaker rulers. Pile up earth describes siege warfare (see Isa. 29:3; Jer. 32:24).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:12–2:20 Second Cycle. This passage asks an age-old question: Why does evil seem to go unpunished? God's answer is that all who are wicked will eventually be punished; meanwhile, the righteous must live by faith.

1:12–2:1 Habakkuk's Lament. Habakkuk wonders how God can use a wicked nation to punish a less wicked one.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:12 Are you not from everlasting? Habakkuk knows that God lives forever (see Ps. 90:2). We shall not die. Habakkuk bases his confidence in his people's future on God's eternal nature. you . . .

have established them. Habakkuk understands that God has chosen Babylon to punish Judah for its sin.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:13 purer eyes than to see evil. Habakkuk wonders why God's holiness did not stop him from using the corrupt Babylonians to punish a less wicked nation such as Judah.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:14 Habakkuk's charge against God is that he allows mankind to act like lower creatures (fish and crawling things), with no rulers or judges. Thus, wickedness goes unchecked.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:15 He. That is, the "wicked" one in v. 13, which represents Babylon. hook. See Amos 4:2. Captives were sometimes taken away with hooks in their noses—an intentionally painful and humiliating treatment. drags them out with his net. The image is that of a fish helplessly caught in a net. Mesopotamian art portrays prisoners in nets being hauled off to captivity.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:16 he sacrifices to his net. The Babylonians had become so powerful that they relied on their military strength for protection, the way others would have relied on their gods.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 1:17 mercilessly killing nations forever? If a righteous God does not step in to end the Babylonians' wicked plan, who will? Where is God's justice, and how can he tolerate this?

2:2–20 God's Response. The Lord assures Habakkuk that he will punish all the wicked, at the right time.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:2 Write the vision. This message from God was to be recorded as a permanent witness, since it would not be quickly fulfilled. So he may run who reads it may refer to a messenger reporting the vision throughout the nation. Or it may refer to those who hear the message and flee the coming judgment.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:3 the vision awaits its appointed time. God's timing for the fulfillment of the message will be perfect. wait for it. While Judah's judgment will begin quite soon (586 B.C.), God's punishment of the Babylonians will not happen until 539.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:4 his soul. The singular form refers to the Babylonian nation as a whole, but with a primary reference to the king. A proud person relies on himself, whereas a righteous person relies on God. The phrase but the righteous shall live by his faith is quoted in the NT to emphasize that people are saved by grace through faith (Rom. 1:17; Gal. 3:11; compare Eph. 2:8). It is also quoted to show that Christians should live by faith (Heb. 10:38–39). The kind of faith that Habakkuk describes, and that the NT authors affirm, is a continuing trust in God and his promises, even in the darkest days.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:5 His greed is as wide as Sheol. Sometimes in the OT, Sheol is the place of the dead where everyone went, yet which never filled up (see Prov. 30:15–16).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:6–20 This taunt against the Babylonians consists of five "woe oracles" (vv. 6, 9, 12, 15, 19). They show why Babylon deserves its coming punishment (compare Isa. 5:8–23).

FACT

Woe oracles. Verses 6–20 of ch. 2 consist of five "woe oracles" against Babylon. Each of these begins with the word "woe" and condemns the Babylonians for violence and idolatry.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:6 all these. That is, all the nations that Babylon has destroyed (see Isa. 14:9–11). Woe. Trouble. The Babylonians are condemned for their excessive greed in conquering other nations.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:7 debtors. The loot that the Babylonians have taken from other nations is actually only "on loan" to them until a stronger nation claims it.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:8 blood of man. God will someday hold the Babylonians accountable for bloodshed (see 1:17; Gen. 9:6).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:9 Woe. Babylon is condemned for collecting stolen goods and relying on wealth for protection. set his nest on high. Like the eagle that builds its nest in unreachable spots, the Babylonians tried to build a city inaccessible to their enemies (see Isa. 14:4–15; compare Obad. 3–4).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:11 stone will cry out. The stones were taken from other nations' buildings or purchased with stolen goods. They will testify against Babylon.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:12 Woe. Babylon is condemned for its violence and injustice.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:13 LORD of hosts. Yahweh is the commander of the heavenly armies, all of which do his will; see note on Amos 3:13. peoples labor merely for fire. God controls man's future and will punish injustice. Babylon's cities will ultimately be destroyed or given to others.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:14 The glory of the LORD is his special presence with his people. The glory "filled" the tabernacle and temple (Ex. 40:34–35; 1 Kings 8:11). Several texts look forward to a day when God's glory fills the whole earth (Num. 14:21; Ps. 72:19; Isa. 6:3, ESV footnote).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:15 Woe. Babylon is condemned for violence against its neighbors. gaze at their nakedness. That is, strip their land bare to dishonor them (compare Gen. 9:20–22).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:16 shame. Babylon will experience the same shame it inflicted on others (see note on v. 15). cup. A symbol of divine punishment on Babylon (see Isa. 51:17, 22; Jer. 25:15–17; Rev. 14:10).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:17 violence done to Lebanon. Babylon used the famed cedars of Lebanon for its massive building projects (see Isa. 14:8).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:18 Idols are worthless and lifeless objects unworthy of the faith placed in them (compare Jer. 10:14–15). Teacher of lies highlights the deceptive nature of idols.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:19 overlaid with gold and silver. Idols were often highly decorated in an effort to enhance their prestige.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 2:20 But the LORD. There is a great contrast between silent, lifeless idols and the awesome living God. He alone deserves the honor too often given to worthless idols.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:1–19 Habakkuk's Prayer. Habakkuk asks for a new demonstration of God's wrath and mercy, such as God gave so powerfully in the past. He closes with a confession of faith and trust in God (compare vv. 1, 3, 9, 13, 19 with Psalms 17; 90).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:1 Shigionoth occurs only here and in Ps. 7:1. It may refer to a type of psalm or a musical instrument.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:2 I have heard. Habakkuk had heard of God's great saving acts, which he recalls in vv. 3–15 (see Ex. 15:1–21). in wrath remember mercy. A plea that when God judges, he will also be merciful. This is how God always deals with his people (see Ex. 34:6–7).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:3 Teman means "south." Along with the reference to Mount Paran (Num. 13:26; Deut. 33:2), it may suggest the time following Israel's exodus from Egypt. His splendor covered the heavens. When biblical authors refer to God's mighty acts in the exodus, they often use images to instill a sense of fear or awe (see Deut. 33:2; Judg. 5:4–5; Ps. 18:7–15).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:4–5 Habakkuk compares God's presence at Mount Sinai to a thunderstorm with darkness and lightning (see Ex. 19:18–20; Ps. 18:9–14). Pestilence and plague often appear as pictures of divine judgment (Ex. 7:14–12:30; Deut. 28:21–22; Ps. 91:3, 5–6).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:6 eternal mountains. Mountains were considered part of the foundation of the earth, so their quaking was a sign of divine judgment (Ps. 18:7; Jer. 4:24–26).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:7 Cushan . . . Midian. These tribes living near Edom see God's power and are frightened.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:8 rivers . . . sea. God used his power over the Nile (Ex. 7:14–24) and Jordan Rivers (Josh. 3:14–17), as well as the Red Sea (Ex. 14:2–15:5), to demonstrate his greatness in the exodus era. The chariot of salvation is a picture of God bringing deliverance to this people.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:9 Many arrows probably describes thunderbolts. split the earth. An image of thunderstorms and floods cutting through the desert.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:11 Sun and moon stood still refers to Joshua's victory at Gibeah (Josh. 10:12–13). The Lord's victory here will be equally sensational.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:12 threshed the nations. See Amos 1:3.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:13 God fought for his people (your anointed) because they were his covenant people, a nation of priests (Ex. 19:6; Ps. 114:2). The head of the house of the wicked may refer to either the pharaoh of Egypt or the leaders of Canaan.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:16 I hear. Habakkuk realizes he must wait patiently while his people are punished, and then God will unleash his power against the Babylonians.

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:17–19 Anticipating great destruction by the Babylonians, Habakkuk has radically changed. He began by informing God how to run his world; he ends by trusting that God knows best and will bring about true justice. Though the fig tree should not blossom. Even during suffering and loss, Habakkuk has learned that he can trust God. That trust brings great joy, not in circumstances, but in God himself: yet I will rejoice in the LORD; I will take joy in the God of my salvation. Yahweh has become Habakkuk's strength (see Ps. 18:32, 39).

HABAKKUK—NOTE ON 3:19 he makes my feet like the deer's. Habakkuk can have confidence in God. He can live on the heights even during extreme circumstances (see Mal. 4:2). choirmaster. Probably the director of the temple musicians. This note suggests that Habakkuk meant this to be a "prayer" (Hab. 3:1) that the faithful would sing together.

HABAKKUK

Habakkuk was alarmed by the wickedness of his people, the nation of Judah. He longed for the day when the Lord would bring justice to his nation by punishing sin. He was even more troubled, however, when he learned that the Lord would indeed judge Judah but that he would use the much more wicked nation of Babylon to do so. The book of Habakkuk records the prophet's conversation with God about this perplexing issue. By the end of the book, Habakkuk is convinced that God is sovereign and that his justice is far beyond comprehension. The prophet will wait for and trust in God. Habakkuk's faith serves as an example to believers today, who like the prophet are called to trust that the God of justice will indeed accomplish his purposes for the world. (Habakkuk 3:17–19)

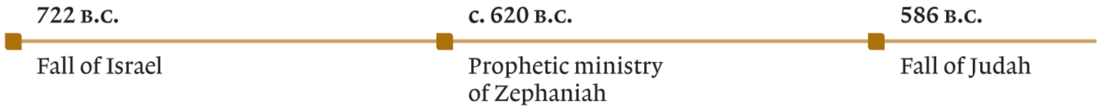
Introduction to Zephaniah

Introduction to Zephaniah

Timeline



Author and Date

Zephaniah prophesied during the reign of Josiah (640–609 B.C.), a Judean king who sought to reestablish acceptable worship practices (2 Kings 22:1–23:30).

Theme

The theme of Zephaniah is the approaching "day of the Lord." This "day" is one of judgment against those who sin against God, and one of blessing for those who follow him.

Purpose and Background

In spite of having seen the destruction and exile of Israel (the northern kingdom), Judah (the southern kingdom) refuses to keep its covenant obligations to God. If Judah repents and abandons its evil ways, "perhaps" God will forgive (2:3). Regardless, God's judgment will lead to renewal for Judah and other peoples (3:9–20).

The book declares judgment on many nations, all of which opposed God through opposition to his people. The last nation warned is Judah herself (3:1–7). God is displeased with those who claimed to be his own people.

Key Themes

1. God will judge the whole earth (1:2–3, 17–18; 3:8), including Judah (1:4–16; 3:1–7) and her pagan neighbors (2:4–15) alike.

2. God will bless his people when they return to their covenant relationship with him (3:11–20).
3. God extends blessing and grace to all peoples and nations (3:9–10).
4. Judgment and blessing occur both in the near future for the prophet and his audience (1:4–18; 2:3) and also in the more distant future (3:8–9, 11, 13–17).
5. There is no such thing as a second-generation child of God. Every generation must accept God's covenant, rather than relying on the faith of a previous generation.

Outline

I. Heading (1:1)
II. Judgment Coming against Judah (1:2–6)
III. The Day of the Lord (1:7–3:20)
    A. Day of sacrifice and punishment (1:7–9)
    B. The coming wrath (1:10–18)
    C. Repentance is still possible (2:1–3)
    D. Nations warned (2:4–3:8)
    E. Anticipation of hope (3:9–20)

The Near East at the Time of Zephaniah

c. 620 B.C.

Zephaniah prophesied during the reign of Josiah, when Egypt, Judah, and Babylonia were eroding the power of Assyria. Shortly after this time the Babylonians would replace the Assyrians as the dominant power in the Near East.

The Global Message of Zephaniah

The message of Zephaniah to the global church of the twenty-first century is the certainty of the coming "day of the LORD" (Zeph. 1:7). On that day, punishment will be executed on all God's enemies from many nations (2:11; 3:8) and salvation will be granted to all God's people, also from many nations (3:9–10).

If one of these two themes rises to the surface, however, it is the theme of global salvation. "From beyond the rivers of Cush"—that is, from beyond the known ends of the earth in the time of Zephaniah—"my worshipers, the daughter of my dispersed ones, shall bring my offering" (Zeph. 3:10). After beginning by denouncing first Judah herself (ch. 1) and then Judah's oppressors (ch. 2), the book of Zephaniah ends on a note of triumphant restoration for God's people because of his love, restoration that includes in its sweep peoples from the ends of the earth (3:16–18).

Zephaniah in Redemptive History

The failure of God's people. Israel had been called out from the nations of the earth to be a blessing to those nations (Gen. 12:1–3). Yet this glorious calling had been tragically frustrated when Israel wound up exhibiting the same idolatry and selfishness that she had been sent to heal. No one, not even those called by God to be a light to the nations of the world (Isa. 42:6; 49:6), can escape the corruption and rebellion that fill the earth because of the fall (Genesis 3).

The judgment of God's people. For this reason God needed to punish not only the wicked nations to whom he had not revealed himself but also the wicked nation, Israel, to whom he had revealed himself. Rather than influencing the world, Israel had been influenced by the world. The book of Zephaniah exists because of this dilemma. The prophecy opens by recounting Judah's sin. The northern kingdom of Israel has already been exiled to Assyria for its sin, and Judah is following fast in the footsteps of its northern kinsmen.

God's refusal to forsake his people. Yet because of the covenant God has made with Israel, by which he will be their God and they will be his people, he cannot forsake them, no matter how unfaithful they are. The Lord has every right to abandon them due to their spiritual adultery. Yet in his great love, his covenant mercy, he delights instead to “change their shame into praise and renown in all the earth. . . . I will make you renowned and praised among all the peoples of the earth” (Zeph. 3:19–20). The Lord will restore his wayward children before a global audience.

How can God do this, while remaining just? Must not sin, even the sin of his people, be punished?

Yes, indeed—and in sending his own Son to bear that punishment, God remains just and punishes sin in what is also a supreme act of covenant love. For believers, the great day of the Lord is now behind them. This is because the day of the Lord, “a day of distress and anguish, a day of ruin and devastation, a day of darkness and gloom” (Zeph. 1:15), was experienced by Jesus Christ on the cross. He endured the ultimate distress and anguish, ruin and devastation, darkness and gloom—so that those who put their trust in him need not eternally endure those things.

Universal Themes in Zephaniah

Worldwide judgment. Even though current circumstances may indicate to the contrary, all sin will be brought to justice. Rebellious human hearts and the actions that such hearts produce will not escape the punishment of God. Specifically, actions against God’s own people will not escape God’s punishment. The Lord has bound himself to his people. He will bring every wrong against them to justice.

Worldwide salvation. Alongside the whole-earth dimensions of God’s judgment stands the whole-earth extension of his mercy. Those who humble themselves enough to trust him will escape his punishment despite their sin. For God has taken them into covenant with himself and has dealt with their sin through the atoning work of his Son. “At that time I will change the speech of the peoples to a pure speech, that all of them may call upon the name of the Lord and serve him with one accord” (Zeph. 3:9).

The Global Message of Zephaniah for Today

There is no greater need in the human heart than for divine love. Beneath every other valid need is the need to be loved by the One who knows us better even than we know ourselves. And to those who look to him, to those who make the Lord their refuge, he himself says,

> “Fear not, O Zion;
>   let not your hands grow weak.
> The Lord your God is in your midst, >   a mighty one who will save;
> he will rejoice over you with gladness;
>   he will quiet you by his love;
> he will exult over you with loud singing.” (Zeph. 3:16–17)

Such is the delight of God in heaven over every one of his children—children in western hemisphere or east, urban or rural, rich or poor.

And this love will be seen “among all the peoples of the earth” (3:20). The display of God’s love for his own is not a provincial or tepid or restrained display. God’s covenant love for his people will one day explode in joyous cosmic celebration as all the suffering undergone by believers is reversed and they enjoy the glory for which they were created (Rom. 8:18; Rev. 21:4).

ZEPHANIAH 1 [†]The word of the LORD that came to Zephaniah the son of Cushi, son of Gedaliah, son of Amariah, son of Hezekiah, [a] in the days of [b] Josiah the son of Amon, king of Judah.

The Coming Judgment on Judah

[2][†] [c] “I will utterly sweep away everything from the face of the earth,” declares the LORD.
[3][†] “I will sweep away [d] man and beast;
I will sweep away the birds of the heavens and [d] the fish of the sea, and [e] the rubble [1] with the wicked.
I will [f] cut off mankind
from the face of the earth,” declares the LORD.
[4][†] “I will stretch out my hand against Judah and against all the inhabitants of Jerusalem;
[g] and I will cut off from this place the remnant of Baal and the name of the idolatrous priests along with the priests, [5][†] [h] those who bow down on the roofs to the host of the heavens,
[i] those who bow down and swear to the LORD and yet swear by [j] Milcom,
6 [k] those who have turned back from following the LORD,
[l] who do not seek the LORD or inquire of him.”

The Day of the LORD Is Near

[7][†] [m] Be silent before the Lord GOD!
For [n] the day of the LORD is near;
[o] the LORD has prepared a sacrifice and [p] consecrated his guests.
[8] And on the day of the LORD’s sacrifice—
[q] “I will punish the officials and the king’s sons and [r] all who array themselves in foreign attire.
[9][†] On that day I will punish everyone [s] who leaps over the threshold, and those who fill their master’s [2] house with violence and fraud.

10 [†] “On that day,” declares the LORD,
“a cry will be heard from [t] the Fish Gate,
[u] a wail from [v] the Second Quarter,
a loud crash from the hills.
11 [w] Wail, O inhabitants of the Mortar!
For all the traders [3] are no more;
all who weigh out silver are cut off.
12 [†] At that time [x] I will search Jerusalem with lamps, and I will punish the men
[y] who are complacent, [4]
[z] those who say in their hearts,
‘The LORD will not do good,
nor will he do ill.’
13 [†] Their goods shall be [a] plundered, and their houses laid waste.
[b] Though they build houses,
they shall not inhabit them;
[c] though they plant vineyards, they shall not drink wine from them.”

14 [†] [d] The great day of the LORD is near, near and hastening fast;
the sound of the day of the LORD is bitter;
[e] the mighty man cries aloud there.
15 [†] [f] A day of wrath is that day,
a day of distress and anguish,
a day of [g] ruin and devastation,
[h] a day of darkness and gloom,
[h] a day of clouds and thick darkness,
16 [i] a day of trumpet blast and battle cry
[j] against the fortified cities and against the lofty battlements.

[17][†] [k]I will bring distress on mankind, so that they shall walk [l]like the blind,
because they have sinned against the Lord;
[m]their blood shall be poured out like dust, and their flesh [n]like dung.
[18][†] [o]Neither their silver nor their gold shall be able to deliver them on the day of the wrath of the Lord.
[p]In the fire of his jealousy,
[q]all the earth shall be consumed;
[r]for a full and sudden end he will make of all the inhabitants of the earth.

Judgment on Judah’s Enemies

ZEPHANIAH 2 [†] Gather together, yes, gather,
O [s]shameless nation,
[2][†] [t]before the decree takes effect [1]
—before the day passes away [u]like chaff—[v]before there comes upon you the burning anger of the Lord, before there comes upon you the day of the anger of the Lord.
[3][†] [w]Seek the Lord, [x]all you humble of the land, who do his just commands; [2]
[y]seek righteousness; seek humility;
[y]perhaps [z]you may be hidden on the day of the anger of the Lord.
[4][†] [a]For Gaza shall be deserted, and Ashkelon shall become a desolation;
Ashdod’s people shall be driven out at noon, and Ekron shall be uprooted.

5[†] Woe to [b] you inhabitants of the seacoast, you nation of [c] the Cherethites!
[d] The word of the LORD is against you,
[e] O Canaan, land of the Philistines;
and I will destroy you [f] until no inhabitant is left.
6[†] [g] And you, O seacoast, [h] shall be pastures, with meadows [3] for shepherds and folds for flocks.
7 [i] The seacoast shall become the possession of [j] the remnant of the house of Judah, [h] on which they shall graze, and in the houses of Ashkelon they shall lie down at evening.
For the LORD their God [k] will be mindful of them and [l] restore their fortunes.

8[†] “I have heard [m] the taunts of Moab and [n] the revilings of the Ammonites, how they have taunted my people and made boasts [o] against their territory.
9[†] Therefore, [p] as I live,” declares the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel,
“Moab shall become [q] like Sodom, and the Ammonites [q] like Gomorrah, a land possessed by nettles and salt pits,
and a waste forever.
The remnant of my people shall plunder them, and the survivors of my nation shall possess them.”
10 This shall be their lot in return [r] for their pride, because they taunted and boasted against the people of the LORD of hosts.
11[†] The LORD will be awesome against them;
[s] for he will famish all the gods of the earth, and [t] to him shall bow down,
each in its place,

all [u] the lands of the nations.

12[†] [v] You also, O Cushites, shall be slain by my sword.

13[†] And he will stretch out his hand against the north [w] and destroy Assyria, and he [x] will make Nineveh a desolation,
a dry waste like the desert.
14[†] [y] Herds shall lie down in her midst, all kinds of beasts; [4]
[z] even the owl and the hedgehog [5] shall lodge in her capitals;
a voice shall hoot in the window;
devastation will be on the threshold;
for [a] her cedar work will be laid bare.
15[†] This is the exultant city
[b] that lived securely, that said in her heart,
“I am, and there is no one else.”
What a desolation she has become,
[c] a lair for wild beasts!
[d] Everyone who passes by her hisses and [e] shakes his fist.

Judgment on Jerusalem and the Nations

ZEPHANIAH 3 [†] Woe to her who is rebellious and defiled, [f] the oppressing city!
2 She listens to no voice;
[g] she accepts no correction.
[h] She does not trust in the LORD;
she does not draw near to her God.

3[†] [i] Her officials within her are roaring lions;

her judges are [j] evening wolves that leave nothing till the morning.
[4][†] [k] Her prophets are fickle, treacherous men; [k] her priests [l] profane what is holy;
they do violence to the law.
[5][†] The LORD within her [m] is righteous;
he does no injustice;
every morning he shows forth his justice;
each dawn he does not fail;
but [n] the unjust knows no shame.

[6] [o] “I have cut off nations;
their battlements are in ruins;
I have laid waste their streets
[p] so that no one walks in them; their cities have been made desolate, without a man, without an inhabitant.
[7][†] [q] I said, ‘Surely you will fear me;
[r] you will accept correction.
Then your [1] dwelling would not be cut off
according to all that I have appointed against you.’ [2]
But [s] all the more they were eager to make all their deeds corrupt.

[8][†] “Therefore [t] wait for me,” declares the LORD,
“for the day when I rise up to seize the prey.
For my decision is [u] to gather nations, to assemble kingdoms,
to pour out upon them my indignation,
all my burning anger;
for in the fire of my jealousy
[v] all the earth shall be consumed.

The Conversion of the Nations

[9][†] “For at that time I will change the speech of the peoples to [w]a pure speech, that all of them may call upon the name of the LORD and serve him with one accord.
[10][†] [x]From beyond the rivers [y]of Cush my worshipers, the daughter of my dispersed ones, shall bring my offering.

[11][†] [z]“On that day [a]you shall not be put to shame because of the deeds by which you have rebelled against me;
for then [b]I will remove from your midst your proudly exultant ones, and [c]you shall no longer be haughty
in my holy mountain.
[12][†] But I will leave in your midst a people [d]humble and lowly.
[e]They shall seek refuge in the name of the LORD,
[13][†] [f]those who are left in Israel;
they [g]shall do no injustice and speak no lies,
[h]nor shall there be found in their mouth
a deceitful tongue.
[i]For they shall graze and lie down, and none shall make them afraid.”

Israel’s Joy and Restoration

[14][†] [j]Sing aloud, O daughter of Zion; shout, O Israel!
Rejoice and exult with all your heart,
O daughter of Jerusalem!
[15][†] The LORD has taken away the judgments against you;
he has cleared away your enemies.
[k]The King of Israel, [l]the LORD, is in your midst;
you shall never again fear evil.

16 [z] On that day it shall be said to Jerusalem:
“Fear not, O Zion;
[m] let not your hands grow weak.
17[†] [l] The LORD your God is in your midst,
[n] a mighty one who will save;
[o] he will rejoice over you with gladness;
he will quiet you by his love;
he will exult over you with loud singing.
18 I will gather those of you who mourn [p] for the festival, so that you will no longer suffer reproach. [3] 19[†] Behold, at that time [q] I will deal with all your oppressors.
And [r] I will save the lame and gather the outcast, and I will change [s] their shame into [t] praise and renown in all the earth.
20[†] [u] At that time I will bring you in,
at the time when I gather you together;
for I will make you renowned and praised among all the peoples of the earth, [v] when I restore your fortunes before your eyes,” says the LORD.

Study Notes for Zephaniah

1:1 Heading. This verse introduces the literary type, ultimate author, prophetic writer, and time period of the book. LORD is the personal name of Israel's God, Yahweh or Jehovah. See note on Ex. 3:15. Cushi is a personal name in Jer. 36:14, yet it may also refer to a people group (the Cushites, also known as Ethiopians). Hezekiah. A godly king who ruled c. 715–687 B.C. The inclusion of his name may mean that Zephaniah was related to him. Josiah, a godly Judean king who ruled 640–609, reestablished the worship of Yahweh after many years of apostasy (2 Kings 22:1–23:30). Amon was an evil king of Judah (2 Kings 21:19–26).

FACT

Near the end. Zephaniah was written during Josiah's reign (640–609 B.C.), after Assyria had defeated Israel. The prophet warns that God will also judge Judah. Soon thereafter, Babylon invaded Judah, eventually destroying it in 586 B.C.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:2–6 Judgment Coming against Judah. God first directs his attention against all living beings (vv. 2–3). He then addresses Judah, represented by their capital, Jerusalem (vv. 4–6).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:2 sweep away. Completely remove or destroy (compare 1 Sam. 15:6; Jer. 16:5). Who and what will be swept away is specified in Zeph. 1:4–6.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:3 The listing of man and beast . . . the birds . . . and the fish, terms that occur in the creation account (Gen. 1:20, 24–25, 26–28), highlights the totality of destruction. God, the Creator of everything, will destroy everything due to the sin of mankind, who is creation's representative.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:4 Judah alone remained to serve as God's kingdom of priests (see Ex. 19:5–6; 1 Pet. 2:9–10) after Israel was exiled to Assyria in 732, 722, 701, and 671 B.C. Yet the presence of a righteous king such as Josiah (Zeph. 1:1) was not enough to stop God's judgment against Judah when other officials (v. 8; 3:3–5) and the people (1:9–12) continued to sin. Baal (literally, lord, master) is the Canaanite storm god whom Israel was prone to worship (1 Kings 18). The term idolatrous priests is used only of pagan priests (compare 2 Kings 23:5).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:5 Host of the heavens refers to the sun and star gods worshiped by the Assyrians and Canaanites (Deut. 4:19). Milcom is the god of the Ammonites (1 Kings 11:5).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:7–3:20 The Day of the Lord. The rest of Zephaniah's prophecy discusses the "day of the Lord." This "day" brings judgment on the wicked (1:7–3:8) and hope for the faithful (3:9–20). It affects not only God's covenant nation (1:8–13; 2:1–3; 3:1–7) but others as well (1:14–18; 2:4–15). It includes immediate, historical fulfillment (2:4–15) and also points toward the distant future (1:14–18; 3:8–13; Acts 17:31; 2 Pet. 3:10). On the theme of the "day of the Lord," see note on Amos 5:18–20; and The Day of the Lord in the Prophets.

1:7–9 Day of Sacrifice and Punishment. After an announcement of the day of the Lord (v. 7), practitioners of specific evil deeds are warned (vv. 8–9).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:7 The people are commanded to be silent, a sign of respect or fear (Amos 6:10; 8:3). The day of the Lord is the coming day in which God will judge his enemies (compare Joel 1:8–3:8) and bless his followers (Zeph. 3:9–20). The sacrifice will be prepared by God himself, not given to him, as is customary. The sinners will be the sacrifice.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:9 Leaps over the threshold is a pagan practice that shows respect for a god (see 1 Sam. 5:4–5). Violence and fraud are not the results of true worship (compare Gen. 6:11–12).

1:10–18 The Coming Wrath. A list of punishments is decreed against Jerusalem and its inhabitants (vv. 10–16) and against all humanity (vv. 17–18). Verses 10–11 mention specific neighborhoods in Jerusalem.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:12 The Lord will not do good, nor . . . ill. These men do not deny God's existence, but they deny that he cares and acts within his creation. Their attitude rejects a key biblical truth: God is constantly active in history.

FACT

The Mortar mentioned in 1:11 was probably one of Jerusalem's market districts. It probably got its name from being located in a valley shaped like a mortar that is used for grinding things with a pestle.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:13 Goods . . . houses . . . vineyards belong to the rich and powerful. Those who can afford their own dwellings and lands will lose everything. they shall not inhabit them. Because of their sin, God will not allow them to enjoy the rewards of their work.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:14 God's day is near and hastening fast. The people need to respond quickly (v. 7).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:15 Day of wrath is described by a list of frightening terms. Many of these occur along with appearances of God on other occasions where God treats his people as if they were his enemy (e.g., Ex. 19:16–19).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:17 Instead of walking in God's guidance, Judah will walk like the blind. They will stagger because of spiritual blindness. blood . . . like dust . . . like dung. Though blood carries life (Lev. 17:11), it will be treated as useless (compare 1 Kings 14:10; Zech. 9:3).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 1:18 Neither their silver nor their gold will buy them out of trouble (see vv. 11, 13). God's jealousy means that he cherishes his unique position in the affections of his people. Faithfulness is the foundation of his covenant with them (Ex. 20:3).

2:1–3 Repentance Is Still Possible. Although sin is a universal human problem, God will show grace if his people repent. And yet, Israel's actions demonstrate that they are not covenant followers (shameless nation).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 2:2 When grain is winnowed, the light outer husk is allowed to blow away. It is worthless for human or animal food. Like chaff refers here either to the quickly coming day of the anger of the Lord or to the quick departure of people who abandon God.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 2:3 Rather than abandoning God, Judah is called to seek diligently for him (compare 1:6; Ps. 27:8; 105:3–4; Isa. 51:1). all you humble of the land. Not everyone has abandoned God. Righteousness is correct living in relation to God and humanity (see Isa. 1:21). Considering the magnitude of their sin, perhaps highlights God's grace and sovereignty. you may be hidden. Humble, righteous people may be protected when God's judgment falls on the rest of the nation (compare Ex. 9:6, 26; 10:23; 12:23).

2:4–3:8 Nations Warned. As in Amos 1:3–2:3, this passage first focuses on Israel's neighbors and enemies (Zeph. 2:4–15), whom Judah would have happily joined in criticizing. Then the prophet addresses Judah itself (3:1–7). They are just as sinful before the same just God.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 2:4 Gaza, Ashkelon, Ashdod, and Ekron are four of the five Philistine city-states, located on the Mediterranean coastal plain. These opponents of Israel will soon be defeated.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 2:5 The seacoast indicates the location of the Philistines, from which the name "Palestine" is derived. They lived to the southwest of Judah. They are also called Cherethites (1 Sam. 30:14), which shows their historical links with Crete.

FACT

The name Palestine is actually derived from the word Philistine. The Philistines migrated to Palestine from Crete. They are also called Cherethites (see 1 Sam. 30:14).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 2:6–7 The term remnant shows two sides of God's relationship with his people. His judgment will be so severe that only a few survivors (a "remnant") will remain (v. 9; 3:13; Isa. 17:6). All hope is not lost, however, since those few refugees will continue the existence of God's people. God will be mindful of Judah, taking note of their need and restoring the blessings they have given up (Zeph. 3:20). pastures . . .

shepherds. After the Philistine cities have been destroyed, the area will be repopulated by God's people (2:7), who will live in peace.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 2:8 These verbal taunts and revilings (3:18; Isa. 43:28) against God's people were by two of Israel's longtime enemies to the east, Moab and the Ammonites. These nations descended from Lot through his sinful relationship with his daughters (Gen. 19:30–38).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 2:9 As I live strengthens an oath that God makes. His own existence is the surest thing possible (Isa. 49:18). For people whose livelihood depends on agriculture, it would be devastating to be overrun by nettles or weeds (see Prov. 24:30–31) and salt pits.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 2:11 Awesome describes Israel's God, who causes fear in his opponents' hearts (Ex. 15:11; 34:10). He moves against all the gods of the earth. Many nations believed their gods needed to be fed by their offerings. God will famish them, causing them to waste away (compare Isa. 10:16; 17:4). Instead of worshiping these powerless idols, foreigners will bow down to the God of Israel.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 2:12 Cushites are Ethiopians and other northeastern African peoples (3:10; Isa. 11:11). The reference may include Egypt, since Cushite kings sometimes ruled Egypt.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 2:13 God will stretch out his hand, an image indicating power and control (compare Gen. 16:12; Isa. 28:2), against his people's northern enemy, Assyria. The Assyrians conquered much of the Near East, including Judah's sister nation of Israel (see 2 Kings 17).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 2:14 The owl and the hedgehog represent two of the "inhabitants" of what used to be a major city. Humans will be gone; animals and birds will take their place. The underlying cedar work of their buildings (compare 1 Kings 6:9; 7:2) will be exposed from neglect.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 2:15 The Assyrian capital, Nineveh, formerly known as an exultant city, will be deprived of its safety and security. In its pride (v. 10; 3:11) Nineveh arrogantly boasted, "I am, and there is no one else." This phrase must be reserved for God alone (see Ex. 20:3; Isa. 45:6). Such pride will be punished. Anyone who sees the destruction of Nineveh hisses (compare Jer. 19:8) and shakes his fist. These are not acts of aggression, but of horror and amazement at how the mighty have fallen.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:1–7 God's people cannot think that they will emerge unscathed on the day of the Lord. If they sin (vv. 1–4) and are shameless (v. 5), they are also held accountable, especially as they lack repentance (vv. 6–7).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:1 Jerusalem is described as defiled and oppressing. It has become spiritually polluted (Isa. 59:3; Mal. 1:7) through idolatry and injustice.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:3 The city's officials (1:8; 1 Chron. 28:1) and judges (Ex. 18:21–22) are like ferocious roaring lions and evening wolves. Instead of guarding the flock, they devour it.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:4 Religious officials are also condemned, both prophets and priests.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:5 Unlike the human leaders, God always shows that he is righteous by not breaking the law (Ezek. 18:5–9). He shows forth his justice by seeing that all receive fair treatment (compare Ex. 23:6).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:7 God calls Jerusalem to fear, that is, to have respectful awe at his power (2:11; Ex. 14:31). This involves a willingness to accept correction (contrast Zeph. 3:2) as evidence of their fear of God (Prov. 10:17). If they obey, they will not experience God's judgment: your dwelling would not be cut off.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:8 The people are called to wait for God, not for possible blessing (Isa. 30:18) but for coming judgment. This time it will not be against Judah alone, since he will gather (Zeph. 3:18–20) all nations of the earth for their judgment.

3:9–20 Anticipation of Hope. God the judge is also God the gracious. He intends for the nations and Judah to turn to him (vv. 9–13). This will cause rejoicing (vv. 14–17), because God alone has accomplished salvation (vv. 18–20).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:9 In that day, God will change the speech of the peoples gathered to be punished (Isa. 6:5–7). The nations had polluted speech, for they worshiped pagan gods. Now they will have pure speech (compare Ps. 24:4), cleansed to call upon the name of the LORD in worship (Gen. 4:26) and to serve him. This worship is universal, done by all, and unanimous, “with one accord” (compare 1 Kings 22:13).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:10 Israelite exiles will come home from beyond the rivers of Cush (1:1; 2:12; Isa. 18:1). See note on Zeph. 2:12. True worshipers will come to Jerusalem, whether from east or west.

FACT

The rivers of Cush mentioned in ch. 3 are the Blue Nile and the White Nile, the two major tributaries of the Nile River, which flows northward through Egypt to the Mediterranean Sea. The Blue Nile is 900 miles (1,450 km) long and begins its northward journey in Ethiopia. The White Nile is 2,300 miles (3,700 km) long, flowing all the way from Lake Victoria in Uganda.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:11 Jerusalem’s shame (Isa. 54:4) is over, even though it was deserved because of the people’s wickedness (Zeph. 3:1–4, 7). They had rebelled against what they knew was right (Hos. 8:1). They were dominated by proudly exultant ones, haughty, wealthy people (Zeph. 1:8–13) who thought they needed nothing from God. Sadly, this contempt was shown in God’s earthly dwelling place, his holy mountain, Zion (Obad. 16), the site of the temple.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:12 God will especially provide a place for the humble and lowly (2:3). Unlike the arrogant (3:11), they know they are in need, so they seek refuge in his name (see Isa. 57:13).

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:13 God’s people will no longer commit sins such as injustice (v. 5), lying (Ezek. 13:6–9), and a deceitful tongue (Jer. 14:14).

ZEPHANIAH

The name Zephaniah means “Yahweh has hidden.” This is significant in regards to both the prophet’s background and his message. The name probably shows that Zephaniah’s parents were faithful followers of God. Zephaniah was also the great-great-grandson of the godly king Hezekiah (1:1). Like the prophets Joel and Amos, he prophesied about the coming “day of the LORD” when God would judge his enemies and bless his followers. Zephaniah urged the people of Judah to seek the Lord so that they would be “hidden” from his anger on that day (2:3). Though even God’s own people would be judged, at the same time the Lord would preserve a faithful remnant. The book of Zephaniah ends with the promise that, through this remnant, Israel will be restored and the knowledge of God will be brought to all nations. (Zephaniah 3:9–13)

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:14 The defiled city and nation (v. 1) will again be called the beloved daughter of Zion (Isa. 62:11). Zion is an alternative name for Jerusalem, the city of David (2 Sam. 5:7) and home of the temple (Ps. 9:11). Since all the exiles will be home, Jerusalem will again be capital of all Israel. Full reunion of the northern and southern kingdoms will occur.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:15 Rejoicing is appropriate because of the presence of the Lord, the real King of Israel, among his people. The human kings of Israel and Judah served only as representatives of Israel’s true ruler, who blesses with his presence those who repent and return to him.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:17 The previously weakened nation is in the presence of the mighty one (Deut. 10:17; Ps. 24:8; Isa. 10:21). Instead of their fleeing in the face of danger (Zeph. 1:14), God can save his people from it (Ex. 14:30). God himself will rejoice over you with gladness. God’s personal delight in them bursts forth in joyful celebration: he will exult over you with loud singing.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:19 God will act on behalf of all his people who have suffered under exile. He will save the lame (Mic. 4:6–7) as a shepherd helps his sheep.

ZEPHANIAH—NOTE ON 3:20 God will restore his scattered people. Instead of being shamed for their sin, they will be renowned and praised (Deut. 26:19) because of the gracious salvation of God.

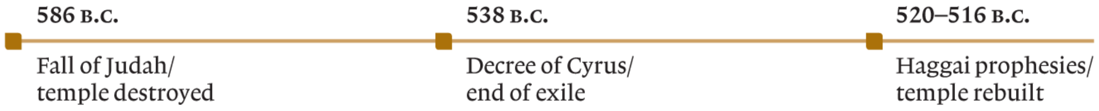
Introduction to Haggai

Introduction to Haggai

Timeline



586 B.C.
Fall of Judah/ temple destroyed
538 B.C.
Decree of Cyrus/ end of exile
520–516 B.C.
Haggai prophesies/ temple rebuilt

Author and Date

The book of Haggai contains messages delivered by the prophet Haggai, and thus it is reasonable to consider Haggai its author. Nothing is known of his genealogy. The specific mention of the “second year of Darius” (1:1) places the book in the year 520 B.C.

Historical Background

Haggai ministered among the Jews who had returned to Judea after some 70 years of exile in Babylon. The Persian ruler Cyrus the Great captured Babylon in 539 B.C. In 538 he permitted the Jews to return to Jerusalem so that they might rebuild the temple (Ezra 1–2). The work of rebuilding stalled, however, when opposition arose (Ezra 3:1–4:5). Haggai prophesied in an effort to motivate the people to renew their work of temple restoration.

Theme

The work of temple restoration highlights the Lord’s desire to renew a covenant relationship with his people (1:13; 2:4–5).

Key Themes

1. The restoration of God’s house. A decaying temple signifies a decaying relationship with the Lord. It brings weakness rather than holiness to the people (2:14).

2. The prophetic word is the divine Word. The prophecy is delivered “by the hand of Haggai” (1:1, 3; 2:1, 10; see 2:20) but it is God’s word (e.g., 1:2, 9, 12, 13).
3. The Lord is sovereign. The phrase “Lord of hosts” occurs 14 times in the 38 verses of this short book (see 1:2). The Lord gives the divine word, controls the fortunes of his people (1:9; 2:17, 19) and nations (2:6–8), directs nature (1:10), motivates his people to action (1:14; 2:4), and establishes and removes kingdoms (2:20–23).
4. The people must work. A restored house will bring pleasure and glory to the Lord (1:8) and blessing to the people (2:19), but there is work to be done. Physical labor is urged (1:7–8; 2:4–5). But there is also “heart” work to be done (1:5–7; 2:15–19).
5. The restoration of David’s house. Zerubbabel, the heir of David, is promised high status (2:23). The Lord, who removed the “ring” of the Davidic house (see Jer. 22:24–27), now promises that he will restore David’s house. The Messiah will come.

c. 520 B.C.

Haggai prophesied to the people of Jerusalem after they had returned from Babylon in 538 B.C. The walls and temple of Jerusalem had been destroyed by the Babylonians in 586 B.C. Within a year after returning from Babylon, the people had laid the foundation for the new temple, but by Haggai’s time they had still not completed it. Haggai, together with Zechariah, called upon the people to stop focusing on their own economic well-being and complete the temple.

The Global Message of Haggai

"I am with you, declares the LORD" (Hag. 1:13; also 2:4). In a fallen world, in which it is often difficult to feel God's presence amid "trials of various kinds" (James 1:2), the message of Haggai to the global church is the promise of the presence of God.

Haggai in Redemptive History

God's presence in Eden. "And they heard the sound of the LORD God walking in the garden" (Gen. 3:8). In Eden, God originally dwelt with mankind in happy fellowship and unhindered harmony. Following the fall into sin, however, that fellowship was fractured and God withdrew (Gen. 3:22–24). The rest of the Bible is the story of God restoring mankind to himself by his own grace and initiative, renewing his presence with them.

God's presence in the Old Testament. The primary way in which the Lord achieved this renewing in the Old Testament was through the tabernacle and then the temple. The tabernacle was a miniature Eden, complete with sky-blue roof (Ex. 26:31–33) and a lampstand that looked like a flourishing tree, perhaps representing the tree of life in Eden (Ex. 25:31–40). After carrying the tabernacle around with them throughout their wilderness wanderings, Israel finally entered the Promised Land and, under Solomon, built a temple. The temple, like the tabernacle, was God's house (Hag. 1:9). It was where he dwelt—where fellowship with his people, once fractured, could be restored.

Yet due to Israel's faithlessness God allowed foreign armies to conquer them and destroy the temple. To ancient Jews the destruction of the temple was the same as if their relationship with the Lord had ended, for it was through the temple and its priesthood that this relationship was maintained.

God's presence renewed. Remembering all this, we come to Haggai. There we find God calling Zerubbabel and Joshua to rebuild the temple. In his great mercy, God was determined to live among his people once more. The temple would be restored; Governor Zerubbabel, God's chosen agent for this task, would see to that (Hag. 2:4–5, 21–23). In the course of reassuring his people of his covenant love for them, the Lord says that he is once more going to fill the temple with glory (see 2 Chron. 7:1). What is striking about Haggai's prophecy is that this will be a glory made up of a multinational extension of his people, as the Lord shakes "all nations, so that the treasures of all nations shall come in" to the temple (Hag. 2:7; compare Rev. 21:24).

God's final presence. In Christ, God's presence came one final time, not in a temple built with human hands but in the temple of a human body (John 2:19–22). We no longer enter into a temple of wood and stone to meet with God; God has entered into a temple of flesh and blood to meet with us. Fellowship has been restored. In Christ, the resounding promise of Haggai —"I am with you" (Hag. 1:13; 2:4)—is decisively fulfilled. Indeed, the final promise of Christ to his followers is this very thing: "And behold, I am with you always, to the end of the age" (Matt. 28:20).

Universal Themes in Haggai

The global dimensions of God's restored presence. In Isaiah's vision, as he saw the Lord high and exalted in the temple, the seraphim declared that "the whole earth is full of his glory" (Isa. 6:3). This harks back to the original mandate given to mankind—to multiply and to subdue and rule over the whole earth in such a way that the glory of God would be spread across it (Gen. 1:26–28; Isa. 43:6–7). In Haggai we then read that the restored temple-presence of God would be adorned with the treasures of all the diverse cultures of the world (Hag. 2:7). The global display of God's glory, lost at the fall, will be recovered when God restores his temple-presence among his people. In Christ, who extends mercy to both Jew and Gentile, this international restoration comes to fruition (Matt. 12:18; Luke 2:32).

God's mighty sovereignty over all things. God is called "the LORD of hosts" fourteen times in Haggai, despite the short length of this prophetic book. "Hosts" here is a military term, referring to armies. Regardless of the seeming sovereignty of the Babylonian army in conquering much of the known world, including little Judah, Babylon is not sovereign; God, "the LORD of hosts," rules over all. He determines the state of his people (Hag. 1:9; 2:17, 19) as well as of the nations of the world (2:6–8). He oversees nature (1:10; 2:19), compels his people to action (1:14; 2:4), and raises up and brings down whole kingdoms (2:20–23). His mighty arm reaches into every corner of the globe, doing all that he pleases for his great name and for the welfare of his people.

The Global Message of Haggai for Today

The chaos of the modern world—morally, politically, economically—can easily erode the church’s sense of God’s mighty presence and providence. Yet as we trace the biblical story of God’s presence with his people—from Eden to the tabernacle and temple to Christ himself and ultimately to the new earth—we see that what seems like the silence of God is not the absence of God. The Lord has always graciously walked with his people, even when his ways are hidden and difficult to understand.

The supreme example of God’s mercy in the midst of painful circumstances is the cross of Christ—where, at the very moment when the forces of hell seemed most victorious, they were being decisively defeated (Col. 2:14–15).

Believers all around the world today can take heart in God’s determined resolve to be present with his people. “I am with you,” we read in Haggai. In Jesus and in the gift of the indwelling Spirit, these words are decisively fulfilled. Even now he is creating for himself a people from every tribe and nation. They will bring their treasures into the new earth, to that final paradise where no temple is needed, the restored Eden (Hag. 2:7; Rev. 21:22–24)—in everlasting, perfect fellowship with him.

The Command to Rebuild the Temple

HAGGAI 1 [†][a]In the second year of Darius the king, in the sixth month, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came by the hand of Haggai the prophet to [b]Zerubbabel the son of [c]Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to [d]Joshua the son of [e]Jehozadak, the high priest: [2][†]“Thus says the LORD of hosts: These people say the time has not yet come to rebuild the house of the LORD.” [3][†]Then the word of the LORD came [f]by the hand of Haggai the prophet, [4][†][g]“Is it a time for you yourselves to dwell in your paneled houses, while [h]this house lies in ruins? [5]Now, therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts: [i]Consider your ways. [6][†][j]You have sown much, and harvested little. [k]You eat, but you never have enough; you drink, but you never have your fill. You clothe yourselves, but no one is warm. And he who [l]earns wages does so to put them into a bag with holes.

[7]“Thus says the LORD of hosts: [i]Consider your ways. [8]Go up to the hills and bring wood and build the house, that [m]I may take pleasure in it and that [n]I may be glorified, says the LORD. [9][†][j]You looked for much, and behold, it came to little. And when you brought it home, [o]I blew it away. Why?
declares the LORD of hosts. Because of my house [h]that lies in ruins, while each of you busies himself with his own house. [10][†]Therefore [p]the heavens above you have withheld the dew, and the earth has withheld its produce. [11]And [q]I have called for a drought on the land and the hills, on [r]the grain, the new wine, the oil, on what the ground brings forth, on man and beast, and [s]on all their labors.”

The People Obey the LORD

[12][†][t]Then [u]Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and [u]Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, with all [v]the remnant of the people, obeyed the voice of the LORD their God, and the words of Haggai the prophet, as the LORD their God had sent him. And the people feared the LORD. [13][†]Then Haggai, the messenger of the LORD, spoke to the people with the LORD’s message, [w]“I am with you, declares the LORD.” [14][†]And [x]the LORD stirred up the spirit of [u]Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and the spirit of [y] Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and the spirit of all [z] the remnant of the people. And they came and [a] worked on the house of the LORD of hosts, their God, [15][†] [b] on the twenty-fourth day of the month, in the sixth month, in the second year of Darius the king.

The Coming Glory of the Temple

HAGGAI 2 [c] In the seventh month, on the twenty-first day of the month, the word of the LORD came by the hand of Haggai the prophet, [2]"Speak now to [d] Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to [d] Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and to all the remnant of the people, and say, [3][†] [e] 'Who is left among you who saw this house [f] in its former glory? How do you see it now? [g] Is it not as nothing in your eyes? [4][†]Yet now [h] be strong, O [d] Zerubbabel, declares the LORD. [h] Be strong, O [d] Joshua, son of Jehozadak, the high priest. [h] Be strong, all you people of the land, declares the LORD. [i] Work, for [j] I am with you, declares the LORD of hosts, [5][†] [k] according to the covenant that I made with you when you came out of Egypt. [l] My Spirit remains in your midst. [m] Fear not. [6][†]For thus says the LORD of hosts: [n] Yet once more, in a little while, [o] I will shake the heavens and the earth and the sea and the dry land. [7][†]And I will shake all nations, so that the treasures of all nations shall come in, and [p] I will fill this house with glory, says the LORD of hosts. [8][†] [q] The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, declares the LORD of hosts. [9][†] [r] The latter glory of this house shall be greater than the former, says the LORD of hosts. And [s] in this place I will give peace, declares the LORD of hosts.'"

Blessings for a Defiled People

[10][†] [t] On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, [u] in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came by Haggai the prophet, [11][†]"Thus says the LORD of hosts: [v] Ask the priests about the law: [12]'If someone carries [w] holy meat in the fold of his garment and touches with his fold bread or stew or wine or oil or any kind of food, does it become holy?'" The priests answered and said, [x] "No." [13][†]Then Haggai said, [y] "If someone who is unclean by contact with a dead body [z] touches any of these, does it become unclean?” The priests answered and said, “It does become unclean.”

[14][†]Then Haggai answered and said, [a]“So is it with this people, and with this nation before me, declares the LORD, and so with every work of their hands. And what they offer there is unclean. [15][†]Now then, [b]consider from this day onward. [1] Before stone was placed upon stone in the temple of the LORD, [16]how did you fare? [c]When [2] one came to a heap of twenty measures, there were but ten. When one came to the wine vat to draw fifty measures, there were but twenty. [17][†] [d]I struck you and all the products of your toil with blight and with mildew and with hail, [e]yet you did not turn to me, declares the LORD. [18] [b]Consider from this day onward, [f]from the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month. Since [g]the day that the foundation of the LORD’s temple was laid, [b]consider: [19][†] [h]Is the seed yet in the barn? Indeed, the vine, the fig tree, the pomegranate, and the olive tree have yielded nothing. But from this day on [i]I will bless you.”

Zerubbabel Chosen as a Signet

[20][†]The word of the LORD came a second time to Haggai [f]on the twenty-fourth day of the month, [21][†]“Speak to [j]Zerubbabel, governor of Judah, saying, [k]I am about to shake the heavens and the earth, [22][†]and [l]to overthrow the throne of kingdoms. I am about to destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the nations, and [m]overthrow the chariots and their riders. And the horses and their riders shall go down, [n]every one by the sword of his brother. [23][†]On that day, declares the LORD of hosts, I will take you, O [j]Zerubbabel [o]my servant, the son of [p]Shealtiel, declares the LORD, and make you [q]like a [3] signet ring, [o]for I have chosen you, declares the LORD of hosts.”

Study Notes for Haggai

1:1–2 Introduction: Reluctant Rebuilders. The major problem that the book addresses is that the temple is in ruins and the people are doing nothing about it.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:1 second year . . . sixth month . . . first day. August 29, 520 B.C. It is three weeks after the anniversary of the destruction of the first temple (2 Kings 25:8). Zerubbabel was heir to the Davidic throne and governor of Judah (see Ezra 5:2). Joshua. High priest and son of Jehozadak, whose line is traced through Zadok to Aaron (1 Chron. 6:11–15; Zech. 3:1).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:2 LORD of hosts emphasizes the Lord's universal rule as leader of heavenly or earthly armies (see note on 1 Sam. 1:3).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:3–12 Consider Your Ways: Fruitless Prosperity. In this second word to Haggai, the Lord asks his people to consider whether their wealth brings satisfaction. He encourages them to supply materials for "my house" (vv. 3–11). A general response follows (v. 12).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:4 paneled houses . . . ruins. The people focus on comfortable personal dwellings (see v. 9) while the Lord remains "homeless" (compare 2 Sam. 7:2).

FACT

The paneled houses described in 1:4 probably had walls and ceilings covered with cedar wood. Such decoration was a sign of prosperity in a land where wood was scarce. The people were spending freely on their own homes while neglecting the rebuilding of the temple.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:6 sown much . . . harvested little. Because of their preference for personal gain over temple rebuilding, God has not blessed the people's labors. eat . . . drink. . . . clothe. . . . earns wages. They need to “consider their ways” (v. 5) because their self-focused efforts lead only to frustration.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:9 busies himself with. The criticism of their misplaced priorities, implied in v. 4, is now made clear.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:10–11 Therefore. . . . drought. There is a direct connection between the ruin of the Lord’s house (vv. 4, 9) and the current hardship.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:12 Convicted by the criticism of vv. 3–11, the people respond fearfully. The remnant (v. 14; 2:2) is the same as the people addressed in 1:2; 2:4, 14.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:13–15a Promise and Progress. The people’s general response of fear (v. 12) prompts the prophet’s third statement.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:13–14 The words messenger, message, and worked are a play on words in Hebrew. It shows the direct connection between the messenger (Haggai), the content of his message (a statement of assurance), and the desired effect upon the people (they resumed work on the temple).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:13 I am with you is the great promise of covenantal assurance (compare 2:4; Num. 14:9; Josh. 14:12; Judg. 1:19; Isa. 43:5; Matt. 28:20). The task before them will be undertaken with the promise of God’s help.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:14 the LORD stirred up the spirit. Progress on the house is made only as God awakens in the people an intense desire to work at building it (compare Ex. 35:21, 26, 30–35). their God. The people claim God as their own (compare Jer. 24:7; 31:33).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 1:15b–2:9 The Former and Latter Glory of This House. Comparing the temple’s past glory with the present ruins brought discouragement (2:1–3). In this fourth message the people are called to act based on the past (2:4–5). As God moved Israel to build the tabernacle, so he will now move among the nations to provide for the restoration of his house (2:6–9).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:3 Who is left. Some of those who had returned from exile could remember Solomon's temple, which had been destroyed 66 years earlier (compare Ezra 3:12). Is it not as nothing in your eyes? The people could see that the rebuilt temple would be far inferior to Solomon's temple.

FACT

The temple was the means through which God dwelt with his people in meaningful fellowship (1:13; 2:4–5). It also brought glory and pleasure to God (1:8). Jesus said that he was the final temple, restoring fellowship once more between God and his people (John 2:19–22; Eph. 2:19–22).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:4 I am with you. As earlier, God's presence forms the basis for their ongoing work in the face of discouragement (compare 1:13–14).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:5 The command Fear not is based on the assurance that My Spirit remains in your midst. This is one of the strongest OT statements of God's ongoing presence among his people.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:6 LORD of hosts (five times in vv. 6–9) emphasizes the Lord's sovereign authority over all things.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:7 God promises to shake all nations so that they will yield the treasures of all nations to adorn the temple. Ultimately, the Lord will fill his house with glory—that is, with his own presence. Many see in this oracle a foreshadowing of events related to the incarnation of Christ (see John 2:20–21) and his second coming (see Rev. 21:22, 24).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:8 God ultimately owns all the wealth of all nations: the silver is mine, and the gold is mine. Therefore it should be used in obedience to him.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:9 The latter glory of this house. The rebuilt temple was later expanded and made quite beautiful by Herod the Great (74–3 B.C.). He used Roman wealth to pay for this project (see vv. 7–8). The fact that Jesus came to this temple also made its glory greater than that of Solomon's temple.

HAGGAI

When the people of God returned from their lengthy exile in Babylon, Jerusalem was in ruins. Within a short time they laid the foundation for a new temple, but they quickly grew discouraged and began focusing instead on their own homes. By Haggai's time, nearly 20 years later, the temple was still unfinished. God used Haggai to encourage the people to finish rebuilding the temple: "Is it a time for you yourselves to dwell in your paneled houses, while this house lies in ruins?" (1:4). Haggai encouraged the disheartened people of Judah with the message that the God of Israel had not abandoned them. His Spirit was still in their midst, and he would fulfill his promise to bless the whole world through them. (Haggai 2:4–9)

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:10–19 Consider Your Ways: Holiness and Defilement; Repentance and Blessing. In this fifth message, the Lord uses an analogy of ritual holiness and uncleanness to force the priests to think about the spiritual status of the people (vv. 10–14), about past agricultural failures (vv. 15–17), and about their experience since temple restoration began (vv. 18–19).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:11 priests. Haggai directs questions to priests because it is their duty to give a ruling in matters of Mosaic ritual and law (Lev. 10:10–11).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:13 dead body. One who has contact with a dead body pollutes all that he contacts (Lev. 22:1–9).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:14 every work of their hands. All that they do is unclean (compare v. 17). there. The temple. It is unclean because they permit a "corpse" (the unfinished temple) to remain in their midst.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:15–17 The Lord calls the people to reflect upon their economic situation prior to the start of reconstruction. The past lack of agricultural prosperity did not lead to repentance.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:15 consider (literally, “set your hearts”; compare v. 18 [2x]). They should recall past experience, but also see what God is doing now.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:17 I struck. A drastic action motivated by a Father’s love for his children, to encourage them to repent (Deut. 30:1–10; Heb. 12:7–11). to me. Compare Amos 4:9.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:19 Is the seed yet in the barn? Although God’s people had already planted their seeds, harvest is still months away. The Lord promises that a plentiful harvest will come. This day is the day when the Lord promised, I will bless you.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:20–23 Zerubbabel: The Signet Ring. The sixth and final message from the Lord to Haggai complements the previous word and comes on the same day (vv. 10, 18, 20). It is a vision of trembling creation, overthrown kingdoms, and perishing armies. Ultimately, the vision focuses upon the actions of the divine King. He wears, as a signet ring, the promise of David’s house restored in the person of Zerubbabel.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:21 The sovereign Lord warns of a coming destruction of nations. shake. Earlier this was for the purpose of gathering the wealth of the nations (vv. 6–7), while here it is tied to the impending destruction of the nations.

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:22 chariots . . . riders. . . . go down. An allusion to the destruction of Pharaoh’s army (Ex. 14:22–29).

HAGGAI—NOTE ON 2:23 On that day. This phrase, common in prophetic writings, sets the Lord’s actions in an unspecified future, that is, “the day of the LORD” (Isa. 2:11–20; see note on Amos 5:18–20; see also The Day of the Lord in the Prophets). I will take. The Lord’s actions are underscored by repeating three times declares the LORD [of hosts]. my servant. A title given to individuals selected to accomplish God’s appointed task. It is particularly associated with David or an ideal Davidic king (2 Sam. 3:18; Ps. 89:3; Ezek. 34:23–24). signet ring. A ring that provided evidence of royal authority and ownership. God’s promise to bless his people and the whole world through the house of David still stands (see Matt. 1:1).

Author and Date

Zechariah was a prophet and a priest. He began his ministry in 520 B.C., shortly after Haggai had begun his prophetic work.

Background

Nearly 20 years after returning from the Babylonian exile in the time of Cyrus (538 B.C.), God's people were discouraged. The foundation of the temple had been laid shortly after the initial return, in 536 B.C., but powerful opposition had prevented any further progress on rebuilding the temple. And, there was little evidence of the kind of spiritual renewal that the earlier prophets had anticipated. Jewish sovereignty had not been restored. A moral reformation of the people had not occurred. Jerusalem was still only partially rebuilt and had no significance among the surrounding nations. Under the circumstances, many people concluded that theirs was a "day of small things" (4:10) in which God was absent from his people. Many viewed faithful obedience as useless. It seemed to make more sense to forget God and to pursue the best life possible.

Key Themes

1. The need for turning to the Lord in repentance (1:1–6) and serving him with sincerity (ch. 7).
2. The Lord's concern and care for his people's difficulties (1:8–17; 4:10).
3. Jerusalem's future expansion and blessing (2:4, 12; 8:1–8; 14:16).

4. The complete and permanent removal of the people's sin (chs. 3; 5), and the removal of false prophecy and idolatry from the land (13:2–6).
5. The importance of the temple as the source of God's blessing (ch. 4).
6. The Lord's wrath at the nations that plundered Judah and Jerusalem (1:18–21; 14:3–5).
7. The Divine Warrior's return to terrorize Israel's foes (9:1–8), and the coming of the Branch, a Davidic ruler who will save his people, cleanse their sins, and establish peace (3:8; 6:9–15; 9:9–10).
8. The pouring out of God's Spirit, resulting in repentance and the opening of a fountain for the cleansing of sin (12:10–13:1).
9. Judgment on the wicked shepherds of God's people and their replacement by a good shepherd (11:1–17).
10. The striking of the good shepherd and the scattering of the flock (13:7–9).
11. The Lord's final triumph over the nations (ch. 14).

The Near East at the Time of Zechariah

c. 520 B.C.

Zechariah prophesied to the people of Judah soon after they had returned from exile in Babylon. Several years earlier, in 539 B.C., Cyrus the Great had conquered Babylon and absorbed its territory into his empire. A year later he permitted the people of Judah to return to their homeland and rebuild the temple. Cyrus and his son Cambyses extended the Persian Empire until it stretched from Egypt and Lydia to the borders of India.

The Global Message of Zechariah

"Sing and rejoice, O daughter of Zion, for behold, I come and I will dwell in your midst, declares the LORD. And many nations shall join themselves to the LORD in that day, and shall be my people" (Zech. 2:10–11). The global message of Zechariah is that through the judgment that is justly coming upon God's enemies, God is nevertheless gathering a people for himself from all the nations of the world—all made possible through the work of a righteous priest-king, Jesus Christ.

Zechariah in Redemptive History

Israel's calling squandered. Although Israel had been called out to be a light to the nations of the earth, the people had failed miserably in that calling. Yet this failure was not the last word over their destiny. "As you have been a byword of cursing among the nations, O house of Judah and house of Israel, so will I save you, and you shall be a blessing" (Zech. 8:13). Indeed, not only was God going to fulfill his promise that Israel would be a blessing to the world, but God was also going to restore the flourishing abundance of Eden (8:11–12). Yet this restoration would be extended not only to Israel but to all the nations of the world, as originally intended in the mandate given to Abraham (Gen. 12:1–3). As Zechariah's prophecy puts it, "the LORD has an eye on mankind and on all the tribes of Israel" (Zech. 9:1).

Israel's calling fulfilled. How would this redemption of the world be achieved? Only through the work of Christ. In Christ, the temple, the place where God dwelt with his people, is rebuilt as promised (Zech. 1:16). Zechariah's prophecy is filled with strange and wonderful hints of the coming global king who will achieve salvation for his own. We read of Joshua being clothed with clean garments amid Satan's accusations (3:1–5). We hear a prophetic word of a "Branch," a priest-king who will build the temple of the Lord (6:12–13; compare Jer. 23:5–6; 33:14–16; John 2:19–22). We read of a righteous and humble king, riding on a donkey (Zech. 9:9; compare Matt. 21:5; John 12:15), as well as of the piercing of one who is like an only child (Zech. 12:10; compare John 19:37) and of the scattering of the sheep when the shepherd is struck (Zech. 13:7; compare Matt. 26:31).

We read of “living waters” flowing out from Jerusalem (Zech. 14:8; compare John 7:37–39).

The result of the work of this coming king is that humanity will be restored to its Creator, coming to him from every corner of the earth:

> Thus says the Lord of hosts: Peoples shall yet come, even the inhabitants of many cities. The inhabitants of one city shall go to another, saying, “Let us go at once to entreat the favor of the Lord and to seek the Lord of hosts; I myself am going.” Many peoples and strong nations shall come to seek the Lord of hosts in Jerusalem and to entreat the favor of the Lord. Thus says the Lord of hosts: In those days ten men from the nations of every tongue shall take hold of the robe of a Jew, saying, “Let us go with you, for we have heard that God is with you.” (Zech. 8:20–23)

Universal Themes in Zechariah

Worldwide salvation. “Behold, your king is coming to you; righteous and having salvation is he, humble and mounted on a donkey, on a colt, the foal of a donkey. . . . And he shall speak peace to the nations; his rule shall be from sea to sea, and from the River to the ends of the earth” (Zech. 9:9–10). Zechariah’s prophecy presents a vision of a globally minded God on a mission to restore the world to the way it was originally created to be. This includes welcoming in people from all the tribes and nations and people groups of the world. Such worldwide salvation is also the note on which the prophecy ends (14:16–19).

Joy in God’s redemption. Time and again throughout Zechariah we see the joy that comes with God’s merciful redemption of his people. The fasts that will be celebrated at the time of Zion’s coming restoration will be “seasons of joy and gladness and cheerful feasts” (Zech. 8:19). Amid judgments on Israel’s enemies, to Israel herself God says, “Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion!” (9:9). When God visits his people to restore them to himself, “their hearts shall be glad as with wine. Their children shall see it and be glad; their hearts shall rejoice in the Lord” (10:7). A crucial common denominator to the salvation God grants in Christ, regardless of geographical location, is joy. Of all people, the redeemed supremely have reason to rejoice.

The importance of godly leadership. Throughout Zechariah we see the metaphor of "shepherd" applied to those who lead God's people—more often than in any other prophet (Zech. 10:2; 11:4, 7, 9, 15, 16, 17; 13:7). "The people wander like sheep; they are afflicted for lack of a shepherd" (10:2). God's people throughout the world require strong, godly leadership from those who are called to lead them—the testimony of biblical history is that, as go the leaders, so go the people. Ultimately, Jesus himself is the global church's Shepherd, laying down his life on behalf of the sheep (John 10:11; 1 Pet. 2:25; 5:4).

The Global Message of Zechariah for Today

The supremacy of Christ. As is true of every part of Scripture, Zechariah's prophecy tells us of Christ and the great redemption God has won for us through him. And Zechariah is filled with an unusually high number of striking promises that are ultimately fulfilled in Jesus. As believers around the world read Zechariah, we commune with God and are given glimpses of the mighty friend we have in his Son, Jesus Christ. Amid the many diverse kinds of adversity facing Christians today, Jesus himself, whose very heart is "gentle and lowly" (Matt. 11:29), walks with his brothers and sisters. Our fellowship with him cannot be broken, and it transcends the many cultural differences that distinguish believers around the world.

Compassion for the needy. In the meantime, as we await Christ's second coming in great power and glory, Zechariah reminds us to extend compassion to the needy and oppressed around the world even as Christ has extended compassion to us. God's heart for the socially disadvantaged shines through in Zechariah, as in so many of the prophets. It is a message strongly relevant to twenty-first century global Christianity. "And the word of the Lord came to Zechariah, saying, 'Thus says the Lord of hosts, Render true judgments, show kindness and mercy to one another, do not oppress the widow, the fatherless, the sojourner, or the poor'" (Zech. 7:8–10; compare 8:16–17).

A Call to Return to the LORD

ZECHARIAH 1 [†]In the eighth month, [a] in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to the prophet [b] Zechariah, the son of [c] Berechiah, son of [d] Iddo, saying, [2] [e] "The LORD was very angry with your fathers. [3]Therefore say to them, Thus declares the LORD of hosts: [f] Return to me, says the LORD of hosts, and [g] I will return to you, says the LORD of hosts. [4] [h] Do not be like your fathers, [i] to whom the former prophets cried out, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, [f] Return from your evil ways and from your evil deeds.' But [j] they did not hear or pay attention to me, declares the LORD. [5]Your fathers, where are they? And [k] the prophets, do they live forever? [6][†] [l] But my words and my statutes, which I commanded [m] my servants the prophets, did they not [n] overtake your fathers? So they repented and said, [o] 'As the LORD of hosts purposed to deal with us for [p] our ways and [p] deeds, so has he dealt with us.'"

A Vision of a Horseman

[7][†]On the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month, which is the month of Shebat, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to the prophet [b] Zechariah, the son of [c] Berechiah, son of [d] Iddo, saying, [8]"I saw in the night, and behold, [q] a man riding on a red horse! He was standing among the myrtle trees in the glen, and behind him were [r] red, sorrel, and white horses. [9]Then I said, 'What are these, my lord?' [s] The angel who talked with me said to me, 'I will show you what they are.' [10][†]So [q] the man who was standing among the myrtle trees answered, [t] 'These are they whom the LORD has sent to [u] patrol the earth.' [11]And they answered [s] the angel of the LORD who was standing among the myrtle trees, and said, [u] 'We have patrolled the earth, and behold, all the earth [v] remains at rest.' [12][†]Then [s] the angel of the LORD said, [w] 'O LORD of hosts, [w] how long will you [x] have no mercy on Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, against which you have been angry these [y] seventy years?' [13][†]And the LORD answered [z] gracious and comforting words to [s] the angel who talked with me. [14]So [s] the angel who talked with me said to me, 'Cry out, Thus says the LORD of hosts: [a]I am exceedingly jealous for Jerusalem and for Zion. [15][b]And I am exceedingly angry with the nations that are [c]at ease; [d]for while I was angry but a little, [e]they furthered the disaster. [16]Therefore, thus says the LORD, [f]I have returned to Jerusalem with mercy; [g]my house shall be built in it, declares the LORD of hosts, and [h]the measuring line shall be stretched out over Jerusalem. [17][†]Cry out again, Thus says the LORD of hosts: [i]My cities shall again overflow with prosperity, [j]and the LORD will again comfort Zion and again [k]choose Jerusalem.'"

A Vision of Horns and Craftsmen

[18][†] [1] And I lifted my eyes and saw, and behold, [l]four horns! [19]And I said to [s]the angel who talked with me, "What are these?" And he said to me, [l]"These are the horns that have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem." [20]Then the LORD showed me four craftsmen. [21]And I said, "What are these coming to do?" He said, [l]"These are the horns that scattered Judah, so that no one raised his head. And these have come [m]to terrify them, to cast down the horns of the nations [n]who lifted up their horns against the land of Judah to scatter it."

A Vision of a Man with a Measuring Line

ZECHARIAH 2 [†] [1] And I lifted my eyes and saw, and behold, [o]a man with a measuring line in his hand! [2]Then I said, "Where are you going?" And he said to me, [p]"To measure Jerusalem, to see what is its width and what is its length." [3]And behold, [q]the angel who talked with me came forward, and another angel came forward to meet him [4]and said to him, "Run, say to that young man, [r]'Jerusalem shall be inhabited [s]as villages without walls, because of [t]the multitude of people and livestock in it. [5][†]And I will be to her [u]a wall of fire all around, declares the LORD, and I will be the glory in her midst.'"

[6][†]Up! Up! [v]Flee from the land of the north, declares the LORD. For I have [w]spread you abroad as the four winds of the heavens, declares the LORD. [7][x]Up! Escape to Zion, you who dwell with the daughter of Babylon. [8][†]For thus said the LORD of hosts, after his glory sent me [2] to the nations who plundered you, [y] for he who touches you touches [z] the apple of his eye: [9][†]“Behold, [a] I will shake my hand over them, [b] and they shall become plunder for those who served them. Then [c] you will know that the LORD of hosts has sent me. [10][†] [d] Sing and rejoice, O daughter of Zion, for [e] behold, I come [f] and I will dwell in your midst, declares the LORD. [11][†] [g] And many nations shall join themselves to the LORD in that day, and shall be my people. [f] And I will dwell in your midst, and [c] you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me to you. [12][†] [h] And the LORD will inherit Judah as his portion in the holy land, and will again [i] choose Jerusalem.”

[13]Be silent, all flesh, before the LORD, for he has roused himself from his holy dwelling.

A Vision of Joshua the High Priest

ZECHARIAH 3 [†]Then he showed me [j] Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, and [k] Satan [1] standing at his right hand to accuse him. [2]And the LORD said to Satan, [l] “The LORD rebuke you, O Satan! The LORD who has [m] chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! Is not this [n] a brand [2] plucked from the fire?” [3][†]Now [j] Joshua was standing before the angel, [o] clothed with filthy garments. [4][†]And the angel said to [p] those who were standing before him, [q] “Remove the filthy garments from him.” And to him he said, “Behold, [r] I have taken your iniquity away from you, and [s] I will clothe you with pure vestments.” [5][†]And I said, [t] “Let them put a clean turban on his head.” So they put a clean turban on his head and clothed him with garments. And the angel of the LORD was standing by.

[6]And the angel of the LORD solemnly assured [j] Joshua, [7][†]“Thus says the LORD of hosts: If you will walk in my ways and [u] keep my charge, then you shall [v] rule my house and have charge of my courts, and I will give you the right of access among [w] those who are standing here. [8][†]Hear now, O Joshua the high priest, you and your friends who sit before you, for [x] they are men who are a sign: behold, I will bring [y] my servant [z] the Branch. [9]For behold, on [a] the stone that I have set before Joshua, on a single stone with [b] seven eyes, [3] I will [c] engrave its inscription, declares the LORD of hosts, and [d] I will remove the iniquity of this land in a single day. [10][†]In that day, declares the LORD of hosts, every one of you will invite his neighbor to come [e]under his vine and under his fig tree.”

A Vision of a Golden Lampstand

ZECHARIAH 4 [†]And [f]the angel who talked with me came again [g]and woke me, like a man who is awakened out of his sleep. [2][†]And he said to me, “What do you see?” I said, “I see, and behold, [h]a lampstand all of gold, with a bowl on the top of it, and [i]seven lamps on it, with seven lips on each of the lamps that are on the top of it. [3]And there are [j]two olive trees by it, one on the right of the bowl and the other on its left.” [4]And I said to [f]the angel who talked with me, “What are these, my lord?” [5]Then the angel who talked with me answered and said to me, [k]“Do you not know what these are?” I said, “No, my lord.” [6][†]Then he said to me, “This is the word of the LORD to [l]Zerubbabel: [m]Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, says the LORD of hosts. [7][†]Who are you, [n]O great mountain? Before [l]Zerubbabel [o]you shall become a plain. And he shall bring forward [p]the top stone amid shouts of ‘Grace, grace to it!’”

[8]Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying, [9] [q]“The hands of [l]Zerubbabel have laid the foundation of this house; his hands shall also [r]complete it. [s]Then you will know that the LORD of hosts has sent me to you. [10][†] [t]For whoever has despised the day of small things shall rejoice, and shall see [u]the plumb line in the hand of Zerubbabel.

[v]“These seven [v]are the eyes of the LORD, [w]which range through the whole earth.” [11]Then I said to him, “What are these [j]two olive trees on the right and the left of the lampstand?” [12]And a second time I answered and said to him, “What are these [j]two branches of the olive trees, which are beside the two golden pipes from which the golden oil [1] is poured out?” [13]He said to me, [x]“Do you not know what these are?” I said, “No, my lord.” [14][†]Then he said, [y]“These are the two anointed ones [2] who stand by [z]the Lord of the whole earth.”

A Vision of a Flying Scroll

ZECHARIAH 5 [†]Again I lifted my eyes and saw, and behold, a flying [a]scroll! [2]And he said to me, “What do you see?” I answered, “I see a flying [a]scroll. Its length is twenty cubits, and its width ten cubits.” [1] [3]Then he said to me, “This is [b]the curse that goes out over the face of the whole land. For everyone who [c]steals shall be cleaned out according to what is on one side, and everyone who [d]swears falsely [2] shall be cleaned out according to what is on the other side. [4]I will send it out, declares the LORD of hosts, and it shall enter the house of the thief, and the house of [e]him who swears falsely by my name. And [f]it shall remain in his house and [g]consume it, both timber and stones.”

A Vision of a Woman in a Basket

[5][†] [h]Then the angel who talked with me came forward and said to me, [i]“Lift your eyes and see what this is that is going out.” [6][†]And I said, “What is it?” He said, “This is [j]the basket [3] that is going out.” And he said, “This is their iniquity [4] in all the land.” [7]And behold, the leaden cover was lifted, and there was a woman sitting in the basket! [8][†]And he said, “This is Wickedness.” And he thrust her back into the basket, and thrust down [j]the leaden weight on its opening.

[9]Then I lifted my eyes and saw, and behold, two women coming forward! [k]The wind was in their wings. They had wings like the wings of a stork, and they lifted up the basket between earth and heaven. [10]Then I said to the angel who talked with me, “Where are they taking the basket?” [11][†]He said to me, “To the [l]land of Shinar, to build a house for it. And when this is prepared, they will set the basket down there on its base.”

A Vision of Four Chariots

ZECHARIAH 6 [†]Again I lifted my eyes and saw, and behold, four chariots came out from between two mountains. And the mountains were mountains of [m]bronze. [2]The first chariot had [n]red horses, the second [o]black horses, [3]the third [p]white horses, and the fourth chariot dappled horses—all of them strong. [1] [4]Then I answered and said to [q]the angel who talked with me, “What are these, my lord?” [5][†]And the angel answered and said to me, [r]“These are going out to the four winds of heaven, after [s]presenting themselves before [t]the Lord of all the earth. [6][†]The chariot with the black horses goes toward [u]the north country, the white ones go after them, and the dappled ones go toward [v]the south country.” [7][†]When the strong horses came out, they were impatient to go and [w]patrol the earth. And he said, “Go, [w]patrol the earth.” [w]So they patrolled the earth. [8][†]Then he cried to me, “Behold, those who go toward [u]the north country have set my Spirit at rest in [u]the north country.”

The Crown and the Temple

[9][†]And the word of the LORD came to me: [10]“Take from the exiles [x]Heldai, Tobijah, and [y]Jedaiah, who have arrived from Babylon, and go the same day to the house of Josiah, the son of [z]Zephaniah. [11][†]Take from them silver and gold, and make a crown, [a]and set it on the head of [b]Joshua, the son of Jehozadak, the high priest. [12][†]And say to him, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts, “Behold, the man whose name is [c]the Branch: for he shall branch out from his place, and [d]he shall build the temple of the LORD. [13][†][d]It is he who shall build the temple of the LORD [e]and shall bear royal honor, and shall sit and rule on his throne. And there shall be a [f]priest on his throne, [g]and the counsel of peace shall be between them both.”’ [14][†]And the crown shall be in the temple of the LORD as [h]a reminder to [i]Helem, [2] [j]Tobijah, [j]Jedaiah, and Hen [j]the son of Zephaniah.

[15][k]“And those who are far off shall come and [l]help to build the temple of the LORD. [m]And you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me to you. [n]And this shall come to pass, if you will diligently obey the voice of the LORD your God.”

A Call for Justice and Mercy

ZECHARIAH 7 [†][o]In the fourth year of King Darius, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah on the fourth day of the ninth month, which is [p]Chislev. [2][†]Now the people of Bethel had sent Sharezer and Regem-melech and their men [q] to entreat the favor of the LORD, [3] [r] saying to the priests of the house of the LORD of hosts and [s] the prophets, “Should I weep and [t] abstain in [u] the fifth month, as I have done for so many years?”

[4]Then the word of the LORD of hosts came to me: [5]“Say to all the people of the land and the priests, When you fasted and mourned in [u] the fifth month and in [v] the seventh, for these [w] seventy years, [x] was it [x] for me that you fasted? [6] [y] And when you eat and when you drink, do you not eat for yourselves and drink for yourselves? [7][†] [z] Were not these the words that the LORD proclaimed [a] by the former prophets, when Jerusalem was inhabited and prosperous, [b] with her cities around her, and the [b] South and the [b] lowland were inhabited?”

[8]And the word of the LORD came to Zechariah, saying, [9][†]“Thus says the LORD of hosts, [c] Render true judgments, show kindness and mercy to one another, [10] [d] do not oppress the widow, the fatherless, the sojourner, [e] or the poor, and [f] let none of you devise evil against another in your heart.” [11]But [g] they refused to pay attention [h] and turned a stubborn shoulder and stopped their ears that they might not hear. [1] [12][†] [i] They made their hearts diamond-hard [j] lest they should hear the law and the words that the LORD of hosts had sent [j] by his Spirit through [k] the former prophets. [l] Therefore great anger came from the LORD of hosts. [13] [m] “As I [2] called, and they would not hear, [m] so they called, and I would not hear,” says the LORD of hosts, [14][†] [n] “and I scattered them with a whirlwind among all [o] the nations that they had not known. [p] Thus the land they left was desolate, [q] so that no one went to and fro, [r] and the pleasant land was made desolate.”

The Coming Peace and Prosperity of Zion

ZECHARIAH 8 [†]And the word of the LORD of hosts came, saying, [2]“Thus says the LORD of hosts: [s]I am jealous for Zion with great jealousy, and I am jealous for her with great wrath. [3][†]Thus says the LORD: [t]I have returned to Zion and [u]will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem, [v]and Jerusalem shall be called the faithful city, [w]and the mountain of the LORD of hosts, the holy mountain. [4][†]Thus says the LORD of hosts: [x]Old men and old women shall again sit in the streets of Jerusalem, each with staff in hand because of great age. [5]And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in its streets. [6][†]Thus says the LORD of hosts: [y]If it is marvelous in the sight of the remnant of this people in those days, [z]should it also be marvelous in my sight, declares the LORD of hosts? [7][†]Thus says the LORD of hosts: Behold, [a]I will save my people [b]from the east country and from the west country, [8][†]and I will bring them to dwell in the midst of Jerusalem. [c]And they shall be my people, and I will be their God, [d]in faithfulness and in righteousness.”

[9]Thus says the LORD of hosts: [e]“Let your hands be strong, you who in these days have been hearing these words from the mouth of [f]the prophets who were present on [g]the day that the foundation of the house of the LORD of hosts was laid, that the temple might be built. [10]For before those days [h]there was no wage for man or any wage for beast, neither was there any safety from the foe for him who went out or came in, for I set every man against his neighbor. [11]But now I will not deal with the remnant of this people as in the former days, declares the LORD of hosts. [12][†][i]For there shall be a sowing of peace. The vine shall give its fruit, and the ground shall give its produce, [j]and the heavens shall give their dew. [k]And I will cause the remnant of this people to possess all these things. [13]And as [l]you have been a byword of cursing among the nations, O house of Judah and house of Israel, [m]so will I save you, and [n]you shall be a blessing. [o]Fear not, but [e]let your hands be strong.”

[14]For thus says the LORD of hosts: [p]“As I purposed to bring disaster to you when your fathers provoked me to wrath, and I did not relent, says the LORD of hosts, [15][†]so again have I purposed in these days to bring good to Jerusalem and to the house of Judah; [o]fear not. [16]These are the things that you shall do: [q]Speak the truth to one another; [r]render in your gates judgments [s]that are true and make for peace; [17] [t]do not devise evil in your hearts against one another, and [u]love no false oath, for all these things I hate, declares the LORD.”

[18]And the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying, [19][†]“Thus says the LORD of hosts: The fast of the [v]fourth month and the fast of the [w]fifth and the fast of the [x]seventh and the fast of the [y]tenth shall be to the house of Judah [z]seasons of joy and gladness and cheerful feasts. Therefore love [a]truth and peace.

[20][†]“Thus says the LORD of hosts: Peoples shall yet come, even the inhabitants of many cities. [21]The inhabitants of one city shall go to another, saying, [b]‘Let us go at once [c]to entreat the favor of the LORD and to seek the LORD of hosts; I myself am going.’ [22] [b]Many peoples and strong nations shall come to seek the LORD of hosts in Jerusalem and [c]to entreat the favor of the LORD. [23][†]Thus says the LORD of hosts: In those days [d]ten men [e]from the nations of every tongue shall take hold of the robe of a Jew, saying, ‘Let us go with you, for [f]we have heard that God is with you.’”

Judgment on Israel’s Enemies

ZECHARIAH 9 [†] The oracle of the word of the LORD is against the land of Hadrach
and [g]Damascus is its resting place.
For the LORD has an eye on mankind and on all the tribes of Israel, [1]
[2] [h]and on Hamath also, which borders on it,
[i]Tyre and [i]Sidon, though [j]they are very wise.
[3] Tyre has built herself [k]a rampart and [l]heaped up silver like dust, and fine gold like the mud of the streets.
[4] But behold, the Lord will strip her of her possessions and strike down [m]her power on the sea, and [n] she shall be devoured by fire.

5 [o] Ashkelon shall see it, and be afraid;
Gaza too, and shall writhe in anguish;
Ekron also, because its hopes are confounded.
The king shall perish from Gaza;
Ashkelon shall be uninhabited;
6 [p] a mixed people [2] shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of Philistia.
7 I will take away [q] its blood from its mouth, and [r] its abominations from between its teeth;
[s] it too shall be a remnant for our God;
it shall be like [t] a clan in Judah,
and Ekron shall be like the Jebusites.
8 Then [u] I will encamp at my house as a guard,
[v] so that none shall march to and fro;
[w] no oppressor shall again march over them,
[x] for now I see with my own eyes.

The Coming King of Zion

9[†] [y] Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion!
Shout aloud, O daughter of Jerusalem!
[z] Behold, [a] your king is coming to you;
righteous and having salvation is he,
[b] humble and mounted on a donkey, on a colt, the foal of a donkey.
10[†] [c] I will cut off the chariot from Ephraim and [d] the war horse from Jerusalem;
and the battle bow shall be cut off,
and [e] he shall speak peace to the nations;
[f] his rule shall be from sea to sea, and from [g] the River to the ends of the earth.
11[†] As for you also, because of [h] the blood of my covenant with you,
[i] I will set your prisoners free from [j] the waterless pit.

12 [†] Return to your stronghold, O [k]prisoners of hope;
today I declare that [l]I will restore to you double.
13 [†] For [m]I have bent Judah as my bow;
I have made Ephraim its arrow.
I will stir up your sons, O Zion, against your sons, [n]O Greece, and wield you like a warrior's sword.

The LORD Will Save His People

14 Then the LORD will appear over them, and [o]his arrow will go forth like lightning;
[p]the Lord GOD will sound the trumpet and will march forth in [q]the whirlwinds [r]of the south.
15 [†] The LORD of hosts [s]will protect them, and [t]they shall devour, [u]and tread down the sling stones, and [v]they shall drink and roar as if drunk with wine, and be full like a bowl,
drenched [w]like the corners of the altar.

16 On that day the LORD their God will save them, as [x]the flock of his people;
for [y]like the jewels of a crown they shall shine on his land.
17 [z]For how great is his goodness, and how great his beauty!
[a]Grain shall make the young men flourish, and new wine the young women.

The Restoration for Judah and Israel

ZECHARIAH 10 [†] Ask rain [b]from the LORD in the season of [c]the spring rain, from the LORD [d]who makes the storm clouds, and [e]he will give them showers of rain,
to everyone the vegetation in the field.

2[†] For [f] the household gods [g] utter nonsense, and the diviners see lies;
[h] they tell false dreams and give empty consolation.
Therefore [i] the people wander like sheep;
they are afflicted for lack of a shepherd.

3 [j] “My anger is hot against the shepherds, and [k] I will punish the leaders; [1] for [l] the Lord of hosts cares for his flock, the house of Judah, and will make them like his majestic steed in battle.
4[†] From him shall come [m] the cornerstone,
from him [n] the tent peg,
from him the battle bow,
from him every ruler—[o] all of them together.
5 They shall be like mighty men in battle,
[p] trampling the foe in the mud of the streets;
they shall fight because the Lord is with them, and they shall put to shame [q] the riders on horses.

6[†] [r] “I will strengthen the house of Judah, and [s] I will save the house of Joseph.
[t] I will bring them back [u] because I have compassion on them, and they shall be as though I had not rejected them, for [v] I am the Lord their God and I will answer them.
7[†] Then Ephraim shall become like a mighty warrior, and [w] their hearts shall be glad as with wine.
Their children shall see it and be glad;
their hearts shall rejoice in the Lord.

8[†] [x] “I will whistle for them and [y] gather them in,
for I have redeemed them, and [z] they shall be as many as they were before.
9 [a] Though I scattered them among the nations, yet in far countries [b] they shall remember me, and with their children they shall live and return.

10 [c] I will bring them home from the land of Egypt, and gather them from Assyria, and [d] I will bring them to the land of Gilead and to Lebanon, [e] till there is no room for them.
11 [f] He shall pass through the sea of troubles and strike down the waves of the sea,
[g] and all the depths of the Nile shall be dried up.
The pride of Assyria shall be laid low,
and [h] the scepter of Egypt shall depart.
12 [i] I will make them strong in the LORD, and [j] they shall walk in his name,” declares the LORD.

The Flock Doomed to Slaughter

ZECHARIAH 11 [†] Open your doors, [k] O Lebanon, that the fire may devour your cedars!
2 Wail, O cypress, for the cedar has fallen, for the glorious trees are ruined!
Wail, [k] oaks of Bashan, for the thick forest has been felled!
3 The sound of [l] the wail of [l] the shepherds, for their glory is ruined!
The sound of the roar of [m] the lions,
[n] for the thicket of the Jordan is ruined!

4 [†] Thus said the LORD my God: [o] “Become shepherd of the flock doomed to slaughter. 5 [p] Those who buy them slaughter them and go unpunished, and those who sell them say, ‘Blessed be the LORD, [q] I have become rich,’ and their own shepherds have no pity on them. 6 For [r] I will no longer have pity on the inhabitants of this land, declares the LORD. Behold, I will cause each of them to fall into the hand of his neighbor, and each into the hand of his king, and they shall crush the land, and I will deliver none from their hand.”

[7][†] [s] So I became the shepherd of the flock doomed to be slaughtered by the sheep traders. And I took two staffs, one I named [u] Favor, the other I named [v] Union. [s] And I tended the sheep. [8][†]In one month [w] I destroyed the three shepherds. But I became impatient with them, and they also detested me. [9][†]So I said, "I will not be your shepherd. [x] What is to die, let it die. What is to be destroyed, let it be destroyed. And let those who are left devour the flesh of one another." [10][†]And I took [y] my staff Favor, and I broke it, annulling the covenant that I had made with all the peoples. [11]So it was annulled on that day, and the sheep traders, who were watching me, knew that it was the word of the Lord. [12][†]Then I said to them, "If it seems good to you, give me my wages; but if not, keep them." And they weighed out as my wages [z] thirty pieces of silver. [13]Then the Lord said to me, "Throw it to the potter"—[a] the lordly price at which I was priced by them. So I took the [z] thirty pieces of silver and threw them into the house of the Lord, to the potter. [14][†]Then I broke [b] my second staff Union, annulling the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.

[15]Then the Lord said to me, "Take once more the equipment of [c] a foolish shepherd. [16]For behold, I am raising up in the land a shepherd [d] who does not care for those being destroyed, or seek the young or heal the maimed or nourish the healthy, but [e] devours the flesh of the fat ones, tearing off even their hoofs.

[g] who deserts the flock!
May the sword strike his arm and [h] his right eye!
Let his arm be wholly withered, his right eye utterly blinded!"

The Lord Will Give Salvation

ZECHARIAH 12 [†] [i] The oracle of the word of the Lord concerning Israel: Thus declares the Lord, [j] who stretched out the heavens and [k] founded the earth and [j] formed the spirit of man within him: [2][†]"Behold, I am about to make Jerusalem [l] a cup of staggering to [m] all the surrounding peoples. The siege of Jerusalem [n]will also be against Judah. [3][†][o]On that day I will make Jerusalem a heavy stone for all the peoples. [p]All who lift it will surely hurt themselves. And [m]all the nations of the earth will gather against it. [4][†][o]On that day, declares the LORD, [q]I will strike every horse [r]with panic, and its rider [r]with madness. But for the sake of the house of Judah I will keep my eyes open, when I strike every horse of the peoples [r]with blindness. [5][†]Then the clans of Judah shall say to themselves, ‘The inhabitants of Jerusalem have strength through the LORD of hosts, their God.’

[6][o]“On that day I will make the clans of Judah [s]like a blazing pot in the midst of wood, like a flaming torch among sheaves. And [t]they shall devour to the right and to the left all the surrounding peoples, while [u]Jerusalem shall again be inhabited in its place, in Jerusalem.

[7][†]“And the LORD will give salvation to the tents of Judah first, that the glory of the house of David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem may not surpass that of Judah. [8][†][o]On that day [v]the LORD will protect the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that [w]the feeblest among them on that day shall be like David, and the house of David shall be like God, [x]like the angel of the LORD, going before them. [9][†][o]And on that day [y]I will seek to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.

Him Whom They Have Pierced

[10][†]“And [z]I will pour out on the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit of grace and [z]pleas for mercy, so that, [a]when they look on me, on him whom they have pierced, [b]they shall mourn for him, [c]as one mourns for an only child, and weep bitterly over him, as one weeps over a firstborn. [11][o]On that day [d]the mourning in Jerusalem will be as great [e]as the mourning for Hadad-rimmon in the plain of Megiddo. [12]The land shall mourn, [f]each family [1] by itself: the family of the house of David by itself, and their wives by themselves; the family of the house of [g]Nathan by itself, and their wives by themselves; [13]the family of the house of Levi by itself, and their wives by themselves; the family of [h]the Shimeites by itself, and their wives by themselves; [14]and all the families that are left, each by itself, and their wives by themselves.

ZECHARIAH 13 [†] [i]“On that day there shall be [j]a fountain opened for the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to cleanse them from sin and uncleanness.

Idolatry Cut Off

[2]“And [i]on that day, declares the LORD of hosts, [k]I will cut off the names of the idols from the land, so that [l]they shall be remembered no more. And also [m]I will remove from the land the prophets and the spirit of uncleanness. [3]And if anyone again prophesies, his father and mother who bore him will say to him, [n]‘You shall not live, for you speak lies in the name of the LORD.’ And his father and mother who bore him shall pierce him through when he prophesies.

[4]“On that day [o]every prophet will be ashamed of his vision when he prophesies. He will not put on a hairy cloak in order to deceive, [5]but he will say, [p]‘I am no prophet, I am a worker of the soil, for a man sold me in my youth.’ [1] [6]And if one asks him, ‘What are these wounds on your back?’ [2] he will say, ‘The wounds I received in the house of my friends.’

The Shepherd Struck

[7][†] “Awake, O sword, against [q]my shepherd, against the man who stands next to me,”
declares the LORD of hosts.

[r]“Strike the shepherd, and the sheep will be scattered;
I will turn my hand against the little ones.
[8] In the whole land, declares the LORD,
two thirds shall be cut off and perish,
[s]and one third shall be left alive.
[9] And [t]I will put this third into the fire, and refine them as one refines silver,
and test them as gold is tested.
[u]They will call upon my name, and [v]I will answer them.
[w]I will say, ‘They are my people’;

and they will say, ‘The LORD is my God.’”

The Coming Day of the LORD

ZECHARIAH 14 [†]Behold, [x] a day is coming for the LORD, when the spoil taken from you will be divided in your midst. [2]For [y] I will gather all the nations against Jerusalem to battle, and [z] the city shall be taken [a] and the houses plundered [b] and the women raped. [c] Half of the city shall go out into exile, but the rest of the people shall not be cut off from the city. [3] [d] Then the LORD will go out and fight against those nations as when he fights on a day of battle. [4][†] [e] On that day his feet shall stand [f] on [g] the Mount of Olives that lies before Jerusalem on the east, and [g] the Mount of Olives shall be split in two from east to west by [h] a very wide valley, so that one half of the Mount shall move northward, and the other half southward. [5][†]And you shall flee to the valley of my mountains, for the valley of the mountains shall reach to Azal. And you shall flee as you fled from [i] the earthquake in the days of Uzziah king of Judah. Then the LORD my God will come, and all the holy ones with him.

[6][†] [e] On that day [j] there shall be [j] no light, cold, or frost. [1] [7][†] [k] And there shall be a unique [2] day, [l] which is known to the LORD, neither day nor night, but [m] at evening time there shall be light.

[8][†] [e] On that day [n] living waters shall flow out from Jerusalem, half of them to [o] the eastern sea [3] and half of them to [o] the western sea. [4] [p] It shall continue in summer as in winter.

[9][†]And [q] the LORD will be king over all the earth. [r] On that day the LORD will be [s] one and [t] his name one.

[10][†] [u] The whole land shall be turned into a plain from [v] Geba to [w] Rimmon south of Jerusalem. But [x] Jerusalem shall remain aloft [y] on its site from [z] the Gate of Benjamin to the place of the former gate, to [a] the Corner Gate, and from [b] the Tower of Hananel to the king’s winepresses. [11][†]And it shall be inhabited, for [c] there shall never again be a decree of utter destruction. [5] [d] Jerusalem shall dwell in security.

[12][†]And this shall be [e] the plague with which the LORD will strike all the peoples that wage war against Jerusalem: their flesh will rot while they are still standing on their feet, their eyes will rot in their sockets, and their tongues will rot in their mouths.

[13]And [f] on that day a great panic from the LORD shall fall on them, so that [g] each will seize the hand of another, and the hand of the one will be raised against the hand of the other. [14]Even [h] Judah will fight at Jerusalem. And [i] the wealth of all the surrounding nations shall be collected, gold, silver, and garments in great abundance. [15]And [j] a plague like this plague shall fall on the horses, the mules, the camels, the donkeys, and whatever beasts may be in those camps.

[16][†]Then everyone who survives of all the nations that have come against Jerusalem [k] shall go up year after year to worship [l] the King, the LORD of hosts, and [m] to keep [n] the Feast of Booths. [17][†]And if [o] any of the families of the earth do not go up to Jerusalem to worship [l] the King, the LORD of hosts, [p] there will be no rain on them. [18]And if the family of Egypt does not go up and present themselves, then on them there shall be no rain; [6] there shall be [j] the plague with which the LORD afflicts the nations that do not go up [m] to keep the Feast of Booths. [19]This shall be the punishment to Egypt and the punishment to all the nations that do not go up [m] to keep the Feast of Booths.

[20][†]And [q] on that day there shall be inscribed on the bells of the horses, [r] "Holy to the LORD." And the pots in the house of the LORD shall be as the bowls before the altar. [21][†]And every pot in Jerusalem and Judah shall be [r] holy to the LORD of hosts, so that all who sacrifice may come and take of them and boil the meat of the sacrifice in them. And [s] there shall no longer be [t] a trader [7] in the house of the LORD of hosts [q] on that day.

Study Notes for Zechariah

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 1:1–8:23 Oracles and Visions. Zechariah's sequence of visions in 1:7–6:15 is interrupted by an oracle of restoration (2:6–13) and an oracle identifying the high priest Joshua as the key agent of renewal (6:9–15). The visions demonstrate that God affects all creation, including humanity. The trauma and triumph of Zion's restoration begin and end the section (1:1–6; 8:1–23).

FACT

Zechariah in the NT. Several NT writers quote or allude to the book of Zechariah. One estimate is that 54 passages from Zechariah occur in 67 different places in the NT. Many of these are in Revelation.

1:1–6 Introduction: Return to Me and I Will Return to You. After the exile, God invites his people to renew their commitment to him.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 1:1 The second year of Darius is 520 B.C., a stable time in the Persian Empire. Zechariah's name means "Yahweh remembered."

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 1:6 The people's forefathers ignored the Lord's prophets and were judged. Though the prophets themselves died, the words and statutes of the Lord that they spoke brought judgment. Now their words bore fruit in the new generation's response. They repented and confessed the justice of the Lord's judgments.

1:7–6:15 Eight Night Visions and a Sign-act. The eight visions that follow were all received in a single night shortly before the new year, a date often associated in the ancient Near East with temple building.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 1:7–17 In his first vision, Zechariah sees horsemen, who report to God the condition of the earth and prompt the angel of the Lord to intercede for Jerusalem.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 1:10–11 The horsemen whom the LORD has sent to patrol the earth are God's angelic forces sent to gather accurate information for him.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 1:12 For the nations to be at rest while God's people are not is a reversal of the proper order. The angel of the LORD, God's personal representative, therefore asks the Lord to end the seventy years of judgment.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 1:13–14 gracious and comforting words. The Lord's response is positive, and Zechariah is ordered to spread the good news. The Lord's covenantal jealousy toward Jerusalem and Zion has caused him to act in their favor. He will now judge the nations he previously used to judge his people for their sin (v. 2).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 1:17 Since his people returned to him (v. 6), the Lord returns to dwell with them. The temple ("my house," v. 16) will be rebuilt and the covenantal blessing of prosperity will flow out from it. As always in the Bible, "prosperity" is defined by God's will, not by human desires.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 1:18–21 The second vision describes four horns. "Four" symbolizes all the world powers responsible for exiling Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem. These nations had scattered God's people for their sins, just as the covenant curse of Lev. 26:33 had warned. Those who fought against Judah will now be brought down by four craftsmen, another group of nations. The Abrahamic covenant promise to curse those who dishonor Abraham and his offspring (Gen. 12:3) is still in force.

FACT

The number four in Scripture is often associated with creation or completeness. There are four different directions of the compass, four elements, four seasons of the year, and four times of day (morning, noon, evening, and midnight). In 1:18, four represents all of the world powers responsible for the scattering of Judah. However, the Lord, who is sovereign over his creation, will care for his people and punish their oppressors.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 2:1–13 In his third vision Zechariah anticipates a renewed Jerusalem, so full of people that it spreads beyond its walls. It will attract those Jews who remain in exile, as well as many Gentiles.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 2:1 The man with a measuring line in his hand calls attention to the size of the restored city, which contrasts with its present unimpressive state.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 2:5 Jerusalem's increased population will require that it be "without walls" (v. 4). The Lord himself will provide a protective wall of fire around it, however, like the cherubim and flaming sword that protected the garden of Eden (Gen. 3:24). God's glory will return to inhabit the entire city (see Ezekiel 43).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 2:6–7 Flee from the land of the north. God's glory will return to Jerusalem and his judgment will fall on their former rulers (1:18–20). Thus, those still in exile in Babylon should escape and return to Zion, the home of the temple.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 2:8 after his glory sent me. The Lord sent Zechariah to declare that judgment will come on those who plundered his people, the apple of his eye, that is, the "heart" of the eye, the most valued part.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 2:9 The Lord will shake his hand over Judah's enemies, signaling for them to be destroyed by their former slaves (compare Isa. 13:2).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 2:10 Sing and rejoice. The Lord's dramatic return to his rebuilt house is cause for praise for those who have returned to Judah (see Ps. 35:27).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 2:11 The nations too will join themselves to (enter into covenant with) the LORD in that day (see Isa. 56:3–5). Jews and Gentiles will join together in one nation, my people, with the Lord dwelling in their midst (compare Eph. 2:13–16).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 2:12 Though the nations will come to worship the Lord, Judah and Jerusalem will still be his chosen portion.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 3:1 The fourth vision (vv. 1–10) takes place in a heavenly courtroom, where the angel of the LORD sits as judge. Joshua the high priest, one of the leaders of the returned exiles (Hag. 1:1), is the defendant. Satan (that is, "the Accuser" or "the Adversary") is the prosecutor.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 3:3 Satan has a very strong case. Joshua is clothed with filthy garments soiled with excrement, which defiles him. This poses a serious problem for the people, since it was through Joshua the high priest that their own impurity was to be removed on the Day of Atonement (see Lev. 16:1–34). But the Lord rejects Satan's charges. The Lord's election of Jerusalem, and Joshua's position as one "plucked from the fire" (that is, brought safely back from the exile; Zech. 3:2), means that Joshua is not guilty.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 3:4 The Lord commands his servants to remove the filthy garments. This removes Joshua's sin. God also orders that Joshua be clothed in pure vestments, garments suitable to wear in the presence of the King of kings. These garments represent a new righteousness given to Joshua.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 3:5 Zechariah also requests a clean turban for Joshua's head, which symbolizes glory and royalty. Joshua's reclothing in the presence of the angel of the LORD shows God's gracious acceptance of him and the people he represents.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 3:7 The Lord commands Joshua to walk in my ways and keep my charge. If he does so, he will also rule my house and have charge of my courts. Thus, temple worship will not be corrupted by idolatry (compare Ezek. 44:23–24). The Lord will not be silent or distant from his people any longer.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 3:8–9 Joshua and his friends, the priestly class, were men who are a sign: their very existence after the exile showed God's commitment to bless his people. Ultimately, God will bless them by sending my servant the Branch. This servant will remove the iniquity of this land. The stone was probably similar to the one on Aaron's turban. It was engraved with the words “Holy to the LORD,” which enabled Aaron to bear the people’s sin before the Lord (Ex. 28:36–38).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 3:10 The coming Branch will remove the “iniquity of this land” (v. 9). Thus, he will restore fruitfulness and peace in the land. As during Solomon’s empire, each man will invite his neighbor to come under his vine and under his fig tree (compare 1 Kings 4:25; Mic. 4:4).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 4:1–14 The fifth vision consists of a solid gold lampstand flanked by two olive trees (v. 3). A “lampstand” is almost always a ritual object, especially one made of gold (see Ex. 25:31–40).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 4:2 The lampstand supported a bowl, which was a container for the oil. Arranged around the bowl were seven lamps, each of which had seven lips (that is, “spouts”). This would provide a lot of light.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 4:6 God now addresses Zerubbabel, the governor. Along with Joshua the high priest, Zerubbabel had been put in charge of rebuilding the temple (Ezra 5:2; Hag. 1:1). God states that the obstacles to the rebuilding will be overcome only by an outpouring of God’s Spirit.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 4:7 With assurance of God’s help, the great mountain of difficulties that stands in the way of rebuilding will be reduced to a plain in front of Zerubbabel (compare Isa. 40:4).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 4:10b The seven lamps (v. 2) are the eyes of the LORD. They represent his watchfulness over the whole earth, which results in blessing for his faithful people (compare 2 Chron. 16:9).

Zechariah’s Visions

Vision	Passage	Content Summary	Zechariah’s Question(s) to the Messenger	Promise/Outcome
1	1:7–17	Vision of horsemen who “patrol the earth” and report the condition of the earth; the Lord promises to build his house in Jerusalem	What are these, my lord? (v. 9)	The Lord is jealous for Jerusalem and promises that his house will be built there and that the Lord’s cities will overflow with prosperity
2	1:18–21	Vision of four horns and four craftsmen: the horns have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem, and the craftsmen come to terrify and cast down the horns	What are these? (v. 19) What are these coming to do? (v. 21)	The craftsmen will cast down those who have oppressed Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem
3	2:1–13	Vision of a man with a measuring line in his hand who comes to measure Jerusalem	Where are you going? (v. 2)	Jerusalem will be inhabited, and the Lord will be in the midst of his people

4	3:1–10	Vision of Joshua the high priest and the removal of his iniquity as the representative of the people		Joshua the priest will rule the Lord’s house and courts, and the coming of “my servant the Branch” is promised
5	4:1–14	Vision of a lampstand and two olive trees	What are these, my lord? (v. 4) What are these two olive trees . . . ? (v. 11)	The rebuilding of the temple is charged to Zerubbabel and Joshua and will occur by the power of the Lord
6	5:1–4	Vision of a flying scroll		Covenant curses will come upon the covenant breaker, e.g., the one who steals and the one who swears falsely
7	5:5–11	Vision of a woman in the basket (ephah), later carried away by two women	What is it? (v. 6) Where are they taking the basket? (v. 10)	“Wickedness”—symbolized by the presence of the woman—will be removed to Babylon (Shinar)
8	6:1–8	Vision of four chariots pulled by strong horses: red, black, white, dappled	What are these, my lord? (v. 4)	The chariots and horses go north (black and white) and south (dappled) to “patrol the earth”

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 4:14 The two olive trees are the two anointed ones (see ESV footnote). This “new oil” represents the fertility that flows from God’s blessing (compare Hag. 1:11). The trees produce unlimited amounts of oil for the lampstand. They stand by the Lord of the whole earth as members of his heavenly court. Most interpreters think these anointed ones represent Zerubbabel and Joshua.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 5:1–4 The sixth vision is of a gigantic scroll, 30 by 15 feet (9 by 4.5 m), flying in midair. The scroll is a covenant document, like the tablets Moses received from the Lord in Ex. 32:15. Its task is to bring the covenant curses to bear on covenant breakers. It uses everyone who steals and everyone who swears falsely as representative examples (Zech. 5:3). All covenant breakers will be cleaned out from the community.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 5:5–11 The seventh vision is closely linked to the sixth. It adds exile to the threat of destruction.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 5:6–7 The prophet saw a basket holding about three-fifths of a bushel. Inside this small container was their iniquity in all the land, personified as a woman. She was trapped in the basket by a circular leaden cover weighing roughly 75 pounds (34 kg).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 5:8 The vision includes the removal of all wickedness from the land (see 3:9). Wickedness is under God’s power and authority: the angel thrust the woman back into the basket, and thrust down the leaden weight on its opening, not allowing her to escape.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 5:11 The basket of wickedness, lifted up by the two women (v. 9), is to be taken to a new location in the land of Shinar (Babylon). There a house, or temple, will be built for it. All idolaters will be removed and will never again trouble God's people.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 6:1–8 Zechariah's eighth vision begins with four chariots with horses of different colors (vv. 1–3). The chariots go out from between two mountains . . . of bronze. These four chariots, whose number represents completeness, are pulled by strong horses. God's army is on the move.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 6:5 The angel explains that the chariots represent the four winds of heaven. Nowhere in the world is outside their reach. The Hebrew word for "wind" is the same as that for "spirit," so these winds also represent God's power at work in the world (compare 5:9).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 6:6 The "chariots" go in different directions: to Babylon, Assyria, and Persia in the north country and to Egypt in the south country.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 6:7 The strong horses with their chariots move at God's command to patrol the earth. They exercise God's sovereign rule over the whole world.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 6:8 Victory is easily accomplished. God's Spirit is set . . . at rest in the north country, the former home of his enemies. This indicates the full and final defeat of those who oppose God (compare Deut. 12:10–12).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 6:9–15 This oracle describes a sign-act that looks forward to the successful rebuilding of the temple.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 6:11 Joshua, the high priest, is to be crowned with a crown of silver and gold. The precious metals are provided by those "who have arrived from Babylon" (v. 10), which emphasizes the exiles' place in the community's future.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 6:12 Joshua is to be crowned as a symbol of the reality to come. the Branch. See Jer. 33:15. Zechariah repeats Jeremiah's promise of a king who will build the temple of the LORD.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 6:13 This king will sit on his throne, with a priest beside him on another throne. Between them both there will be a counsel of peace. They will work together in harmony.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 6:14 The oracle ends with named exiles. The crown will be stored in the temple of the LORD as a reminder and as an assurance of God's determination to act in gracious sovereignty, as described.

7:1–8:23 From Fasts to Feasts. This section mentions fasts that commemorate the destruction of Jerusalem, which will be transformed into feasts celebrating its renewal. The renewal gives the people another chance to exhibit a society of justice and love, and to be the means by which light comes to all the world.

FACT

Eight visions. The book of Zechariah has two major sections: chs. 1–8 and chs. 9–14. The first section contains eight visions that describe what God plans to do. Many of the symbols and images in these visions also appear in Revelation.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 7:1–14 Like the prophets before him, Zechariah emphasizes that religious observance without obedience and justice is empty.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 7:1 The ninth month of the fourth year of King Darius is December 518 B.C., two years after Zechariah's earlier prophecies. The temple work has not yet been completed.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 7:2–3 The weeping and fasting described here were rituals intended to show repentance in the hope of gaining help from the Lord (see 2 Sam. 12:21–22). Now that the temple was being rebuilt, it was natural to question whether this ritual was still needed. The fifth month was the month in which Nebuchadnezzar had destroyed the Jerusalem temple nearly 70 years earlier.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 7:7 The South is the area to the south of Jerusalem, around Beersheba. The lowland is to the west of Jerusalem. Though the original question reflected a ritual concern, the Lord's response asks a deeper question: "When you fasted and mourned, was it really out of a concern over the loss of my favor?" If they have simply been fasting for selfish reasons, then they have not learned the lesson that the temple's destruction was intended to teach. Such fasting was a waste of time.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 7:9–10 The test of true repentance is a life of obedience to God. Obedience includes giving true judgments that show kindness and mercy to the widow and fatherless, the sojourner and the poor.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 7:12 The law and the words of the former prophets were the two means God used to communicate his will to his people. Yet earlier generations "refused to pay attention" (v. 11), thus causing his anger (1:2).

FACT

Widows, fatherless children, sojourners, and the poor were vulnerable members of society (7:10). Treating them justly and kindly matters very much to the Lord, and he will punish those who mistreat them (see Ex. 22:21–24; Deut. 10:18–19).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 7:14 The Lord's judgment came upon his people like a whirlwind. It scattered them among nations that they had not known and made them as vulnerable as the people they had oppressed.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 8:1–23 God is renewing his presence with his people. He is reaffirming his purpose to bless the nations through them.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 8:3 The somber word of judgment on the former generation is not the end of the story. God has returned to Zion and will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem. In the days ahead, Jerusalem will become a faithful city (compare Isa. 1:26) and Zion will again be the holy mountain.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 8:4 Old and young, male and female are portrayed as enjoying their new home. This ideal picture implies peace and plenty for everyone. It also contrasts dramatically with the slave labor and poverty that had marked Jerusalem in the recent past.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 8:6 Such a transformation may seem a marvelous miracle to Zechariah's hearers, but it is the sort of miracle that the Creator God does routinely (should it also be marvelous in my sight?).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 8:7 The Lord uses opposite extremes to emphasize the completeness of his salvation. He will save his people from the east country and the west country and thus from everywhere in between.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 8:8 When the Lord returns to Jerusalem, he will cause his covenant people to live together in faithfulness and in righteousness. The covenant promise and they shall be my people, and I will be their God also occurs in Jer. 31:33 and Ezek. 37:27.

ZECHARIAH

Zechariah was both a priest and a prophet. He was a member of a prominent family who returned from Babylon with Zerubbabel. Like Haggai, who ministered during the same time, Zechariah spoke about the need to rebuild the temple. He reassured Judah that if they would heed the words of the prophets and turn to the Lord, God would bless his people for their faithfulness. God would trouble the nations who were enjoying rest and grant rest to his troubled people, making Jerusalem once again the center of the world. Zechariah also prophesied about the coming of the Messiah. Matthew, Mark, John, Ephesians, and Revelation are among the NT books that quote Zechariah, recognizing Jesus as the fulfillment of his prophecies. (Zechariah 8:1–8)

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 8:12–13 With the temple reestablished, the Lord's attitude toward his people changes. The temple's reconstruction results in a sowing of peace, which is the blessings of agricultural prosperity and national security promised in Lev. 26:4. The remnant of this people from both the house of Judah and house of Israel will receive the peace that unfaithful Israel never had. They will be a blessing to the nations, fulfilling the Lord's purpose for them (Gen. 12:2).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 8:15 good. The Lord's commitment to bless this new generation should free them from fear. It should motivate them to a new obedience characterized by truth, justice, and grace.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 8:19 Formerly, the people fasted in the fourth month, when their enemies had entered Jerusalem (2 Kings 25:3–4; Jer. 39:2; 52:6–7); in the fifth, when the city fell (Jer. 52:12–15); in the seventh, when Gedaliah was assassinated (2 Kings 25:25); and in the tenth, when the attack on the city had first begun (2 Kings 25:1). In the future, these fast days will become feast days. They will be seasons of joy and gladness celebrating the salvation and transformation that the Lord accomplished for them.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 8:20–22 This blessing extends beyond Israel to include the Gentiles: Many peoples and strong nations shall come.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 8:23 Ten men represents a complete group from the nations of every tongue who come to Jerusalem because they recognize that God is with his people. This prophecy was fulfilled on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 9:1–14:21 The Return of the King. The reference to the surrounding nations in 8:20–23 and 9:1–8 links the book's main parts (chs. 1–8 and chs. 9–14). In the book's second half, two groups of oracles are introduced as the "oracle of the word of the LORD" (9:1; 12:1). The twin themes of the purity of God's people and the fidelity of their leaders—often termed "shepherds"—run throughout these oracles. The community and its leaders suffer opposition and difficulty. The "return of the king" (9:9) marks the triumph of God's purposes and the restoration of God's people. It also marks the salvation of people from many nations (14:9, 16; compare 8:20–23).

9:1–11:17 The First Oracle: Leaders and Their People. Judgment on Jerusalem's neighbors contributes to its security (9:1–8), but the arrival of a saving king completes it (9:9–17). While this remains the community's only hope, it still must recover from destructive leaders (10:1–12) who themselves come under judgment (11:1–17).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 9:1–17 Zechariah tells Judah that its current circumstances are temporary. God will judge their oppressors. He will also send the promised king, who will rule Israel and the nations.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 9:1–8 As in 1:12, the issue is the nations that are wrongfully at rest, and that will now be subject to the Lord's judgment. Despite all its natural resources, this whole region will experience the fiery judgment of God that will leave it desolate. Yet even from the destruction of those nations, a remnant (9:7) will emerge who will attach themselves to the Lord and become part of his people (see 8:22–23). Thus the Lord will eliminate any future threats to the peace and safety of his house (9:8) and his people.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 9:9 This campaign against Israel's enemies ends in the triumphal entry of Israel's king into Jerusalem. He is described as "righteous," like the ideal ruler of Psalm 72. He will secure their "salvation" by guaranteeing God's blessing. He is also humble (compare Deut. 17:18–20), and he comes riding on a donkey. A warrior would ride a horse, so this is the mount of one who brings peace. Jesus fulfills this prophecy during his triumphal entry into Jerusalem (see Matt. 21:5; John 12:5). righteous and having salvation is he. As Jesus enters Jerusalem, this saving work is still to be accomplished.

Zechariah Texts Quoted in the New Testament Regarding Jesus' Ministry

Zechariah Text	Content Summary	NT Passages
9:9	the king comes to Zion humble and riding a donkey	Matt. 21:5; John 12:15
11:13	30 pieces of silver thrown into the house of the LORD	Matt. 27:9
12:10	looking on him whom they have pierced	John 19:37; Rev. 1:7
13:7	the shepherd is struck and the sheep scattered	Matt. 26:31; Mark 14:27

FACT

“Your king is coming.” In 9:9, Zechariah prophesies about the coming of a future king of Israel. The NT quotes this verse when describing Jesus’ triumphal entry into Jerusalem, riding on a donkey (Matt. 21:5; John 12:15).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 9:10 The Lord will eliminate Israel’s need for traditional instruments of war: chariot, war horse, and battle bow. He will provide universal peace (see Ps. 72:8).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 9:11 The prisoners, those remaining in exile, will be freed from the waterless pit, a dry well used as a temporary prison (see Gen. 37:24; Jer. 38:6). This salvation comes because of the blood of my covenant, that is, the blood of the sacrifices offered to confirm the covenant (see Ex. 24:8). Because of this covenant bond between God and his people, they should return to Jerusalem, their “stronghold” (Zech. 9:12; see 2:6–7).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 9:12–17 The prisoners of war are not the only ones who need to hear the news of the coming king. The day is coming when God will make his people themselves into a weapon against their captors (v. 13). As the Divine Warrior, the Lord will conquer his people’s oppressors in dramatic fashion (vv. 13–14). By destroying their enemies, he will rescue his people and shepherd his flock (v. 16). As his treasured possession, they will never again go hungry and thirsty. They will receive the covenantal blessings of grain and new wine (v. 17).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 9:13 The oppressors of the sons of Zion (Israel) are identified as the sons of Greece. God promises to make Zion like a warrior’s sword, defeating the Greeks. This is a predictive prophecy of future events (compare Dan. 8:21). Zechariah was writing between 520 and perhaps 480 B.C., but the Greek ruler Alexander the Great did not conquer Palestine until 333. Then the Jewish people did not successfully rebel against Alexander’s successors until the Maccabean period (roughly 166–142 B.C.). However, the name “Greece” was known at the time of Zechariah, for the Greeks had defeated Persia at the battle of Marathon in 490 B.C. Greece was never an enemy of Israel or a conquering world power, however, until the time of Alexander the Great.

FACT

When did Israel defeat Greece? Zechariah predicted that the sons of Zion would someday defeat the sons of Greece (9:13). This is probably a prophecy of the Maccabean revolt in the second century B.C., when the Jews defeated the successors of Alexander the Great who had become their rulers.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 9:15–16 tread down the sling stones. These stones were hurled by slings in battle, but these stones also represent the enemies themselves. Israel's army will trample them as they move forward to conquer. By contrast, God's people will be saved like the jewels of a crown.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 10:1–12 In these verses Zechariah describes Judah's leaders as "shepherds." The current shepherds are unfaithful and greedy (vv. 1–5), and God must rescue his people from them (vv. 6–12).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 10:2 In the past, the leaders sought help from household gods, like those Rachel stole in Gen. 31:34, or from pagan diviners. Yet these sources offered only empty consolation. They left the people like sheep without a shepherd.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 10:4 The flock will be transformed from wandering sheep into a majestic warhorse. Their new leadership is described as a cornerstone (a building's foundation stone; see Isa. 28:16), a tent peg (which provided stability; see Isa. 22:20–23), and a battle bow (representing military power; see Zech. 9:10). The Lord's presence with these leaders guarantees their victory against all enemies.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 10:6 The Lord's people were once like sheep without a shepherd (v. 2). He rejected them because they refused to seek forgiveness for their sin. Now he will have compassion on them. He will complete the restoration begun when he brought Judah back from exile. This restoration will extend beyond Judah to include the house of Joseph, the northern kingdom, which was scattered by the Assyrians in 732, 722, 701, and 671 B.C.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 10:7 Ephraim was one of the most prominent and centrally located tribes. It represents the entire northern kingdom.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 10:8–12 As a shepherd whistles for his flock, the Lord will whistle to bring his people back from the nations where he scattered them. He will signal Israel's restoration with the same signal he once used to call Egypt and Assyria to judge Israel (see Isa. 5:26; 7:18). The Lord will pass through the sea of troubles (Zech. 10:11) and strike down the waves of the sea, which represent all the enemy forces.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 11:1–17 Zechariah's focus turns from the flock back to the shepherds. The fable of vv. 1–3 tells of impending destruction. In vv. 4–7, attention turns to a single shepherd who acts briefly on behalf of the flock but then abandons them (vv. 8–14). He is equipped with two staffs, one symbolizing an international covenant (v. 10) and the other a national covenant between Judah and Israel (v. 14). Eventually, he breaks both of these staffs. Verses 15–17 describe the reappointment (once more) of a foolish shepherd, whose carelessness results in the devastation of the flock and who thus stands condemned.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 11:1–3 The glory of Israel's shepherds, who were the subjects of the Lord's judgment in 10:3, will be brought low. They are pictured as massive cedar trees; as the mighty oaks of Bashan; and as the lush thicket of the Jordan. As glorious as these trees are, they could be destroyed by fire or cut down. Like these now-useless trees, Israel's bad shepherds will lose their glory when the Lord delivers his people.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 11:4–17 Zechariah himself acts out the role of a shepherd who rescues his sheep only to have the sheep come to detest him. He then leaves the flock to a worthless shepherd.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 11:4 Zechariah is instructed to become the shepherd to a flock doomed to slaughter. They were doomed because their corrupt owners and shepherds cared for them only as a means of acquiring wealth (vv. 4–17). This represents the Lord's attitude toward his people in the past. He had abandoned them without pity to suffer abuse from their Persian captors and their fellow citizens.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 11:7 The reason for the Lord's lack of compassion for his people becomes clear as the sign-act goes on. Zechariah tended his flock with staffs named Favor and Union, symbolizing God's positive intentions for them.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 11:8 In a very short time Zechariah removed three other shepherds and became the shepherd to this flock. This symbolizes a complete purging of the greedy leaders. But he became impatient with his flock and they detested him. The three shepherds probably represent either leaders known to the people of that time or leaders in general whom God has rejected.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 11:9 Zechariah resigned from his position as shepherd, leaving the flock to devour itself.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 11:10 Zechariah broke his staff named Favor, breaking his covenant with the nations around Israel, leaving the flock exposed to them.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 11:12–13 Zechariah received as his pitifully inadequate wages thirty pieces of silver, the price of a slave. He rejects the money and throws it into the house of the LORD, to the potter.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 11:14 Zechariah broke the second staff, Union, destroying the unity between the northern and southern kingdoms of Judah and Israel.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 11:17 Israel rejects the shepherd the Lord has provided. So the Lord instructs Zechariah to leave the flock to the mercies of a worthless shepherd who will exploit it for his own benefit. The NT connects the flock's rejection of the shepherd and his pitifully inadequate wages to the rejection and betrayal of Jesus (compare Matt. 27:3–10; John 10:25–27). The Lord will ultimately judge the worthless shepherd. He will strike his arm and right eye, parts of the body essential for fighting and for controlling the flock.

12:1–14:21 The Second Oracle: The People and Their Leaders. In this last section of the book, hope for Judah is tied to the "house of David." The future of Jerusalem is described in various ways, each beginning with the phrase “on that day” (17 times in these three chapters). The description of divine deliverance (12:1–9) is followed by its impact on different groups within the community (12:10–13:9). Chapter 14 describes the “day of the Lord,” a familiar idea throughout the Minor Prophets (see note on Amos 5:18–20).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 12:1–13:6 Not only will God protect his people, he will lead them to true repentance and will cleanse them from their sin and idolatry.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 12:1–9 In time God will punish the nations that seek to harm Judah, and will elevate the house of David.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 12:1 The phrase The oracle of the word of the Lord begins a new section (see note on 9:1–8) that describes Israel’s complete restoration and renewal. As Creator, the Lord’s promises of judgment and redemption are sure because he is able to re-create a new society out of the existing chaos (compare Gen. 1:1–2).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 12:2 Jerusalem will be God’s instrument of judgment on the nations. It will be an intoxicating cup of staggering. Drinking it will result in shame, disorientation, and destruction (compare Jer. 25:15–29).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 12:3 The phrase On that day begins a series of nine such statements. See note on Amos 5:18–20. Jerusalem will become a heavy stone that will hurt the nations that try to move it.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 12:4 When the nations of the earth gather against Jerusalem, the Lord will strike their elite cavalry troops with blindness and panic (compare Deut. 28:28). As for the house of Judah, the Lord says, I will keep my eyes open to guard and protect them.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 12:5–6 The clans of Judah recognize that Jerusalem’s strength comes only from the Lord of hosts (see note on Amos 3:13). He uses them as a blazing fire or a flaming torch to destroy the nations around them (Zech. 12:6).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 12:7 The Abrahamic covenant will be fulfilled (see Gen. 12:1–3). This will result in glory for Jerusalem and all of Judah but destruction for the nations that oppose them. Salvation will come to the tents of Judah first, even before Jerusalem. Either the soldiers in tents or the poor living in tents outside Jerusalem will experience the Lord’s deliverance first. Therefore those in Jerusalem must not become proud over their privileged location.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 12:8 All of Jerusalem’s inhabitants will be raised to the highest human glory, like David (1 Sam. 13:14). David’s line will attain an even greater glory. On that day the descendant of David will lead the people into battle as the angel of the LORD did in days of old (see Josh. 5:14).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 12:9 The Lord will bring judgment on all the nations that come against Jerusalem. The fate of “all the nations,” first introduced in v. 3, is settled.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 12:10–14 These verses focus primarily on the house of David and Jerusalem. The “pouring out” of the spirit (that is, God’s Spirit; v. 10; see Ezek. 39:29; Joel 2:28–29), will result in grace and pleas for mercy (Zech. 12:10). This implies both forgiveness from the Lord and repentance from the people. They will mourn because of the one whom they have pierced (that is, stabbed to death; see Num. 25:8). The mourning will be like that for a firstborn son, the one on whom all the family’s future hopes rested. John 19:37 sees this prophecy fulfilled in Jesus.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 13:1–6 To cleanse the repentant people from their sin, God will open up a fountain (v. 1) from which will flow the running water necessary for ritual purification (see Lev. 14:5; compare Ezek. 47:1–12; Rev. 22:1–2). The people’s uncleanness comes from their devotion to idols (Zech. 13:2; compare Ezek. 36:25). This is the sin that “pierced” the Lord (Zech. 12:10), a phrase recalled by John as he told of Christ’s death on the cross (John 19:37). The Lord promises to remove the names of the idols from the land, ending their influence and memory (Zech. 13:2).

FACT

Zechariah promises that when the people of Jerusalem repent, the Lord will provide a fountain, or spring, that will cleanse them from their sins (13:1). They were unclean because they had worshiped idols, but when they repented, God would forgive them.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 13:7–14:21 Fearsome conflicts await the people of God, but God will intervene and usher in a day in which Jerusalem is supreme and all the world worships the true God.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 13:7–9 This time the sword of the Lord's judgment goes out against the good shepherd. This scatters the flock and leads to a time of great trial for God's people. During this time many will perish. Yet the testing period will lead to mutual commitment between the Lord and his people.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:1–11 Terrible times are yet in store for the people of Jerusalem, but God will visit them and make Jerusalem secure and prominent.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:4 In a future time that Zechariah does not identify, enemies will divide Judah's possessions before her very eyes. Jerusalem will again be captured and will endure great hardship (vv. 1–2). Yet at the height of her distress, the Lord will go out once more as a warrior. He will follow the same route by which he abandoned the Jerusalem temple in Ezek. 11:23. God's appearance will shake the natural order (compare Ps. 29:1–11; Isa. 29:6; Mic. 1:3–4; Habakkuk 3). It will split the Mount of Olives in two, creating a valley aligned from east to west near the temple. Zechariah's vision thus echoes the upheaval of the earth at the coming of the Lord described in Isa. 40:4 and Ezek. 43:2.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:5 This valley will provide an escape route for Jerusalem's inhabitants to Azal, an unknown location. It will also provide a road for the Divine Warrior to return to his city. He will be accompanied by all the holy ones, which are either his angelic army or the exiles who return under his protection.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:6 On that day. It is difficult to determine what period of time is indicated by this chapter's remarkable prophecies (see 1 Pet. 1:10–11).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:7 The natural order's transformation at the Lord's coming continues. That day will be like the first day of history (literally, "day one," see ESV footnote), a unique day, which is known to the LORD. Just as on the first day, before light and darkness had been separated (Gen. 1:3–4), so on that day there will be neither day nor night, but at evening time there shall be light. Permanent light will prevail.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:8 The living waters that flow from Jerusalem will reach the Dead Sea and the Mediterranean. Life-giving rivers are a common feature in descriptions of sanctuaries (see Gen. 2:10; Ps. 46:4; Ezek. 47:1–12; Joel 3:18; Rev. 22:1).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:9 the LORD will be king over all the earth. This far exceeds the idea of a Messiah who will deliver Israel, for this predicts a worldwide earthly reign of the Lord himself. The LORD will be one echoes the fundamental confession of the OT, "Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God, the LORD is one" (Deut. 6:4). As the Lord's sole kingship is established, he becomes the sole object of worship (compare Zech. 8:20–23).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:10 The territory of Judah will be turned into a flat plain so that Jerusalem can tower over its surrounding countryside (compare Isa. 2:2–4).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:11 Jerusalem will be fully inhabited and secure, without fear of a further decree of utter destruction from the Lord because of its sins.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:12–21 After the nations have suffered a gruesome defeat, they will dedicate themselves to worshiping the true God in Jerusalem.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:16 The nations that once came up against Jerusalem for war will now come to the city for the three annual festivals, especially the Feast of Booths in the fall. Like Ezekiel before him (Ezek.

46:9–12), Zechariah writes of ongoing festival worship in a renewed Israel, but he broadens this vision to include the nations.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:17 And if any of the families of the earth do not go up. This requirement will be enforced by the threat of a lack of rain, which will cripple their harvests.

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:20 Holiness will affect everything within Jerusalem, down to the most humble objects. Even the bells of the horses will now be inscribed with the phrase Holy to the LORD, which was previously inscribed on a plate on the high priest's turban (Ex. 28:36–38). The whole city will become a temple, the place where the Lord dwells among his people (compare Rev. 21:22–23).

ZECHARIAH—NOTE ON 14:21 On that day there will no longer be a trader (or a "Canaanite"; see ESV footnote) in the Lord's house. No longer will Gentiles enter the temple for business reasons, thus defiling the holiness of the Lord's house (see Ezek. 44:9). The temple will finally become a fit place for the Lord to dwell among his people.

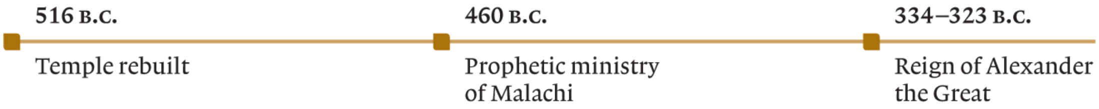
Introduction to Malachi

Introduction to Malachi

Timeline



Author and Date

The prophet Malachi (whose name means “my messenger”) probably lived at the same time as Ezra and Nehemiah, around 460 B.C.

Theme

Malachi’s fellow Israelites were guilty of corrupt worship and unethical behavior. He called the people to renewed covenant obedience.

Purpose, Occasion, and Background

Malachi’s ministry took place nearly a hundred years after the decree of Cyrus in 538 B.C., which ended the Babylonian captivity and allowed the Jews to return to their homeland and rebuild the temple (2 Chron. 36:23). This was some 80 years after Haggai and Zechariah encouraged the rebuilding of the temple. Those two earlier prophets had said that the rebuilding of the temple would result in peace, prosperity, the conversion of people from other nations, and the return of God’s own glorious presence (see Haggai 2; Zech. 1:16–17; 2:1–13; 8:1–9:17). To the discouraged people of Malachi’s day, these predictions must have seemed a cruel mockery. In contrast to the glowing promises, they faced economic difficulties due to drought and crop failure (Mal. 3:11). They remained an insignificant territory, no longer an independent nation and no longer ruled by a Davidic king. Worst of all, despite the promise of God’s presence, they experienced only spiritual decline.

The Setting of Malachi

c. 460 B.C.

Malachi likely prophesied several decades after the first Jewish exiles had returned from Babylon to Judea and had rebuilt the temple. Edomites had migrated northwest from their traditional homeland just south of Moab into the area immediately south of Judea, which was now called Idumea. Territory that once belonged to the northern kingdom of Israel had been divided into several minor provinces, including Samaria.

Malachi’s Sixfold Wake-up Call to Renewed Covenant Fidelity

Disputation	Reference	Summary	Focus
Disputation 1	1:2–5	Malachi defends God’s love for Israel. The proper response to his love is covenantal obedience and sincere worship.	Israel must remember the Law of Moses (4:4).
Disputation 2	1:6–2:9	Malachi exposes offenses related to worship and criticizes the priests for allowing them.
Disputation 3	2:10–16	Malachi condemns marriage to an unbeliever as unfaithfulness to Israel’s covenant with God. He also condemns unjust divorce as a violation of the marriage covenant between husband and wife, to which the Lord is witness.
Disputation 4	2:17–3:5	Malachi promises that God will demonstrate his justice. He will do so when “the messenger of the covenant” comes to judge the wicked and purify his people.	Israel must remember the promise of Elijah and the coming day of the Lord (4:5–6).
Disputation 5	3:6–12	Malachi returns to the subject of Israel’s wicked offerings. The difficulties the people are experiencing are punishment for their sin.
Disputation 6	3:13–4:3	Malachi assures the people that evildoers, who seem to escape divine justice, will be judged. The Lord will deliver his people.
Summary	4:4–6	Malachi summarizes the main points of his prophecy: keep God’s law (the focus of disputes 1–3), and remember the promise of a coming prophet like Elijah and the coming day of the Lord (the focus of disputes 4–6).

Key Themes and Outline: Malachi’s Sixfold Wake-up Call to Renewed Covenant Obedience

The book of Malachi describes six disputations between God and Israel. There is a common pattern in each dispute: (1) God charges his people with bad behavior; (2) he then envisages the people’s response to the charge (“But you say”; 1:2, 6, 7, 13; 2:14, 17; 3:7, 8, 13); (3) God then replies to their presumed response and expands the charge. The chart below shows the subject of each dispute and God’s response to it.

The Global Message of Malachi

"'I have loved you,' says the LORD. But you say, 'How have you loved us?'" (Mal. 1:2). After the return from exile, the rebuilding of the temple, and the reinstitution of temple worship, Israel was looking around and wondering why they were still a marginalized, insignificant nation compared to the national powers of the day. What had become of God's great promises to exalt Israel and punish the godless nations?

The global message of Malachi is that God's judgment is indeed coming on his enemies, but God's people must be more concerned about their own relationship to him than with anyone else's fate. The global church must beware the dead orthodoxy that so easily sets in when church life becomes routine.

Malachi in Redemptive History

God's promises. The long-threatened and well-deserved exile from the Promised Land had come and gone. A remnant had returned to Judah and had been eagerly expecting final restoration of all that God had promised them—supremacy among the nations, the coming of a final Messiah-king, judgment on the Gentile nations who had oppressed Israel so long, and lasting peace and prosperity. Above all, they were looking forward to the day when God himself would dwell among his people once more in glory (see Hag. 2:1–9; Zech. 1:16–17; 2:1–13; 8:1–9:17).

Yet this was not the picture of life in Israel in Malachi's day. Instead, the people were experiencing economic adversity, poor harvests, and pestilence (see Mal. 3:10–12). Where was the abundance promised and longed for?

God's summons. Malachi's answer is that God will not fail to fulfill what he has promised to his people, but the time is not yet ripe for such fulfillment. Instead, God calls the people to love him more than the abundance they have so long anticipated. Israel must learn once more what it is to trust the Lord, committing themselves again to the covenant into which God has entered with them. For it is by such covenant faithfulness that the nations will be gathered in. Then God's "name will be great among the nations" (Mal. 1:11; compare 1:14). When Israel turns to love the Lord their God with all their heart, then the Gentiles will be attracted to such a life, such a people, and such a God.

God's provision. Ultimately, however, God could not wait for such Israelite faithfulness to blossom, for it never did blossom and never could. If his people were to love him with all their heart, something more drastic was needed. Rather than waiting for his people to love him and in that way attract the nations, God would send his own Son, pouring out his Spirit onto his people and moving them from the inside out to walk in his ways as a witness to the nations of the world (Jer. 31:31–34; Ezek. 36:22–27).

By sending his Son, moreover, God showed his people how the nations would be won—not by attracting them but by going to them (Gal. 4:4–6). With the coming of Christ the way by which his people are a light to the nations has been reversed. Disciples of Christ do not wait for the nations to come to them. Rather they determine, in sacrificial mission according to the pattern set by Christ's own incarnation, to go to the nations (John 20:21).

Universal Themes in Malachi

The pervasive tendency toward spiritually empty religion. The key indictment against Israel is their hollow, formal, corner-cutting religion. Their sacrifices to God are manipulated so as to allow them to retain their best animals (Mal. 1:8); the spiritual leaders only pretend to honor the Lord (2:1–2); marriage is taken lightly (2:14–16); and tithes are withheld out of love of money (3:6–12). Everywhere that the church presently thrives, believers must be vigilant against allowing dead orthodoxy to set in. A sign of such dead orthodoxy is when doctrinal truth is acknowledged ("Have we not all one Father? Has not one God created us?" [2:10]) and yet love for one's neighbor is neglected, which brings God's judgment "against those who oppress the hired worker in his wages, the widow and the fatherless, against those who thrust aside the sojourner, and do not fear me, says the Lord of hosts" (3:5).

The worldwide exaltation of God's name. Amid his indictment of Israel's sin, the Lord reiterates the global dimensions of the worship he deserves. "For from the rising of the sun to its setting my name will be great among the nations, and in every place incense will be offered to my name, and a pure offering. For my name will be great among the nations" (Mal. 1:11). "For I am a great King, says the Lord of hosts, and my name will be feared among the nations" (1:14). In light of his people's failure to be a light to the nations, God will bring “utter destruction” on “the great and awesome day of the Lord” (4:5–6). Yet this day will also be linked with the return of Elijah to turn the hearts of the people back to God, once and for all vindicating God’s great name and glory (see Matt. 17:12; Luke 1:17; John 13:32; 17:1).

The Global Message of Malachi for Today

God’s people around the world today have been promised great and glorious things, just as God’s people of old had been. Yet like Israel upon returning from the exile, the glory for which we so eagerly wait remains perplexingly elusive as we live life under the sun in this fallen world. Sin and sickness, abuse and maligning, discouragement and setbacks—such is the lot of those who live in a diseased world. Indeed, some suffering is unique to followers of Christ (Acts 14:22; 2 Tim. 3:12).

Yet like the faithful remnant who determined to trust the Lord no matter what in Malachi’s day (Mal. 3:16–18), we too must cling to God and his promises regardless of what afflictions befall us—physically, politically, emotionally, relationally, culturally. The curse of the fall infects all aspects of life, yet the coming final restoration will likewise redeem all aspects of life. This restoration has already dawned in Christ and is guaranteed to all of God’s children, who enjoy the down payment of the Spirit in anticipation of the coming full liberation from sin and death (Rom. 8:18–25; 2 Cor. 1:22; Eph. 1:13–14).

Joy is secure. Glory awaits. Hope stands fast.

MALACHI 1 [†]The oracle of the word of the LORD to Israel by Malachi. [1]

The LORD's Love for Israel

[2][†] [a]"I have loved you," says the LORD. [b]But you say, "How have you loved us?" "Is not Esau [c]Jacob's brother?" declares the LORD. "Yet [d]I have loved Jacob [3]but Esau I have hated. [e]I have laid waste his hill country and left his heritage to jackals of the desert." [4]If Edom says, "We are shattered but we will rebuild the ruins," the LORD of hosts says, "They may build, but I will tear down, and they will be called 'the wicked country,' and 'the people with whom the LORD is angry forever.'" [5][f]Your own eyes shall see this, and you shall say, "Great is the LORD beyond the border of Israel!"

The Priests' Polluted Offerings

[6][†] [g]"A son honors his father, and a servant his master. If then I am [h]a father, where is my honor? And if I am [i]a master, where is my fear? says the LORD of hosts to you, O priests, who despise my name. [b]But you say, 'How have we despised your name?' [7][j]By offering polluted food upon my altar. [b]But you say, 'How have we polluted you?' By saying that [k]the LORD's table may be despised. [8][l]When you offer blind animals in sacrifice, is that not evil? And when you offer those that are lame or sick, is that not evil? Present that to your governor; will he accept you or show you favor? says the LORD of hosts. [9]And now [m]entreat the favor of God, that he may be gracious to us. With such a gift from your hand, [n]will he show favor to any of you? says the LORD of hosts. [10][o]Oh that there were one among you who would shut the doors, that you might not kindle fire on my altar in vain! I have no pleasure in you, says the LORD of hosts, [p]and I will not accept an offering from your hand. [11][†]For from the rising of the sun to its setting my name [q]will be [2] great among the nations, and in every place incense will be offered to my name, and a pure offering. For my name [q]will be great among the nations, says the LORD of hosts. [12]But you profane it when you say that [r]the Lord's table is polluted, and its fruit, that is, its food may be despised. [13]But you say, [s]'What a weariness this is,' and you snort at it, says the LORD of hosts. [t]You bring what has been taken by violence or is lame or sick, and this you bring as your offering! Shall I accept that from your hand? says the LORD. 14Cursed be the cheat who has [u]a male in his flock, and [v]vows it, and yet sacrifices to the Lord what is blemished. For [w]I am a great King, says the LORD of hosts, and my name [x]will be feared among the nations.

The LORD Rebukes the Priests

MALACHI 2 "And now, [y]O priests, [z]this command is for you. 2[†] [a]If you will not listen, if you will not take it to heart to give honor to my name, says the LORD of hosts, then I will send [b]the curse upon you and I will curse [c]your blessings. Indeed, I have already cursed them, because you do not lay it to heart. 3Behold, [d]I will rebuke your offspring, [1] and [e]spread dung on your faces, the [f]dung of your offerings, and you shall be taken away with it. [2] 4So shall you know that I have sent [g]this command to you, that [h]my covenant with Levi may stand, says the LORD of hosts. 5My covenant with him was one of life and [i]peace, and I gave them to him. [j]It was a covenant of fear, and he feared me. He stood in awe of my name. 6[k]True instruction [3] was in his mouth, and no wrong was found on his lips. He walked with me in peace and uprightness, and he [l]turned many from iniquity. 7For [m]the lips of a priest should guard knowledge, and people [4] should seek instruction from his mouth, for he is the messenger of the LORD of hosts. 8But you have turned aside from the way. [n]You have caused many to stumble by your instruction. You have corrupted [o]the covenant of Levi, says the LORD of hosts, 9and so [p]I make you despised and abased before all the people, inasmuch as you do not keep my ways but [q]show partiality in your instruction."

Judah Profaned the Covenant

10[†]Have we not all [r]one Father? Has not [s]one God created us? Why then are we [t]faithless to one another, profaning the covenant of our fathers? 11Judah has been [t]faithless, and abomination has been committed in Israel and in Jerusalem. For [u]Judah has profaned the sanctuary of the LORD, which he loves, and has married the daughter of a foreign god. 12May the LORD cut off from the tents of Jacob any descendant [5] of the man who does this, who [v] brings an offering to the LORD of hosts!

13[†]And this second thing you do. [w] You cover the LORD's altar with tears, with weeping and groaning because he no longer regards the offering or accepts it with favor from your hand. 14 [x] But you say, "Why does he not?" Because the LORD [y] was witness between you and the wife of your youth, [z] to whom [t] you have been faithless, though she is your companion and your wife by covenant. 15[†] [a] Did he not make them one, with a portion of the Spirit in their union? [6] And what was the one God [7] seeking? [8] [b] Godly offspring. So guard yourselves [9] in your spirit, and let none of you be [t] faithless to the wife of your youth. 16[†]"For [c] the man who does not love his wife but divorces her, [10] says the LORD, the God of Israel, covers [11] his garment with violence, says the LORD of hosts. So guard yourselves in your spirit, and [t] do not be faithless."

The Messenger of the LORD

17[†] [d] You have wearied the LORD with your words. [x] But you say, "How have we wearied him?" [e] By saying, "Everyone who does evil is good in the sight of the LORD, and he delights in them." Or by asking, [f] "Where is the God of justice?"

MALACHI 3 [†] [g] "Behold, I send [h] my messenger, and [i] he will prepare the way before me. And the Lord [j] whom you seek will suddenly come to his temple; and [k] the messenger of the covenant in whom you delight, behold, he is coming, says the LORD of hosts. 2[†]But [l] who can endure the day of his coming, and who can stand when he appears? For [m] he is like a refiner's fire and like fullers' soap. 3He will sit [n] as a refiner and purifier of silver, and he will purify the sons of Levi and refine them like gold and silver, and they will bring [o] offerings in righteousness to the LORD. [1] 4 [p] Then the offering of Judah and Jerusalem will be pleasing to the LORD as in the days of old and as in former years.

5"Then I will draw near to you for judgment. I will be [q] a swift witness against the sorcerers, against the adulterers, against those who swear falsely, against those [r]who oppress the hired worker in his wages, [s]the widow and the fatherless, against those who thrust aside the sojourner, and do not fear me, says the Lord of hosts.

Robbing God

[6][†]“For [t]I the Lord do not change; [u]therefore you, O children of Jacob, are not consumed. [7][v]From the days of your fathers you have turned aside from my statutes and have not kept them. [w]Return to me, and I will return to you, says the Lord of hosts. [x]But you say, ‘How shall we return?’ [8][†]Will man rob God? Yet you are robbing me. [x]But you say, ‘How have we robbed you?’ [y]In your tithes and contributions. [9][z]You are cursed with a curse, for you are robbing me, the whole nation of you. [10][†][a]Bring the full tithe into the storehouse, that there may be food in my house. And thereby [b]put me to the test, says the Lord of hosts, if I will not open [c]the windows of heaven for you and pour down for you a blessing until there is no more need. [11]I will rebuke [d]the devourer [2] for you, so that it will not destroy the fruits of your soil, and your vine in the field shall not fail to bear, says the Lord of hosts. [12]Then [e]all nations will call you blessed, for you will be [f]a land of delight, says the Lord of hosts.

[13][†][g]“Your words have been hard against me, says the Lord. [h]But you say, ‘How have we spoken against you?’ [14]You have said, [i]‘It is vain to serve God. [j]What is the profit of our keeping his charge or of walking as in mourning before the Lord of hosts? [15]And now we call [k]the arrogant blessed. [k]Evildoers not only prosper but [l]they put God to the test and they escape.’”

The Book of Remembrance

[16][†]Then those who feared the Lord [m]spoke with one another. The Lord paid attention and heard them, and [n]a book of remembrance was written before him of those who feared the Lord and esteemed his name. [17][†]“They shall be mine, says the Lord of hosts, [o]in the day when I make up [p]my treasured possession, and I will spare them as a man spares his son who serves him. [18]Then once more you shall [q]see the distinction between the righteous and the wicked, between one who serves God and one who does not serve him.

The Great Day of the LORD

MALACHI 4 [1] “For behold, [r] the day is coming, [s] burning like an oven, when [t] all the arrogant and [t] all evildoers [u] will be stubble. The day that is coming [u] shall set them ablaze, says the LORD of hosts, so that it will leave them neither root nor branch. 2[†]But for you [v] who fear my name, [w] the sun [x] of righteousness shall rise [y] with healing in its wings. You shall go out [z] leaping like calves from the stall. 3And you shall tread down the wicked, for they will be ashes under the soles of your feet, [a] on the day when I act, says the LORD of hosts.

4[†] [b] “Remember [c] the law of my servant Moses, the statutes and rules [2] that I commanded him at Horeb for all Israel.

5 [d] “Behold, I will send you [e] Elijah the prophet [f] before the great and awesome day of the LORD comes. 6And he will [g] turn the hearts of fathers to their children and the hearts of children to their fathers, lest I come and [h] strike the land with a decree of utter destruction.” [3]

Study Notes for Malachi

MALACHI—NOTE ON 1:1 Heading. Malachi declares his role as God's messenger and identifies his book as the word of the LORD. Nearly half of the verses in Malachi include "says the LORD of hosts," "says the LORD," or some similar phrase. This prophecy is an oracle (compare Zech. 9:1), literally, "a burden." Malachi directs his message to the post-exilic community of Judah. By referring to them as "Israel," he identifies them as recipients of all God's covenant promises as well as the covenant obligations.

FACT

The title LORD of hosts appears more frequently in Malachi than in any other OT book. Following the exile, Judah was a very small province within the vast Persian Empire. It had no army of its own, leaving its people painfully aware of how limited their resources were. Malachi wants to remind his people that God is in command of a great heavenly host that stands ready to defend Judah.

MALACHI—NOTE ON 1:2–5 First Dispute: Are God's People Still Special in His Sight? Malachi answers the doubts of the people who question God's love because of Israel's many current problems.

MALACHI—NOTE ON 1:2–4 Malachi reminds readers of God's covenantal love for Jacob. In this context loved means chosen for a particular service rather than affection. Likewise, Esau I have hated refers to Esau's descendants being rejected for a particular service rather than God actually hating the people. Although Jacob and Esau were brothers, God chose Jacob to be the bearer of the messianic promise (see Rom. 9:13). Malachi compares the nations that descended from Jacob and Esau—Israel and Edom. Neither country will escape God's judgment. Judah will be graciously restored after her punishment, but Edom will not recover (Mal. 1:4).

MALACHI—NOTE ON 1:2 But you say. See Introduction, Key Themes and Outline.

MALACHI—NOTE ON 1:6–2:9 Second Dispute: Why Do Israel's Offerings Not Honor God? Malachi argues that Israel's love for God should be questioned, not God's love for Israel. Malachi focuses on Israel's priests (2:1–9). It is their responsibility to guard the sanctuary from being misused and to inspect all sacrifices (1:8; Lev. 22:17–25). The priests have failed in both of these areas.

MALACHI—NOTE ON 1:11 Surprisingly, Malachi refers to people presenting incense and pure offerings in many places, even among the nations, not just in the Jerusalem temple (see Deuteronomy 12). The phrase from the rising of the sun to its setting indicates this will happen in a future time of great blessing (see Isa. 45:6; 59:19).

MALACHI—NOTE ON 2:2–9 Since the priests failed to guard the temple's purity, the Lord threatens to punish them. Because they "despised" (1:6) the Lord's name, they will be despised and abased before all the people (2:9). Because they "polluted" God (1:7), he will pollute and remove them from the sanctuary, like dung from the sacrifices is removed (2:3; Ex. 29:14). Because they presumed to bless the people, as if God had accepted Israel's sacrifices, God will now curse their blessings.

MALACHI—NOTE ON 2:10–16 Third Dispute: Why Are the People Faithless in Marriage? Malachi now describes Israel's infidelity, which dishonors God. Malachi condemns two marital offenses: intermarriage with unbelievers (v. 11; compare Neh. 13:29) and unjust divorce (Mal. 2:13–16).

MALACHI—NOTE ON 2:13–14 Israel was distressed because God refused to accept their offerings, as evidenced by his not blessing them. Malachi explains that God was acting as a witness against husbands who were unfaithful to their wives. Marriage is not just a contract, a two-way agreement between husband and wife. Instead it is a covenant. Since the LORD was witness to it, marriage is a three-way relationship in which the couple is accountable to God. For this reason, faithfulness in marriage is linked to spiritual well-being. A couple's relationship must be in good standing, or their prayers will be hindered (compare 1 Pet. 3:7). Other OT passages describing marriage as a covenant include Prov. 2:17; Ezek. 16:8–14; and especially Genesis 2. There, covenant words and phrases describe a husband's duty ("leave" and "hold fast"; Gen. 2:24; "this at last is bone of my bones"; Gen. 2:23).

MALACHI—NOTE ON 2:15 Make them one recalls Adam and Eve's marriage (Gen. 2:24). The Lord intends marriage to produce godly offspring (literally, "a seed of God"). Describing a person as "a seed of God" shows that God is a "Father" to his people through redemption (Mal. 1:6; 2:10; compare "the daughter of a foreign god" in v. 11).

MALACHI—NOTE ON 2:16 This verse is one of the most difficult OT passages to translate. The ESV footnote includes the other most common translation. Despite the translation difficulty, this passage states clearly that the biblical standard for marriage comes from Gen. 2:23–24, which teaches that marriage is a covenant. Malachi refers to creation (Mal. 2:10), and calls marriage a covenant (v. 14). He refers to the oneness described in Gen. 2:24 ("union," Mal. 2:15), and reminds his readers of the purpose of marriage ("godly offspring," v. 15). The Israelite man who unjustly divorces his wife commits a serious offense. He violates the creation order and breaks his covenantal relationship with his wife. These acts damage his character (covers his garment with violence). But divorce affects more than just the husband and wife; it affects the whole community's social and spiritual health (vv. 13–15). (See also the notes on Matt. 5:31–32; 19:3–9; Mark 10:10–12; 1 Cor. 7:15.)

MALACHI—NOTE ON 2:17–3:5 Fourth Dispute: Is God Unjust? Malachi accuses the people of wearying the Lord with their insulting complaints: "Everyone who does evil is good in the sight of the LORD" and "Where is the God of justice?" Many of the people were distressed at the apparent failure of the prophetic promises of restoration (see Haggai 2; Zech. 1:16–17; 2:1–13; 8:1–9:17). Israel was experiencing continued social and political oppression and economic hardship (Neh. 1:3; 9:36–37; Mal. 3:11). Worse, they had been promised that God would return to his temple with greater glory than was seen at Moses' tabernacle or Solomon's temple (e.g., Zech. 1:16–17; 2:4–5, 10–13; 8:3–8; 9:9–17), but the rebuilt temple lacked any visible display of glory. Now, however, Malachi promises that "the Lord whom you seek will suddenly come to his temple" (Mal. 3:1). This prophecy was fulfilled ultimately in Jesus Christ (John 1:14; 2 Cor. 4:6).

MALACHI—NOTE ON 3:1 Apparently Israel was repeating the error of Amos's listeners (Amos 5:18). They supposed that the Lord's coming would be only for blessing. They did not realize that the Lord's coming would also be for judgment. He would come to be a "witness" against all evildoers, including his own people. In preparation for this fearful appearance, the Lord promises, Behold, I send my messenger, and he will prepare the way before me. The NT identifies John the Baptist as this messenger. He prepares the way for the Lord whom you seek, that is, Jesus the Messiah (see Matt. 11:10–14).

MALACHI—NOTE ON 3:2–5 When the Lord comes, he will purify some sinners (vv. 2–4) and judge others (v. 5). The purifying will be thorough and severe, as if it were done with a refiner's fire and fullers' soap (compare Heb. 12:7–11). The heat of the refiner's fire helped separate impurities from the metal. Similarly, the fuller washed clothes using strong lye soap.

3:6–12 Fifth Dispute: How Shall We Repent? Can a Man Rob God? Malachi returns to the subject of Israel's offerings, which he first addressed in the second dispute (1:6–2:9). When Israel returned from exile, they neglected to offer their tithes (see Neh. 13:10–13). Crop failure and disease did not excuse their unfaithfulness (Mal. 3:10–11). These natural disasters were the result of, not the cause of, the nation's disobedience (v. 8).

MALACHI—NOTE ON 3:6–7 I the LORD do not change. God's character and eternal purposes remain constant. He always responds to repentance with forgiveness. They can trust him when he says, Return to me and I will return to you. Because of the Lord's covenant faithfulness they are not consumed. Therefore implies that God's promise to bless the world through Abraham's descendants will not be defeated. He stands ready to bless the children of Jacob again.

MALACHI—NOTE ON 3:8 you are robbing me. The people were not giving to God the offerings that rightly belonged to him.

MALACHI—NOTE ON 3:10–12 God promises that if his people faithfully present their full tithe, then the desperately needed rain will come (v. 10). Crop failure will cease (v. 11), and the promise to Abraham that all nations will call you blessed (v. 12; Ps. 72:17) will be fulfilled. By saying, "put me to the test," God challenges the people to give the tithe they owe him and then watch to see if he will keep his promise. God promises to meet all their needs, but not necessarily all their wishes. This is not a promise of wealth in return for obedience.

MALACHI—NOTE ON 3:13–4:3 Sixth Dispute: How Have We Spoken against God? This section echoes the first dispute. Here the focus is on God's own people. Some embrace the covenant, and some do not.

MALACHI—NOTE ON 3:13–15 Israel complains that it is vain to serve God. They believe they have been faithful and have not been blessed.

MALACHI—NOTE ON 3:16 In sharp contrast to the people in vv. 13–15, a second group is now mentioned: those who feared the LORD and esteemed his name. Just as the Lord heard the insults of the first group, so he hears the faithful conversation of the second. A book of remembrance is written in God's presence concerning these faithful believers. God will correctly judge the deeds of the righteous and the wicked.

MALACHI—NOTE ON 3:17–4:3 The Lord promises that, for those faithful believers listed in the "book of remembrance" (3:16), a day is coming when God will say, They shall be mine, his treasured possession (3:17; compare Ex. 19:5). God will spare them as a man spares his son who serves him.

MALACHI—NOTE ON 4:2 Just as the sun drives away darkness and clouds, bringing light and joy, so the sun of righteousness will scatter gloom, oppression, and injustice. The "righteousness" brought by this "sun" includes both judgment on evildoers and reward for the righteous. Its wings are a poetic image for the rays of this sun. These wings bring healing to all who come under them. Scholars have understood this prophecy to be fulfilled in Christ, who is "the light of the world" (John 8:12; compare John 1:4–6).

MALACHI—NOTE ON 4:4–6 Summary. These closing appeals summarize the main points of Malachi's prophecy: Remember the law of my servant Moses (the focus of the first three disputes) and prepare for the promised sending of Elijah the prophet before the coming day of the LORD (the focus of the last three disputes). Horeb is another name for Mount Sinai (see Exodus 19–20; Deut. 5:2). Malachi reveals that the future messenger will have a prophetic ministry like Elijah's. The NT identifies John the Baptist as the fulfillment of Malachi's prophesied Elijah (Matt. 11:10–14; 17:10–13). (For more on "the day of the LORD," see note on Amos 5:18–20.)

MALACHI

Malachi, whose name means “my messenger,” probably ministered during the same time as Ezra and Nehemiah. He prophesied to Judah about 80 years after Haggai and Zechariah had encouraged the people to rebuild the temple. Though Haggai and Zechariah had assured Judah that God’s blessings would return to his people, bringing peace and prosperity, they had not yet experienced these promised blessings. Instead, they were facing a prolonged period of economic difficulty and hardship. Rather than wait faithfully on the Lord, the people sinned against him with half-hearted worship and imperfect offerings. God used Malachi to reaffirm his love for Israel and to rebuke them for their unfaithfulness to him. Malachi urged Judah to remember the Law of Moses, as well as the promise of Elijah and the coming day of the Lord. (Malachi 4:1–6)

Matthew was probably written in the late 50s or early 60s A.D. Matthew (also called Levi), the former tax collector who became Jesus’ disciple, is the author. The original audience may have been the church in Antioch of Syria. Its members included Jewish and Gentile Christians.

Theme

Matthew tells the story of Jesus of Nazareth, the long-expected Messiah who brought the kingdom of God to earth.

Purpose

Matthew writes his Gospel to demonstrate that Jesus is the Messiah, that he has the right to the throne of David as Israel's true King, and that he is the ultimate fulfillment of God's promise to Abraham that his descendants would be a blessing to all the world (1:1; Gen. 12:1–3). Matthew seeks to encourage Jewish Christians (and all future disciples) to stand strong despite opposition. They should feel secure in the knowledge of their citizenship in God's kingdom. Matthew shows that Gentiles also can find salvation through Jesus the Messiah.

Key Themes

1. Portrait of Jesus (1:1, 23; 2:2; 14:33; 16:16; 18:20; 21:5–9).
2. The bridge between Old and New Testaments (1:1–17, 22–23; 2:4–5, 15, 17, 23; 5:17–20).
3. God's continuing work of salvation within Israel, extended to all the peoples of the earth through the person and work of Christ (10:5–6; 28:19).
4. The new community of faith (11:28; 16:18–19; 28:19).
5. The church as built and maintained by Jesus' continuing presence (16:18; 18:15–20; 22:10; 28:20).
6. A "great commission" for evangelism and mission (28:19).
7. Jesus' five teachings as a manual on discipleship (chs. 5–7; 10; 13; 18–20; 24–25).

Outline

I. The Arrival of Jesus the Messiah (1:1–2:23)
II. John the Baptist Prepares for the Messianic Kingdom (3:1–17)

V. The Authoritative Power of the Messiah: Kingdom Power Demonstrated (8:1–9:38)

VI. The Authoritative Mission of the Messiah’s Messengers (10:1–42)
VII. Opposition to the Messiah Increases (11:1–12:50)
VIII. The Messianic Kingdom Revealed in Parables (13:1–53)
IX. The Identity of the Messiah Revealed (13:54–16:20)
X. The Suffering of the Messiah Revealed (16:21–17:27)
XI. The Community of the Messiah Revealed (18:1–20:34)
XII. The Messiah Asserts His Authority over Jerusalem (21:1–23:39)
XIII. The Delay, Return, and Judgment of the Messiah (24:1–25:46)
XIV. The Crucified Messiah (26:1–27:66)
XV. The Resurrection and Commission of the Messiah (28:1–20)

The Setting of Matthew

The events in the book of Matthew take place almost entirely within the vicinity of Palestine, an area extending roughly from Caesarea Philippi in the north to Beersheba in the south. During this time it was ruled by the Roman Empire. The opening chapters describe events surrounding Jesus’ birth in Judea, where Herod had been appointed king by the Romans. The closing chapters end with Jesus’ death, resurrection, and ascension during the rule of Pontius Pilate and the tetrarchs Antipas and Philip.

The Global Message of Matthew

Jesus Christ is the climax of the Bible and of all of human history. He brings the whole Old Testament to fulfillment, and he is also the means by which salvation floods out to the nations. Matthew's Gospel thus has much to say to the global church today as God's people, comprised of both Jew and Gentile, seek to "make disciples of all nations" (Matt. 28:19).

Matthew and Redemptive History

The purpose of creation was that mankind, made in God's image as his ruling representatives, might be fruitful and multiply and spread God's glory throughout the earth. This quest was repeatedly hijacked by sin, however, throughout the Old Testament. After Adam and Eve sinned, Noah was called by God to be fruitful and multiply, thereby assuming the mantle of spreading divine blessing (Gen. 9:1). After Noah ended his life in shame (Gen. 9:20–23), God called Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob to carry this mantle (Gen. 12:1–3; 15:5; 17:2; 22:17–18; 28:14; 35:11). Yet they too proved to be sinners, and unequal to the task. The nation of Israel, led by Moses, was also called to be fruitful and multiply (Deut. 6:3; 7:13), but it too failed in this worldwide mandate.

But at what proved to be the center of human history, God sent a Second Adam, a new Moses, a true Israel, to spread divine glory throughout the earth. This was Jesus Christ. He was called God's "Son" just as Adam and Israel had been called God's "son" (Luke 3:38; Ex. 4:22–23). This, however, was the personally divine Son of God, now incarnate, who gloriously succeeded in his mission. Indeed, he was the perfect prophet, priest, and king who succeeded where all the previous prophets, priests, and kings had failed. As he tells the story of this second Adam, Matthew connects his Gospel account to the Old Testament more frequently and more explicitly than any other Gospel writer. He repeatedly sees Jesus as the one who "fulfills" the promises of the Old Testament (e.g., Matt. 4:14–16; 8:17; 12:17–21; 26:54, 56; 27:9). And beyond explicit connections of Jesus to individual promises of the Old Testament, Matthew structures his whole Gospel in this way. Jesus gives five extended discourses, for example, echoing the five books of Moses—with whom Jesus also explicitly links himself (5:17–48).

In presenting Jesus as the fulfillment of the Old Testament, Matthew shows that Jesus is the one through whom God's original blessings of creation are to spill forth to the world. Perhaps the commission of Genesis 1:28 to be fruitful and multiply throughout the whole earth is in the back of Jesus' mind in his own commission to his disciples to fruitfully multiply disciples throughout the whole earth (Matt. 28:18–20).

Universal Themes in Matthew

The new family of God. The new community of faith is not defined by lineage from ethnic Israel. Rather, the new community transcends ethnic boundary markers and is defined by trusting faith in the Messiah, the coming king, Jesus. Jesus extends mercy to Gentiles (Matt. 12:18, 21) even as his own Jewish kinsmen are hard-hearted and resistant to the gospel (e.g., 23:1–39). The blessing that was intended to spread to the nations in the Old Testament finds realization in Jesus, who creates a new family of God composed of men and women from every tribe and people group and nation.

The global dimensions of discipleship. "All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Go therefore and make disciples of all nations" (Matt. 28:18–19). The final charge to his disciples, built on the full authority (28:18) and everlasting presence (28:20) of Jesus, is to make disciples of all nations. The Christian gospel is not for a certain culture or class; it is not a parochial or regional gospel. It is a gospel for all, in fulfillment of God's original call and promise to Abraham that in him "all the families of the earth shall be blessed" (Gen. 12:3).

The dawning of the kingdom and the coming new earth. Throughout Matthew, Jesus declares that the kingdom of heaven is dawning (Matt. 3:2; 4:17; 10:7; 11:12; 13:44–46). This is a worldwide kingdom, into which all people around the world are invited (24:14). And one day the consummation of this kingdom will be complete: explaining to his disciples what it takes to enter the kingdom of heaven, Jesus expressed the hope of a completely restored new earth, covering the globe as a fully restored and undefileable new Eden: "Truly, I say to you, in the new world, when the Son of Man will sit on his glorious throne, you who have followed me will also sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel" (19:28). The Greek word here translated “new world” means “renewal” or “regeneration” (see Titus 3:5, the only other place this word is used in the New Testament). Here it refers to the total rebirth that the cosmos will undergo upon Christ’s return. No corner of creation will go un-restored. In Jesus the kingdom of heaven has dawned, and its final fulfillment is sure.

The Global Message of Matthew for Today

With Jesus, the dawning of the kingdom means that the curse of Genesis 3 has been dealt a decisive blow and the diseased fallenness of the world is beginning to lift. Matthew shows Jesus calming storms, rebuking demons, healing sickness, teaching his disciples, and cleansing the temple, all in fulfillment of Old Testament messianic hopes of a coming deliverer. In all of this, Jesus is ushering in the kingdom of heaven. He is reversing the curse of the fall (Gen. 3:14–19). The world is being restored to the way it was meant to be.

As Christians around the globe find themselves embattled with the effects of the fall—Satanic warfare, political oppression and corruption, economic adversity, dysfunctional family relationships, infant mortality, large-scale hunger, shortage of clean water—we are reminded from Matthew’s Gospel that amid all the darkness, light shines. And this light, though often repressed, must one day encompass the whole earth as Christ returns in final victory over sin, death, and Satan (Rev. 21:1–22:5). In the meantime, it is the church’s privilege to spread the love of Christ not only through word (for the next life) but also through deed (for this life), as the parable of the final judgment makes plain (Matt. 25:31–46).

Above all, global Christians remember the final three chapters of Matthew’s Gospel, in which the entire account climaxes. Here we see Jesus not only defeating Satan by casting demons out of people but defeating Satan by stealing his power of accusation: Jesus bears the punishment his people deserve, so that Satan can no longer accuse them. Here the Lamb of God is forsaken so that his people around the world and down through history, despite their sin, will never be forsaken (Matt. 27:46). Here the temple curtain is torn in two from top to bottom, because the way is now open for God’s people to meet with God openly and boldly—wherever they live, rather than only in Jerusalem (see Acts 1:8).

The kingdom has dawned (Matt. 3:2). The new world is coming (19:28). All authority is Christ’s (28:18). Let us go and make disciples of all nations (28:19).

The Genealogy of Jesus Christ

MATTHEW 1 [†] [a] The book of the genealogy of Jesus Christ, [b] the son of David, [c] the son of Abraham.

[2] [d] Abraham was the father of Isaac, and [e] Isaac the father of Jacob, and [f] Jacob the father of Judah and his brothers, [3] [†]and [g] Judah the father of Perez and Zerah by Tamar, and Perez the father of Hezron, and Hezron the father of Ram, [1] [4] and Ram the father of Amminadab, and Amminadab the father of Nahshon, and Nahshon the father of Salmon, [5] and Salmon the father of Boaz by [h] Rahab, and Boaz the father of Obed by Ruth, and Obed the father of Jesse, [6] [†]and [i] Jesse the father of David the king.

And [j] David was the father of Solomon by [k] the wife of Uriah, [7] and [l] Solomon the father of Rehoboam, and Rehoboam the father of Abijah, and Abijah the father of Asaph, [2] [8] and Asaph the father of Jehoshaphat, and Jehoshaphat the father of Joram, [m] and Joram the father of Uzziah, [9] and Uzziah the father of Jotham, and Jotham the father of Ahaz, and Ahaz the father of Hezekiah, [10] and Hezekiah the father of Manasseh, and Manasseh the father of Amos, [3] and Amos the father of Josiah, [11] and [n] Josiah the father of [o] Jechoniah and his brothers, at the time of the deportation to Babylon.

[12] [†]And after the deportation to Babylon: [p] Jechoniah was the father of [q] Shealtiel, [4] and [r] Shealtiel the father of Zerubbabel, [13] and Zerubbabel the father of Abiud, and Abiud the father of Eliakim, and Eliakim the father of Azor, [14] and Azor the father of Zadok, and Zadok the father of Achim, and Achim the father of Eliud, [15] and Eliud the father of Eleazar, and Eleazar the father of Matthan, and Matthan the father of Jacob, [16] [†]and Jacob the father of [s] Joseph the husband of Mary, of whom Jesus was born, who is called Christ.

[17] [†]So all the generations from Abraham to David were fourteen generations, and from David to the deportation to Babylon fourteen generations, and from the deportation to Babylon to [t] the Christ fourteen generations.

The Birth of Jesus Christ

[18][†]Now the birth of [u]Jesus Christ [5] took place in this way. [v]When his mother Mary had been betrothed [6] to Joseph, before they came together she was found to be with child [w]from the Holy Spirit. [19][†]And her husband Joseph, being a just man and unwilling [x]to put her to shame, resolved to divorce her quietly. [20][†]But as he considered these things, behold, [y]an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, “Joseph, son of David, do not fear to take Mary as your wife, for that which is conceived in her is from the Holy Spirit. [21][†]She will bear a son, and [z]you shall call his name Jesus, [a]for he will save his people from their sins.” [22][†] [b]All this took place [c]to fulfill what the Lord had spoken by the prophet:

> [23][†] [d]“Behold, the virgin shall conceive and bear a son, > and they shall call his name [e]Immanuel”

(which means, God [f]with us). [24][†]When Joseph woke from sleep, he did as the angel of the Lord commanded him: he took his wife, [25]but knew her not until she had given birth to a son. And [g]he called his name Jesus.

The Visit of the Wise Men

MATTHEW 2 [†]Now [h]after Jesus was born in [i]Bethlehem of Judea [j]in the days of Herod the king, behold, wise men [1] from [k]the east came to Jerusalem, [2][†]saying, “Where is he who has been born [l]king of the Jews? For we saw [m]his star when it rose [2] and have come to [n]worship him.” [3]When Herod the king heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him; [4][†]and assembling all the chief priests and scribes of the people, he inquired of them where [o]the Christ was to be born. [5][†]They told him, “In Bethlehem of Judea, for so it is written by the prophet:

> [6] [p]“‘And you, O Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, > are by no means least among the rulers of Judah;
> for from you shall come a ruler > who will [q]shepherd my people Israel.’”

[7]Then Herod summoned the wise men secretly and ascertained from them what time the star had appeared. [8]And he sent them to Bethlehem, saying, “Go and search diligently for the child, and when you have found him, bring me word, that I too may come and worship him.” [9][†]After listening to the king, they went on their way. And behold, the star that they had seen when it rose went before them until it came to rest over the place where the child was. [10]When they saw the star, they rejoiced exceedingly with great joy. [11][†]And going into the house they saw the child with Mary his mother, and they fell down and worshiped him. Then, opening their treasures, [r]they offered him gifts, [s]gold and [t]frankincense and [u]myrrh. [12]And [v]being warned [w]in a dream not to return to Herod, they departed to their own country by another way.

The Flight to Egypt

[13][†]Now when they had departed, behold, [x]an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream and said, “Rise, take the child and his mother, and flee to Egypt, and remain there until I tell you, for Herod is about to search for the child, to destroy him.” [14]And he rose and took the child and his mother by night and departed to Egypt [15][†]and remained there until the death of Herod. [y]This was to fulfill what the Lord had spoken by the prophet, [z]“Out of Egypt I called my son.”

Herod Kills the Children

[16][†]Then Herod, when he saw that he had been tricked by the wise men, became furious, and he sent and killed all the male children in Bethlehem and in all that region who were two years old or under, according to the time that he had ascertained from the wise men. [17][†][a]Then was fulfilled what was spoken by the prophet Jeremiah:

[18] [b]“A voice was heard in Ramah, weeping and loud lamentation,
Rachel weeping for her children;
  she refused to be comforted, because they [c]are no more.”

The Return to Nazareth

[19]But when Herod died, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, [20]saying, “Rise, take the child and his mother and go to the land of Israel, for [d]those who sought the child’s life are dead.” [21]And he rose and took the child and his mother and went to the land of Israel. [22][†]But when he heard that Archelaus was reigning over Judea in place of his father Herod, he was afraid to go there, and [e]being warned in a dream he withdrew to the district of Galilee. [23][†]And he went and lived in a city called [f]Nazareth, [g]so that what was spoken by the prophets might be fulfilled, that he would be called a Nazarene.

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

MATTHEW 3 [†] [h]In those days [i]John the Baptist came preaching in [j]the wilderness of Judea, [2][†] [k]“Repent, for [l]the kingdom of heaven is at hand.” [3][†]For this is he who was spoken of by the prophet Isaiah when he said,

[m]“The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
[n]‘Prepare [1] the way of the Lord;
make his paths straight.’”

[4][†]Now John wore [o]a garment of camel’s hair and a leather belt around his waist, and his food was [p]locusts and [q]wild honey. [5][†]Then Jerusalem and all Judea and all the region about the Jordan were going out to him, [6]and they were baptized by him in the river Jordan, [r]confessing their sins.

[7][†]But when he saw many of [s]the Pharisees and [t]Sadducees coming to his baptism, he said to them, [u]“You brood of [v]vipers! Who warned you to flee from [w]the wrath to come? [8]Bear fruit [x]in keeping with repentance. [9]And do not presume to say to yourselves, [y]‘We have Abraham as our father,’ for I tell you, God is able from [z]these stones to raise up children for Abraham. [10]Even now the axe is laid to the root of the trees. [a]Every tree therefore that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire.

[11][†] [b]“I baptize you with water [c]for repentance, but [d]he who is coming after me is mightier than I, whose sandals I am not worthy to carry. He will baptize you [e]with the Holy Spirit and [f]fire. [12][†]His [g]winnowing fork is in his hand, and he will clear his threshing floor and [h] gather his wheat into the barn, [i] but the chaff he will burn with [j] unquenchable fire."

The Baptism of Jesus

13 [k] Then Jesus came [l] from Galilee to the Jordan to John, to be baptized by him. 14 [m] John would have prevented him, saying, "I need to be baptized by you, and do you come to me?" 15[†]But Jesus answered him, "Let it be so now, for thus it is fitting for us to fulfill all righteousness." Then he consented. 16[†]And when Jesus was baptized, immediately he went up from the water, and behold, [o] the heavens were opened to him, [2] and he [p] saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and coming to rest on him; 17[†]and behold, [q] a voice from heaven said, [r] "This is my beloved Son, [3] with whom I am well pleased."

The Temptation of Jesus

MATTHEW 4 [†] [s] Then Jesus was led up by the Spirit into the wilderness [t] to be tempted by the devil. 2[†]And after fasting [u] forty days and forty nights, he [v] was hungry. 3[†]And [w] the tempter came and said to him, "If you are [x] the Son of God, command [y] these stones to become loaves of bread." 4[†]But he answered, [z] "It is written,

> [a] "'Man shall not live by bread alone, >   but by every word that comes from the mouth of God.'"

5[†] [b] Then the devil took him to [c] the holy city and set him on the pinnacle of the temple 6[†]and said to him, "If you are the Son of God, throw yourself down, for it is written,

> [d] "'He will command his angels concerning you,'

and

> "'On their hands they will bear you up, >   lest you strike your foot against a stone.'"

[7]Jesus said to him, “Again [e]it is written, [f]‘You shall not [g]put the Lord your God to the test.’” [8][h]Again, the devil took him to a very high mountain and showed him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory. [9][†]And he said to him, “All these I will give you, if you will fall down and worship me.” [10]Then Jesus said to him, “Be gone, [i]Satan! For [j]it is written,

[k]“‘You shall worship the Lord your God and [l]him only shall you serve.’”

[11]Then the devil left him, and behold, [m]angels came and were ministering to him.

Jesus Begins His Ministry

[12][†]Now when he heard that [n]John had been arrested, [o]he withdrew into Galilee. [13][†]And leaving [p]Nazareth he went and lived in [q]Capernaum by [r]the sea, in the territory of [s]Zebulun and Naphtali, [14][t]so that what was spoken by the prophet Isaiah might be fulfilled:

[15] [u]“The land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, the way of the sea, beyond the Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles—[16][†] [v]the people dwelling in darkness have seen a great light, and for those dwelling in the region and [w]shadow of death, on them a light has dawned.”

[17][†] [x]From that time Jesus began to preach, saying, [z]“Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.”

Jesus Calls the First Disciples

[18][†] [a]While walking by [b]the Sea of Galilee, he saw two brothers, Simon (who is called Peter) and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea, for they were fishermen. [19]And he said to them, “Follow me, and I will make you [c]fishers of men.” [1] [20]Immediately they left their nets and followed him. [21][†]And going on from there he saw two other brothers, James the son of Zebedee and John his brother, in the boat with Zebedee their father, mending their nets, and he called them. [22]Immediately they left the boat and their father and followed him.

Jesus Ministers to Great Crowds

[23][†] [d]And he went throughout all Galilee, [e]teaching in their synagogues and [f]proclaiming the gospel of the kingdom and [g]healing every disease and every affliction among the people. [24][†]So his fame spread throughout all [h]Syria, and [g]they brought him all the sick, those afflicted with various diseases and [i]pains, [j]those oppressed by demons, [k]epileptics, and [l]paralytics, and he healed them. [25][†] [m]And great crowds followed him from Galilee and the [n]Decapolis, and from Jerusalem and Judea, and from beyond the Jordan.

The Sermon on the Mount

MATTHEW 5 [†]Seeing the crowds, [o]he went up on the mountain, and when he [p]sat down, his disciples came to him.

The Beatitudes

[2][†]And [q]he opened his mouth and taught them, saying:
[3][†] [r]"Blessed are [s]the poor in spirit, for [u]theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
[4][†]"Blessed are [v]those who mourn, for they shall be comforted.
[5][†]"Blessed are the [w]meek, for they [w]shall inherit the earth.
[6][†]"Blessed are those who hunger and [x]thirst [y]for righteousness, for they shall be satisfied.
[7]"Blessed are [z]the merciful, for they shall receive mercy.
[8][†]"Blessed are [a]the pure in heart, for [b]they shall see God.
[9][†]"Blessed are [c]the peacemakers, for [d]they shall be called [e]sons [1] of God.
[10] [f]"Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for [u]theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

[11] [g]“Blessed are you when others revile you and persecute you and utter all kinds of evil against you falsely [h]on my account. [12] [i]Rejoice and be glad, for your reward is great in heaven, for [j]so they persecuted the prophets who were before you.

Salt and Light

[13][†]“You are the salt of the earth, [k]but if salt has lost its taste, how shall its saltiness be restored? It is no longer good for anything except to be thrown out and trampled under people’s feet.

[14] [l]“You are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hidden. [15] [m]Nor do people light a lamp and put it under a basket, but on a stand, and it gives light to all in the house. [16]In the same way, let your light shine before others, so [n]that [2] they may see your good works and [o]give glory to your Father who is in heaven.

Christ Came to Fulfill the Law

[17][†] [p]“Do not think that I have come to abolish [q]the Law or the Prophets; I have not come to abolish them but [r]to fulfill them. [18][†]For truly, I say to you, [s]until heaven and earth pass away, not an iota, not a dot, will pass from the Law until all is accomplished. [19][†] [t]Therefore whoever relaxes [u]one of the least of these commandments and teaches others to do the same will be called least [v]in the kingdom of heaven, but whoever does them and teaches them will be called great [v]in the kingdom of heaven. [20][†]For I tell you, unless your righteousness exceeds [w]that of the scribes and Pharisees, you [x]will never enter the kingdom of heaven.

Anger

[21][†] [y]“You have heard that it was said to those of old, [z]‘You shall not murder; and whoever murders will be liable [a]to judgment.’ [22][†]But I say to you that [b]everyone who is angry with his brother [3] will be liable [a]to judgment; whoever insults [4] his brother will be liable to the council; and whoever says, ‘You fool!’ will be liable to [c]the hell [5] of fire. [23][†] [d]So if

[e] you are offering your gift at the altar and there remember that your brother has something against you, [24]leave your gift there before the altar and go. First be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift. [25][†] [f] Come to terms quickly with your accuser while you are going with him to court, lest your accuser hand you over to the judge, and the judge to the guard, and you be put in prison. [26]Truly, I say to you, [g] you will never get out until you have paid the last penny. [6]

Lust

[27] [h] “You have heard that it was said, [i] ‘You shall not commit adultery.’ [28][†]But I say to you that [j] everyone who looks at a woman with lustful intent has already committed adultery with her in his heart. [29][†] [k] If your right eye [l] causes you to sin, tear it out and throw it away. For it is better that you lose one of your members than that your whole body be thrown into [m] hell. [30] [k] And if your right hand [l] causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away. For it is better that you lose one of your members than that your whole body go into [m] hell.

Divorce

[31][†] [h] “It was also said, [n] ‘Whoever divorces his wife, let him give her a certificate of divorce.’ [32] [o] But I say to you that everyone who divorces his wife, except on the ground of sexual immorality, makes her commit adultery, and [p] whoever marries a divorced woman commits adultery.

Oaths

[33][†]“Again [h] you have heard that it was said to those of old, [q] ‘You shall not swear falsely, but [r] shall perform to the Lord what you have sworn.’ [34]But I say to you, [s] Do not take an oath at all, either by heaven, for [t] it is the throne of God, [35]or by the earth, for it is his footstool, or by Jerusalem, for it is [u] the city of the great King. [36]And do not take an oath by your head, for you cannot make one hair white or black. [37]Let what you say be simply ‘Yes’ or ‘No’; [v] anything more than this comes from evil. [7]

Retaliation

[38][†] [h]“You have heard that it was said, [y]‘An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.’ [39][†]But I say to you, [z]Do not resist the one who is evil. But [a]if anyone [b]slaps you on the right cheek, turn to him the other also. [40]And [z]if anyone would sue you and take your tunic, [8] let him have your cloak as well. [41]And if anyone [c]forces you to go one mile, go with him two miles. [42][†] [d]Give to the one who begs from you, and [e]do not refuse the one who would borrow from you.

Love Your Enemies

[43][†] [f]“You have heard that it was said, [g]‘You shall love your neighbor and hate your enemy.’ [44]But I say to you, [i]Love your enemies and [j]pray for those who persecute you, [45][†] [k]so that you may be sons of your Father who is in heaven. For he makes his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and [l]sends rain on the just and on the unjust. [46][†] [m]For if you love those who love you, what reward do you have? Do not even the tax collectors do the same? [47]And if you greet only your brothers, [9] what more are you doing than others? Do not even [n]the Gentiles do the same? [48][†] [o]You therefore must be [p]perfect, [q]as your heavenly Father is perfect.

Giving to the Needy

MATTHEW 6 “Beware of [r] practicing your righteousness before other people in order [s] to be seen by them, for then you will have no reward from your Father who is in heaven.

[2][†] [t] “Thus, when you give to the needy, sound no trumpet before you, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may [u] be praised by others. Truly, I say to you, they have [v] received their reward. [3]But when you give to the needy, do not let your left hand know what your right hand is doing, [4]so that your giving may be in secret. [w] And your Father who sees in secret will reward you.

The Lord’s Prayer

[5][†]“And when you pray, you must not be like the hypocrites. For they love [x] to stand and pray in the synagogues and at the street corners, that they may be seen by others. [y] Truly, I say to you, they have received their reward. [6]But when you pray, [z] go into your room and shut the door and pray to your Father who is in secret. [a] And your Father who sees in secret will reward you.

[7][†]“And when you pray, do not heap up empty phrases as [b] the Gentiles do, for [c] they think that they will be heard [d] for their many words. [8]Do not be like them, [e] for your Father knows what you need before you ask him. [9][†] [f] Pray then like this:

[g] “Our Father in heaven,
[h] hallowed be [i] your name. [1]
[10][†] [j] Your kingdom come,
[k] your will be done, [2]
[l] on earth as it is in heaven.
[11][†] [m] Give us [n] this day our daily bread, [3] [12][†] and forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors.
[13][†] And [o] lead us not into temptation, but [p] deliver us from [q] evil. [4]

14[†] [r] For if you forgive others their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you, 15 [s] but if you do not forgive others their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

Fasting

16[†]“And [t] when you fast, do not look gloomy like the hypocrites, for they disfigure their faces that their fasting may be seen by others. [u] Truly, I say to you, they have received their reward. 17But when you fast, [v] anoint your head and wash your face, 18that your fasting may not be seen by others but by your Father who is in secret. [w] And your Father who sees in secret will reward you.

Lay Up Treasures in Heaven

19[†] [x] “Do not lay up for yourselves treasures on earth, where [y] moth and rust [5] destroy and where thieves [z] break in and steal, 20 [x] but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust destroys and where thieves do not break in and steal. 21[†]For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

22[†] [a] “The eye is the lamp of the body. So, if your eye is healthy, your whole body will be full of light, 23 [a] but if [b] your eye is bad, your whole body will be full of darkness. If then the light in you is darkness, how great is the darkness!

24[†] [c] “No one can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and [d] money. [6]

Do Not Be Anxious

25 [e] “Therefore I tell you, [f] do not be anxious about your life, what you will eat or what you will drink, nor about your body, what you will put on. Is not life more than food, and the body more than clothing? 26 [g] Look at the birds of the air: they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. [h]Are you not of more value than they? [27]And which of you by being anxious can add a single hour to his [i]span of life? [7] [28]And why are you anxious about clothing? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin, [29]yet I tell you, [j]even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. [30][†]But if God so clothes the grass of the field, which today is alive and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, will he not much more clothe you, [k]O you of little faith? [31]Therefore do not be anxious, saying, ‘What shall we eat?’ or ‘What shall we drink?’ or ‘What shall we wear?’ [32]For [l]the Gentiles seek after all these things, and [m]your heavenly Father knows that you need them all. [33]But [n]seek first [o]the kingdom of God and his righteousness, [p]and all these things will be added to you.

[34][q]“Therefore do not be anxious about tomorrow, for tomorrow will be anxious for itself. Sufficient for the day is its own trouble.

Judging Others

MATTHEW 7 [†] [r]“Judge not, that you be not judged. [2][s]For with the judgment you pronounce you will be judged, and [t]with the measure you use it will be measured to you. [3][†]Why do you see the speck that is in your brother’s eye, but [u]do not notice the log that is in your own eye? [4]Or how can you say to your brother, ‘Let me take the speck out of your eye,’ when there is the log in your own eye? [5]You hypocrite, first take the log out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly to take the speck out of your brother’s eye.

[6][†] [v]“Do not give [w]dogs what is holy, and do not throw your [x]pearls before pigs, lest they trample them underfoot and turn to attack you.

Ask, and It Will Be Given

[7][†] [y]“Ask, [z]and it will be given to you; [a]seek, and you will find; [b]knock, and it will be opened to you. [8]For everyone who asks receives, and the one who seeks finds, and to the one who knocks it will be opened. [9]Or which one of you, if his son asks him for [c]bread, will give him [c]a stone? [10]Or if he asks for a fish, will give him a serpent? [11][†]If you then, [d]who are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will [z]your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask him!

The Golden Rule

[12][†]“So [e]whatever you wish that others would do to you, do also to them, for this is [f]the Law and the Prophets.

[13][†][g]“Enter by the narrow gate. For the gate is wide and the way is easy [1] that leads to destruction, and those who enter by it are many. [14]For the gate is narrow and [h]the way is hard that leads to life, and [i]those who find it are few.

A Tree and Its Fruit

[15][†][j]“Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep’s clothing but inwardly are [k]ravenous wolves. [16]You will recognize them [l]by their fruits. Are grapes gathered from thornbushes, or figs from thistles? [17]So, [m]every healthy tree bears good fruit, but the diseased tree bears bad fruit. [18]A healthy tree cannot bear bad fruit, nor can a diseased tree bear good fruit. [19][n]Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. [20]Thus you will recognize them [l]by their fruits.

I Never Knew You

[21][o]“Not everyone who [p]says to me, ‘Lord, Lord,’ will [q]enter the kingdom of heaven, but the one who [r]does the will of my Father who is in heaven. [22][†][s]On that day [t]many will say to me, ‘Lord, Lord, did we not [u]prophesy in your name, and cast out demons [v]in your name, and do many mighty works in your name?’ [23][t]And then will I declare to them, ‘I [w]never knew you; [x]depart from me, [y]you workers of lawlessness.’

Build Your House on the Rock

[24][†][z]“Everyone then who hears these words of mine and does them will be like [a]a wise man who built his house on the rock. [25][†]And the rain fell, and the floods came, and the winds blew and beat on that house, but it did not fall, because it had been founded on the rock. [26]And everyone who hears these words of mine and does not do them will be like [a]a foolish man who built his house on the sand. [27]And the rain fell, and the floods came, and the winds blew and beat against that house, and it fell, and great was the fall of it.”

The Authority of Jesus

[28][†]And when Jesus finished these sayings, [b]the crowds were astonished at his teaching, [29] [c]for he was teaching them as one who had authority, and not as their scribes.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

MATTHEW 8 [†]When he came down from the mountain, [d]great crowds followed him. [2][†] [e]And behold, a leper [1] came to him and [f]knelt before him, saying, “Lord, if you will, you can make me clean.” [3]And Jesus [2] stretched out his hand and touched him, saying, “I will; be clean.” And immediately his leprosy was cleansed. [4][†]And Jesus said to him, [g]“See that you say nothing to anyone, but go, [h]show yourself to the priest and [i]offer the gift that Moses commanded, [j]for a proof to them.”

The Faith of a Centurion

[5][†] [k]When he had entered Capernaum, a centurion came forward to him, appealing to him, [6]“Lord, my servant is lying paralyzed at home, suffering terribly.” [7]And he said to him, “I will come and heal him.” [8][†]But the centurion replied, “Lord, I am not worthy to have you come under my roof, but [l]only say the word, and my servant will be healed. [9]For I too am a man under authority, with soldiers under me. And I say to one, ‘Go,’ and he goes, and to another, ‘Come,’ and he comes, and to my servant, [3] ‘Do this,’ and he does it.” [10]When Jesus heard this, [m]he marveled and said to those who followed him, “Truly, I tell you, with [n]no one in Israel [4] have I found such faith. [11][†]I tell you, [o]many will come from east and west and recline at table with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven, [12] [p]while the sons of the kingdom [q]will be thrown into the outer darkness. In that place [r] there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.” [13]And to the centurion Jesus said, “Go; let it be done for you [s] as you have believed.” [t] And the servant was healed at that very moment.

Jesus Heals Many

[14] [u] And when Jesus entered Peter’s house, he saw [v] his mother-in-law lying sick with a fever. [15]He [w] touched her hand, and the fever left her, and she rose and began to serve him. [16][†]That evening they brought to him many who were [x] oppressed by demons, and he cast out the spirits [y] with a word and healed all who were sick. [17] [z] This was to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet Isaiah: [a] “He took our illnesses and bore our diseases.”

The Cost of Following Jesus

[18]Now [b] when Jesus saw a crowd around him, [c] he gave orders to go over to the other side. [19][†] [d] And a scribe came up and said to him, “Teacher, I will follow you wherever you go.” [20][†]And Jesus said to him, “Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head.” [21]Another of the disciples said to him, “Lord, let me first go and bury my father.” [22][†]And Jesus said to him, “Follow me, and leave [e] the dead to bury their own dead.”

Jesus Calms a Storm

[23] [f] And when he got into the boat, his disciples followed him. [24]And behold, there arose a great storm on the sea, so that the boat was being swamped by the waves; but [g] he was asleep. [25]And they went and woke him, saying, [h] “Save us, Lord; we are perishing.” [26][†]And he said to them, “Why are you [i] afraid, [j] O you of little faith?” Then he rose and [k] rebuked the winds and the sea, and [l] there was a great calm. [27]And the men [m] marveled, saying, “What sort of man is this, that even [n] winds and sea obey him?”

Jesus Heals Two Men with Demons

[28][†] [o]And when he came to the other side, to the country of the Gadarenes,[5] two [p]demon-possessed[6] men met him, coming out of the tombs, so fierce that no one could pass that way. [29][†]And behold, they [q]cried out, “What have you to do with us, [r]O Son of God? Have you come here to torment us [s]before the time?” [30][†]Now a herd of many pigs was feeding at some distance from them. [31]And the demons begged him, saying, “If you cast us out, send us away into the herd of pigs.” [32]And he said to them, “Go.” So they came out and went into the pigs, and behold, the whole herd rushed down the steep bank into the sea and drowned in the waters. [33]The herdsmen fled, and going into the city they told everything, especially what had happened to the [t]demon-possessed men. [34]And behold, all the city came out to meet Jesus, and when they saw him, [u]they begged him to leave their region.

Jesus Heals a Paralytic

MATTHEW 9 [†]And getting into a boat he crossed over and came to [v]his own city. [2][†] [w]And behold, some people brought to him a paralytic, lying on a bed. And when Jesus [x]saw their faith, he said to the paralytic, [y]“Take heart, my son; [z]your sins are forgiven.” [3][†]And behold, some of the scribes said to themselves, [a]“This man is blaspheming.” [4]But Jesus, [b]knowing[1] their thoughts, said, “Why do you think evil in your hearts? [5][†]For which is easier, to say, ‘Your sins are forgiven,’ or to say, ‘Rise and walk’? [6][†]But that you may know that the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins”—he then said to the paralytic—“Rise, pick up your bed and go home.” [7]And he rose and went home. [8]When the crowds saw it, [c]they were afraid, and [c]they glorified God, who had [d]given such authority to men.

Jesus Calls Matthew

[9][†] [e]As Jesus passed on from there, he saw a man called [f]Matthew sitting at the tax booth, and he said to him, “Follow me.” And he rose and followed him.

[10][†]And as Jesus [2] reclined at table in the house, behold, many [g] tax collectors and sinners came and were reclining with Jesus and his disciples. [11][†]And when the Pharisees saw this, they said to his disciples, [h] “Why does your teacher eat with [g] tax collectors and sinners?” [12][†]But when he heard it, he said, “Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. [13][†]Go and learn [i] what this means, [j] ‘I desire mercy, and not sacrifice.’ For [k] I came not to call the righteous, [l] but sinners.”

A Question About Fasting

[14][†]Then [m] the disciples of John came to him, saying, [n] “Why do we and [o] the Pharisees fast, [3] but your disciples do not fast?” [15][†]And Jesus said to them, [p] “Can the wedding guests mourn as long as the bridegroom is with them? [q] The days will come when the bridegroom is taken away from them, and [r] then they will fast. [16][†]No one puts a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment, for the patch tears away from the garment, and a worse tear is made. [17]Neither is new wine put into old [s] wineskins. If it is, the skins burst and the wine is spilled and the skins are destroyed. But new wine is put into fresh wineskins, and so both are preserved.”

A Girl Restored to Life and a Woman Healed

[18][†] [t] While he was saying these things to them, behold, a ruler came in and [u] knelt before him, saying, “My daughter has just died, but come and lay your hand on her, and she will live.” [19]And Jesus rose and followed him, with his disciples. [20][†]And behold, a woman [v] who had suffered from a discharge of blood for twelve years came up behind him and touched [w] the fringe of his garment, [21]for she said to herself, “If I only touch his garment, I will be made well.” [22][†]Jesus turned, and seeing her he said, [x] “Take heart, daughter; your faith has made you well.” [y] And instantly [4] the woman was made well. [23][†]And when Jesus came to the ruler’s house and saw [z] the flute players and the crowd making a commotion, [24][†]he said, “Go away, for [a] the girl is not dead but [b] sleeping.” And they laughed at him. [25]But [c] when the crowd had been put outside, he went in and [d] took her by the hand, and the girl arose. [26]And the report of this went through all that district.

Jesus Heals Two Blind Men

[27][†] [e] And as Jesus passed on from there, two blind men followed him, crying aloud, “Have mercy on us, [f] Son of David.” [28]When he entered the house, the blind men came to him, and Jesus said to them, “Do you believe that I am able to do this?” They said to him, “Yes, Lord.” [29] [g] Then he touched their eyes, saying, [h] “According to your faith be it done to you.” [30][†]And their eyes were opened. And Jesus sternly warned them, [i] “See that no one knows about it.” [31] [j] But they went away and spread his fame through all that district.

Jesus Heals a Man Unable to Speak

[32]As they were going away, behold, a [k] demon-oppressed man who was mute [l] was brought to him. [33]And when the demon had been cast out, the mute man spoke. And the crowds [m] marveled, saying, “Never was anything like this seen in Israel.” [34][†]But the Pharisees said, “He casts out demons by the prince of demons.”

The Harvest Is Plentiful, the Laborers Few

[35] [n] And Jesus went throughout all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues and proclaiming the gospel of the kingdom and healing every disease and every affliction. [36][†] [o] When he saw the crowds, [p] he had compassion for them, because they were harassed and helpless, [q] like sheep without a shepherd. [37] [r] Then he said to his disciples, “The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few; [38]therefore [s] pray earnestly to the Lord of the harvest to [t] send out laborers into his harvest.”

The Twelve Apostles

MATTHEW 10 [†] [u] And he called to him his twelve disciples and gave them authority over unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal every disease and every affliction. 2[†] [v]The names of the twelve apostles are these: first, Simon, [w]who is called Peter, and [x]Andrew his brother; [x]James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother; 3[†]Philip and Bartholomew; Thomas and [y]Matthew the tax collector; James the son of Alphaeus, and Thaddeus; [1] 4Simon the Zealot, [2] and Judas Iscariot, who betrayed him.

Jesus Sends Out the Twelve Apostles

5[†] [u]These twelve Jesus sent out, instructing them, “Go nowhere among the Gentiles and enter no town of [z]the Samaritans, 6[†] [a]but go rather to [b]the lost sheep of [c]the house of Israel. 7[†]And proclaim as you go, saying, [d]‘The kingdom of heaven is at hand.’ 8 [e]Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse lepers, [3] cast out demons. [f]You received without paying; give without pay. 9[†] [g]Acquire no gold or silver or copper for your belts, 10no bag for your journey, or two tunics [4] or sandals or a staff, for [h]the laborer deserves his food. 11[†]And whatever town or village you enter, find out who is worthy in it and stay there until you depart. 12As you enter the house, [i]greet it. 13And if the house is [j]worthy, let [i]your peace come upon it, but if it is not worthy, let [i]your peace return to you. 14[†]And if anyone will not receive you or listen to your words, [l]shake off the dust from your feet when you leave that house or town. 15[†]Truly, I say to you, [m]it will be more bearable on the day of judgment for [n]the land of Sodom and Gomorrah than for that town.

Persecution Will Come

16[†] [o]“Behold, I am sending you out as sheep in the midst of wolves, so be [p]wise as serpents and [q]innocent as doves. 17[†]Beware of men, for [r]they will deliver you over to courts and flog you [s]in their synagogues, 18 [r]and you will be dragged before governors and kings for my sake, [t]to bear witness before them and the Gentiles. 19 [r]When [u]they deliver you over, [v]do not be anxious how you are to speak or what you are to say, for [w]what you are to say will be given to you in that hour. 20 [x]For it is not you who speak, but [y]the Spirit of your Father speaking through you. 21 [z]Brother will deliver brother over to death, and the father his child, and children will rise against parents and have them put to death, [22][†] [a]and you will be hated by all for my name's sake. [b]But the one who endures to the end will be saved.

[23][†]When they [c]persecute you in one town, [d]flee to the next, for truly, I say to you, you will not have gone through all the towns of Israel [e]before the Son of Man comes.

[25][†]It is enough for the disciple to be like his teacher, and the servant like his master. [g]If they have called the master of the house Beelzebul, how much more will they malign [6] those of his household.

Have No Fear

[26]"So have no fear of them, [i]for nothing is covered that will not be revealed, or hidden that will not be known. [27]What I tell you in the dark, say in the light, and what you hear whispered, proclaim on [j]the housetops.
[28]And [k]do not fear those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. Rather fear him [l]who can destroy both soul and body in hell. [7] [29][†]Are not two sparrows sold for a penny? [8] And not one of them will fall to the ground apart from your Father. [30]But [m]even the hairs of your head are all numbered. [31]Fear not, therefore; [n]you are of more value than many sparrows. [32][o]So everyone who acknowledges me before men, I also will acknowledge before my Father who is in heaven, [33]but [p]whoever denies me before men, [q]I also will deny before my Father who is in heaven.

Not Peace, but a Sword

[34][†] [r]"Do not think that I have come to bring peace to the earth. [s]I have not come to bring peace, but a sword. [35][r]For I have come [t]to set a man against his father, and a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law. [36][u]And a person's enemies will be those of his own household. [37][v]Whoever loves father or mother more than me is not worthy of me, and whoever loves son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me. [38][†]And [w]whoever does not take his cross and [x]follow me is not worthy of me. [39][y]Whoever finds his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake will find it.

Rewards

40 [z] “Whoever receives you receives me, and [a] whoever receives me receives him who sent me. 41 [†] [b] The one who receives a prophet because he is a prophet will receive a prophet’s reward, and the one who receives a righteous person because he is a righteous person will receive a righteous person’s reward. 42 And [c] whoever gives one of [d] these little ones even a cup of cold water because he is a disciple, truly, I say to you, he will by no means lose his reward.”

Messengers from John the Baptist

MATTHEW 11 [†]When Jesus had finished instructing his twelve disciples, he went on from there to teach and preach in their cities.

[2][†] [e]Now when John heard [f]in prison about the deeds of [g]the Christ, he sent word by [h]his disciples [3][†]and said to him, “Are you [i]the one who is to come, or shall we [j]look for another?” [4]And Jesus answered them, “Go and tell John what you hear and see: [5] [k]the blind receive their sight and the lame walk, lepers [1] are cleansed and the deaf hear, and the dead are raised up, and [l]the poor have good news preached to them. [6][†]And blessed is the one who [m]is not offended by me.”

[7]As they went away, Jesus began to speak to the crowds concerning John: “What did you go out [n]into the wilderness to see? [o]A reed shaken by the wind? [8]What then did you go out to see? A man [2] dressed in soft clothing? Behold, those who wear soft clothing are in kings’ houses. [9]What then did you go out to see? [p]A prophet? [3] Yes, I tell you, and more than a prophet. [10][†]This is he of whom it is written,

> who will prepare your way before you.’

[11][†]Truly, I say to you, among those born of women there has arisen no one greater than John the Baptist. Yet the one who is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he. [12][†] [r]From the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven has suffered violence, [4] and the violent take it by force. [13][†] [r]For all the Prophets and the Law prophesied until John, [14][†]and if you are willing to accept it, he is [s]Elijah who is to come. [15] [t]He who has ears to hear, [5] let him hear.

[16][†]“But to what shall I compare this generation? It is like children sitting in the marketplaces and calling to their playmates, > [17][†] “‘We played the flute for you, and you did not dance;

> we sang a dirge, and you did not mourn.’

[18][†]For John came [u]neither eating [v]nor drinking, and they say, ‘He has a demon.’ [19]The Son of Man came [w]eating and drinking, and they say, ‘Look at him! A glutton and a drunkard, [x]a friend of [y]tax collectors and sinners!’ Yet wisdom is justified by her deeds.”[6]

Woe to Unrepentant Cities

[20][†][z]Then he began to denounce the cities where most of his mighty works had been done, because they did not repent. [21][a]“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty works done in you had been done in [b]Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes. [22][c]But I tell you, it will be more bearable on [d]the day of judgment for [b]Tyre and Sidon than for you. [23]And you, [e]Capernaum, will you be exalted to heaven? You will be brought down to [f]Hades. For if the mighty works done in you had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day. [24][c]But I tell you that [g]it will be more tolerable on [d]the day of judgment for the land of Sodom than for you.”

Come to Me, and I Will Give You Rest

[25][†][h]At that time Jesus declared, “I thank you, Father, [i]Lord of heaven and earth, that [j]you have hidden these things from the wise and understanding and [k]revealed them to little children; [26]yes, Father, for such was your [l]gracious will.[7] [27][†][m]All things have been handed over to me by my Father, and no one knows the Son [n]except the Father, and no one knows the Father except the Son and anyone [o]to whom the Son chooses to reveal him. [28][†][p]Come to [q]me, all who labor and are [r]heavy laden, and I will give you rest. [29][†]Take my yoke upon you, and [s]learn from me, for I am [t]gentle and lowly in heart, and [u]you will find rest for your souls. [30]For [v]my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.”

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

MATTHEW 12 [†]At that time [w]Jesus went through the grainfields on the Sabbath. His disciples were hungry, and [x]they began to pluck heads of grain and to eat. [2][†]But when the Pharisees saw it, they said to him, [y]“Look, your disciples are doing [z]what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath.” [3]He said to them, [a]“Have you not read what David did when he was hungry, and those who were with him: [4][†]how he entered the house of God and ate [b]the bread of the Presence, which it was not lawful for him to eat nor for those who were with him, but only for the priests? [5][†]Or have you not read [c]in the Law how on the Sabbath the priests in the temple profane the Sabbath and are guiltless? [6]I tell you, [d]something greater than the temple is here. [7][†]And if you had known [e]what this means, [f]‘I desire mercy, and not sacrifice,’ you would not have condemned the guiltless. [8][†]For [g]the Son of Man is lord of the Sabbath.”

A Man with a Withered Hand

[9][†]He went on from there and [h]entered their synagogue. [10]And a man was there with a withered hand. And they asked him, [i]“Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?”—[j]so that they might accuse him. [11]He said to them, “Which one of you who has a sheep, [k]if it falls into a pit on the Sabbath, will not take hold of it and lift it out? [12] [l]Of how much more value is a man than a sheep! So [m]it is lawful to do good on the Sabbath.” [13]Then he said to the man, “Stretch out your hand.” And [n]the man stretched it out, and it was restored, healthy like the other. [14]But the Pharisees went out and conspired against him, how to destroy him.

God’s Chosen Servant

[15]Jesus, aware of this, [o]withdrew from there. And [p]many followed him, and he healed them all [16][†]and [q]ordered them not to make him known. [17][†] [r]This was to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet Isaiah:

[18][†] [s]“Behold, my [t]servant whom I have chosen, my beloved with whom my soul is well pleased.
[u]I will put my Spirit upon him, and he will proclaim justice to the Gentiles.
[19] He will not quarrel or cry aloud, nor will anyone hear his voice in the streets;

[20] a bruised reed he will not break, and a smoldering wick he will not quench, until he brings justice to victory;
[21] [v] and in his name the Gentiles will hope.”

Blasphemy Against the Holy Spirit

[22] [w] Then a demon-oppressed man who was blind and mute was brought to him, and he healed him, so that the man spoke and saw. [23][†] [x] And all the people were amazed, and said, [x] “Can this be the Son of David?” [24][†]But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, [y] “It is only by Beelzebul, the prince of demons, that this man casts out demons.” [25][†] [z] Knowing their thoughts, [a] he said to them, “Every kingdom divided against itself is laid waste, and no city or house divided against itself will stand. [26]And if Satan casts out Satan, he is divided against himself. How then will his kingdom stand? [27][†]And if I cast out demons by Beelzebul, [b] by whom do [c] your sons cast them out? Therefore they will be your judges. [28][†]But if it is [d] by the Spirit of God that I cast out demons, then [e] the kingdom of God has come upon you. [29][†]Or [f] how can someone enter a strong man’s house and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong man? Then indeed [g] he may plunder his house. [30] [h] Whoever is not with me is against me, and whoever does not gather with me scatters. [31][†] [i] Therefore I tell you, every sin and blasphemy will be forgiven people, but [j] the blasphemy against the Spirit will not be forgiven. [32]And whoever speaks a word [k] against the Son of Man [l] will be forgiven, but [j] whoever speaks against the Holy Spirit will not be forgiven, either in [m] this age or in the age to come.

A Tree Is Known by Its Fruit

[33] [n] “Either make the tree good and its fruit good, or make the tree bad and its fruit bad, [o] for the tree is known by its fruit. [34] [p] You brood of vipers! How can you speak good, [q] when you are evil? [r] For out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks. [35] [r] The good person out of his good treasure brings forth good, and the evil person out of his evil treasure brings forth evil. [36][†]I tell you, [s]on the day of judgment [t]people will give account for [u]every careless word they speak, [37]for [v]by your words you will be justified, and by your words you will be condemned.”

The Sign of Jonah

[38][†]Then some of the scribes and Pharisees answered him, saying, “Teacher, [w]we wish to see a sign from you.” [39][†]But he answered them, [x]“An evil and [y]adulterous generation seeks for a sign, but no sign will be given to it except the sign of the prophet Jonah. [40][†]For [z]just as Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of the great fish, [a]so will the Son of Man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth. [41] [b]The men of Nineveh will rise up at the judgment with this generation and [c]condemn it, for [d]they repented at the preaching of Jonah, and behold, [e]something greater than Jonah is here. [42][†][f]The queen of the South will rise up at the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, [e]something greater than Solomon is here.

Return of an Unclean Spirit

[43][†]“When [g]the unclean spirit has gone out of a person, it passes through [h]waterless places seeking rest, but finds none. [44]Then it says, ‘I will return to my house from which I came.’ And when it comes, it finds the house empty, swept, and put in order. [45][†]Then it goes and brings with it seven other spirits more evil than itself, and they enter and dwell there, and [i]the last state of that person is worse than the first. So also will it be with this [j]evil generation.”

Jesus’ Mother and Brothers

[46][†]While he was still speaking to the people, behold, [k]his mother and his [l]brothers stood outside, asking to speak to him. [1] [48]But he replied to the man who told him, “Who is my mother, and who are my brothers?” [49][†]And stretching out his hand toward his disciples, he said, “Here are my mother and my brothers! [50]For [m]whoever [n]does the will of my Father in heaven is my brother and sister and mother.”

The Parable of the Sower

MATTHEW 13 [†]That same day Jesus went out of the house [o]and sat beside the sea. [2]And great crowds gathered about him, [p]so that he got into a boat and sat down. And the whole crowd stood on the beach. [3][†]And [q]he told them many things in parables, saying: [r]“A sower went out to sow. [4]And as he sowed, some seeds fell along the path, and the birds came and devoured them. [5]Other seeds fell on rocky ground, where they did not have much soil, and immediately they sprang up, since they had no depth of soil, [6]but [s]when the sun rose they were scorched. And since they had no root, [t]they withered away. [7]Other seeds fell among [u]thorns, and the thorns grew up and choked them. [8]Other seeds fell on good soil and produced grain, some [v]a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty. [9] [w]He who has ears, [1] let him hear.”

The Purpose of the Parables

[10][†]Then the disciples came and said to him, “Why do you speak to them in parables?” [11]And he answered them, [x]“To you it has been given to know [y]the secrets of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it has not been given. [12][†] [z]For to the one who has, more will be given, and he will have an abundance, but from the one who has not, [a]even what he has will be taken away. [13]This is why I speak to them in parables, because [b]seeing they do not see, and hearing they do not hear, [c]nor do they understand. [14]Indeed, in their case the prophecy of Isaiah is fulfilled that says:

[d]““““You will indeed hear but never understand,
  and you will indeed see but never perceive.”
[15] For this people’s heart has grown dull, and with their ears [e]they can barely hear,
  and [f]their eyes they have closed, lest they should see with their eyes

and hear with their ears
and [g]understand with their heart and [h]turn, and I would heal them.’

[16]But [i]blessed are your eyes, for they see, and your ears, for they hear. [17][i]For truly, I say to you, [j]many prophets and righteous people longed to see what you see, and did not see it, and to hear what you hear, and did not hear it.

The Parable of the Sower Explained

[18][k]“Hear then the parable of the sower: [19]When anyone hears the word of [l]the kingdom and [m]does not understand it, [n]the evil one comes and snatches away what has been sown in his heart. This is what was sown along the path. [20]As for what was sown on rocky ground, this is the one who hears the word and immediately [o]receives it with joy, [21]yet he has no root in himself, but [p]endures for a while, and when tribulation or persecution arises on account of the word, immediately [q]he falls away.[2] [22]As for what was sown among thorns, this is the one who hears the word, but [r]the cares of [s]the world and [t]the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and it proves unfruitful. [23]As for what was sown on good soil, this is the one who hears the word and [m]understands it. He indeed [u]bears fruit and yields, in one case [v]a hundredfold, in another sixty, and in another thirty.”

The Parable of the Weeds

[24][†]He put another parable before them, saying, [w]“The kingdom of heaven may be compared to a man who sowed good seed in his field, [25][†]but while his men were sleeping, his enemy came and sowed weeds[3] among the wheat and went away. [26]So when the plants came up and bore grain, then the weeds appeared also. [27]And the servants[4] of the master of the house came and said to him, ‘Master, did you not sow good seed in your field? How then does it have weeds?’ [28]He said to them, ‘An enemy has done this.’ So the servants said to him, ‘Then do you want us to go and gather them?' [29]But he said, [x] 'No, lest in gathering the weeds you root up the wheat along with them. [30]Let both grow together until the harvest, and at harvest time I will tell the reapers, [y] Gather the weeds first and bind them in bundles to be burned, but gather the wheat into my barn.'"

The Mustard Seed and the Leaven

[31][†]He put another parable before them, saying, [z] "The kingdom of heaven is like [a] a grain of mustard seed that a man took and sowed in his field. [32]It is the smallest of all seeds, but when it has grown it is larger than all the garden plants and becomes a tree, so that the birds of the air come and make nests in its branches."

[33][†]He told them another parable. [b] "The kingdom of heaven is like leaven that a woman took and hid in [c] three measures of flour, till it was [d] all leavened."

Prophecy and Parables

[34] [e] All these things Jesus said to the crowds in parables; indeed, he said nothing to them without a parable. [35]This was to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet: [5]

> [f] "I will open my mouth in parables;
> [g] I will utter what has been hidden [h] since the foundation of the world."

The Parable of the Weeds Explained

[36]Then he left the crowds and went into [i] the house. And his disciples came to him, saying, [j] "Explain to us the parable of the weeds of the field." [37]He answered, "The one who sows the good seed is the Son of Man. [38]The field is the world, and the good seed is [k] the sons of the kingdom. The weeds are [l] the sons of the evil one, [39][†]and the enemy who sowed them is the devil. [m] The harvest is [n] the end of the age, and the reapers are angels. [40]Just as the weeds [o] are gathered and burned with fire, so will it be at [n] the end of the age. [41][†] [p] The Son of Man will send his angels, and they will gather out of his kingdom all [q] causes of sin and [r] all law-breakers, 42 [s] and throw them into the fiery furnace. In that place [t] there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth. 43[†]Then [u] the righteous will shine like the sun [v] in the kingdom of their Father. [w] He who has ears, let him hear.

The Parable of the Hidden Treasure

44[†]“The kingdom of heaven [x] is like treasure hidden in a field, which a man found and covered up. Then in his joy [y] he goes and sells all that he has and [z] buys that field.

The Parable of the Pearl of Great Value

45[†]“Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant in search of fine pearls, 46who, on finding [a] one pearl of great value, [y] went and sold all that he had and [z] bought it.

The Parable of the Net

47[†]“Again, the kingdom of heaven is [b] like a net that was thrown into the sea and [c] gathered fish of every kind. 48When it was full, [d] men drew it ashore and sat down and sorted the good into containers but threw away the bad. 49So it will be at [e] the end of the age. The angels will come out and [f] separate the evil from the righteous 50 [g] and throw them into the fiery furnace. In that place [g] there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

New and Old Treasures

51[†] [h] “Have you understood all these things?” They said to him, “Yes.” 52And he said to them, “Therefore every [i] scribe [j] who has been trained for the kingdom of heaven is like a master of a house, who [k] brings out of his treasure what is new and what is old.”

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

53And when Jesus had finished these parables, he went away from there, 54[†] [l] and coming to [m] his hometown [n] he taught them in their synagogue, so that [o]they were astonished, and said, “Where did this man get this wisdom and these mighty works? [55][†][p]Is not this [q]the carpenter’s son? Is not his mother called Mary? And are not [r]his brothers James and Joseph and Simon and Judas? [56]And are not all his sisters with us? Where then did this man get all these things?” [57]And [s]they took offense at him. But Jesus said to them, [t]“A prophet is not without honor except in his hometown and in his own household.” [58]And he did not do many mighty works there, [u]because of their unbelief.

The Death of John the Baptist

MATTHEW 14 [†] [v]At that time [w]Herod the tetrarch heard about the fame of Jesus, [2]and he said to his servants, [x]“This is John the Baptist. He has been raised from the dead; that is why these miraculous powers are at work in him.” [3][†]For [y]Herod had seized John and bound him and [z]put him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip’s wife, [1] [4]because John had been saying to him, [a]“It is not lawful for you to have her.” [5]And though he wanted to put him to death, [b]he feared the people, because they held him to be [c]a prophet. [6]But when Herod’s [d]birthday came, the daughter of Herodias danced before the company and pleased Herod, [7]so that he promised with an oath to give her whatever she might ask. [8]Prompted by her mother, she said, “Give me the head of John the Baptist here on a platter.” [9]And the king was sorry, but because of his oaths and his guests he commanded it to be given. [10]He sent and had John beheaded in the prison, [11]and his head was brought on a platter and given to the girl, and she brought it to her mother. [12][†]And [e]his disciples came and took the body and buried it, and they went and told Jesus.

Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand

[13]Now when Jesus heard this, [f]he withdrew from there in a boat to a desolate place by himself. But when the crowds heard it, they followed him on foot from the towns. [14]When he went ashore he [g]saw a great crowd, and [g]he had compassion on them and healed their sick. [15][†]Now when it was evening, the disciples came to him and said, “This is a desolate place, and the day is now over; [h] send the crowds away to go into the villages and buy food for themselves." [16]But Jesus said, "They need not go away; [i] you give them something to eat." [17]They said to him, "We have only five loaves here and two fish." [18]And he said, "Bring them here to me." [19]Then he ordered the crowds to sit down on the grass, and taking the five loaves and the two fish, [j] he looked up to heaven and [k] said a blessing. Then he broke the loaves and gave them to the disciples, and the disciples gave them to the crowds. [20]And they all ate and were satisfied. And they took up twelve baskets full of the broken pieces left over. [21]And those who ate were about five thousand men, besides women and children.

[22][†] [l] Immediately he [m] made the disciples get into the boat and go before him to the other side, while he dismissed the crowds. [23]And after he had dismissed the crowds, [n] he went up on the mountain by himself to pray. When [o] evening came, he was there alone, [24][†]but the boat by this time was a long way [2] from the land, [3] beaten by the waves, for the wind was against them. [25][†]And [l] in the fourth watch of the night he came to them, walking on the sea. [26]But when the disciples saw him walking on the sea, [p] they were terrified, and said, "It is a ghost!" and they cried out in fear. [27][†]But immediately Jesus spoke to them, saying, [q] "Take heart; it is I. [q] Do not be afraid."

[28][†]And Peter answered him, "Lord, if it is you, command me to come to you on the water." [29]He said, "Come." So Peter got out of the boat and [r] walked on the water and came to Jesus. [30]But when he saw the wind, [4] he was afraid, and beginning to sink he cried out, [s] "Lord, save me." [31]Jesus immediately reached out his hand and took hold of him, saying to him, [t] "O you of little faith, why did you [u] doubt?" [32]And when they got into the boat, [s] the wind ceased. [33]And [v] those in the boat [w] worshiped him, saying, [x] "Truly you are [y] the Son of God."

Jesus Heals the Sick in Gennesaret

[34][†] [z]And when they had crossed over, they came to land at [a]Gennesaret.
[35][†]And when the men of that place recognized him, they sent around to all that region and [b]brought to him all who were sick [36]and implored him that they might only touch [c]the fringe of his garment. And [d]as many as touched it were made well.

Traditions and Commandments

MATTHEW 15 [e]Then Pharisees and [f]scribes came to Jesus [f]from Jerusalem and said, [2][†][g]“Why do your disciples break [h]the tradition of the elders? [j]For they do not wash their hands when they eat.” [3][†]He answered them, “And why do you break the commandment of God for the sake of your tradition? [4]For God commanded, [k]‘Honor your father and your mother,’ and, [l]‘Whoever reviles father or mother must surely die.’ [5][†]But you say, ‘If anyone tells his father or his mother, “What you would have gained from me is given to God,” [1] [6][†]he need not honor his father.’ So for the sake of your tradition you have [m]made void the word [2] of God. [7][n]You hypocrites! Well did Isaiah prophesy of you, when he said:

[8] [o]“‘This people honors me with their lips,
  but their heart is far from me;
[9] in vain do they worship me, teaching as [p]doctrines the commandments of men.’”

What Defiles a Person

[10]And he called the people to him and said to them, [q]“Hear and understand: [11][†][r]it is not what goes into the mouth that defiles a person, but what comes out of the mouth; this defiles a person.” [12]Then the disciples came and said to him, “Do you know that the Pharisees were [s]offended when they heard this saying?” [13]He answered, [t]“Every plant that my heavenly Father has not planted [u]will be rooted up. [14][†]Let them alone; [v]they are blind guides. [3] And [w]if the blind lead the blind, both will fall into a pit.” [15]But Peter said to him, [x]“Explain the parable to us.” [16]And he said, [y]“Are you also still without understanding? [17][†]Do you not see that [z]whatever goes into the mouth passes into the stomach and is expelled? [4] [18]But [a]what comes out of the mouth proceeds from the heart, and this defiles a person. [19]For out of the heart come [b]evil thoughts, [c]murder, adultery, sexual immorality, theft, false witness, [d]slander. [20][e]These are what defile a person. But [f]to eat with unwashed hands does not defile anyone.”

The Faith of a Canaanite Woman

[21] [g] And Jesus went away from there and withdrew to the district of Tyre and Sidon. [22][†]And behold, [h] a Canaanite woman from that region came out and was crying, [i] "Have mercy on me, O Lord, Son of David; my daughter is severely oppressed by a demon." [23]But he did not answer her a word. And his disciples came and begged him, saying, [j] "Send her away, for she is crying out after us." [24][†]He answered, [k] "I was sent only to the lost sheep of the house of Israel." [25]But she came and [l] knelt before him, saying, "Lord, help me." [26][†]And he answered, "It is not right to take the children's bread and [m] throw it to the dogs." [27][†]She said, "Yes, Lord, yet even the dogs eat [n] the crumbs that fall from their masters' table." [28]Then Jesus answered her, "O woman, [o] great is your faith! [p] Be it done for you as you desire." [q] And her daughter was [p] healed instantly. [5]

Jesus Heals Many

[29] [r] Jesus went on from there and walked [s] beside the Sea of Galilee. And he [t] went up on the mountain and sat down there. [30]And great crowds came to him, bringing with them [u] the lame, the blind, the crippled, the mute, and many others, and they put them at his feet, and he healed them, [31] [v] so that the crowd wondered, when they saw the mute speaking, [w] the crippled healthy, the lame walking, and the blind seeing. And [x] they glorified [y] the God of Israel.

Jesus Feeds the Four Thousand

[32][†] [z] Then Jesus called his disciples to him and said, [a] "I have compassion on the crowd because they have been with me now three days and have nothing to eat. And I am unwilling to send them away hungry, lest they faint on the way." [33]And the disciples said to him, "Where are we to get enough bread in such a desolate place to feed so great a crowd?" [34][†]And Jesus said to them, "How many loaves do you have?" They said, [b] "Seven, and a few small fish." [35][†]And directing the crowd to sit down on the ground, [36]he took the seven loaves and the fish, and [c] having given thanks he broke them and gave them to the disciples, and the disciples gave them to the crowds. 37And [d] they all ate and were satisfied. And they took up seven baskets full of the broken pieces left over. 38Those who ate were four thousand men, besides women and children. 39[†]And after sending away the crowds, he got into the boat and went to the region of [e] Magadan.

The Pharisees and Sadducees Demand Signs

MATTHEW 16 [†][f] And the Pharisees and Sadducees came, and [g] to test him [h] they asked him to show them [i] a sign from heaven. 2He answered them, [1] [j] "When it is evening, you say, 'It will be fair weather, for the sky is red.' 3And in the morning, 'It will be stormy today, for the sky is red and threatening.' [k] You know how to interpret the appearance of the sky, but you cannot interpret [l] the signs of the times. 4[†] [m] An evil and adulterous generation seeks for a sign, but no sign will be given to it except the sign of Jonah." So [n] he left them and departed.

The Leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees

5When the disciples reached the other side, they had forgotten to bring any bread. 6[†]Jesus said to them, "Watch and [o] beware of [p] the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees." 7And they began discussing it among themselves, saying, "We brought no bread." 8But [q] Jesus, aware of this, said, [r] "O you of little faith, why are you discussing among yourselves the fact that you have no bread? 9 [s] Do you not yet perceive? Do you not remember [t] the five loaves for the five thousand, and how many baskets you gathered? 10Or [u] the seven loaves for the four thousand, and how many baskets you gathered? 11How is it that you fail to understand that I did not speak about bread? [o] Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees." 12 [v] Then they understood that he did not tell them to beware of the leaven of bread, but of [w] the teaching of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

13[†] [x] Now when Jesus came into the district of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, "Who do people say that the Son of Man is?" 14[†]And they said, “Some say [y]John the Baptist, others say [z]Elijah, and others Jeremiah or one of the prophets.” [15]He said to them, “But who do you say that I am?” [16][†]Simon Peter replied, [a]“You are [b]the Christ, [c]the Son of [d]the living God.” [17][†]And Jesus answered him, [e]“Blessed are you, [f]Simon Bar-Jonah! For [g]flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, [h]but my Father who is in heaven. [18][†]And I tell you, [i]you are Peter, and [j]on this rock [2] I will build my church, and [k]the gates of [l]hell [3] shall not prevail against it. [19][†]I will give you [m]the keys of the kingdom of heaven, and [n]whatever you bind on earth shall be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth shall be loosed [4] in heaven.” [20][†] [o]Then he strictly charged the disciples to tell no one that he was the Christ.

Jesus Foretells His Death and Resurrection

[21][†] [p]From that time Jesus began to show his disciples that [q]he must go to Jerusalem and [r]suffer many things from the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and on [s]the third day be raised. [22][†]And Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him, saying, “Far be it from you, Lord! [5] This shall never happen to you.” [23][†]But he turned and said to Peter, [t]“Get behind me, Satan! You are [u]a hindrance [6] to me. For you [v]are not setting your mind on the things of God, but on the things of man.”

Take Up Your Cross and Follow Jesus

[24][†]Then Jesus told his disciples, “If anyone would come after me, let him [w]deny himself and [x]take up his cross and follow me. [25]For [x]whoever would save his life [7] will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will find it. [26][†]For [y]what will it profit a man if he gains the whole world and forfeits his soul? Or [z]what shall a man give in return for his soul? [27][†] [a]For the Son of Man is going to come with [b]his angels in the glory of his Father, and [c]then he will repay each person according to what he has done. [28][†]Truly, I say to you, there are some standing here who will not [d]taste death [e]until they see the Son of Man [f]coming in his kingdom.”

The Transfiguration

MATTHEW 17 [†] [g] And after six days Jesus took with him [h] Peter and James, and John his brother, and led them up a high mountain by themselves. [2][†]And he was [i] transfigured before them, and [j] his face shone like the sun, and [k] his clothes became white as light. [3][†]And behold, there appeared to them Moses and Elijah, talking with him. [4][†]And Peter said to Jesus, “Lord, it is good that we are here. If you wish, I will make three tents here, one for you and one for Moses and one for [l] Elijah.” [5][†]He was still speaking when, behold, [m] a bright cloud overshadowed them, and [m] a voice from the cloud said, [n] “This is my beloved Son, [1] with whom I am well pleased; [o] listen to him.” [6][†]When [p] the disciples heard this, [q] they fell on their faces and were terrified. [7]But Jesus came and [r] touched them, saying, “Rise, and [s] have no fear.” [8]And when they lifted up their eyes, they saw no one but Jesus only.

[9][†] [t] And as they were coming down the mountain, Jesus commanded them, [u] “Tell no one the vision, until the Son of Man is raised from the dead.” [10][†]And the disciples asked him, “Then why do the scribes say [v] that first Elijah must come?” [11]He answered, “Elijah does come, and [w] he will restore all things. [12]But I tell you that Elijah has already come, and they did not recognize him, but [x] did to him whatever they pleased. [y] So also the Son of Man will certainly suffer at their hands.” [13][†] [z] Then the disciples understood that he was speaking to them of John the Baptist.

Jesus Heals a Boy with a Demon

[14] [a] And when they came to the crowd, a man came up to him and, kneeling before him, [15]said, “Lord, have mercy on my son, for he is [b] an epileptic and he suffers terribly. For often he falls into the fire, and often into the water. [16]And I brought him to your disciples, and [c] they could not heal him.” [17]And Jesus answered, “O faithless and [d] twisted generation, how long am I to be with you? [e] How long am I to bear with you? Bring him here to me.” [18]And Jesus [f] rebuked the demon, [2] and it [3] came out of him, and [g] the boy was healed instantly. [4] [19]Then the disciples came to Jesus privately and said, “Why could we not cast it out?” [20][†]He said to them,

[h]“Because of your little faith. For [i]truly, I say to you, [j]if you have faith like a grain of mustard seed, [k]you will say to this mountain, ‘Move from here to there,’ and it will move, and [l]nothing will be impossible for you.”[5]

Jesus Again Foretells Death, Resurrection

[22][†][m]As they were gathering[6] in Galilee, Jesus said to them, “The Son of Man is about to be delivered into the hands of men, [23]and they will kill him, and he will be raised on [n]the third day.” And they were greatly distressed.

The Temple Tax

[24][†][o]When they came to Capernaum, the collectors of [p]the two-drachma tax went up to Peter and said, “Does your teacher not pay the tax?” [25][†]He said, “Yes.” And when he came into the house, Jesus spoke to him first, saying, [q]“What do you think, Simon? From whom do kings of the earth take toll or [r]tax? From their sons or from others?” [26]And when he said, “From others,” Jesus said to him, “Then the sons are free. [27]However, not to give offense to them, go to the sea and cast a hook and take the first fish that comes up, and when you open its mouth you will find a shekel.[7] Take that and give it to them for me and for yourself.”

Who Is the Greatest?

MATTHEW 18 [†][t]At that time the disciples came to Jesus, saying, “Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?” [2][†]And calling to him a child, he put him in the midst of them [3]and said, “Truly, I say to you, unless you [u]turn and [v]become like children, you [w]will never enter the kingdom of heaven. [4][x]Whoever humbles himself like this child is the [w]greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

[5][†][y]“Whoever receives one such child in my name receives me, [6][†]but [z]whoever causes one of these [a]little ones who believe in me to sin,[1] it would be better for him to have a great millstone fastened around his neck and to be drowned in the depth of the sea.

Temptations to Sin

7“Woe to the world for [b] temptations to sin! [2] [c] For it is necessary that temptations come, [d] but woe to the one by whom the temptation comes! 8 [e] And if your hand or your foot causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away. It is better for you to enter life crippled or lame than with two hands or two feet to be thrown into [f] the eternal fire. 9 [e] And if your eye causes you to sin, tear it out and throw it away. It is better for you to enter life with one eye than with two eyes to be thrown into the [f] hell [3] of fire.

The Parable of the Lost Sheep

10[†]“See that you do not despise [g] one of these little ones. For I tell you that in heaven [h] their angels always [i] see the face of my Father who is in heaven. [4] 12[†] [j] What do you think? [k] If a man has a hundred sheep, and one of them has gone astray, does he not leave the ninety-nine on the mountains and go in search of the one that went astray? 13And if he finds it, truly, I say to you, he rejoices over it more than over the ninety-nine that never went astray. 14So [l] it is not the will of my [5] Father who is in heaven that one of these little ones should perish.

If Your Brother Sins Against You

15[†] [m] “If your brother sins against you, [n] go and tell him his fault, between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have [o] gained your brother. 16[†]But if he does not listen, take one or two others along with you, that every charge may be established [p] by the evidence of two or three witnesses. 17[†]If he refuses to listen to them, [q] tell it to the church. And if he refuses to listen even to the church, [r] let him be to you as [s] a Gentile and [s] a tax collector. 18[†]Truly, I say to you, [t] whatever you bind on earth shall be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth shall be loosed [6] in heaven. 19Again I say to you, if two of you [u] agree on earth about anything they ask, [v] it will be done for them by my Father in heaven. 20[†]For where two or three are [w] gathered in my name, [x] there am I among them.”

The Parable of the Unforgiving Servant

[21][†]Then Peter came up and said to him, “Lord, how often [y]will my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? [z]As many as seven times?” [22]Jesus said to him, “I do not say to you seven times, but seventy-seven times.

[23]“Therefore the kingdom of heaven may be compared to a king who wished [a]to settle accounts with his servants. [7] [24][†]When he began to settle, one was brought to him who owed him [b]ten thousand [c]talents. [8] [25][†][d]And since he could not pay, his master ordered him [e]to be sold, with his wife and [f]children and all that he had, and payment to be made. [26]So the servant [9] [g]fell on his knees, imploring him, ‘Have patience with me, and I will pay you everything.’ [27][†]And out of pity for him, the master of that servant released him and [d]forgave him the debt. [28][†]But when that same servant went out, he found one of his fellow servants who owed him a hundred [h]denarii, [10] and seizing him, he began to choke him, saying, ‘Pay what you owe.’ [29]So his fellow servant fell down and pleaded with him, ‘Have patience with me, and I will pay you.’ [30]He refused and went and put him in prison until he should pay the debt. [31]When his fellow servants saw what had taken place, they were greatly distressed, and they went and reported to their master all that had taken place. [32]Then his master summoned him and said to him, ‘You wicked servant! I forgave you all that debt because you pleaded with me. [33][i]And should not you have had mercy on your fellow servant, as I had mercy on you?’ [34][†][j]And in anger his master delivered him to the jailers, [11] [k]until he should pay all his debt. [35][†][l]So also my heavenly Father will do to every one of you, if you do not forgive your brother [m]from your heart.”

Teaching About Divorce

MATTHEW 19 [†]Now when Jesus had finished these sayings, he went away from [n]Galilee and [o]entered [p]the region of Judea beyond the Jordan. [2]And [q]large crowds followed him, and he healed them there.

[3][†]And Pharisees came up to him and [r]tested him by asking, [s]“Is it lawful to divorce one’s wife for any cause?” [4]He answered, [t]“Have you not read that he who created them from the beginning made them male and female, [5]and said, [u]‘Therefore a man shall leave his father and his mother and hold fast to his wife, and [v]the two shall become one flesh’? [6][†]So they are no longer two but one flesh. [w]What therefore God has joined together, let not man separate.” [7]They said to him, [x]“Why then did Moses command one to give a certificate of divorce and to send her away?” [8][†]He said to them, “Because of your [y]hardness of heart Moses allowed you to divorce your wives, but from the beginning it was not so. [9][†][z]And I say to you: whoever divorces his wife, except for sexual immorality, and marries another, commits adultery.”[1]

[10][†]The disciples said to him, “If such is the case of a man with his wife, it is better not to marry.” [11]But he said to them, [a]“Not everyone can receive this saying, but only [b]those to [c]whom it is given. [12]For there are eunuchs who have been so from birth, and there are eunuchs who have been made eunuchs by men, and there are eunuchs who have made themselves eunuchs [d]for the sake of the kingdom of heaven. Let the one who is able to receive this receive it.”

Let the Children Come to Me

[13][†][e]Then children were brought to him that he might lay his hands on them and pray. The disciples [f]rebuked the people, [14][†]but Jesus said, [g]“Let the little children [h]come to me and do not hinder them, for to such belongs the kingdom of heaven.” [15]And he laid his hands on them and went away.

The Rich Young Man

[16][†][i]And behold, a man came up to him, saying, “Teacher, what good deed must I do to [j]have [k]eternal life?” [17][†]And he said to him, “Why do you ask me about what is good? There is only one who is good. [l]If you would enter life, keep the commandments.” [18][†]He said to him, “Which ones?” And Jesus said, [m]“You shall not murder, You shall not commit adultery, You shall not steal, You shall not bear false witness, [19]Honor your father and mother, and, [n]You shall love your neighbor as yourself.” [20][†]The young man said to him, [o]“All these I have kept. What do I still lack?” [21][†]Jesus said to him, “If you would be [p]perfect, go, [q]sell what you possess and give to the poor, and you will have [r]treasure in heaven; and come, follow me.” [22][s]When the young man heard this he went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

[23][†]And Jesus said to his disciples, “Truly, I say to you, [t]only with difficulty will a rich person enter the kingdom of heaven. [24][†][u]Again I tell you, it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich person to enter [v]the kingdom of God.” [25][†]When the disciples heard this, they were greatly astonished, saying, “Who then can be saved?” [26][†]But Jesus [w]looked at them and said, [x]“With man this is impossible, but with God all things are possible.” [27]Then Peter said in reply, “See, [y]we have left everything and followed you. What then will we have?” [28][†]Jesus said to them, “Truly, I say to you, in the new world,[2] [z]when the Son of Man will sit on his glorious throne, you who have followed me [a]will also sit on twelve thrones, [b]judging the twelve tribes of Israel. [29][†][c]And everyone who has left houses or brothers or sisters or father or mother or children or lands, for my name’s sake, will receive a hundredfold[3] and will [d]inherit eternal life. [30][†]But [e]many who are [f]first will be last, and the last first.

Laborers in the Vineyard

MATTHEW 20 [†]“For the kingdom of heaven is like a master of a house who went out early in the morning to hire laborers for his vineyard. [2][†]After agreeing with the laborers for a denarius [1] a day, he sent them into his vineyard. [3]And going out about the third hour he saw others standing idle in the marketplace, [4]and to them he said, ‘You go into the vineyard too, and whatever is right I will give you.’ [5]So they went. Going out again about the sixth hour and the ninth hour, he did the same. [6]And [g] about the eleventh hour he went out and found others standing. And he said to them, ‘Why do you stand here idle all day?’ [7]They said to him, ‘Because no one has hired us.’ He said to them, ‘You go into the vineyard too.’ [8]And [h] when evening came, the owner of the vineyard said to his [i] foreman, ‘Call the laborers and pay them their wages, beginning with the last, up to the first.’ [9]And when those hired about the eleventh hour came, each of them received a denarius. [10]Now when those hired first came, they thought they would receive more, but each of them also received a denarius. [11]And on receiving it they grumbled at the master of the house, [12]saying, ‘These last worked only one hour, and you have made them equal to us who have borne the burden of the day and [j] the scorching heat.’ [13]But he replied to one of them, [k] ‘Friend, I am doing you no wrong. Did you not agree with me for a denarius? [14]Take [l] what belongs to you and go. I choose to give to this last worker as I give to you. [15] [m] Am I not allowed to do what I choose with what belongs to me? Or [n] do you begrudge my generosity?’ [2] [16][†]So [o] the last will be first, and the first last.”

Jesus Foretells His Death a Third Time

[17][†] [p] And as Jesus was going up to Jerusalem, he took the twelve disciples aside, and on the way he said to them, [18]“See, [q] we are going up to Jerusalem. And the Son of Man will be delivered over to the chief priests and scribes, and they will [r] condemn him to death [19]and [s] deliver him over to the Gentiles [t] to be mocked and flogged and [u] crucified, and he will be raised on [v] the third day.”

A Mother’s Request

[20][†] [w] Then [x] the mother of the sons of Zebedee came up to him with her sons, and [y] kneeling before him she asked him for something. [21][†]And he said to her, “What do you want?” She said to him, “Say that these two sons of mine [z] are to sit, one at your right hand and one at your left, [a] in your kingdom.” [22][†]Jesus answered, [b] “You do not know what you are asking. Are you able [c] to drink the cup that I am to drink?” They said to him, “We are able.” [23][†]He said to them, [d] “You will drink [e] my cup, but to sit at my right hand and at my left is not mine to grant, [f] but it is for those for whom it has been [g] prepared by my Father.” [24][†]And when the ten heard it, they were indignant at the two brothers. [25]But Jesus called them to him and said, [h] “You know that the rulers of the Gentiles [i] lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them. [26][j] It shall not be so among you. But whoever would be great among you must be your servant, [3] [27]and whoever would be first among you must be your slave, [4] [28][†]even as the Son of Man came not to be served but [k] to serve, and [l] to give his life as a ransom for [m] many.”

Jesus Heals Two Blind Men

[29][†] [n] And as they went out of Jericho, a great crowd followed him. [30][†]And behold, there were two blind men sitting by the roadside, and when they heard that Jesus was passing by, they cried out, “Lord, [5] have mercy on us, [o] Son of David!” [31]The crowd [p] rebuked them, telling them to be silent, but they cried out all the more, “Lord, have mercy on us, Son of David!” [32]And stopping, Jesus called them and said, “What do you want me to do for you?” [33]They said to him, “Lord, let our eyes be opened.” [34]And Jesus in pity touched their eyes, and immediately they recovered their sight and followed him.

The Triumphal Entry

MATTHEW 21 [†] [q] Now when they drew near to Jerusalem and came to Bethphage, to [r] the Mount of Olives, then Jesus [s] sent two disciples, [2]saying to them, “Go into the village in front of you, and immediately you will find a donkey tied, and a colt with her. Untie them and bring them to me. [3]If anyone says anything to you, you shall say, ‘The Lord needs them,’ and he will send them at once.” [4][†]This took place [t]to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet, saying,

[5] [u]“Say to the daughter of Zion,
‘Behold, your king is coming to you,
[v]humble, and mounted on a donkey, on a colt, [1] the foal of a beast of burden.’”

[6][†]The disciples went and did as Jesus had directed them. [7]They brought the donkey and the colt and put on them their cloaks, and he sat on them. [8][†]Most of the crowd [w]spread their cloaks on the road, and others cut branches from the trees and spread them on the road. [9][†]And the crowds that went before him and that followed him were shouting, [x]“Hosanna to [y]the Son of David! [z]Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord! Hosanna [a]in the highest!” [10]And [b]when he entered Jerusalem, the whole city was stirred up, saying, “Who is this?” [11]And the crowds said, “This is [c]the prophet Jesus, [d]from Nazareth of Galilee.”

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

[12][†] [e]And Jesus entered the temple [2] and drove out all who sold and bought in the temple, and he overturned the tables of [f]the money-changers and the seats of those who sold [g]pigeons. [13]He said to them, “It is written, [h]‘My house shall be called a house of prayer,’ but [i]you make it a den of robbers.”

[14][j]And the blind and the lame came to him in the temple, and he healed them. [15][†] [k]But when the chief priests and the scribes saw the wonderful things that he did, and the children crying out in the temple, [x]“Hosanna to the Son of David!” they were indignant, [16]and they said to him, “Do you hear what these are saying?” And Jesus said to them, “Yes; [l]have you never read,

[m]“‘Out of the mouth of [n]infants and nursing babies you have prepared praise'?"

[17][†]And [o]leaving them, he [p]went out of the city to [q]Bethany and lodged there.

Jesus Curses the Fig Tree

[18][†] [r]In the morning, as he was returning to the city, [s]he became hungry.
[19][†] [t]And seeing a fig tree by the wayside, he went to it and found nothing on it but only leaves. And he said to it, "May no fruit ever come from you again!" And the fig tree withered at once.

[20]When the disciples saw it, they marveled, saying, "How did the fig tree wither at once?" [21]And Jesus answered them, [u]"Truly, I say to you, [v]if you have faith and [w]do not doubt, you will not only do what has been done to the fig tree, but even if you say to this mountain, [x]'Be taken up and thrown into the sea,' it will happen. [22]And [y]whatever you ask in prayer, you will receive, [y]if you have faith."

The Authority of Jesus Challenged

[23][†] [z]And when he entered the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came up to him [a]as he was teaching, and said, [b]"By what authority are you doing these things, and who gave you this authority?"
[24]Jesus answered them, "I also will ask you one question, and if you tell me the answer, then I also will tell you by what authority I do these things.
[25][†]The baptism of John, [c]from where did it come? [d]From heaven or from man?" And they discussed it among themselves, saying, "If we say, 'From heaven,' he will say to us, [e]'Why then did you not believe him?' [26]But if we say, 'From man,' [f]we are afraid of the crowd, for they all hold that John was [g]a prophet." [27]So they answered Jesus, "We do not know." And he said to them, "Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.

The Parable of the Two Sons

[28][†] [h]"What do you think? A man had two sons. And he went to the first and said, 'Son, go and work in [i]the vineyard today.' [29]And he answered, 'I will not,’ but afterward he [j] changed his mind and went. [30]And he went to the other son and said the same. And he answered, ‘I go, sir,’ but did not go. [31]Which of the two did the will of his father?” They said, “The first.” Jesus said to them, “Truly, I say to you, [k] the tax collectors and [l] the prostitutes go into [m] the kingdom of God before you. [32]For John came to you [n] in the way of righteousness, and [o] you did not believe him, but [p] the tax collectors and the prostitutes believed him. And even when you saw it, you did not afterward [j] change your minds and believe him.

[33][†] [q] “Hear another parable. There was a master of a house who planted [r] a vineyard [s] and put a fence around it and dug a winepress in it and built a tower and [t] leased it to tenants, and [u] went into another country. [34][†]When the season for fruit drew near, he sent his servants [3] to the tenants [t] to get his fruit. [35] [v] And the tenants took his servants and beat one, killed another, and [w] stoned another. [36] [x] Again he sent other servants, more than the first. And they did the same to them. [37]Finally he sent his son to them, saying, ‘They will respect my son.’ [38]But when the tenants saw the son, they said to themselves, [y] ‘This is the heir. Come, [z] let us kill him and have his inheritance.’ [39]And they took him and [a] threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. [40] [b] When therefore the owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those tenants?” [41]They said to him, [c] “He will put those wretches to a miserable death and [d] let out the vineyard to other tenants who will give him the fruits in their seasons.”

[42][†]Jesus said to them, [e] “Have you never read in the Scriptures:

[f] “‘The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone; [4]
this was the Lord’s doing,
    and it is marvelous in our eyes’?

[43][†]Therefore I tell you, the kingdom of God [g] will be taken away from you and given to a people [h] producing its fruits. [44]And [i] the one who falls on this stone will be broken to pieces; and [j] when it falls on anyone, it will crush him.” [5]

[45]When the chief priests and the Pharisees heard his parables, they perceived that he was speaking about them. [46]And [l] although they were seeking to arrest him, [m] they feared the crowds, because they held him to be [n] a prophet.

The Parable of the Wedding Feast

MATTHEW 22 [†]And again Jesus [o] spoke to them in parables, saying, [2][p] “The kingdom of heaven may be compared to a king who gave [q] a wedding feast for his son, [3][†]and [r] sent his servants [1] to call those who were invited to the wedding feast, but they would not come. [4][s] Again he sent other servants, saying, ‘Tell those who are invited, “See, I have prepared my [t] dinner, [u] my oxen and my fat calves have been slaughtered, and everything is ready. Come to the wedding feast.”’ [5]But [v] they paid no attention and went off, one to his farm, another to his business, [6]while the rest seized his servants, [w] treated them shamefully, and [x] killed them. [7][†]The king was angry, and he sent his troops and [y] destroyed those murderers and burned their city. [8]Then he said to his servants, ‘The wedding feast is ready, but those invited were not [z] worthy. [9][†]Go therefore to the main roads and invite to the wedding feast as many as you find.’ [10]And those servants went out into the roads and [b] gathered all whom they found, both bad and good. So the wedding hall was filled with guests.

[11][†]“But when the king came in to look at the guests, he saw there [c] a man who had no wedding garment. [12]And he said to him, [d] ‘Friend, how did you get in here without a wedding garment?’ And he was speechless. [13][†]Then the king said to the attendants, ‘Bind him hand and foot and [e] cast him into the outer darkness. In that place [e] there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.’ [14][†]For many are [f] called, but few are [f] chosen.”

Paying Taxes to Caesar

[15][†][g] Then the Pharisees went and plotted how [h] to entangle him in his words. [16][†]And they sent [i] their disciples to him, along with [j] the Herodians, saying, “Teacher, [k]we know that you are true and teach [l]the way of God truthfully, and you do not care about anyone’s opinion, for [m]you are not swayed by appearances. [2] 17[†]Tell us, then, what you think. Is it lawful to pay [n]taxes to [o]Caesar, or not?” 18[†]But Jesus, aware of their malice, said, “Why [p]put me to the test, you hypocrites? 19[†]Show me the coin for the tax.” And they brought him a denarius. [3] 20And Jesus said to them, “Whose likeness and inscription is this?” 21[†]They said, “Caesar’s.” Then he said to them, [q]“Therefore render to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God the things that are God’s.” 22When they heard it, they marveled. And they [r]left him and went away.

Sadducees Ask About the Resurrection

23[†]The same day [s]Sadducees came to him, [t]who say that there is no resurrection, and they asked him a question, 24[†]saying, “Teacher, Moses said, [u]‘If a man dies having no children, his brother must marry the widow and raise up offspring for his brother.’ 25Now there were seven brothers among us. The first married and died, and having no offspring left his wife to his brother. 26So too the second and third, down to the seventh. 27After them all, the woman died. 28In the resurrection, therefore, of the seven, whose wife will she be? For they all had her.”

29[†]But Jesus answered them, “You are wrong, [v]because you know neither the Scriptures nor [w]the power of God. 30For in the resurrection they neither [x]marry nor [x]are given in marriage, but are like angels in heaven. 31[†]And as for the resurrection of the dead, [y]have you not read what was said to you by God: 32[z]‘I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob’? He is not God of the dead, but of the living.” 33And when the crowd heard it, [a]they were astonished at his teaching.

The Great Commandment

34[b]But when the Pharisees heard that he had silenced [c]the Sadducees, they gathered together. 35[†][d]And one of them, [e]a lawyer, asked him a question [f]to test him. 36[†]“Teacher, which is the great commandment in the Law?” 37[†]And he said to him, [g]“You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind. [38]This is the great and first commandment. [39][†]And [h]a second is like it: [i]You shall love your neighbor as yourself. [40][†][j]On these two commandments depend [k]all the Law and the Prophets."

Whose Son Is the Christ?

[41][†][l]Now while the Pharisees [m]were gathered together, Jesus asked them a question, [42]saying, "What do you think about [n]the Christ? Whose son is he?" They said to him, [n]"The son of David." [43]He said to them, "How is it then that David, [o]in the Spirit, calls him Lord, saying,

[44] [p]"'The Lord said to my Lord,
"Sit at my right hand,
until I put your enemies under your feet"'?

[45]If then David calls him Lord, [q]how is he his son?" [46][r]And no one was able to answer him a word, [s]nor from that day did anyone dare to ask him any more questions.

Seven Woes to the Scribes and Pharisees

MATTHEW 23 Then Jesus [t]said to the crowds and to his disciples, [2][†][u]"The scribes and the Pharisees [v]sit on Moses' seat, [3][†]so do and observe whatever they tell you, [w]but not the works they do. [x]For they preach, but do not practice. [4][†][y]They tie up heavy burdens, hard to bear, [1] and lay them on people's shoulders, but they themselves are not willing to move them with their finger. [5][†][t]They do all their deeds [z]to be seen by others. For they make [a]their phylacteries broad and [b]their fringes long, [6]and they [c]love the place of honor at feasts and [d]the best seats in the synagogues [7][†]and [d]greetings in [e]the marketplaces and being called [f]rabbi [2] by others. [8][†][g]But you are not to be called rabbi, for you have one teacher, and you are [h]all brothers. [3] [9][i]And call no man your father on earth, for [j]you have one Father, who is in heaven. [10]Neither be called instructors, for you have one instructor, [k]the Christ. [11][l]The greatest among you shall be your servant. [12] [m] Whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and whoever humbles himself will be exalted.

[13][†]“But woe [n] to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you [o] shut the kingdom of heaven in people’s faces. For you [p] neither enter yourselves nor allow those who would enter to go in. [4] [15][†]Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you travel across sea and land to make a single [q] proselyte, and when he becomes a proselyte, you make him twice as much a [r] child of [s] hell [5] as yourselves.

[16][†]“Woe to [t] you, [u] blind guides, who say, [v] ‘If anyone swears by the temple, it is nothing, but if anyone swears by the gold of the temple, he is bound by his oath.’ [17]You blind fools! For which is greater, the gold or [w] the temple that has made the gold sacred? [18]And you say, ‘If anyone swears by the altar, it is nothing, but if anyone swears by [x] the gift that is on the altar, he is bound by his oath.’ [19]You blind men! For which is greater, the gift or [y] the altar that makes the gift sacred? [20][†]So whoever swears by the altar swears by it and by everything on it. [21]And whoever swears by the temple swears by it and by [z] him who dwells in it. [22]And whoever swears by [a] heaven swears by [b] the throne of God and by [c] him who sits upon it.

[23][†] [d] “Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For [e] you tithe mint and dill and [f] cumin, and have neglected the weightier matters of the law: [g] justice and mercy and faithfulness. [h] These you ought to have done, without neglecting the others. [24][†]You blind guides, straining out a gnat and swallowing [i] a camel!

[25] [j] “Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For [k] you clean the outside of [l] the cup and the plate, but inside they are full of [m] greed and self-indulgence. [26][†]You blind Pharisee! First clean the inside of [l] the cup and the plate, that the outside also may be clean.

[27][†] [n] “Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you are like [o] whitewashed tombs, which outwardly appear beautiful, but within are full of dead people’s bones and [p] all uncleanness. [28]So you also [q] outwardly appear righteous to others, but within you are full of [r] hypocrisy and lawlessness.

[29][†] [s] “Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you build the tombs of the prophets and decorate the monuments of the righteous,

[30]saying, ‘If we had lived in the days of our fathers, we would not have taken part with them in shedding the blood of the prophets.’ [31]Thus you witness against yourselves that you are [t]sons of those who murdered the prophets. [32][u]Fill up, then, the measure of your fathers. [33]You serpents, [v]you brood of vipers, how are you to escape being sentenced to [w]hell?
[34][x]Therefore [y]I send you [z]prophets and wise men and [a]scribes, [b]some of whom you will kill and crucify, and [b]some you will [c]flog in your synagogues and [d]persecute from town to town, [35][†]so that on you may come all [e]the righteous blood shed on earth, from the blood of righteous [f]Abel to the blood of [g]Zechariah the son of Barachiah, [6] whom you murdered between [h]the sanctuary and [i]the altar. [36]Truly, I say to you, [j]all these things will come upon this generation.

Lament over Jerusalem

[37][†][k]“O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the city that [l]kills the prophets and stones those who are sent to it! How often would I have [m]gathered [n]your children together [o]as a hen gathers her brood [p]under her wings, and [q]you were not willing! [38][†]See, [r]your house is left to you desolate. [39][†]For I tell you, you will not see me again, until you say, [s]‘Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.’”

Jesus Foretells Destruction of the Temple

MATTHEW 24 [†] [t]Jesus left the temple and was going away, when his disciples came to point out to him the buildings of the temple. [2][†]But he answered them, “You see all these, do you not? Truly, I say to you, [u]there will not be left here one stone upon another that will not be thrown down.”

Signs of the End of the Age

[3][†]As he sat on [v]the Mount of Olives, the disciples came to him [w]privately, saying, “Tell us, [x]when will these things be, and what will be the sign of your [y]coming and of [z]the end of the age?” [4]And Jesus answered them, [a]“See that no one leads you astray. [5]For [b]many will come in my name, saying, ‘I am [c] the Christ,’ and they will lead many astray. [6]And you will hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you [d] are not alarmed, for this [e] must take place, but the end is not yet. [7]For [f] nation will rise against nation, and [g] kingdom against kingdom, and there will be [h] famines and earthquakes in various places. [8][†]All these are but the beginning of [i] the birth pains.

[9]“Then [j] they will deliver you up [k] to tribulation and [l] put you to death, and [m] you will be hated by all nations for my name’s sake. [10]And then many will fall away [1] and [n] betray one another and hate one another. [11]And many [o] false prophets will arise [p] and lead many astray. [12]And because lawlessness will be increased, [q] the love of many will grow cold. [13][†] [r] But the one who endures to the end will be saved. [14]And this gospel of the kingdom [s] will be proclaimed throughout the whole world [t] as a testimony [u] to all nations, and [v] then the end will come.

The Abomination of Desolation

[15][†]“So when you see the abomination of desolation [w] spoken of by the prophet Daniel, standing in [x] the holy place ([y] let the reader understand), [16][†]then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains. [17] [z] Let the one who is on [a] the housetop not go down to take what is in his house, [18]and let the one who is in the field not turn back to take his cloak. [19]And [b] alas for women who are pregnant and for those who are nursing infants in those days! [20]Pray that your flight may not be in winter or on a Sabbath. [21]For then there will be [c] great tribulation, [d] such as has not been from the beginning of the world until now, no, and never will be. [22][†]And if those days had not been cut short, no human being would be saved. But for [e] the sake of the elect those days will be cut short. [23] [f] Then if anyone says to you, ‘Look, here is the Christ!’ or ‘There he is!’ do not believe it. [24]For [g] false christs and [h] false prophets will arise and [i] perform great signs and wonders, [h] so as to lead astray, if possible, even the elect. [25]See, [j] I have told you beforehand. [26]So, if they say to you, ‘Look, [k] he is in the wilderness,’ do not go out. If they say, ‘Look, he is in the inner rooms,’ do not believe it. [27] [l] For as the lightning comes from the east and shines as far as the west, so will be [m] the coming of the Son of Man. 28[†] [n] Wherever the corpse is, there the vultures will gather.

The Coming of the Son of Man

29[†]“Immediately after [o] the tribulation of those days [p] the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light, and [q] the stars will fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens will be shaken. 30[†]Then [r] will appear in heaven [s] the sign of the Son of Man, and then [t] all the tribes of the earth will mourn, and [u] they will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of heaven [v] with power and great glory. 31[†]And [w] he will send out his angels with a loud [x] trumpet call, and they will [y] gather [z] his elect from [a] the four winds, [b] from one end of heaven to the other.

The Lesson of the Fig Tree

32“From the fig tree learn its lesson: as soon as its branch becomes tender and puts out its leaves, you know that summer is near. 33So also, when you see all these things, you know that he is near, [c] at the very gates.
34[†] [d] Truly, I say to you, this generation will not pass away until all these things take place. 35[†] [e] Heaven and earth will pass away, but [f] my words will not pass away.

No One Knows That Day and Hour

36[†]“But concerning that day and hour [g] no one knows, not even the angels of heaven, [h] nor the Son, [2] [i] but the Father only. 37[j] For as were the days of Noah, [k] so will be the coming of the Son of Man. 38[j] For as in those days before the flood they were eating and drinking, [l] marrying and giving in marriage, until [m] the day when Noah entered the ark, 39and they were unaware until the flood came and swept them all away, [k] so will be the coming of the Son of Man. 40[†]Then two men will be in the field; one will be taken and one left. 41[n] Two women will be grinding [o] at the mill; one will be taken and one left. 42[†]Therefore, [p] stay awake, for you do not know on what day [q] your Lord is coming. 43[r] But know this, that if the master of the house had known in what part of the night [s] the thief was coming, he would have stayed awake and would not have let his house be broken into. [44]Therefore you also must be [t] ready, for [u] the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.

[45]"Who then is [v] the faithful and [w] wise servant,[3] whom his master has set over his household, to give them their food at the proper time? [46][x] Blessed is that servant whom his master will find so doing when he comes. [47]Truly, I say to you, [y] he will set him over all his possessions. [48][†]But if that wicked servant says to himself, 'My master [z] is delayed,' [49]and begins to beat his fellow servants[4] and eats and drinks with [a] drunkards, [50]the master of that servant will come [b] on a day when he does not expect him and at an hour he does not know [51]and will cut him in pieces and put him with the hypocrites. In that place [c] there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

The Parable of the Ten Virgins

MATTHEW 25 [†]“Then the kingdom of heaven will be like [d]ten virgins who took their lamps [1] and went to meet [e]the bridegroom. [2] [2]Five of them were foolish, and five were [w]wise. [3][†]For when the foolish took their lamps, they took no oil with them, [4]but the wise took flasks of oil with their lamps. [5]As the bridegroom [f]was delayed, they all became drowsy and slept. [6]But [g]at midnight there was a cry, ‘Here is the bridegroom! Come out to meet him.’ [7]Then all those virgins rose and [h]trimmed their lamps. [8]And the foolish said to the wise, ‘Give us some of your oil, for our lamps are going out.’ [9]But the wise answered, saying, ‘Since there will not be enough for us and for you, go rather to the dealers and buy for yourselves.’ [10]And while they were going to buy, the bridegroom came, and [i]those who were ready went in with him to [j]the marriage feast, and [k]the door was shut. [11][†]Afterward the other virgins came also, saying, [l]‘Lord, lord, open to us.’ [12] [l]But he answered, ‘Truly, I say to you, [m]I do not know you.’ [13][†] [n]Watch therefore, for you [o]know neither the day nor the hour.

The Parable of the Talents

[14] [p]“For [q]it will be like a man [r]going on a journey, who called his servants [3] and entrusted to them his property. [15][†]To one he gave five [s]talents, [4] to another two, to another one, [t]to each according to his ability. Then he [r]went away. [16]He who had received the five talents went at once and traded with them, and he made five talents more. [17]So also he who had the two talents made two talents more. [18][†]But he who had received the one talent went and [u]dug in the ground and hid his master’s money. [19]Now [v]after a long time the master of those servants came and [w]settled accounts with them. [20][†]And he who had received the five talents came forward, bringing five talents more, saying, ‘Master, you delivered to me five talents; here I have made five talents more.’ [21]His master said to him, ‘Well done, good and [x]faithful servant. [5] [y]You have been faithful over a little; [z]I will set you over much. Enter into [a]the joy of your master.’ [22]And he also who had the two talents came forward, saying, ‘Master, you delivered to me two talents; here I have made two talents more.’ [23]His master said to him, ‘Well done, good and faithful servant. You have been faithful over a little; I will set you over much. Enter into the joy of your master.’ [24][†]He also who had received the one talent came forward, saying, ‘Master, I knew you to be [b]a hard man, reaping [c]where you did not sow, and gathering where you scattered no seed, [25]so I was afraid, and I went and hid your talent in the ground. Here [d]you have what is yours.’ [26]But his master answered him, ‘You [e]wicked and [e]slothful servant! You knew that I reap where I have not sown and gather where I scattered no seed? [27][†]Then you ought to have invested my money with the bankers, and at my coming I should have received what was my own with interest. [28]So take the talent from him and give it to him who has the ten talents. [29][†][f]For to everyone who has will more be given, and he will have an abundance. But from the one who has not, even what he has will be taken away. [30][†]And [g]cast [h]the worthless servant into the outer darkness. In that place [g]there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.’

The Final Judgment

[31][†][i]“When the Son of Man comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, [j]then he will sit on his glorious throne. [32][†]Before him [k]will be gathered [l]all the nations, and [m]he will separate people one from another as a shepherd separates [n]the sheep from the goats. [33]And he will place the sheep on his right, but the goats on the left. [34][†]Then [o]the King will say to [p]those on his right, ‘Come, you [q]who are blessed by my Father, [r]inherit [s]the kingdom [t]prepared for you [u]from the foundation of the world. [35]For [v]I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you [w]gave me drink, [x]I was a stranger and you welcomed me, [36][v]I was naked and you clothed me, [y]I was sick and you [z]visited me, [a]I was in prison and you came to me.’ [37]Then the righteous will answer him, saying, ‘Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you drink? [38]And when did we see you a stranger and welcome you, or naked and clothe you? [39]And when did we see you sick or in prison and visit you?’ [40][†]And [b]the King will answer them, [c]‘Truly, I say to you, as you did it to one of the least of these [d]my brothers,[6] you did it to me.’

[41][†]“Then he will say to those on his left, [e]‘Depart from me, you [f]cursed, into [g]the eternal fire prepared for [h]the devil and his angels. [42]For [i]I was hungry and you gave me no food, I was thirsty and you gave me no drink, [43]I was a stranger and you did not welcome me, naked and you did not clothe me, sick and in prison and you did not visit me.’ [44]Then they also will answer, saying, ‘Lord, when did we see you hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or sick or in prison, and did not minister to you?’ [45]Then he will answer them, saying, ‘Truly, I say to you, as you did not do it to one of the least of these, [j]you did not do it to me.’ [46]And these will go away [k]into eternal punishment, but the righteous [k]into [l]eternal life.”

The Plot to Kill Jesus

MATTHEW 26 [†]When Jesus had finished all these sayings, he said to his disciples, [2][†][m]“You know that after two days [n]the Passover is coming, and [o]the Son of Man [p]will be delivered up to be crucified.”

[3][†][q]Then the chief priests and the elders of the people gathered in [r]the palace of the high priest, whose name was [s]Caiaphas, [4][t]and plotted together in order to arrest Jesus by stealth and kill him. [5][†]But they said, “Not during the feast, [u]lest there be an uproar among the people.”

Jesus Anointed at Bethany

[6][†][v]Now when Jesus was at [w]Bethany in the house of Simon the leper,[1] [7][†]a woman came up to him with an alabaster flask of very expensive ointment, and she poured it on his head as he reclined at table. [8]And when the disciples saw it, they were indignant, saying, “Why this waste? [9][†]For this could have been sold for a large sum and [x]given to the poor.” [10]But [y]Jesus, aware of this, said to them, “Why do you trouble the woman? For she has done a beautiful thing to me. [11]For [z]you always have the poor with you, but [a]you will not always have me. [12]In pouring this ointment on my body, she has done it [b]to prepare me for burial. [13]Truly, I say to you, wherever [c]this gospel is proclaimed in the whole world, what she has done will also be told [d]in memory of her.”

Judas to Betray Jesus

[14][†][e]Then one of the twelve, whose name was [f]Judas Iscariot, went to the chief priests [15][†]and said, “What will you give me if I deliver him over to you?” And they [g]paid him [h]thirty pieces of silver. [16]And from that moment he sought an opportunity [i]to betray him.

The Passover with the Disciples

[17][†][j]Now on [k]the first day of Unleavened Bread the disciples came to Jesus, saying, “Where will you have us prepare for you to eat the Passover?” [18]He said, “Go into the city to a certain man and say to him, [l]‘The Teacher says, [m]My time is at hand. I will keep the Passover at your house with my disciples.’” [19]And the disciples did as Jesus had directed them, and they prepared the Passover.

[20][†][n]When it was evening, he reclined at table with the twelve. [2] [21]And as they were eating, [o]he said, “Truly, I say to you, one of you will betray me.” [22]And they were very sorrowful and began to say to him one after another, “Is it I, Lord?” [23][†]He answered, [p]“He who has dipped his hand in the dish with me will betray me. [24][†]The Son of Man goes [q]as it is written of him, but [r]woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! [s]It would have been better for that man if he had not been born.” [25][†]Judas, who would betray him, answered, “Is it I, [t]Rabbi?” He said to him, [u]“You have said so.”

Institution of the Lord’s Supper

[26][†][v]Now as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and [w]after blessing it broke it and gave it to the disciples, and said, “Take, eat; [x]this is my body.” [27][†]And he took a cup, and when he [y]had given thanks he gave it to them, saying, “Drink of it, all of you, [28][†]for [x]this is my [z]blood of the [3] covenant, which is poured out for [a]many [b]for the forgiveness of sins.

[29][†]I tell you I will not drink again of this fruit of the vine until that day when I drink it new with you [c]in my Father's kingdom."

Jesus Foretells Peter's Denial

[30][†][d]And when they had sung a hymn, [e]they went out to [f]the Mount of Olives. [31][†]Then Jesus said to them, "You will all fall away because of me this night. For it is written, 'I will [g]strike the shepherd, and the sheep of the flock will be scattered.' [32]But after I am raised up, [h]I will go before you to Galilee." [33][i]Peter answered him, "Though they all fall away because of you, I will never fall away." [34][†][j]Jesus said to him, "Truly, I tell you, this very night, [k]before the rooster crows, you will deny me three times." [35][l]Peter said to him, "Even if I must die with you, I will not deny you!" And all the disciples said the same.

Jesus Prays in Gethsemane

[36][†][m]Then Jesus went with them [e]to a place called Gethsemane, and he said to his disciples, "Sit here, while I go over there and pray." [37]And taking with him [n]Peter and [o]the two sons of Zebedee, he began to be sorrowful and troubled. [38]Then he said to them, [p]"My soul is very sorrowful, even to death; remain here, and [q]watch [4] with me." [39][†]And going a little farther he fell on his face [r]and prayed, saying, "My Father, if it be possible, let [s]this cup pass from me; [t]nevertheless, not as I will, but as you will." [40]And he came to the disciples and found them sleeping. And he said to Peter, "So, could you not watch with me one hour? [41][†][q]Watch and [u]pray that you [v]may not enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak." [42]Again, for the second time, he went away and prayed, "My Father, if this cannot pass unless I drink it, [w]your will be done." [43]And again he came and found them sleeping, for [x]their eyes were heavy. [44]So, leaving them again, he went away and prayed for [y]the third time, saying the same words again. [45]Then he came to the disciples and said to them, "Sleep and take your rest later on. [5] See, [z]the hour is at hand, and [a]the Son of Man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. [46]Rise, let us be going; see, my betrayer is at hand."

Betrayal and Arrest of Jesus

[47][†] [b]While he was still speaking, [c]Judas came, one of the twelve, and with him a great crowd with swords and clubs, from the chief priests and the elders of the people. [48][†]Now the betrayer had given them a sign, saying, “The one I will kiss is the man; seize him.” [49][†]And he came up to Jesus at once and said, “Greetings, [d]Rabbi!” And he kissed him. [50][†]Jesus said to him, [e]“Friend, [f]do what you came to do.” [6] Then they came up and laid hands on Jesus and seized him. [51][†]And behold, one of those who were with Jesus stretched out his hand and drew his [g]sword and struck the servant [7] of the high priest and cut off his ear. [52]Then Jesus said to him, “Put your sword back into its place. For [h]all who take the sword will perish by the sword. [53][†] [i]Do you think that I cannot appeal to my Father, and he will at once send me [j]more than twelve [k]legions of angels? [54] [l]But how then should the Scriptures be fulfilled, that it must be so?” [55]At that hour Jesus said to the crowds, “Have you come out as against a robber, with swords and clubs to capture me? Day after day [m]I sat in the temple [n]teaching, and you did not seize me. [56][†]But [l]all this has taken place that the Scriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled.” [o]Then all the disciples left him and fled.

Jesus Before Caiaphas and the Council

[57][†] [p]Then [q]those who had seized Jesus led him to [r]Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders had gathered. [58]And [s]Peter was following him at a distance, as far as [r]the courtyard of the high priest, and going inside he sat with [t]the guards to see the end. [59][†]Now the chief priests and the whole council [8] [u]were seeking false testimony against Jesus that they might put him to death, [60]but they found none, [v]though many false witnesses came forward. At last [w]two came forward [61][†]and said, “This man said, [x]‘I am able to [y]destroy the temple of God, and to rebuild it in three days.’” [62]And the high priest stood up and said, “Have you no answer to make? What is it that these men testify against you?” [9] [63][†] [z]But Jesus remained silent. [a]And the high priest said to him, [b]“I adjure you by [c]the living God, [d]tell us if you are [e]the Christ, [f]the Son of God.” 64[†]Jesus said to him, [g]“You have said so. But I tell you, from now on [h]you will see the Son of Man [i]seated at the right hand of Power and [h]coming on the clouds of heaven.” 65[†]Then the high priest [j]tore his robes and said, [k]“He has uttered blasphemy. What further witnesses do we need? You have now heard his blasphemy. 66[†]What is your judgment?” They answered, [l]“He deserves death.” 67Then [m]they spit in his face [n]and [o]struck him. And some slapped him, 68saying, “Prophesy to us, you [p]Christ! Who is it that struck you?”

Peter Denies Jesus

69 [q]Now Peter was sitting outside [r]in the courtyard. And a servant girl came up to him and said, “You also were with Jesus the Galilean.” 70But he denied it before them all, saying, “I do not know what you mean.” 71[†]And when he went out to the entrance, another servant girl saw him, and she said to the bystanders, “This man was with Jesus [s]of Nazareth.” 72And again he denied it with an oath: “I do not know the man.” 73[†]After a little while the bystanders came up and said to Peter, “Certainly you too are one of them, for [t]your accent betrays you.” 74[†]Then he began to invoke a curse on himself and to swear, “I do not know the man.” And immediately the rooster crowed. 75And Peter remembered the saying of Jesus, [u]“Before the rooster crows, you will [v]deny me three times.” And he went out and wept bitterly.

Jesus Delivered to Pilate

MATTHEW 27 [†] [w]When morning came, all the chief priests and the elders of the people [x]took counsel against Jesus to put him to death. 2[†]And they bound him and [y]led him away and [z]delivered him over to [a]Pilate the governor.

Judas Hangs Himself

3[†]Then when [b]Judas, his betrayer, saw that Jesus [1] was condemned, [c]he changed his mind and brought back [d]the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and the elders, 4saying, “I have sinned by betraying innocent blood.”

They said, “What is that to us? [e]See to it yourself.” [5][†]And throwing down the pieces of silver into the temple, [f]he departed, and he went and hanged himself. [6][†]But the chief priests, taking the pieces of silver, said, “It is not lawful to put them into [g]the treasury, since it is blood money.” [7][†]So they took counsel and bought with them the potter’s field as a burial place for strangers. [8]Therefore [h]that field has been called the Field of Blood [i]to this day. [9][†][j]Then was fulfilled what had been spoken by the prophet Jeremiah, saying, [k]“And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the price of him on whom a price had been set by some of the sons of Israel, [10]and they gave them for the potter’s field, as the Lord directed me.”

Jesus Before Pilate

[11][†][l]Now Jesus stood before the governor, and the governor asked him, “Are you [m]the King of the Jews?” Jesus said, [n]“You have said so.” [12][o]But when he was accused by the chief priests and elders, he gave no answer. [13]Then Pilate said to him, [p]“Do you not hear how many things they testify against you?” [14]But he gave him no answer, not even to a single charge, so that the governor was greatly amazed.

The Crowd Chooses Barabbas

[15][†][q]Now at the feast the governor was accustomed to release for the crowd any one prisoner whom they wanted. [16]And they had then a notorious prisoner called Barabbas. [17]So when they had gathered, Pilate said to them, “Whom do you want me to release for you: Barabbas, or [r]Jesus who is called Christ?” [18]For he knew that it was out [s]of envy that they had delivered him up. [19][†]Besides, while he was sitting on [t]the judgment seat, his wife sent word to him, “Have nothing to do with [u]that righteous man, for I have suffered much because of him today [v]in a dream.” [20]Now the chief priests and the elders persuaded the crowd to [w]ask for Barabbas and destroy Jesus. [21]The governor again said to them, “Which of the two do you want me to release for you?” And they said, “Barabbas.” [22]Pilate said to them, “Then what shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ?” [x]They all said, “Let him be crucified!” [23]And he said, “Why,

[y] what evil has he done?” But they shouted all the more, “Let him be crucified!”

Pilate Delivers Jesus to Be Crucified

[24][†]So when Pilate saw that he was gaining nothing, but rather that [z] a riot was beginning, he took water and [a] washed his hands before the crowd, saying, “I am innocent of [b] this man’s blood; [2] [c] see to it yourselves.” [25][†]And all the people answered, [d] “His blood be on us and [e] on our children!” [26][†]Then he released for them Barabbas, and having [f] scourged [3] Jesus, delivered him to be crucified.

Jesus Is Mocked

[27][†] [g] Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the [h] governor’s headquarters, [4] and they gathered the whole [i] battalion [5] before him. [28][†]And they stripped him and put [j] a scarlet robe on him, [29]and twisting together a crown of thorns, they put it on his head and put a reed in his right hand. And kneeling before him, they [k] mocked him, saying, “Hail, [l] King of the Jews!” [30]And [m] they spit on him and took the reed and struck him on the head. [31]And when they had mocked him, they stripped him of the robe and put his own clothes on him and [n] led him away to crucify him.

The Crucifixion

[32][†] [o] [p] As they went out, they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name. They compelled this man to [o] carry his cross. [33][†] [q] And when they came to a place called Golgotha (which means Place of a Skull), [34][†] [r] they offered him wine to drink, mixed with [s] gall, but when he tasted it, he would not drink it. [35][†]And when they had crucified him, [t] they divided his garments among them by casting lots. [36]Then they sat down and [u] kept watch over him there. [37][†]And over his head they put the charge against him, which read, “This is Jesus, [v] the King of the Jews.” [38][†]Then two [w] robbers were crucified with him, [x] one on the right and one on the left. [39][†]And [y] those who passed by [z] derided him, [a] wagging their heads [40]and saying, [b] “You who would destroy the temple and rebuild it in three days, save yourself! [c] If you are [d] the Son of God, come down from the cross.” [41][†]So also the chief priests, with the scribes and elders, mocked him, saying, [42] [e] “He saved others; [f] he cannot save himself. [g] He is the King of Israel; let him come down now from the cross, and we will believe in him. [43] [h] He trusts in God; let God deliver him now, if he desires him. For he said, ‘I am the Son of God.’” [44] [i] And the robbers who were crucified with him also reviled him in the same way.

The Death of Jesus

[45][†]Now from the sixth hour [6] there was darkness over all the land [7] until the ninth hour. [8] [46][†]And about the ninth hour Jesus [j] cried out with a loud voice, saying, [k] “Eli, Eli, lema sabachthani?” that is, “My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?” [47][†]And some of the bystanders, hearing it, said, “This man is calling Elijah.” [48][†]And one of them at once ran and took a sponge, filled it with [l] sour wine, and put it on a reed and [m] gave it to him to drink. [49]But the others said, “Wait, let us see whether Elijah will come to save him.” [50][†]And Jesus [n] cried out again with a loud voice and [o] yielded up his spirit.

[51][†]And behold, [p] the curtain of the temple was torn in two, from top to bottom. And [q] the earth shook, and the rocks were split. [52][†]The tombs also were opened. And many bodies of [r] the saints [s] who had fallen asleep were raised, [53]and coming out of the tombs after his resurrection they went into [t] the holy city and appeared to many. [54] [u] When the centurion and those who were with him, [v] keeping watch over Jesus, saw the earthquake and what took place, they were filled with awe and said, [w] “Truly this was the Son [9] of God!”

[55][†]There were also [x] many women there, looking on [y] from a distance, who had followed Jesus from Galilee, [z] ministering to him, [56]among whom were [z] Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of James and Joseph and [a] the mother of the sons of Zebedee.

Jesus Is Buried

57[†] [b] When it was evening, there came a rich man from Arimathea, named Joseph, who also was a disciple of Jesus. 58He went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. Then Pilate ordered it to be given to him. 59And Joseph took the body and wrapped it in a clean linen shroud 60and [c] laid it in his own new tomb, [d] which he had cut in the rock. And he rolled [e] a great stone to the entrance of the tomb and went away. 61[†]Mary Magdalene and [f] the other Mary were there, sitting opposite the tomb.

The Guard at the Tomb

62[†]The next day, that is, after the day of [g] Preparation, the chief priests and the Pharisees gathered before Pilate 63and said, “Sir, we remember how [h] that impostor said, while he was still alive, [i] ‘After three days I will rise.’ 64Therefore order the tomb to be made secure until the third day, [j] lest his disciples go and steal him away and tell the people, ‘He has risen from the dead,’ and the last fraud will be worse than the first.” 65[†]Pilate said to them, “You have [k] a guard [10] of soldiers. Go, make it as secure as you can.” 66So they went and made the tomb secure by [l] sealing the stone and setting a guard.

The Resurrection

MATTHEW 28 [†] [m] Now after the Sabbath, toward the dawn of the first day of the week, Mary Magdalene and [n] the other Mary went to see the tomb. 2[†]And behold, there was a great earthquake, for [o] an angel of the Lord descended from heaven and came and rolled back the stone and sat on it. 3[†] [p] His appearance was like lightning, and [q] his clothing white as snow. 4And for fear of him the guards trembled and [r] became like dead men. 5But the angel said to the women, “Do not be afraid, for I know that you seek Jesus who was crucified. 6He is not here, for he has risen, [s] as he said. Come, see the place where he [1] lay. 7[†]Then go quickly and tell his disciples that he has risen from the dead, and behold, [t] he is going before you to Galilee; there you will see him. See, I have told you.” 8So they departed quickly from the tomb [u] with fear and great joy, and ran to tell his disciples. [9][†]And behold, Jesus [v]met them and said, “Greetings!” And they came up and [w]took hold of his feet and [x]worshiped him. [10][†]Then Jesus said to them, “Do not be afraid; [y]go and tell [z]my brothers to go to Galilee, and there they will see me.”

The Report of the Guard

[11][†]While they were going, behold, some of [a]the guard went into the city and told the chief priests all that had taken place. [12]And when they had assembled with the elders and taken counsel, they gave a sufficient sum of money to the soldiers [13]and said, “Tell people, [b]‘His disciples came by night and stole him away while we were asleep.’ [14]And if this comes to [c]the governor’s ears, we will [d]satisfy him and keep you out of trouble.”
[15]So they took the money and did as they were directed. And this story has been spread among the Jews [e]to this day.

The Great Commission

[16]Now the eleven disciples [f]went to Galilee, to the mountain to which Jesus had directed them. [17][†]And when they saw him they [g]worshiped him, but some doubted. [18][†]And Jesus came and said to them, [h]“All authority [i]in heaven and on earth has been given to me. [19][†][j]Go therefore and [k]make disciples of [l]all nations, [j]baptizing them [m]in [2] [n]the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, [20][†]teaching them [o]to observe all that [p]I have commanded you. And behold, [q]I am with you always, to [r]the end of the age.”

Study Notes for Matthew

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:1–2:23 The Arrival of Jesus the Messiah. Matthew's introduction echoes Genesis. The word in 1:1 rendered "genealogy" (Greek genesis) implies that it is a book of "beginnings" (see note on Gen. 2:4). "The book of the genealogy" appears to function as a heading for the genealogy (Matt. 1:2–17) and as a title for the entire story: a new beginning with the arrival of Jesus the Messiah and the kingdom of God.

FACT

From Malachi to Matthew. Malachi, the last book of the OT, was a message of encouragement for the Jews who had returned from exile in Babylon. Matthew wrote his Gospel more than 400 years later. The Jews still lived in their homeland, but under the oppressive rule of Rome. Matthew tells the good news about how Jesus the Messiah fulfills the promises of God in the OT.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:1–17 Jews kept extensive genealogies to establish a person's legitimacy and inheritance rights. Matthew likely draws on the genealogies of the OT, with some omissions (see note on v. 17). He demonstrates Jesus' legal claim to the throne of David. Genealogies had more than one function in the ancient world. Sometimes they traced a specific family's history, offering a fairly complete list of descendants. Or they could focus on a longer period of time, listing one ancestor in each generation, often skipping some generations. Sometimes genealogies traced national or human history. They then used important figures to divide history into major parts. Matthew's genealogy is an example of this second kind of genealogy.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:1 The book of the genealogy. The Gospel's opening words carried special significance for a Jewish audience. Their ancestry was linked with God's covenants with Israel. Jesus was a common name. It is "Joshua" in Hebrew, meaning "Yahweh saves." Christ, which means "anointed," points back to David as the anointed king of Israel and to the promise of an "anointed one," the Messiah, who would rule God's people (2 Sam. 7:11b–16). Son of David points to his royal lineage. son of Abraham.

God’s covenant with Abraham established Israel as a chosen people. It also affirmed that the whole world would be blessed through his family (Gen. 12:1–3; 22:18).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:3 The inclusion of five women in Jesus’ genealogy—Tamar, Rahab and Ruth (v. 5), Bathsheba (“the wife of Uriah,” v. 6), and Mary (v. 16)—is unusual. Descent was usually traced through men as the head of the family. It is also remarkable that three of the women (Tamar, Rahab, and Bathsheba) were of questionable character and two of the women (Rahab and Ruth) were Gentiles.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:6b–11 Matthew may have drawn from 1 Chron. 3:10–14. Both genealogies omit several of the kings found in the books of Kings and Chronicles. Such omissions were a common practice in genealogies (see note on Matt. 1:1–17).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:12 Jechoniah (2 Kings 24:8–9) was so evil that his family was cursed (Jer. 22:30). Yet the legal claim to the throne could still come through Jechoniah’s line.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:16–17 Jesus is the rightful legal heir to the covenant promises associated with David (v. 6) and Abraham (vv. 1–2).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:17 fourteen generations. Matthew does not mean all the generations that had lived during those times; see note on vv. 6b–11. Rather, he counts 14 generations within each major section. He uses the genealogy as a way to mark the major periods of Israel’s history.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:18 Mary had been betrothed to Joseph. In the custom of betrothal, parents chose a young woman to be engaged to their son. A second stage of betrothal involved official arrangements and a legally binding marriage agreement before witnesses. Only a formal process of divorce could break a betrothal.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:19 Betrothed partners were referred to as husband and “wife” (v. 20), though they were not yet married. Having sexual relations during betrothal was considered adultery.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:20 The angel of the Lord is Gabriel (see Luke 1:26).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:21 Jesus. See note on v. 1. save his people from their sins. See Isa. 40:2; 53:6; Jer. 31:31–34.

JOSEPH

Joseph, whom the Bible describes as a "just man" (Matt. 1:19), was a descendant of David and a carpenter by trade. Betrothed to Mary when she was found to be with child, Joseph sought to show compassion and divorce her quietly, even though it looked like Mary had committed adultery. An angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, however, assuring him that Mary's child was from the Holy Spirit (Matt. 1:20–21). Joseph trusted God and took Mary as his wife. He traveled with Mary to his ancestral home of Bethlehem, where she gave birth to Jesus. When Herod the Great sought to kill Jesus, Joseph took Mary and the child and escaped to Egypt (Matt. 2:13–18). Following Herod's death, they returned to Palestine and settled in Nazareth. Joseph later fathered at least four other sons and at least two daughters. Since he is not mentioned in the incident related in Matt. 12:46, it is likely that Joseph died before Jesus began his ministry. (Matthew 1:19–21)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:22 All this took place to fulfill. Matthew often points to an event or teaching of Jesus that fulfills an OT passage. He does this to indicate: (1) a direct prediction and fulfillment (e.g., vv. 22–23); (2) the intended full meaning of the OT Scripture (e.g., 5:17–20); or (3) a person or event that corresponds to Israel's history (e.g., 2:15, 17–18).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:23 the virgin. The Greek word corresponds to the Hebrew term in Isa. 7:14 (see note there). The prophecy in Isa. 7:14 points to God's enduring promise for the line of David. Matthew thus presents the virgin birth of Jesus as God's miraculous fulfillment of this promise.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 1:24 he took his wife. See notes on vv. 18, 19.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 2:1 Bethlehem of Judea. Located about 6 miles (9.7 km) south of Jerusalem. Jesus' birth in Bethlehem marks him as being from the tribe of Judah and from the city that produced the Davidic kings (1 Sam. 17:12; see note on Luke 2:3–4). Herod the king (Herod the Great) ruled Israel and Judah 37–4 B.C. He was appointed by Rome to be king of the Jews. He ruled firmly and at times ruthlessly. He murdered his wife, several of his own sons, and other relatives. He restored the temple in Jerusalem and built many theaters, cities, palaces, and fortresses throughout the Roman Empire. The term wise men referred to a wide range of people whose practices included astrology, dream interpretation, study of sacred writings, the pursuit of wisdom, and magic. As much as two years may have passed since the events of Matthew 1 (see note on 2:11).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 2:2 we saw his star when it rose. Through interaction with Jews in Babylon, the wise men would likely have been familiar with OT prophecy (e.g., Num. 24:17). The movement of the star (Matt. 2:9) suggests that it was a supernatural phenomenon. The wise men likely traveled with a large number of attendants and guards. The journey would have taken several weeks.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 2:4 The chief priests were in charge of temple activities. scribes. Experts in handling written documents. In Israel, their duties included teaching, interpreting, and applying the Mosaic law. The concept of "King of the Jews" had become associated with the Christ, the Messiah.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 2:5–6 Bethlehem. See Mic. 5:2.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 2:9 the star . . . went before them. The star led them specifically to Bethlehem.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 2:11 The wise men arrived up to two years after Jesus' birth. By then Jesus lived in a house. worshiped him. Because of their pagan background, the wise men may not have understood Jesus' divine nature, but their actions were clearly appropriate (see Phil. 2:9–11; Rev. 7:9–10). gold and frankincense and myrrh. The number of gifts contributed to the tradition that there were three men, but their actual number is unknown. Frankincense is resin which was used in OT times as incense on the altar (Ex. 30:9, 34–38). Myrrh is sap used in incense and perfume. The gifts probably supported Jesus' family when they fled to Egypt (Matt. 2:13–15).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 2:13 flee to Egypt. The Egyptian border was approximately 90 miles (146 km) south of Bethlehem. There, they would be free from Herod's power.

Jesus' Birth and Flight to Egypt

As the time drew near for Jesus to be born, a mandatory Roman census made it necessary for Joseph to return to his ancestral home of Bethlehem. There Mary gave birth to Jesus, and later, wise men from the east came to worship him. The wise men's recognition of a new king, however, troubled King Herod and the ruling establishment in Jerusalem, and Herod sought to kill Jesus. Joseph and his family escaped to Egypt and remained there until Herod died. When they returned to Palestine, they settled in the remote district of Galilee, where Jesus grew up in the northern village of Nazareth, to avoid the attention of the rulers in Jerusalem.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 2:15 fulfill. The prophet Hosea recounted how God had faithfully brought Israel, God's "son," out of Egypt in the exodus (Hos. 2:15). Matthew cites this in reference to Jesus, God's true Son.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 2:16 all the male children in Bethlehem . . . two years old or under. The small village may have had 10 to 30 boys of that age. Herod the Great's question to the wise men about the time of the appearing of the star (1:7) gave him an estimated time of Jesus' birth.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 2:17–18 Jeremiah described the mothers of Israel (Rachel) mourning for their children who had been carried off into exile (Jer. 31:15). Like the exile, the attempt on Jesus' life was intended to wipe out the chosen one of God.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 2:22 Archelaus was one of Herod the Great's sons. He followed Herod as ruler over Judea, Samaria, and Idumea, from 4 B.C.–A.D. 6. He was cruel like his father, and the Jews hated him. Fearing a revolution from the people, Caesar Augustus removed him from power.

HEROD THE GREAT

Herod the Great ruled Israel and Judah from 37 to 4 B.C. He was an Idumean (or Edomite), and was appointed king of the Jews under the authority of Rome. Herod ruled firmly and often ruthlessly, murdering any who might challenge his place on the throne. This included his own wife, several sons, and other relatives. It is no surprise, then, that he tried to kill the baby Jesus. Despite his cruelty, Herod was known as "the Great" because Israel and Judah experienced prosperity during his reign. He was a master builder who restored the temple in Jerusalem and built many theaters, cities, palaces, and fortresses. Herod also financed structures—including pagan temples—throughout the Roman Empire. Ravaged by disease, Herod died in his palace at Jericho and was buried at Herodium. (Matthew 2:16–18)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 2:23 Nazareth is halfway between the Mediterranean Sea and the Sea of Galilee. It was a relatively small village. Joseph and Mary had come from Nazareth (see Luke 1:26–27; 2:39). he would be called a Nazarene. Matthew is not quoting any specific OT prophecy but is referring to a general theme in the OT prophets (plural). They foretold that the Messiah would be despised (see Isa. 53:3), and the town of Nazareth was despised in Jesus' time (see John 1:46; 7:41, 52). Matthew may also have intended a wordplay connecting the word "Nazareth" to the messianic prophecy in Isa. 11:1; "Nazareth" sounds like the Hebrew word for "branch," which was a term for the Messiah.

FACT

A humble hometown. Jesus' parents came from Nazareth, a small town halfway between the Mediterranean Sea and the Sea of Galilee. They returned to Nazareth from Egypt after having fled there from the wrath of Herod (2:19–23). The people of Jesus' day despised Nazareth (John 1:46).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 3:1–17 John the Baptist Prepares for the Messianic Kingdom. John now appears, preaching in the Judean desert. It is more than 25 years since Joseph and his family moved back to Nazareth. Matthew's focus shifts to Jesus' public ministry.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 3:2 To repent, or "change one's mind," called for a change in a person's attitude toward God that affected one's actions and life choices. The term kingdom of heaven is found only in Matthew's Gospel. It is interchangeable with "kingdom of God," found in the other Gospels (compare 19:14 and Mark 10:14). is at hand. The kingdom of heaven has begun in the person of Jesus (the Messiah). See note on Matt. 4:17.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 3:3 John the Baptist fulfills Isa. 40:3. He also fulfills the prophecies in Malachi about the messenger who prepares the way for the Lord (Mal. 3:1; compare Matt. 11:10) and about Elijah (Mal. 4:5–6; compare Matt. 11:14; 17:10–13; Luke 1:17).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 3:4 a garment of camel's hair. John's appearance was common to nomads. Locusts and wild honey were (and still are) a source of food for people living in the desert.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 3:5–6 "Baptize" means "to plunge, dip, immerse." When people were baptized by him, going under the water symbolized the cleansing of sin.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 3:7 The Pharisees were Jewish laymen, popular with the common people and connected to local synagogues. They followed extensive extrabiblical traditions, which they carefully obeyed as a means of applying the law to daily life. The Sadducees were a small, aristocratic, priestly group. They received their authority from the activities of the temple.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 3:11 baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire. John's water baptism will be replaced by the baptism associated with the Messiah, he who is coming (see note on 1 Cor. 12:13). The Holy Spirit will be “poured out” (compare Joel 2:28–29; Acts 2:16–21). Unbelievers will receive the judgment of eternal fire. Even those who repent may endure a purifying fire.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 3:12 Winnowing fork (see Ruth 3:2) signifies the separation of those who repent and those who do not.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 3:15 fulfill all righteousness. Jesus’ baptism begins his ministry and fulfills God’s saving activity prophesied throughout the OT (see John 1:31–34). Although he needed no repentance or cleansing, Jesus is baptized to identify with the sinful people he came to save through his substitutionary life and death (compare 2 Cor. 5:21).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 3:16 The Spirit of God anoints Jesus as Israel’s King and Messiah and commissions him as God’s righteous “servant” (see Isa. 42:1).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 3:17 The voice from heaven confirms the eternal relationship that the Son and Father share. It also identifies Jesus as the messianic Son of God (Ps. 2:7).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:1–25 Jesus the Messiah Begins to Advance the Messianic Kingdom. Jesus triumphs over the devil in the wilderness (vv. 1–11), proclaims the kingdom of God (vv. 12–17), and calls disciples to follow him (vv. 18–22).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:1 Jesus was led up by the Spirit. The Greek for tempted can also mean “tested.” God never tempts anyone to do evil (see note on James 1:13), but he uses circumstances to test a person’s character (see Heb. 11:17).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:2 fasting forty days and forty nights. Jesus’ 40 days of fasting in the wilderness corresponds to Israel’s 40 years of testing in the wilderness (Deut. 8:2–3). Moses also fasted and prayed for 40 days and nights on two occasions (Ex. 24:18; 34:28; see also Elijah in 1 Kings 19:8). Fasting was a means of focusing on prayer.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:3 If you are the Son of God. Despite the devil’s tempting offer, Jesus refused to use his divine power to make the trial any easier for himself.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:4 It is written. Jesus responds by quoting Deut. 8:2.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:5 The holy city is Jerusalem. The pinnacle of the temple is probably the southeast corner of the temple area, the top of which was 300 feet (91 m) above the floor of the Kidron Valley (see Herod’s Temple Complex in the Time of Jesus).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:6–7 for it is written. Such a spectacular display as jumping from this great height unharmed (compare Psalm 91) might have gained Jesus an enthusiastic following. But it would not have followed God’s plan for Jesus’ work as Messiah.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:9 fall down and worship me. The devil offers Jesus a way to rule the world that avoids the cross and exchanges worship of God for worship of Satan. All these I will give you was a lie (see note on Luke 4:5–8).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:12–25 These verses mark the beginning of Jesus’ Galilean ministry. It is traditionally thought that Jesus’ ministry lasted three years: a year of obscurity, a year of popularity, and a year of increasing rejection. Matthew, Mark, and Luke do not say much about the first, obscure year, but it is recounted in John’s Gospel (see John 1–4).

Jesus' Ministry in Galilee

Jesus spent most of his life and ministry in the region of Galilee, a mountainous area in northern Palestine. He grew up in the hill town of Nazareth, about 3.5 miles (5.6 km) south of the Gentile administrative center of Sepphoris. Soon after he began his public ministry, Jesus relocated to Capernaum on the Sea of Galilee. By Jesus' time, a thriving fishing industry had developed around the Sea, and several of Jesus' disciples were fishermen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:12 John had been arrested and imprisoned by Herod Antipas, one of Herod the Great's sons (see 11:2; 14:1–12).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:13 Capernaum was on the northern shore of the Sea of Galilee. It was Jesus' base of operations for his ministry in Galilee.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:16 darkness . . . light. See Isa. 9:1. The region of Zebulun and Naphtali (Matt. 4:13) was devastated by Assyria in 732 B.C. (2 Kings 15:29). They are now the first to see the great light of God's deliverance in Jesus.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:17 From that time marks a significant turning point in Matthew's Gospel (compare 16:21). It indicates that the preparations for Jesus' messianic ministry are complete. Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. Jesus' message builds on John the Baptist's (see note on 3:2).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:18–22 Peter, James, and John become the inner circle among Jesus' 12 disciples.

FACT

At 700 feet (213 m) below sea level, the Sea of Galilee is the lowest-lying freshwater lake on earth. Galilee has no natural harbors, and its low elevation coupled with the steep hills surrounding it can cause unpredictable storms. Nonetheless, its wealth of fish made Galilee popular with fishermen, who built artificial harbors to bring in their catch.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:18–19 Simon (who is called Peter) and Andrew. These brothers had been followers of Jesus for about a year (see John 1:35–42).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:21 A boat, dated from the first century A.D. or earlier, was found in the Sea of Galilee in 1986. Approximately 26.5 feet long and 7.5 feet wide (8 m by 2.3 m), it could hold about 15 people.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:23 The Galilee region had 200 or more villages and towns, but no major cities. Healing of every disease and every affliction gives a preview of the age to come (Phil. 3:21; Rev. 21:4). On synagogues, see note on Luke 4:16 and The Synagogue and Jewish Worship.

JAMES

James and his brother John were fishermen. Together with their father Zebedee, they were mending their nets when Jesus called them to be disciples. Jesus called James and John the “Sons of Thunder” (Mark 3:17; see Luke 9:54). James, along with Peter and John, were the disciples closest to Jesus. They were with the Lord during many of the key moments of his ministry. James was with Jesus at the Transfiguration, where Jesus revealed his divine glory. He was also with Jesus when he healed Jairus’s daughter (Mark 5:37). When Jesus prayed at Gethsemane, he asked James, John, and Peter to share with him the agonizing time of anticipation and sorrow as he faced the cross (Matt. 26:37). James was later executed by Herod, becoming the first apostle to die for his faith (Acts 12:1–3). (Matthew 4:21–22)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:24 Syria. A Gentile region north of Galilee.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 4:25 Great crowds followed Jesus, but they had not yet become his disciples (compare 5:1). Decapolis (Greek “ten cities”) is the predominantly Gentile district to the south and east of the Sea of Galilee. Beyond the Jordan commonly referred to the region of Perea, or more generally the territory east of the Jordan River.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:1–7:29 The Authoritative Message of the Messiah: Kingdom Life for His Disciples. This is the first of five major teaching sections in Matthew (chs. 5–7; 10; 13; 18–20; 24–25). Speaking to his disciples (5:1), Jesus explains the reality of discipleship in the everyday world through the presence and power of the kingdom of God. These teachings form a challenging but practical systems of ethics that Jesus expects his followers to live by in this present age. This “Sermon on the Mount” is probably a summary of a longer message that Jesus may have given a number of times in various forms (compare the “Sermon on the Plain” in Luke 6:17–49).

FACT

Jesus encourages his disciples to call God their Father (6:6, 9). This reminds believers that God has adopted them as his children because of Jesus (see Rom. 8:15; Gal. 4:6). In Aramaic, the language spoken by Jesus, “Abba” was the word for father (see Mark 14:36).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:1 mountain. Matthew does not give the location of this sermon. The traditional site is northwest of Capernaum, on a ridge of hills overlooking the Sea of Galilee. This ridge is likely also where Jesus went “to a desolate place” (14:13; compare Mark 1:35) and where he went “up on the mountain” (Matt. 14:23; 28:16). he sat down. Teachers in Judaism typically taught while sitting (see 13:1–2; 15:29; 23:2; 24:3–4; 26:55).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:2 He taught them, that is, his disciples who had come to him (v. 1).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:3–12 The Beatitudes (from Latin for “blessed, happy”) all begin with “Blessed are . . .” These short statements summarize the Sermon on the Mount.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:3 Blessed is a state of well-being in relationship to God. The poor in spirit are those who recognize they need God’s help.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:4 those who mourn. Recognizing one’s sin should lead to mourning and longing for God’s forgiveness and healing (see 2 Cor. 7:10).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:5 The meek do not assert themselves over others in order to further their own agendas in their own strength. Compare Ps. 37:11.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:6 Those who hunger and thirst for righteousness long for God’s righteous character to be evident in people’s lives.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:8 In contrast to Jewish traditions that emphasized ritual purity, Jesus taught that purity of heart was most important (see note on v. 28).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:9 peacemakers. Those who promote God’s message of peace through Jesus the Messiah will receive the ultimate reward of being called sons of God (see note on Gal. 3:26).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:13 As salt is beneficial in a number of ways (preservative, seasoning, etc.), so are disciples of Jesus who influence the world for good.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:17–20 These verses explain how Jesus and the kingdom fulfill the Law of Moses. This is the key to interpreting the Sermon on the Mount and indeed the whole of Jesus’ ministry.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:17 abolish the Law or the Prophets. The "Law" refers to the first five books of the OT. The "Prophets" includes the rest of the OT (see 13:35, which cites Ps. 78:2; on "Law [and the] Prophets," see Matt. 7:12; 11:13; 22:40; Rom. 3:21). but to fulfill them. Jesus "fulfills" all of the OT in that it all points to him, not only in its specific predictions of a Messiah but also in its sacrificial system, in many events in Israel's history, and in the laws and principles which only Jesus perfectly obeyed (see Matt. 2:15; 11:13; 12:3–6, 39–41, 42; also Luke 24:27). Jesus' ministry does not replace OT teaching. Instead, Jesus' life and teaching clarify the proper understanding of the OT.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:18 until heaven and earth pass away. Jesus confirms the OT's full authority as Scripture for all time (compare 2 Tim. 3:15–16), even down to the smallest parts of the written text. An iota is the smallest letter of the Greek alphabet (compare the yod of the Hebrew alphabet). The dot likely refers to a tiny stroke or a part of a letter used to tell the difference between Hebrew letters. not . . . pass from the Law. The OT remains an authoritative account of divine testimony and teaching. Some of those teachings, however, such as sacrifices and other ceremonial laws, foreshadowed events that would be accomplished in Jesus' ministry (see note on Gal. 4:10) and therefore are not required of Christians. Until all is accomplished points to Jesus' fulfillment of specific OT hopes, partly through his earthly life, death, and resurrection, and then more fully after his second coming.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:19 these commandments. The rabbis recognized a distinction between "light" commandments (such as tithing garden produce) and "weighty" commandments (such as those concerning idolatry, murder, etc.). Jesus demands a commitment to both, yet condemns those who confuse the two (see 23:23–24).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:20 The scribes and Pharisees took pride in their outward obedience to extrabiblical regulations. But they still had impure hearts (see 23:5, 23, 27–28). Kingdom righteousness works from the inside out as it produces changed hearts (Rom. 6:17; 2 Cor. 5:17).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:21–48 You have heard that it was said (vv. 21, 27, etc.). Jesus does not correct the OT (see note on v. 43); rather, he corrects common misunderstandings of the OT.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:21 Murder is prohibited by the sixth commandment (Ex. 20:13). It carried the death penalty under OT law (Num. 35:31). See notes on Num. 35:9–34; 35:16–21.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:22 angry. Anger typically includes a desire to damage or destroy the other person (see v. 21; James 4:1–2). Calling someone a fool is closely related to anger. It represents a destructive attack on the person's character and identity.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:23–24 First be reconciled. The one who initiates the reconciliation here is the one who has wronged the other person.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:25–26 Come to terms quickly. Failure to reconcile will have disastrous consequences on a human level, but much more so if one is not reconciled to God. (Regarding lawsuits, see note on 1 Cor. 6:1.)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:28 with lustful intent (literally, "for the purpose of lusting for her"). It is not enough to maintain physical purity alone. One must also guard against mental acts of unfaithfulness (see Ex. 20:17; compare Ps. 19:14).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:29–30 right eye . . . right hand. The right side often stood for the more powerful or important. The eye is the medium through which one is tempted to sin. The hand is used to commit all sorts of sin. cut it off. Jesus uses deliberate overstatement to emphasize the importance of maintaining exclusive devotion to one's spouse (compare vv. 27–28). See note on Mark 9:43–48.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:31–32 This passage reflects the fact that divorce and remarriage were widely practiced in the first century. A certificate of divorce gave a woman the right to remarry. But I say to you. God's rule upheld marriage and protected women from being divorced for no reason. (See notes on Deut. 24:1–4; Matt. 19:8.) Here and in 19:3–9, Jesus bases his teaching on God's original intention that marriage should be a permanent union of a man and woman as "one flesh" (Mark 10:8). Sexual immorality can refer to adultery, prostitution, incest, or other types of sex outside of marriage. Scripture prohibits any kind of sexual intercourse outside of marriage (thus forbidding the practice of homosexuality and bestiality as well). Except on the ground of sexual immorality. This implies that when a divorce is obtained because of the sexual immorality of one's spouse, then such a divorce is not morally wrong. But when a man unjustly divorces his wife (that is, when his wife has not been sexually immoral), the husband thus makes her commit adultery when she remarries. Jesus places primary blame on the husband in such cases. (See also note on Matt. 19:9.) Whoever marries a divorced woman means, "whoever marries such a wrongly divorced woman commits adultery." See also notes on 19:3–9; Mark 10:4–6; 10:10–11; 10:12; Luke 16:18; 1 Cor. 7:15.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:33–37 An oath involved using God's name, or substitutes for it, to guarantee the truth of one's statements (see Num. 30:2). Jesus' disciples should be so honest that their words can be believed without an oath.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:38 eye for an eye. God intended this "law of retaliation" to prevent inappropriate punishment. See note on Ex. 21:23–25.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:39 Do not resist the one who is evil. Jesus does not prohibit governments, police, or soldiers from using force when opposing evil (see notes on Luke 3:12–14; Rom. 13:1–4; 1 Pet. 2:13–14). Rather, Jesus prohibits the human tendency to seek personal revenge (see note on Rom. 12:17–19). if anyone slaps you on the right cheek, turn to him the other also. One should not return an insulting slap. However, acting in love toward an attacker (Matt. 5:44; 22:39) often includes preventing him from attempting further attacks. Jesus does not prohibit self-defense or fleeing from harm (see 1 Sam. 19:10; Luke 4:29–30; John 8:59).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:42 Give to the one who begs from you. Christians should help those who are truly needy (and are therefore forced to beg). They are not required to give foolishly (see 7:6), to give to a lazy person who is not in need (2 Thess. 3:10), or to give where giving would do more harm than good.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:43 You have heard that it was said . . . hate your enemy. The OT never says that anyone should hate his or her enemy. In his "you have heard" statements (vv. 21, 27, 33, 38, 43), Jesus corrects misinterpretations of the OT, not the OT itself.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:45 sons. Those who obey God's will through belief in Jesus (compare 12:48–50). (Regarding "sons," see ESV Preface.)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:46–47 In Palestine, tax collectors represented the Roman government. Their own people hated them because they often charged extra taxes and took the money for themselves (see Luke 19:8).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 5:48 Be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect concludes and summarizes vv. 21–48. It shows that all the Law and the Prophets find perfect fulfillment in God the Father's perfection. All Jesus' disciples are called to pursue this perfection.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:2–4 Hypocrites originally referred to Greek actors who wore different masks to play various roles. Jesus expected his disciples to give to the needy.

FACT

A person's motivation for doing good deeds is what counts in God's eyes. The one who seeks praise from others cannot expect any reward from God. It should be enough if only God knows one's good deeds (6:1–4).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:5–15 Prayer was also expected of God's people. Public prayer was a common practice in NT times.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:5–6 stand and pray in the synagogues. At set times, Jews would stop what they were doing and pray. Jesus did not condemn all public prayer, as indicated by his own prayers in public (e.g., 14:19; 15:36). One's internal motivation is his central concern.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:7–8 heap up empty phrases. Pagans repeated the names of their gods or the same words over and over without thinking (see 1 Kings 18:26; Acts 19:34). Jesus prohibits mindless repetition, not the earnest repetition that flows from a worshiping heart (see Psalm 136; Mark 14:39).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:9–13 Jesus gives his disciples an example to follow when praying. The prayer consists of an invocation and six petitions.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:9 Father would have been "Abba" in Aramaic, the everyday language spoken by Jesus (compare Mark 14:36; Rom. 8:15; Gal.

4:6). It was the word used by Jewish children for their earthly fathers. However, since the term in both Aramaic and Greek was also used by adults to address their fathers, the claim that “Abba” meant “Daddy” is misleading. in heaven. The theme of “heavenly Father” is found throughout the OT (Deut. 14:1; 32:6; Ps. 103:13; Jer. 3:4; 31:9; Hos. 11:1). The concern of this first petition is that God’s name would be hallowed, that is, treated with the highest honor and set apart as holy.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:10 Christians are called to pray and work for the continual advancement of God’s kingdom on earth (the second petition; see note on vv. 9–13). The presence of God’s kingdom in this age refers to the reign of Christ in the hearts and lives of believers, and to the reigning presence of Christ in his body, the church. Genuine believers will increasingly reflect Christ’s love, obey his laws, honor him, and proclaim the good news of the kingdom. The third petition speaks of God’s will. This asks that God’s followers will behave in ways that are pleasing to him. Believers on earth will follow God in the same way he is obeyed in heaven.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:11 The fourth petition focuses on the disciples’ daily bread, which includes all of their daily physical needs.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:12 Forgive us our debts (the fifth petition) does not mean that believers need to ask daily for justification, since believers are right with God from the moment of initial saving faith (Rom. 5:1; 8:1). Rather, this is a prayer for the restoration of personal fellowship with God following sin (see note on Col. 2:14).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:13 lead us not into temptation. In this sixth and final petition, “temptation” can also indicate testing (see notes on 4:1; James 1:13). The sense here most likely is, “Allow us to be spared circumstances that would tempt us to sin” (compare Matt. 26:41). deliver us from evil. The Greek word translated “evil” can mean either “evil” or “the evil one,” namely, Satan. “For yours is the kingdom and the power and the glory, forever. Amen” (ESV footnote) is evidently a later scribal addition; the most reliable Greek manuscripts lack these words, but there is nothing theologically incorrect about them (compare 1 Chron. 29:11–13).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:14–15 Forgive your trespasses refers to restoring relationship following sin, not salvation.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:16–18 Various kinds of fasts were practiced in OT times, though the law required only one fast a year, on the Day of Atonement. (Fasting is probably implied by the command to "afflict yourselves"; Lev. 16:29–34). when you fast. Jesus assumes that his disciples will fast. Anointing and washing (Matt. 6:17) signify preparations to enjoy life (see Eccles. 9:7–8).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:19 moth . . . rust . . . thieves. See note on Luke 12:33–34.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:21 Throughout Scripture, the heart refers to the center of one's being. It includes one's emotions, reason, and will. See note on Prov. 4:20–23.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:22–23 The eye (similar to the "heart" in Jewish literature) is a lamp that reveals the quality of a person's inner life. A healthy eye (clear vision) suggests loyal devotion to God. A bad eye (impaired vision) suggests moral corruption.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:24 Serve indicates the work of a slave, not an employee. A slave belongs to one master, so he must give the master exclusive service.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 6:30 Grass was a natural source of fuel for fire and a common biblical metaphor for human frailty (e.g., Ps. 102:4). Little faith implies a deficiency rather than an absence of faith (see Matt. 8:26).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 7:1–2 Judge not forbids pronouncing another person guilty before God. But see note on vv. 3–5.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 7:3–5 The metaphor of a log in your own eye is an intentional overstatement (compare 5:29–30). then you will see clearly to take the speck out of your brother's eye. Jesus does not forbid all evaluation or judgment of others. However, only the person who feels grieved and humbled over his own sin is able to help remove the "speck" from others. What Jesus rules out is pride that views oneself as better than others.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 7:6 In the ancient world, dogs were usually scavengers, not pets (15:26–27; Ps. 59:14–15). Jews used the term to describe unclean people and enemies (1 Sam. 17:43; Ps. 22:16). Pigs were unclean according to OT law. Pearls symbolize the great value of the message of the kingdom of heaven (compare Matt. 13:45–46). Believers should wisely recognize the true character of people and not indefinitely continue proclaiming the gospel to those who keep on rejecting it (compare 10:14; Acts 13:46).

FACT

Today pearls are often grown in oyster or clam farms, but this was not the case in ancient Palestine. Out of a 6,000-pound (2,700 kg) haul of oysters, one might find only three or four perfect pearls. Such priceless objects certainly shouldn’t be thrown to pigs (7:6).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 7:7–11 Ask . . . seek . . . knock. Disciples should come to God in humility and awareness of their need. They should actively pursue God’s will and persist in prayer. They can be confident their Father will provide what is best for them, according to his will.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 7:11 You . . . who are evil is an example of the “how much more” arguments frequently used in Matthew and Luke (e.g., Matt. 10:25; 12:12; Luke 11:13; 12:24; compare Heb. 9:13–14).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 7:12 do also to them. Known as “the Golden Rule,” this verse summarizes the teaching of the Law and the Prophets (see Lev. 19:18; Deut. 6:4–9; and note on Matt. 5:17).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 7:13–14 narrow gate. The way to eternal life is through Jesus alone (see note on Acts 4:12). destruction. Eternal punishment and separation from God.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 7:15–20 Beware of false prophets. The prophet’s life and the results of his influence on others are the fruits that show whether his message is consistent with the teachings of Jesus. fire. Future judgment.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 7:22 mighty works. Compare Acts 19:13–16.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 7:24–27 hears these words of mine and does them. Jesus ends the Sermon on the Mount with a parable. He draws a dividing line between himself and any other foundation for life. The evidence of whether one is truly a believer is in whether one does the words of Jesus (see James 1:22–23; 2:20–22; and notes).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 7:25 the rain fell, and the floods came. During the hot summer months, the sand around the Sea of Galilee was hard on the surface. But a wise builder knew that he needed to dig several feet below the surface to bedrock in order to establish the foundation for his house.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 7:28–29 The scribes cite other rabbis; Jesus has divine authority because of who he is.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:1–9:38 The Authoritative Power of the Messiah: Kingdom Power Demonstrated. Jesus has shown himself to be the Messiah through his teaching (chs. 5–7). Now he shows himself to be the Messiah through performing many miracles. His works demonstrate that the kingdom of God has arrived.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:2–3 leper. The OT provided specific guidelines for the examination and treatment of those with a variety of skin diseases. Generally called leprosy, many of these diseases were highly contagious (see Leviticus 13–14). Lord is the title of respect (similar to “Sir”) that people commonly used when they came to Jesus for aid. When the context in which it occurs shows a knowledge of its OT background, the word can be seen as an affirmation of Jesus’ deity (see note on 1 Cor. 12:4–6). make me clean. Leprosy made the leper and all who touched him ceremonially unclean (Lev. 13:45–46). But when Jesus touched him, he was healed.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:4 show yourself to the priest. Jesus instructs the man to do what the law required for lepers to return to society. say nothing to anyone. Jesus does not want to draw crowds who come simply for the sake of miracles. See also 9:30; 12:16; 16:20; 17:9.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:5–7 centurion. A Roman officer in charge of a hundred men. In the account of this miracle in Luke 7:1–5, others came to Jesus on the centurion’s behalf, but Matthew does not mention them. As is often the case, Matthew shortens the story. He reports what the centurion said through his messengers (see note on John 3:17).

FACT

Centurions (8:5) were Roman officers in charge of a unit of 80 to 100 men, called a centuria. Six centuria made up a cohort of 480 to 600 men. Ten cohorts made up a legion of 4,800 to 6,000 men. These 10 cohorts were numbered from 1 to 10, with 1 being the most prestigious and 10 the least. It was the responsibility of every centurion to oversee the training and discipline of the soldiers under his command.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:8 not worthy. A Jew who entered a Gentile's home became ceremonially unclean (see Acts 10:28).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:11–12 recline at table. A reference to the future messianic banquet in the kingdom of heaven (Rev. 19:9) that will fulfill God's promise to Abraham (Gen. 12:3). sons of the kingdom. A Jewish term for the nation of Israel. They will lose their claim to the kingdom unless they follow the centurion's example of faith. weeping and gnashing of teeth. This description of terrible suffering in hell appears several times (Matt. 13:42, 50; 22:13; 24:51; 25:30; Luke 13:28).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:16–17 He took our illnesses and bore our diseases refers to Isaiah's prophecy of the servant (see Isa. 53:4).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:19 scribe. An expert in handling written documents. In Israel, scribes' duties included teaching, interpretation, and regulation of the law.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:20 Son of Man (see note on John 1:51; see Dan. 7:13) is Jesus' favorite way of describing himself. It shows the true meaning of his identity and ministry: (1) the humble servant who has come to forgive common sinners (Matt. 9:6); (2) the suffering servant whose atoning death and resurrection will redeem his people (16:13, 27–28); and (3) the glorious King and Judge who will return to establish God's kingdom on earth (25:31; 26:64).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:22 leave the dead to bury their own dead. While Jesus clearly upholds the biblical command to honor father and mother (see 15:1–9), the call to follow him is more important than any other relationship.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:26 little faith. See note on 6:30. rebuked. Jesus is able to command even the forces of nature, just as God is.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:28 In Matthew, the phrase other side often indicates a journey from Jewish to Gentile territory and vice versa (14:22; 16:5). Gadarenes refers to the town of Gadara, about 6 miles (9.7 km) southeast of the Sea of Galilee, and the surrounding region (see Mark 5:1).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:29 before the time. The demons know that they will be judged and punished at God's appointed time.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 8:30–34 The herd of pigs (about 2,000; Mark 5:13) would have been raised for food in this Gentile region on the east shore of the Sea of Galilee.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:1 his own city. Capernaum, the home base of Jesus' ministry in Galilee.

FACT

How can Jesus cast out demons? Jesus' remarkable supernatural power was obvious. Many believed that his power came from God, but some of the religious leaders denied this (9:34). Matthew's readers understand that Jesus' actions prove that he is the Messiah.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:2 your sins are forgiven. Though individual sin is not always the direct cause of illness (John 9:2–3), ultimately all sickness and death result from sin's entrance into the world (see Gen. 2:17; 3:16–19).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:3 blaspheming. The scribes believed Jesus was dishonoring God by claiming the power to forgive sins, which only God can do (see Mark 2:7; Luke 5:21).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:5 which is easier? The implied answer is that it is easier to say, "Your sins are forgiven," for there is no way to verify whether or not this has happened.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:6–7 Son of Man. See note on 8:20. Jesus' authority on earth to forgive sins is clear evidence of his divinity, since only God can forgive sin.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:9 Matthew. See Introduction: Author, Date, and Recipients. rose and followed him. Matthew had likely witnessed Jesus' public teaching and healings and was now ready to join him.

MATTHEW

Matthew, also called Levi, was one of the 12 disciples and the author of the first Gospel. When Jesus called him, Matthew was sitting in the tax collector's booth collecting taxes for Rome. Other Jews probably considered him a traitor, since collecting taxes meant cooperation with the Roman occupiers of Palestine. Because tax collectors were free to take as much personal profit from people as they liked, they were widely regarded as the worst of sinners, often categorized along with prostitutes (see 21:32). In his Gospel account, Matthew presents Jesus as the Davidic King who has come to fulfill the OT, especially its promises of everlasting salvation. (Matthew 9:9)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:10 tax collectors. See note on 5:46–47.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:11 Pharisees. See note on 3:7.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:12 Those who are well . . . those who are sick. Only those who realize their need come to Jesus for help.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:13 I desire mercy, and not sacrifice is a quotation from Hos. 6:6 (see note). "Sacrifice" here refers to keeping religious rituals. "Mercy" translates the idea of covenant faithfulness, which should have led the Pharisees to care for these sinners as Jesus did.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:14 fast. See note on 6:16–18.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:15 The bridegroom in the OT was Yahweh (see Hos. 2:19–20).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:16–17 unshrunk cloth on an old garment. . . . new wine is put into fresh wineskins. See note on Luke 5:36–39.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:18 ruler. Compare Mark 5:22 and Luke 8:41.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:20 discharge of blood. Her difficulty has lasted twelve years. She is in a weakened condition. Her bleeding would have made her ceremonially unclean, excluding her from normal social and religious life.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:22 your faith has made you well. God is the one who heals. The woman’s faith was the divinely appointed means for her bodily healing and for her spiritual salvation.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:23 flute players and the crowd. Professional mourners and flutists were often hired to attend funerals.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:24–26 Jesus brings the girl to life, anticipating his later raising of Lazarus and his own resurrection (28:1–10; John 10:17–18; 11:25–26).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:27 Son of David. A reference to the promised Messiah from David’s family, whose kingdom will continue forever (2 Sam. 7:12–16; Matt. 12:23; 15:22; 20:30, 31; 21:9, 15; 22:42; see 1:1). The messianic age was to bring healing to the blind (Isa. 35:5).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:30 See that no one knows about it. See note on 8:4. See 12:16; 16:20; 17:9.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:34 He casts out demons by the prince of demons. The Pharisees could not deny the reality of the miraculous works Jesus had done, so they attributed his powers to Satan (compare 7:16; John 3:2; 9:31–33).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 9:36–38 Jesus’ compassion is a regular theme in Matthew (14:14; 15:32). like sheep without a shepherd. The leaders have failed in their responsibility, but Mic. 5:4 predicted that the Messiah would “shepherd” his people.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:1–42 The Authoritative Mission of the Messiah’s Messengers. This is Jesus’ second major teaching (see Introduction: Key Themes). It focuses on the disciples’ mission to Israel (vv. 1–15), preparation for a worldwide mission among the Gentiles (vv. 16–23), and characteristics that Jesus’ disciples will need to have as they carry out that mission (vv. 24–42).

*The Twelve Apostles

Matthew 10:2–4	Mark 3:16–19	Luke 6:14–16	John (various verses)	Acts 1:13
1. Simon, who is called Peter	1. Simon (to whom he gave the name Peter)	1. Simon, whom he named Peter	Simon Peter (1:40–42)	1. Peter

2. Andrew his [Simon Peter's] brother	4. Andrew	2. Andrew his [Simon Peter's] brother	Andrew, Simon Peter's brother (1:40)	4. Andrew
3. James the son of Zebedee	2. James the son of Zebedee	3. James	unnamed son of Zebedee (21:2)	3. James
4. John his [James's] brother	3. John the brother of James	4. John	unnamed son of Zebedee (21:2)	2. John
5. Philip	5. Philip	5. Philip	Philip of Bethsaida (1:43–44)	5. Philip
6. Bartholomew	6. Bartholomew	6. Bartholomew	Nathanael of Cana (1:45–49; 21:2)	7. Bartholomew
7. Thomas	8. Thomas	8. Thomas	Thomas called the Twin (11:16)	6. Thomas
8. Matthew the tax collector	7. Matthew (Levi, son of Alphaeus, a tax collector, 2:14)	7. Matthew (Levi, tax collector, 5:27)		8. Matthew
9. James the son of Alphaeus	9. James the son of Alphaeus	9. James the son of Alphaeus		9. James the son of Alphaeus
10. Thaddaeus	10. Thaddaeus	11. Judas the son of James	Judas (not Iscariot) (14:22)	11. Judas the son of James
11. Simon the Zealot	11. Simon the Zealot	10. Simon who was called the Zealot		10. Simon the Zealot
12. Judas Iscariot	12. Judas Iscariot	12. Judas Iscariot	Judas the son of Simon Iscariot (6:71)	12. Matthias replaces Judas [who had died] (Acts 1:26)

*Others in the NT are regarded as apostles besides the Twelve, notably James the brother of Jesus (Acts 15:12–21; 1 Cor. 15:7; Gal. 1:19), Paul (Acts 14:4, 14; 1 Cor. 9:1; 15:8–9), and Barnabas (Acts 14:4, 14).

Nathanael is probably Bartholomew, since he is closely associated with Philip. He is certainly not Levi/Matthew, who already has two names and who was from Capernaum. It is possible but unlikely that he is Thaddeus/Judas or Simon the Zealot.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:1 Jesus calls the disciples to himself as an initial answer to the prayer for the Lord to send workers (9:38). The number of disciples, twelve, probably relates to the 12 tribes of Israel.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:2 Apostles (see note on Rom. 1:1) describes those charged to be Jesus' special representatives, while "disciples" (Matt. 10:1) was also used more broadly of anyone who believed in Jesus. Peter heads all the lists of the 12 apostles (see Mark 3:16–19; Luke 6:13–16; Acts 1:13).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:3–4 There is remarkable diversity among the 12 apostles. There are fishermen, a tax collector (Matthew), and a zealous revolutionary (Simon the Zealot). Judas Iscariot is always listed last. He was the treasurer for the group (John 12:6) and the one who betrayed Jesus. See notes on Luke 6:14; 6:15; 6:16 for additional information on the 12 disciples.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:5 Go nowhere among the Gentiles and enter no town of the Samaritans. The mission was restricted to Jewish Galilee. Galilee was surrounded by Gentile territory except for Samaria to the south (see note on John 4:4).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:6 lost sheep of the house of Israel. The whole lost nation of Israel.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:7–8a And proclaim . . . "The kingdom of heaven is at hand." Heal the sick. The apostles' message (the kingdom of heaven) is the same as Jesus' message (3:2; 10:1). Their power is an extension of Jesus' power ("authority"; v. 1).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:9–10 Acquire no gold or silver . . . or sandals or a staff. This will be a relatively quick preaching journey, so the disciples are not to buy extra supplies. Those to whom they minister must support their mission (for the laborer deserves his food).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:11 Worthy indicates someone who accepts the disciples' message.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:14 shake off the dust from your feet. A symbolic action performed by Jews upon leaving a Gentile region. For the missionaries it is a sign of judgment on those rejecting the gospel (compare Acts 13:51).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:15 it will be more bearable on the day of judgment. Greater understanding of God's revelation means greater responsibility.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:16 wise as serpents and innocent as doves. The serpent was the symbol of insight and craftiness (Gen. 3:1). The dove symbolized innocence.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:17 Synagogues places of worship but also places where discipline (such as beating) was carried out.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:22 endures . . . will be saved. See notes on 2 Tim. 2:11–13; Jude 21.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:23 you will not have gone through all the towns of Israel before the Son of Man comes. The coming of the Son of Man probably refers to the second coming of Christ at the end of the age.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:25 Beelzebul (see 12:24, 27) means “master of the house” and refers to Satan.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:29 Sparrows were customarily thought of as the smallest of creatures, and the penny was one of the least valuable Roman coins (see 5:26). apart from your Father. God rules over even the most insignificant events.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:34–37 Sword is a metaphor for the separation that will occur between those who believe in Christ and those who do not. Jesus’ own family opposed him before they recognized his true identity (13:53–58; Mark 3:21; John 7:3–5). Thus, whoever loves father or mother more than me is not worthy of me. Jesus asked for absolute and unqualified loyalty, something even the most esteemed rabbi did not demand.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:38 take his cross (see 16:24). A disciple must deny himself (die to self-will), take up his cross (embrace God’s will, no matter the cost), and follow Christ.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 10:41–42 prophet. One who speaks for God. righteous person. One who has the righteousness that comes from obeying Jesus. one of these little ones. That is, anyone in need, especially those who may be overlooked (compare James 2:1–7).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:1–12:50 Opposition to the Messiah Increases. There has been occasional resistance to Jesus’ ministry (e.g., 9:3–4). It now begins to increase significantly, as seen first in the honest questions of John the Baptist (11:2–19), then in the hostility of the Jewish religious leaders (12:1–45).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:1 When Jesus had finished signals the conclusion of Jesus’ instructions about the disciples’ mission (ch. 10) and provides a transition to the next section.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:2 John was put in prison by Herod Antipas (see 14:1–12).

FACT

John’s imprisonment (11:2) was in the Machaerus fortress, just east of where the Jordan River flows into the Dead Sea. It sat atop a 1,600-foot-high (490 m) mountain with steep sides and ravines. Along with Masada and the Herodium, it was one of many fortresses that guarded the nation’s eastern borders.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:3–5 Are you the one who is to come? John is probably concerned because his current imprisonment does not match his understanding of the Coming One’s arrival. He thought the Messiah would bless those who repented and judge those who did not (see note on 3:11). Jesus’ ministry, however, is in line with prophetic promises about the time of salvation: the blind receive sight (Isa. 29:18; 35:5; see Matt. 9:27–31), the lame walk (Isa. 35:6; see Matt. 15:30–31), lepers are cured (Isa. 53:4; see Matt. 8:1–4), the deaf hear (Isa. 29:18–19; 35:5; see Mark 7:32–37), the dead are raised (Isa. 26:18–19; see Matt. 10:8; Luke 7:11–17; John 11:1–44), and the good news is preached to the poor (Isa. 61:1; see Matt. 5:3; Luke 14:13, 21). Jesus’ deeds gave sufficient proof of who he was and that the prophesied time of salvation had come (“the year of the Lord’s favor”; Isa. 61:1–3).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:6 blessed is the one who is not offended by me. Jesus’ words are a mild rebuke to John and his disciples.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:10 who will prepare your way. See note on 3:3.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:11 Jesus contrasts human birth (those born of women) with the new birth into the kingdom of heaven. greater than he. Those in the kingdom of heaven have the greater privilege because they have actually entered the kingdom and take part in the new covenant through the blood of Christ. (See notes on Rom. 10:14–15; Heb. 11:4.)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:12 suffered violence . . . the violent take it by force. This probably indicates opposition from the religious leaders and people like Herod Antipas, though it may be picturing forceful self-denial.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:13 all the Prophets and the Law prophesied until John. John the Baptist was the last of a long line of prophets who looked forward to Christ’s coming.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:14 he is Elijah who is to come. Malachi prophesied that "Elijah" would prepare the way for the Messiah (Mal. 3:1; 4:5; see note on Mal. 4:4–6). John's earlier denial that he was Elijah (John 1:21) was probably an attempt to correct a popular belief that Elijah himself would reappear. Before John's birth, he was designated as the one who would minister in the "spirit and power of Elijah" (Luke 1:17).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:16 this generation. The crowds and the religious leaders who have rejected John's and Jesus' ministries.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:17 We played the flute . . . and you did not dance. The people reject the gospel because John and Jesus do not meet their expectations.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:18–19 neither eating nor drinking. Some apparently accused John of demonic influence because of his appearance and simple lifestyle. Son of Man came eating and drinking. Jesus' association with those in need of spiritual healing, and his refusal to fast according to Pharisaic expectations (see 9:14–17), was turned into an accusation of his being a glutton and a drunkard. However, God's wisdom would be justified (proven correct) by the righteous fruit of John's and Jesus' lives.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:20–24 Chorazin was just northwest of Capernaum. For Bethsaida and Capernaum, see note on Luke 9:10. Sodom was the ultimate example of a "city of sin" (see Gen. 18:20). Yet, Jesus says, even Sodom would have repented if it had witnessed his miracles and the reality of the kingdom which they revealed.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:25–26 these things. The message and activities of the kingdom of heaven, which require faith and humility to grasp. wise and understanding. Those who are wise in the world's eyes but who stubbornly refuse to accept the gospel. little children. Those who receive the gospel in simple faith (see 18:1–5).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:27 All things have been handed over to me by my Father. This reveals Jesus' understanding of who he is. It also shows the supreme authority of God the Father within the Trinity. "All things" probably refers to everything needed to carry out Christ's ministry of redemption. This includes salvation for those to whom he chooses to reveal the Father. no one knows the Son except the Father. Only God fully understands Jesus.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:28 All who labor and are heavy laden refers in the first instance to those oppressed by the religious legalism imposed on people by the scribes and Pharisees.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 11:29 yoke. The wooden frame joining two animals (usually oxen) for pulling heavy loads. It was a metaphor for one person's relationship to another, and also a common metaphor for the law. The Pharisees' interpretation of the law, with its extensive list of rules, had become a crushing burden (see 23:4). Jesus' yoke of discipleship, on the other hand, brings rest through simple and wholehearted commitment to him (see 1 John 5:3).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:1 pluck heads of grain. The edges of a field were usually left unharvested so that the poor and hungry, foreigners, orphans, and widows could gather food for themselves (see Lev. 19:9; 23:22).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:2 Pharisees. See note on 3:7.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:4 ate the bread of the Presence. Twelve loaves of bread were baked and placed in the tabernacle each Sabbath as an offering. The bread was to be eaten by the priests (Lev. 24:5–9).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:5 To carry out their duties, priests had to work on the Sabbath (and thus "profane" it). That they were guiltless in doing so shows that God made allowances within the law.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:7 "I desire mercy, and not sacrifice." See note on 9:13.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:8 the Son of Man is lord of the Sabbath. Jesus does not challenge the Sabbath law itself but rather the Pharisees' interpretation of it. Jesus points out the actual intent of the Sabbath—to bring rest and well-being.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:9–10 heal on the Sabbath. The rabbis had many regulations that defined what "work" was prohibited on the Sabbath. These legalistic regulations were never God's intent for the OT law. Jesus' opponents believed that the Sabbath could be broken only in extreme cases of life and death.

FACT

Synagogues (12:9) became a part of Jewish life during the Babylonian exile, when Jews were unable to go to the temple in Jerusalem. The synagogues provided a place for both worship and instruction in the law.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:16 ordered them not to make him known. See note on 8:4; see 9:30; 16:20; 17:9.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:17 to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet Isaiah. This introduces Matthew’s longest OT quotation, from Isa. 42:1–4. It comes from the “Servant Songs” (Isaiah 42–53). Depending on context, the “servant” represents either the nation of Israel or the gentle, Spirit-empowered, suffering servant, whose mission is to bring justice to the nations.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:18–20 my servant whom I have chosen, my beloved. The Father expresses this same delight in his Son at Jesus’ baptism (3:17) and at his transfiguration (17:5). he will proclaim justice. The servant pronounces judgment on the rulers who reject him. bruised reed . . . smoldering wick. Jesus the servant compassionately cares for those who have been abused (see 9:36; 11:28).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:23 Can this be the Son of David? See note on 9:27. The people thought of David as a warrior king. It was difficult for them to understand that this gentle healer could indeed be David’s promised Son.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:24 only by Beelzebul, the prince of demons. See note on 10:25.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:25–26 Knowing their thoughts indicates Jesus knows all things. Therefore, he is to be recognized as God.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:27 your sons. Possibly associates or disciples of the Pharisees. The crowd’s amazement in Luke 4:36 indicates that Jesus’ divine power to cast out demons “with a word” (Matt. 8:16) was unprecedented.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:28 The kingdom of God is begun in Jesus' ministry. Jesus exercises God's kingdom power against Satan and his agents (see Eph. 6:10–20).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:29 Jesus had bound Satan, the strong man, making him powerless to prevent Jesus from proclaiming and demonstrating the good news of the kingdom. Satan's house represents the sinful world over which Satan had power—until the coming of Christ. Jesus has come to plunder his house and rescue people for the kingdom of God (see Col. 1:13).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:31–32 blasphemy against the Spirit will not be forgiven. This "blasphemy" involves giving Satan credit for what is accomplished by God's power, while persistently rejecting God and his commands. This sin is committed today only by unbelievers who permanently reject the Holy Spirit when he calls them to salvation. (See note on Luke 12:10.)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:36–37 the day of judgment. Christ's second coming. by your words you will be justified. People's words will be outward evidence of their inward character. "Justified" here means "shown to be righteous" rather than "declared righteous by God" (see notes on Gal. 2:16; James 2:21).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:38 a sign. Jesus had already performed many miracles ("signs") that proved his messianic identity.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:39 Adulterous refers here to unfaithfulness to God. Jesus knows these opponents have harmful motives (see 16:1). Jonah's rescue by God was a sign to the people of Nineveh that his message was from God. Jesus' death and resurrection (see 12:40) will likewise be God's sign to the present generation.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:40 Three days and three nights means the combination of any part of three separate days. Jesus was raised "in three days," since he was buried Friday afternoon (day one), remained in the tomb Saturday (day two), and was resurrected Sunday morning (day three).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:42 queen of the South. The queen of Sheba (1 Kings 10:1–29). Sheba was most likely in southwestern Arabia, in present-day Yemen. Jesus claims that he is greater than the temple (Matt. 12:6), the prophet Jonah (v. 41), and the wise king Solomon. These represent the three greatest institutions in Israel—priest, prophet, and king.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:43 Demons were often associated with waterless places. Apparently deserts were thought of as lacking the blessing of God that came with rainfall and plentiful crops (see Jer. 17:6; 51:43).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:45 seven. Linked in Scripture with completion or perfection. Here perhaps it signifies the completeness of demon possession once the demon returns.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:46 mother and . . . brothers. There is no mention of "father," which may indicate that Joseph had died by this time. Joseph is never mentioned after the trip to Jerusalem when Jesus was 12 (Luke 2:41–51). Jesus' family may have been trying to "bring him to his senses" (compare Mark 3:21). As the eldest son, Jesus was responsible for the family's care after Joseph's death.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 12:49 Here are my mother and my brothers. Jesus' messianic mission takes priority even over family loyalties.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:1–53 The Messianic Kingdom Revealed in Parables. This is the third of Jesus' five major teachings (see Introduction: Key Themes). It is a collection of parables.

FACT

The place where Jesus sat beside the sea (13:1–2) is traditionally called the Cove of the Parables. It was a horseshoe-shaped cove that had remarkable acoustics. Anywhere from 5,000 to 7,000 people could fit just along the beach, while twice that many could easily fill the entire hillside. A person sitting at the very top of the hill could hear a speaker standing on the beach, even though they could hardly see him!

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:1–2 sat beside the sea. The Sea of Galilee. Sitting was the typical posture for teachers. According to tradition, this teaching took place at the "Cove of the Parables," a natural horseshoe-shaped amphitheater. The sound of Jesus' voice would have carried over 300 feet (90 m) from the boat to a crowd of hundreds on the shore.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:3 Parables are Jesus' means of communicating through a story in order to teach a moral or spiritual lesson.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:10–11 secrets of the kingdom of heaven. Jesus' parables hide the truth from the "crowd" (v. 2), who remained uncommitted to him, while they communicated truth to the disciples, who recognized Jesus as the Messiah.

The Parables of Jesus

Parable	Matthew	Mark	Luke
The Purpose of the Parables	13:10–17	4:10–12	8:9–10
The Sower	13:1–9, 18–23	4:1–9, 13–20	8:4–8, 11–15
The Weeds	13:24–30, 36–43	4:26–29
The Mustard Seed	13:31–32	4:30–32	13:18–19
The Leaven	13:33		13:20–21
The Hidden Treasure	13:44
The Pearl of Great Value	13:45–46
The Net	13:47–50
The Lost Sheep	18:10–14		15:3–7
The Unforgiving Servant	18:23–35
The Two Sons	21:28–32
The Tenants	21:33–44	12:1–11	20:9–18
The Wedding Feast	22:1–14		14:16–24
The Ten Virgins	25:1–13
The Talents	25:14–30		19:11–27
The Good Samaritan			10:29–37
The Rich Fool			12:16–21
The Barren Fig Tree			13:6–9
The Wedding Feast			14:7–11
The Lost Coin			15:8–10
The Prodigal Son			15:11–32
The Dishonest Manager			16:1–9
The Rich Man and Lazarus			16:19–31
The Persistent Widow			18:1–8
The Pharisee and the Tax Collector			18:9–14

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:12–13 seeing they do not see. God uses the parables either to harden a person's heart so that he or she will be unable to respond (v. 15) or to bring about a positive response to Jesus (see v. 10).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:24 The kingdom of heaven may be compared to. Compare "the kingdom of heaven is like" (vv. 31, 33, 44, 45, 47; 20:1; see also 18:23; 22:1; 25:1).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:25–30 These weeds are probably darnel, a weedy rye grass with poisonous black seeds. Darnel resembles wheat in its early growth but is easily distinguished from it when full grown. Let both grow together (v. 30). Believers and unbelievers live side by side in the world until the day of judgment.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:31–32 The mustard seed was the smallest of all agricultural seeds in Palestine. becomes a tree. The mustard "tree" grows to a height of 8 to 12 feet (2.4 to 3.7 m). Israel was not prepared for an insignificant beginning to the kingdom of God, so this image shocked the listeners. (See note on Luke 13:19.)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:33 Leaven usually has a negative meaning in Scripture (compare 16:6; 1 Cor. 5:6–7). Here, however, it symbolizes the positive, hidden growth of the kingdom of heaven through an inner transformation of the heart. Three measures was probably about 50 pounds (39 liters). This would have produced enough bread to feed a hundred people.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:39–40 harvest. The judgment that will follow the Son of Man's return at the end of the age (see note on 24:3) to establish his kingdom in its fully realized form.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:41–42 fiery furnace . . . weeping and gnashing of teeth. Jesus' typical description of eternal judgment in Matthew's Gospel (see 8:12; 13:50; 22:13; 24:51; 25:30).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:43 the righteous will shine like the sun. Compare Dan. 12:3; Matt. 17:2.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:44 Treasure was often hidden in fields for protection. Buys that field does not suggest earning one's salvation. Rather, it emphasizes the supreme value of the hidden treasure (the kingdom of heaven), which is worth far more than any sacrifice one could make to acquire it (sells all that he has).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:45–46 Unlike the man who stumbled upon the hidden treasure (v. 44), this merchant searched diligently for the fine pearls but his reaction was the same. He sacrificed all that he had and bought it.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:47–50 The net, shaped like a long wall, was dragged toward shore by both ends, trapping fish of every kind. sorted. Fish without scales and fins were considered bad and unclean (see Lev. 11:9–12).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:51–52 brings out of his treasure what is new and what is old. This refers to those who understand both the “new” revelation from Jesus and how it fulfills the “old” promises in the OT.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:54–16:20 The Identity of the Messiah Revealed. This section marks a major new emphasis in Matthew’s Gospel as Jesus’ identity as the Messiah becomes increasingly clear.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:54 Although Capernaum had become Jesus’ “own city” during his Galilean ministry (4:13; 9:1), his hometown is Nazareth. Perhaps he responds to a request from his mother and brothers to return home (see note on 12:46).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 13:55–56 Since they know Jesus’ human roots, the people of Nazareth assume he cannot be anything special. His brothers and his sisters refers to other children born to Joseph and Mary after the birth of Jesus. On Jesus’ family, see note on Mark 6:3.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 14:1 Herod Antipas was the Roman ruler (tetrarch) over the region where Jesus ministered. When his father, Herod the Great, died, the kingdom was divided among three of Herod’s sons—Archelaus, Antipas, and Philip II.

FACT

Herod Antipas (14:1) was the ruler over the region where Jesus ministered. On a trip to Rome, Antipas fell in love with Herodias, the wife of his half brother Herod Phillip I. Both Antipas and Herodias divorced their spouses in order to marry each other. It was for this action that John publicly condemned Antipas, resulting in John’s death at Herod’s hand.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 14:3–4 For Herod had seized John. Verses 3–12 describe a past event. Herod Antipas loved Herodias, the wife of his half brother Herod Philip I (not the tetrarch Philip mentioned in Luke 3:1). Both were married at the time. Herodias divorced Herod Philip I and Herod Antipas divorced his wife, and they married. John the Baptist had publicly condemned Herod Antipas for his actions (It is not lawful for you to have her).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 14:12 John’s disciples remained loyal to him throughout his imprisonment. They now buried him, since all of John’s family was probably dead (“advanced in years”; Luke 1:7).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 14:15–21 These verses record Jesus’ feeding of the 5,000, the only miracle from Jesus’ earthly ministry recorded in all four Gospels (compare Mark 6:32–34; Luke 9:10–17; John 6:1–13). Having followed Jesus to a desolate place, the great crowd is stranded late in the day without food. The scene recalls God’s provision of manna for Israel after the exodus. The mention of twelve baskets left over may symbolize the 12 tribes of Israel as well as the abundance of God’s provision. They all ate and were satisfied may also represent the messianic banquet in the kingdom at the end of the age (compare Matt. 8:11). five thousand men, besides women and children. The total number may have included 10,000 or more. Jesus is the new and better Moses, who fills the needs of his people.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 14:22 other side. See note on 8:28.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 14:24 long way from the land. The disciples are probably about 3 miles (4.8 km) out into the lake (see John 6:19), which would have been 4–5 miles (6.4–8.0 km) wide (see Matt. 14:34; also John 6:17).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 14:25 fourth watch. The Roman military divided the night into four watches of three hours each, from 6:00 P.M. until 6:00 A.M. The fourth watch would have been between 3:00 and 6:00 A.M., so the disciples had battled the storm for more than nine hours (see “by this time,” v. 24).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 14:27 It is I could be translated “I am.” Compare the Lord’s voice from the burning bush, “I AM WHO I AM” (Ex. 3:14; see also Isa. 43:10–13).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 14:28–33 the Son of God. This is the only time in Matthew that the disciples use this full title to address Jesus.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 14:34 Gennesaret. Either the town or the plain on the western shore of the Sea of Galilee, south of Capernaum.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 14:35–36 recognized. There is no record of any prior ministry by Jesus in Gennesaret, but its people had heard about him.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:2 tradition of the elders. Interpretations of Scripture given by rabbis and handed down from previous generations. they do not wash their hands. Priests were required to wash their hands and feet prior to performing their duties. The Pharisees made this a matter of ceremonial purity and applied it to all Israelites.

FACT

Fear vs. faith. Many kinds of fears are under-standable and can even keep us from danger. But fears that cause us to doubt God must be overcome by faith. God is trustworthy and able to save us (14:28–33).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:3 Jesus makes a clear distinction between the OT (the commandment of God) and the Pharisaic tradition (human regulations).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:5 Given to God reflects a technical term for a formal vow (compare "Corban," Mark 7:11). This allowed a person to be released from responsibilities such as caring for aging parents.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:6 The Pharisees have made void the word of God with their traditions and rulings: anyone who broke a vow (human law) in order to help needy parents (God's law) would have committed a serious transgression, according to the Pharisees' rulings.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:11 not what goes into . . . but what comes out. See note on Mark 7:19.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:14 blind guides. The Pharisees are blind to their own hypocrisy. They lead the people astray because they cannot see the true meaning of the OT law.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:17–20 whatever goes into the mouth. See note on Mark 7:19.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:22 For this Canaanite woman, the title Lord is probably just an expression of great respect. Her use of Son of David shows some knowledge of Jewish thoughts about him (see note on v. 27). "Canaanite" here means a non-Jewish person living in that region. The term occurs only here in the NT.

Jesus' Ministry beyond Israel

Almost all of Jesus' ministry took place within the traditional borders of Israel in areas dominated by Jews. Yet Jesus also traveled to the region of Tyre and Sidon, where he healed a Gentile woman's daughter, and to the region of Decapolis, where he healed many people. It was also at the extreme northern border of Israel at Caesarea Philippi that Peter made his confession that "You are the Christ, the son of the living God," and Jesus declared "on this rock I will build my church" (Matt. 16:18).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:24 only to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. Later, through the apostles, the message of the gospel is to go to the Gentiles (Acts 1:8; 22:21; 26:17–18; see Luke 24:47; John 10:16). At this point, the focus is on the Jews and their spiritual need. See Matt. 10:6 and note on 22:9.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:26–27 dogs. See note on 7:6, but the Greek word Jesus uses here suggests a more affectionate term for domestic pets. Jesus is not insulting the woman but testing her faith.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:27 The woman presses Jesus by referring to the extended blessings promised to the Gentiles through Abraham (see Gen. 12:3).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:32 Jesus goes to the Decapolis (see note on 4:25).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:34 The number seven is usually symbolic of perfection or completion. Here the number may symbolize the fullness of God’s provision for all peoples, including Gentiles.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:35–38 For a similar occurrence, see note on 14:15–21.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 15:39 There are no historical or archaeological records of Magadan, which is mentioned only here in the NT. Most likely it is a variant spelling for Magdala, the home of Mary Magdalene, in Jewish territory.

FACT

Magadan (15:39) is probably another spelling of Magdala, the home of Mary Magdalene. Magdala was a major fishing center where fishermen would take their catch to be salted for preservation. It was here that archaeologists found the 2,000-year-old “Kinneret boat,” which offered a glimpse into the fishing industry of first-century Galilee (see note on 4:21).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:1 The Pharisees and Sadducees were often bitter opponents (see note on 3:7). Here they join forces against Jesus. They saw him as a threat to their leadership and power.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:4–5 sign of Jonah. See note on 12:39. other side. See note on 8:28.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:6–12 In contrast to 13:33, here leaven is a negative metaphor. It indicates how corruption can ruin what is good.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:13 Caesarea Philippi is some 25 miles (40 km) north of the Sea of Galilee. It had been a center of the worship of (1) Baal, then (2) the Greek god Pan, and then (3) Caesar. At this time it was an important Greco-Roman city. It had a primarily pagan Syrian and Greek population. Regarding Son of Man, see note on 8:20.

FACT

Caesarea Philippi (16:13) was an important city, 25 miles (40 km) north of the Sea of Galilee. It was the center of worship for various pagan deities, including Baal, the Greek god Pan, and even Caesar Augustus himself, who was regarded as a god in the official Roman religion.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:14 John the Baptist . . . Elijah . . . Jeremiah . . . one of the prophets. The responses are in line with the popular messianic expectations (see Deut. 18:15–18; Mal. 4:5).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:16 Simon Peter replied. Peter acts as spokesman for the Twelve (compare 15:15). Christ means "Messiah" or "Anointed One." Son of the living God. Jesus is the Son of the God who is alive, unlike the pagan gods of Caesarea Philippi (see note on 16:13). Jesus is the fulfillment of the OT promise of a divine son as anointed king (2 Sam. 7:14; Ps. 2:7).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:17 Simon Bar-Jonah is an Aramaic name meaning "Simon son of Jonah." Simon has a natural father, Jonah, but his ability to confess Jesus (v. 16) came not from any flesh and blood source but from my Father who is in heaven.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:18 you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my church. This is one of the most controversial and debated passages in all of Scripture. The key question concerns Peter's relationship to "this rock." For several reasons, it is best to think that "this rock" refers to Peter himself. Jesus' entire pronouncement is directed toward Peter, and the connecting word "and" most naturally identifies the rock with Peter himself. But if "this rock" refers to Peter, the question remains as to what that means. Protestants generally have thought that "rock" refers to Peter in his role of confessing Jesus as the Messiah. The other disciples would share in that role as they made similar confessions (see Eph. 2:20, where the church is built on all the apostles). In other words, Jesus’ statement did not mean that Peter would have greater authority than the other apostles (see Gal. 2:11–14), or that he would be infallible in his teaching (see Matt. 16:23). It did not imply a special office for Peter or his successors. Peter is still “sent” by other apostles to Samaria (Acts 8:14), and he has to give an account of his actions to the Jerusalem church (Acts 11:1–18). Peter is presented as having only one voice among many voices at the Jerusalem council, and in fact, James has the decisive final word (Acts 15:7–21). The word “church” occurs only here and in Matt. 18:17 in the Gospels; Jesus points ahead to the time when he will build his church. gates of hell (sometimes translated “gates of hades”; see also: “gates of Sheol” [Isa. 38:10]; “gates of death” [Job 38:17; Ps. 9:13]). Hades, or Sheol, is the realm of the dead. Death will not overpower the church.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:19 keys of the kingdom of heaven. Peter (along with all who are called to preach the gospel) is given the authority to provide entrance into the kingdom through their proclamation (unlike the scribes and Pharisees in 23:13). In Acts, Peter is the apostle who first preaches the message of the kingdom to the Jews at Pentecost (Acts 2), to the Samaritans (Acts 8), and to the Gentiles (Acts 10). whatever you bind . . . whatever you loose. Peter also has authority to exercise discipline concerning right and wrong behavior for those in the kingdom. This authority is extended to the church as a whole in Matt. 18:18; compare John 20:23.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:20 Jesus warned his disciples against telling anyone that he was the Christ, since the concept of Christ/Messiah was widely misunderstood by the crowds—and often by the disciples themselves. See note on 8:4; see 9:30; 12:16; 17:9.

PETER

Peter and his brother Andrew were from the city of Bethsaida. The two fishermen were the first disciples called by Jesus, and they immediately left everything to follow him. Jesus gave Simon the name Cephas, or Peter, which means “rock” (John 1:42). Peter, James, and John became the close inner circle among the 12 disciples. Always listed first among the Twelve, Peter often served as their spokesman. He was with Jesus during the key events of his ministry, including the Transfiguration. Peter was one of Jesus’ most outspoken and passionate followers, though at times that enthusiasm was misplaced and needed a word of correction from Jesus (Matt. 19:27–30; 26:31–35, 69–75). Peter preached boldly at Pentecost. He was arrested multiple times, and even imprisoned, for preaching in the name of Jesus, but he remained faithful (Acts 12:1–19). Peter wrote the two NT letters that bear his name. He died a martyr in Rome, under Nero. (Matthew 16:13–20)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:21–17:27 The Suffering of the Messiah Revealed. Jesus reveals the nature of his messiahship. He is a suffering Messiah. His disciples must suffer with him (16:21–28). Still, the transfiguration (17:1–13) shows who Jesus really is: the Son of God. And believers, who are themselves sons of the kingdom, have the same privileges as Jesus (17:14–27).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:21 From that time. This marks the conclusion of Jesus' Galilean ministry and the beginning of his journey to Jerusalem to face the cross. It is the first of four times (v. 21; 17:22–23; 20:17–19; 26:2) that Jesus predicts his arrest and crucifixion.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:22 In the Jewish master-disciple relationship, it would have been unthinkable for a disciple to correct his master, let alone rebuke him. This shall never happen to you. The OT teaches, however, that the Messiah must suffer (e.g., Psalm 22; Isaiah 53; Zech. 12:10).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:23 Satan tries to hinder Jesus' mission through Peter and his human-centered ideas about the Messiah's mission (see note on v. 22).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:24 take up his cross. See note on 10:38.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:26 forfeits his soul. A reference to spiritual death and separation from God.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:27 Son of Man is going to come. See note on 8:20.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 16:28 see the Son of Man coming in his kingdom. This is probably a prediction of the transfiguration, which immediately follows (see also Mark 9:2–10; Luke 9:28–36; 2 Pet. 1:16–18).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:1 After six days probably indicates that they are still in Caesarea Philippi. Peter and James, and John. The inner circle of disciples. high mountain. Church tradition identifies this as Mount Tabor, about 12 miles (19 km) from the Sea of Galilee. Most scholars favor Mount Hermon, outside of Galilee and rising 9,166 feet (2,794 m) above sea level.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:2 was transfigured. Jesus' physical transformation was a reminder of the glory he had before he became man (John 1:14; 17:5; Phil. 2:6–7). It was also a preview of his future glory (2 Pet. 1:16–18; Rev. 1:16).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:3 Moses and Elijah represent the Law and the Prophets, which bear witness to Jesus as the Messiah (compare 5:17).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:4 three tents. Peter wishes to respond to this glorious event, though he clearly misunderstands the uniqueness of Jesus as the divine Son of God (see also Luke 9:33–34 and note).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:5 bright cloud. Similar to the cloud of God’s presence and glory that appeared at various times in the OT (e.g., Ex. 13:21–22; 1 Kings 8:10–13). voice. Compare Matt. 3:17.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:6 terrified. Fear was a common experience of people in the OT who witnessed the reality of God’s presence (e.g., Ex. 19:16; Deut. 5:5).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:9 Tell no one the vision. See note on 8:4; see also 9:30; 12:16; 16:20.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:10–13 Elijah has already come. See notes on Mal. 4:4–6; Matt. 11:14.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:13 Then the disciples understood. “Understanding” is a key theme in Matthew’s Gospel.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:20 little faith. See note on 6:30. mountain. Compare 21:21–22.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:22–23 to be delivered. This is Jesus’ second prediction of his death (see 16:21).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:24 two-drachma tax. Exodus 30:11–16 required each person over the age of 20 to give a half-shekel offering (the equivalent of two drachmas) for the support of the tabernacle. This requirement was later applied to the temple.

FACT

The two-drachma temple tax. In Moses’ time, each person over the age of 20 was to give a half-shekel offering (the equivalent of two Roman drachmas) for the support of the tabernacle (see Ex. 30:11–16). This practice was still being observed some 1,500 years later, in Jesus’ day, to maintain the temple. In Matt. 17:24, Jesus paid the tax for himself and Peter, using a shekel coin retrieved from a fish’s mouth!

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 17:25–26 Then the sons are free. Because the temple is God the Father's own house, the Son and those he has brought into the Father's family (12:48–50) are exempt from the temple tax.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:1–20:34 The Community of the Messiah Revealed. This is the fourth of Jesus' five major teachings in Matthew's Gospel (see Introduction: Key Themes). Jesus instructs his disciples on the nature of his covenant community. He explains the kingdom community's characteristics (18:1–35), how it relates to marriage (19:1–12), and its value (19:13–20:34).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:2–4 Whoever humbles himself like this child. The humility of a child consists of trust, vulnerability, and the need for the help of a parent.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:5–6 One such child (see vv. 2–4) and these little ones who believe in me both refer to Christ's disciples (compare 10:40–42).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:6–9 drowned in the depth of the sea . . . foot causes you to sin, cut it off . . . eye causes you to sin, tear it out. Jesus uses deliberate overstatements to emphasize the necessity of self-discipline to remove sin from one's life before the sin leads to judgment; see note on 5:29–30. The Greek word for hell in 18:9 is derived from the Valley of the Son of Hinnom near Jerusalem (2 Kings 23:10). This valley was associated with fire in the OT (Isa. 30:33; Jer. 7:31), so it came to be seen as symbolic of hell.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:10 The heavenly Father uses angels to care for his childlike disciples (see Heb. 1:14). always see the face of my Father. These angels have continuous communication with God.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:12 a hundred sheep, and one of them has gone astray. Here the wandering sheep represents a believer.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:15 gained. The goal of confronting an offending fellow believer is to restore the broken relationship.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:16 Evidence of two or three witnesses follows the guideline in Deut. 19:15. It refers to witnesses of the confrontation described in this verse, not necessarily eyewitnesses to the original offense (Matt. 18:15).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:17 If the offending party of vv. 15–16 will not repent after the matter has been brought before the entire church, then he or she is to be excluded from the fellowship and thought of as an unbeliever. Gentile and tax collector describes those who are deliberately rebellious against God.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:18 whatever you bind on earth shall be bound in heaven. All disciples are given Peter's authority to declare the terms under which God either forgives or refuses to forgive the sin of wayward disciples (see note on 16:19).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:20 there am I among them. Jesus will be present among his disciples as they seek unity in decisions. Jesus' ability to be present in this way means that he is omnipresent and thus is shown to be God.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:21–22 how often will . . . I forgive him? In Judaism, forgiving three times showed a generous spirit. Peter believes he has been particularly kind (seven times). But true disciples of Jesus forgive without keeping count (seventy-seven times).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:24 ten thousand talents. In NT times, a talent was a unit of monetary reckoning valued at about 6,000 drachmas, the equivalent of about 20 years' wages for a laborer. Hence, "ten thousand talents" would be equivalent to 200,000 years of wages.

FACT

One talent was equal to about 20 years worth of wages for a laborer. By today's standards, one talent would equal about $600,000 USD. Multiplied by 10,000 (the amount the servant owed in 18:24), the debt would have been $6 billion! Jesus uses this illustration to show that, without forgiveness from God, our debt to him is impossible to pay.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:25 sold, with his wife and children. A practice common in the ancient world (see Ex. 21:2–11; Deut. 15:12–18; 2 Kings 4:1; Neh. 5:4–8).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:27 forgave him the debt. The forgiveness of such a massive debt (see note on v. 24) is a dramatic illustration of the massive debt that people owe, because of their sins, to the holy and righteous God. It also shows God's gracious provision to pay this debt through Christ's death and resurrection (Rom. 6:23).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:28–32 A hundred denarii was still a large amount (equivalent to about 20 weeks' wages for a common labor), but it was very little compared to the debt the wicked servant owed (see note on v. 24). The servant's unwillingness to forgive this smaller amount revealed that he had not been transformed by the forgiveness that his master had given him.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:34 delivered him to the jailers. A metaphorical reference to eternal punishment (see 8:12; 10:28; 13:42, 49–50; 22:13; 24:51).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 18:35 not forgive your brother from your heart. Someone who does not forgive others shows that his own heart has not experienced God's forgiveness.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:1–20:34 The Galilean ministry has now ended. Jesus and his disciples begin the journey to Jerusalem.

Jesus' Final Journey to Jerusalem

Though John mentions several trips to Jerusalem by Jesus during his ministry, Matthew, Mark, and Luke recount only one, which occurred as Jesus prepared for his triumphal entry and subsequent death and resurrection. Beginning at Capernaum, Jesus was apparently diverted from the more direct route when Samaritans refused him access (Luke 9:51–56), so he may have crossed the Jordan and traveled through Perea. Jesus then passed through Jericho and proceeded to Jerusalem.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:1 Judea beyond the Jordan. Most likely the region of Perea, the largely Jewish area just east of the Jordan River between Samaria and the Decapolis.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:3 Pharisees . . . tested him. See note on 3:7. The religious leaders try to make Jesus look guilty by misinterpreting the law. divorce. There was a significant debate among the Pharisees about the correct interpretation of Moses' divorce regulations (Deut. 24:1).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:6 What . . . God has joined together implies that marriage is not merely a human agreement but a relationship established by God. From the moment they are married, the husband and wife are unified in a way that is different from all other human relationships. Being "one flesh" includes the sexual union of a husband and wife (see Gen. 2:24), but it also means that their primary human loyalty is now to each other, before anyone else (Gen. 2:24).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:8 Because of your hardness of heart means, "because there was rebellion against God among you, leading to broken marriage covenants." God therefore provided divorce for dealing with such cases. From the beginning it was not so points to God's original intent that marriage would be lifelong and that, even when divorce is permitted on very specific grounds, it is never required. See note on Deut. 24:1–4.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:9 Every phrase in this verse is important for understanding Jesus' teaching on divorce. whoever divorces his wife. The word translated here as "divorces" always refers to divorce, not separation (see also v. 3). except for sexual immorality. "Sexual immorality" refers to any sexual intercourse outside of marriage; see note on 5:31–32. This implies that divorce on the grounds of sexual immorality is not prohibited. This is the one exception Jesus makes to the requirement that marriage be lifelong. Sexual immorality undercuts the "one flesh" union (19:5). The parallel passages in Mark 10:11–12 and Luke 16:18 omit "except for sexual immorality," probably because everyone assumed that divorce was allowed in the case of adultery (this was not at issue in the immediate context in Mark 10 and Luke 16). and marries another, commits adultery. If a divorce is obtained for any reason other than sexual immorality, then the second marriage begins with adultery. Jesus is prohibiting divorce for the many trivial reasons that were used in the first century. This led to widespread injustice, especially for women whose husbands suddenly divorced them. “And marries another” implies that the second marriage, though it begins with adultery, is still a marriage. Once a second marriage has occurred, it would be further sin to break it up. If the exception (“sexual immorality”) occurs, then remarriage to “another” does not constitute adultery and is acceptable. Divorce, it must be remembered, is permitted but not required in the case of sexual immorality. Since God’s intention is that marriage should be for life (Matt. 19:4–8), one should make every reasonable effort to achieve restoration and forgiveness before taking steps to dissolve a marriage through divorce. (On the question of divorce and desertion, see 1 Cor. 7:15 and note.)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:10–12 This saying is best understood as referring to the statement it is better not to marry. those to whom it is given. . . . eunuchs. This would include those without the physical capacity for sexual relations and those who have chosen a life of abstinence (see 1 Cor. 7:6–9; and note on 1 Cor. 7:5–7).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:13 lay his hands on them. A traditional manner of blessing children in Israel (see Gen. 48:14).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:14 to such belongs the kingdom of heaven. See notes on 18:2–4; 18:5–6.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:16 a man came up to him. Verses 16–22 have been called the story of the “rich young ruler” since he is rich (v. 22), young (v. 20), and a ruler (compare Luke 18:18). He may have been a religious lay leader, quite possibly a Pharisee (because of his effort in following the law). He first addresses Jesus as Teacher, a title of respect. Then he asks what good deed he must do to have eternal life. It is the first occurrence of the expression “eternal life” in Matthew (see Matt. 19:29; 25:46). In the parallel accounts (Mark 10:17–22; Luke 18:18–23), the wording of the question and answer differs somewhat. This seems to be a case of different Gospels reporting different parts of the same conversation.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:17 There is only one who is good. Only in understanding God as infinitely good can the young man discover that good deeds cannot earn eternal life. keep the commandments. Jesus is not teaching that good works can earn eternal life, for in vv. 21–22 he will show the man how far short he falls of keeping the commandments (see Ex. 20:3; Deut. 6:5; Matt. 22:36–40). But obedience to the law is also an expression of belief in the God who is the source of all good, including eternal life.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:18–19 Which ones? Jesus gives a representative list of commandments (compare Ex. 20:1–17; Lev. 19:18; Deut. 5:7–21; Matt. 22:36–40).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:20 All these I have kept. The man implies he has kept not only these, but the entire law, which they represent. Yet he still senses that something is lacking.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:21 If you would be perfect. Jesus wants to turn this man from focusing on external obedience to examining his heart, revealing that his money is his ruling god. give to the poor. The man had surely already given some money to the poor, for this was considered a duty, especially among the Pharisees. But Jesus calls him to give away everything, exchanging the god of wealth for the eternal treasure found in following the one true God. Jesus' ultimate answer to the question posed in v. 16 ("What . . . must I do to have eternal life?") is to follow him.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:23 only with difficulty will a rich person enter the kingdom of heaven. Wealth fools a person into thinking that he or she is self-sufficient apart from God. The general attributes of the "rich" are the opposite of those of a "child" (see 18:1–5; 19:13–15).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:24 camel. The largest land animal in Palestine. the eye of a needle. The smallest opening. Jesus paints a picture of something impossible in order to illustrate that even the seemingly impossible is possible with God.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:25 astonished. Wealth was often seen as a sign of God's approval and blessing (see Deut. 28:1–14).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:26 with God all things are possible. This is seen in the conversions of rich men like Joseph of Arimathea (27:57) and Zacchaeus (Luke 19:9–10).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:28 the new world. This looks forward to the future end-time renewal of the world (compare 2 Pet. 3:10–13; Revelation 21–22).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:29 receive a hundredfold. See Mark 10:29–30 and note; Luke 18:30. will inherit eternal life. Eternal life is an inherited gift, not an earned reward.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 19:30 But many who are first will be last, and the last first. See note on 20:16.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 20:1 the kingdom of heaven is like. See note on 13:24. vineyard. Israel was often referred to as the "vine" or "vineyard" of God (e.g., Isa. 5:1–7; Jer. 2:21; Hos. 10:1). "Vineyard" here represents the activity of the kingdom in this world.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 20:2–15 denarius. A typical day's wage for a laborer. third hour. 9:00 A.M. The workday was typically divided into four three-hour parts, running from approximately 6:00 A.M. to 6:00 P.M. eleventh hour. 5:00 P.M., near the end of the workday. These workers are desperate enough to continue waiting for work.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 20:16 So the last will be first, and the first last. Jesus is not denying degrees of reward in heaven (see note on 1 Cor. 3:14–15). He affirms that God's generosity is more abundant than anyone would expect. Jesus is probably also warning his early followers that they should not despise those who come later.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 20:17–19 the Son of Man will be delivered over. This is the third of four predictions of Jesus' arrest and crucifixion. See note on 16:21; see also 17:22–23 and 26:2.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 20:20 Salome (see 27:56; Mark 15:40; 16:1) was the mother of the sons of Zebedee. She was also probably the sister of Mary, Jesus' mother (see John 19:25). If so, James and John were Jesus' cousins. with her sons. Mark 10:35–37 focuses on the sons themselves and reports her request as their words, perhaps because they had told her to ask this (see note on John 3:17). Matthew and Mark may also report different aspects of a longer conversation, in which the mother may have asked Jesus the question and then Jesus asked the brothers if that was what they wanted. kneeling. Salome shows respect to Jesus as her messianic Master, but she also evidently hopes to use her and her sons' family kinship with Jesus to her sons' advantage.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 20:21 that these two sons of mine are to sit. Salome's petition was likely inspired by Jesus' remarks in 19:28, where he had announced the Twelve's rulership with him in his future kingdom. right hand. A place of honor (1 Kings 2:19; Ps. 16:11; 110:1).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 20:22–23 You. The plural pronoun indicates that Jesus addressed the mother and the brothers directly. The cup in Scripture is symbolic of what God has determined will happen (compare Ps. 16:5; Isa. 51:17). Here it refers to Jesus' future suffering (Matt. 26:39).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 20:23 You will drink my cup. James was the first apostle martyred (Acts 12:2). John suffered persecution and exile (Rev. 1:9).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 20:24 indignant. They were probably upset by the brothers' attempt to use their family relationship to gain an unfair advantage in getting what the other disciples also wanted.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 20:28 Son of Man. See note on 8:20. came not to be served but to serve. Jesus will give his life as a ransom (that is, the price of release, often referring to the money paid to release slaves) for many. "For," as used here, means "in place of." It signifies the substitution of Jesus' life on the cross for all those who accept him as their payment for their sins (see notes on 1 Pet. 2:24; 3:18).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 20:29 Jericho. Not the ancient OT city (Joshua 5–6), but the new Jericho, about a mile (1.6 km) to the south of the older city. Matthew says the healing of the blind men took place as they went out of Jericho (and Mark 10:46 agrees), but Luke 18:35 says it was "as he drew near to Jericho." It is possible that Matthew and Mark refer to the new Jericho, and Luke to the old Jericho nearby, or vice versa. Another possibility is that the blind men cried out to Jesus first as he was entering the city (Luke 18:35) but he did not heal them until he was leaving the city.

FACT

The Jericho mentioned in 20:29 was about a mile (1.6 km) south of the Jericho that was destroyed when the Israelites conquered Canaan (Joshua 6). This new Jericho included a palace of Herod the Great. When the winters grew cold and damp in Jerusalem, Herod would go there to enjoy Jericho's warm, dry climate. His palace included gardens, a swimming pool, an amphitheater, and even a chariot race course.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 20:30–31 two blind men. Mark 10:46 and Luke 18:35 mention only one blind man, and Mark gives his name ("Bartimaeus"). This does not mean that Matthew's report of two blind men is inaccurate, only that Mark and Luke focused on one of them. Son of David. See note on Matt. 9:27.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:1–23:39 The Messiah Asserts His Authority over Jerusalem. Jesus' authority over Jerusalem is revealed in his triumphal entry (21:1–11), actions in the temple (21:12–17), cursing the fig tree (21:18–22), debates with religious leaders (21:23–22:46), and woes pronounced on the teachers of the law and the Pharisees (23:1–39).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:1 Jerusalem is the center of Israel's religious life and messianic expectations. Bethphage (see note on Luke 19:29) is traditionally located less than a mile east of Jerusalem on the southeast slope of the Mount of Olives (see note on Mark 13:3), directly overlooking the temple area.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:4–5 This took place to fulfill. Matthew specifies that Jesus' entrance into Jerusalem upon a colt fulfills the prophecy of Zech. 9:9. Jesus' action is an open declaration that he is the righteous Davidic Messiah, for the prophecy says, "your king is coming to you." The first line of the OT quotation, however, is from Isa. 62:11. On a colt can also be translated "and on a colt" (see ESV footnote). It is an example of Hebrew poetic parallelism, where an idea is stated twice, in successive lines, with slightly different wording.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:6–7 the donkey and the colt. Matthew alone mentions two animals. Having the mother donkey move alongside her colt would be the best way to calm it during the noisy entrance into Jerusalem. and he sat on them. "Them" refers to the cloaks.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:8 Cloaks on the road symbolized the crowd's submission to Jesus as king (see 2 Kings 9:13). Branches (palms) symbolized Jewish nationalism and victory (see John 12:13).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:9 Hosanna. Hebrew, meaning “O save” (see 2 Sam. 14:4). Son of David. See note on Matt. 9:27.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:12–17 John’s Gospel records a similar cleansing of the temple at the beginning of Jesus’ ministry (John 2:13–17). Interpreters have proposed two explanations: (1) there was only one cleansing, but John narrated the action at the beginning for thematic/theological purposes, while Matthew, Mark, and Luke narrate the actual historical chronology; or (2) there were indeed two similar but distinctly different temple cleansings. The differences of detail seem to indicate the latter. While the initial action is similar, Jesus’ statement (Matt. 21:13) and the challenge from the Jewish leaders (vv. 15–16) are entirely different from what John records.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:12 And Jesus entered the temple might seem to suggest that this took place immediately after Christ's entry into Jerusalem on Sunday (vv. 1–11), but Mark clearly places the incident on Monday morning (Mark 11:12–19). At times Matthew shortens some of the narrative of Jesus' activities during Holy Week and arranges it topically, which is the case here. all who sold and bought. Within the temple was a sort of market. There Jewish pilgrims who had traveled a long distance could exchange their own currency for temple currency (Matt. 17:24–27; see Ex. 30:11–16) and purchase animals and other items for sacrifices.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:15–16 Hosanna to the Son of David! Jesus acknowledges the children's praise and links it to Ps. 8:2, thus claiming to be the Messiah.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:17 to Bethany. A village about 2 miles (3.2 km) from Jerusalem on the eastern slope of the Mount of Olives. Perhaps Jesus lodged at the home of Lazarus and his sisters Mary and Martha, who were close friends of his (Luke 10:38–42; John 11:1–44; 12:1–3).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:18–22 Matthew discusses the cursing of the fig tree and the disciples' reaction together, treating the events topically (compare note on v. 12). The tree was cursed most likely on Monday morning on the way into the city. On Tuesday morning the disciples react to the tree's withering on their way back to Jerusalem (compare Mark 11:12–14, 20–26).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:19 found nothing on it but only leaves. See note on Mark 11:13–14.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:23 These things most likely refers to Jesus' disrupting the temple's commercial activities the previous day (vv. 12–13). It also includes his authority to heal (vv. 14–16) and to teach in the temple (v. 23), since he is neither an official priestly nor scribal authority.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:25–27 From heaven or from man? The leaders' refusal to answer this question shows their dishonesty and traps them. If they do not know whether John was from God, how can they judge whether Jesus is?

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:28–32 The parable of the two sons demonstrates the religious leaders' failure to respond rightly to John the Baptist's prophetic ministry. A person's actions ultimately prove whether or not he is obedient to God.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:33 master of a house. Large farming estates owned either by foreigners or by wealthy Jews were common in Palestine (see note on Mark 12:1). The landowners frequently rented their vineyards to local farmers.

FACT

Large farming estates were common in Palestine. The landowners frequently rented their vineyards to farmers so they could tend to other interests. Often these vineyards were surrounded by stone walls to prevent wild animals or thieves from entering. Many of the larger vineyards had watchtowers.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:34–37 beat, killed, stoned. The treatment of the servants brings to mind what God's prophets experienced throughout OT history (see 1 Kings 18:4; Jer. 20:1–2). son. An unmistakable allusion to the Father sending his own Son, Jesus.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:42 cornerstone (compare Ps. 118:22). The rejected Son will receive the position of ultimate importance.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 21:43 The leaders have failed to carry out their obligations to God both in their personal lives and in leading the nation of Israel. Therefore their privileged role is being taken away and given to a people producing its fruits. The church will be a new "people" consisting of both Jews and Gentiles.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:1–14 The parable of the wedding feast describes the judgment of irresponsible religious leaders (see note on 21:43).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:1–2 wedding feast. In this case, a countrywide celebration that would have continued for several days. This "feast" represents enjoying fellowship with God in his kingdom.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:3 they would not come. To refuse a direct invitation from the king would be an extreme insult and a challenge to his authority.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:7 burned their city. An extreme punishment reserved for rebellion against the king; possibly an allusion to the future destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:9 The wedding invitation to those not previously invited anticipates the spread of the gospel to the Gentiles (28:18–20; Acts 1:8; Rom. 1:16). See note on Matt. 15:24.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:11 a man who had no wedding garment. Everyone was invited, but proper wedding clothing was still expected. This proper clothing could have been either a special garment provided by the king (see Gen. 45:22; Est. 6:8–9; compare Ezek. 16:10–13) or a clean garment, symbolizing evidence of righteous works.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:13 weeping and gnashing of teeth. See note on 8:11–12.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:14 many are called . . . few are chosen. When the gospel is proclaimed, only those who are the elect respond with true faith (see 11:27; 24:22, 24, 31; 1 Cor. 1:24, 26–28; and notes on Rom. 8:29; 8:30).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:15 entangle. The Pharisees hope that Jesus will say something that will make him look guilty of breaking the law. They hope they can use this to bring him to the Romans for execution.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:16 Herodians. A loosely organized group that sought to advance the political and economic influence of the Herodian family (c. 37 B.C.–A.D. 93). Although the Herodians and the Pharisees were on different sides of many political and religious issues, they join forces here to combat what they see as a threat to their power and status.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:17 Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not? All of Rome’s subjects were heavily taxed by the empire. Some Jews believed that paying any tax to pagan rulers contradicted God’s lordship over his people.

FACT

For the Jews of first-century Palestine, taxation was a burdensome problem. The Herodian family, which ruled on behalf of Rome, taxed the people heavily to finance their own building projects. The Jewish religious leaders also taxed the people to maintain the temple. Then there was the large amount of money needed to keep the Roman Empire going. In all, Jewish families paid about half of their income toward various taxes.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:18 Why put me to the test, you hypocrites? Jesus' enemies thought that, if he said it was right to pay taxes, he would lose favor with the tax-burdened people, but if he said it was wrong, they could accuse him of rebellion against Rome.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:19 On one side of the silver denarius was a profile of Tiberius Caesar. The Latin inscription "Tiberius Caesar, son of the divine Augustus" was written around the coin's perimeter. On the opposite side was a picture of the Roman goddess of peace, Pax, with the Latin inscription "High Priest."

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:21 render to Caesar . . . and to God. Jesus is not establishing a political kingdom in opposition to Caesar. His followers should pay taxes and obey civil laws. There are matters that belong to the realm of civil government and matters that belong to God's realm. Jesus does not specify which matters belong in which realm. Many Christians today teach that, in general, civil government should allow freedom in matters of religious doctrine, worship, and beliefs about God, and the church should not try to use the power of government to enforce allegiance to any specific religious viewpoint.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:23 Sadducees (see note on 3:7) relied mainly on the first five books of the OT for doctrine. Thus, they did not believe in the resurrection, because this theme is developed more clearly in the later OT books (see Isa. 26:19; Dan. 12:2). They asked him a question in order to trap Jesus theologically. They hoped to make the idea of resurrection look ridiculous.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:24 Moses said. The Sadducees cite the OT law (Deut. 25:5–10; see Gen. 38:8): If a man dies without any children, the man's brother must marry the widow and help her have a child. This child will grow up to support his mother in her old age.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:29–30 But are like angels in heaven who do not marry or have children. This teaching might at first seem discouraging to married couples who deeply love each other. Yet people will know their loved ones in heaven (see 8:11; Luke 9:30, 33).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:31–32 I am the God of Abraham, and . . . Isaac, and . . . Jacob. The present tense in the quotation from Ex. 3:6 shows that God was still in covenant relationship with the patriarchs, even though they had died centuries earlier. The Sadducees should recognize God's power to raise the patriarchs and all of God's people to enjoy his eternal covenant in a life beyond this one.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:35 A lawyer is an expert in the law; it is another term for "scribes of the Pharisees" (Mark 2:16; see Acts 23:9).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:36 the great commandment. The rabbis had an ongoing debate regarding which commandments were "light" and which were "weighty" (compare 23:23; see note on 5:19). The Law refers here to the entire OT.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:37–38 love the Lord your God . . . heart . . . soul . . . mind. This command from Deut. 6:5 was repeated twice daily by faithful Jews. It expresses the idea of total devotion to God. It includes the duty to obey the rest of God's commandments (see Matt. 5:16–20). "Heart," "soul," and "mind" together refer to the whole person.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:39 You shall love your neighbor as yourself. See Lev. 19:18, 34.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:40 the Law and the Prophets. See note on 5:17.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:41–46 Jesus now asked the Pharisees about the long-awaited Messiah (the Christ), Whose son is he? Their reply, The son of David, reflected the common understanding that the Messiah would be a descendant of David (see 2 Sam. 7:12–14; Ps. 89:3–4; Isa. 11:1; Jer. 23:5). Jesus then cites Ps. 110:1, one of the messianic texts most quoted in the NT. In the psalm, David said that the coming Messiah (that is, David's "son") will not be just a special human descended from David. He will also be David's Lord. The fact that the descendant (Jesus) would have a more prominent role and title than the ancestor (David) further indicates the uniqueness of the Messiah and the greater honor that is due him as the Son of God. Psalm 110 emphasizes the Messiah's deity. The Messiah is to be God in the flesh (see John 1:14).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:2 The scribes and the Pharisees. See notes on 2:4; 3:7. Moses' seat refers to a place of authority from which experts on the law taught.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:3 so do and observe whatever they tell you. "So" connects this verse with v. 2. The mention of Moses evidently indicates "whatever they tell you about the Law of Moses" and does not include the Pharisees' later extensive additions to Mosaic laws.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:4 heavy burdens. See note on 11:28.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:5 phylacteries. Small cube-shaped cases made of leather, containing Scripture passages written on parchment. They were worn on the left arm and forehead as a literal way to obey Deut. 11:18. fringes. These tassels with a blue cord attached to the four corners of a man's garment (Num. 15:37–41) reminded people to obey God's commandments and to be holy (Num. 15:40).

FACT

Phylacteries (23:5) were small cube-shaped leather cases that were tied to the left arms and foreheads of Jewish men attending the synagogue. In the cases were passages of Scripture written on pieces of parchment. This was done in an effort to literally fulfill the OT command to keep the words of the Lord on their hands and between their eyes (Ex. 13:9; Deut. 6:8).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:7 Rabbi literally meant "my lord" but it was used generally for outstanding teachers of the law.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:8–10 not to be called rabbi, . . . call no man your father. . . . Neither be called instructors. Jesus does not forbid use of titles such as "teacher," "doctor," or "father" for all time in all circumstances. Rather, he prohibits his disciples from using these terms in the way the Pharisees used them, wrongly praising leaders and thus encouraging human pride.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:13–36 Jesus now speaks directly to the scribes and Pharisees. He declares seven "woes" (or laments) upon them that echo the criticisms he has repeated throughout his ministry. These seven woes stand in contrast to the first seven "blessings" that introduce the Sermon on the Mount and describe Jesus' true disciples (5:3–9). (For a similar list of woes, see Luke 11:37–54.) The woes are a mixture of condemnation, regret, and sorrow.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:13 First woe: the shut door. The teachers of the law and the Pharisees are false leaders who have drawn the people away from the kingdom of heaven instead of toward it.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:15 Second woe: entrapped converts. The Pharisees enthusiastically sought converts, only to place them under the weight of the many requirements they added to the Bible's teaching.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:16–19 Third woe: binding oaths. The Pharisees focus on superficial distinctions and overlook the higher principles of the law.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:20–22 whoever swears. See 5:33–37.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:23 Fourth woe: neglecting the weighty matters of the law. tithe. The Mosaic law required giving a tenth of all that one produced to the work of the Lord (Lev. 27:30–33). mint, dill, cumin. The Pharisees paid a tithe even from their smallest garden crops. Jesus says that they should do this without neglecting far more important matters.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:24 straining out a gnat. The rabbis strained wine to remove any small, unclean insects (Lev. 11:23, 41) that could contaminate it. swallowing a camel. The camel was the largest land animal in Palestine (see Matt. 19:24). It was unclean (Lev. 11:4). Jesus is overstating to make a point. The Pharisees had become lost in the details, while neglecting the law's major purposes.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:26 Fifth woe: clean outside, filthy inside. clean the inside. While seeking external purity, the Pharisees were blind to the corrupt internal condition of their hearts.

FACT

Hypocrites! That’s what Jesus called the Pharisees, who followed man-made traditions while often disregarding God’s laws. God sees into our hearts. He wants our genuine devotion and obedience (23:13–32).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:27–28 Sixth woe: whitewashed tombs. The Pharisees were like tombs, which in Jesus’ day could be outwardly very beautiful but within held nothing but death and decay. These tombs were whitewashed to identify them clearly, since people would be unclean for seven days through any contact with them (Num. 19:16; compare Luke 11:44).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:29–32 Seventh woe: descendants of murderers of the prophets. In plotting against Jesus, the religious leaders follow their ancestors, who persecuted and murdered God’s prophets.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:29 tombs . . . monuments. Art was often used to decorate tombs and coffins.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:35 The murders of Abel (Gen. 4:8–11) and Zechariah (2 Chron. 24:20–22) encompass all of OT biblical history (2 Chronicles is last in the Hebrew order of OT books).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:37–39 Jerusalem apparently refers to the whole nation of Israel.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:38 house. Here the reference is probably to the religious leaders in Jerusalem. All Jewish religious authority will collapse with the destruction of the temple in A.D. 70.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:39 As Jesus cites Ps. 118:26 (compare Matt. 21:9), he identifies himself as God’s Messiah and Savior who will once again come to his people, but only after a time of great judgment, when they are finally ready to receive him.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:1–25:46 The Delay, Return, and Judgment of the Messiah. These two chapters are often called the “Olivet Discourse” because Jesus “sat on the Mount of Olives” when he spoke these words (24:3). It is the fifth of Jesus’ five major teachings recorded in Matthew. Jesus is speaking to his disciples, giving them a prophetic overview of events to come in the near and distant future.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:1 left the temple. The road from Jerusalem to Bethany, where Jesus and his disciples are staying, provides a spectacular view of the temple in the distance.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:2 Jesus' prophecy was fulfilled in A.D. 70 when the Roman army destroyed Jerusalem and the temple.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:3 The disciples ask two questions: (1) when will these things be, and (2) what will be the sign of your coming and of the end of the age? Jesus' answer apparently combines the destruction of Jerusalem and his second coming. The near event (the destruction of Jerusalem) is a symbol and foreshadowing of the more distant event (the second coming).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:8 Birth pains indicates that there will be a time of suffering prior to the messianic age (compare Rom. 8:22–23). Prophets used the metaphor of birth pains to describe terrible suffering in general (see Isa. 13:8; 42:14; Jer. 30:5–7) as well as specific suffering that Israel will endure prior to her deliverance (see Isa. 26:17–19; Mic. 4:9–10).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:13 end. Either the end of the persecution, when the Son of Man returns (see 10:23), or the end of one's life. will be saved. Not from physical death (see 24:21–22) but from divine wrath and human persecution. Saved persons will experience the full blessing and peace of salvation when Jesus returns.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:15 Daniel 9:27 tells of the abomination of desolation. Several times in Jewish history, it was thought that this prophecy was being fulfilled. But Jesus clarifies that the complete fulfillment of Daniel's prophecy will be found in (1) the destruction of the temple in A.D. 70 and (2) the setting up of the image of the Antichrist in the last days (compare 2 Thess. 2:4; Rev. 13:14).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:16 flee to the mountains. During the Jewish revolt (A.D. 67), Jesus' warning was fulfilled when Christians fled to the mountains of Pella.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:22 if those days had not been cut short, no human being would be saved. Some suggest this means that, if God's wrath against sin were to continue unchecked, no one would survive the destruction. Others see a reference to a cutting short of either the seventieth "seven" (week) of Dan. 9:27 or the 42 months of Rev. 11:2. The elect includes all those who follow Christ during this predicted time of suffering (see Matt. 24:24, 31).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:28 Wherever the corpse is, there the vultures will gather. Just as people from far away can see vultures circling high in the air, Christ's return in judgment will be visible and inescapable. The vultures may suggest the widespread death that will accompany Christ's return to judge unbelievers.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:29 sun . . . moon . . . stars . . . powers. Some consider this to be entirely literal language (as in Ex. 10:21–23 and Matt. 27:45). Others take it as a mixture of literal and poetic language. Still others take it as entirely poetic, representing political judgment on nations and governments (compare Isa. 13:10; 34:4; Ezek. 32:7). The idea of the stars falling and the heavens being rolled up is mentioned elsewhere in the NT (see 2 Pet. 3:10; Rev. 6:13–14). However one interprets these events, it is clear that all creation will be radically transformed at the return of Christ. (See Isa. 65:17; 2 Pet. 3:13; Rev. 21:1.)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:30 sign of the Son of Man. Some suggest that this is a kind of heavenly banner that will open in the heavens as Christ returns in "power and great glory." Others understand it to be the arrival of the Son of Man himself (see 16:27; 26:64). mourn. Either a sorrow that produces repentance, or a great sadness of regret in light of coming judgment. they will see the Son of Man (see note on 8:20) coming on the clouds of heaven. This recalls Daniel's prophecy (Dan. 7:13–14) and points to Jesus' return at the end of the age (see 2 Thess. 1:7–10; Rev. 19:11–16). with power and great glory. Christ will be revealed as the eternal ruler of the kingdom of God (see Dan. 7:13–14).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:31 In both Jewish and Christian writings (Isa. 18:3; 27:13; 1 Cor. 15:51–52; 1 Thess. 4:16), a trumpet call is associated with the Messiah's arrival.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:34 this generation will not pass away until all these things take place. Several interpretations have been offered as to what “this generation” refers to: (1) the disciples who were alive when Jesus was speaking, with “all these things” referring to the beginning but not the completion of the sufferings described in vv. 4–25; (2) Jesus’ disciples who see the destruction of the temple in A.D. 70 and also those at the end of the age who see the events surrounding the “abomination of desolation” (v. 15); (3) people who display a certain quality, that is, either (a) “this generation of believers” throughout the entire present age, or (b) “this evil generation” that will remain until Christ returns (compare 12:45; Luke 11:29); (4) the “generation” or “race” of the Jewish people, who will not pass away until Christ returns; or (5) the generation that is alive when the final period of great tribulation begins.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:35 my words will not pass away. Jesus’ teaching has divine authority and permanence. It is greater even than heaven and earth.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:36 no one knows, not even . . . the Son, but the Father only. In his life on earth, Jesus learned things as other human beings learn them (see Luke 2:52; Heb. 5:8). Yet Jesus was also fully God. As God, he could know things that only God knows (see John 16:30; 21:17). Here he is apparently speaking in terms of his human nature (see Matt. 4:2; Luke 2:40; John 4:6), not exercising his omniscience.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:40–41 taken . . . left. The description may indicate that one is taken away to final judgment (see v. 39) while the other remains to experience salvation at Christ’s return. Or possibly the one who is taken is among the elect that the Son of Man will “gather . . . from the four winds” (v. 31).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:42 stay awake. On readiness for Christ’s return, see 1 Thess. 5:1–11; 1 Pet. 4:7; 2 Pet. 3:2–18.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:48–51 delayed. The behavior of the wicked servant shows that he is a false disciple (see Gal. 5:19–21) and deserves judgment.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:1 the kingdom of heaven will be like. See notes on 3:2; 13:24. ten virgins. Bridesmaids. bridegroom. As God called himself Israel’s “husband” in the OT (e.g., Isa. 54:4–6), so Jesus pictures himself here as a bridegroom (see Matt. 9:14–15). It was Jewish marriage custom for the groom and his friends to leave his home and go to the home of the bride. The marriage ceremony was conducted there, often at night. The entire wedding party then returned to the groom’s home for a celebration banquet.

Jerusalem in the Time of Jesus

The heavily fortified city of Jerusalem lay atop adjacent hills in the mountainous region of Judea. It therefore proved difficult even for the Romans to recapture during the Jewish revolt, although they eventually did so in A.D. 70 after a bitter siege. The oldest portion of Jerusalem, called “the city of David” and “Mount Zion,” lay to the south of the temple, but the city walls in the first century also encompassed the newer Upper City to the west of the temple. To the east, across the Kidron Valley (John 18:1), stood the Mount of Olives (Mark 13:3). To the south of Zion lay the Hinnom Valley. The reconstruction above depicts Jerusalem around A.D. 30, and the general direction of the drawing is looking north.

① The Gate of the Essenes allowed the Essenes to access latrines outside the city walls in accordance with their strict laws of hygiene.

⑰ The Pool of Siloam (see John 9:7), a focal point of Jerusalem, adjoined a large dam and reservoir, and received water from the Gihon Spring.

⑱ The Hinnom Valley was to the south of the hill that was the original city of David.

⑲ The Upper City housed luxurious villas of wealthy residents in the Herodian period.

⑨ Herod the Great lived in the luxurious Hasmonean Palace from the mid-30s to 23 B.C. while awaiting the building of his own new palace. Herod Antipas ("Herod the Tetrarch") lived in this palace during his reign, 4 B.C.–A.D. 39. Jesus appeared before him here in either A.D. 30 or 33.

⑩ The Archives building contained the public registers (including genealogies) as well as bonds taken by money-lenders, which allowed the recovery of debts.

⑪ The Xystus, built on the site of the former Greek Gymnasium, was a place of mass assembly.

⑫ The Council House was a public building, perhaps functioning as a municipal office.

⑬ The Temple was reconstructed by Herod the Great, beginning in 20/19 B.C.

⑭ The Bethesda Pools (see John 5:2) were twin pools, each measuring c. 312 by 164–196 feet (95 by 50–60 m), and c. 50 feet (15 m) deep. A small Roman temple dedicated to Aesculapius stood to the east of the pools.

⑮ The Garden of Gethsemane was located approximately 300 yards (274 m) from Jerusalem and the Temple Mount. The Mount of Olives was "a Sabbath day's journey away" from Jerusalem (Acts 1:12), approximately 1,100 yards, or 3/5 of a mile (1 km).

⑯ The ravine of the Kidron Valley has always served as Jerusalem's eastern boundary.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:3–4 lamps. Large dome-shaped torches, fueled by rags soaked in oil, used for walking outside. oil. With extra containers of oil, the torches could last for several hours.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:11–12 I do not know you. The OT speaks of God “knowing” his chosen people (Jer. 1:5; Hos. 13:5; Amos 3:2). The same theme continues in the NT, where it describes a saving relationship with God through Jesus Christ (Gal. 4:8–9; 2 Tim. 2:19).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:13 you know neither the day nor the hour. See note on 24:42.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:18 dug in the ground. See note on 13:44.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:20–23 Well done, good and faithful servant. What was important was their faithfulness in using their gifts and potential.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:24–25 Master, I knew you to be a hard man. The third servant’s actions result from his misperception of his master.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:27 you ought to have invested my money with the bankers. Israelites were forbidden to charge interest to other Israelites (Deut. 23:19), but they could collect interest from Gentiles (Deut. 23:20).

FACT

The bankers (25:27) were probably money-changers, who would charge for their services. It was rare for people to have money or treasure to invest, but if they did, they buried it (Josh. 7:21), had a friend or neighbor guard it (Ex. 22:7), or kept it in a temple.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:29 to everyone who has will more be given. Using one’s God-given abilities wisely and productively is an important part of discipleship. Faithfulness will be rewarded with more opportunities to serve God.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:30 outer darkness . . . weeping and gnashing of teeth. See note on 8:11–12.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:31 Son of Man. See note on 8:20. angels with him. See 13:41–42; Rev. 14:17–20. sit on his glorious throne. As both Judge and King (Dan. 7:13–14).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:32 all the nations. Both Jews and Gentiles (see note on 28:19). he will separate people one from another. See 7:21–23; 13:40–43.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:34 blessed by my Father. The blessing to the "sheep" (v. 32) is their inheritance of the Father's kingdom. They receive this because of their saving relationship with the Father and the Son.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:40 least of these. Those who are most needy among Jesus' brothers (Jesus' disciples, but also all believers).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:41–46 eternal punishment. Some interpreters think this judgment (these will go away) will occur prior to the start of Jesus' earthly millennial kingdom. They think the "sheep" (v. 33) are those blessed to live under Jesus' reign. Others think this judgment will come at the end of that time (Rev. 20:11–13).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:1–27:66 The Crucified Messiah. Matthew narrates the events leading to Jesus' death: (1) the Passover and Lord's Supper and events in Gethsemane (26:1–46); (2) Jesus' arrest, trials, and conviction (26:47–27:26); and (3) Jesus' beating, crucifixion, death, and burial (27:27–66).

FACT

Showing mercy to the least of our fellow humans around the world (25:40) is the same as caring about Jesus himself. The care we show (or don't show) to others reveals what is in our heart.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:2 The Passover was celebrated annually in remembrance of Israel's exodus from Egypt (see notes on Exodus 12). Son of Man. See note on Matt. 8:20. This is the fourth time that Jesus predicts his arrest and crucifixion (see 16:21; 17:22–23; 20:17–19).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:3–4 chief priests and the elders of the people. Representatives of the Sanhedrin, the ruling body in Jerusalem, but not the full assembly. palace. The private residence of the high priest. Caiaphas was high priest A.D. 18 to 36. He was the son-in-law of Annas, the previous high priest (see note on John 18:24).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:5 feast. Thousands of pilgrims made the journey to Jerusalem to celebrate Passover. There was much national pride as they recalled their ancestors' liberation from bondage in Egypt. uproar. Popular uprisings were common, especially during such feasts.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:6–13 Matthew records this account of Jesus' anointing at Bethany thematically. John records it chronologically, on Saturday night before Jesus' triumphal entry (John 12:1–11).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:6 Bethany. See note on 21:17. Jesus had most likely healed Simon the leper. The meal is hosted in Simon's home. People healed of leprosy were not required to live apart from the general population.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:7 a woman. Identified in John 12:3 as Mary, sister of Martha and Lazarus. expensive ointment. "Pure nard" (see Mark 14:3; John 12:3), a perfume oil used for solemn acts of devotion (see note on Mark 14:3–5).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:9 large sum. The perfume was valued at "more than three hundred denarii" (Mark 14:5), approximately a year's wages for the average worker.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:14 one of the twelve. Judas's treachery is heightened by the fact that he is one of Jesus' chosen apostles.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:15–16 thirty pieces of silver. In the OT, this was the penalty paid by the owner of an ox that gored a slave to death (Ex. 21:32). Equivalent to about four months' wages for a laborer, this meager sum suggests the low esteem in which both Judas and the chief priests held Jesus.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:17 first day of Unleavened Bread. The Festival of Unleavened Bread lasted seven days in the Jewish month of Nisan (late March or early April; see Lev. 23:5–6). prepare for you to eat the Passover. Preparations for the Passover were made on Thursday afternoon. Jesus and the disciples ate the Passover meal after sundown on Thursday evening. Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper later that evening.

The Last Supper

After Jesus and his disciples ate the Passover meal, they crossed the Kidron Valley and entered a garden called Gethsemane (meaning “oil press”), where they often spent time while visiting Jerusalem (see Luke 22:39).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:20 reclined at table. In formal dining, the host took the center seat at a U-shaped series of low tables. He was surrounded by the most honored guests on either side. The guests reclined with their heads toward the tables and their feet toward the wall.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:23 He who has dipped his hand in the dish with me. The custom was to take a piece of bread or a piece of meat in bread and dip it into a common bowl of sauce on the table. Each of those around the room had done so. At this point the betrayer could have been any of the Twelve.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:24 as it is written. A reference to the suffering servant prophesies in Isaiah 42–53.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:25 Rabbi. The larger group around the table addresses Jesus as “Lord” (v. 22), but Judas addresses him as “Rabbi,” or “Teacher.” There is no record of Judas ever calling Jesus “Lord.” You have said so is a Greek expression that deflects responsibility back upon the one asking a question (see v. 64).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:26 bread . . . this is my body. Jesus’ physical death fulfills the ceremonies surrounding the Passover lamb and other OT sacrifices. He will become the sacrificial atonement for the people’s sins.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:27 cup. Most likely the third of four cups in the Passover observance—the cup of blessing, or the cup of redemption. It corresponds to God’s third promise in Ex. 6:6.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:28 blood of the covenant. The cup foreshadows the shedding of Jesus’ blood and his absorbing of God’s wrath. This opens the way for the redemption of all peoples through the new covenant relationship with God that was promised to the people of Israel (see Jer. 31:31, 34).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:29 drink it new with you in my Father’s kingdom. The messianic banquet (compare 8:11; Rev. 19:9).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:30 hymn. Perhaps Psalms 113–118, or Psalm 136.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:31 You will all fall away. All the disciples will forsake Jesus and run (v. 56). They will still be his disciples, but they will fail to stand with him against persecution.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:34 rooster crows. Marking the sunrise.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:36 Gethsemane means “oil press,” indicating a garden area on the Mount of Olives where olive oil was prepared.

Jesus' Arrest, Trial, and Crucifixion

The path from Jesus' arrest to his crucifixion (part of which is often called the Via Dolorosa, " Way of Sorrows") is difficult to retrace with certainty. According to a possible harmony of the Gospel accounts, after the Passover meal Judas led a contingent of soldiers to Gethsemane to arrest Jesus (1). From there Jesus was led to Annas (location unknown), who sent him to his son-in-law Caiaphas, the high priest (2). The Jewish leaders then appealed to the Roman governor Pilate to have Jesus put to death (3). Luke records that Pilate sent Jesus to Herod Antipas (4), who questioned Jesus but returned him to Pilate without rendering any judgment (5). Pilate then sent Jesus to be crucified at Golgotha (6).

FACT

Gethsemane was most likely a garden area among olive tree groves that had an area for pressing the olives into oil. Though the traditional site is now marked by the modern Church of All Nations, many archaeologists believe that a cave located a couple hundred feet north of there is a more likely location.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:39 fell on his face. In this typical posture of complete humility in prayer, Jesus lays his life before his Father. He prepares to accomplish his life's mission—to bear the sins of the world—which is what this cup signifies. See note on 20:22–23.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:41 Their temptation was to sleep and thus to fail in their responsibility to support Jesus. It may also refer to the temptation to deny Jesus when he is led away to the cross (see vv. 31–35).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:47 one of the twelve. See note on v. 14. The great crowd included Roman soldiers assigned to the temple for security, carrying swords, and temple police and personal guards of the chief priests and Sanhedrin (elders), carrying clubs.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:48 kiss. A customary way for friends in ancient Israel to greet one another now becomes the means of betrayal.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:49 Rabbi. See note on v. 25.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:50 When Jesus addresses Judas as Friend, he uses a word meaning "acquaintance," rather than a word implying closeness or affection.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:51 one of those who were with Jesus. Simon Peter (see John 18:10–11). servant of the high priest. Malchus (see John 18:10).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:53 twelve legions. 72,000 soldiers. A Roman legion at full strength had 6,000 soldiers.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:56 Compare Psalm 22; Isaiah 53; Zechariah 12–13.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:57–58 The headquarters of Caiaphas the high priest was likely a mansion, probably on the eastern slope of Jerusalem, overlooking the temple area.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:59 The whole council (the "Sanhedrin") need not include all 70 members of the highest court of the Jews. It may indicate only those hastily assembled in the middle of the night (23 members made a quorum). The Romans were ultimately in control of all judicial proceedings, but they allowed their subjects some freedom to try their own cases.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:61–62 I am able to destroy the temple of God. Jesus' opponents misquoted this saying and took it out of context (see John 2:19–21).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:63 Jesus is silent, fulfilling Isa. 53:7 and making his accusers responsible for his death. tell us if you are the Christ. Caiaphas wants Jesus to admit to this charge so that he can be accused of rebellion against Rome and be tried before Pilate.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:64 You have said so. See note on v. 25. Jesus declares that he is not only the human Messiah anticipated by the Jews but also the divine Son of Man (see Dan. 7:13–14; note on Matt. 8:20) who sits at the right hand of God (Ps. 110:1–2).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:65 tore his robes. Such an action was normally prohibited for the high priest (Lev. 10:6; 21:10), but Jesus' astounding claim causes a strong response. blasphemy. Because Jesus claims divine status as the Son of Man.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:66 If Jesus is lying by claiming to be divine, then indeed he deserves death according to Jewish law (see Lev. 24:10–23). The irony is that he will be executed for telling the truth.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:71–72 oath. See 5:33–37.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:73 All of Jesus' disciples except Judas were from Galilee. Judeans looked down on Galileans because of their regional accent.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:74 curse . . . swear. Most likely calling upon God's wrath to strike him if he is lying.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:1 When morning came on Friday, all the chief priests and the elders of the people assembled a quorum so they could formally approve their verdict against Jesus during the early morning hours (26:57–68).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:2 They . . . delivered him over to Pilate, the governor of Judea and the Roman prefect under Emperor Tiberius (see note on Luke 3:1). To maintain control, the Romans kept the death penalty under their own jurisdiction and reserved the right to intervene in any case.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:3–4 Only Matthew records Judas's feelings of remorse and his attempt to return the blood money. changed his mind. Judas experienced feelings of regret. This is less than "repentance," which involves a change of action and attitude.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:5 Judas hanged himself rather than face his crushing guilt.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:6 blood money. Based on Deut. 23:18.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:7–8 The name Field of Blood arose from its association with Judas's violent death (see Acts 1:18–19) and perhaps also with the "blood money" (Matt. 27:6) paid for his betrayal of Jesus. Most church traditions place this location in the Hinnom Valley south of Jerusalem (see note on 18:6–9). The precise location is unknown.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:9–10 Matthew draws on a combination of phrases from Jer. 19:1–13 and Zech. 11:11–13, but attributes the prophecy to Jeremiah as the more prominent of the two (compare Mark 1:2; see Isa. 40:3; Mal. 3:1).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:11 governor. Pontius Pilate (see note on v. 2). King of the Jews. Since blasphemy is not a charge worthy of the death penalty under Roman rule, the Jewish leaders restate the charges when they hand Jesus over to Pilate (compare Luke 23:2). A claim to kingship would be a direct challenge to Caesar. You have said so. See note on Matt. 26:25; see also 26:64.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:15–18 release for the crowd. Pilate had apparently begun this custom to win favor with the people. Barabbas. A notorious criminal who had committed robbery (see note on John 18:40), treason, and murder (Mark 15:7; Luke 23:18–19). He may have belonged to one of the rural guerilla bands that attacked Romans and wealthy Jews, making him popular with the common people.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:19 dream. Romans often viewed dreams as omens. God probably gave the dream as a sign of Jesus' innocence.

FACT

Barabbas was a notorious criminal who had committed robbery, insurrection, and murder and may have belonged to one of the rural bandit gangs roaming the countryside. Bandits were popular with the public because they often targeted the wealthy and harassed the Roman government, both of whom were despised by the masses.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:24 washed his hands. A public demonstration that he finds no grounds for giving Jesus the death penalty.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:25 His blood be on us (see Acts 18:6) was a common phrase accepting responsibility for someone's death. Subsequent generations of Jews should not be held responsible for the sins of their ancestors, however, for that would be unjust (see Deut. 24:16).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:26 scourged. Roman beatings were a terribly cruel punishment. Those condemned were tied to a post and beaten with a leather whip interwoven with pieces of bone and metal, which tore through skin and tissue, often exposing bones and intestines. In many cases, the beating itself was fatal.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:27–44 As he tells of the crucifixion, Matthew focuses on the fulfillment of OT prophecies about the suffering servant (Isa. 42:1–4; 52:13–53:12) as well as Jesus' own predictions of his death (Matt. 16:21; 17:22–23; 20:17–19; 26:2).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:27 the governor's headquarters. The Praetorium, Pilate's official headquarters, was also used as a fortress (see note on John 18:28). whole battalion. Probably 120–200 soldiers.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:28–31 put a scarlet robe on him. Roman soldiers in Jerusalem often played cruel games with condemned prisoners, particularly traitors. Mark and John describe the cloak as “purple,” but dyes varied, so a violet-red cloak might be called scarlet by some and purple by others.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:32 Cyrene was a region in North Africa (see note on Acts 13:1) with a large Jewish population. Simon was likely a Jew who had traveled to Jerusalem for the Passover. carry his cross. Jesus was severely weakened from the beating and loss of blood (see note on Matt. 27:26). He was unable to carry his cross, which would have weighed 30 to 40 pounds (14 to 18 kg).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:33 Golgotha. Aramaic for “skull.” It may have had this name because it was a place of execution, because the area had a number of tombs, or possibly because the site in some way resembled a skull (see Mark 15:22).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:34 This was one more mockery. The wine they offered was mixed with gall, a bitter herb that could even be poisonous.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:35 crucified him. The Jewish historian Josephus mentions thousands of people crucified in first-century Palestine, mostly during rebellions against Rome. Crucifixion was considered the worst form of execution, due to the excruciating pain and public shame. Hanging suspended by one’s arms eventually caused great difficulty in breathing. Only pushing up with one’s feet to take the weight off the arms could lessen the lack of breath. But that motion itself caused severe pain, forcing the exhausted victim to slump down again. Eventually, the victim would suffocate or die from the physical trauma. They divided his garments among them by casting lots is a clear reference to Ps. 22:18.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:37 The charge was written “in Aramaic, in Latin, and in Greek” (John 19:20) as a warning to any who would dare rebel against Rome.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:38 robbers. Nothing more is known about the background of these men. Jesus’ crucifixion with criminals fulfills Isa. 53:12.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:39–40 Since Heb. 13:12 says that Jesus was crucified “outside the [city] gate,” those who passed by probably included many pilgrims who had come to Jerusalem for the Passover. wagging their heads. An allusion to Ps. 22:7; see note on Ps. 22:6–8.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:41–43 chief priests, with the scribes and elders, mocked him. The religious leaders do not address Jesus directly. They turn to one another as they mock him. let God deliver him. An allusion to Ps. 22:8.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:45–50 After being on the cross for about six hours (compare v. 45 with Mark 15:25), Jesus dies.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:45 sixth hour . . . until the ninth hour. From noon until 3:00 P.M. The ninth hour was the time when Jews offered the daily evening sacrifice. darkness. Not a solar eclipse, since Passover occurred during a full moon, and a solar eclipse can occur only during a new moon. Rather, it is a supernatural act of God, displaying his displeasure and judgment upon humanity for crucifying his Son.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:46 Eli, Eli, lema sabachthani? Jesus quotes Ps. 22:1, speaking in Aramaic, the everyday language of his time. My God, my God, why have you forsaken me? In some sense Jesus had to be cut off from the favor of and fellowship with the Father that had been his eternally. He was bearing the sins of his people and therefore enduring God’s wrath (see Isa. 53:6, 10; 2 Cor. 5:21; Gal. 3:13; 1 John 2:2). And yet, in quoting Ps. 22:1 Jesus probably has in mind the remainder of the psalm as well, which moves on to a cry of victory (Ps. 22:21–31). And, he expresses faith by calling God “my God.” Surely he knows why he is dying, for this was the purpose of his coming to earth (see Matt. 16:21; 20:18–19, 28). His cry, uttered with a loud voice, is not expressing bewilderment at his situation. It is to tell the bystanders, and through them the world, that he was experiencing God-forsakenness for the salvation of others.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:47 In Aramaic, Jesus’ call to God (“Eli, Eli”) sounds similar to the Hebrew name for Elijah. Bystanders misunderstand him as calling for the prophet.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:48 sour wine. Used as a daily drink with meals by common people and soldiers. It was cheaper than regular wine and effectively quenched thirst. See Ps. 69:21.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:50 yielded up his spirit. Even in death, Jesus maintains authority over his destiny (see John 10:17–18). While Jesus’ body remained on the cross and was then put in the tomb, his spirit went into the presence of God his Father (see Luke 23:43, 46; also Eccles. 12:7). In this way he became the pattern for believers who die after him (2 Cor. 5:8; Phil. 1:23).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:51 The curtain between the Holy Place and the Most Holy Place was an elaborately woven fabric 60 feet (18 m) high and 30 feet (9 m) wide. No one was allowed to enter the Most Holy Place except the high priest, once a year on the Day of Atonement (Heb. 9:2–7). Torn in two signifies the removal of the separation between God and the people. See Heb. 9:12, 24; 10:19–20. earth shook. Palestine sits on a major seismic rift, so earthquakes were not uncommon. But the splitting of rocks and opening of tombs (Matt. 27:52) make this a major testimony to the meaning of Jesus' death and resurrection.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:52–53 saints who had fallen asleep. This shows that the resurrection of people who died looking forward to the Messiah depended on Christ's actual death and resurrection, as does the future resurrection of Jesus' disciples today. coming out of the tombs after his resurrection they went into the holy city. Matthew apparently jumps ahead here, treating materials topically, as he often does. The wording suggests that these saints were not merely brought back to life (like Lazarus; John 11:44) but were raised with new, resurrection bodies. Since believers' resurrected bodies will be like Jesus' resurrected body (1 Corinthians 15), it is natural to guess that they would not have died again. They may have returned to heaven at or after Jesus' ascension (Acts 1:1–11).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:55–56 These women accompanied Jesus as his disciples (see Mark 15:41; Luke 8:1–3; 23:49), witnessed the crucifixion, and will be the first witnesses to his resurrection.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:57–60 Joseph was a member of the Sanhedrin who did not consent to the actions against Jesus (Luke 23:50–51). His high standing within the Jewish community gave him access to Pilate. The location of Arimathea is uncertain—perhaps Ramathaim in the hill country of Ephraim, 20 miles (32 km) northwest of Jerusalem. asked for the body of Jesus. The Jewish custom was that crucified bodies should be taken down before evening, especially before the Sabbath, which began at sundown on Friday. new tomb. A rectangular chamber cut into rock. It was accessed through a low entry room and blocked with a stone that could be rolled back and forth. The use of a rich man's tomb fulfills Isa. 53:9.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:61 the other Mary (compare 28:1). Most likely the mother of Joses (see Mark 15:40, 47; he was probably the same person as "Joseph," Matt. 27:56).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:62 The next day, . . . after the day of Preparation is the Sabbath.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:65–66 guard. The same Roman military guard assigned to temple security.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:1–20 The Resurrection and Commission of the Messiah. Matthew's concluding chapter recounts Jesus' resurrection from the dead. His resurrection confirms his identity and shows that God accepted Jesus' death for others' sins. Jesus now lives as the faithful companion, master, and Lord of those who respond to his great commission (vv. 16–20).

FACT

Jesus' resurrection is a crucial part of the gospel message. If Jesus did not rise from the dead, we are still in our sins (1 Cor. 15:17). Yet the Jewish leaders chose to make up the story that it never happened (Matt. 28:13–14).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:1 first day of the week. Sunday morning. Mary Magdalene and the other Mary. Compare 27:61.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:2 great earthquake, for an angel of the Lord. The earthquake either occurred simultaneously with the appearance of the angel or was the way the angel rolled away the stone.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:3–4 fear of him. The guards are probably battle-hardened soldiers, but they have never witnessed anything like this.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:7 his disciples. Probably the Eleven. Galilee. The central location of Jesus' earthly ministry continues to be important during his post-resurrection ministry.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:9 Took hold of his feet shows that this is no vision or hallucination. It is a physical resurrection. By allowing this act of worship, here and in v. 17, Jesus accepts their confession of his deity, for only God is to be worshiped.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:10 my brothers. Perhaps the Eleven, but more likely the broader group of disciples who had followed Jesus (compare 12:49–50; 25:40). If so, this is the larger group of disciples who will see the risen Lord (e.g., 1 Cor. 15:6).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:11–15 The soldiers faced possible execution for neglecting their guard duty. In cooperating with the Jewish religious leaders, they at least have a chance to save themselves.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:17 Some doubted probably refers to people other than the 11 disciples (see note on v. 10).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:18 All authority. In his risen state, Jesus exercises absolute authority throughout heaven and earth. This shows his deity. His authority has been given by the Father, which indicates that he remains under the Father's authority (see note on 1 Cor. 15:28).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:19 The command (make disciples) explains the central focus of the Great Commission. The Greek participles (translated go, baptizing, and "teaching" [v. 20]) describe the process by which disciples are made. all nations. All the peoples of the earth. The name (singular) of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit is an indication of the Trinitarian Godhead and a clear statement of Jesus' deity.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:20 observe. Obey. I am with you always. Jesus is "God with us" (see 1:23). This is a fitting way for Jesus to conclude his charge to the disciples and for Matthew to conclude his Gospel.

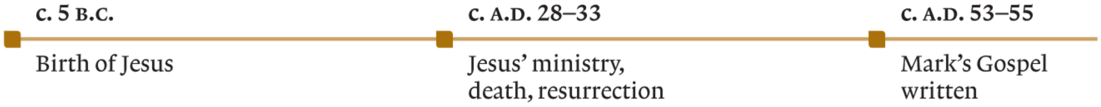
Introduction to Mark

Introduction to Mark

Timeline



Author, Date, and Recipients

The apostle Peter passed on reports of the words and deeds of Jesus to his attendant, John Mark, who wrote this Gospel for the wider church as the record of Peter's apostolic testimony. The book was likely written from Rome during the mid- to late-50s A.D. (though the mid- or late-60s is also possible). Mark's audience, largely unfamiliar with Jewish customs, needed to become familiar with such customs in order to understand the coming of Jesus as the culmination of God's work with Israel and the entire world, so Mark explains them.

Purpose and Theme

The ultimate purpose and theme of Mark's Gospel is to present and defend Jesus' universal call to discipleship. Mark returns often to this theme, categorizing his main audience as either followers or opponents of Jesus. Mark presents and supports this call to discipleship by narrating the identity and teaching of Jesus. For Mark, discipleship is essentially a relationship with Jesus, not merely following a certain code of conduct. Fellowship with Jesus marks the heart of the disciple's life, and this fellowship includes trusting Jesus, confessing him, observing his conduct, following his teaching, and being shaped by a relationship with him. Discipleship also means being prepared to face the kind of rejection that Jesus faced.

Key Themes

1. Jesus seeks to correct messianic expectations and misunderstandings (1:25, 34, 44; 3:12; 4:10–12; 5:18–19, 43; 8:30; 9:9).
2. Jesus is man (3:5; 4:38; 6:6; 7:34; 8:12, 33; 10:14; 11:12; 14:33–42).
3. Jesus is the Son of God (1:11; 3:11; 5:7; 8:38; 9:7; 12:6–8; 13:32; 14:36, 61; 15:39).
4. Jesus is the Son of Man with all power and authority (1:16–34; 2:3–12, 23–28; 3:11; 4:35–41; 6:45–52; 7:1–23; 10:1–12).
5. Jesus as the Son of Man must suffer (8:31; 10:45; 14:21, 36).
6. Jesus is Lord (2:28; 12:35–37; 14:62).
7. Jesus calls his followers to imitate him in humble service, self-denial, and suffering (8:34–38; 9:35–37; 10:35–45).
8. Jesus teaches on the kingdom of God, and implies that God continues to call a people to himself (compare 1:15; 9:1; 14:25; 15:43).

The Setting of Mark

The events in the book of Mark take place almost entirely within Palestine, from Caesarea Philippi in the north to Beersheba in the south. During this time Palestine was ruled by the Roman Empire. The book opens with Jesus’ baptism by John during the rule of Pontius Pilate and the tetrarchs Antipas and Philip. It closes with Jesus’ death and resurrection about three years later.

The Global Message of Mark

The Central Message of Mark

The central message of Mark's Gospel is that Jesus Christ, the Son of God, has come to earth (Mark 1:1), that "the kingdom of God is at hand," and that all should "repent and believe in the gospel" (1:15).

Mark establishes early in his Gospel that Jesus is indeed the very Son of God—as we see when Jesus was baptized by John the Baptist. When Jesus came up from the water, immediately the heavens opened, the Holy Spirit descended on Jesus, and the voice of God the Father spoke from heaven saying, "You are my beloved Son; with you I am well pleased" (Mark 1:9–11). These verses show clearly that the One True God of the Bible exists as three persons—Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

Other books of the Bible also show that Jesus is the Creator of everything in the universe, including this earth and every human being on it (John 1:1–3). The apostle Paul writes that Jesus "is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creation. For by him all things were created, in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or authorities—all things were created through him and for him" (Col. 1:15–16).

The global significance of this is massive. Because Jesus created everything, he is the rightful ruler of everything. But the tragic reality of human existence is that life on this earth is deeply damaged by cruelty and suffering, by evil and injustice, by sickness and finally death.

Global Good News

Mark's Gospel starts off with global good news—the triumphant announcement of the arrival of the kingdom of God: "Jesus came into Galilee, proclaiming the gospel of God, and saying, 'The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand; repent and believe in the gospel'" (Mark 1:14–15). The long-awaited worldwide kingdom—in which all would be put right and justice would prevail—dawned when Jesus came into the world. Though injustice and evil still ravage this world, the King of creation, the rightful righteous ruler has landed! Evil's defeat is certain and imminent. God's cosmic, global restoration has begun—in the coming of Christ, in his life and death and resurrection.

Immediately after announcing that the "kingdom of God is at hand," Jesus calls his first disciples from among a group of fishermen (Mark 1:16–20). Here we see a pattern that has been reflected in Christianity around the world throughout history and down to the present. It is not the social elites that Jesus calls to leave everything and follow him, but common people from every walk of life. The gospel is for all peoples, not limited to a select few who outwardly observe a list of rules (7:3–4). Jesus underscores the inclusion of people from every nation—by showing mercy to the Gentiles (e.g., 7:24–30) and by welcoming "whoever does the will of God" into his own family (3:35).

We also learn, right from the start of Mark's Gospel, that Jesus cares deeply about physical suffering—as he heals a leper, a paralytic, and a man with a withered hand (1:40–45; 2:1–12; 3:1–6). Later on Mark says that wherever Jesus went "in villages, cities, or countryside, they laid the sick in the marketplaces," and all that touched "the fringe of his garment" were made well (6:53–56). Likewise, Mark's Gospel tells how Jesus miraculously fed a great crowd of five thousand, having "compassion on them, because they were like sheep without a shepherd" (6:34). On another occasion he fed a crowd of four thousand who had been with him three days and had nothing to eat (8:1–10). Many other times throughout Mark we see Jesus caring for people's physical needs (e.g., 7:31–37; 8:22–26). While spiritual sickness is the fundamental disease that Jesus came to heal (2:5, 17), Jesus cared deeply about the physical well-being of people as well, because all are made in the image of God. Thus the proclaiming of the gospel of God in word (1:14) was likewise demonstrated in deed.

Mark also has much to say about global poverty. On the one hand, Jesus encourages his followers to be generous toward the poor, even exhorting one wealthy man to sell all that he has and give it to the poor (Mark 10:21). Such generosity is not only for the rich, for Jesus makes a point to praise the generosity of the poor widow who gives a tiny amount, which was "all she had to live on" (12:41–44). Sacrificial giving to alleviate the poverty of others is not restricted to a certain class but is something to which all believers are called. At the same time Jesus makes clear that he himself is the greatest treasure (14:7; compare 2:19). While material poverty is close to Jesus' heart, and is something that global Christians are called to alleviate, Jesus himself—not money or anything else—is the fundamental need of every human heart. Jesus is our supreme treasure, and release from spiritual bondage and poverty is our greatest need.

Lastly, Jesus teaches the divinely ordered relationship between people and government. When the religious officials of the day tried to trap Jesus in his teaching, he astonished them with his answer: "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's" (Mark 12:17). Thus Jesus teaches the appropriate submission to government that helps ensure social well-being while also indicating, more deeply, that God's kingdom transcends earthly kingdoms, and that the Christian's deepest loyalty must be to God.

The Global Message of Mark for Today

What then is the global message of Mark's Gospel today? Clearly the kingdom of God has come near in Jesus' ministry of word and deed. Clearly Jesus calls all who believe in him and call him Lord to "proclaim the gospel of God" and to demonstrate the fruit of the gospel in all of life. "If anyone would come after me," Jesus said, "let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me" (Mark 8:34). If Christ is the Lord of life, he must be the Lord of all of life. The first great commandment, Jesus said, is, "'You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind and with all your strength.' The second is this: 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself'" (12:29–31).

It is not a matter of either/or. If we truly love the Lord with all our heart, we will love our neighbor as ourself. Thus the grave questions that face the global church are at the heart of our calling as Christians—not only to bring the gospel to every corner of the earth but also to care for orphans and widows; to uphold the dignity of each individual; to defend the sanctity of every life; to feed the hungry; to relieve poverty; to work for justice; and to care for the creation that God has entrusted to us.

We do these things because Christ is Lord of all. But we also do them knowing that we can do nothing in our own strength (John 15:5). So we look to Christ as our strength and our salvation. We trust in his death and resurrection for the forgiveness of our sins and for our redemption. And we look to the day when he will come "with great power and glory" to gather his own “from the four winds, from the ends of the earth” to establish his eternal kingdom (Mark 13:26–27).

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

MARK 1 [†]The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, [a]the Son of God. [1]

2[†] [b]As it is written in Isaiah the prophet, [2]

[c]“Behold, I send my messenger before your face, who will prepare your way,
3 [d]the voice of one crying in the wilderness:
[e]‘Prepare [3] the way of the Lord,
make his paths straight,’”

4[†][f]John appeared, baptizing in [g]the wilderness and proclaiming [h]a baptism of [i]repentance [j]for the forgiveness of sins. 5[†]And all the country of Judea and all Jerusalem were going out to him and were being baptized by him in the river Jordan, [k]confessing their sins. 6[†]Now John was [l]clothed with camel’s hair and [l]wore a leather belt around his waist and ate [m]locusts and [n]wild honey. 7[†]And he preached, saying, [o]“After me comes he who is mightier than I, the strap of whose sandals I am not worthy to stoop down and untie. 8[p]I have baptized you with water, but [q]he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit.”

The Baptism of Jesus

9[†][r]In those days Jesus [s]came from Nazareth of Galilee and was baptized by John in the Jordan. 10[†]And when he came up out of the water, immediately he [t]saw [u]the heavens being torn open [v]and the Spirit descending on him like a dove. 11And [w]a voice came from heaven, [x]“You are my beloved Son; [4] with you I am well pleased.”

The Temptation of Jesus

12[†][y]The Spirit immediately drove him out into the wilderness. 13[y]And he was in the wilderness forty days, being [z]tempted by [a]Satan. And he was with the wild animals, and [b]the angels were ministering to him.

Jesus Begins His Ministry

[14][†] [c]Now after John was arrested, Jesus [d]came into Galilee, proclaiming the gospel of God, [15]and saying, [e]“The time is fulfilled, and [f]the kingdom of God is at hand; [g]repent and believe in the gospel.”

Jesus Calls the First Disciples

[16][†] [h]Passing alongside the Sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and Andrew the brother of Simon casting a net into the sea, for they were fishermen. [17]And Jesus said to them, “Follow me, and I will make you become [i]fishers of men.” [5] [18]And immediately they left their nets and followed him. [19]And going on a little farther, he saw James the son of Zebedee and John his brother, who were in their boat mending the nets. [20][†]And immediately he called them, and they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired servants and followed him.

Jesus Heals a Man with an Unclean Spirit

[21][j] And they went into Capernaum, and immediately [k]on the Sabbath [l]he entered the synagogue and was teaching. [22][†]And [m]they were astonished at his teaching, [m]for he taught them as one who had authority, and not as the scribes. [23][†]And immediately there was in their synagogue a man with an unclean spirit. And he cried out, [24][n]“What have you to do with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? [o]I know who you are—[p]the Holy One of God.” [25]But Jesus [q]rebuked him, saying, “Be silent, and come out of him!” [26][†]And the unclean spirit, [r]convulsing him and [s]crying out with a loud voice, came out of him. [27]And they were all [t]amazed, so that they questioned among themselves, saying, “What is this? [u]A new teaching with authority! He commands even the unclean spirits, and they obey him.” [28]And at once his fame spread everywhere throughout all the surrounding region of Galilee.

Jesus Heals Many

[29][v] And immediately he [6] [w]left the synagogue and entered the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John. [30]Now [x]Simon’s mother-in-law lay ill with a fever, and immediately they told him about her. 31 And he came and [y] took her by the hand and lifted her up, and the fever left her, and she began to serve them.

32 [†] That evening at sundown they brought to him all who were sick or [z] oppressed by demons. 33 And the whole city was gathered together at the door. 34 [a] And he healed many who were sick with various diseases, and cast out many demons. And [b] he would not permit the demons to speak, because they knew him.

Jesus Preaches in Galilee

35 [c] And rising very early in the morning, while it was still dark, he departed and went out to a desolate place, and [d] there he prayed. 36 And Simon and those who were with him searched for him, 37 and they found him and said to him, [e] "Everyone is looking for you." 38 And he said to them, "Let us go on to the next towns, that I may preach there also, for [f] that is why I came out." 39 [g] And [h] he went throughout all Galilee, preaching in their synagogues and casting out demons.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

40 [†] [i] And a leper [7] came to him, imploring him, and [j] kneeling said to him, [k] "If you will, you can make me clean." 41 [†] Moved with pity, he stretched out his hand and touched him and said to him, "I will; be clean." 42 And immediately the leprosy left him, and he was made clean. 43 And [l] Jesus [8] sternly charged him and sent him away at once, 44 [†] and said to him, [m] "See that you say nothing to anyone, but go, [n] show yourself to the priest and [o] offer for your cleansing what Moses commanded, [p] for a proof to them." 45 [†] [q] But he went out and began to talk freely about it, and to spread the news, so that Jesus could no longer openly enter [r] a town, but was out in [r] desolate places, and [s] people were coming to him from every quarter.

Jesus Heals a Paralytic

MARK 2 [†]And when he returned to [t] Capernaum after some days, it was reported that he was at home. 2[†]And many were gathered together, so that there was no more room, not even at the door. And he was preaching the word to them. 3 [u] And they came, bringing to him a paralytic carried by four men. 4[†]And when they could not get near him because of the crowd, [v] they removed the roof above him, and when they had made an opening, they let down the bed on which the paralytic lay. 5[†]And when Jesus [w] saw their faith, he said to the paralytic, "Son, [x] your sins are forgiven." 6Now some of the scribes were sitting there, questioning in their hearts, 7"Why does this man speak like that? [y] He is blaspheming! [z] Who can forgive sins but God alone?" 8[†]And immediately Jesus, [a] perceiving in his spirit that they thus questioned within themselves, said to them, "Why do you question these things in your hearts? 9[†]Which is easier, to say to the paralytic, 'Your sins are forgiven,' or to say, 'Rise, take up your bed and walk'? 10[†]But that you may know that [b] the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins"—he said to the paralytic— 11"I say to you, rise, pick up your bed, and go home." 12And he rose and immediately picked up his bed and went out before them all, so that they were all amazed and [c] glorified God, saying, "We never saw anything like this!"

Jesus Calls Levi

13He went out again beside the sea, and [d] all the crowd was coming to him, and he was teaching them. 14[†] [e] And as he passed by, he saw [f] Levi the son of Alphaeus sitting at the tax booth, and he said to him, "Follow me." And he rose and followed him.

15[†]And as he reclined at table in his house, many [g] tax collectors and sinners were reclining with Jesus and his disciples, for there were many who followed him. 16And [h] the scribes of[1] the Pharisees, when they saw that he was eating with sinners and tax collectors, said to his disciples, [g] "Why does he eat[2] with tax collectors and sinners?" 17[†]And when Jesus heard it, he said to them, "Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. [i] I came not to call the righteous, [j] but sinners."

A Question About Fasting

[18][†]Now [k]John’s disciples and the Pharisees were fasting. And people came and said to him, [l]“Why do John’s disciples and [m]the disciples of the Pharisees fast, but your disciples do not fast?” [19][†]And Jesus said to them, [n]“Can the wedding guests fast while the bridegroom is with them? As long as they have the bridegroom with them, they cannot fast. [20] [o]The days will come when the bridegroom is taken away from them, and [p]then they will fast in that day. [21][†]No one sews a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment. If he does, the patch tears away from it, the new from the old, and a worse tear is made. [22]And no one puts new wine into old [q]wineskins. If he does, the wine will burst the skins—and the wine is destroyed, and so are the skins. But new wine is for fresh wineskins.” [3]

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

[23][†] [r]One Sabbath he was going through the grainfields, and as they made their way, his disciples [s]began to pluck heads of grain. [24]And the Pharisees were saying to him, “Look, [t]why are they doing [u]what is not lawful on the Sabbath?” [25][†]And he said to them, [v]“Have you never read [w]what David did, when he was in need and was hungry, he and those who were with him: [26]how he entered the house of God, in the time of [4] [x]Abiathar the high priest, and ate [y]the bread of the Presence, which it is not lawful for any but the priests to eat, and also gave it to those who were with him?” [27][†]And he said to them, [z]“The Sabbath was made for man, [a]not man for the Sabbath. [28]So [b]the Son of Man is lord even of the Sabbath.”

A Man with a Withered Hand

MARK 3 [c]Again [d]he entered the synagogue, and a man was there with a withered hand. [2][†]And [e]they watched Jesus, [1] to see whether he would heal him on the Sabbath, so that they might accuse him. [3][†]And he said to the man with the withered hand, “Come here.” [4]And he said to them, [f]“Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do harm, to save life or to kill?” But they were silent. [5]And he [g]looked around at them with anger, grieved at [h]their hardness of heart, and said to the man, “Stretch out your hand.” [i]He stretched it out, and his hand was restored. [6][†][j]The Pharisees went out and immediately [j]held counsel with [k]the Herodians against him, how to destroy him.

A Great Crowd Follows Jesus

[7][†][l]Jesus withdrew with his disciples to the sea, and [m]a great crowd followed, from Galilee and Judea [8]and Jerusalem and [n]Idumea and from beyond the Jordan and from around [o]Tyre and Sidon. When the great crowd heard all that he was doing, they came to him. [9]And he told his disciples to [p]have a boat ready for him because of the crowd, lest they [q]crush him, [10]for [r]he had healed many, so that all who had [s]diseases pressed around him [t]to touch him. [11][†][u]And whenever the unclean spirits saw him, they [v]fell down before him and cried out, “You are [w]the Son of God.” [12]And [x]he strictly ordered them not to make him known.

The Twelve Apostles

[13][†][y]And he went up on the mountain and called to him those [z]whom he desired, and they came to him. [14][†][y]And he appointed twelve (whom he also named apostles) so that they might be with him and he might send them out to preach [15][y]and have authority to cast out demons. [16][†]He appointed the twelve: [a]Simon (to whom [b]he gave the name Peter); [17][c]James the son of Zebedee and John the brother of James (to whom he gave the name Boanerges, that is, Sons of Thunder); [18]Andrew, and Philip, and Bartholomew, and [d]Matthew, and Thomas, and James the son of Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus, and Simon the Zealot, [2] [19][†]and Judas Iscariot, who betrayed him.

[20][†]Then he went [e]home, and the crowd gathered again, [f]so that they could not even eat. [21][†][g]And when [h]his family heard it, they went out to seize him, for they were saying, “He [i]is out of his mind.”

Blasphemy Against the Holy Spirit

[22][†]And [j] the scribes who came down from Jerusalem were saying, [k] “He is possessed by Beelzebul,” and “by the prince of demons he casts out the demons.” [23] [l] And he called them to him and said to them in parables, “How can Satan cast out Satan? [24]If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand. [25]And if a house is divided against itself, that house will not be able to stand. [26]And if Satan has risen up against himself and is divided, he cannot stand, but is coming to an end. [27]But [m] no one can enter a strong man’s house and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong man. [n] Then indeed he may plunder his house.

[28] [o] “Truly, I say to you, all sins will be forgiven the children of man, and whatever blasphemies they utter, [29][†]but whoever [p] blasphemes against the Holy Spirit never has forgiveness, but is guilty of an eternal sin”— [30]for they were saying, “He has an unclean spirit.”

Jesus’ Mother and Brothers

[31] [q] And his mother and his [r] brothers came, and standing outside they sent to him and called him. [32]And a crowd was sitting around him, and they said to him, “Your mother and your brothers [3] are outside, seeking you.” [33]And he answered them, “Who are my mother and my brothers?” [34]And [s] looking about at those who sat around him, he said, “Here are my mother and my brothers! [35][†] [t] For whoever [u] does the will of God, he is my brother and sister and mother.”

The Parable of the Sower

MARK 4 [†]Again [v] he began to teach beside the sea. And a very large crowd gathered about him, [w] so that he got into a boat and sat in it on the sea, and the whole crowd was beside the sea on the land. [2]And [x] he was teaching them many things in parables, and in his teaching he said to them: [3][†]“Listen! [y] Behold, a sower went out to sow. [4]And as he sowed, some seed fell along the path, and the birds came and devoured it. [5]Other seed fell on rocky ground, where it did not have much soil, and immediately it sprang up, since it had no depth of soil. [6]And [z] when the sun rose, it was scorched, and since it had no root, [a] it withered away. [7]Other seed fell among [b] thorns, and the thorns grew up and choked it, and it yielded no grain. [8][†]And other seeds fell into good soil and produced grain, growing up and increasing and yielding thirtyfold and sixtyfold and [c] a hundredfold.” [9][†]And he said, [d] “He who has ears to hear, let him hear.”

The Purpose of the Parables

[10]And [e] when he was alone, those around him with the twelve asked him about the parables. [11][†]And he said to them, [f] “To you has been given [g] the secret of the kingdom of God, but for [h] those outside everything is in parables, [12][†] [i] so that “they [j] may indeed see but not perceive, and may indeed hear but not understand, lest they [k] should turn and be forgiven.”

[13][†] [l] And he said to them, “Do you not understand this parable? How then will you understand all the parables? [14] [m] The sower sows [n] the word. [15]And these are the ones along the path, where the word is sown: when they hear, Satan immediately comes and takes away the word that is sown in them. [16]And these are the ones sown on rocky ground: the ones who, when they hear the word, immediately receive it [o] with joy. [17]And they have no root in themselves, but [p] endure for a while; then, when tribulation or persecution arises on account of the word, immediately [q] they fall away. [1] [18]And others are the ones sown among thorns. They are those who hear the word, [19]but [r] the cares of [s] the world and [t] the deceitfulness of riches and the desires for other things enter in and choke the word, and it proves unfruitful. [20]But those that were sown on the good soil are the ones who hear the word and accept it and [u] bear fruit, [v] thirtyfold and sixtyfold and a hundredfold.”

A Lamp Under a Basket

[21][†] [w] And he said to them, [x] “Is a lamp brought in to be put under a basket, or under a bed, and not on a stand? [22] [y] For nothing is hidden except to be made manifest; nor is anything secret except to come to light. [23][†] [z]If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear.” [24][†]And he said to them, “Pay attention to what you hear: [a]with the measure you use, it will be measured to you, and still more will be added to you. [25][b]For to the one who has, more will be given, and from the one who has not, even what he has will be taken away.”

The Parable of the Seed Growing

[26][†]And he said, [c]“The kingdom of God is as if a man should scatter seed on the ground. [27]He sleeps and rises night and day, and the seed sprouts and grows; [d]he knows not how. [28]The earth produces by itself, first the blade, then the ear, then the full grain in the ear. [29][†]But when the grain is ripe, at once [e]he puts in the sickle, because the harvest has come.”

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

[30][†][f]And he said, “With what can we compare the kingdom of God, or what parable shall we use for it? [31]It is like [g]a grain of mustard seed, which, when sown on the ground, is the smallest of all the seeds on earth, [32]yet when it is sown it grows up and becomes larger than all the garden plants and puts out large branches, so that the birds of the air can make nests in its shade.”

[33][h]With many such parables he spoke [i]the word to them, [j]as they were able to hear it. [34][†]He did not speak to them [k]without a parable, but [l]privately to his own disciples he [m]explained everything.

Jesus Calms a Storm

[35][n]On that day, when evening had come, he said to them, “Let us go across to the other side.” [36][†]And leaving the crowd, they took him with them in the boat, just as he was. And other boats were with him. [37][†]And a great windstorm arose, and the waves [o]were breaking into the boat, so that the boat was already filling. [38][†]But he was in the stern, asleep on the cushion. And they woke him and said to him, “Teacher, do you not care that we are perishing?” [39][†]And he awoke and [p]rebuked the wind and said to the sea, “Peace! Be still!” And the wind ceased, and [q] there was a great calm.

40[†]He said to them, “Why are you [r] so afraid? Have you still no faith?”
41And they were filled with great fear and said to one another, [s] “Who then is this, that even [t] the wind and the sea obey him?”

Jesus Heals a Man with a Demon

MARK 5 [u]They came to the other side of the sea, to the country of the Gerasenes. [1] 2And when Jesus [2] had stepped out of the boat, immediately there met him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit. 3 [v]He lived among the tombs. And no one could bind him anymore, not even with a chain, 4for he had often been bound with shackles and chains, but he wrenched the chains apart, and he broke the shackles in pieces. No one had the strength to subdue him. 5Night and day among the tombs and on the mountains he was always crying out and cutting himself with stones. 6[†]And when he saw Jesus from afar, he ran and [w]fell down before him. 7And [x]crying out with a loud voice, he said, “What have you to do with me, Jesus, [y]Son of [z]the Most High God? [a]I adjure you by God, do not torment me.” 8[†]For he was saying to him, “Come out of the man, you unclean spirit!” 9[†]And Jesus asked him, “What is your name?” He replied, “My name is [b]Legion, for we are many.” 10And he begged him earnestly not to send them out of the country. 11[†]Now a great herd of pigs was feeding there on the hillside, 12and they begged him, saying, “Send us to the pigs; let us enter them.” 13[†]So he gave them permission. And the unclean spirits came out and entered the pigs; and the herd, numbering about two thousand, rushed down the steep bank into the sea and drowned in the sea.

14The herdsmen fled and told it in the city and in the country. And people came to see what it was that had happened. 15[†]And they came to Jesus and saw the demon-possessed [3] man, the one who had had [c]the legion, sitting there, [d]clothed and in his right mind, and they were afraid. 16And those who had seen it described to them what had happened to the demon-possessed man and to the pigs. 17And [e]they began to beg Jesus [4] to depart from their region. 18[†]As he was getting into the boat, the man who had been possessed with demons begged him that he might be with him. 19And he did not permit him but said to him, “Go home to your friends and [f]tell them how much the Lord has done for you, and how he has had mercy on you.” 20And he went away and began to proclaim in [g]the Decapolis how much Jesus had done for him, and everyone marveled.

[21][†]And when Jesus had crossed again in the boat to the other side, a great crowd gathered about him, and he was beside the sea. [22][†] [h]Then came one of [i]the rulers of the synagogue, Jairus by name, and seeing him, he fell at his feet [23]and implored him earnestly, saying, "My little daughter is at the point of death. Come and [j]lay your hands on her, so that she may be made well and live." [24]And he went with him.

And a great crowd followed him and [k]thronged about him. [25][†]And there was a woman [l]who had had a discharge of blood for twelve years, [26]and who had suffered much under many physicians, and had spent all that she had, and was no better but rather grew worse. [27]She had heard the reports about Jesus and came up behind him in the crowd and touched his garment. [28]For she said, "If I touch even his garments, I will be made well." [29][m] And immediately the flow of blood dried up, and she felt in her body that she was healed of her [n]disease. [30]And Jesus, perceiving in himself that [o]power had gone out from him, immediately turned about in the crowd and said, "Who touched my garments?" [31][†]And his disciples said to him, "You see the crowd pressing around you, and yet you say, 'Who touched me?'" [32]And he looked around to see who had done it. [33]But the woman, knowing what had happened to her, came in fear and trembling and fell down before him and told him the whole truth. [34][†]And he said to her, "Daughter, [p]your faith has made you well; [p]go in peace, and be healed of your [n]disease."

[35][†]While he was still speaking, there came from [q]the ruler's house some who said, "Your daughter is dead. Why [r]trouble [s]the Teacher any further?" [36][†]But overhearing [5] what they said, Jesus said to [q]the ruler of the synagogue, "Do not fear, only believe." [37][†]And he allowed no one to follow him except [t]Peter and James and [u]John the brother of James. [38][†]They came to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and Jesus [6] saw a commotion, people weeping and wailing loudly. [39]And when he had entered, he said to them, [v]"Why are you making a commotion and weeping? The child is not dead but [w]sleeping." [40]And they laughed at him. But he [x]put them all outside and took the child's father and mother and those who were with him and went in where the child was. [41][†] [y]Taking her by the hand he said to her, “Talitha cumi,” which means, “Little girl, I say to you, [z]arise.” [42]And immediately the girl got up and began walking (for she was twelve years of age), and they were immediately overcome with amazement. [43][†]And [a]he strictly charged them that no one should know this, and told them to give her something to eat.

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

MARK 6 [†] [b]He went away from there and came to [c]his hometown, and his disciples followed him. [2]And [d]on the Sabbath he began to teach in the synagogue, and [e]many who heard him were astonished, saying, “Where did this man get these things? What is the wisdom given to him? How are such mighty works done by his hands? [3][†] [f]Is not this [g]the carpenter, the son of Mary and [h]brother of James and Joses and Judas and Simon? And are not his sisters here with us?” And [i]they took offense at him. [4][†]And Jesus said to them, [j]“A prophet is not without honor, except in his hometown and among his relatives and in his own household.” [5][†]And [k]he could do no mighty work there, except that [l]he laid his hands on a few sick people and healed them. [6]And [m]he marveled because of their unbelief.

[n]And he went about among the villages teaching.

Jesus Sends Out the Twelve Apostles

[7][†] [o]And he called the twelve and began to send them out two by two, and gave them authority over the unclean spirits. [8][†]He charged them to take nothing for their journey except a staff—no bread, no bag, no money in their belts— [9]but to [p]wear sandals and not put on two tunics. [1] [10]And he said to them, “Whenever you enter a house, stay there until you depart from there. [11][†]And if any place will not receive you and they will not listen to you, when you leave, [q]shake off the dust that is on your feet [r]as a testimony against them.” [12] [s]So they went out and [t]proclaimed [u]that people should repent. [13][†] [t]And they cast out many demons and [v]anointed with oil many who were sick and healed them.

14[†] [w] King Herod heard of it, for Jesus' [2] name had become known. Some [3] said, [x] "John the Baptist [4] has been raised from the dead. That is why these miraculous powers are at work in him." 15 [x] But others said, "He is Elijah." And others said, "He is [y] a prophet, like one of the prophets of old." 16But when Herod heard of it, he said, "John, whom I beheaded, has been raised." 17[†] [z] For it was Herod who had sent and seized John and [a] bound him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife, because he had married her. 18[†] [z] For John had been saying to Herod, [b] "It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife." 19[†]And Herodias had a grudge against him and wanted to put him to death. But she could not, 20for Herod [c] feared John, knowing that he was a righteous and holy man, and he kept him safe. When he heard him, he was greatly perplexed, and yet he [d] heard him gladly.

21But an opportunity came when Herod [e] on his birthday [f] gave a banquet for his nobles and military commanders and the leading men of Galilee. 22For when Herodias's daughter came in and danced, she pleased Herod and his guests. And the king said to the girl, "Ask me for whatever you wish, and I will give it to you." 23[†]And he vowed to her, "Whatever you ask me, I will give you, [g] up to half of my kingdom." 24And she went out and said to her mother, "For what should I ask?" And she said, "The head of John the Baptist." 25And she came in immediately with haste to the king and asked, saying, "I want you to give me at once the head of John the Baptist on a platter." 26And the king was exceedingly sorry, but because of his oaths and his guests he did not want to break his word to her. 27And immediately the king sent an executioner with orders to bring John's [5] head. He went and beheaded him in the prison 28and brought his head on a platter and gave it to the girl, and the girl gave it to her mother. 29When his [h] disciples heard of it, they came and took his body and laid it in a tomb.

30[†] [i] [j] The apostles returned to Jesus and told him all that they had done and taught. 31And he said to them, "Come away by yourselves to a desolate place and rest a while.” For many were coming and going, and [k]they had no leisure even to eat. [32] [l]And they went away in [m]the boat to a desolate place by themselves. [33]Now many saw them going and [n]recognized them, and they ran there on foot from all the towns and got there ahead of them. [34][†]When he went ashore he [o]saw a great crowd, and [o]he had compassion on them, because they were like sheep without a shepherd. And he began to teach them many things. [35]And when it grew late, his disciples came to him and said, “This is a desolate place, and the hour is now late. [36][†][p]Send them away to go into the surrounding countryside and villages and buy themselves something to eat.” [37]But he answered them, [q]“You give them something to eat.” And [r]they said to him, [s]“Shall we go and buy two hundred denarii [6] worth of bread and give it to them to eat?” [38]And he said to them, “How many loaves do you have? Go and see.” And when they had found out, they said, [t]“Five, and two fish.” [39]Then he commanded them all to sit down in groups on the green grass. [40]So they sat down in groups, by hundreds and by fifties. [41][†]And taking the five loaves and the two fish he [u]looked up to heaven and [v]said a blessing and broke the loaves and gave them to the disciples to set before the people. And he divided the two fish among them all. [42]And they all ate and were satisfied. [43][†]And they took up twelve baskets full of broken pieces and of the fish. [44]And those who ate the loaves were five thousand men.

Jesus Walks on the Water

[45][†][w]Immediately he [x]made his disciples get into [y]the boat and go before him to the other side, [z]to Bethsaida, while he dismissed the crowd. [46]And after he had taken leave of them, [a]he went up on the mountain to pray. [47]And when [b]evening came, the boat was out on the sea, and he was alone on the land. [48][†]And he saw that they were making headway painfully, for the wind was against them. And about [b]the fourth watch of the night [7] he came to them, walking on the sea. [c]He meant to pass by them, [49][†]but when they saw him walking on the sea they thought it was a ghost, and cried out, [50]for they all saw him and [d]were terrified. But immediately he spoke to them and said, [e]“Take heart; it is I. [e]Do not be afraid.” [51][†]And he got into the boat with them, and the wind ceased. And they were utterly astounded, [52]for [f]they did not understand about the loaves, but their hearts [g]were hardened.

Jesus Heals the Sick in Gennesaret

[53][†] [h]When they had crossed over, they came to land at [i]Gennesaret and moored to the shore. [54]And when they got out of the boat, the people immediately [j]recognized him [55]and ran about the whole region and began to bring [k]the sick people [l]on their beds to wherever they heard he was. [56]And wherever he came, in villages, cities, or countryside, [m]they laid the sick in the marketplaces and implored him that they might touch even [n]the fringe of his garment. And [o]as many as touched it were made well.

Traditions and Commandments

MARK 7 [†] [p]Now when the Pharisees gathered to him, with some of the scribes [q]who had come from Jerusalem, [2]they saw that some of his disciples ate with hands that were [r]defiled, that is, unwashed. [3](For the Pharisees and all the Jews do not eat unless they wash their hands properly, [1] holding to [s]the tradition of [t]the elders, [4]and when they come from the marketplace, they do not eat unless they wash. [2] And there are many other traditions that they observe, such as [u]the washing of [v]cups and pots and copper vessels and dining couches. [3]) [5][†]And the Pharisees and the scribes asked him, "Why do your disciples not walk according to [s]the tradition of [t]the elders, [w]but eat with [r]defiled hands?" [6]And he said to them, "Well did Isaiah prophesy of you [x]hypocrites, as it is written,

> [y]"'This people honors me with their lips,
>   but their heart is far from me;
> [7] in vain do they worship me,
>   teaching as [z]doctrines the commandments of men.'

[8]You leave the commandment of God and hold to the tradition of men."

[9]And he said to them, "You have a fine way of [a]rejecting the commandment of God in order to establish your tradition! [10][†]For Moses said, [b] ‘Honor your father and your mother’; and, [c] ‘Whoever reviles father or mother must surely die.’ [11]But you say, ‘If a man tells his father or his mother, “Whatever you would have gained from me is Corban”’ (that is, given to God) [4]— [12]then you no longer permit him to do anything for his father or mother, [13]thus [d] making void the word of God by your tradition that you have handed down. And many such things you do.”

What Defiles a Person

[14]And he called the people to him again and said to them, [e] “Hear me, all of you, and understand: [15][†] [f] There is nothing outside a person that by going into him can defile him, but the things that come out of a person are what defile him.” [5] [17]And when he had entered [g] the house and left the people, [h] his disciples asked him about the parable. [18]And he said to them, “Then [i] are you also without understanding? Do you not see that whatever goes into a person from outside cannot defile him, [19][†]since it enters not his heart [j] but his stomach, and is expelled?” [6] ([k] Thus he declared all foods clean.) [20]And he said, [l] “What comes out of a person is what defiles him. [21]For from within, out of the heart of man, come evil thoughts, sexual immorality, theft, [m] murder, adultery, [22]coveting, wickedness, deceit, [n] sensuality, [o] envy, [p] slander, [q] pride, [r] foolishness. [23] [s] All these evil things come from within, and they defile a person.”

The Syrophoenician Woman’s Faith

[24][†]And from there he arose and went away to the region of Tyre and Sidon. [7] And he entered a house and did not want anyone to know, yet he could not be hidden. [25]But immediately a woman whose little daughter had an unclean spirit heard of him and came and fell down at his feet. [26][†] [t] Now the woman was a [u] Gentile, [v] a Syrophoenician by birth. And she begged him to cast the demon out of her daughter. [27][†]And he said to her, “Let the children be [w] fed first, for it is not right to take the children’s bread and [x] throw it to the dogs.” [28][†]But she answered him, “Yes, Lord; yet even the dogs under the table eat the children’s [y] crumbs.” [29]And he said to her, “For this statement you may [z] go your way; the demon has left your daughter.” 30And she went home and found the child lying in bed and the demon gone.

Jesus Heals a Deaf Man

31[†] [a] Then he returned from the region of Tyre and went through Sidon to [b] the Sea of Galilee, in the region of the [c] Decapolis. 32And they brought to him [d] a man who was deaf and [d] had a speech impediment, and they begged him to [e] lay his hand on him. 33[†]And [f] taking him aside from the crowd privately, he put his fingers into his ears, and [f] after spitting touched his tongue. 34And [g] looking up to heaven, [h] he sighed and said to him, “Ephphatha,” that is, “Be opened.” 35 [d] And his ears were opened, his tongue was released, and he spoke plainly. 36[†]And [i] Jesus [8] charged them to tell no one. But [j] the more he charged them, the more zealously they proclaimed it. 37And they were [k] astonished beyond measure, saying, “He has done all things well. He even makes the deaf hear and the mute speak.”

Jesus Feeds the Four Thousand

MARK 8 [†] [l] In those days, when again a great crowd had gathered, and they had nothing to eat, he called his disciples to him and said to them, 2 [m] “I have compassion on the crowd, because they have been with me now three days and have nothing to eat. 3And if I send them away hungry to their homes, they will faint on the way. And some of them have come from far away.” 4And his disciples answered him, “How can one feed these people with bread here in this desolate place?” 5[†]And he asked them, “How many loaves do you have?” They said, [n] “Seven.” 6[†]And he directed the crowd to sit down on the ground. And he took the seven loaves, and [o] having given thanks, he broke them and gave them to his disciples to set before the people; and they set them before the crowd. 7And they had a few small fish. And [p] having blessed them, he said that these also should be set before them. 8[†]And [q] they ate and were satisfied. And they took up the broken pieces left over, [n] seven baskets full. 9And there were about four thousand people. And he sent them away. 10And immediately he got into [r] the boat with his disciples and went to the district of [s] Dalmanutha. [1]

The Pharisees Demand a Sign

[11][†] [t] The Pharisees came and began to argue with him, [u] seeking from him [v] a sign from heaven [w] to test him. [12][†]And [x] he sighed deeply [y] in his spirit and said, “Why does this generation seek a sign? Truly, I say to you, no sign will be given to this generation.” [13][†]And [z] he left them, got into the boat again, and went to the other side.

The Leaven of the Pharisees and Herod

[14][†]Now they had forgotten to bring bread, and they had only one loaf with them in the boat. [15]And he cautioned them, saying, “Watch out; [a] beware of [b] the leaven of the Pharisees and the leaven of [c] Herod.” [2] [16][†]And they began discussing with one another the fact that they had no bread. [17][†]And [d] Jesus, aware of this, said to them, “Why are you discussing the fact that you have no bread? [e] Do you not yet perceive [f] or understand? [f] Are your hearts hardened? [18] [g] Having eyes do you not see, and having ears do you not hear? And do you not remember? [19]When I broke [h] the five loaves for the five thousand, how many baskets full of broken pieces did you take up?” They said to him, “Twelve.” [20]“And [i] the seven for the four thousand, how many baskets full of broken pieces did you take up?” And they said to him, “Seven.” [21][†]And he said to them, “Do you not yet understand?”

Jesus Heals a Blind Man at Bethsaida

[22]And they came [j] to Bethsaida. And some people brought to him a blind man and begged him to touch him. [23][†]And [k] he took the blind man by the hand and led him out of the village, and when [k] he had [l] spit on his eyes and [m] laid his hands on him, he asked him, “Do you see anything?” [24]And he looked up and said, “I see people, but they look like trees, walking.” [25]Then Jesus [3] laid his hands on his eyes again; and he opened his eyes, his sight was restored, and he saw everything clearly. [26]And he sent him to his home, saying, [n] “Do not even enter the village.”

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

[27][†] [o]And Jesus went on with his disciples to the villages of Caesarea Philippi. And on the way he asked his disciples, “Who do people say that I am?” [28]And they told him, [p]“John the Baptist; and others say, [q]Elijah; and others, one of the prophets.” [29][†]And he asked them, “But who do you say that I am?” Peter answered him, [r]“You are [s]the Christ.” [30] [t]And he strictly charged them to tell no one about him.

Jesus Foretells His Death and Resurrection

[31][†] [u]And he began to teach them that [v]the Son of Man must [w]suffer many things and [x]be rejected by the elders and the chief priests and the scribes and be killed, and [y]after three days rise again. [32]And he said this [z]plainly. And Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him. [33][†]But turning and seeing his disciples, he rebuked Peter and said, [a]“Get behind me, Satan! For you [b]are not setting your mind on the things of God, but on the things of man.”

[34][†]And calling the crowd to him with his disciples, he said to them, “If anyone would come after me, let him [c]deny himself and [d]take up his cross and follow me. [35][†]For [d]whoever would save his life [4] will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake [e]and the gospel’s will save it. [36] [f]For what does it profit a man to gain the whole world and forfeit his soul? [37]For [g]what can a man give in return for his soul? [38][†]For [h]whoever is ashamed of me and of my words in this [i]adulterous and sinful generation, of him will the Son of Man also be ashamed [j]when he comes in the glory of his Father with [k]the holy angels.”

MARK 9 [†]And he said to them, “Truly, I say to you, there are some standing here who will not [l]taste death [m]until they see the kingdom of God after it has come [n]with power.”

The Transfiguration

[2][†] [o]And after six days Jesus took with him [p]Peter and James and John, and led them up a high mountain by themselves. And he was [q]transfigured before them, [3][†]and [r]his clothes became radiant, intensely white, as no one [1] on earth could bleach them. [4][†]And there appeared to them Elijah with Moses, and they were talking with Jesus. [5][†]And Peter said to Jesus, [s]“Rabbi, [2] it is good that we are here. Let us make three [t]tents, one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah.” [6]For [u]he did not know what to say, for they were terrified. [7][†]And [v]a cloud overshadowed them, and [v]a voice came out of the cloud, [w]“This is my beloved Son; [3] [x]listen to him.” [8]And suddenly, looking around, they no longer saw anyone with them but Jesus only.

[9][†][y]And as they were coming down the mountain, [z]he charged them to tell no one what they had seen, [a]until the Son of Man had risen from the dead. [10][†][b]So they kept the matter to themselves, [c]questioning what this rising from the dead might mean. [11]And they asked him, “Why do the scribes say [d]that first Elijah must come?” [12][†]And he said to them, “Elijah does come first [e]to restore all things. And [f]how is it written of the Son of Man that he should [g]suffer many things and [h]be treated with contempt? [13][†]But I tell you that Elijah has come, and [i]they did to him whatever they pleased, as it is written of him.”

Jesus Heals a Boy with an Unclean Spirit

[14][j]And when they came to the disciples, they saw a great crowd around them, and scribes arguing with them. [15]And immediately all the crowd, when they saw him, [k]were greatly amazed and ran up to him and greeted him. [16]And he asked them, “What are you arguing about with them?” [17]And someone from the crowd answered him, “Teacher, I brought my son to you, for he has [l]a spirit that makes him mute. [18]And whenever it seizes him, it throws him down, and he foams and grinds his teeth and becomes rigid. So I asked your disciples to cast it out, and [m]they were not able.” [19][†]And he answered them, “O [n]faithless generation, [n]how long am I to be with you? How long am I to bear with you? Bring him to me.” [20]And they brought the boy to him. And when the spirit saw him, immediately it [o]convulsed the boy, and he fell on the ground and rolled about, foaming at the mouth. [21]And Jesus asked his father, “How long has this been happening to him?” And he said, “From childhood. [22][†]And it has often cast him into fire and into water, to destroy him. But [p] if you can do anything, have compassion on us and help us.” [23]And Jesus said to him, [p] “‘If you can’! [q] All things are possible for one who believes.” [24]Immediately the father of the child cried out [4] and said, “I believe; [r] help my unbelief!” [25]And when Jesus saw that [s] a crowd came running together, he rebuked the unclean spirit, saying to it, [t] “You mute and deaf spirit, I command you, come out of him and never enter him again.” [26]And after crying out and [o] convulsing him terribly, it came out, and the boy was like a corpse, so that most of them said, “He is dead.” [27]But Jesus [u] took him by the hand and lifted him up, and he arose. [28][†]And when he had [v] entered the house, his disciples asked him privately, “Why could we not cast it out?” [29]And he said to them, “This kind cannot be driven out by anything but prayer.” [5]

Jesus Again Foretells Death, Resurrection

[30][†] [w] They went on from there and passed through Galilee. And he did not want anyone to know, [31]for he was teaching his disciples, saying to them, “The Son of Man is going to be delivered into the hands of men, and they will kill him. And when he is killed, [x] after three days he will rise.” [32][†] [y] But they did not understand the saying, and were afraid to ask him.

Who Is the Greatest?

[33][†]And [z] they came to Capernaum. And when he was in the house [a] he asked them, “What were you discussing on the way?” [34][†]But they kept silent, for on the way [b] they had argued with one another about who was the greatest. [35][†]And he sat down and called the twelve. And he said to them, [c] “If anyone would be first, he must be last of all and servant of all.” [36][†]And he took a child and put him in the midst of them, and [d] taking him in his arms, he said to them, [37] [e] “Whoever receives one such child in my name receives me, and [e] whoever receives me, receives not me but him who sent me.”

Anyone Not Against Us Is for Us

[38][f] John said to him, “Teacher, we saw someone [g] casting out demons in your name, [6] and [h] we tried to stop him, because he was not following us.” [39]But Jesus said, “Do not stop him, for no one who does a mighty work in my name will be able soon afterward to speak evil of me. [40][†] [i] For the one who is not against us is for us. [41][†]For truly, I say to you, [j] whoever gives you a cup of water to drink because you belong to Christ will by no means lose his reward.

Temptations to Sin

[42][†] [k] “Whoever causes one of [l] these little ones who believe in me to sin, [7] [m] it would be better for him if a great millstone were hung around his neck and he were thrown into the sea. [43][†] [n] And if your hand causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter life crippled than with two hands to go to [o] hell, [8] to [p] the unquenchable fire. [9] [45] [q] And if your foot causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter life lame than with two feet to be thrown into [o] hell. [47] [r] And if your eye causes you to sin, tear it out. It is better for you to enter the kingdom of God with one eye than with two eyes to be thrown into [s] hell, [48]‘where [t] their worm does not die and the fire is not quenched.’ [49][†]For everyone will be salted with fire. [10] [50][†] [v] Salt is good, [w] but if the salt has lost its saltiness, how will you make it salty again? [x] Have salt in yourselves, and [y] be at peace with one another.”

Teaching About Divorce

MARK 10 [†] [z] And he left there and went [a] to the region of Judea and beyond the Jordan, and crowds gathered to him again. And again, as was his custom, he taught them.

2[†]And Pharisees came up and in order [b] to test him asked, [c] “Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife?” 3He answered them, “What did Moses command you?” 4[†]They said, [d] “Moses allowed a man to write a certificate of divorce and to send her away.” 5And Jesus said to them, “Because of your [e] hardness of heart he wrote you this commandment. 6But [f] from the beginning of creation, ‘God made them [g] male and female.’ 7 [h] ‘Therefore a man shall leave his father and mother and hold fast to his wife, [1] 8and [i] the two shall become one flesh.’ So they are no longer two but one flesh. 9 [j] What therefore God has joined together, let not man separate.”

10[†]And in the house the disciples asked him again about this matter. 11And he said to them, [k] “Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery against her, 12[†]and [l] if she divorces her husband and marries another, she commits adultery.”

Let the Children Come to Me

13[†] [m] And they were bringing children to him that he might touch them, and the disciples [n] rebuked them. 14But when Jesus saw it, he was indignant and said to them, [o] “Let the children come to me; [p] do not hinder them, for to such belongs the kingdom of God. 15 [q] Truly, I say to you, whoever does not [r] receive the kingdom of God like a child shall not enter it.” 16And [s] he took them in his arms and blessed them, [t] laying his hands on them.

The Rich Young Man

17[†] [u] And as he was setting out on his journey, a man ran up and [v] knelt before him and asked him, “Good Teacher, what must I do to [w] inherit eternal life?” 18[†]And Jesus said to him, “Why do you call me good? No one is good except God alone. [19][†]You know the commandments: [x]‘Do not murder, Do not commit adultery, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Do not defraud, Honor your father and mother.’” [20][†]And he said to him, “Teacher, [y]all these I have kept from my youth.” [21][†]And Jesus, [z]looking at him, [a]loved him, and said to him, “You lack one thing: go, [b]sell all that you have and give to the poor, and you will have [c]treasure in heaven; and come, follow me.” [22][†][d]Disheartened by the saying, he went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

[23]And Jesus [e]looked around and said to his disciples, [f]“How difficult it will be for those who have wealth to enter [g]the kingdom of God!” [24]And the disciples [h]were amazed at his words. But Jesus said to them again, [i]“Children, [j]how difficult it is [2] to enter [g]the kingdom of God! [25][†]It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich person to enter [g]the kingdom of God.” [26]And they were exceedingly astonished, and said to him, [3] “Then who can be saved?” [27]Jesus [k]looked at them and said, [l]“With man it is impossible, but not with God. For all things are possible with God.” [28]Peter began to say to him, “See, [m]we have left everything and followed you.” [29][†]Jesus said, “Truly, I say to you, [n]there is no one who has left house or brothers or sisters or mother or father or children or lands, for my sake and [o]for the gospel, [30]who will not receive a hundredfold [p]now in this time, houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and lands, [q]with persecutions, and in [r]the age to come eternal life. [31]But [s]many who are first will be last, and the last first.”

Jesus Foretells His Death a Third Time

[32][†][t]And they were on the road, going up to Jerusalem, and [u]Jesus was walking ahead of them. And [v]they were amazed, and those who followed were afraid. And taking the twelve again, he began to tell them what was to happen to him, [33]saying, “See, [w]we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be delivered over to the chief priests and the scribes, and they will [x]condemn him to death and [y]deliver him over to the Gentiles. [34]And they will [z]mock him and [a]spit on him, and flog him and kill him. And [b]after three days he will rise.”

The Request of James and John

[35][†] [c] And James and John, [d] the sons of Zebedee, came up to him and said to him, “Teacher, we want you to do for us [e] whatever we ask of you.” [36]And he said to them, [f] “What do you want me to do for you?” [37]And they said to him, “Grant us [g] to sit, one at your right hand and one at your left, [h] in your glory.” [38][†]Jesus said to them, [i] “You do not know what you are asking. Are you able [j] to drink the cup that I drink, or [k] to be baptized with the baptism with which I am baptized?” [39][†]And they said to him, “We are able.” And Jesus said to them, [l] “The cup that I drink [m] you will drink, and with the baptism with which I am baptized, [n] you will be baptized, [40][†]but to sit at my right hand or at my left is not mine to grant, [o] but it is for those for whom it has been [p] prepared.” [41][†]And when the ten heard it, they began to be indignant at James and John. [42][†] [q] And Jesus called them to him and said to them, “You know that those who are considered rulers of the Gentiles [r] lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them. [43]But [s] it shall not be so among you. But whoever would be great among you must be your servant, [4] [44]and whoever would be first among you must be [t] slave [5] of all. [45][†]For even the Son of Man came not to be served but [u] to serve, and [v] to give his life as a ransom for [w] many.”

Jesus Heals Blind Bartimaeus

[46][†] [x] And they came to Jericho. And [y] as he was leaving Jericho with his disciples and a great crowd, Bartimaeus, [z] a blind beggar, the son of Timaeus, was sitting by the roadside. [47][†]And when he heard that it was [a] Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out and say, “Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!” [48]And many [b] rebuked him, telling him to be silent. But he cried out all the more, “Son of David, have mercy on me!” [49]And Jesus stopped and said, “Call him.” And they called the blind man, saying to him, [c] “Take heart. Get up; he is calling you.” [50]And throwing off his [d] cloak, he sprang up and came to Jesus. [51]And Jesus said to him, [e] “What do you want me to do for you?” And the blind man said to him, [f] “Rabbi, let me recover my sight.” [52][†]And Jesus said to him, “Go your way; [g] your faith has [h] made you well.” And immediately he recovered his sight and followed him on the way.

The Triumphal Entry

MARK 11 [†] [i] Now when they drew near to Jerusalem, to [j] Bethphage and Bethany, at [k] the Mount of Olives, Jesus [1] sent [l] two of his disciples [2][†]and said to them, “Go into the village in front of you, and immediately as you enter it you will find a colt tied, [m] on which no one has ever sat. Untie it and bring it. [3]If anyone says to you, ‘Why are you doing this?’ say, ‘The Lord has need of it and will send it back here immediately.’” [4]And they went away and found a colt tied at a door outside in the street, and they untied it. [5]And some of those standing there said to them, “What are you doing, untying the colt?” [6]And they told them what Jesus had said, and they let them go. [7][†]And they brought the colt to Jesus and threw their cloaks on it, and he sat on it. [8][†]And many [n] spread their cloaks on the road, and others spread leafy branches that they had cut from the fields. [9][†]And those who went before and those who followed were shouting, [o] “Hosanna! [p] Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord! [10]Blessed is [q] the coming [r] kingdom of [s] our father [r] David! [o] Hosanna [t] in the highest!”

[11][†] [u] And he entered Jerusalem and went into the temple. And when he had looked around at everything, as it was already late, [v] he went out to Bethany with the twelve.

Jesus Curses the Fig Tree

[12][†] [w] On the following day, when they came from Bethany, [x] he was hungry. [13][†] [y] And seeing in the distance a fig tree in leaf, he went to see if he could find anything on it. When he came to it, he found nothing but leaves, for [z] it was not the season for figs. [14]And he said to it, “May no one ever eat fruit from you again.” And his disciples heard it.

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

[15][†] [a] And they came to Jerusalem. And he entered the temple and began to drive out those who sold and those who bought in the temple, and he overturned the tables of [b] the money-changers and the seats of those who sold [c] pigeons. 16And he would not allow anyone to carry anything through the temple. 17And he was teaching them and saying to them, “Is it not written, [d] ‘My house shall be called a house of prayer for all the nations’? But [e] you have made it a den of robbers.” 18[†]And the chief priests and the scribes heard it and [f] were seeking a way to destroy him, for they feared him, because [g] all the crowd was astonished at his teaching. 19 [h] And when evening came they [2] went out of the city.

The Lesson from the Withered Fig Tree

20[†] [i] As they passed by in the morning, they saw the fig tree withered away to its roots. 21[†]And Peter remembered and said to him, [j] “Rabbi, look! The fig tree that you cursed has withered.” 22[†]And Jesus answered them, “Have [k] faith in God. 23 [l] Truly, I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, [m] ‘Be taken up and thrown into the sea,’ and does not [n] doubt in his heart, but [o] believes that what he says will come to pass, it will be done for him. 24[†]Therefore I tell you, [p] whatever you ask in prayer, [o] believe that you [q] have received [3] it, and it will be yours. 25And whenever [r] you stand praying, [s] forgive, [t] if you have anything against anyone, so that [u] your Father also who is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses.” [4]

27 [v] And they came again to Jerusalem. And as he was walking in the temple, the chief priests and the scribes and the elders came to him, 28[†]and they said to him, [w] “By what authority are you doing these things, or who gave you this authority to do them?” 29Jesus said to them, “I will ask you one question; answer me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things. 30Was the baptism of John [x] from heaven or from man? Answer me.” 31And they discussed it with one another, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ he will say, [y] ‘Why then did you not believe him?’ 32But shall we say, ‘From man’?”—[z] they were afraid of the people, for they all held that John really was [a] a prophet. 33So they answered Jesus, “We do not know." And Jesus said to them, "Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things."

The Parable of the Tenants

MARK 12 [†] [b] And he began to speak to them in parables. "A man planted [c] a vineyard [d] and put a fence around it and dug a pit for the winepress and built a tower, and [e] leased it to tenants and [f] went into another country. [2]When the season came, he sent a servant [1] to the tenants to get from them some of the fruit of the vineyard. [3][†] [g] And they took him and beat him and sent him away empty-handed. [4] [g] Again [h] he sent to them another servant, and [i] they struck him on the head and [j] treated him shamefully. [5] [g] And he sent another, and him they killed. And so with many others: some they beat, and some they killed. [6][†]He had still one other, [k] a beloved son. [l] Finally he sent him to them, saying, 'They will respect my son.' [7][†]But those tenants said to one another, [m] 'This is the heir. Come, [n] let us kill him, and the inheritance will be ours.' [8]And they took him and killed him and [o] threw him out of the vineyard. [9][†]What will the owner of the vineyard do? [p] He will [q] come and destroy the tenants and [r] give the vineyard to others. [10][†] [s] Have you not read [t] this Scripture:

[u] "'The stone that the builders rejected
has become the cornerstone; [2]
[11] this was the Lord's doing,
and it is marvelous in our eyes'?"

[12]And [v] they were seeking to arrest him [w] but feared the people, for they perceived that he had told the parable against them. So they [x] left him and went away.

Paying Taxes to Caesar

[13][†] [y] And they sent to him some of [z] the Pharisees and some of [z] the Herodians, to [a] trap him in his talk. [14][†]And they came and said to him, "Teacher, [b] we know that you are true and do not care about anyone's opinion. For [c] you are not swayed by appearances, [3] but truly teach [d] the way of God. Is it lawful to pay [e] taxes to [f] Caesar, or not? Should we pay them, or should we not?” [15]But, knowing [g] their hypocrisy, he said to them, “Why [h] put me to the test? Bring me [i] a denarius [4] and let me look at it.” [16][†]And they brought one. And he said to them, “Whose likeness and inscription is this?” They said to him, “Caesar’s.” [17][†]Jesus said to them, [j] “Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God the things that are God’s.” And they marveled at him.

The Sadducees Ask About the Resurrection

[18][†]And [k] Sadducees came to him, [l] who say that there is no resurrection. And they asked him a question, saying, [19]“Teacher, Moses wrote for us that [m] if a man’s brother dies and leaves a wife, but leaves no child, the man [5] must take the widow and raise up offspring for his brother. [20]There were seven brothers; the first took a wife, and when he died left no offspring. [21]And the second took her, and died, leaving no offspring. And the third likewise. [22]And the seven left no offspring. Last of all the woman also died. [23]In the resurrection, when they rise again, whose wife will she be? For the seven had her as wife.”

[24]Jesus said to them, “Is this not the reason you are wrong, because [n] you know neither the Scriptures nor [o] the power of God? [25][†]For when they rise from the dead, they neither [p] marry nor [p] are given in marriage, but are like angels in heaven. [26][†]And as for the dead being raised, [q] have you not read in [r] the book of Moses, in [s] the passage about the bush, how God spoke to him, saying, [t] ‘I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob’? [27]He is not God of the dead, but of the living. You are quite wrong.”

The Great Commandment

[28][†] [u] And one of the scribes came up and heard them disputing with one another, and seeing that he answered them well, asked him, “Which commandment is the most important of all?” [29]Jesus answered, “The most important is, [v] ‘Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God, [w] the Lord is one. [30]And you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind and with all your strength.’ [31] [x] The second is this: [y] ‘You shall love your neighbor as yourself.’ There is no other commandment [z] greater than these.” [32]And the scribe said to him, “You are right, Teacher. You have truly said that [w] he is one, and [a] there is no other besides him. [33]And to love him with all the heart and with all [b] the understanding and with all the strength, and to love one’s neighbor as oneself, [c] is much more than all [d] whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.” [34][†]And when Jesus saw that he answered wisely, he said to him, “You are not far from the kingdom of God.” [e] And after that no one dared to ask him any more questions.

Whose Son Is the Christ?

[35][†][f] And as [g] Jesus taught in the temple, he said, “How can the scribes say that [h] the Christ is the son of David? [36]David himself, [i] in the Holy Spirit, declared, [j] “‘The Lord said to my Lord,

“Sit at my right hand,
    until I put your enemies [k] under your feet.”’

[37]David himself calls him Lord. So [l] how is he his son?” And the great throng [m] heard him gladly.

Beware of the Scribes

[38][†] [n] And in his teaching he said, “Beware of the scribes, who like to walk around in long robes and like greetings in the marketplaces [39]and have the best seats in the synagogues and [o] the places of honor at feasts, [40] [p] who devour widows’ houses and [q] for a pretense make long prayers. They will receive the greater condemnation.”

The Widow's Offering

41 [r] And he sat down opposite [s] the treasury and watched the people [t] putting money into the offering box. Many rich people put in large sums. 42[†]And a poor widow came and put in two [u] small copper coins, which make a penny. [6] 43And he called his disciples to him and said to them, "Truly, I say to you, [v] this poor widow has put in more than all those who are contributing to the offering box. 44For they all contributed out of their abundance, but she out of her [w] poverty has put in everything she had, all [x] she had to live on."

Jesus Foretells Destruction of the Temple

MARK 13 [†] [y]And as he came out of the temple, one of his disciples said to him, “Look, Teacher, what wonderful stones and what wonderful buildings!” [2][†]And Jesus said to him, “Do you see these great buildings? [z]There will not be left here one stone upon another that will not be thrown down.”

Signs of the Close of the Age

[3][†]And as he sat on [a]the Mount of Olives opposite the temple, [b]Peter and James and John and [c]Andrew asked him [d]privately, [4][†]“Tell us, [e]when will these things be, and what will be the sign when all these things are about to be accomplished?” [5]And Jesus began to say to them, [f]“See that no one leads you astray. [6][g]Many will come in my name, saying, [h]‘I am he!’ and they will lead many astray. [7]And when you hear of wars and rumors of wars, [i]do not be alarmed. This [j]must take place, but the end is not yet. [8][†]For [k]nation will rise against nation, and [l]kingdom against kingdom. There will be [m]earthquakes in various places; there will be [n]famines. These are but the beginning of the birth pains.

[9][o]“But [p]be on your guard. For they will deliver you over to councils, and you will be beaten [q]in synagogues, and you will stand before [r]governors and [s]kings for my sake, [t]to bear witness before them. [10]And the gospel must first be proclaimed [u]to all nations. [11]And when they bring you to trial and deliver you over, [v]do not be anxious beforehand what you are to say, but say [w]whatever is given you in that hour, [x]for it is not you who speak, but the Holy Spirit. [12][y]And brother will deliver brother over to death, and the father his child, and children will rise against parents and have them put to death. [13][z]And you will be hated by all for my name’s sake. [a]But the one who endures to the end will be saved.

The Abomination of Desolation

[14][†]“But when you see [b]the abomination of desolation standing where he ought not to be ([c]let the reader understand), then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains. [15][d]Let the one who is on [e]the housetop not go down, nor enter his house, to take anything out, [16]and let the one who is in the field not turn back to take his cloak. [17]And [f]alas for women who are pregnant and for those who are nursing infants in those days! [18]Pray that it may not happen in winter. [19][†]For in those days there will be [g]such [h]tribulation as has not been [i]from the beginning of the creation that [j]God created until now, and never will be. [20][†]And if the Lord had not cut short the days, no human being would be saved. But for [k]the sake of the elect, whom [l]he chose, he shortened the days. [21]And [m]then if anyone says to you, ‘Look, here is the Christ!’ or ‘Look, there he is!’ do not believe it. [22][†][n]For false christs and false prophets will arise and [o]perform signs and wonders, [p]to lead astray, if possible, [q]the elect. [23]But [r]be on guard; [s]I have told you all things beforehand.

The Coming of the Son of Man

[24][†]“But in those days, after [t]that tribulation, [u]the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light, [25]and [v]the stars will be falling from heaven, and the powers in the heavens will be shaken. [26]And then they will see [w]the Son of Man coming in clouds [x]with great power and glory. [27]And then [y]he will send out the angels and [z]gather [a]his elect from [b]the four winds, from [c]the ends of the earth [d]to the ends of heaven.

The Lesson of the Fig Tree

[28][†]“From the fig tree learn its lesson: as soon as its branch becomes tender and puts out its leaves, you know that summer is near. [29]So also, when you see these things taking place, you know that he is near, [e]at the very gates. [30][†][f]Truly, I say to you, this generation will not pass away until all these things take place. [31][†][g]Heaven and earth will pass away, but [h]my words will not pass away.

No One Knows That Day or Hour

[32][†]“But concerning that day or that hour, [i]no one knows, not even the angels in heaven, [j]nor the Son, [k]but only the Father. [33][†][l]Be on guard, [m]keep awake. [1] For you do not know when the time will come. [34][n]It is like a man [o]going on a journey, when he leaves home and puts his servants [2] in charge, [p]each with his work, and commands [q]the doorkeeper to stay awake. [35][r]Therefore stay awake—for you do not know when the master of the house will come, [s]in the evening, or [s]at midnight, or [t]when the rooster crows, [3] or [u]in the morning— [36]lest [v]he come suddenly and [w]find you asleep. [37]And what I say to you I say to all: [r]Stay awake.”

The Plot to Kill Jesus

MARK 14 [†][x]It was now two days before [y]the Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread. And the chief priests and the scribes [z]were seeking how to arrest him by stealth and kill him, [2]for they said, “Not during the feast, [a]lest there be an uproar from the people.”

Jesus Anointed at Bethany

[3][†][b]And while he was at [c]Bethany in the house of Simon the leper, [1] as he was reclining at table, a woman came with an alabaster flask of ointment of pure nard, very costly, and she broke the flask and poured it over his head. [4]There were some who said to themselves indignantly, “Why was the ointment wasted like that? [5]For this ointment could have been sold for more than three hundred denarii [2] and [d]given to the poor.” And they [e]scolded her. [6][†]But Jesus said, “Leave her alone. Why do you trouble her? She has done a beautiful thing to me. [7]For [f]you always have the poor with you, and whenever [g]you want, you can do good for them. But [h]you will not always have me. [8][i]She has done what she could; she has anointed my body beforehand [j]for burial. [9]And truly, I say to you, wherever [k]the gospel is proclaimed in the whole world, what she has done will be told [l]in memory of her.”

Judas to Betray Jesus

[10][†][m]Then [n]Judas Iscariot, who was one of the twelve, [n]went to the chief priests in order to betray him to them. [11]And when they heard it, they were glad and promised to give him money. And he sought an opportunity to [o]betray him.

[12][†][p]And on [q]the first day of Unleavened Bread, when they [r]sacrificed the Passover lamb, his disciples said to him, “Where will you have us go and prepare for you to eat the Passover?” [13][†]And he sent [s]two of his disciples and said to them, “Go into the city, and a man carrying a jar of water will meet you. Follow him, [14]and wherever he enters, say to the master of the house, [t]‘The Teacher says, Where is [u]my guest room, where I may eat the Passover with my disciples?’ [15]And he will show you [v]a large upper room furnished and ready; there prepare for us.” [16][†]And the disciples set out and went to the city and found it just as he had told them, and they prepared the Passover.

[17][†][w]And when it was evening, he came with the twelve. [18][†]And as they were reclining at table and eating, [x]Jesus said, “Truly, I say to you, one of you will betray me, [y]one who is eating with me.” [19]They began to be sorrowful and to say to him one after another, “Is it I?” [20]He said to them, “It is [z]one of the twelve, [y]one who is dipping bread into the dish with me. [21][†]For the Son of Man goes [a]as it is written of him, but [b]woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! [c]It would have been better for that man if he had not been born.”

[22][†][d]And as they were eating, he took bread, and after [e]blessing it broke it and gave it to them, and said, “Take; [f]this is my body.” [23][†]And he took a cup, and when he had [g]given thanks he gave it to them, and they all drank of it. [24]And he said to them, [f]“This is my [h]blood of the [3] covenant, which is poured out for [i]many. [25][†]Truly, I say to you, I will not drink again of the fruit of the vine until that day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God.”

Jesus Foretells Peter’s Denial

[26][†][j] And when they had sung a hymn, [k] they went out to [l] the Mount of Olives. [27][†]And Jesus said to them, “You will all fall away, for it is written, ‘I will [m] strike the shepherd, and the sheep will be scattered.’ [28]But after I am raised up, [n] I will go before you to Galilee.” [29] [o] Peter said to him, “Even though they all fall away, I will not.” [30][†]And [p] Jesus said to him, “Truly, I tell you, this very night, before [q] the rooster crows twice, you will deny me three times.” [31]But [r] he said emphatically, “If I must die with you, I will not deny you.” And they all said the same.

Jesus Prays in Gethsemane

[32][†] [s] And they went [k] to a place called Gethsemane. And he said to his disciples, “Sit here while I pray.” [33]And he took with him [t] Peter and James and John, and began [u] to be greatly distressed and troubled. [34]And he said to them, [v] “My soul is very sorrowful, even to death. Remain here and [w] watch.” [4] [35]And going a little farther, he fell on the ground [x] and prayed that, if it were possible, [y] the hour might pass from him. [36][†]And he said, [z] “Abba, Father, [a] all things are possible for you. Remove [b] this cup from me. [c] Yet not what I will, but what you will.” [37]And he came and found them sleeping, and he said to Peter, “Simon, are you asleep? Could you not watch one hour? [38][†] [w] Watch and [d] pray that you may not [e] enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.” [39][†]And again he went away and prayed, [f] saying the same words. [40]And again he came and found them sleeping, for [g] their eyes were very heavy, and [h] they did not know what to answer him. [41][†]And he came the third time and said to them, “Are you still sleeping and taking your rest? [i] It is enough; [j] the hour has come. [k] The Son of Man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. [42]Rise, let us be going; see, my betrayer is at hand.”

Betrayal and Arrest of Jesus

[43][†] [l]And immediately, while he was still speaking, [m]Judas came, one of the twelve, and with him a crowd with swords and clubs, from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders. [44]Now the betrayer had given them a sign, saying, “The one I will kiss is the man. Seize him and lead him away under guard.” [45]And when he came, he went up to him at once and said, [n]“Rabbi!” And he [o]kissed him. [46]And they laid hands on him and seized him. [47][†]But one of those who stood by drew his [p]sword and struck the servant [5] of the high priest and cut off his ear. [48]And Jesus said to them, “Have you come out as against a robber, with swords and clubs to capture me? [49] [q]Day after day I was with you in the temple [r]teaching, and you did not seize me. But [s]let the Scriptures be fulfilled.” [50][†] [t]And they all left him and fled.

A Young Man Flees

[51]And a young man followed him, with nothing but [u]a linen cloth about his body. And they seized him, [52][†]but he left the linen cloth and ran away naked.

Jesus Before the Council

[53][†] [v]And [w]they led Jesus to the high priest. And all the chief priests and the elders and the scribes came together. [54] [w]And [x]Peter had followed him at a distance, [y]right into [z]the courtyard of the high priest. And he was sitting with [a]the guards and [b]warming himself at the fire. [55]Now the chief priests and the whole council [6] were seeking testimony against Jesus to put him to death, but they found none. [56][†] [c]For many bore false witness against him, but their testimony [d]did not agree. [57]And some stood up and bore false witness against him, saying, [58][†] [e]“We heard him say, [f]‘I will destroy this temple [g]that is made with hands, and in three days I will build another, [h]not made with hands.’” [59]Yet even about this their testimony did not agree. [60]And the high priest stood up in the midst and asked Jesus, “Have you no answer to make? What is it that these men testify against you?” [7] [61][†]But [i]he remained silent and made no answer. [j]Again the high priest asked him, “Are you [k]the Christ, the Son of [l]the Blessed?” [62]And Jesus said, “I am, and [m]you will see the Son of Man [n]seated at the right hand of Power, and [m]coming with the clouds of heaven.” [63]And the high priest [o]tore his garments and said, “What further witnesses do we need? [64][†]You have heard [p]his blasphemy. What is your decision?” And they [q]all condemned him as [r]deserving death. [65][†][s]And some began [t]to spit on him and [u]to cover his face and to strike him, saying to him, “Prophesy!” And the guards received him [v]with blows.

Peter Denies Jesus

[66][w]And as Peter was below in the courtyard, one of the servant girls of the high priest came, [67]and seeing Peter [x]warming himself, she looked at him and said, “You also were with the Nazarene, Jesus.” [68]But he denied it, saying, “I neither know nor understand what you mean.” And he went out into the gateway [8] and [y]the rooster crowed. [9] [69]And the servant girl saw him and began again to say to the bystanders, “This man is one of them.” [70]But again he denied it. And after a little while the bystanders again said to Peter, “Certainly you are one of them, for you are a Galilean.” [71]But he began to invoke a curse on himself and to swear, “I do not know this man of whom you speak.” [72][†]And immediately the rooster crowed [z]a second time. And Peter remembered how Jesus had said to him, [a]“Before the rooster crows twice, you will [b]deny me three times.” And he broke down and wept. [10]

Jesus Delivered to Pilate

MARK 15 [†][c]And as soon as it was morning, the chief priests [d]held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole council. And [e]they bound Jesus and [f]led him away and [g]delivered him over to [h]Pilate. [2][†][i]And Pilate asked him, [j]“Are you the King of the Jews?” And he answered him, [k]“You have said so.” [3]And the chief priests accused him of many things. [4]And Pilate again asked him, [l]“Have you no answer to make? See how many charges they bring against you.” [5][†]But Jesus [l]made no further answer, so that Pilate was amazed.

Pilate Delivers Jesus to Be Crucified

[6][†] [m] Now at the feast he used to release for them one prisoner for whom they asked. [7]And among the rebels in prison, who had [n] committed murder [o] in the insurrection, there was a man called Barabbas. [8]And the crowd came up and began to ask Pilate to do as he usually did for them. [9]And he answered them, saying, “Do you want me to release for you the King of the Jews?” [10]For he perceived that [p] it was out of envy that the chief priests had delivered him up. [11][†]But the chief priests stirred up the crowd to have him release for them Barabbas instead. [12]And Pilate again said to them, “Then what shall I do with [q] the man you call the King of the Jews?” [13]And they cried out again, “Crucify him.” [14][†]And Pilate said to them, “Why, [r] what evil has he done?” But they shouted all the more, “Crucify him.” [15][†]So Pilate, wishing to satisfy the crowd, released for them Barabbas, and having [s] scourged [1] Jesus, he delivered him to be crucified.

Jesus Is Mocked

[16][†] [t] And the soldiers led him away inside [u] the palace (that is, [v] the governor’s headquarters), [2] and they called together the whole [w] battalion. [3] [17]And they clothed him in [x] a purple cloak, and twisting together a crown of thorns, they put it on him. [18]And they began to salute him, [y] “Hail, King of the Jews!” [19]And they were striking his head with a reed and [z] spitting on him and [a] kneeling down in homage to him. [20]And when they had [b] mocked him, they stripped him of [x] the purple cloak and put his own clothes on him. And they [c] led him out to crucify him.

The Crucifixion

[21][†] [d] And they compelled a passerby, Simon of Cyrene, who was coming in from the country, the father of Alexander and Rufus, to carry his cross. [22] [e] And they brought him to the place called Golgotha (which means Place of a Skull). [23][†]And they offered him wine mixed with [f] myrrh, but he did not take it. [24][†]And they crucified him and [g] divided his garments among them, casting lots for them, to decide what each should take. [25][†]And [h] it was the third hour [4] when they crucified him. [26][†]And the inscription of the charge against him read, [i]“The King of the Jews.” [27][†]And with him

[29][†]And [l]those who passed by derided him, [m]wagging their heads and saying, [n]“Aha! [o]You who would destroy the temple and rebuild it in three days, [30]save yourself, and come down from the cross!” [31]So also the chief priests with the scribes mocked him to one another, saying, [p]“He saved others; [q]he cannot save himself. [32]Let [r]the Christ, [s]the King of Israel, come down now from the cross that we may [t]see and believe.” [u]Those who were crucified with him also reviled him.

The Death of Jesus

[33][†]And when the sixth hour [6] had come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour. [7] [34][†]And at the ninth hour Jesus [v]cried with a loud voice, [w]“Eloi, Eloi, lema sabachthani?” which means, “My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?” [35][†]And some of the bystanders hearing it said, “Behold, he is calling Elijah.” [36][†]And someone ran and filled a sponge with [x]sour wine, put it on a reed [y]and gave it to him to drink, saying, “Wait, let us see whether Elijah will come to take him down.” [37][†]And Jesus [z]uttered a loud cry and [a]breathed his last. [38][†]And [b]the curtain of the temple was torn in two, from top to bottom. [39][†] [c]And when the centurion, who stood facing him, saw that in this way he [8] breathed his last, he said, [d]“Truly this man was the Son [9] of God!”

[40][†]There were also [e]women looking on [f]from a distance, among whom were [g]Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James the younger and of Joses, and [i]Salome. [41]When he was in Galilee, they followed him and [g]ministered to him, and there were also many other women who [j]came up with him to Jerusalem.

Jesus Is Buried

[42][†] [k]And when evening had come, since it was [l]the day of Preparation, that is, the day before the Sabbath, [43][†]Joseph of Arimathea, [m]a respected member of the council, who [n]was also himself looking for the kingdom of God, took courage and went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus.

44Pilate was surprised to hear that he should have already died. [10] And summoning [o] the centurion, he asked him whether he was already dead. 45And when he learned from [o] the centurion that he was dead, he granted the corpse to Joseph. 46[†]And Joseph [11] bought [p] a linen shroud, and taking him down, wrapped him in the linen shroud and [q] laid him in a tomb [r] that had been cut out of the rock. And he rolled [s] a stone against the entrance of the tomb. 47 [t] Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joses saw where he was laid.

The Resurrection

MARK 16 [†] [u] [v] When the Sabbath was past, [w] Mary Magdalene, [w] Mary the mother of James, and [i] Salome [x] bought spices, so that they might go and anoint him. 2And very early on the first day of the week, when the sun had risen, they went to the tomb. 3And they were saying to one another, "Who will roll away [y] the stone for us from the entrance of the tomb?" 4And looking up, they saw that the stone had been rolled back—[z] it was very large. 5[†]And [a] entering the tomb, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, [b] dressed in [c] a white robe, and [d] they were alarmed. 6And he said to them, [d] "Do not be alarmed. You seek Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified. He has risen; he is not here. See the place where they laid him. 7[†]But go, tell his disciples and Peter that [e] he is going before you to Galilee. There you will see him, [e] just as he told you." 8[†]And they went out and fled from the tomb, for trembling and astonishment had seized them, and they said nothing to anyone, for they were afraid.

Jesus Appears to Mary Magdalene

9[†][[Now when he rose early on the first day of the week, [f] he appeared first to [g] Mary Magdalene, [g] from whom he had cast out seven demons. 10 [h] She went and told those who had been with him, [i] as they [j] mourned and wept. 11But when they heard that he was alive and had been seen by her, they [k] would not believe it.

Jesus Appears to Two Disciples

12 [l] After these things [m] he appeared in [n] another form to two of them, as they were walking into the country. 13 [o] And they went back and told the rest, but they did not believe them.

The Great Commission

14 Afterward [m] he appeared [p] to the eleven themselves as they were reclining at table, and he rebuked them for their [q] unbelief and [r] hardness of heart, because [s] they had not believed those who saw him after he had risen. 15 And he said to them, [t] “Go into all the world and [u] proclaim the gospel to [v] the whole creation. 16 [w] Whoever believes and is [x] baptized [y] will be saved, but [z] whoever [w] does not believe will be condemned. 17 And [a] these signs will accompany those who believe: [b] in my name they will cast out demons; [c] they will speak in new tongues; 18 [d] they will pick up serpents with their hands; and if they drink any deadly poison, it will not hurt them; [e] they will lay their hands [f] on the sick, and they will recover.”

19 So then the Lord Jesus, [g] after he had spoken to them, [h] was taken up into heaven and [i] sat down at the right hand of God. 20 And they went out and preached everywhere, while [j] the Lord worked with them and confirmed [k] the message [l] by accompanying signs.]]

Study Notes for Mark

MARK—NOTE ON 1:1–15 Introduction. Mark begins his account with the public ministry of John the Baptist, the forerunner of Jesus.

FACT

What is a "Gospel"? "Gospel" literally means "good news." The "Gospel according to Mark," along with the other three Gospels, reports the good news of salvation through the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. This salvation is freely available to everyone who believes in Jesus Christ, everywhere in the world.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:1 Rather than beginning with the genealogy of Jesus (as do Matthew and Luke) or offering a theological background to the gospel (as does John), Mark focuses on the actual beginning of the gospel in the life and ministry of Jesus. The "gospel" is the good news of the fulfillment of God's promises.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:2–3 Mark identifies John the Baptist as the predicted one who prepares the way of the Lord (see Isa. 40:3; Mal. 3:1). Isaiah the prophet is named because he was more prominent than Malachi, and more of the quoted material comes from him.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:4 John prepares the way for Jesus by calling people to repentance, which means turning to God for forgiveness of sins. Baptism was not the means by which sins were forgiven but rather was a sign indicating that one had truly repented. wilderness. See Isa. 40:3.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:5 all the country of Judea and all Jerusalem. John's ministry fulfills the promise of a "new exodus" in which Israel is delivered from the wilderness and symbolically enters into the river Jordan again to receive God's promises of end-time salvation.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:6 John's clothing and food are like that of other preachers in the desert (see 1 Kings 17:4, 9). On locusts, see note on Matt. 3:4.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:7–8 The one for whom John is preparing the way (Isa. 40:3; Mal. 3:1) will baptize . . . with the Holy Spirit (Isa. 32:15; 44:3; Joel 2:28; see note on Matt. 3:11). Untying the straps of sandals could be the responsibility of a low servant, but it was something that a Jewish person was not supposed to do.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:9 was baptized. Jesus identifies with the sins of his people, even though he himself is free from sin (10:45). Galilee is the region west of the Jordan and the Sea of Galilee and north of Samaria. In the NT era Galilee was ruled by Herod the Great (see note on Matt. 2:1), then by his son Herod Antipas (Matt. 14:1; Mark 6:14), and then by Herod Antipas's nephew Herod Agrippa I.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:10–11 Mark uses the word immediately 41 times in his Gospel. It suggests a sense of urgency and often introduces a new incident or a surprising turn of events. The Spirit of God descends upon Jesus at his baptism (see note on Luke 3:22). Jesus is thus commissioned for a unique service (see Isa. 11:2; 42:1; 61:1). Mark quotes from the OT to show that Jesus is the Son of God (Ps. 2:7) and the servant of God (Isa. 42:1). The heavenly voice confirms the eternal sonship of Jesus. All three persons of the Godhead—the Spirit, the Father, and the Son—are involved here.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:12–13 tempted by Satan. See note on Matt. 4:1. "Being tempted" indicates that the temptations happened over the 40-day period and were not limited to the three temptations mentioned by Matthew (Matt. 4:1–11) and Luke (Luke 4:1–13).

MARK—NOTE ON 1:14–15 The gospel is the "good news" that the kingdom of God is at hand. God's rule over people's hearts and lives is now being established, and people should repent and believe in the gospel. The kingdom will ultimately include the restoration of all creation (see Rev. 21:1), but that will come in stages.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:16–8:26 Demonstration of Jesus' Authority. The first half of Mark's Gospel shows that Jesus has authority over sickness, over the laws of nature, and over the demonic world. It also highlights Jesus' unique and authoritative teaching, and his sending out of his disciples.

Jesus' Ministry in Galilee

Jesus spent most of his life and ministry in the region of Galilee, a mountainous area in northern Palestine. Jesus grew up in the hill town of Nazareth, about 3.5 miles (5.6 km) south of the Gentile administrative center of Sepphoris. Soon after he began his public ministry, Jesus relocated to Capernaum on the Sea of Galilee. By Jesus' time, a thriving fishing industry had developed around the Sea of Galilee, and several of Jesus' disciples were fishermen.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:16–3:12 Jesus' Early Galilean Ministry. The call of the disciples is intertwined with descriptions of Jesus' authority over demons and sickness, as well as with authoritative teaching.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:20 they left their father . . . with the hired servants. Several of Jesus' first disciples were not poor but were self-employed fishermen. As seen here, James and John were part of a family business. Levi (2:14) was a fairly well-to-do tax collector.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:22 The main purpose of Jesus' earthly ministry was teaching rather than performing miracles or casting out demons, although these actions showed that God was with him. The scribes mentioned here may have been a local group of men who taught in the synagogues, rather than the scribes who "came down from Jerusalem" (3:22). Jesus taught with his own divine authority, not simply repeating the traditions of others.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:23–25 By naming Jesus as the Holy One of God, the demon may have been trying to exercise power over Jesus.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:26–28 they were all amazed. Casting out this demon confirms Jesus' authority to teach. See note on Matt. 12:27.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:32–34 Sundown marks the end of the Sabbath (roughly 6:00 P.M. Saturday). People are now permitted to come to Jesus with their needs.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:40 A leper is ceremonially unclean (Lev. 13:45–46). As an outcast, he is financially and socially isolated, and is dependent on charity.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:41–42 touched him. Instead of the leper making Jesus unclean, Jesus' touch actually makes the leper clean.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:44 say nothing. This is Mark's first report of Jesus telling a healed person not to tell anyone of his being healed (see note on Matt. 8:4). Show yourself to the priest is commanded so that the healed person will be declared ceremonially clean (Lev. 14:2–31).

MARK—NOTE ON 1:45 The people often miss the true purpose of Jesus' ministry by focusing too much on his miracles.

Five Controversies from Mark 2:1–3:6

Reference	Point of Conflict
2:1–12	forgiveness
2:15–17	eating with sinners
2:18–22	fasting
2:23–28	Sabbath
3:1–6	Sabbath, and the decision to kill Jesus

MARK—NOTE ON 2:1 Jesus returns to Capernaum (c. 20 miles [32 km] northeast of Nazareth), which serves as the base for his Galilean ministry.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:2 no more room. The house probably held no more than 50 people.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:4 The flat roof consisted of branches or sticks combined with clay. It could be accessed from the outside (see note on Luke 5:19).

MARK—NOTE ON 2:5–7 Their faith probably refers to the faith of the friends who brought the paralytic to Jesus, but it may include the faith of the paralytic as well (see note on James 5:15). your sins are forgiven. Jesus claims to be able to forgive sins, as God alone can. Therefore his opponents think that he is guilty of blasphemy, which is punishable by death (Lev. 24:10–23; Num. 15:30–31; Mark 14:62–64).

MARK—NOTE ON 2:8 perceiving . . . that they thus questioned within themselves. See note on Matt. 24:36.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:9–11 Which is easier? The fact that Jesus can do the visible miracle (heal the paralytic) is evidence that he can also do the more difficult invisible miracle (forgive sins).

MARK—NOTE ON 2:10 The healing of the paralytic verifies that Jesus also has divine authority . . . to forgive sins. Son of Man is the way Jesus most frequently refers to himself in Mark's Gospel. The term refers to both his human and his divine natures. See 8:38; 13:26; compare Dan. 7:13–14.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:14 Jesus continues to focus on "teaching" (v. 13; see note on 1:14–15). Levi (also called "Matthew"; 3:18; Matt. 9:9) collected taxes and thus was despised for collaborating with the Roman Empire. Most tax collectors kept some of the tax money for themselves. "Beside the sea" (Mark

2:13) suggests that the tax booth was by the Sea of Galilee and was used for taxing fishermen.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:15–16 To recline at table indicates personal friendship. When dining formally in a home, guests reclined on a couch that stretched around three sides of a room. The guests' heads were toward the tables and their feet toward the wall. tax collectors and sinners. According to the Pharisees (see note on John 1:24), Jesus should keep himself "clean" from such people (see Lev. 10:10).

FACT

Reclining at the table. During formal dinners in NT times, guests reclined on a couch that stretched around three sides of a room (2:15). The host took the central place surrounded by a U-shaped series of tables. The most honored guests reclined on either side of the host, with the guests' heads toward the tables and their feet toward the wall.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:17 Jesus compares those who are well to those who are righteous, and those who are sick to sinners.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:18 fasting. See note on Matt. 6:16–18.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:19–20 Jesus refers to himself as the bridegroom. In the OT, God the Father was the bridegroom (see Isa. 62:5; Hos. 2:19–20). then they will fast. When Jesus is taken away from his disciples (when he dies), they will return to fasting in order to seek God's presence. But they do not need to do that when he is still with them (see Isa. 53:8).

MARK—NOTE ON 2:21–22 unshrunk cloth . . . old garment. . . . new wine . . . old wineskins. The kingdom of God is not merely a patch over the Mosaic law and Jewish traditions. Jesus brings a new era, with new ways.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:23–24 Deuteronomy 23:25 implies that, if a person is hungry, he is permitted to eat heads of grain from any field he might pass by. However the Pharisees decreed that, since plucking the grain involves "work," it could not be done on the Sabbath.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:25–26 The fact that David ate the bread of the Presence (1 Sam. 21:1–6) means that, if there is a serious need, actions are allowed on a Sabbath that otherwise might not be permitted.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:27–28 Son of Man. See note on Matt. 8:20. If the Sabbath is for the benefit of mankind, and if the Son of Man is Lord over all mankind, then the Son of Man is surely lord even of the Sabbath.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:2 The scribes believe that healing is a form of work and thus is not permitted on a Sabbath. Accuse is a technical term which means they are looking for legal evidence against Jesus.

FACT

Why does Mark say "immediately" so often? The Greek word translated "immediately" occurs in the Gospel of Mark more often than in the rest of the NT combined. The frequent use of the word stresses the importance of an event and helps to show that Christ's ministry has a divine purpose and plan behind it.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:3–5 To do good on the Sabbath would not violate the OT law, but it would violate the opponents' Pharisaic tradition. Their tradition misses the point of the Mosaic law: to love God and one's neighbor (see 12:29–31). Stretch out your hand. See note on Luke 6:10.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:6 The Pharisees were quite different from the Herodians, who were friends and supporters of the Herodian family dynasty (see note on Matt. 22:16). However, these two groups held counsel together (see Ps. 2:2) in order to destroy Jesus, who was their common enemy (Mark 14:1–2).

MARK—NOTE ON 3:7–8 Idumea. The region south of Judea. beyond the Jordan. The region east of the Jordan River. Tyre and Sidon. The region north of Galilee. All of these regions had belonged to Israel during the time of the judges, and descendants of the 12 tribes had resettled in the area following the Babylonian exile.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:11–12 Jesus forbids unclean spirits to speak about him, so that they will not reveal his true identity before he wants to make himself known.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:13–6:6 Jesus' Later Galilean Ministry. Jesus appoints his disciples to teach what he teaches and to do what he does. Parables, nature miracles, and healings expand the range of his authority, which is met with rejection in Nazareth.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:14–15 Jesus appointed the twelve, whom he called out of the larger crowd that had been following him (vv. 7–9). The Twelve have a specific task: (1) that they might be with him, and (2) that he might send them out (1:17; 9:37). This is why they were called apostles (which means "sent out"; see note on Rom. 1:1). They were to (1) preach about the kingdom of God (Mark 1:14, 39; 6:12), (2) cast out demons (1:34, 39), and (3) heal the sick (6:13). The fact that Jesus chose 12 apostles is probably related to the 12 tribes of Israel (Rev. 21:14).

MARK—NOTE ON 3:16–17 The core group of three disciples (see 5:37; 9:2; 14:33) is mentioned first: (Simon) Peter, James, and John. See note on Matt. 10:2.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:19 Judas Iscariot, who betrayed him is mentioned last.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:20 Jesus returns home, that is, to the place where he stayed in Capernaum (see note on 2:1).

MARK—NOTE ON 3:21 The members of Jesus' earthly family believe he is out of his mind (see John 7:5) because of all that has happened. (Some of Jesus' brothers did later believe in him; see note on 1 Cor. 9:4–5.)

MARK—NOTE ON 3:22 Beelzebul. See note on Matt. 10:25. by the prince of demons he casts out the demons. See note on Matt. 9:34.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:29 blasphemes against the Holy Spirit. Looking forward to the substitutionary atonement of Jesus, v. 28 emphasized that "all sins will be forgiven." However, if a person persistently gives credit to Satan for what is actually done by the power of God—that is, if a person is convinced that the Holy Spirit's testimony about Jesus is satanic—then such a person never has forgiveness. (See note on Luke 12:10.)

MARK—NOTE ON 3:35 Those who follow Jesus are the true family of God: whoever does the will of God (see John 7:17; Rom. 12:2), he is my brother and sister and mother (see Heb. 2:11–12).

MARK—NOTE ON 4:1–34 Mark provides several examples of Jesus teaching in parables. To the hard-hearted, parables are a warning; to those who are open-hearted, they illustrate principles of the messianic rule of God. A parable consists of a story and its corresponding intended message.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:3–7 a sower went out to sow. Farmers in Bible times sowed their seed without first plowing the ground. Thus the seed fell on various kinds of ground.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:8 thirtyfold and sixtyfold and a hundredfold. A tenfold return would have been considered a good crop. However, see Gen. 26:12.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:9 Having ears to hear involves giving up one’s pride and submitting to God. See Isa. 43:8.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:11 The secret of the kingdom of God means the nature of God’s rule over individuals and over the community of his people (see note on Matt. 13:10–11). Those who do not (yet) participate in the messianic community are outside.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:12 By quoting Isa. 6:9–10, Jesus is warning that some of those who hear his parables will hear but not understand, just like the ancient Israelites.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:13 How then will you understand? Jesus hints that even the disciples may suffer from hard hearts (see 8:17–18).

MARK—NOTE ON 4:21–22 The proclamation of the kingdom of God is like bringing an oil lamp into a room (see Matt. 5:15). It reveals hidden things such as hard hearts.

FACT

What did people use for lamp fuel? In OT times, people used animal fat as fuel for their lamps. By NT times, this had been replaced with olive oil. Olives were usually pressed two or three times. Oil from the first pressing was used for food. Oil from the second and third pressing was used as fuel for lamps.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:23 ears to hear. See note on v. 9.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:24–25 If a hearer accepts Jesus' message of the kingdom, then God will give an increased measure of understanding and blessing.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:26–29 The people of Jesus' day expected God's kingdom to come suddenly, but Jesus tells them it will begin in a small way (first the blade, then the ear) and then will grow slowly but steadily amid adversity. It will reach its full growth and glory only at the second coming of Jesus. See note on vv. 30–32.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:29 Sickle and harvest are symbolic language for the last judgment (see Joel 3:13).

MARK—NOTE ON 4:30–32 A third parable teaches that the kingdom of God begins in a small and unnoticed way, which is not what the people expected (see note on vv. 26–29). A mustard seed (see note on Matt. 13:31–32) could produce a bush as large as 3 by 12 feet (0.9 by 3.7 m). The nesting of birds in the shadow of the grown bush is a picture of divine blessing (see Ps. 91:1–2).

MARK—NOTE ON 4:34 He did not speak to them without a parable means that Jesus regularly included parables in his teaching. It does not mean he spoke only in parables.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:36 On Galilean boats, see note on Matt. 4:21.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:37 The Sea of Galilee is 696 feet (212 m) below sea level, resulting in sudden storms (windstorm; see 6:48).

MARK—NOTE ON 4:38 Asleep on the cushion is an eyewitness detail included only in Mark's account of this incident. He was probably told about it by Peter (see Introduction: Author, Date, and Recipients). Jesus' sleeping indicates lack of fear and also great fatigue—a reminder that he was fully human as well as fully divine.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:39 Peace! Be still! Jesus displays his divine power over nature (compare Ps. 107:25–30; Amos 4:13).

MARK—NOTE ON 4:40 afraid. The cure for fear is faith in Jesus.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:6–7 Ran and fell down before Jesus may mean that the demons unwillingly submitted to Jesus' greater power, or that the man himself longed to be free of the demonic influence, or some of both.

FACT

The one true God. Mark emphasizes the divine Sonship of Jesus. In NT times the Roman emperor was worshiped by many as a god or as a "son of god." It was essential, then, for Mark to make it clear that Jesus was the Son of the one true God. Jesus is not a tribal deity only for Jews, but is to be received by all peoples and cultures as Lord of all.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:8 Was saying (imperfect tense) indicates that Jesus had told the demon more than once to come out of the man, but it had not obeyed.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:9 My name is Legion. A legion was the largest unit of the Roman army, with as many as 6,000 soldiers. This does not necessarily mean that there were 6,000 demons in the man, only that there were a great many.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:11 It is not surprising to find ceremonially unclean pigs in the Gentile Decapolis region.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:13 See note on Matt. 8:30–34.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:15 they were afraid. See note on Luke 8:37.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:18–20 that he might be with him. It is possible that the restored man was asking Jesus for permission to join the inner circle of disciples (see 3:14), but Jesus wanted him to be a witness to God's power in the Decapolis. Jesus often discouraged such publicity, so that the people would not try to make him a political messiah (see note on Matt. 8:4). But apparently Jesus knew that the Gentile people of the Decapolis would not do this. The work of the Lord in Mark 5:19 is described as the work of Jesus in v. 20, indicating that Jesus shares the same nature as God himself.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:21 to the other side (see note on Matt. 8:28). Jesus returns to the Galilean side of the sea.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:22 The laymen who were rulers of the synagogue presided over the affairs of the synagogue, including organizing and teaching in synagogue services. Most of them were Pharisees (on synagogues, see note on Luke 4:16 and The Synagogue and Jewish Worship).

MARK—NOTE ON 5:25–27 discharge of blood. On account of her condition, the woman is ceremonially unclean (see Lev. 15:25–28). She is not permitted to enter the temple section reserved for women, or to be in public without making people aware of her condition. touched his garment. Jesus makes the woman clean by his power, instead of becoming unclean himself (see Lev. 15:19–23; Mark 1:41; 5:41).

MARK—NOTE ON 5:31–33 Fear and trembling can lead to faith (see note on 4:40).

MARK—NOTE ON 5:34 The Greek word for made (you) well can mean either "heal" or "save" (see note on Matt. 9:22).

MARK—NOTE ON 5:35 Verses 35–43 resume the account of Jairus's daughter (vv. 22–24).

MARK—NOTE ON 5:36 Do not fear, only believe. Again, Jesus shows that faith is the solution to fear (see 2:5; 4:40).

MARK—NOTE ON 5:37 Peter and James and John. Only the inner circle of disciples is permitted to join Jesus (see 1:29; 9:2; and note on 3:16–17).

MARK—NOTE ON 5:38–40 weeping and wailing loudly. Some in the crowd were professional mourners, who were expected to be present even at funerals for the poor (see note on Matt. 9:23). The child is not dead but sleeping. The child had indeed died (see Luke 8:55), but from Jesus' viewpoint her death is but sleep.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:41 Touching a dead person renders one ceremonially unclean (Lev. 22:4; Num. 19:11), but once again Jesus overcomes uncleanness (see note on Mark 5:25–27), and the girl comes back to life (see 2 Kings 4:17–37; Acts 9:39–41). Talitha cumi. At times, Mark reports Jesus' statements in Aramaic, which shows that Mark's writing was based on eyewitness accounts.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:43 no one should know this. See note on Matt. 8:4.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:1–2 synagogue. See note on Luke 4:16 and The Synagogue and Jewish Worship. Jesus was most likely asked to give a message following the reading of Scripture (compare Luke 4:16–30, which was probably the same incident). Where did this man get these things? Until he began his ministry, Jesus’ divine nature was hidden. Even people in his hometown, who had known him since childhood, had no idea that he was also fully God.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:3 Is not this . . . the son of Mary may hint that some people thought Jesus was an illegitimate child. Joseph must have had at least four sons, among whom were James (see Acts 12:17; Gal. 1:19; 2:9, 12) and Judas (not the betrayer; see Introduction to Jude: Author, Date, and Recipients), as well as at least two daughters (on Jesus’ brothers and sisters, see note on Matt. 13:55–56).

MARK—NOTE ON 6:4 Like other prophets before him (e.g., 2 Chron. 36:16; Jer. 11:21; Mark 6:17), Jesus is not honored by his own family or by his hometown.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:5–6 could do no mighty work there. Jesus will not force his miracles on a hostile, skeptical audience. Nevertheless, he continues teaching (see 1:22; 4:1, 2; 6:2, etc.).

MARK—NOTE ON 6:7–8:26 Work beyond Galilee. The disciples are sent out to spread the message of God’s kingdom, to heal, and to cast out demons. Jesus again demonstrates his authority and warns his disciples against hard hearts.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:7–13 Jesus sends out the twelve disciples to proclaim repentance (vv. 10–12), cast out unclean spirits (v. 7), and heal (v. 13). See 3:14–15.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:8–9 no bread, no bag, no money in their belts. These provisions are to come from people who repent upon hearing the disciples’ message. See note on Luke 9:3.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:11 Jews who returned from Gentile regions were to shake off the dust that is on their feet as a form of cleansing. Here the action also serves as a sign against towns that reject God’s message.

FACT

Shake the dust from your feet. In ancient times, when Jews returned from a Gentile area, they would sometimes shake the dust off their feet (6:11) to avoid contamination from Gentiles. The act of shaking off the dust illustrates that people who reject God’s message are accountable to God alone.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:13 Oil was commonly used in prayer for healing (see note on James 5:13–14).

MARK—NOTE ON 6:14–56 The death of John the Baptist casts an ominous shadow on Jesus' future. Jesus' life is in danger, partly because of his authoritative, miraculous deeds.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:14b–15 The list of popular beliefs about Jesus includes that he is (1) the revived John the Baptist, (2) the expected Elijah (see Mal. 3:1–2; 4:5–6), or (3) one of the prophets. Many Jews expected that Elijah, who was caught up to heaven without dying (2 Kings 2:11), would return at the end of time. (See Mark 9:11–13; Luke 1:17.) The third belief—that Jesus was "a prophet, like one of the prophets of old"—might have been based on Deut. 18:15, 18.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:14a Herod Antipas served under Rome as an administrator of Galilee and Perea (4 B.C.–A.D. 39). He was not technically a King, although his contemporaries may have referred to him as such (see v. 23).

MARK—NOTE ON 6:17 John the Baptist had publicly charged Herod Antipas with breaking the law by marrying Herodias, the former wife of his still living half brother (see Lev. 18:16; 20:21). In response, Herod had put John in prison (see note on Matt. 14:3–4).

MARK—NOTE ON 6:18 It is not lawful. Even though Herod Antipas was not a Jew, John did not hesitate to tell him he had violated God's moral law (see Lev. 18:16).

MARK—NOTE ON 6:19–20 Herod feared John. Perhaps he feared an uprising on account of John's popularity (1:5). Or perhaps he feared divine punishment for his sin.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:23 Up to half of my kingdom should be seen as a figure of speech rather than a literal promise.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:30 returned. See vv. 7–13.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:34 like sheep without a shepherd. See Num. 27:17; Ezek. 34:4–5. Jesus teaches the people, functioning as the good shepherd (compare Ps. 23:1–4; Isa. 40:11; Jer. 23:4).

MARK—NOTE ON 6:36–37 Two hundred denarii represented 200 days' wages for a laborer.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:41–42 As God provided manna in the desert, so Jesus provides food in a deserted place. The feeding of the 5,000 reinforces Jesus' proclamation: after feeding them the Word of God (v. 34), he miraculously provides physical food.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:43 they took up twelve baskets full. As with the miracles of Elijah and Elisha (see 1 Kings 17:16; 2 Kings 4:7, 42–44), much food is left over. Jesus did not want any food to be wasted.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:45 Bethsaida. See note on Luke 9:10.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:48 fourth watch. 3:00 A.M. to 6:00 A.M. The Sea of Galilee is 696 feet (212 m) below sea level, resulting in violent downdrafts and sudden windstorms (see 4:37). Jesus sees the disciples' need and walks on water toward them (compare Job 9:8; Ps. 77:20; Isa. 43:16). He meant to pass by them, not to avoid them, but so that they would see him walking on the water. The passage echoes the incident where God "passed" before Moses (Ex. 33:19, 22; 34:6), giving a glimpse of his glory. See Job 9:11, where Job says that God "passes by" him. By walking on the water, Jesus is essentially proclaiming his deity.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:49–50 "It is I" echoes Ex. 3:14.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:51–52 Even though Jesus had multiplied the loaves and had walked on the water, the disciples' hearts were hardened and they didn't realize who he was. See 8:18–21.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:53 The northeasterly wind had caused the ship to drift southwestward, bringing them to Gennesaret instead of their intended destination of Bethsaida.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:1–23 Conflict arises between the Pharisees and Jesus over the issue of true moral purity.

FACT

What is “Corban”? Corban (7:11) literally means “dedicated to God.” Jewish tradition said that money set aside for the care of one’s parents could be given to the temple instead. Jesus said that this tradition allowed people to avoid honoring their parents as the law required.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:5 Scribes are sent from Jerusalem (v. 1) to investigate the situation brought about by Jesus’ popularity. eat with defiled hands. The disciples are not breaking the Mosaic law but rather the tradition of the elders that prescribed ritual washing of hands, utensils, and furniture (see vv. 2–4). By his example, Jesus implies that his disciples may ignore these traditions (see Luke 11:37–38).

MARK—NOTE ON 7:10–13 honor your father and your mother (see Ex. 20:12; 21:17; Deut. 5:16). Jewish tradition allowed that funds committed for the care of parents could be declared Corban (“dedicated to God”; see Lev. 1:2; 2:1). This would mean that the person no longer had to give anything to his parents. thus making void the word of God. The Corban tradition was just one example of a “tradition of men” that nullified an important “commandment of God” (Mark 7:8; see Ex. 20:12).

MARK—NOTE ON 7:15 can defile him. The problem of the defiled human heart is much more serious than mere ceremonial impurity (see Jer. 17:9–10). Throughout Scripture, the heart refers to the center of one’s being, including the mind, emotions, and will (see Prov. 4:23).

MARK—NOTE ON 7:19 declared all foods clean. The Mosaic ceremonial laws distinguished between “clean” and “unclean” foods (see Lev. 11:1–47). The purpose of these laws was to make people aware of their sin as a barrier to fellowship with a holy God. But after Jesus, through his atoning death, made possible the forgiveness of sins and full fellowship with God, the ceremonial laws would no longer be required.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:24–30 Jesus went first to the people of Israel. However, these verses foreshadow the future ministry of the disciples to the Gentiles.

Jesus' Ministry beyond Israel

Almost all of Jesus' ministry took place within the traditional borders of Israel in areas dominated by Jews. Yet Jesus also traveled to the region of Tyre and Sidon, where he healed a Gentile woman's daughter, and to the region of Decapolis, where he healed many people. It was also at the extreme northern border of Israel at Caesarea Philippi that Peter made his confession that "You are the Christ, the son of the living God," and Jesus declared, "on this rock I will build my church."

MARK—NOTE ON 7:24 did not want anyone to know. See note on Matt. 8:4. Jesus was already known in the Gentile region of Tyre and Sidon, where there were many resettled Jews (see note on Mark 3:7–8). Jesus was called first to proclaim God's kingdom to the people of Israel, but he also spoke of a time when his disciples would take the gospel to the Gentiles (13:10; 14:9).

MARK—NOTE ON 7:26 Elijah had also helped a non-Jewish woman in this area (1 Kings 17:8). Syrophoenician. A native of Phoenicia, which included Tyre and Sidon.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:27 Jesus' response is surprising and may seem offensive. Taking into account vv. 29–30, one can conclude that Jesus spoke as he did merely to test the woman's faith.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:28–30 yet even the dogs. The woman's response to Jesus' surprising statement (v. 27) is both humble and persistent. Perhaps she understands and humbly accepts that God called Israel first for a particular purpose (see Ex. 4:22).

MARK—NOTE ON 7:31–8:26 As Jesus continues his ministry of teaching and healing, the disciples' hearts remain hard (8:17–21). They fail to understand who Jesus really is.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:33 Unlike his other healings, Jesus uses physical means to heal the man. This allows him to illustrate the problem of spiritual deafness and blindness (see 8:17–18, 21).

MARK—NOTE ON 7:36 to tell no one. See 1:45; 5:20, 34; 8:26; and note on Matt. 8:4.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:1–10 The feeding of the 4,000 probably took place in Gentile territory. Jesus is the living bread for Gentiles as well as for Jews.

FACT

A diet of bread. For many of the poorer people in NT times, as well as for many around the world today, bread might be their entire meal. Jesus called himself the "bread of life."

MARK—NOTE ON 8:5 Seven. See note on Matt. 15:34.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:6 Giving thanks, breaking bread, and distributing it are common elements in a Jewish meal.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:8 satisfied. . . . left over, seven baskets full. Jesus provides beyond satisfaction (compare 6:43).

MARK—NOTE ON 8:11 The Pharisees demand not just a miracle but a sign from heaven. But they didn't have the one thing that Jesus required: a fundamental change of heart.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:12 sighed. For other examples of Jesus expressing emotions, see 1:41; 3:5; 7:34. this generation. Compare Deut. 32:5; Ps. 95:10; Mark 9:19. no sign. See note on Matt. 12:39. For the person who has an open heart, Jesus' miracles should be more than enough to show that he truly is the Messiah.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:13 In v. 10, Jesus crossed the Sea of Galilee traveling west; now he crosses it again, traveling east.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:14–15 Jesus uses leaven to describe the self-centered, self-reliant Pharisees and Herod Antipas. See note on 1 Cor. 5:6–7.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:16 had no bread. The disciples take the term "leaven" (v. 15) literally, showing their ongoing inability to understand spiritual truths (see vv. 17–21).

MARK—NOTE ON 8:17–18 not yet perceive or understand. While the Pharisees reject Jesus' teaching outright, the disciples are slow to appreciate it. The figurative reference to eyes and ears echoes the healings of the deaf (7:31–35) and blind (8:22–26) men. Jesus wants to open the "ears" and "eyes" of the disciples' hearts.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:21 Now that Jesus has twice multiplied food, the disciples should understand the significance of these miracles: he who stands before them is none other than the eternal creator and giver of life (see Col. 1:15–20).

MARK—NOTE ON 8:23–25 Jesus led the blind man out of the village, perhaps to get away from hostile onlookers (see 5:40; 6:6). The blind man's first response, “I see people, but they look like trees, walking,” could be seen as similar to the disciples’ lack of understanding (8:17–21).

MARK—NOTE ON 8:27–16:8 Testing Jesus’ Authority in Suffering. Having displayed his messianic authority and power (1:1–8:26), Jesus is now tested as the Messiah of God.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:27–10:52 Journey to Jerusalem. As Jesus and his disciples journey toward Jerusalem, he warns them three times about his approaching death and teaches them about the cost of discipleship.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:27–29a Caesarea Philippi. See note on Matt. 16:13. Who do people say that I am? Jesus’ questions prepare the disciples for his teaching. He must show them that the Messiah of God is to be humbled (Mark 8:31; 10:45) and then exalted (8:38) for the sake of his people. This goes against popular messianic expectations. On John the Baptist and Elijah, see note on 6:14b–15.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:29b–30 Peter speaks for the Twelve (compare 1:36; 8:32; 9:5; 10:28; 14:29) and confesses Jesus as the Christ, the Messiah (2 Sam. 7:14–16; Psalm 2; Jer. 23:5–6) who they expect will liberate the Jewish people from Rome. Peter’s confession is God-given (Matt. 16:17) but incomplete, for Jesus will also suffer for his people (Isa. 53:1–12; Mark 8:31; 10:45). This is why Jesus charges his disciples to tell no one about him.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:31 must . . . be killed. Christ’s death is necessary because the messianic rule of God must begin with atonement for sin. Christ’s death will be the sacrifice that brings reconciliation between God and man. That Jesus would rise again must puzzle the disciples. They expect only the general resurrection of all mankind at the end of the age, prior to judgment (Dan. 12:2).

MARK—NOTE ON 8:33 turning and seeing his disciples, he rebuked Peter. The fact that Jesus looked at all the disciples implies that his rebuke of Peter was intended for all of them. “Get behind me, Satan!” It is only Peter’s thoughts and words (see v. 32), not him personally, that Jesus rejects as satanic.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:34 Following the first major prediction of his death and resurrection (v. 31), Jesus gives instructions in discipleship to all those who would come after me. They should deny themselves and take up their cross so that they will be free to follow the Messiah (1:18). Each of the major predictions of Jesus' death and resurrection (see chart) is followed by teaching on discipleship (8:33–9:1; 9:33–50; 10:38–45).

The Three Major Passion Predictions in Mark

Three times in Mark 8–10 Jesus predicts his death, the disciples fail to understand or to respond appropriately, and he then teaches them about discipleship.

Announcement of Jesus' Death	Failure on the Part of the Disciples	Jesus Teaches on Discipleship
Jesus will suffer, be rejected, killed, and will rise after three days (8:31)	Peter rebukes Jesus (8:32–33)	Jesus commands them to deny themselves, take up their cross, and follow him (8:33–9:1)
Jesus will be delivered, killed, and will rise after three days (9:30–31)	The disciples do not understand the saying and are afraid to ask him about it (9:32)	Jesus teaches that the first must be last and that those who receive children in his name receive him (9:33–50)
Jesus will be delivered, condemned, mocked, flogged, killed, and will rise after three days (10:33–34)	James and John ask that they may sit next to Jesus in his glory (10:35–37)	Jesus teaches that, to be great, they must become servants; to be first, they must become slaves; and that he came to serve by giving his life as a ransom for many (10:38–45)

MARK—NOTE ON 8:35 Jesus' teaching here involves a paradox: The person who lives a self-centered life (would save his life) will not find eternal life with God (will lose it), but the person who gives up his self-centered life (loses his life) for the sake of Christ and the gospel will find everlasting life with God (will save it; see v. 38).

MARK—NOTE ON 8:38 of him will the Son of Man also be ashamed. Jesus claims divine authority in final judgment.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:1 Some standing here who will not taste death probably refers to the three disciples who will accompany Jesus to the Mount of Transfiguration. They will see the kingdom of God . . . come with power. The transfiguration is a "preview" of the glory of Christ in his return (Dan. 7:13–27; Mark 13:26–27). See note on Matt. 16:28.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:2 high mountain. Probably Mount Hermon (see note on Matt. 17:1).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:3 On white as heavenly brightness, compare Dan. 7:9; Luke 24:4; Acts 1:10; Rev. 1:14.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:4 Jesus is greater than both Moses, who represents the Law, and Elijah, who represents the Prophets. Jesus thus fulfills both the Law and the Prophets (see Matt. 5:17). Luke adds the detail that they discuss Jesus' imminent "departure" (Luke 9:31).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:5 Peter sees Jesus merely as someone similar to Moses and Elijah and wishes to raise tents for them, perhaps because he wants to prolong the experience. Peter does not know what he is saying, for he is speaking impulsively, out of fear (v. 6).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:7 The voice . . . out of the cloud echoes Ex. 24:15–16. This is my beloved Son; listen to him. Jesus, with all his claims, is endorsed by the Father (see Ps. 2:7; Isa. 42:1; Mark 1:11). "Listen to him" echoes Deut. 18:15, 18, where Moses is shown to be a leader-prophet.

FACT

A voice from the cloud? In the Bible, clouds are often associated with the presence of God and the mystery and holiness surrounding him (9:7). The prophet Nahum said, "clouds are the dust of his feet" (Nah. 1:3).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:9 tell no one. See note on Matt. 8:4. Jesus commands silence in order to avoid a popular movement that would make him into a political "freedom fighter" (see John 6:15). Such a political role would interfere with his purpose of suffering and dying to save his people.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:10 questioning what this rising from the dead might mean. The disciples expected only the resurrection of all mankind at the end of this age, after the coming of Elijah (see Dan. 12:2).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:12 John the Baptist restored all things by preparing the way for the coming of the ultimate Restorer (see Mal. 3:1; Luke 1:17; Acts 3:21). On John the Baptist as Elijah, see notes on Mal. 4:4–6; Matt. 11:14. be treated with contempt. See Isa. 53:3.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:13 Referring to John the Baptist, Jesus states that Elijah has come. See Luke 1:17. Jesus thus contradicted popular expectations (Mark 9:11), which hoped for the literal return of Elijah.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:19 O faithless generation. Jesus' burdened expression echoes that of the prophets (e.g., Deut. 32:5, 20; Isa. 6:11; Jer. 5:21–22; see note on Mark 8:12).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:22b–24 The father is merely seeking a miracle from Jesus (if you can do anything), but Jesus calls on him to put his trust in God.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:28–29 “Why could we not cast it out?” The disciples lack the ability to fully carry out their commission from Jesus (see 6:7, 13; 9:18).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:30–31 he did not want anyone to know. Jesus seeks privacy in order to continue teaching his disciples about his impending suffering in Jerusalem (see note on Matt. 8:4).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:32 The disciples do not understand that Jesus, the Messiah, must die; rather, they expect the Messiah to be a political liberator. Nor do they understand the idea of individual resurrection; they expect only the resurrection of all mankind at the last judgment (see Dan. 12:2). Yet they understand enough of what Jesus is saying that they are afraid to ask him anything more. Perhaps they remember that, when Peter expressed disapproval of Jesus’ predictions of suffering, Jesus rebuked him (Mark 8:33).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:33 in the house. Jesus instructs the disciples in the privacy of the home (see 4:10, 34; 7:17; 9:28; 10:10).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:34 who was the greatest. Because they thought the Messiah would be a political liberator, the disciples dream of status, honor, and power.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:35 he sat down. Teachers often sat as they taught.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:36–37 Jesus shows the disciples that, instead of seeking greater status (v. 34), they should be willing to take on lowly, often unnoticed tasks. They should care for those who have little status in the world, such as a little child. receives not me. See note on Luke 9:48.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:40 the one who is not against us is for us. Compare Phil. 1:17–18. For a contrasting but equally true statement, see Matt. 12:30.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:41 will by no means lose his reward. God notices the smallest of deeds.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:42 Any who cause other believers, especially the lowly or powerless, to sin will receive severe punishment from God.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:43–48 Jesus uses hyperbole (intentional overstatement) to show the seriousness of sin: nothing, even important things such as a hand, foot, or eye, can be more important than God. Of course, Jesus does not mean that people should literally cut off those body parts, for the literal removal of them cannot remove the root of sin in the heart (see 7:20–23; 9:45).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:49 Everyone will be salted with fire is a puzzling statement that occurs only in Mark. In view of Lev. 2:13, “with all your offerings you shall offer salt,” perhaps the best interpretation is that believers are being offered to God (compare Rom. 12:1), and the fire with which they will be “salted” is purification by the “fire” of suffering and hardship.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:50 lost its saltiness. See note on Luke 14:34.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:1 And he left there. Jesus sets out on his final journey from Galilee to Jerusalem. He returns to the area north of Jericho where his ministry began. He continues to focus his ministry on teaching, as was his custom.

Jesus' Final Journey to Jerusalem

Though John mentions several trips to Jerusalem by Jesus during his ministry, Matthew, Mark, and Luke recount only one, which occurred as Jesus prepared for his triumphal entry and subsequent death and resurrection. Beginning at Capernaum, Jesus was apparently diverted from the more direct route when Samaritans refused him access (Luke 9:51–56), so he may have crossed the Jordan and traveled through Perea. Jesus then passed through Jericho and proceeded to Jerusalem.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:2 Jesus’ Pharisaic opponents hope to expose him as an opponent of the Law of Moses (see note on Matt. 19:3).

MARK—NOTE ON 10:4–6 Jesus emphasizes that marriage goes back to God’s purpose at the beginning of creation (Gen. 1:27; 2:24; Ex. 20:14). Moses’ regulations on divorce (Deut. 24:1–4) were not part of God’s original plan but were instituted because of your hardness of heart (see note on Matt. 19:8).

MARK—NOTE ON 10:10–11 in the house. Once again, Jesus instructs his disciples in private (see 4:10; 9:33). Whoever divorces his wife and marries another. Here and in Luke 16:18 Jesus does not include the phrase “except for sexual immorality” as in Matt. 5:32 and 19:9. The most likely reason is that everyone agreed that adultery was a legitimate ground for divorce, and Jesus is not addressing that issue here. See notes on Matt. 5:31–32; 19:6; 19:8; 19:9.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:12 And if she divorces her husband is the only time in the Gospels where it is assumed that a woman also has a right to initiate a divorce (compare 1 Cor. 7:10–11), as Roman culture allowed.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:13–15 rebuked them. The disciples consider children to be an annoying distraction (see 9:36–37, 42). To Jesus, however, children are as important as adults, and equally worthy of love (9:36–37; 10:16). to such belongs the kingdom of God. Children do not belong automatically to the kingdom but must come to Jesus and receive him the same as adults.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:17–27 Contrary to childlike trust (vv. 13–16), the rich young man relies on his possessions (v. 22) and his self-righteousness (v. 20) to inherit eternal life.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:18 No one is completely good except God alone, therefore it is not proper for the young man to address Jesus as “Good Teacher” until he is ready to acknowledge that Jesus is God. On the deity of Christ, see notes on John 5:21; 5:22; 5:23; 20:28.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:19 Do not defraud probably combines the eighth and ninth commandments (“not steal. . . . not bear false witness,” Ex. 20:15–16).

MARK—NOTE ON 10:20 all these I have kept. From a human perspective, the young man’s answer is plausible (compare Paul, prior to his conversion; Phil.

3:6). However, once the righteousness of God sheds light on the human condition (see Rom. 3:21–26; Phil. 3:7–11), human righteousness is seen to be no more than a thin cover-up for mankind's basic hostility toward God (Col. 1:21).

MARK—NOTE ON 10:21 You lack one thing. The man has replaced trust in God and its reward (treasure in heaven) with trust in earthly riches. He thus fails the first commandment, "You shall have no other gods before me" (Ex. 20:3). This does not mean that every disciple of Christ must sell all that he has; rather, the heart must be focused on God, with every possession available for his use.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:22 he went away sorrowful. The man's true state has been laid bare, but he does not repent.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:25 The hyperbole (intentional overstatement) of a large camel having to fit through the small eye of a needle stresses that such a thing is humanly impossible (but see v. 27). For other hyperboles in Jesus' teaching, see Matt. 7:3–5; 23:24; on the "eye of a needle," see note on Matt. 19:24.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:29–30 The person who leaves house, lands, and family for Jesus' sake (see 8:35, 38; Matt. 5:11; Luke 12:8–9; 18:29) and for the gospel can expect now in this life to enjoy fellowship with other believers. He will find a welcome in the houses and lands of Christian friends. But in this life these blessings will be mixed with persecutions (see Mark 8:34–38). The future will yield an even better reward: eternal life.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:32–45 Each of Jesus' major predictions of his death and resurrection (8:31; 9:30–31; 10:33–34) is followed by instruction in discipleship (8:33–9:1; 9:33–50; 10:38–45).

MARK—NOTE ON 10:32 Jesus is aware that he will soon be put to death (see 8:31; 9:31; Isa. 53:1–12), but he proceeds resolutely toward Jerusalem. He is like the servant of the Lord in Isa. 50:7, who set his face "like a flint" (compare Luke 9:53, "his face was set").

MARK—NOTE ON 10:35–37 James and John belonged to Jesus' "inner circle" (see 1:29; 5:37). They falsely envisioned special places of honor (one at your right hand and one at your left) when Jesus would rule in Jerusalem on the throne of David. See also note on Matt. 20:20.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:38 The cup that Jesus was to drink was the cup of God's wrath that would be poured out on him, as he bore God's wrath in the place of sinful mankind (see note on Luke 22:42). His baptism was his suffering and death, which would pour over him like a flood (see note on 1 Pet. 3:21).

MARK—NOTE ON 10:39 The disciples understand Jesus' question ("Are you able to drink the cup that I drink?" v. 38) to mean that they will need to fight alongside Jesus. They bravely answer, We are able. Jesus, however, teaches them that they too will undergo suffering: you will drink . . . you will be baptized.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:40 is not mine to grant. Though Jesus is fully God, there are differences of authority within the Trinity (see note on John 3:35). Throughout Scripture, the Son is always subject to the authority of the Father, who will ultimately determine who receives such positions of honor.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:41 The other disciples become indignant at James and John, perhaps on account of their own ambition and jealousy (vv. 42–45).

MARK—NOTE ON 10:42 lord it over. Jesus does not deny all human authority (compare Matt. 16:19; 18:18), only its oppressive misuse.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:45 The ransom of Christ's life was paid to God the Father, who accepted it as just payment for the sins of many (all who would be saved). See Isa. 53:8–12; Rom. 4:25; 1 Cor. 15:3; and note on 1 Tim. 2:5–6. Son of Man. See note on Matt. 8:20.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:46–52 Both 8:22–26 and this passage tell of the healing of a blind man. The disciples were themselves blind regarding the true mission of Jesus, but between these two accounts of healing, Jesus has taught them and has discussed his death and resurrection. As he taught them, he was healing their spiritual blindness as well.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:46 Jericho. See note on Matt. 20:29.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:47 Jesus will later say that the cry of the blind man (Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me) was an expression of faith (v. 52). "Son of David" is a messianic acclamation (see 12:35–37).

MARK—NOTE ON 10:52 Your faith has made you well hints at spiritual salvation as well; see note on 5:34. and followed him. Bartimaeus joins Jesus and the other pilgrims on their final journey to Jerusalem; he has become one of Jesus' disciples.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:1–13:37 Entering and Judging Jerusalem. Jesus enters Jerusalem triumphantly, cleanses the temple, and authoritatively teaches both opponents and disciples.

Jerusalem at the Time of Jesus

By the time of Jesus, Jerusalem had grown from a modest military fortress to a world-class city with a newly renovated temple that rivaled nearly any in the ancient world. Public pools were fed by the Gihon Spring and by two aqueducts that brought water to the city from as far as 7 miles (11 km) away. The towns of Bethphage and Bethany were located on the eastern slopes of the Mount of Olives, which lay to the east of Jerusalem. See also Jerusalem in the Time of Jesus, pp. 1364–1365.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:2 Matthew mentions that a donkey was with the colt (see note on Matt. 21:6–7).

MARK—NOTE ON 11:7 By riding on a donkey, Jesus fulfills a prophecy about the Messiah (Zech. 9:9). See notes on Matt. 21:4–5; John 12:15.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:8 On the significance of cloaks and branches, see 2 Kings 9:12–13 and notes on Matt. 21:8; John 12:13.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:9 Hosanna. “Save!” See note on Ps. 118:25. Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord is from Ps. 118:25–26, a prayer of blessing for the coming messianic kingdom (see notes on Matt. 23:39; Luke 13:35). The Triumphal Entry takes place at the beginning of Passover week, which recalls the Jewish people’s liberation from Egyptian slavery (see note on Mark 14:17). The pilgrims now are anticipating liberation from Rome’s oppression. But rather than defeating Rome, Jesus will defeat Satan, sin, and death. This celebration fulfills Zech. 9:9.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:11 As the sovereign Lord who “will suddenly come to his temple” (Mal. 3:1), Jesus looked around at everything in the temple area. During this week, Jesus and the Twelve stay a short distance outside Jerusalem in Bethany, probably with their friends Lazarus, Mary, and Martha (see John 12:2–3).

MARK—NOTE ON 11:12–12:44 Jesus’ first actions, after being hailed by the people as King, are to pass judgment on Jerusalem figuratively through the cursing of the fig tree and to cleanse the temple. These actions show his zeal for true worship of God.

FACT

Fig trees (11:13) reach an average height of around 10 to 30 feet (3 to 9 m). Figs are harvested twice a year, once in spring or early summer and again in autumn. Figs could be eaten straight from the tree, dried, or made into cakes for the winter.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:13–14 Since the fruit of the fig tree begins to appear about the same time as the leaves, the appearance of leaves in full bloom means that the figs should already have been growing. But Jesus found nothing but leaves on the fig tree. This symbolizes the hypocrisy of those who seem to be bearing fruit but in fact are not. Jesus has in mind especially Israel, since in the OT the fig tree often serves as a symbol for Israel (e.g., Jer. 8:13; Hos. 9:10, 16; Joel 1:7).

MARK—NOTE ON 11:15–17 he entered the temple. Jesus comes as Lord of the temple, to purify it (Mal. 3:1–4). See notes on Matt. 21:12–17; 21:12. Tables had been set up in the temple area to enable pilgrims to change their various currencies into coins for the annual temple tax, as well as to purchase pigeons, lambs, oil, salt, etc., for various sacrifices. But the business activity had turned the temple into a den of robbers (Jer. 7:11). Gentiles in particular were hindered by the commerce in the outer temple court. Jesus wants to restore the temple to its function as a house of prayer for all the nations (Isa. 56:7).

MARK—NOTE ON 11:18 they feared him. The Jewish leaders correctly saw Jesus' act as a challenge to their authority in the most sacred space in the world.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:20 Mark reports that the disciples did not see the withered fig tree until the next morning. Matthew compresses the events of these two days into a single story (Matt. 21:18–22).

MARK—NOTE ON 11:21 The withered fig tree represents God's judgment on Israel (see note on vv. 13–14).

MARK—NOTE ON 11:22–23 Moving a mountain was symbolic language for doing the seemingly impossible (compare Isa. 40:4; 54:10).

MARK—NOTE ON 11:24–25 believe that you have received it, and it will be yours. Some have misunderstood this to mean that if they pray for some specific request and have enough faith, then God will do whatever they ask. But while we must always trust in God's power, we must also submit to his will (14:36). Those who trust God for the right things in the right way can have confidence that God will "supply every need . . . according to his riches in glory in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 4:19; see also Rom. 8:28, 32).

MARK—NOTE ON 11:28–33 by what authority. The question relates to the cleansing of the temple (vv. 15–19) but also to Jesus' healing and teaching throughout his ministry, since he is neither a recognized priest nor an official interpreter of the law. Was the baptism of John from heaven or from man? This confession of ignorance by Jesus' opponents demonstrates that they have no basis on which to judge his ministry.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:1–12 This parable of judgment is addressed primarily to the religious leaders of Israel (vv. 1, 12). Disputes between absentee landlords, their representatives (a servant), and tenants were common in Israel (vv. 3–5). The vineyard is a well-known symbol for Israel (Neh. 9:16–37; Isa. 5:1–5).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:1 vineyard, fence, tower. The landlord goes to great expense, so he is justified in expecting a share in the profit.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:3–5 The landlord's servants are increasingly mistreated: they are beaten, struck . . . on the head, and killed. The repetition of these events (and so with many others) reinforces the injustice. While Israel might have borne fruit, the leaders of Israel have prevented the fruit from being given to God.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:6 The tenants' attitude toward the landlord will be directly reflected in their respect, or lack of it, for his beloved son, who represents Jesus (1:11; 9:7).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:7 kill. They may be assuming that the heir's arrival means the landlord has died.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:9 give the vineyard to others. Israel (and the Son sent to her) belongs to God. Israel's leaders disrespect the possessions of God (11:27–12:12) and thus incur the judgment of God.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:10 In Jesus' day, Ps. 118:22–23 was seen as messianic (see Acts 4:11). Jesus' opponents can thus understand that the "stone" refers to the Messiah. Builders refers to the leaders of Israel. Rejected echoes the theme of the persecution of the prophets of God (Neh. 9:9–35; Acts 7:1–53). The new Israel (faithful Israel) will accept the Son as the rightful messenger, heir, and cornerstone of the messianic kingdom (Jer. 31:26; Zech. 4:7).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:13 The Pharisees and Herodians collaborate against Jesus (see notes on 3:6; Matt. 22:16).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:14 Is it lawful to pay taxes? Refusing to pay taxes to Rome would seem to entail rebellion against Caesar. But a willingness to pay taxes would seem to compromise devotion to God. On the relationship between church and state, see note on Matt. 22:21.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:16 The likeness and inscription on the denarius represent the person of Caesar and his authority (see note on Matt. 22:19). Simply by having the coin, Jesus' opponents show that they already participate in the Roman social order.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:17 the things that are Caesar's . . . the things that are God's. See notes on Matt. 22:21; Luke 20:25. Jesus does not discuss the question of whether the current Roman government is just or unjust, but he does imply that it is right to pay taxes to Caesar. God's kingdom, however, transcends all of these "things."

MARK—NOTE ON 12:18–23 The Sadducees, who reject any belief in the resurrection of the dead, try to show how such a belief would be in conflict with the law about levirate marriage (Deut. 25:5–6; see note on Matt. 22:24). How, they ask, can one woman be married to seven men in heaven?

FACT

The Sadducees were a small but powerful group of Jewish leaders who did not believe in the resurrection (12:18). This may have been because of their emphasis on the Pentateuch (Genesis–Deuteronomy), which does not seem to explicitly mention the resurrection. But Jesus showed them that the idea of resurrection can, in fact, be found in the Pentateuch (Mark 12:26–27).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:25 The Sadducees falsely assume there will be marriage in heaven. Interpersonal relationships in heaven are similar to the relationships of angels (whose existence the Sadducees deny; see Acts 23:8). On the nature of human relationships in heaven, see note on Matt. 22:29–30.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:26–27 The Lord is a covenant-keeping God, keeping his covenants with Abraham . . . Isaac, and . . . Jacob. And he is the God of the living. Abraham therefore continues to exist and to enjoy the blessings of God's covenant (see Rom. 8:35–39), and hence will also be raised from the dead.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:28–31 love the Lord your God. See Deut. 6:4–5; and note on Matt. 22:37–38. love your neighbor as yourself. See Lev. 19:18, 34; Rom. 13:8–10; Gal. 5:14; 1 John 4:10–11.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:34 Jesus declared that the scribe who had questioned him (v. 28) was not far from the kingdom of God. Among the key truths the scribe didn't understand were Jesus' identity as the beloved Son (9:7), as the one to be confessed (8:38), and as the one who would die on his behalf (10:45; see 12:35–37).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:35–37 While in the temple, Jesus publicly raises a question: who is the Messiah of God? Is he the son of David or the Lord of David? Jesus' point is not to deny that the Messiah is a descendant of David. The issue is that, in the quoted passage (Ps. 110:1–5), the Messiah is called the Lord of David (see note on Matt. 22:41–46). Jesus affirms that the Psalm was divinely inspired by the Holy Spirit. Jesus anticipates being exalted to the right hand of God, and thus he far transcends any expectation of a merely political, Davidic messiah.

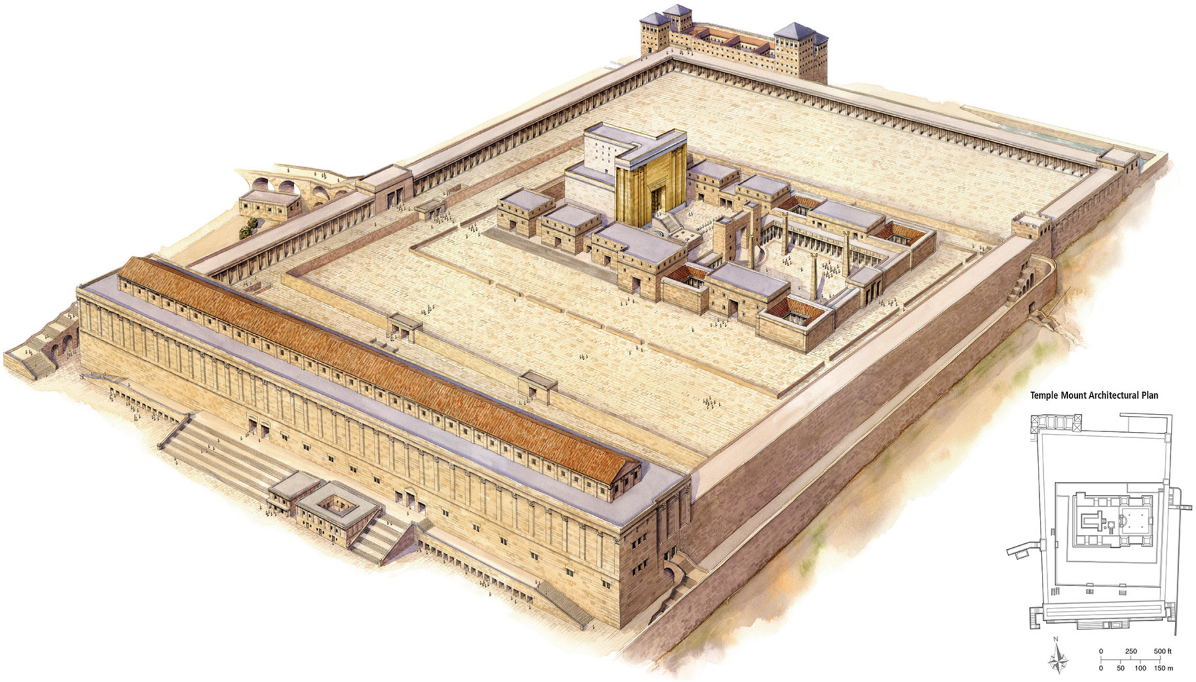
MARK—NOTE ON 12:38 scribes. Experts in handling written documents.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:42–44 The small copper coins were worth about 1/128th of a denarius, which was a day's wage for a laborer.

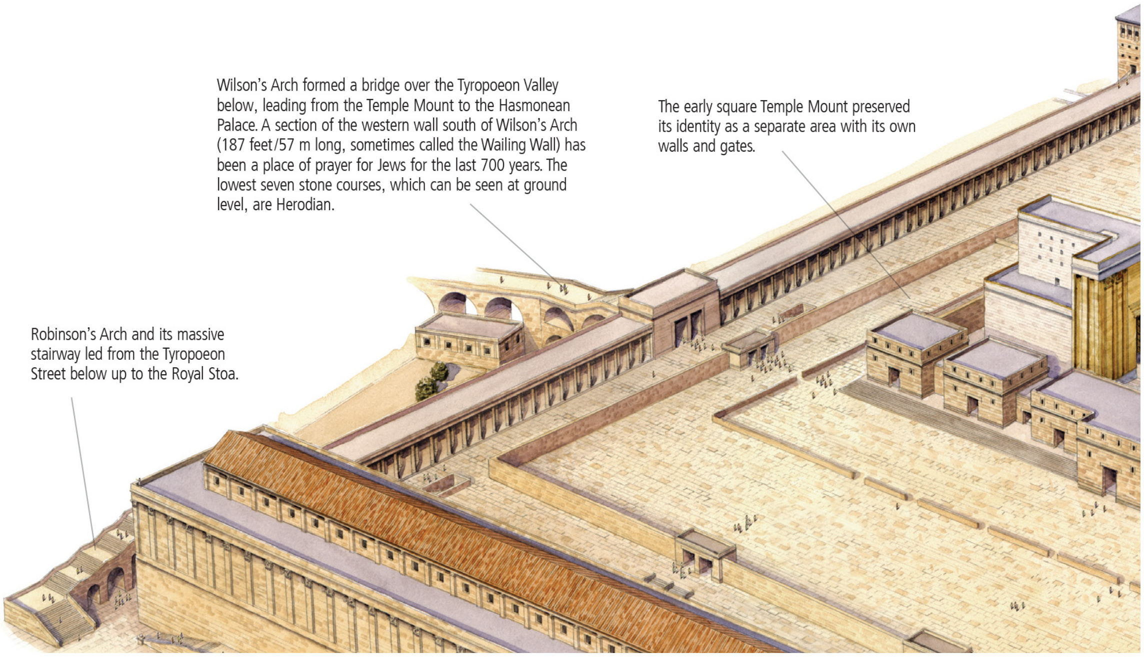
MARK—NOTE ON 13:1 Herod the Great expanded the second temple to about double the size of Solomon's temple (see note on Luke 21:5–6).

The Temple Mount in the time of Jesus

Herod's Temple Mount was the focal point of Jerusalem during the time of Jesus. Sitting atop Jerusalem's northeastern ridge, it occupied one-sixth of the city's area. Under Herod the Great, the Temple Mount's foundation was expanded to encompass approximately 1.5 million square feet (140,000 square meters). Its foundational walls were constructed using gigantic stones, the largest found being 45 feet long, 11.5 feet high, and 12 feet thick (13.7 m by 3.5 m by 3.7 m).



• •

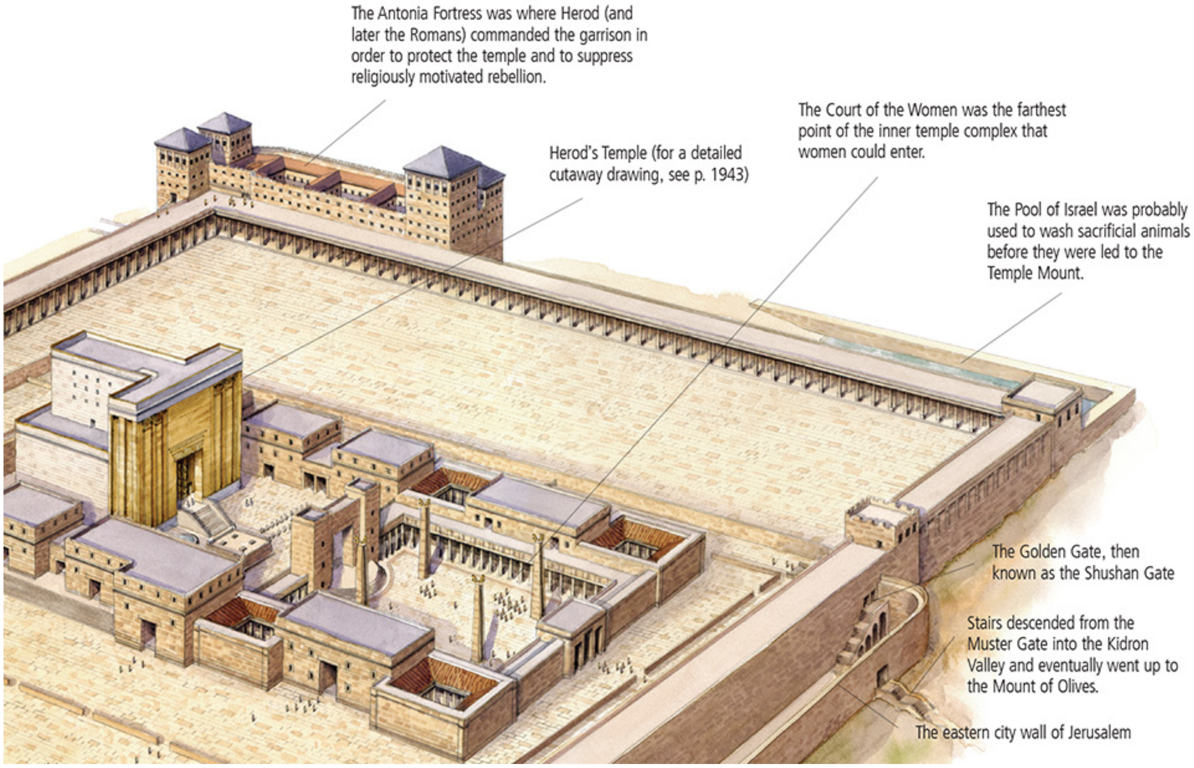


Wilson’s Arch formed a bridge over the Tyropoeon Valley below, leading from the Temple Mount to the Hasmonean Palace. A section of the western wall south of Wilson’s Arch (187 feet/57 m long, sometimes called the Wailing Wall) has been a place of prayer for Jews for the last 700 years. The lowest seven stone courses, which can be seen at ground level, are Herodian.

The early square Temple Mount preserved its identity as a separate area with its own walls and gates.

Robinson’s Arch and its massive stairway led from the Tyropoeon Street below up to the Royal Stoa.

• •



The Antonia Fortress was where Herod (and later the Romans) commanded the garrison in order to protect the temple and to suppress religiously motivated rebellion.

The Court of the Women was the farthest point of the inner temple complex that women could enter.

The Pool of Israel was probably used to wash sacrificial animals before they were led to the Temple Mount.

The eastern city wall of Jerusalem

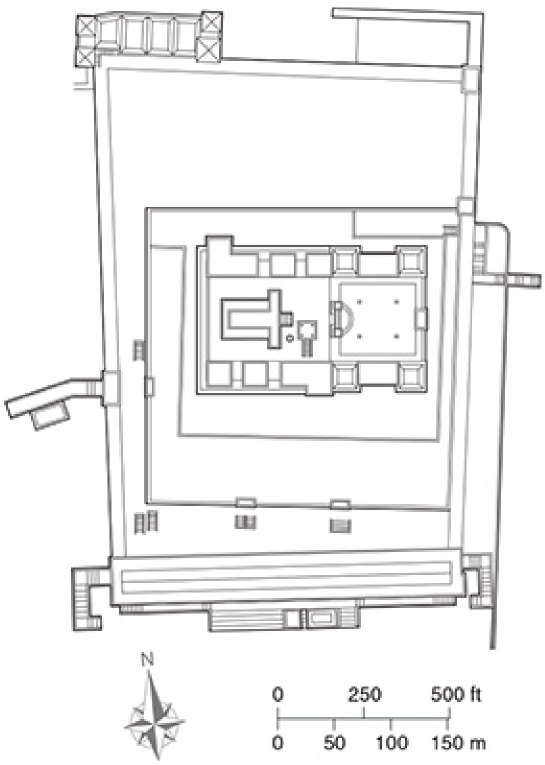
Solomon's Porch, the portico built along the eastern wall, was a place of congregation (cf. John 10:23; Acts 3:11).

The soreg (a low, latticed screen or railing) prohibited Gentiles or non-purified Jews from entering the temple courts.

The Court of the Gentiles was the area between the soreg and the outer walls of the early square Temple Mount.

The Royal Stoa was a 912-foot-long (278 m) portico, containing four rows of 40 columns. The Sanhedrin met in the central apse after c. A.D. 30. This may have been where Jesus cleansed the temple. The southeast corner overlooking the Kidron Valley created a drop of 140 feet (43 m) to the street below, and 300 feet (91 m) to the valley below. This may be the "pinnacle of the temple" mentioned in Matt. 4:5 and Luke 4:9.

Temple Mount Architectural Plan



MARK—NOTE ON 13:2 The temple would be destroyed because of its misuse by the leaders (see 12:9). not . . . one stone upon another. Titus, son of the emperor Vespasian, destroyed Jerusalem and the temple in A.D. 66–70.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:3 The Mount of Olives (Olivet), with its spectacular view of the Temple Mount, stands just east of Jerusalem across the Kidron Valley. Jesus and his disciples regularly crossed over Olivet on their way from Jerusalem through Bethphage (Luke 19:29) to Bethany (John 11:1), which was on the mountain’s eastern slope.

FACT

The Mount of Olives (13:3) gets its name from the olive trees that grow there in abundance. Olive trees were highly valued in Israel as a source of oil and wood. Gethsemane, which was on the Mount of Olives, means “oil press.”

MARK—NOTE ON 13:4–37 when will these things be, and what will be the sign? Jesus' answer deals primarily with the second part of the question, but he also addresses the timing of the coming events. The disciples assume that the destruction of the temple will coincide with the end of time, but Jesus corrects their thinking (vv. 7, 13). The destruction of Jerusalem (which came in A.D. 70) functions as a prophetic preview of the last judgment, which will occur when Jesus returns. God already knows about all these things, and the elect (vv. 20, 22, 27) will be preserved.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:8 The symbolic language of birth pains (see note on Matt. 24:8) describes the increase in frequency and duration of these end-time events.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:14 The abomination of desolation (see Dan. 9:27; 11:31; 12:11) points to the Antichrist's ultimate desecration of God's temple (where he ought not to be; some understand this as a literal, rebuilt temple, and others understand it as the people of God; see 2 Thess. 2:1–12; 1 John 2:18). This event was anticipated in the destruction of the temple in Jerusalem (see note on Matt. 24:15). flee to the mountains. See note on Matt. 24:16.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:19 Tribulation will occur in conjunction with the Antichrist's desecration of the temple (v. 14). It will involve the worst suffering since the beginning of the creation. The flight of Christians from Jerusalem in A.D. 67 pointed forward to this universal tribulation (see note on Matt. 24:16).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:20 The elect (see also vv. 22, 27) are those who have received God's gracious and undeserved call to salvation (see note on Matt. 22:14).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:22 On testing false prophets, see notes on Matt. 7:15–20; 1 John 4:1. Unlike Scripture, signs and wonders are not clear indicators of God's presence (compare the actions of the Antichrist in 2 Thess. 2:7–12). Jesus' remark that even the elect could be led astray emphasizes the stunning character of the false prophets' miracles. But God will protect his own, so that they will not believe in a false messiah or prophet.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:24–26 After that tribulation clearly sets the further statements of Jesus apart from the preceding verses. sun . . . moon . . . stars. Jesus now describes cosmic events (see note on Matt. 24:29) that will precede the coming of the Son of Man (see note on Matt. 24:30).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:28–29 Some have understood fig tree here as a symbol for the nation of Israel (see note on 11:13–14), but it is more likely that in this case Jesus is just using a familiar event in nature as another illustration: when you see these things taking place, you know that Christ will come soon. "These things" probably refers not to the events of 13:24–27 (for they are the end) but the events of vv. 5–23.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:30 this generation will not pass away until all these things take place. See note on Matt. 24:34.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:31 my words will not pass away. Jesus claims that his words are more enduring than creation itself. He made the same claim for the words of the OT (Matt. 5:18).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:32 nor the Son. See note on Matt. 24:36.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:33–37 This parable about a man going on a journey is similar to the parable of the wicked tenants (12:1–12). The sudden return of the master of the house corresponds to the sudden coming of the Son of Man (find you asleep, 13:36; see Luke 17:24–32).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:1–16:8 Death and Resurrection in Jerusalem. The final three chapters of Mark tell of the final week of Jesus' earthly life: his betrayal, arrest, trial, death, and resurrection.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:3–5 Bethany. See note on Matt. 21:17. The sale of such costly oil would have yielded more than 300 days' wages of a laborer. This story is also reported in Matt. 26:6–13 and John 12:1–8, where the woman is identified as Mary, sister of Martha and Lazarus. The story in Luke 7:36–50 is a different event, occurring at a different time in Jesus' ministry, with a different woman, different actions, different critics, and a different response from Jesus.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:6–9 anointed . . . beforehand for burial. With this remark, Jesus again predicts his death (compare 8:31; 9:30–31; 10:33–34). you always have the poor with you. Believers should do good for the poor, without expecting to completely eradicate poverty in this age (compare Deut. 15:11). The inclusion of this story in the written Gospels fulfills Jesus' prediction that the story would be told wherever the gospel is proclaimed in the whole world.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:10–11 The Jewish authorities were glad for the help of Judas Iscariot; he would be able to tell them where Jesus could be found when there were no crowds present. Mark, like Luke (Luke 22:5), simply says Judas was given money in exchange for betraying Jesus; Matthew records the exact amount: "thirty pieces of silver" (see note on Matt. 26:15–16).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:12 The first day of Unleavened Bread (Ex. 12:15, 18) could refer to either Nisan 14 or Nisan 15, and Passover lambs were apparently killed on both days, but here Mark is referring to Nisan 14 (Thursday). (Nisan usually falls somewhere in March/April in the Gregorian calendar; see note on Matt. 26:17.) The Passover lamb is to be eaten within the walls of Jerusalem. Preparations for the meal have to be made inconspicuously, since Jesus is already a marked target.

The Last Supper

After Jesus and his disciples ate the Passover meal, they crossed the Kidron Valley and entered a garden called Gethsemane (meaning “oil press”), where they often spent time while visiting Jerusalem (see Luke 22:39).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:16 just as he had told them. Either Jesus had made prior arrangements with friends in Jerusalem in order to avoid the Jewish authorities, or the encounter was a miraculous work of God.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:17 After sunset, the Passover meal begins. The celebrants remember the beginning of Israel’s deliverance from slavery, when the Lord brought judgment by killing the firstborn in every Egyptian house but “passed over” the Israelite houses where the blood of the Passover lamb had been applied (Ex. 12:7). Those who celebrate the Passover also look forward to the ultimate liberation (Ex. 12:42). From now on, Jesus’ blood will protect from judgment those who take refuge in him (1 Cor. 5:7).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:18 reclining at table. See note on Matt. 26:20. Despite intimate fellowship, Judas will betray his master (Ps. 41:9).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:21 Jesus confirms that the Son of Man goes as it is written (see Ps. 55:13–14; Isa. 53:1–12; Dan. 9:25–26; Mark 8:31). but woe to that man. Even though the Scriptures have predicted that Jesus would suffer a substitutionary death, Judas is responsible for his evil deed. Scripture consistently affirms both God’s sovereignty and human responsibility (see note on Eph. 1:11).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:22 On the differing views regarding the communion elements, see notes on Luke 22:19; 1 Cor. 11:24.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:23–24 he took a cup. See note on Matt. 26:27. The communion wine corresponds to the covenant-establishing, once-and-for-all shed blood of Jesus as atonement for many (Mark 10:45; compare Ex. 24:8; Isa. 53:12; Jer. 31:31–34).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:25 that day when I drink it new. Jesus is confident that his impending death will not prevent his celebration in the future kingdom of God.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:26 hymn. See note on Matt. 26:30. went out to the Mount of Olives. Passover celebrants were to remain in Jerusalem for this night (Deut. 16:7), therefore Jesus did not return to Bethany.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:27–28 strike the shepherd, and the sheep will be scattered. Knowing that his disciples will soon desert him (see v. 50), Jesus quotes Zech. 13:7. The striking of the shepherd occurs in order to purify the people (Zech. 13:1, 7, 9). Jesus is confident that, though his flock will soon desert him, he will once again gather them (after I am raised up; see Mark 16:7). It is unclear why Jesus chooses Galilee (the home region of the disciples) as the place for this post-resurrection gathering. Perhaps it is so that the disciples will not expect a revolutionary event in Jerusalem (see Acts 1:6).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:30 before the rooster crows twice. Each morning, roosters would crow a number of times separated by a few minutes. Jesus here specifies the first two individual crowings (see v. 72). Matthew, Luke, and John, however, refer to the entire time of several crowings.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:32 On Gethsemane, see note on Matt. 26:36.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:36 The cup is symbolic language for the wrath of God, which he would pour out on sinners in righteous judgment (see note on Luke 22:42). In this time of trial, Jesus entrusts himself into the hands of his Father. On Abba, see note on Matt. 6:9.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:38 The spirit indeed is willing is a reference not to the Holy Spirit but to the disciples' human spirits. They desired to follow Jesus and be faithful (see v. 31), but quickly gave in to physical fatigue: the flesh is weak.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:39 Saying the same words does not mean the "empty phrases" that Jesus had taught against (Matt. 6:7). This was earnest repetition expressing the deep longing of his heart. For repetition in prayer, compare Ps. 136:1–26; Isa. 6:3; 2 Cor. 12:8.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:41 It is enough may mean: (1) enough prayer and wrestling with God—it is settled, and Jesus is going to the cross; (2) enough time—the end has come; or (3) enough sleep—it is time for the disciples to awake. The hour refers here to the time of Jesus' death and of his bearing divine judgment (as in vv. 35–36).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:43–46 Armed temple officials, employed by the Jewish leaders, arrest Jesus (vv. 46, 53). As a traitor, Judas misuses familiar actions of respect and friendship: he calls Jesus Rabbi and greets him with a kiss.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:47 cut off his ear. See note on John 18:10.

FACT

Rabbi (14:45) literally means “my lord.” The title was used to address outstanding teachers of the Jewish law. Jesus told the disciples that they were not to be called rabbi, because they, like all believers in Christ everywhere in the world, have one true teacher—the Lord Jesus himself (Matt. 23:8).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:50 they all left him. See note on vv. 27–28.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:52 he left the linen cloth. This incident is recorded only in Mark’s Gospel. This has led many to think that Mark himself, the author of this Gospel, was this young man, but that out of modesty he did not include his own name.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:53 Before daybreak on Friday, Nisan 15, Jesus is brought before the high priest Caiaphas (see note on John 18:24) and the Sanhedrin, which consisted of prominent Sadducees and Pharisees; see note on Matt. 26:59.

Jesus' Arrest, Trial, and Crucifixion

The path from Jesus' arrest to his crucifixion (part of which is often called the Via Dolorosa, "Way of Sorrows") is difficult to retrace with certainty. According to a possible harmony of the Gospel accounts, after the Passover meal Judas led a contingent of soldiers to Gethsemane to arrest Jesus (1). From there Jesus was led to Annas (location unknown), who sent him to his son-in-law Caiaphas, the high priest (2). The Jewish leaders then appealed to the Roman governor Pilate to have Jesus put to death (3). Luke records that Pilate sent Jesus to Herod Antipas (4), who questioned Jesus but returned him to Pilate without rendering any judgment (5). Pilate then sent Jesus to be crucified at Golgotha (6).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:56 The testimony of the many witnesses did not agree and thus it could not be used in a formal charge against Jesus (see Deut. 17:6).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:58 Jesus never said that he would destroy the temple (see John 2:19). He is innocent of this charge, as the high priest is surely aware.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:61–62 Are you the Christ, the Son of the Blessed? Jesus answers I am. He then claims to be the one who fulfills messianic prophecies from Ps. 110:1 and Dan. 7:13–14.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:64 Jesus' statement (v. 62) is considered blasphemy because he claims to be the Son of God, with an exalted position at the right hand of God.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:65 and to strike him. Mistreatment follows the verdict of v. 64. See Isa. 50:6; 53:2–3. Only the Roman authorities can carry out a death sentence (see note on Mark 15:1), so Jesus has to be taken to Pilate.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:72 the rooster crowed a second time. See note on v. 30.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:1 The whole council is the Sanhedrin. It did not have the right to execute a person. That right was reserved for Roman authorities, especially when dealing with popular figures. Pilate (see note on Luke 23:1) was temporarily in Jerusalem "to keep the peace" during the Passover. The Jewish authorities did not want to be busy with the case during the festive Passover day.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:2 When they brought Jesus to Pilate, the Jewish authorities did not accuse him of blasphemy, a religious crime that would have made no difference to Pilate. Rather, they accused him of claiming to be King of the Jews. This was a direct challenge to Caesar's rule, and thus was a capital crime.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:5 No further answer fulfills Isa. 53:7.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:6–7 release . . . one prisoner. . . . Barabbas. See note on Matt. 27:15–18.

FACT

Releasing prisoners (15:6) was apparently a custom the Roman governor Pilate had instituted as a means of winning favor with the Jewish people. Ironically, in this case, he ended up releasing a man convicted of rebelling against Rome.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:11–13 release . . . Barabbas instead. Ironically, Pilate will free a man convicted of rebellion against Rome instead of a righteous man who has not spoken against Rome.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:14 what evil has he done? See Isa. 53:9; Acts 3:13. By presenting evidence favorable to Jesus, Pilate tried to make the Jewish authorities solely responsible for his death. The fact remains, however, that Jesus’ death occurred under Pilate’s jurisdiction.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:15 Pilate condemned Jesus to crucifixion, which was the means of executing criminals convicted of high treason. having scourged Jesus. Scourging, by itself, could lead to death (see note on Matt. 27:26).

FACT

Scourging is another term for flogging, a cruel punishment used by the Romans (15:15). Prisoners were tied to a post and beaten with a leather whip that had pieces of bone and metal attached to it. In many cases, scourging was fatal.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:16–19 On the governor’s headquarters, see note on John 18:28. The presence of the whole battalion (about 600 men at full strength) means they are assuming that Jesus is a rebel against Rome (King of the Jews).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:21 According to both Jewish and Roman custom, Jesus had to be taken outside the city walls to be crucified. As allowed by Roman law, Simon of Cyrene was forced to carry Jesus’ cross (see note on Matt. 27:32). Crucifixion was the final public deterrent to warn people not to rebel against Rome. Alexander and Rufus may have been believers known in the early church at the time that Mark wrote his Gospel. See note on Rom. 16:13.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:23 Wine mixed with myrrh is intended to have a mildly numbing effect.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:24 And they crucified him. Jesus' hands were nailed above the wrist on the horizontal beam, and his feet were placed with one above the other and then nailed to the vertical beam. On crucifixion, see note on Matt. 27:35. Casting lots fulfilled the prophecy in Ps. 22:18.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:25 it was the third hour. John says "about the sixth hour," but he was not trying to give the exact time. The time references should not be seen as contradictory (see note on John 19:14).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:26 The inscription of the charge against him was posted above Jesus' head, so that all could see why he was so shamefully executed. The inscription, King of the Jews, portrayed Jesus as a political rebel. This allowed Pilate to justify his actions. It also angered the Jewish authorities, who would never have claimed him as their king (John 19:19–22; compare Mark 15:10).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:27 The two robbers crucified with Jesus fulfill the prophecy of Isa. 53:12. Luke alone records that, sometime later, one of the two robbers repented and expressed faith in Jesus (Luke 23:39–43).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:29–31 Because it was Passover, many passed by the place of Christ's crucifixion. wagging their heads. See Ps. 22:7–8. You who would destroy the temple. See note on Mark 14:58. Jesus appeared to have been silenced and divinely condemned for his blasphemy (see Deut. 21:23).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:33 Between noon and 3:00 P.M. there was darkness. This sign from God was not a solar eclipse (see note on Matt. 27:45). Darkness represents lament (Amos 8:9–10) and divine judgment (see note on Luke 23:44–45).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:34 My God, my God, why have you forsaken me? Jesus utters the opening words of Psalm 22. He expresses his immense pain at being abandoned by God, which he suffers as a substitute for sinful mankind. See note on Matt. 27:46. Yet the following verses of Psalm 22 also anticipate divine intervention on his behalf (compare Heb. 5:7–9). Jesus knows why he is experiencing God-forsakenness, just as he knows his death will not be the end of his story.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:35 he is calling Elijah. See note on Matt. 27:47.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:36 sour wine. See note on Luke 23:36.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:37 The final loud cry is probably the cry of victory, “It is finished” (John 19:30). In Mark’s account, once Jesus dies, all mocking ceases. Subsequently, only the voices of the respectful (the centurion) and the mourners are heard. Jesus died around the time of the daily afternoon sacrifice in the temple.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:38 The inner curtain of the temple was torn in two, from top to bottom, removing the separation between the Holy Place and the Most Holy Place (see Heb. 10:19–20; and note on Matt. 27:51). Access to God is now provided by the unique sacrifice of Jesus, making the temple sacrifices obsolete.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:39 The centurion has observed the death of many crucified criminals. He recognizes correctly that Jesus is the Son of God.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:40 women looking on. See note on Luke 23:49. Mary Magdalene. See note on Luke 8:2.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:42 Deuteronomy 21:23 says that a corpse should be buried on the day of death (taking priority over Passover; see John 19:40). The day of Preparation is the day before the Sabbath. See note on John 19:14.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:43 Joseph of Arimathea courageously intended to bury Jesus before the Sabbath began at sundown (Nisan 16). Matthew 27:57 calls him “a disciple of Jesus.” See note on Matt. 27:57–60.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:46 Joseph wrapped the body of Jesus in a linen shroud and placed it in a tomb . . . cut out of the rock. Rock-cut tombs were expensive since they required extensive excavation. This tomb would most probably have been Joseph of Arimathea’s family tomb. After a body had decayed, its bones were removed and piled elsewhere in the tomb or reburied in an ossuary, a specially designed box which held one or two bodies. The two main locations where it is thought that Jesus may have been buried are the Church of the Holy Sepulchre and the Garden Tomb. Both of these were rock-cut tombs with rolling stone doors. Both would have been outside the first-century city walls. Early church tradition strongly favors the Holy Sepulchre site. The area around the Garden Tomb consists largely of tombs from OT times.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:1–2 Once the Sabbath is over (at sundown on Saturday evening), the women can buy oils for embalming of the corpse after sunrise on Sunday morning (the first day of the week). This occurred on the "third day" (see 8:31; 10:34).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:5 they saw a young man. An angel. Luke 24:4 and John 20:12 give additional information and say there were two angels, but Mark and Matthew mention only one (see Matt. 28:2–5).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:7 go, tell his disciples. In NT times, the testimony of women as witnesses was not always believed, especially in a court of law. After the initial encounters with the risen Jesus in Jerusalem, Galilee again served as a place of preparation (as Jesus had predicted in 14:28). Jesus thus avoided the possibility that the disciples might expect him to usher in a political, messianic kingdom in Jerusalem. However, see Acts 1:6.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:8 they said nothing to anyone. Their silence would be only temporary (see Matt. 28:8).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:9–20 "Longer Ending of Mark." Some ancient manuscripts of Mark's Gospel contain these verses and others do not. Early church fathers did not appear to know of these verses. Eusebius and Jerome state that this section is missing in most manuscripts available at their time. And some manuscripts that contain vv. 9–20 indicate that older manuscripts lack the section. As for the verses themselves, they contain various Greek words and expressions uncommon to Mark, and there are stylistic differences as well. Many think this shows vv. 9–20 to be a later addition. In summary, vv. 9–20 should be read with caution. As in many translations, the editors of the ESV have placed the section within brackets, showing their doubts as to whether it was originally part of what Mark wrote. Most of the content of these verses is found elsewhere in the NT, and no point of doctrine is affected by their absence or presence. Verse 18 does not command believers to pick up serpents or to drink deadly poison; it merely promises protection if such a thing were to occur (see Acts 28:3–4; James 5:13–16).

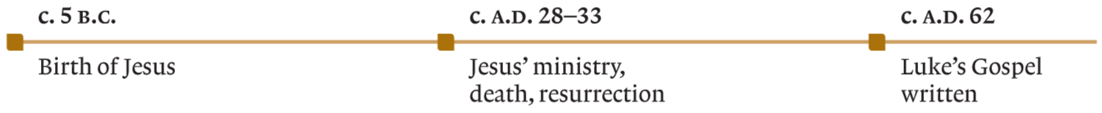
Introduction to Luke

Introduction to Luke

Timeline



Author, Date, and Recipients

Luke was a physician (Col. 4:14) and a travel companion of the apostle Paul. He wrote this Gospel and its sequel, the book of Acts. The earliest possible date of Luke–Acts is immediately after the events that Luke recorded in Acts 28, which would have been c. A.D. 62. Both Luke and Acts are addressed to "Theophilus" (Luke 1:3; Acts 1:1), about whom nothing more is known. Luke's broader audience consisted primarily of Gentile Christians like Theophilus who had already "been taught" (Luke 1:4) about Jesus.

Theme

The gospel is for all, Jews and Gentiles alike, since Jesus is the promised one of God as prophesied in the OT and as seen in God's saving activity in Jesus' life, death, and resurrection. The Christian traditions Luke's readers have received are true; by believing in Jesus Christ, the Son of God, they will receive the promised Holy Spirit whom he gives to all who follow him.

Purpose

Luke probably had several goals in writing: (1) to assure his readers of the truth of what they had been taught; (2) to help them understand how Israel's rejection of Jesus and the Gentiles' entrance into the kingdom of God are part of God's plan; (3) to clarify that Jesus did not teach that his bodily return would come immediately but that there would be a period between his resurrection and his return; and (4) to emphasize that they need not fear any mere earthly power such as Rome.

Key Themes

1. God’s sovereign rule over history (13:33; 22:22, 42).
2. The arrival and actual presence (though not yet the completion) of the kingdom of God (11:2; 17:20–21; 21:34–36).
3. The coming and presence of the Holy Spirit for Jesus and his followers (1:15–17, 35; 2:25–27; 3:16, 22; 4:1, 18; 24:49).
4. The great reversal taking place in the world, in which the first are becoming last and the last are becoming first, the proud are being brought low and the humble are being exalted (1:48; 6:20–26; 13:30; 14:11).
5. Believers are to live a life of prayer and practice good stewardship with their possessions (6:12; 9:28–29; 11:1–4; 12:33–34; 18:1; 22:40).
6. The danger of riches (6:20–26; 8:14; 12:13–21; 16:10–13, 19–31).

The Setting of Luke

The events in the book of Luke take place almost entirely within the vicinity of Palestine, an area extending roughly from Caesarea Philippi in the north to Beersheba in the south. During this time it was ruled by the Roman Empire. The opening chapters describe events surrounding Jesus’ birth in Judea, where Herod had been appointed king by the Romans. The closing chapters end with Jesus’ death, resurrection, and ascension during the rule of Pontius Pilate and the tetrarchs Antipas and Philip.

The Global Message of Luke

"The Son of Man came to seek and to save the lost" (Luke 19:10). With these closing words to Zacchaeus, a chief tax collector and a man deeply despised by his fellow Jews, Jesus states the message of Luke to the global church today. Christ did not come for the clean and the religious, the upright and the educated—he came for those who know themselves to be lost. Throughout Luke we see Jesus welcoming outsiders into the blessings of grace, while those who appear to be insiders are shut out.

This is great hope to those around the world today who feel themselves to be outsiders. It is also a reminder to those who are taking the gospel to the nations that it is generally the socially and culturally marginalized who will be most readily drawn to the gospel. Above all, Luke's Gospel is a call to everyone around the world, whatever our social or moral status, to abandon our futile methods of self-salvation and leave all to follow Christ, the great Friend of sinners (Luke 7:34; 9:57–62; 18:9–14).

Luke and Redemptive History

At the beginning of history, two people ate food offered to them by Satan, their eyes were opened, and the whole human race was plunged into sin and death (Gen. 3:6–7). At the climax of history, two people ate food offered to them by Christ, their eyes were opened, and they saw who Christ was and the new age that was dawning in him (Luke 24:30–32). This prophecy-fulfilling restoration of God's people—people who now come from surprising places, cultures, and social spheres—is the role Luke's Gospel fills in redemptive history.

Placed against the backdrop of the whole Bible, Luke's Gospel shows us that the one for whom God's people had been waiting so long had finally come. In him, all the hopes and promises of the Old Testament were coming to decisive fulfillment. He was the true Son of God (Luke 4:41; 22:70–71) who, unlike Adam, God's first son (3:38), walked faithfully with God. He was the true Israel, who unlike Israel before him passed the test in the wilderness (4:1–13). After generations of sin, failure, and finally exile, One had come who would bear the punishment for his people and fulfill the ancient promises. The people would be restored to God. This was the One about whom the entire Old Testament spoke (24:27, 44).

This restoration is for all people in all places around the world. After his resurrection, Jesus tells his disciples that they are his witnesses and that "repentance and forgiveness of sins should be proclaimed in his name to all nations" (Luke 24:47). This global mandate to preach the gospel to all nations will be empowered and begun when the disciples are "clothed with power from on high" (24:49). This happens when the Holy Spirit is poured out in Acts 2 and the gospel begins to flood out to diverse people groups (Acts 2:5–11). The promise given to Abraham that he would be a blessing to all the families of the earth is finally coming true (Gen. 12:1–3).

Universal Themes in Luke

God's heart for the poor and needy. An important event in Luke's Gospel takes place right at the start of Jesus' ministry. Jesus reads the following statement from Isaiah and identifies himself as this statement's fulfillment: "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim liberty to the captives and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed, to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor" (Luke 4:18–19; quoting Isa. 61:1–2). Throughout Luke we then see the social and cultural reversals that take place as insiders are unconcerned about who Jesus is and what he is doing while outsiders are drawn to and understand Jesus. Time and again, long-held assumptions about Jew and Gentile, rich and poor, educated and ignorant, moral and immoral, are inverted. Luke drives home God's great love for those who are marginalized (e.g., Luke 1:48, 52–53; 6:20–26; 13:30; 14:11; 18:9–14).

The Holy Spirit. The Spirit is emphasized more in Luke than in any other Gospel, and this emphasis is then picked up and expanded in Acts (also written by Luke). Around the world today the Spirit is alive and active in places not traditionally associated with Christianity. Indeed, the Holy Spirit does not favor the educated, culturally sophisticated, or historically Christian regions of the world. The Spirit does not need our human cleverness or ingenuity. Rather, the Spirit is drawn to all whose hearts are open to God and his grace (Luke 11:13).

The danger of money. In Luke's Gospel Jesus pronounces severe woes on those who love money, yet he blesses those who are poor and therefore recognize their need (Luke 6:20–26; 8:14; 12:13–21; 16:10–13, 19–31; 18:22). Amid the ongoing gap between the upper and lower classes around the globe, as well as a frequently unstable world economy, Christians must pay special heed to Jesus' teaching on money. Believers with many possessions must constantly examine their hearts to see where their hope and security lies. Above all they must remember the gracious wealth of grace that has been given to them through Christ's self-giving (2 Cor. 8:9), and respond in joyful gratitude and love.

The Global Message of Luke for Today

The marketplace of ideas is increasingly global, and cross-fertilization of cultures has never taken place so easily. Yet it has never been easier to feel small and insignificant amid the blur of modern activity, today's media with its big personalities, and the continuing population growth in some parts of the world. Such feelings of insignificance are acutely painful because we are made in God's image and are hungry to experience the glory we were originally destined for (Gen. 1:26–28; Isa. 43:6–7; Rom. 1:23; 2:7; 3:23).

Luke's Gospel confronts us, however, with the pervasive reminder that it is precisely to such felt insignificance, such smallness, that God is drawn. He has a great heart for the marginalized. As Mary prayed, "he has brought down the mighty from their thrones and exalted those of humble estate; he has filled the hungry with good things, and the rich he has sent away empty" (Luke 1:52–53). Throughout Luke, Jesus befriends the Samaritans, the poor, the outcasts, the tax collectors, those on the social or cultural periphery.

This is who God is. In Christ, the Friend of sinners, God is attracted to those who feel themselves least attractive. The grace of the gospel qualifies those who feel themselves most unqualified.

As we, his people, receive this grace, we work earnestly to eradicate sickness, destitution, and earthly discomfort. The mercy we have received vertically should extend itself out horizontally in tangible acts of sacrificial love to our neighbors. Above all, however, we must heed Jesus' parting words, and speak repentance and forgiveness to all nations (Luke 24:47)—thus offering not only earthly comfort but eternal comfort, with Christ himself, in the new earth.

Dedication to Theophilus

LUKE 1 [†]Inasmuch as many have undertaken to compile a narrative of the things that [a]have been accomplished among us, [2][†] [b]just as those who [c]from the beginning were [d]eyewitnesses and [e]ministers of [f]the word [g]have delivered them to us, [3]it seemed good to me also, having followed all things closely for some time past, to write [h]an orderly account for you, [i]most excellent [j]Theophilus, [4]that you may have [k]certainty concerning the things [l]you have been taught.

Birth of John the Baptist Foretold

[5][†] [m]In the days of Herod, king of Judea, there was a priest named Zechariah, [1] [n]of [o]the division of Abijah. And he had a wife from the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth. [6]And they were both [p]righteous before God, walking [q]blamelessly in all the commandments and statutes of the Lord. [7]But they had no child, because [r]Elizabeth was barren, and [s]both were advanced in years.

[8]Now [t]while he was serving as priest before God when [u]his division was on duty, [9]according to the custom of the priesthood, he was chosen by lot [v]to enter [w]the temple of the Lord and burn incense. [10]And the whole multitude of the people [x]were praying [y]outside at the hour of incense. [11]And there appeared to him an angel of the Lord standing on the right side of [z]the altar of incense. [12][†]And Zechariah was troubled when he saw him, and [a]fear fell upon him. [13][†]But the angel said to him, “Do not be afraid, Zechariah, for [b]your prayer has been heard, and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and [c]you shall call his name John. [14]And you will have joy and gladness, and many will [d]rejoice at his birth, [15][†]for he will be [e]great before the Lord. And [f]he must not drink wine or strong [g]drink, and [g]he will be [h]filled with the Holy Spirit, [i]even from his mother’s womb. [16][†]And he will turn many of the children of Israel to the Lord their God, [17]and [j]he will go before him [k]in the spirit and power of Elijah, [l]to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and [m] the disobedient to the wisdom of the just, [n] to make ready for the Lord a people prepared.”

18And Zechariah said to the angel, [o] “How shall I know this? For I am an old man, and my wife is advanced in years.” 19[†]And the angel answered him, “I am [p] Gabriel. [q] I stand in the presence of God, and I was sent to speak to you and to bring you this good news. 20And behold, [r] you will be silent and unable to speak until the day that these things take place, because you did not believe my words, which will be fulfilled in their time.” 21And the people were waiting for Zechariah, and they were wondering at his delay in [s] the temple. 22[†]And when he came out, he was unable to speak to them, and they realized that he had seen a vision in [s] the temple. And [t] he kept making signs to them and remained mute. 23And [u] when his time of [v] service was ended, he went to his home.

24[†]After these days his wife Elizabeth conceived, and for five months she kept herself hidden, saying, 25“Thus the Lord has done for me in the days when he looked on me, [w] to take away my reproach among people.”

Birth of Jesus Foretold

26[†]In the sixth month the angel [x] Gabriel was sent from God to a city of Galilee named [y] Nazareth, 27[†] [z] to a virgin betrothed [2] to a man whose name was Joseph, [a] of the house of David. And the virgin’s name was Mary.
28And he came to her and said, “Greetings, [b] O favored one, [c] the Lord is with you!” [3] 29But [d] she was greatly troubled at the saying, and tried to discern what sort of greeting this might be. 30And the angel said to her, “Do not be afraid, Mary, for [e] you have found favor with God. 31And behold, [f] you will conceive in your womb and bear a son, and [g] you shall call his name Jesus. 32[†]He will be great and will be called the Son of [h] the Most High. And the Lord God [i] will give to him the throne of [j] his father David, 33and he will reign over the house of Jacob [k] forever, and of his kingdom there will be no end.”

34And Mary said to the angel, “How will this be, since I am a virgin?” [4]

35[†]And the angel answered her, [l] “The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of [h] the Most High will overshadow you; therefore the child to be born [5] will be called [m] holy—[n] the Son of God. [36]And behold, your relative Elizabeth in her old age has also conceived a son, and this is the sixth month with her [o] who was called barren. [37]For [p] nothing will be impossible with God.” [38]And Mary said, “Behold, I am the servant [6] of the Lord; let it be to me according to your word.” And [q] the angel departed from her.

Mary Visits Elizabeth

[39][†]In those days Mary arose and went with haste into [r] the hill country, to a town in Judah, [40]and she entered the house of Zechariah and greeted Elizabeth. [41]And when Elizabeth heard the greeting of Mary, the baby leaped in her womb. And Elizabeth [s] was filled with the Holy Spirit, [42]and she exclaimed with a loud cry, [t] “Blessed are you among women, and [u] blessed is [v] the fruit of your womb! [43]And why is this granted to me that the mother of [w] my Lord should come to me? [44][†]For behold, when the sound of your greeting came to my ears, the baby in my womb leaped for joy. [45]And [x] blessed is she who believed that there would be [7] a fulfillment of what was spoken to her from the Lord.”

Mary’s Song of Praise: The Magnificat

[46][†]And Mary said,

[y] “My [z] soul [a] magnifies the Lord,
  [47] [b] and my [z] spirit rejoices in [c] God my Savior, [48][†] for [d] he has looked on the humble estate of his servant.
  For behold, from now on all generations [e] will call me blessed;
[49] for [f] he who is mighty [g] has done great things for me, and [h] holy is his name.
[50][†] And [i] his mercy is for those who fear him from generation to generation.
[51] [j] He has shown strength with his arm;
  [k] he has scattered the proud in the thoughts of their hearts;
[52] [j] he has brought down the mighty from their thrones

[l] and exalted those of humble estate;
[53] he has filled [m] the hungry with good things, and the rich [n] he has sent away empty.
[54] He has [o] helped [p] his servant Israel,
[q] in remembrance of his mercy,
[55] [r] as he spoke to our fathers,
[q] to Abraham and to his offspring forever.”

[56] And Mary remained with her about three months and returned to her home.

The Birth of John the Baptist

[57] Now the time came for Elizabeth to give birth, and she bore a son. [58] [†] And her neighbors and relatives heard that the Lord [s] had shown great mercy to her, and they rejoiced with her. [59] [†] And [t] on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child. And they would have called him Zechariah after his father, [60] [†] but his mother answered, “No; [u] he shall be called John.” [61] And they said to her, “None of your relatives is called by this name.” [62] [†] And [v] they made signs to his father, inquiring what he wanted him to be called. [63] And he asked for [w] a writing tablet and wrote, [u] “His name is John.” And they all wondered. [64] [x] And immediately his mouth was opened and his tongue [y] loosed, and he spoke, [z] blessing God. [65] And [a] fear came on all their neighbors. And all these things were talked about through all [b] the hill country of Judea, [66] and all who heard them [c] laid them up in their hearts, saying, “What then will this child be?” For [d] the hand of the Lord was with him.

Zechariah’s Prophecy

[67] [†] And his father Zechariah [e] was filled with the Holy Spirit and [f] prophesied, saying,

[68] [†] [g] “Blessed be the Lord [h] God of Israel, for he has [i] visited and [j] redeemed his people

[69][†] and [k] has raised up [l] a horn of salvation for us
[m] in the house of his servant David,
[70][†] [n] as [o] he spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets from of old, [71] [p] that we should be saved from our enemies and from the hand of all who hate us;
[72] [q] to show the mercy promised to our fathers and [r] to remember his holy [s] covenant, [73] [t] the oath that he swore to our father Abraham, to grant us [74] that we, being delivered from the hand of our enemies, might serve him [u] without fear,
[75] [v] in holiness and righteousness before him [w] all our days.
[76][†] And you, child, will be called [x] the prophet of [y] the Most High;
for [z] you will go before the Lord to prepare his ways, [77] to give knowledge of salvation to his people
[a] in the forgiveness of their sins,
[78][†] because of the [b] tender mercy of our God, whereby [c] the sunrise shall [d] visit us [8] [e] from on high [79] to [f] give light to [g] those who sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into [h] the way of [i] peace."

[80][†][j] And the child grew and became strong in spirit, and he was [k] in the wilderness until the day of his public appearance to Israel.

The Birth of Jesus Christ

LUKE 2 [†]In those days [l] a decree went out from [m] Caesar Augustus that all the world should be [n] registered. [2][†]This was the first [n] registration when [1] Quirinius [o] was governor of Syria. [3][†]And all went to be registered, each to his own town. [4]And Joseph also went up [p] from Galilee, from the town of [q] Nazareth, to Judea, to [r] the city of David, which is called [s] Bethlehem, [t] because he was of the house and lineage of David, [5]to be registered with Mary, his betrothed, [2] who was with child. [6][†]And [t] while they were there, the time came for her to give birth. [7][†]And she gave birth to her firstborn son and [u]wrapped him in swaddling cloths and [v]laid him in a manger, because there was no place for them in [w]the inn.

The Shepherds and the Angels

[8]And in the same region there were shepherds out in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. [9][†]And an angel of the Lord [x]appeared to them, and [y]the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were filled with great fear. [10][†]And the angel said to them, “Fear not, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all [z]the people. [11][†]For [a]unto you is born this day in [b]the city of David [c]a Savior, who is [d]Christ [e]the Lord. [12]And [f]this will be a sign for you: you will find a baby [g]wrapped in swaddling cloths and lying in a manger.” [13][†]And suddenly there was with the angel [h]a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying,

> [14][†] [i]“Glory to God [j]in the highest,
> [j]and on earth [k]peace [l]among those with whom he is pleased!” [3]

[15]When the angels went away from them into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, “Let us go over to Bethlehem and see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us.” [16]And they went with haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the baby [m]lying in a manger. [17]And when they saw it, they made known the saying that had been told them concerning this child. [18]And all who heard it wondered at what the shepherds told them. [19]But [n]Mary treasured up all these things, pondering them in her heart. [20]And the shepherds returned, [o]glorifying and praising God for all they had heard and seen, as it had been told them.

[21][†]And [p]at the end of eight days, when he was circumcised, [q]he was called Jesus, the name given by the angel before he was conceived in the womb.

Jesus Presented at the Temple

[22][†]And [r]when the time came for their purification according to the Law of Moses, they brought him up to Jerusalem [s]to present him to the Lord

23(as it is written in [t]the Law of the Lord, [u]“Every male who first opens the womb shall be called holy to the Lord”) 24[†]and to offer a sacrifice according to what is said in [t]the Law of the Lord, [v]“a pair of turtledoves, or two young pigeons.” 25[†]Now there was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon, and this man was [w]righteous and [x]devout, [y]waiting for [z]the consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him. 26And it had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not [a]see death before he had seen [b]the Lord’s Christ. 27[†]And he came in the Spirit into the temple, and when [c]the parents brought in the child Jesus, to do for him according to the custom of the Law, 28he took him up in his arms and [d]blessed God and said, 29 “Lord, now you are letting your servant [4] depart [e]in peace,

[f]according to your word;
30[†] for [g]my eyes have seen your [h]salvation
31 [i]that you have prepared in the presence of all peoples, 32 [j]a light for revelation to the Gentiles, and [k]for glory to [l]your people Israel.”

33And [m]his father and his mother marveled at what was said about him. 34[†]And Simeon blessed them and said to Mary his mother, “Behold, this child is appointed [n]for the fall and rising of many in Israel, and for a sign [o]that is opposed 35(and a sword will pierce through your own soul also), so that thoughts from many hearts may be revealed.”

36And there was [p]a prophetess, Anna, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher. She was advanced in years, having lived with her husband seven years from when she was a virgin, 37and then as a widow until she was eighty-four. [5] She did not depart from the temple, [q]worshiping with [r]fasting and prayer night and day. 38And coming up at that very hour she began to give thanks to God and to speak of him to all who were [s]waiting for the redemption of Jerusalem.

The Return to Nazareth

39[†]And when they had performed everything according to [t]the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee, to their own town of [u]Nazareth.

40[†] [v]And the child grew and became strong, filled with wisdom. And the favor of God was upon him.

The Boy Jesus in the Temple

41[†]Now [w]his parents went [x]to Jerusalem every year at [y]the Feast of the Passover. 42And when he was twelve years old, [z]they went up according to custom. 43[†]And when the feast [a]was ended, as they were returning, the boy Jesus stayed behind in Jerusalem. [w]His parents did not know it, 44but supposing him to be in the group they went a day’s journey, but then they began to search for him among their relatives and acquaintances, 45and when they did not find him, they returned to Jerusalem, searching for him. 46[†]After three days they found him in the temple, [b]sitting among [c]the teachers, listening to them and asking them questions. 47And all who heard him were amazed at his understanding and his answers. 48And when his parents [6] saw him, they were astonished. And his mother said to him, “Son, why have you treated us so? Behold, [d]your father and I have been searching for you in great distress.” 49[†]And he said to them, “Why were you looking for me? Did you not know that [e]I must be in [f]my Father’s house?” [7] 50[†]And [g]they did not understand the saying that he spoke to them. 51[†]And he went down with them and came to Nazareth and was submissive to them. And [h]his mother treasured up all these things in her heart.

52[†]And Jesus [i]increased in wisdom and in stature [8] and in [i]favor with God and man.

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

LUKE 3 [†]In the fifteenth year of the reign of [j] Tiberius Caesar, [k] Pontius Pilate [l] being governor of Judea, and [m] Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip tetrarch of the region of Ituraea and Trachonitis, and Lysanias tetrarch of Abilene, [2][†]during [n] the high priesthood of Annas and [o] Caiaphas, [p] the word of God came to [q] John the son of Zechariah in [r] the wilderness. [3][†]And he went into all the region around the Jordan, proclaiming [s] a baptism of repentance [t] for the forgiveness of sins. [4][†]As it is written in [u] the book of the words of Isaiah the prophet,

[v] "The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
[w] 'Prepare the way of the Lord, [1]
make his paths straight.
[5] [x] Every valley shall be filled,
[y] and every mountain and hill shall be made low,
[z] and the crooked shall become straight, and the rough places shall become level ways,
[6][†] [a] and all flesh shall see [b] the salvation of God.'"

[7][†]He said therefore to the crowds that came out to be baptized by him, [c] "You brood of [d] vipers! Who warned you to flee from [e] the wrath to come? [8][†]Bear fruits [f] in keeping with repentance. And do not begin to say to yourselves, [g] 'We have Abraham as our father.' For I tell you, God is able from [h] these stones to raise up children for Abraham. [9][†]Even now the axe is laid to the root of the trees. [i] Every tree therefore that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire."

[10][†]And the crowds asked him, [j] "What then shall we do?" [11][†]And he answered them, [k] "Whoever has two tunics [2] is to share with him who has none, and whoever has food is to do likewise." [12][†] [l] Tax collectors also came to be baptized and said to him, "Teacher, [j] what shall we do?" [13]And he said to them, [m] "Collect no more than you are authorized to do." [14]Soldiers also asked him, "And we, [j] what shall we do?" And he said to them, [m]“Do not extort money from anyone by threats or by false accusation, and be content with your [n]wages.”

[15]As the people were in expectation, and all were questioning in their hearts concerning John, [o]whether he might be [p]the Christ, [16][†][q]John answered them all, saying, “I baptize you with water, but [r]he who is mightier than I is coming, [s]the strap of whose sandals I am not worthy to untie. He will baptize you [t]with the Holy Spirit and [u]fire. [17][†]His [v]winnowing fork is in his hand, to clear his threshing floor and to [w]gather the wheat into his barn, [x]but the chaff he will burn with [y]unquenchable fire.”

[18][†]So [z]with many other exhortations he preached good news to the people. [19]But [a]Herod the tetrarch, who had been reproved by him for Herodias, his brother’s wife, and for all the evil things that Herod had done, [20]added this to them all, that [b]he locked up John in prison.

[21][†]Now when all the people were baptized, and when [c]Jesus also had been baptized and was praying, [d]the heavens were opened, [22][†]and [e]the Holy Spirit descended on him in bodily form, like a dove; and [f]a voice came from heaven, [g]“You are my beloved Son; [3] with you I am well pleased.” [4]

The Genealogy of Jesus Christ

[23][†]Jesus, [h]when he began his ministry, was about [i]thirty years of age, being [j]the son (as was supposed) of Joseph, the son of Heli, [24]the son of Matthat, the son of Levi, the son of Melchi, the son of Jannai, the son of Joseph, [25]the son of Mattathias, the son of Amos, the son of Nahum, the son of Esli, the son of Naggai, [26]the son of Maath, the son of Mattathias, the son of Semein, the son of Josech, the son of Joda, [27]the son of Joanan, the son of Rhesa, [k]the son of Zerubbabel, the son [l]of Shealtiel, [5] the son of Neri, [28]the son of Melchi, the son of Addi, the son of Cosam, the son of Elmadam, the son of Er, [29]the son of Joshua, the son of Eliezer, the son of Jorim, the son of Matthat, the son of Levi, [30]the son of Simeon, the son of Judah, the son of Joseph, the son of Jonam, the son of Eliakim, [31]the son of Melea, the son of Menna, the son of Mattatha, the son of [m]Nathan, the son

LUKE 4 [s]And Jesus, [t]full of the Holy Spirit, [u]returned from the Jordan and was led [v]by the Spirit in the wilderness [2][†]for [w]forty days, [x]being tempted by the devil. [w]And he ate nothing during those days. And when they were ended, [y]he was hungry. [3][†]The devil said to him, “If you are [z]the Son of God, command [a]this stone to become bread.” [4]And Jesus answered him, [b]“It is written, [c]‘Man shall not live by bread alone.’” [5][†][d]And the devil took him up and showed him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time, [6]and said to him, “To you [e]I will give all this authority and their glory, [e]for it has been delivered to me, and I give it to whom I will. [7]If you, then, will worship me, it will all be yours.” [8]And Jesus answered him, [f]“It is written, > [g]“‘You shall worship the Lord your God, > and [h]him only shall you serve.’”

[9][†][i]And he took him to Jerusalem and set him on the pinnacle of the temple and said to him, “If you are [j]the Son of God, throw yourself down from here, [10]for it is written, > [k]“‘He will command his angels concerning you, > to guard you,’

[11]and

[k]"'On their hands they will bear you up, lest you strike your foot against a stone.'"

[12]And Jesus answered him, "It is said, [l]'You shall not [m]put the Lord your God to the test.'" [13][†]And when the devil had ended every temptation, he departed from him [n]until an opportune time.

Jesus Begins His Ministry

[14] [o]And Jesus returned [p]in the power of the Spirit to Galilee, and [q]a report about him went out through all the surrounding country. [15]And [r]he taught in their synagogues, being glorified by all.

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

[16][†] [s]And he came to [t]Nazareth, where he had been brought up. And [u]as was his custom, [v]he went to the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and he stood up [w]to read. [17][†]And [x]the scroll of the prophet Isaiah was given to him. He unrolled the scroll and found the place where it was written,

[18][†] [y]"The Spirit of the Lord [z]is upon me, because he has anointed me to [a]proclaim good news to the poor.
[b]He has sent me to proclaim liberty to the captives and [c]recovering of sight to the blind,
[d]to set at liberty those who are oppressed,
[19] [e]to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor."

[20]And he rolled up the scroll and gave it back to the attendant and [f]sat down. And the eyes of all in the synagogue were [g]fixed on him. [21]And he began to say to them, "Today [h]this Scripture [i]has been fulfilled in your hearing." [22]And all spoke well of him and marveled at [j]the gracious words that were coming from his mouth. And they said, [k]"Is not this [l]Joseph's son?" [23]And he said to them, "Doubtless you will quote to me this proverb, [m] ‘Physician, heal yourself.’ What we have heard you did [n] at Capernaum, do here in your hometown as well.” [24][†]And he said, “Truly, I say to you, [o] no prophet is acceptable in his hometown. [25][†]But in truth, I tell you, there were many widows in Israel in the days of Elijah, when [p] the heavens were shut up three years and six months, and a great famine came over all the land, [26]and Elijah was sent to none of them [q] but only to Zarephath, in the land of Sidon, to a woman who was a widow. [27]And [r] there were many lepers [1] in Israel in the time of the prophet Elisha, and none of them was cleansed, [s] but only Naaman the Syrian.” [28][†]When they heard these things, all in the synagogue were filled with wrath. [29]And they rose up and [t] drove him out of the town and brought him to the brow of the hill on which their town was built, so that they could throw him down the cliff. [30][†]But [u] passing through their midst, he went away.

Jesus Heals a Man with an Unclean Demon

[31] [v] And he [w] went down to Capernaum, a city of Galilee. And [x] he was teaching them [y] on the Sabbath, [32][†]and [z] they were astonished at his teaching, [z] for his word possessed authority. [33]And [x] in the synagogue there was a man who had the spirit of an unclean demon, and he cried out with a loud voice, [34][†]“Ha! [2] [a] What have you to do with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? [b] I know who you are—[c] the Holy One of God.” [35][†]But Jesus [d] rebuked him, saying, “Be silent and come out of him!” And when the demon had thrown him down in their midst, he came out of him, having done him no harm. [36][†]And [e] they were all amazed and said to one another, “What is this word? [e] For with authority and power he commands the unclean spirits, and they come out!” [37]And [f] reports about him went out into every place in the surrounding region.

Jesus Heals Many

[38][†] [g] And he arose and left the synagogue and entered Simon’s house. Now [h] Simon’s mother-in-law was ill with a high fever, and they appealed to him on her behalf. [39]And he stood over her and [i] rebuked the fever, and it left her, and immediately she rose and began to serve them.

[40][†]Now when the sun was setting, all those who had any who were sick with various diseases brought them to him, and [j]he laid his hands on every one of them and healed them. [41][†][k]And demons also came out of many, [l]crying, “You are [m]the Son of God!” But he rebuked them and [k]would not allow them to speak, because they knew that he was [n]the Christ.

Jesus Preaches in Synagogues

[42][†][o]And when it was day, he departed and went [p]into a desolate place. And [q]the people sought him and came to him, and would have kept him from leaving them, [43]but he said to them, [r]“I must [s]preach the good news of the kingdom of God to the other towns as well; for I was sent for this purpose.” [44]And he was preaching [t]in the synagogues of Judea. [3]

Jesus Calls the First Disciples

LUKE 5 [†]On one occasion, while the crowd was pressing in on him to hear the word of God, he was standing by [u]the lake of Gennesaret, [2][v]and he saw two boats by the lake, but the fishermen had gone out of them and were [w]washing their nets. [3][†]Getting into one of the boats, which was Simon’s, he asked him to put out a little from the land. And [x]he sat down and taught the people from the boat. [4]And when he had finished speaking, he said to Simon, [y]“Put out into the deep and let down your nets for a catch.” [5]And Simon answered, “Master, [z]we toiled all night and took nothing! But at your word I will let down the nets.” [6]And when they had done this, [a]they enclosed a large number of fish, and [a]their nets were breaking. [7]They signaled to their partners in the other boat to come and help them. [b]And they came and filled both the boats, so that they began to sink. [8][†]But when Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus’ knees, saying, [c]“Depart from me, for [d]I am a sinful man, O Lord.” [9]For he and all who were with him were astonished at the catch of fish that they had taken, [10][†]and so also were James and John, sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said to Simon, “Do not be afraid; from now on you will be catching men.” [1] [11]And when they had brought their boats to land, [e]they left everything and followed him.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

[12][†]While he was in one of the cities, [f]there came a man full of leprosy. [2] And when he saw Jesus, he [g]fell on his face and begged him, “Lord, [h]if you will, you can make me clean.” [13][†]And Jesus [3] stretched out his hand and touched him, saying, “I will; be clean.” And immediately the leprosy left him. [14][†]And he charged him [i]to tell no one, but “go and show [j]yourself to the priest, and [k]make an offering for your cleansing, as Moses commanded, [l]for a proof to them.” [15][†] [m]But now even more the report about him went abroad, and great crowds gathered to hear him and to be healed of their infirmities. [16][†]But [n]he would withdraw to desolate places and [n]pray.

Jesus Heals a Paralytic

[17][†]On one of those days, as he was teaching, Pharisees and [o]teachers of the law were sitting there, who had come from every village of Galilee and Judea and from Jerusalem. And [p]the power of the Lord was with him to heal. [4] [18] [q]And behold, some men were bringing [r]on a bed a man who was paralyzed, and they were seeking to bring him in and lay him before Jesus, [19][†]but finding no way to bring him in, because of the crowd, they went up on [s]the roof and let him down with his bed [t]through the tiles into the midst before Jesus. [20][†]And [u]when he saw their faith, he said, “Man, [v]your sins are forgiven you.” [21][†]And the scribes and the Pharisees began to question, saying, “Who is this who speaks [w]blasphemies? [x]Who can forgive sins but God alone?” [22]When Jesus [y]perceived their thoughts, he answered them, “Why do you question in your hearts? [23][†]Which is easier, to say, ‘Your sins are forgiven you,’ or to say, ‘Rise and walk’? [24]But that you may know that [z]the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins”—he said to the man who was paralyzed—“I say to you, rise, pick up your bed and go home.” [25]And immediately he rose up before them and picked up what he had been lying on and went home, [a]glorifying God. [26]And amazement seized them all, and they [a]glorified God and were filled [a]with awe, saying, “We have seen extraordinary things today.”

Jesus Calls Levi

[27][†] [b] After this he went out and saw [c] a tax collector named [d] Levi, sitting at the tax booth. And he said to him, “Follow me.” [28]And [e] leaving everything, he rose and followed him.

[29]And Levi made him a great feast in his house, and there was a large company [f] of tax collectors and others reclining at table with them. [30][†]And the Pharisees and [g] their scribes grumbled at his disciples, saying, [h] “Why do you eat and drink with tax collectors and sinners?” [31][†]And Jesus answered them, “Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. [32] [i] I have not come to call the righteous [j] but sinners [k] to repentance.”

A Question About Fasting

[33][†]And they said to him, [l] “The disciples of John [m] fast often and [m] offer prayers, [n] and so do the disciples of the Pharisees, but yours eat and drink.” [34]And Jesus said to them, [o] “Can you make wedding guests fast while the bridegroom is with them? [35][†] [p] The days will come when the bridegroom is taken away from them, and [q] then they will fast in those days.” [36][†]He also told them a parable: “No one tears a piece from a new garment and puts it on an old garment. If he does, he will tear the new, and the piece from the new will not match the old. [37]And no one puts new wine into old [r] wineskins. If he does, the new wine will burst the skins and it will be spilled, and the skins will be destroyed. [38]But new wine must be put into fresh wineskins. [39]And no one after drinking old wine desires new, for he says, ‘The old is good.’” [5]

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

LUKE 6 [†] [s] On a Sabbath, [1] while he was going through the grainfields, his disciples [t] plucked and ate some heads of grain, rubbing them in their hands. [2][†]But some of the Pharisees said, [u] “Why are you doing [v] what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath?” [3][†]And Jesus answered them, [w] “Have you not read [x] what David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him: [4]how he entered the house of God and took and ate [y] the bread of the Presence, [y]which is not lawful for any but the priests to eat, and also gave it to those with him?” [5][†]And he said to them, [z]“The Son of Man is lord of the Sabbath.”

A Man with a Withered Hand

[6]On another Sabbath, [a]he entered the synagogue [b]and was teaching, and a man was there whose right hand was withered. [7][†]And the scribes and the Pharisees [c]watched him, to see whether he would heal on the Sabbath, [d]so that they might find a reason to accuse him. [8][†]But [e]he knew their thoughts, and he said to the man with the withered hand, “Come and stand here.” And he rose and stood there. [9]And Jesus said to them, “I ask you, [f]is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do harm, to save life or to destroy it?” [10][†]And [g]after looking around at them all he said to him, “Stretch out your hand.” And [h]he did so, and his hand was restored. [11][†]But they were filled with [i]fury and discussed with one another what they might do to Jesus.

The Twelve Apostles

[12][†]In these days [j]he went out to the mountain to pray, and all night he continued in prayer to God. [13]And when day came, [k]he called his disciples [l]and [m]chose from them twelve, whom he named [n]apostles: [14][†]Simon, [o]whom he named Peter, and [p]Andrew his brother, and [p]James and John, and Philip, and Bartholomew, [15][†]and [q]Matthew, and Thomas, and James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon who was called [r]the Zealot, [16][†]and [s]Judas the son of James, and Judas Iscariot, who became a traitor.

Jesus Ministers to a Great Multitude

[17][†]And [t]he came down with them and stood on a level place, with [u]a great crowd of his disciples and a great multitude of people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the seacoast of [v]Tyre and Sidon, [18][†]who came to hear him and to be healed of their diseases. [w]And those who were troubled with unclean spirits were cured. [19]And all the crowd [x]sought to touch him, for [y]power came out from him and healed them all.

The Beatitudes

[20][†]And [z]he lifted up his eyes on his disciples, [a]and said:

“Blessed are you who are poor, for [b]yours is the kingdom of God.

[21][†][c]“Blessed are you who are hungry now, for you shall be satisfied.

[d]“Blessed are you who weep now, for you shall laugh.

[22]“Blessed are you when [e]people hate you and when they [f]exclude you and revile you and [g]spurn your name as evil, [h]on account of the Son of Man! [23][i]Rejoice in that day, and leap for joy, for behold, your reward is great in heaven; for [j]so their fathers did to the prophets.

Jesus Pronounces Woes

[24][†][k]“But woe to you who are rich, [l]for you [m]have received your consolation.

[25][†]“Woe to you who are full now, for [n]you shall be hungry.

“Woe to [o]you who laugh now, [o]for you shall mourn and weep.

[26][†]“Woe to you, [p]when all people speak well of you, for [q]so their fathers did to [r]the false prophets.

Love Your Enemies

[27]“But I say to you who hear, [s]Love your enemies, [t]do good to those who hate you, [28][†][u]bless those who curse you, [s]pray for those who abuse you. [29][†][v]To one who [w]strikes you on the cheek, offer the other also, and from one who takes away your cloak do not withhold your tunic [2] either. [30][†][x]Give to everyone who begs from you, and from one who takes away your goods do not demand them back. [31][†]And [y]as you wish that others would do to you, do so to them.

[32][z]“If you love those who love you, what benefit is that to you? For even sinners love those who love them. [33]And if you do good to those who do good to you, what benefit is that to you? For even sinners do the same. [34]And [a]if you [b]lend to those from whom you expect to receive, what credit is that to you? Even sinners lend to sinners, to get back the same amount. [35][†]But [c]love your enemies, and do good, and lend, expecting nothing in return, and your reward will be great, and [d]you will be sons of [e]the Most High, for [f]he is kind to the ungrateful and the evil. [36][g]Be merciful, even as [h]your Father is merciful.

Judging Others

[37][†][i][j]“Judge not, and you will not be judged; condemn not, and you will not be condemned; [j]forgive, and you will be forgiven; [38][k]give, and it will be given to you. Good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, will be put [l]into your lap. For [m]with the measure you use it will be measured back to you.”

[39][†]He also told them a parable: [n]“Can a blind man lead a blind man? Will they not both fall into a pit? [40][†][o]A disciple is not above his teacher, but everyone when he is [p]fully trained will be like his teacher. [41][†][i]Why do you see the speck that is in your brother’s eye, but [q]do not notice the log that is in your own eye? [42]How can you say to your brother, ‘Brother, let me take out the speck that is in your eye,’ when you yourself do not see the log that is in your own eye? You hypocrite, first take the log out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly to take out the speck that is in your brother’s eye.

A Tree and Its Fruit

[43][†]“For [r]no good tree bears bad fruit, nor again does a bad tree bear good fruit, [44]for [s]each tree is known by its own fruit. For figs are not gathered from thornbushes, nor are grapes picked from a bramble bush. [45][t]The good person out of the good treasure of his heart produces good, and the evil person out of his evil treasure produces [u]evil, [v]for out of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaks.

Build Your House on the Rock

[46][w]“Why [x]do you call me ‘Lord, Lord,’ and not do what I tell you?
[47][y]Everyone who comes to me and hears my words and does them, I will show you what he is like: [48]he is like a man building a house, who dug deep and laid the foundation on the rock. And when a flood arose, the stream broke against that house and could not shake it, because it had been well built. [3] 49 [z] But the one who hears and does not do them is like a man who built a house on the ground without a foundation. When the stream broke against it, immediately it fell, and [a] the ruin of that house was great.”

Jesus Heals a Centurion's Servant

LUKE 7 [†]After he had finished all his sayings in the hearing of the people, [b]he entered Capernaum. [2][†]Now a centurion had a servant [1] who was sick and at the point of death, who was highly valued by him. [3][†]When the centurion [2] heard about Jesus, [c]he sent to him elders of the Jews, asking him to come and heal his servant. [4]And when they came to Jesus, they pleaded with him earnestly, saying, [d]"He is worthy to have you do this for him, [5]for he loves our nation, and he is the one who built us [e]our synagogue." [6]And Jesus went with them. When he was not far from the house, the centurion sent friends, saying to him, "Lord, [f]do not trouble yourself, for I am not worthy to have you come under my roof. [7]Therefore I did not presume to come to you. But [g]say the word, and let my servant be healed. [8]For I too am a man set under authority, with soldiers under me: and I say to one, 'Go,' and he goes; and to another, 'Come,' and he comes; and to my servant, 'Do this,' and he does it." [9][†]When Jesus heard these things, [h]he marveled at him, and turning to the crowd that followed him, said, "I tell you, not even in Israel have I found such [i]faith." [10]And when those who had been sent returned to the house, they found the servant well.

Jesus Raises a Widow's Son

[11][†]Soon afterward [3] he went to a town called Nain, and his disciples and a great crowd went with him. [12][†]As he drew near to the gate of the town, behold, a man who had died was being carried out, [j]the only son of his mother, and she was a widow, and a considerable crowd from the town was with her. [13]And when the Lord saw her, [k]he had compassion on her and [l]said to her, "Do not weep." [14][†]Then he came up and touched [m]the bier, and the bearers stood still. And he said, "Young man, I say to you, [n]arise." [15][†]And the dead man sat up and began to speak, and Jesus [4] [o]gave him to his mother. [16][†]Fear seized them all, and [p]they glorified God, saying, [q]"A great prophet has arisen among us!" and [r]"God has visited his people!" [17]And this report about him spread through the whole of Judea and all the surrounding country.

Messengers from John the Baptist

[18][†] [s] [t] The disciples of John reported all these things to him. And John, [19][†]calling two of his disciples to him, sent them to the Lord, saying, “Are you the one [u] who is to come, or [v] shall we look for another?” [20]And when the men had come to him, they said, “John the Baptist has sent us to you, saying, ‘Are you the one [u] who is to come, or [v] shall we look for another?’” [21]In that hour [w] he healed many people of diseases and plagues and evil spirits, and [x] on many who were blind he bestowed sight. [22][†]And he answered them, “Go and tell John what you have seen and heard: [y] the blind receive their sight, the lame walk, [z] lepers [5] are cleansed, and [a] the deaf hear, [b] the dead are raised up, [c] the poor have good news preached to them.
[23][†]And blessed is the one who is [d] not offended by me.”

[24]When John’s messengers had gone, Jesus [6] began to speak to the crowds concerning John: “What did you go out [e] into the wilderness to see?
[f] A reed shaken by the wind? [25]What then did you go out to see? A man dressed in soft clothing? Behold, those who are dressed in splendid clothing and live in luxury are in kings’ courts. [26]What then did you go out to see?
[g] A prophet? Yes, I tell you, and more than a prophet. [27]This is he of whom it is written,

> [h] “‘Behold, I send my messenger before your face,
> who will prepare your way before you.’

[28][†]I tell you, among those born of women none is greater than John. Yet the one who is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he.” [29][†]([i] When all the people heard this, and [j] the tax collectors too, they declared God just, [7] [j] having been baptized with [k] the baptism of John, [30] [l] but the Pharisees and [m] the lawyers [n] rejected [o] the purpose of God for themselves, not having been baptized by him.)

[31][†]“To what then shall I compare the people of this generation, and what are they like? [32]They are like children sitting in the marketplace and calling to one another,

> “‘We played the flute for you, and you did not dance;
> we sang a dirge, and you did not weep.’

[33]For John the Baptist has come [p]eating no bread and [q]drinking no wine, and you say, ‘He has a demon.’ [34]The Son of Man has come [r]eating and drinking, and you say, ‘Look at him! A glutton and a drunkard, [s]a friend of tax collectors and sinners!’ [35][†]Yet [t]wisdom is justified by all her children.”

A Sinful Woman Forgiven

[36][†] [u]One of the Pharisees asked him to eat with him, and he went into the Pharisee’s house and reclined at the table. [37][†] [v]And behold, a woman of the city, who was a sinner, when she learned that he was reclining at table in the Pharisee’s house, brought an alabaster flask of ointment, [38]and standing behind him at his feet, weeping, she began to wet his feet with her tears and [w]wiped them with the hair of her head and kissed his feet and anointed them with the ointment. [39][†]Now when the Pharisee who had invited him saw this, he said to himself, “If [x]this man were [y]a prophet, he [z]would have known who and what sort of woman this is who is touching him, for she is a sinner.” [40]And Jesus answering said to him, “Simon, I have something to say to you.” And he answered, “Say it, Teacher.”

[41][†]“A certain moneylender had two debtors. One owed five hundred [a]denarii, and the other fifty. [42][†] [b]When they could not pay, he [c]cancelled the debt of both. Now which of them will love him more?” [43]Simon answered, “The one, I suppose, for whom he cancelled the larger debt.” And he said to him, “You have judged rightly.” [44]Then turning toward the woman he said to Simon, “Do you see this woman? I entered your house; [d]you gave me no water for my feet, but [e]she has wet my feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair. [45][f]You gave me no kiss, but from the time I came in she has not ceased to [g]kiss my feet. [46][h]You did not anoint my head with oil, but she has anointed my feet with ointment. [47][†]Therefore I tell you, her sins, [i]which are many, are forgiven—for she loved much. But he who is forgiven little, loves little.” [48][†]And he said to her, [j]“Your sins are forgiven.” [49]Then those who were at table with him began to say among [8] themselves, [k]“Who is this, who even forgives sins?” [50][†]And he said to the woman, [l]“Your faith has saved you; [m]go in peace.”

Women Accompanying Jesus

LUKE 8 [†]Soon afterward he went on [n]through cities and villages, proclaiming and [o]bringing the good news of the kingdom of God. And the twelve were with him, [2][†]and also [p]some women who had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities: [q]Mary, called Magdalene, [r]from whom seven demons had gone out, [3][†]and [s]Joanna, the wife of Chuza, Herod’s household manager, and Susanna, and many others, who provided for them [1] out of their means.

The Parable of the Sower

[4][†] [t]And when a great crowd was gathering and people from town after town came to him, he said in a parable, [5] [u]“A sower went out to sow his seed. And as he sowed, some fell along the path and was trampled underfoot, and the birds of the air devoured it. [6]And some fell on the rock, and as it grew up, [v]it withered away, because it had no moisture. [7]And some fell among [w]thorns, and the thorns grew up with it and choked it. [8]And some fell into good soil and grew and yielded [x]a hundredfold.” As he said these things, he called out, [y]“He who has ears to hear, let him hear.”

The Purpose of the Parables

[9]And when his disciples asked him what this parable meant, [10][†]he said, [z]“To you it has been given to know [a]the secrets of the kingdom of God, but for others they are in parables, so [b]that ‘seeing they may not see, and hearing they may not understand.’ [11] [c]Now the parable is this: The seed is [d]the word of God. [12][†]The ones along the path are those who have heard; then the devil comes and takes away the word from their hearts, so that they may not [e]believe and be saved. [13][†]And the ones on the rock are those who, when they hear the word, receive it [f]with joy. But these have no root; they [g]believe for a while, and in time of testing [h]fall away. [14][†]And as for what fell among the thorns, they are those who hear, but [i]as they go on their way they are choked by the [j]cares and riches and pleasures of life, and their fruit does not mature. [15][†]As for that in the good soil, they are those who, hearing the word, hold it fast in an honest and good heart, and [k]bear fruit [l]with patience.

A Lamp Under a Jar

16[†] [m] [n]“No one after lighting a lamp covers it with a jar or puts it under a bed, but puts it on a stand, so that those who enter may see the light. 17 [o]For nothing is hidden that will not be made manifest, nor is anything secret that will not be known and come to light. 18 [p]Take care then how you hear, [q]for to the one who has, more will be given, and from the one who has not, even what he thinks that he has will be taken away.”

Jesus’ Mother and Brothers

19[†] [r]Then his mother and [s]his brothers came to him, but they could not reach him because of the crowd. 20And he was told, “Your mother and your brothers are standing outside, desiring to see you.” 21But he answered them, “My mother and my brothers are those [t]who hear the word of God and do it.”

Jesus Calms a Storm

22[†] [u]One day he got into a boat with his disciples, and he said to them, “Let us go across to the other side of [v]the lake.” So they set out, 23and as they sailed he fell asleep. And a windstorm came down on [v]the lake, and they were filling with water and were in danger. 24And they went and woke him, saying, “Master, Master, we are perishing!” And he awoke and [w]rebuked the wind and the raging waves, and they ceased, [x]and there was a calm. 25He said to them, “Where is your faith?” And they [y]were afraid, and they [z]marveled, saying to one another, “Who then is this, that [a]he commands even winds and water, and they obey him?”

Jesus Heals a Man with a Demon

26 [b]Then they sailed to the country of the Gerasenes, [2] which is opposite Galilee. 27[†]When Jesus [3] had stepped out on land, there met him a man from the city who had demons. For a long time he had worn no clothes, and he had not lived in a house [c] but among the tombs. [28][†]When he saw Jesus, he [d] cried out and fell down before him and said [d] with a loud voice, “What have you to do with me, Jesus, [e] Son of [f] the Most High God? I beg you, do not torment me.” [29][†]For he had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. (For many a time it had seized him. He was kept under guard and bound with chains and shackles, but he would break the bonds and be driven by the demon [g] into the desert.) [30][†]Jesus then asked him, “What is your name?” And he said, [h] “Legion,” for many demons had entered him. [31][†]And they begged him not to command them to depart into [i] the abyss. [32][†]Now a large herd of pigs was feeding there on the hillside, and they begged him to let them enter these. So he gave them permission. [33]Then the demons came out of the man and entered the pigs, and the herd rushed down the steep bank into [j] the lake and drowned.

[34]When the herdsmen saw what had happened, they fled and told it in the city and in the country. [35][†]Then people went out to see what had happened, and they came to Jesus and found the man from whom the demons had gone, sitting [k] at the feet of Jesus, [l] clothed and in his right mind, and they were afraid. [36][†]And those who had seen it told them how the demon-possessed [4] man had been healed. [37][†]Then all the people of the surrounding country of the Gerasenes [m] asked him to depart from them, for they were seized with great fear. So he got into the boat and returned. [38][†]The man from whom the demons had gone begged that he might be with him, but Jesus sent him away, saying, [39]“Return to your home, and [n] declare how much God has done for you.” And he went away, proclaiming throughout the whole city how much Jesus had done for him.

[40][†]Now when Jesus returned, the crowd [o] welcomed him, for they were all waiting for him. [41][†][p] And there came a man named Jairus, who was [q] a ruler of the synagogue. And falling at Jesus’ feet, he implored him to come to his house, [42]for he had [r] an only daughter, about twelve years of age, and she was dying.

As Jesus went, the people [s] pressed around him. [43][†]And there was a woman [t] who had had a discharge of blood for twelve years, and though she had spent all her [u] living on physicians, [5] she could not be healed by anyone. [44]She came up behind him and touched [v] the fringe of his garment, and [w] immediately her discharge of blood ceased. [45]And Jesus said, “Who was it that touched me?” When all denied it, Peter [6] said, “Master, the crowds surround you and are pressing in on you!” [46]But Jesus said, “Someone touched me, for I perceive that [x] power has gone out from me.” [47][†]And when the woman saw that she was not hidden, she came trembling, and falling down before him declared in the presence of all the people why she had touched him, and how she had been immediately healed. [48][†]And he said to her, “Daughter, [y] your faith has made you well; [y] go in peace.”

[49][†]While he was still speaking, someone from [z] the ruler’s house came and said, “Your daughter is dead; [a] do not trouble [b] the Teacher any more.” [50]But Jesus on hearing this answered him, “Do not fear; only believe, and she will be well.” [51][†]And when he came to the house, he allowed no one to enter with him, except [c] Peter and [d] John and James, and the father and mother of the child. [52][†]And all were weeping and [e] mourning for her, but he [f] said, “Do not weep, for [g] she is not dead but [h] sleeping.” [53]And they laughed at him, knowing that she was dead. [54][†]But [i] taking her by the hand he called, saying, “Child, [j] arise.” [55]And [k] her spirit returned, and she got up at once. And he directed that something should be given her to eat. [56][†]And her parents were amazed, but [l] he charged them to tell no one what had happened.

Jesus Sends Out the Twelve Apostles

LUKE 9 [†] [m] And he called the twelve together and gave them power and authority over all demons and to cure diseases, [2] [n] and he sent them out to [o] proclaim the kingdom of God and to heal. [3][†] [p] And he said to them, “Take nothing for your journey, [q] no staff, nor bag, nor bread, nor money; and do not have two tunics. [1] [4][†]And whatever house you enter, stay there, and from there depart. [5][†]And wherever they do not receive you, when you leave that town [r]shake off the dust from your feet [s]as a testimony [t]against them.” [6] [u]And they departed and went through the villages, preaching the gospel and healing everywhere.

Herod Is Perplexed by Jesus

[7][†] [v]Now [w]Herod the tetrarch heard about all that was happening, and he was perplexed, because it was said by some that [x]John had been raised from the dead, [8] [x]by some that Elijah had appeared, and [x]by others that one of the prophets of old had risen. [9][†]Herod said, “John I beheaded, but who is this about whom I hear such things?” And [y]he sought to see him.

Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand

[10][†]On their return [z]the apostles told him all that they had done. [a]And he took them and withdrew apart to a town called Bethsaida. [11][†]When the crowds learned it, they followed him, and he [b]welcomed them and [c]spoke to them of the kingdom of God and [c]cured those who had need of healing. [12]Now [d]the day began to wear away, and the twelve came and said to him, [e]“Send the crowd away to go into the surrounding villages and countryside to find lodging and get provisions, for we are here in a desolate place.” [13]But he said to them, [f]“You give them something to eat.” They said, “We have no more than [g]five loaves and two fish—unless we are to go and buy food for all these people.” [14][†]For there were about five thousand men. And he said to his disciples, “Have them sit down in groups of about fifty each.” [15][†]And they did so, and had them all sit down. [16]And taking the five loaves and the two fish, [h]he looked up to heaven and [i]said a blessing over them. Then he broke the loaves and gave them to the disciples to set before the crowd. [17][†]And they all ate and were satisfied. And what was left over was picked up, twelve baskets of broken pieces.

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

[18][†] [j]Now it happened that as he was praying alone, the disciples were with him. And he asked them, “Who do the crowds say that I am?” [19]And they answered, [k]“John the Baptist. But others say, [l]Elijah, and others, that one of the prophets of old has risen.” [20]Then he said to them, “But who do you say that I am?” And Peter answered, [m]“The Christ of God.”

Jesus Foretells His Death

[21][†][n]And he strictly charged and commanded them to tell this to no one, [22][o]saying, [p]“The Son of Man must [q]suffer many things and [r]be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and on [s]the third day be raised.”

Take Up Your Cross and Follow Jesus

[23][†]And he said to all, “If anyone would come after me, let him [t]deny himself and [u]take up his cross [v]daily and follow me. [24][†]For [u]whoever would save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will save it. [25][w]For what does it profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses or forfeits himself? [26][†]For [x]whoever is ashamed of me and of my words, of him will the Son of Man be ashamed [y]when he comes in [z]his glory and the glory of the Father and of [a]the holy angels. [27][†]But I tell you truly, there are some standing here who will not [b]taste death [c]until they see the kingdom of God.”

The Transfiguration

[28][†][d]Now about eight days after these sayings he took with him [e]Peter and John and James and [f]went up on the mountain to pray. [29][†]And as he was praying, the appearance of his face was [g]altered, and [h]his clothing became dazzling white. [30][†]And behold, two men were talking with him, Moses and Elijah, [31][†]who appeared in glory and spoke of his departure,[2] which he was about to accomplish at Jerusalem. [32]Now Peter and those who were with him [i]were heavy with sleep, but when they became fully awake [j]they saw his glory and the two men who stood with him. [33][†]And as the men were parting from him, Peter said to Jesus, “Master, it is good that we are here. Let us make three [k]tents, one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah”—[l]not knowing what he said. [34]As he was saying these things,

[m]a cloud came and overshadowed them, and they were afraid as they entered the cloud. [35][†]And [m]a voice came out of the cloud, saying, “This is my Son, [n]my Chosen One; [3] [o]listen to him!” [36][†]And when the voice had spoken, Jesus was found alone. [p]And they kept silent and told no one in those days anything of what they had seen.

Jesus Heals a Boy with an Unclean Spirit

[37][q]On the next day, when they had come down from the mountain, a great crowd met him. [38]And behold, a man from the crowd cried out, “Teacher, I beg you to look at my son, for [r]he is my only child. [39][†]And behold, a spirit seizes him, and he suddenly cries out. It convulses him so that he foams at the mouth, and shatters him, and will hardly leave him. [40][†]And I begged your disciples to cast it out, but [s]they could not.” [41][†]Jesus answered, “O [t]faithless and twisted generation, [u]how long am I to be with you and bear with you? Bring your son here.” [42]While he was coming, the demon threw him to the ground and convulsed him. But Jesus [v]rebuked the unclean spirit and healed the boy, and [w]gave him back to his father. [43][†]And all were astonished at [x]the majesty of God.

Jesus Again Foretells His Death

[y]But while they were all marveling at everything he was doing, Jesus [4] said [z]to his disciples, [44]“Let these words sink into your ears: [z]The Son of Man is about to be delivered into the hands of men.” [45][†] [a]But they did not understand this saying, and [b]it was concealed from them, so that they might not perceive it. And they were afraid to ask him about this saying.

Who Is the Greatest?

[46][†] [c]An argument arose among them as to which of them was the greatest. [47][†]But Jesus, knowing the reasoning of their hearts, took a child and put him by his side [48][†]and said to them, [d]“Whoever receives this child in my name receives me, and [d]whoever receives me receives him who sent me. For [e]he who is least among you all is the one who is great.”

Anyone Not Against Us Is For Us

49[†][f] John answered, “Master, we saw someone [g] casting out demons in your name, and [h] we tried to stop him, because he does not follow with us.” 50But Jesus said to him, “Do not stop him, [i] for the one who is not against you is for you.”

A Samaritan Village Rejects Jesus

51[†]When the days drew near for [j] him to be taken up, [k] he set his face [l] to go to Jerusalem. 52[†]And [m] he sent messengers ahead of him, who went and entered a village of [n] the Samaritans, to make preparations for him. 53[†]But [o] the people did not receive him, because [p] his face was set toward Jerusalem. 54[†]And when his disciples James and John saw it, they said, “Lord, do you want us to tell [q] fire to come down from heaven and consume them?” [5] 55But he turned and rebuked them. [6] 56And they went on to another village.

The Cost of Following Jesus

57As they were going [r] along the road, [s] someone said to him, “I will follow you wherever you go.” 58And Jesus said to him, “Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head.” 59[†]To another he said, “Follow me.” But he said, “Lord, let me first go and bury my father.” 60[†]And Jesus [7] said to him, “Leave [t] the dead to bury their own dead. But as for you, go and [u] proclaim the kingdom of God.” 61[†]Yet another said, “I will follow you, Lord, [v] but let me first say farewell to those at my home.” 62[†]Jesus said to him, [w] “No one who puts his hand to the plow and looks back is fit for the kingdom of God.”

Jesus Sends Out the Seventy-Two

LUKE 10 [†]After this the Lord appointed [x] seventy-two [1] others and [y] sent them on ahead of him, two by two, into every town and place where he himself was about to go. 2 [z] And he said to them, “The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few. [a] Therefore pray earnestly to the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into his harvest. [3][†]Go your way; [b]behold, I am sending you out as lambs in the midst of wolves. [4][†][c]Carry no moneybag, no knapsack, no sandals, and [d]greet no one on the road. [5][†]Whatever house you enter, first say, [e]‘Peace be to this house!’ [6][†]And if a son of peace is there, your peace will rest upon him. But if not, [f]it will return to you. [7][†]And remain in the same house, eating and drinking what they provide, for [g]the laborer deserves his wages. Do not go from house to house. [8]Whenever you enter a town and they receive you, eat what is set before you. [9][†]Heal the sick in it and say to them, [h]‘The kingdom of God has come near to you.’ [10][†]But whenever you enter a town and they do not receive you, go into its streets and say, [11][†][i]‘Even the dust of your town that clings to our feet we wipe off against you. Nevertheless know this, that [j]the kingdom of God has come near.’ [12][†]I tell you, [k]it will be more bearable on [l]that day for Sodom than for that town.

Woe to Unrepentant Cities

[13][†][m]“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty works done in you had been done in [n]Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago, sitting in sackcloth and ashes. [14][o]But it will be more bearable in the judgment for [n]Tyre and Sidon than for you. [15][†]And you, Capernaum, [p]will you be exalted to heaven? You shall be brought down to [q]Hades.

[16][†][r]“The one who hears you hears me, and [s]the one who rejects you rejects me, and [t]the one who rejects me rejects him who sent me.”

The Return of the Seventy-Two

[17][u]The seventy-two returned with joy, saying, “Lord, [v]even the demons are subject to us in your name!” [18][†]And he said to them, [w]“I saw Satan [x]fall like lightning from heaven. [19][†]Behold, I have given you authority [y]to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of [z]the enemy, and [a]nothing shall hurt you. [20][†][b]Nevertheless, do not rejoice in this, that the spirits are subject to you, but rejoice that [c]your names are written in heaven.”

Jesus Rejoices in the Father’s Will

[21][†] [d] In that same hour [e] he rejoiced [f] in the Holy Spirit and said, “I thank you, Father, [g] Lord of heaven and earth, that [h] you have hidden these things from the wise and understanding and [i] revealed them to little children; yes, Father, for [j] such was your gracious will. [2] [22][†] [k] All things have been handed over to me by my Father, and no one knows who the Son is [k] except the Father, or who the Father is [k] except the Son and anyone [l] to whom the Son chooses to reveal him.”

[23]Then turning to the disciples he said privately, [m] “Blessed are the eyes that see what you see! [24]For I tell you [n] that many prophets and kings desired to see what you see, and did not see it, and to hear what you hear, and did not hear it.”

The Parable of the Good Samaritan

[25][†] [o] And behold, a [p] lawyer stood up to [q] put him to the test, saying, “Teacher, what shall I do to [r] inherit eternal life?” [26][†]He said to him,
“What is written in the Law? How do you read it?” [27][†]And he answered, [s] “You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength and with all your mind, and [t] your neighbor as yourself.” [28][†]And he said to him, “You have answered correctly; [u] do this, and you will live.”

[29][†]But he, [v] desiring to justify himself, said to Jesus, “And who is my neighbor?” [30][†]Jesus replied, “A man [w] was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and he fell among robbers, who stripped him and beat him and departed, leaving him half dead. [31][†]Now by chance a [x] priest was going down that road, and when he saw him he passed by on the other side.
[32][†]So likewise [x] a Levite, when he came to the place and saw him, passed by on the other side. [33][†]But a [y] Samaritan, as he journeyed, came to where he was, and when he saw him, he had compassion. [34][†]He went to him and [z] bound up his wounds, pouring on [z] oil and wine. Then he set him on his own animal and brought him to an inn and took care of him. [35]And the next day he took out two [a] denarii [3] and gave them to the innkeeper, saying, ‘Take care of him, and whatever more you spend, I will repay you when I come back.’ [36][†]Which of these three, do you think, proved to be a neighbor to the man who fell among the robbers?” [37]He said, “The one who showed him mercy.” And Jesus said to him, “You go, and do likewise.”

Martha and Mary

[38][†]Now as they went on their way, Jesus [4] entered a village. And a woman named [b]Martha [c]welcomed him into her house. [39]And she had a sister called [b]Mary, who [d]sat at the Lord’s feet and listened to his teaching. [40]But Martha was distracted with much serving. And she went up to him and said, “Lord, do you not care that my sister has left me to serve alone? Tell her then to help me.” [41]But the Lord answered her, “Martha, Martha, you are [e]anxious and troubled about many things, [42]but one thing is necessary. [5] Mary has chosen [f]the good portion, which will not be taken away from her.”

The Lord's Prayer

LUKE 11 [†]Now Jesus [1] was praying in a certain place, and when he finished, one of his disciples said to him, "Lord, teach us to pray, [g] as John taught his disciples." 2[†]And he said to them, [h] "When you pray, say:

[i] "Father, [j] hallowed be [k] your name.
[l] Your kingdom come.
3[†] [m] Give us [n] each day our daily bread, [2]
4[†] and [o] forgive us our sins, for we ourselves forgive everyone who is indebted to us.
And [p] lead us not into temptation."

5And he said to them, "Which of you who has a friend will go to him at midnight and say to him, 'Friend, lend me three loaves, 6[†]for a friend of mine has arrived on a journey, and I have nothing to set before him'; 7[†]and he will answer from within, 'Do not bother me; the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed. I cannot get up and give you anything'? 8[†]I tell you, though he will not get up and give him anything [q] because he is his friend, yet because of his impudence [3] he will rise and give him whatever he needs. 9[†]And I tell you, [r] ask, and [s] it will be given to you; [t] seek, and you will find; [u] knock, and it will be opened to you. 10For everyone who asks receives, and the one who seeks finds, and to the one who knocks it will be opened. 11[†]What father among you, if his son asks for [4] a fish, will instead of a fish give him a serpent; 12or if he asks for an egg, will give him a scorpion? 13If you then, [w] who are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will the heavenly Father [x] give the Holy Spirit to those who ask him!"

Jesus and Beelzebul

14 [y] Now he was casting out a demon that was mute. When the demon had gone out, the mute man spoke, and the people marveled. 15[†]But some of them said, "He casts out demons [z] by Beelzebul, the prince of demons,"

[16][†]while others, [a]to test him, kept seeking from him a sign from heaven. [17][†] [b]But he, [c]knowing their thoughts, said to them, “Every kingdom divided against itself is laid waste, and a divided household falls. [18]And if Satan also is divided against himself, how will his kingdom stand? For you say that I cast out demons by Beelzebul. [19]And if I cast out demons by Beelzebul, [d]by whom do [e]your sons cast them out? Therefore they will be your judges. [20][†]But if it is by [f]the finger of God that I cast out demons, then [g]the kingdom of God has come upon you. [21]When a strong man, fully armed, guards his own palace, his goods are safe; [22][†] [h]but when one stronger than he attacks him and [i]overcomes him, he takes away his [j]armor in which he trusted and [k]divides his spoil. [23][†] [l]Whoever is not with me is against me, and whoever does not gather with me scatters.

Return of an Unclean Spirit

[24][†] [m]“When the unclean spirit has gone out of a person, it passes through [n]waterless places seeking rest, and finding none it says, ‘I will return to my house from which I came.’ [25]And when it comes, it finds the house swept and put in order. [26]Then it goes and brings seven other spirits more evil than itself, and they enter and dwell there. And [o]the last state of that person is worse than the first.”

True Blessedness

[27]As he said these things, [p]a woman in the crowd raised her voice and said to him, [q]“Blessed is the womb that bore you, and the breasts at which you nursed!” [28]But he said, [r]“Blessed rather are those [s]who hear the word of God and [t]keep it!”

The Sign of Jonah

[29][†] [u]When the crowds were increasing, he began to say, [v]“This generation is an evil generation. [w]It seeks for a sign, but no sign will be given to it except the sign of Jonah. [30]For as [x]Jonah became a sign to the people of Nineveh, so will the Son of Man be to this generation. [31][†] [y]The queen of the South will rise up at the judgment with the men of this generation and [z]condemn them, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, [a]something greater than Solomon is here. [32][†] [b]The men of Nineveh will rise up at the judgment with this generation and [z]condemn it, for [c]they repented at the preaching of Jonah, and behold, [a]something greater than Jonah is here.

The Light in You

[33][†] [d]“No one after lighting a lamp puts it in a cellar or under a basket, but on a stand, so that those who enter may see the light. [34][†]Your eye is [e]the lamp of your body. When your eye is healthy, your whole body is full of light, but when it is [f]bad, your body is full of darkness. [35] [e]Therefore be careful lest the light in you be darkness. [36][†]If then your whole body is full of light, having no part dark, it will be wholly bright, [g]as when a lamp with its rays gives you light.”

Woes to the Pharisees and Lawyers

[37][†]While Jesus [5] was speaking, [h]a Pharisee asked him to dine with him, so he went in and reclined at table. [38][†]The Pharisee was astonished to see [i]that he did not first wash before dinner. [39][†]And the Lord said to him, [j]“Now you Pharisees cleanse the outside of the cup and of the dish, but inside you are full of [k]greed and wickedness. [40] [l]You fools! [j]Did not he who made the outside make the inside also? [41]But [m]give as alms those things that are within, and behold, [n]everything is clean for you.

[42][†] [o]“But woe to you Pharisees! For [p]you tithe mint and rue and every herb, and neglect [q]justice and [r]the love of God. [s]These you ought to have done, without neglecting the others. [43]Woe to you Pharisees! For [t]you love the best seat in the synagogues and greetings in the marketplaces. [44]Woe to you! [u]For you are like unmarked graves, and people walk over them without knowing it.”

[45][†]One of [v]the lawyers answered him, “Teacher, in saying these things you insult us also.” [46][†]And he said, “Woe to you [w]lawyers also! For [x]you load people with burdens hard to bear, and you yourselves do not touch the burdens with one of your fingers. [47][†] [y] Woe to you! For you build the tombs of the prophets whom your fathers killed. [48] [z] So you are witnesses and you [a] consent to the deeds of [b] your fathers, for they killed them, and you build their tombs. [49]Therefore also [c] the Wisdom of God said, [d] 'I will send them [e] prophets and apostles, [f] some of whom they will [g] kill and persecute,' [50]so that [h] the blood of all the prophets, shed [i] from the foundation of the world, may be [j] charged against this generation, [51]from the blood of [k] Abel to the blood of [l] Zechariah, who perished between [m] the altar and the sanctuary. Yes, I tell you, it will be [j] required of this generation. [52][†]Woe to you [n] lawyers! [o] For you have taken away the key of [p] knowledge. You [q] did not enter yourselves, and you hindered those who were entering."

[53]As he went away from there, the scribes and the Pharisees began to press him hard and to provoke him to speak about many things, [54] [r] lying in wait for him, [s] to catch him in something he might say.

Beware of the Leaven of the Pharisees

LUKE 12 [†]In the meantime, [t] when so many thousands of the people had gathered together that they were trampling one another, he began to say to his disciples first, [u] "Beware of [v] the leaven of the Pharisees, [w] which is hypocrisy. [2][†] [x] Nothing is covered up that will not be revealed, or hidden that will not be known. [3]Therefore whatever you have said in the dark shall be heard in the light, and what you have whispered in [y] private rooms shall be proclaimed on [z] the housetops.

Have No Fear

[4]"I tell you, my friends, [a] do not fear those who kill the body, and after that have nothing more that they can do. [5][†]But I will warn you whom to fear: fear him [b] who, after he has killed, has authority to cast into hell. [1] Yes, I tell you, fear him! [6][†]Are not five sparrows sold for two pennies? [2] And [c] not one of them is forgotten before God. [7]Why, [d] even the hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not; [e] you are of more value than many sparrows.

Acknowledge Christ Before Men

[8]“And I tell you, [f]everyone who acknowledges me before men, the Son of Man also will acknowledge [g]before the angels of God, [9][†]but [h]the one who denies me before men [i]will be denied [g]before the angels of God.
[10][†]And [j]everyone who speaks a word [k]against the Son of Man [l]will be forgiven, but the one who [m]blasphemes against the Holy Spirit will not be forgiven. [11][†][n]And when they [o]bring you before the synagogues and [p]the rulers and [p]the authorities, [q]do not be anxious about how you should defend yourself or what you should say, [12][r]for the Holy Spirit will teach you in that very hour what you ought to say.”

The Parable of the Rich Fool

[13][†][s]Someone in the crowd said to him, “Teacher, tell my brother to divide the inheritance with me.” [14]But he said to him, [t]“Man, [u]who made me a judge or arbitrator over you?” [15]And he said to them, [v]“Take care, and be on your guard against all covetousness, for one’s life does not consist in the abundance of his possessions.” [16]And he told them a parable, saying, [w]“The land of a rich man produced plentifully, [17]and he thought to himself, [x]‘What shall I do, for I have nowhere to store my crops?’ [18]And he said, ‘I will do this: I will tear down my [y]barns and build larger ones, and there I will store all my grain and my goods. [19][†]And I will say to my soul, “Soul, you have ample goods laid up [z]for many years; relax, [a]eat, drink, be merry.”’ [20]But God said to him, [b]‘Fool! [z]This night [c]your soul is required of you, and the things you have prepared, [d]whose will they be?’ [21]So is the one [e]who lays up treasure for himself and is not rich toward God.”

Do Not Be Anxious

[22][†]And he said to his disciples, [f]“Therefore I tell you, [g]do not be anxious about your life, what you will eat, nor about your body, what you will put on. [23]For life is more than food, and the body more than clothing.
[24][h]Consider the ravens: they neither sow nor reap, they have neither storehouse nor barn, and yet God feeds them. [i]Of how much more value are you than the birds! [25][†]And which of you by being anxious can add a single hour to his [j] span of life? [3] [26]If then you are not able to do as small a thing as that, why are you anxious about the rest? [27]Consider the lilies, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin, [4] yet I tell you, [k] even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. [28][†]But if God so clothes the grass, which is alive in the field today, and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, how much more will he clothe you, [l] O you of little faith! [29][†]And do not seek what you are to eat and what you are to drink, nor [m] be worried. [30]For [n] all the nations of the world seek after these things, and [n] your Father knows that you need them. [31]Instead, [o] seek [p] his [5] kingdom, [q] and these things will be added to you.

[32] [r] “Fear not, little [s] flock, for [t] it is your Father’s good pleasure to give you [u] the kingdom. [33][†] [v] Sell your possessions, and [w] give to the needy. [x] Provide yourselves with moneybags that do not grow old, with [y] a treasure in the heavens that does not fail, where no thief approaches and no moth destroys. [34] [z] For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

You Must Be Ready

[35][†] [a] “Stay dressed for action [6] and [b] keep your lamps burning, [36]and be like men who are [c] waiting for their master to come home from the wedding feast, so that they may open the door to him at once when he comes and [d] knocks. [37][†] [e] Blessed are those servants [7] whom the master finds [e] awake when he comes. Truly, I say to you, [f] he will dress himself for service and [g] have them recline at table, and he will come and serve them. [38]If he comes in the second watch, or in the third, and finds them awake, blessed are those servants! [39] [h] But know this, that if the master of the house had known at what hour [i] the thief was coming, he [8] would not have left his house to be broken into. [40]You also must be [j] ready, for [k] the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.”

[41][†]Peter said, “Lord, [l] are you telling this parable for us or for all?” [42]And the Lord said, “Who then is [m] the faithful and [m] wise [n] manager, whom his master will set over his household, to give them their portion of food at the proper time? [43] [o] Blessed is that servant [9] whom his master will find so doing when he comes. [44]Truly, I say to you, [p] he will set him over all his possessions. [45]But if that servant says to himself, ‘My master [q]is delayed in coming,’ and begins to beat the male and female servants, and to eat and drink and [r]get drunk, [46]the master of that servant will come [s]on a day when he does not expect him and [s]at an hour he does not know, and will cut him in pieces and put him with the unfaithful. [47][t]And that servant who [u]knew his master’s will but [v]did not get ready [u]or act according to his will, will receive a [w]severe beating. [48][x]But the one who did not know, and did what deserved a beating, [y]will receive a light beating. [z]Everyone to whom much was given, of him much will be required, and from him to whom they entrusted much, they will demand the more.

Not Peace, but Division

[49][†][a]“I came to cast fire on the earth, and would that it were already kindled! [50][b]I have a baptism to be baptized with, and how [c]great is my distress until it is accomplished! [51][d]Do you think that I have come to give peace on earth? [e]No, I tell you, but rather division. [52]For from now on in one house there will be five divided, three against two and two against three. [53]They will be divided, [f]father against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against mother-in-law.”

Interpreting the Time

[54][†]He also said to the crowds, [g]“When you see [h]a cloud rising in the west, you say at once, ‘A shower is coming.’ And so it happens. [55]And [g]when you see the south wind blowing, you say, ‘There will be [i]scorching heat,’ and it happens. [56]You hypocrites! [j]You know how to interpret the appearance of earth and sky, but why do you not know how to interpret the present time?

Settle with Your Accuser

[57][†]“And why [k]do you not judge [l]for yourselves what is right? [58][m]As you go with your accuser before the magistrate, make an effort to settle with him on the way, lest he drag you to the judge, and the judge hand you over to the officer, and the officer put you in prison. 59I tell you, [n]you will never get out until you have paid the very last [o]penny." [10]

Repent or Perish

LUKE 13 [†]There were some present at that very time who told him about the Galileans whose blood [p]Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices. 2And he answered them, [q]"Do you think that these Galileans were worse sinners than all the other Galileans, because they suffered in this way? 3No, I tell you; but unless you [r]repent, you will all likewise perish. 4Or those eighteen on whom the tower in [s]Siloam fell and killed them: do you think that they were worse offenders than all the others who lived in Jerusalem? 5No, I tell you; but unless you [r]repent, you will all likewise perish."

The Parable of the Barren Fig Tree

6[†]And he told this parable: "A man had [t]a fig tree planted in his vineyard, and he came seeking fruit on it and found none. 7And he said to the vinedresser, 'Look, for three years now I have come seeking fruit on this fig tree, and I find none. [u]Cut it down. Why should it use up the ground?' 8And he answered him, 'Sir, let it alone this year also, until I dig around it and put on manure. 9Then if it should bear fruit next year, well and good; but if not, you can cut it down.'"

A Woman with a Disabling Spirit

10Now [v]he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath. 11[†]And behold, there was a woman who had had [w]a disabling spirit for eighteen years. She was bent over and could not fully straighten herself. 12When Jesus saw her, he called her over and said to her, "Woman, you are freed from your disability." 13And he [x]laid his hands on her, and immediately she was made straight, and she [y]glorified God. 14[†]But [z]the ruler of the synagogue, indignant because Jesus [a]had healed on the Sabbath, said to the people, [b]"There are six days in which work ought to be done. Come on those days and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day." 15[†]Then the Lord answered him, “You hypocrites! [c]Does not each of you on the Sabbath untie his ox or his donkey from the manger and lead it away to water it? [16]And ought not this woman, [d]a daughter of Abraham whom [e]Satan bound for eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?” [17]As he said these things, [f]all his adversaries were put to shame, and [g]all the people rejoiced at all the glorious things that were done by him.

The Mustard Seed and the Leaven

[18] [h]He said therefore, “What is the kingdom of God like? And to what shall I compare it? [19][†]It is like [i]a grain of mustard seed that a man took and sowed in his garden, and it grew and became a tree, and the birds of the air made nests in its branches.”

[20]And again he said, “To what shall I compare the kingdom of God? [21][†][j]It is like leaven that a woman took and hid in [k]three measures of flour, until it was [l]all leavened.”

The Narrow Door

[22] [m]He went on his way through towns and villages, teaching and [n]journeying toward Jerusalem. [23][†]And someone said to him, “Lord, [o]will those who are saved be few?” And he said to them, [24][†][p]“Strive [q]to enter through the narrow door. For many, I tell you, will seek to enter and will not be able. [25][†][r]When once the master of the house has risen and shut the door, and you begin to stand outside and to knock at the door, saying, [s]‘Lord, open to us,’ then he will answer you, [t]‘I do not know where you come from.’ [26]Then you will begin to say, [u]‘We ate and drank in your presence, and you taught in our streets.’ [27][†]But he will say, ‘I tell you, [t]I do not know where you come from. [v]Depart from me, all you workers of evil!’ [28][†][w]In that place there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when you see [w]Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God but [w]you yourselves cast out. [29][†]And [w]people will come from east and west, and from north and south, and [x]recline at table in the kingdom of God. [30][†]And behold, [y]some are last who will be first, and some are first who will be last.”

Lament over Jerusalem

[31][†]At that very hour some Pharisees came and said to him, “Get away from [z]here, for [a]Herod wants to kill you.” [32][†]And he said to them, “Go and tell that fox, ‘Behold, I cast out demons and perform cures today and tomorrow, and the third day [b]I finish my course. [33][†]Nevertheless, [c]I [d]must go on my way today and tomorrow and the day following, for it cannot be that [e]a prophet should perish away from Jerusalem.’ [34][†][f]O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the city that [g]kills the prophets and stones those who are sent to it! [h]How often would I have [i]gathered [j]your children together [k]as a hen gathers her brood [l]under her wings, and [m]you were not willing! [35][†]Behold, [n]your house is forsaken. And I tell you, you will not see me until you say, [o]‘Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord!’”

Healing of a Man on the Sabbath

LUKE 14 One Sabbath, [p]when he went to dine at the house of a ruler of the Pharisees, they were [q]watching him carefully. [2][†]And behold, there was a man before him who had dropsy. [3][†]And Jesus responded to [r]the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, [s]“Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath, or not?” [4]But they remained silent. Then he took him and healed him and sent him away. [5]And he said to them, [t]“Which of you, having a son [1] or an ox that has fallen into a well on a Sabbath day, will not immediately pull him out?” [6][†] [u]And they could not reply to these things.

The Parable of the Wedding Feast

[7][†]Now he told a parable to those who were invited, when he noticed [v]how they chose the places of honor, saying to them, [8]“When you are invited by someone to a wedding feast, do not sit down in a place of honor, lest someone more distinguished than you be invited by him, [9]and he who invited you both will come and say to you, ‘Give your place to this person,’ and then you will begin with shame to take the lowest place. [10]But when you are invited, go and sit in the lowest place, [w]so that when your host comes he may say to you, ‘Friend, move up higher.’ Then you will be honored in the presence of all who sit at table with you. [11]For [x]everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted.”

The Parable of the Great Banquet

[12][†]He said also to the man who had invited him, “When you give [y]a dinner or a banquet, do not invite your friends or your brothers [2] or your relatives or rich neighbors, [z]lest they also invite you in return and you be repaid. [13]But when you give a feast, [a]invite [b]the poor, the crippled, the lame, the blind, [14]and you will be blessed, because they cannot repay you. For you will be repaid [c]at [d]the resurrection of the just.”

[15][†]When one of those who reclined at table with him heard these things, he said to him, [e]“Blessed is everyone who will [f]eat bread in the kingdom of God!” [16][†]But he said to him, [g]“A man once [h]gave a great banquet and invited many. [17]And at the time for the banquet he [i]sent his servant [3] to say to those who had been invited, ‘Come, for everything is now ready.’ [18]But they all alike began to make excuses. The first said to him, ‘I have bought a field, and I must go out and see it. Please have me excused.’ [19]And another said, ‘I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to examine them. Please have me excused.’ [20]And another said, [j]‘I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.’ [21][†]So the servant came and reported these things to his master. Then the master of the house became angry and said to his servant, ‘Go out quickly to the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in [k]the poor and crippled and blind and lame.’ [22]And the servant said, ‘Sir, what you commanded has been done, and still there is room.’ [23]And the master said to the servant, ‘Go out to the highways and hedges and compel people to come in, that my house may be filled. [24]For I tell you, [4] [m]none of those men who were invited shall taste my banquet.’”

The Cost of Discipleship

[25]Now great crowds accompanied him, and he turned and said to them, [26][†] [n]“If anyone comes to me and [o]does not hate his own father and mother and wife and children and brothers and sisters, [p]yes, and even his own life, he cannot be my disciple. [27] [q]Whoever does not [r]bear his own cross and come after me cannot be my disciple. [28][†]For which of you, desiring to build a tower, does not [s]first sit down and count the cost, whether he has enough to complete it? [29]Otherwise, when he has laid a foundation and is not able to finish, all who see it begin to mock him, [30]saying, ‘This man began to build and was not able to finish.’ [31]Or what king, going out to encounter another king in war, will not [t]sit down first and deliberate whether he is able with ten thousand to meet him who comes against him with twenty thousand? [32]And if not, while the other is yet a great way off, he sends a delegation and asks for terms of peace. [33][†] [u]So therefore, any one of you who [v]does not renounce all that he has cannot be my disciple.

Salt Without Taste Is Worthless

[34][†] [w]“Salt is good, [x]but if salt has lost its taste, how shall its saltiness be restored? [35]It is of no use either for the soil or for the manure pile. It is thrown away. [y]He who has ears to hear, let him hear.”

The Parable of the Lost Sheep

LUKE 15 [†]Now [z]the tax collectors and sinners were all drawing near to hear him. [2][†]And the Pharisees and the scribes [a]grumbled, saying, [b]“This man receives sinners and [c]eats with them.”

[3][†]So he told them this parable: [4][†] [d]“What man of you, having a hundred sheep, [e]if he has lost one of them, does not leave the ninety-nine [f]in the open country, and [g]go after the one that is lost, until he finds it? [5][†]And when he has found it, [h]he lays it on his shoulders, rejoicing. [6][†]And when he comes home, he calls together his friends and his neighbors, saying to them, ‘Rejoice with me, for [i]I have found my sheep that was lost.’ [7][†]Just so, I tell you, there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who [j]repents than over ninety-nine [k]righteous persons who need no repentance.

The Parable of the Lost Coin

[8][†]“Or what woman, having ten silver coins, [1] if she loses one coin, does not light a lamp and sweep the house and seek diligently until she finds it? [9]And when she has found it, she calls together her friends and neighbors, saying, ‘Rejoice with me, for I have found the coin that I had lost.’ [10]Just so, I tell you, there is joy before [l]the angels of God over one sinner who repents.”

The Parable of the Prodigal Son

[11]And he said, “There was a man who had two sons. [12][†]And the younger of them said to his father, ‘Father, give me [m]the share of property that is coming to me.’ And he divided [n]his property between them. [13][†]Not many days later, the younger son gathered all he had and took a journey into a far country, and there he squandered his property in [o]reckless living. [14]And when he had spent everything, a severe famine arose in that country, and he began to be in need. [15][†]So he went and hired himself out to [2] one of the citizens of that country, who sent him into his fields to feed pigs. [16]And he [p]was longing to be fed with the pods that the pigs ate, and no one gave him anything.

[17][†]“But [q]when he [r]came to himself, he said, ‘How many of my father’s hired servants have more than enough bread, but I perish here with hunger! [18]I will arise and go to my father, and I will say to him, “Father, [s]I have sinned against [t]heaven and before you. [19] [u]I am no longer worthy to be called your son. Treat me as one of your hired servants.”’ [20][†]And he arose and came to his father. But while he was still a long way off, his father saw him and felt compassion, and [v]ran and [w]embraced him and [x]kissed him. [21][†]And the son said to him, ‘Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you. [u]I am no longer worthy to be called your son.’ [3] [22][†]But the father said to his servants, [4] ‘Bring quickly [y]the best robe, and put it on him, and put [z]a ring on his hand, and [a]shoes on his feet. [23][†]And bring [b]the fattened calf and kill it, and [c]let us eat and celebrate. [24][†]For this my son [d]was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found.’ And they began to celebrate.

[25][†]“Now his older son was in the field, and as he came and drew near to the house, he heard music and dancing. [26]And he called one of the servants and asked what these things meant. [27]And he said to him, ‘Your brother has come, and your father has killed the fattened calf, because he has received him back safe and sound.’ [28][†]But he was angry and refused to go in. His father came out and entreated him, [29][†]but he answered his father, ‘Look, these many years I have served you, and I never disobeyed your command, yet you never gave me a young goat, that I might [e]celebrate with my friends. [30][†]But when this son of yours came, [f]who has devoured [g]your property with prostitutes, you killed the fattened calf for him!’ [31][†]And he said to him, ‘Son, [h]you are always with me, and all that is mine is yours. [32]It was fitting [e]to celebrate and be glad, for this your brother [i]was dead, and is alive; he was lost, and is found.’”

The Parable of the Dishonest Manager

LUKE 16 [†]He also said to the disciples, “There was a rich man who had [j] a manager, and charges were brought to him that this man was wasting his possessions. [2]And he called him and said to him, ‘What is this that I hear about you? Turn in the account of your [k] management, for you can no longer be manager.’ [3]And the manager said to himself, ‘What shall I do, since my master is taking the management away from me? I am not strong enough to dig, and I am ashamed to beg. [4][†]I have decided what to do, so that when I am removed from management, people may receive me into their houses.’ [5]So, summoning his master’s debtors one by one, he said to the first, ‘How much do you owe my master?’ [6]He said, ‘A hundred measures [1] of oil.’ He said to him, ‘Take your bill, and sit down quickly and write fifty.’ [7]Then he said to another, ‘And how much do you owe?’ He said, ‘A hundred measures [2] of wheat.’ He said to him, ‘Take your bill, and write eighty.’ [8][†]The master commended the dishonest manager for his [l] shrewdness. For [m] the sons of this world [3] are [l] more shrewd in dealing with their own generation than [n] the sons of light. [9][†]And I tell you, [o] make friends for yourselves by means of [p] unrighteous wealth, [4] so that when it fails they may receive you into the eternal dwellings.

[10] [q] “One who is [r] faithful in a very little is also faithful in much, and one who is dishonest in a very little is also dishonest in much. [11][†]If then you have not been faithful in the unrighteous wealth, who will entrust to you the true riches? [12][†]And if you have not been faithful in [s] that which is another’s, who will give you that which is your own? [13][†] [p] No servant can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and money.”

The Law and the Kingdom of God

[14][†] [t] The Pharisees, who were [u] lovers of money, heard all these things, and they [v] ridiculed him. [15]And he said to them, “You are those who

[w] justify yourselves before men, but [x] God knows your hearts. For what is exalted among men [y] is an abomination in the sight of God.

16[†] [z] “The Law and the Prophets were until John; since then [a] the good news of the kingdom of God is preached, and [b] everyone forces his way into it. [5] 17[†]But [c] it is easier for heaven and earth to pass away than for one dot of the Law to become void.

Divorce and Remarriage

18[†] [d] “Everyone who divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery, and he who marries a woman divorced from her husband commits adultery.

The Rich Man and Lazarus

19[†]“There was a rich man who was clothed in [e] purple and fine linen and [f] who feasted sumptuously every day. 20And at his gate [g] was laid a poor man named Lazarus, covered with sores, 21[†]who desired to be fed with [h] what fell from the rich man’s table. Moreover, even the dogs came and licked his sores. 22[†]The poor man died and was carried by [i] the angels [j] to Abraham’s side. [6] The rich man also died and was buried, 23and in [k] Hades, being in torment, he lifted up his eyes and [l] saw Abraham far off and Lazarus [j] at his side. 24[†]And he called out, [m] ‘Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus to dip the end of his finger in water and [n] cool my tongue, for [o] I am in anguish in this flame.’ 25[†]But Abraham said, ‘Child, remember that [p] you in your lifetime received your good things, and Lazarus in like manner bad things; but now he is comforted here, and you are in anguish. 26[†]And besides all this, between us and you a great chasm has been fixed, in order that those who would pass from here to you may not be able, and none may cross from there to us.’ 27[†]And he said, ‘Then I beg you, father, to send him to my father’s house— 28for I have five brothers [7]—so that he may warn them, lest they also come into this place of torment.’ 29But Abraham said, ‘They have [q] Moses and the Prophets; [r] let them hear them.’ 30And he said, ‘No, [s] father Abraham, but if someone goes to them from the dead, they will repent.’ 31He said to him, ‘If they do not hear [q] Moses and the Prophets, [t] neither will they be convinced if someone should rise from the dead.'"

Temptations to Sin

LUKE 17 And he said to his disciples, [u] "Temptations to sin [1] are [v] sure to come, but [w] woe to the one through whom they come! [2][†] [x] It would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck and he were cast into the sea than that he should cause one of these little ones to sin. [2] [3][†]Pay attention to yourselves! [y] If your brother sins, [z] rebuke him, and if he repents, [a] forgive him, [4]and if he sins against you [b] seven times in the day, and turns to you seven times, saying, 'I repent,' you must forgive him."

Increase Our Faith

[5][†] [c] The apostles said to the Lord, [d] "Increase our faith!" [6]And the Lord said, [e] "If you had faith like [f] a grain of mustard seed, you could say to this [g] mulberry tree, 'Be uprooted and planted in the sea,' and it would obey you.

Unworthy Servants

[7][†]"Will any one of you who has a servant [3] plowing or keeping sheep say to him when he has come in from the field, 'Come at once and recline at table'? [8]Will he not rather say to him, 'Prepare supper for me, and [h] dress properly, [4] and serve me while I eat and drink, and afterward you will eat and drink'? [9]Does he thank the servant because he did what was commanded? [10]So you also, when you have done all that you were commanded, say, 'We are [i] unworthy servants; [5] we have only done what was our duty.'"

Jesus Cleanses Ten Lepers

[11][†] [j] On the way to Jerusalem [k] he was passing along between Samaria and Galilee. [12][†]And as he entered a village, he was met by ten lepers, [6] [l] who stood at a distance [13]and lifted up their voices, saying, "Jesus, Master, have mercy on us.” [14][†]When he saw them he said to them, “Go and [m]show yourselves to the priests.” And as they went they were cleansed. [15][†]Then one of them, when he saw that he was healed, turned back, [n]praising God with a loud voice; [16][†]and [o]he fell on his face at Jesus’ feet, giving him thanks. Now he was [p]a Samaritan. [17]Then Jesus answered, “Were not [q]ten cleansed? Where are the nine? [18]Was no one found to return and [r]give praise to God except this [s]foreigner?” [19][†]And he said to him, “Rise and go your way; [t]your faith has [t]made you well.” [7]

The Coming of the Kingdom

[20][†]Being asked by the Pharisees [u]when the kingdom of God would come, he answered them, “The kingdom of God [v]is not coming in ways that can be observed, [21][†]nor [w]will they say, ‘Look, here it is!’ or ‘There!’ for behold, the kingdom of God is in the midst of you.” [8]

[22][†]And he said to the disciples, [x]“The days are coming when you will desire [y]to see one of the days of the Son of Man, and you will not see it. [23][†][z]And they will say to you, ‘Look, there!’ or ‘Look, here!’ Do not go out or follow them. [24][a]For as the lightning flashes and lights up the sky from one side to the other, so will the Son of Man be [b]in his day. [9] [25][†]But first [c]he must suffer many things and [c]be rejected by this generation. [26][†][d]Just as it was in the days of [e]Noah, so will it be in the days of the Son of Man. [27][f]They were eating and drinking and marrying and being given in marriage, until the day when Noah entered the ark, and the flood came and destroyed them all. [28]Likewise, just as it was in the days of [g]Lot—they were eating and drinking, buying and selling, planting and building, [29][h]but on the day when Lot went out from Sodom, fire and sulfur rained from heaven and destroyed them all— [30]so will it be [i]on the day when the Son of Man is revealed. [31][†]On that day, [j]let the one who is on [k]the housetop, with his goods in the house, not come down to take them away, and likewise let the one who is in the field not turn back. [32][†][l]Remember Lot’s wife. [33][†][m]Whoever seeks to preserve his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life will [n]keep it. [34][†]I tell you, in that night there will be two in one bed. One will be taken and the other left. [35][o]There will be two women [p] grinding together. One will be taken and the other left.” [10] [37][†]And they said to him, “Where, Lord?” He said to them, [q] “Where the corpse [11] is, there the vultures [12] will gather.”

The Parable of the Persistent Widow

LUKE 18 [†]And he told them a parable to the effect that they ought [r] always to pray and not [s] lose heart. [2][†]He said, “In a certain city there was a judge who [t] neither feared God nor respected man. [3]And there was a widow in that city who kept coming to him and saying, ‘Give me justice against my adversary.’ [4]For a while he refused, but afterward he said to himself, [u] ‘Though I neither fear God nor respect man, [5]yet because this widow keeps bothering me, I will give her justice, so that she will not beat me down by her continual coming.’” [6]And the Lord said, “Hear what the unrighteous judge says. [7][†]And [v] will not God give justice to [w] his elect, [x] who cry to him day and night? [y] [z] Will he delay long over them? [8][†]I tell you, he will give justice to them [a] speedily. Nevertheless, when the Son of Man comes, [b] will he find faith on earth?”

The Pharisee and the Tax Collector

[9]He also told this parable to some [c] who trusted [d] in themselves that they were righteous, [e] and treated others with contempt: [10][†]“Two men [f] went up into the temple to pray, one a Pharisee and the other a tax collector. [11][†]The Pharisee, [g] standing by himself, prayed [1] [h] thus: ‘God, I thank you that I am not like other men, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even like this tax collector. [12][†] [i] I fast twice a week; [j] I give tithes of all that I get.’ [13][†]But the tax collector, [g] standing far off, [k] would not even lift up his eyes to heaven, but [l] beat his breast, saying, ‘God, [m] be merciful to me, a sinner!’ [14][†]I tell you, this man went down to his house justified, rather than the other. For [n] everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but the one who humbles himself will be exalted.”

Let the Children Come to Me

[15][†] [o]Now they were bringing even infants to him that he might touch them. And when the disciples saw it, they [p]rebuked them. [16][†]But Jesus called them to him, saying, [q]“Let the children come to me, and [r]do not hinder them, [q]for to such belongs the kingdom of God. [17] [s]Truly, I say to you, whoever does not [t]receive the kingdom of God like a child shall not enter it.”

The Rich Ruler

[18][†] [u]And a ruler asked him, “Good Teacher, what must I do to [v]inherit eternal life?” [19][†]And Jesus said to him, “Why do you call me good? No one is good except God alone. [20][†]You know the commandments: [w]‘Do not commit adultery, Do not murder, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Honor your father and mother.’” [21][†]And he said, [x]“All these I have kept from my youth.” [22][†]When Jesus heard this, he said to him, “One thing you still lack. [y]Sell all that you have and distribute to the poor, and you will have [z]treasure in heaven; and come, follow me.” [23][†] [a]But when he heard these things, he became very sad, for he was extremely rich. [24]Jesus, seeing that he had become sad, said, [b]“How difficult it is for those who have wealth to enter [c]the kingdom of God! [25][†]For it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich person to enter [c]the kingdom of God.” [26][†]Those who heard it said, “Then who can be saved?” [27][†]But he said, [d]“What is impossible with man is possible with God.” [28]And Peter said, “See, [e]we have left our homes and followed you.” [29][†]And he said to them, “Truly, I say to you, [f]there is no one who has left house or wife or brothers [2] or parents or children, for the sake of the kingdom of God, [30]who will not receive [g]many times more [h]in this time, and in [i]the age to come eternal life.”

Jesus Foretells His Death a Third Time

[31][†] [j]And taking the twelve, he said to them, “See, [k]we are going up to Jerusalem, and [l]everything that is written about the Son of Man by the prophets will be accomplished. [32][†]For he will be [m]delivered over to the Gentiles and will be [n]mocked and shamefully treated and [o]spit upon. [33]And after flogging him, they will kill him, and on [p]the third day he will rise." [34][†] [q]But they understood none of these things. [r]This saying was hidden from them, and they did not grasp what was said.

Jesus Heals a Blind Beggar

[35][†] [s]As he drew near to Jericho, [t]a blind man was sitting by the roadside begging. [36]And hearing a crowd going by, he inquired what this meant. [37]They told him, [u]"Jesus of Nazareth is passing by." [38][†]And he cried out, "Jesus, [v]Son of David, have mercy on me!" [39]And those who were in front [w]rebuked him, telling him to be silent. But he cried out all the more, "Son of David, have mercy on me!" [40]And Jesus stopped and commanded him to be brought to him. And when he came near, he asked him, [41][†] [x]"What do you want me to do for you?" He said, "Lord, let me recover my sight." [42][†]And Jesus said to him, "Recover your sight; [y]your faith has [z]made you well." [43][†]And immediately he recovered his sight and followed him, [a]glorifying God. And [b]all the people, when they saw it, gave praise to God.

Jesus and Zacchaeus

LUKE 19 [†] [c]He entered Jericho and was passing through. [2][†]And behold, there was a man named Zacchaeus. He was a chief tax collector and was rich. [3]And [d]he was seeking to see who Jesus was, but on account of the crowd he could not, because he was small in stature. [4]So he ran on ahead and climbed up into [e]a sycamore tree to see him, for he was about to pass that way. [5]And when Jesus came to the place, he looked up and said to him, "Zacchaeus, hurry and come down, for [f]I must stay at your house today." [6]So he hurried and came down and [g]received him joyfully. [7][†]And when they saw it, they all [h]grumbled, "He has gone in to be the guest of a man who is a sinner." [8][†]And Zacchaeus stood and said to the Lord, "Behold, Lord, the half of my goods [i]I give to the poor. And if I have [j]defrauded anyone of anything, I restore it [k]fourfold." [9][†]And Jesus said to him, “Today salvation has come to this house, since [l]he also is a son of Abraham. [10][†]For [m]the Son of Man came to seek and to save the lost.”

The Parable of the Ten Minas

[11][†]As they heard these things, he proceeded to tell a parable, because he was near to Jerusalem, and because [n]they supposed that the kingdom of God was to appear immediately. [12][†]He said therefore, [o]“A nobleman went into a far country to receive for himself a kingdom and then return. [13][†]Calling [p]ten of his servants, [1] he gave them ten minas, [2] and said to them, ‘Engage in business [q]until I come.’ [14][†]But [r]his citizens hated him and sent a delegation after him, saying, ‘We do not want this man to reign over us.’ [15][†]When he returned, having received the kingdom, he ordered these servants to whom he had given the money to be called to him, that he might know what they had gained by doing business. [16][†]The first came before him, saying, ‘Lord, your mina has made ten minas more.’ [17][†]And he said to him, ‘Well done, good servant! [3] Because you have been [s]faithful in a very little, [t]you shall have authority over ten cities.’ [18]And the second came, saying, ‘Lord, your mina has made five minas.’ [19]And he said to him, ‘And you are to be over five cities.’ [20][†]Then another came, saying, ‘Lord, here is your mina, which I kept laid away in [u]a handkerchief; [21][†]for I was afraid of you, because you are [v]a severe man. You take [w]what you did not deposit, and reap what you did not sow.’ [22]He said to him, [x]‘I will condemn you with your own words, [y]you wicked servant! You knew that I was [v]a severe man, taking what I did not deposit and reaping what I did not sow? [23]Why then did you not put my money in the bank, and at my coming I might have collected it with interest?’ [24]And he said to those who stood by, ‘Take the mina from him, and give it to the one who has the ten minas.’ [25]And they said to him, ‘Lord, he has ten minas!’ [26][†]‘I tell you that [z]to everyone who has, more will be given, but from the one who has not, even what he has will be taken away. [27][†]But [r]as for these enemies of mine, who did not want me to reign over them, bring them here and [a]slaughter them before me.’”

The Triumphal Entry

[28][†]And when he had said these things, [b]he went on ahead, [c]going up to Jerusalem. [29][†] [d]When he drew near to Bethphage and [e]Bethany, at [f]the mount that is called Olivet, he sent [g]two of the disciples, [30][†]saying, “Go into the village in front of you, where on entering you will find a colt tied, [h]on which no one has ever yet sat. Untie it and bring it here. [31]If anyone asks you, ‘Why are you untying it?’ you shall say this: ‘The Lord has need of it.’” [32]So those who were sent went away and found it [i]just as he had told them. [33]And as they were untying the colt, its owners said to them, “Why are you untying the colt?” [34]And they said, “The Lord has need of it.” [35][†]And they brought it to Jesus, and throwing their cloaks on the colt, they set Jesus on it. [36][†]And as he rode along, they [j]spread their cloaks on the road. [37][†]As he was drawing near—already on the way down the Mount of Olives—[k]the whole multitude of his disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice [l]for all the mighty works that they had seen, [38][†]saying, [m]“Blessed is [n]the King who comes in the name of the Lord! Peace in heaven and [o]glory in the highest!” [39][†] [p]And some of the Pharisees in the crowd said to him, “Teacher, rebuke your disciples.” [40]He answered, “I tell you, if these were silent, [q]the very stones would cry out.”

Jesus Weeps over Jerusalem

[41][†] [r]And when he drew near and saw the city, [s]he wept over it, [42][†]saying, [t]“Would that you, even you, had known on this day the things that make for peace! But now [u]they are hidden from your eyes. [43][†]For [v]the days will come upon you, when your enemies [w]will set up a barricade around you and [x]surround you and hem you in on every side [44][y]and tear you down to the ground, you and your children within you. And [z]they will not leave one stone upon another in you, because you did not know [a]the time of your [b]visitation.”

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

[45][†] [c]And he entered the temple and began to drive out those who sold, [46]saying to them, “It is written, [d]‘My house shall be a house of prayer,’ but

[e] you have made it a den of robbers.”

[47] [f] And he was teaching daily in the temple. [g] The chief priests and the scribes and the principal men of the people were seeking to destroy him, [48] but they did not find anything they could do, for all the people were hanging on his words.

The Authority of Jesus Challenged

LUKE 20 [†] [h] One day, [i] as Jesus [1] was teaching the people in the temple and preaching the gospel, [j] the chief priests and the scribes with the elders came up [2] and said to him, “Tell us [k] by what authority you do these things, or who it is that gave you this authority.” [3] He answered them, “I also will ask you a question. Now tell me, [4] was the baptism of John [l] from heaven or from man?” [5] And they discussed it with one another, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ he will say, [m] ‘Why did you not believe him?’ [6] But if we say, ‘From man,’ all the people will stone us to death, for they are convinced that John was [n] a prophet.” [7] So they answered that they did not know where it came from. [8] And Jesus said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.”

The Parable of the Wicked Tenants

[9] [†] [o] And he began to tell the people this parable: “A man planted [p] a vineyard and [q] let it out to tenants and [r] went into another country for a long while. [10] [†] When the time came, he sent a servant [2] to the tenants, so that [q] they would give him some of the fruit of the vineyard. [s] But the tenants beat him and sent him away empty-handed. [11] [t] And [s] he sent another servant. But they also beat and [u] treated him shamefully, and sent him away empty-handed. [12] [s] And he sent yet a third. This one also they wounded and cast out. [13] [†] Then the owner of the vineyard said, ‘What shall I do? I will send my [v] beloved son; perhaps they will respect him.’ [14] [†] But when the tenants saw him, they said to themselves, [w] ‘This is the heir. [x] Let us kill him, so that the inheritance may be ours.’ [15] [†] And they [y] threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. What then will the owner of the vineyard do to them? [16] [†] [z] He will [a] come and destroy those tenants and [b] give the vineyard to others.” When they heard this, they said, “Surely not!” [17][†]But he [c]looked directly at them and said, “What then is this that is written:

> [d]“‘The stone that the builders rejected
> has become the cornerstone’? [3]

[18][†] [e]Everyone who falls on that stone will be broken to pieces, and when it falls [f]on anyone, it will crush him.”

Paying Taxes to Caesar

[19] [h]The scribes and the chief priests sought to lay hands on him at that very hour, for they perceived that he had told this parable against them, but they feared the people. [20][†] [i]So they [j]watched him and sent spies, who [k]pretended to be sincere, that they might [l]catch him in something he said, so as to deliver him up to the authority and jurisdiction of [m]the governor. [21]So they asked him, “Teacher, we know that you speak and teach rightly, and [o]show no partiality, [4] but truly teach [p]the way of God. [22][†]Is it lawful for us to give [q]tribute to [r]Caesar, or not?” [23]But he perceived their [s]craftiness, and said to them, [24]“Show me [t]a denarius. [5] Whose likeness and inscription does it have?” They said, “Caesar’s.” [25][†]He said to them, “Then [u]render to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God the things that are God’s.” [26]And they were not able in the presence of the people [v]to catch him in what he said, but marveling at his answer they became silent.

Sadducees Ask About the Resurrection

[27][†]There came to him [w]some Sadducees, [x]those who deny that there is a resurrection, [28][†]and they asked him a question, saying, “Teacher, Moses wrote for us [y]that if a man’s brother dies, having a wife but no children, the man [6] must take the widow and raise up offspring for his brother. [29]Now there were seven brothers. The first took a wife, and died without children. [30]And the second [31]and the third took her, and likewise all seven left no children and died. [32]Afterward the woman also died. [33][†]In the resurrection, therefore, whose wife will the woman be? For the seven had her as wife.”

[34][†]And Jesus said to them, [z]“The sons of this age [a]marry and [a]are given in marriage, [35]but those who are [b]considered worthy to attain to [c]that age and to the resurrection from the dead [d]neither marry [d]nor are given in marriage, [36][†]for [e]they cannot die anymore, because they are [f]equal to angels and [g]are [h]sons of God, being [i]sons [7] of the resurrection. [37][†]But that the dead are raised, [j]even Moses showed, in [k]the passage about the bush, where he calls [l]the Lord the God of Abraham and the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob. [38]Now he is not God of the dead, but of the living, for all [m]live to him.” [39]Then some of the scribes [n]answered, “Teacher, you have spoken well.” [40]For [o]they no longer dared to ask him any question.

Whose Son Is the Christ?

[41][†][p]But he said to them, “How can they say that [q]the Christ is [q]David’s son? [42]For David himself says in the Book of Psalms, > [r]“‘The Lord said to my Lord,

> “Sit at my right hand,
> [43] until I make your enemies [s]your footstool.”’

[44]David thus calls him Lord, so [t]how is he his son?”

Beware of the Scribes

[45][†][u]And in the hearing of all the people he said to his disciples, [46]“Beware of the scribes, who like to walk around in long robes, and love greetings in the marketplaces and the best seats in the synagogues and [v]the places of honor at feasts, [47][w]who devour widows’ houses and [x]for a pretense make long prayers. They will receive the greater condemnation.”

The Widow’s Offering

LUKE 21 [†] [y]Jesus [1] looked up and saw the rich [z]putting their gifts into [a]the offering box, [2]and he saw a poor widow put in two [b]small copper coins. [2] [3]And he said, “Truly, I tell you, [c]this poor widow has put in more than all of them. [4]For they all contributed out of their abundance, but she out of her [d]poverty put in all [e]she had to live on.”

Jesus Foretells Destruction of the Temple

[5][†][f]And while some were speaking of the temple, how it was adorned with noble stones and offerings, he said, [6]“As for these things that you see, [g]the days will come when there will not be left here one stone upon another that will not be thrown down.” [7][†]And they asked him, “Teacher, [h]when will these things be, and what will be the sign when these things are about to take place?” [8]And he said, [i]“See that you are not led astray. For [j]many will come in my name, saying, [k]‘I am he!’ and, [l]‘The time is at hand!’ Do not go after them. [9]And when you hear of wars and tumults, do not be [m]terrified, for these things [n]must first take place, but the end will not be at once.”

Jesus Foretells Wars and Persecution

[10]Then he said to them, [o]“Nation will rise against nation, and [p]kingdom against kingdom. [11]There will be great [q]earthquakes, and in various places [r]famines and pestilences. And there will be [s]terrors and great [t]signs from heaven. [12][†]But before all this [u]they will lay their hands on you and persecute you, delivering you up to [v]the synagogues and [w]prisons, and you [x]will be brought before [y]kings and [z]governors for my name’s sake. [13][a]This will be your opportunity to bear witness. [14][†]Settle it therefore in your minds [b]not to meditate beforehand how to answer, [15]for [c]I will give you a mouth and [d]wisdom, which none of your adversaries will be able to withstand or [e]contradict. [16][†]You will be delivered up [f]even by parents and brothers [3] and relatives and friends, and some of you they will put to death. [17] [g] You will be hated by all for my name’s sake. [18][†]But [h] not a hair of your head will perish. [19][†]By your [i] endurance you will gain your lives.

Jesus Foretells Destruction of Jerusalem

[20][†]“But [j] when you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then know that [k] its desolation has come near. [21][†]Then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains, and let those who are inside the city depart, and let not those who are out in the country enter it, [22][†]for these are [l] days of [m] vengeance, to fulfill [n] all that is written. [23][†] [o] Alas for women who are pregnant and for those who are nursing infants in those days! For there will be great distress upon the earth and [p] wrath against this people. [24][†]They will fall by the edge of the sword and [q] be led captive among all nations, and [r] Jerusalem will be trampled underfoot by the Gentiles, [s] until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled.

The Coming of the Son of Man

[25][†]“And [t] there will be signs in sun and moon [u] and stars, and on the earth [v] distress of nations in perplexity because of the roaring of the sea and the waves, [26]people fainting with fear and with foreboding of what is coming on the world. For [w] the powers of the heavens will be shaken. [27]And then they will see [x] the Son of Man coming in a cloud [y] with power and great glory. [28]Now when these things begin to take place, straighten up and [z] raise your heads, because [a] your redemption is drawing near.”

The Lesson of the Fig Tree

[29]And he told them a parable: “Look at the fig tree, and all the trees. [30]As soon as they come out in leaf, you see [b] for yourselves and know that the summer is already near. [31][†]So also, when you see these things taking place, you know that the kingdom of God is near. [32][†] [c] Truly, I say to you, this generation will not pass away until all has taken place. [33][†] [d] Heaven and earth will pass away, but [e] my words will not pass away.

Watch Yourselves

[34][†]“But watch yourselves [f]lest [g]your hearts be weighed down with dissipation and drunkenness and [h]cares of this life, and [i]that day come upon you suddenly [j]like a trap. [35][†]For it will come upon all who dwell on the face of the whole earth. [36][†]But [k]stay awake at all times, [l]praying that you may [m]have strength to escape all these things that are going to take place, and [n]to stand before the Son of Man.”

[37]And [o]every day he was teaching in the temple, but [p]at night he went out and lodged on [q]the mount called Olivet. [38]And early in the morning [o]all the people came to him in the temple to hear him.

The Plot to Kill Jesus

LUKE 22 [†] [r]Now the Feast of Unleavened Bread drew near, which is called [s]the Passover. [2][†]And the chief priests and the scribes [t]were seeking how to put him to death, for they feared the people.

Judas to Betray Jesus

[3][†] [u]Then [v]Satan entered into [w]Judas called Iscariot, who was of the number of the twelve. [4][†]He went away and conferred with the chief priests and [x]officers how he might betray him to them. [5]And they were glad, and agreed to give him money. [6]So he consented and sought an opportunity to [y]betray him to them in the absence of a crowd.

The Passover with the Disciples

[7][†] [z]Then came [a]the day of Unleavened Bread, on which the Passover lamb had to be sacrificed. [8]So Jesus [1] sent Peter and John, saying, “Go and prepare the Passover for us, that we may eat it.” [9]They said to him, “Where will you have us prepare it?” [10]He said to them, “Behold, when you have entered the city, a man carrying a jar of water will meet you. Follow him into the house that he enters [11]and tell the master of the house, [b]‘The Teacher says to you, Where is [c]the guest room, where I may eat the Passover with my disciples?’ [12]And he will show you [d]a large upper room furnished; prepare it there.” [13]And they went and found it [e]just as he had told them, and they prepared the Passover.

Institution of the Lord’s Supper

[14][†][f]And when the hour came, he reclined at table, and the apostles with him. [15]And he said to them, “I have earnestly desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer. [16][†]For I tell you I will not eat it [2] [g]until it is fulfilled in the kingdom of God.” [17][†]And he took a cup, and [h]when he had given thanks he said, “Take this, and divide it among yourselves.
[18][i]For I tell you that from now on I will not drink of the fruit of the vine [g]until the kingdom of God comes.” [19][†][j]And he took bread, and [h]when he had given thanks, he broke it and gave it to them, saying, [k]“This is my body, which is given for you. Do this in remembrance of me.” [20][†]And likewise the cup after they had eaten, saying, [k]“This cup that is poured out for you is [l]the new [m]covenant in my blood. [3] [21][†][n]But behold, the hand of him who betrays me is [o]with me on the table. [22][†]For the Son of Man goes [p]as it has been determined, but woe to that man by whom he is betrayed!” [23][†]And they began to question one another, which of them it could be who was going to do this.

Who Is the Greatest?

[24][†][q]A dispute also arose among them, as to which of them was to be regarded as the greatest. [25][r]And he said to them, “The kings of the Gentiles [s]exercise lordship over them, and those in authority over them are called benefactors. [26][t]But not so with you. Rather, let [s]the greatest among you become as the youngest, and the leader as one who serves. [27][†]For who is the greater, [u]one who reclines at table or one who serves? Is it not the one who reclines at table? But [v]I am among you as the one who serves.

[28]“You are those who have stayed with me [w]in my trials, [29]and [x]I assign to you, as my Father assigned to me, a kingdom, [30][†][y]that you may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom and [z]sit on thrones judging [a]the twelve tribes of Israel.

Jesus Foretells Peter’s Denial

31[†]“Simon, Simon, behold, [b] Satan demanded to have you, [4] [c] that he might sift you like wheat, 32[†]but [d] I have prayed for you that your faith may not fail. And when you have turned again, [e] strengthen your brothers.” 33Peter [5] said to him, “Lord, I am ready to go with you both [f] to prison and [g] to death.” 34[†] [h] Jesus [6] said, “I tell you, Peter, the rooster will not crow this day, until you deny three times that you know me.”

Scripture Must Be Fulfilled in Jesus

35[†]And he said to them, [i] “When I sent you out with no moneybag or knapsack or sandals, did you lack anything?” They said, “Nothing.” 36He said to them, “But now let the one who has a moneybag take it, and likewise a knapsack. And let the one who has no sword sell his cloak and buy one. 37[†]For I tell you that [j] this Scripture must be fulfilled in me: [k] ‘And he was numbered with the transgressors.’ For [l] what is written about me has its fulfillment.” 38[†]And they said, “Look, Lord, here are two [m] swords.” And he said to them, [n] “It is enough.”

Jesus Prays on the Mount of Olives

39 [o] And he came out and went, [p] as was his custom, to [q] the Mount of Olives, and the disciples followed him. 40[†] [r] And when he came to [s] the place, he said to them, [t] “Pray that you may not [u] enter into temptation.” 41[†]And he withdrew from them about a stone’s throw, and [v] knelt down and prayed, 42[†]saying, [w] “Father, if you are willing, remove [x] this cup from me. [y] Nevertheless, not my will, but yours, be done.” 43And there appeared to him [z] an angel from heaven, strengthening him. 44[†]And [w] being in an agony he prayed more earnestly; and his sweat became like great drops of blood falling down to the ground. [7] 45[†]And when he rose from prayer, he came to the disciples and found them sleeping for sorrow, 46and he said to them, “Why are you sleeping? Rise and [a] pray that you may not enter into temptation.”

Betrayal and Arrest of Jesus

47[†] [b] While he was still speaking, there came a crowd, and the man called [c] Judas, one of the twelve, was leading them. He drew near to Jesus to kiss him, 48but Jesus said to him, "Judas, would you betray the Son of Man with a kiss?" 49[†]And when those who were around him saw what would follow, they said, "Lord, shall we strike [d] with the sword?" 50[†]And one of them struck the servant [8] of the high priest and cut off his right ear. 51But Jesus said, "No more of this!" And he touched his ear and healed him. 52[†]Then Jesus said to the chief priests and [e] officers of the temple and elders, who had come out against him, "Have you come out as against a robber, with swords and clubs? 53When [f] I was with you day after day in the temple, you did not lay hands on me. But this is [g] your hour, and [h] the power of darkness."

Peter Denies Jesus

54[†] [i] Then they seized him and led him away, bringing him into the high priest's house, [j] and Peter was following at a distance. 55 [k] And when they had kindled a fire in the middle of [l] the courtyard and sat down together, Peter sat down among them. 56Then a servant girl, seeing him as he sat in the light and looking closely at him, said, "This man also was with him." 57But he denied it, saying, "Woman, I do not know him." 58And a little later someone else saw him and said, "You also are one of them." But Peter said, "Man, I am not." 59[†]And after an interval of about an hour still another [m] insisted, saying, "Certainly this man also was with him, for he too is a Galilean." 60But Peter said, "Man, I do not know what you are talking about." And immediately, while he was still speaking, the rooster crowed. 61And the Lord turned and [n] looked at Peter. And Peter remembered the saying of the Lord, how he had said to him, [o] "Before the rooster crows today, you will [p] deny me three times." 62And he went out and wept bitterly.

Jesus Is Mocked

63[†] [q] Now the men who were holding Jesus in custody were mocking him as they beat him. 64 [q] They also blindfolded him and kept asking him, [r]“Prophesy! [r]Who is it that struck you?” 65And they said many other things against him, [s]blaspheming him.

Jesus Before the Council

66[†] [t]When day came, [u]the assembly of the elders of the people gathered together, both chief priests and scribes. And they led him away to their [v]council, and they [w]said, 67[†] [x]“If you are [y]the Christ, tell us.” But he said to them, “If I tell you, you will not believe, 68and if I ask you, you will not answer. 69[†]But from now on the Son of Man shall be seated [z]at the right hand of the power of God.” 70[†]So they all said, “Are you [a]the Son of God, then?” And he said to them, [b]“You say that I am.” 71[†]Then they said, “What further testimony do we need? We have heard it ourselves from his own lips.”

Jesus Before Pilate

LUKE 23 [†] [c]Then the whole company of them arose and brought him before Pilate. 2[†]And they began to accuse him, saying, “We found this man [d]misleading our nation and [e]forbidding us to give tribute to [f]Caesar, and saying that he himself is Christ, [g]a king.” 3[†] [h]And Pilate asked him, [i]“Are you the King of the Jews?” And he answered him, [j]“You have said so.” 4[†]Then Pilate said to the chief priests and the crowds, [k]“I find no guilt in this man.” 5But they were urgent, saying, “He stirs up the people, teaching throughout all Judea, [l]from Galilee even to this place.”

Jesus Before Herod

6[†]When Pilate heard this, he asked whether the man was a Galilean. 7[†]And when he learned that he belonged to [m]Herod’s jurisdiction, he sent him over to Herod, who was himself in Jerusalem at that time. 8When Herod saw Jesus, he was very glad, [n]for he had long desired to see him, [o]because he had heard about him, and he was hoping [p]to see some sign done by him. 9[†]So he questioned him at some length, but he made no answer. 10The chief priests and the scribes stood by, vehemently accusing him. 11[†]And Herod with his soldiers [q]treated him with contempt and [r]mocked him. Then, [s]arraying him in splendid clothing, he sent him back to Pilate. 12And [t]Herod and Pilate became friends with each other that very day, for before this they had been at enmity with each other.

13Pilate then called together the chief priests and [u]the rulers and the people, 14[†]and said to them, “You brought me this man [v]as one who was misleading the people. And [w]after examining him before you, behold, I [x]did not find this man guilty of any of your charges against him. 15Neither did Herod, for [y]he sent him back to us. Look, nothing deserving death has been done by him. 16 [z]I will therefore punish and release him.” [1]

Pilate Delivers Jesus to Be Crucified

18[†] [a]But they all cried out together, [b]“Away with this man, and release to us Barabbas”— 19a man who had been thrown into prison for an insurrection started in the city and [c]for murder. 20Pilate addressed them once more, desiring to release Jesus, 21but they kept shouting, “Crucify, crucify him!” 22[†]A third time he said to them, “Why, [d]what evil has he done? [e]I have found in him no guilt deserving death. [f]I will therefore punish and release him.” 23But they were urgent, demanding with loud cries that he should be crucified. And their voices prevailed. 24So Pilate decided that their demand should be granted. 25[†]He released the man who had been thrown into prison [g]for insurrection and murder, for whom they asked, [h]but he delivered Jesus over to their will.

The Crucifixion

26[†] [i]And as they led him away, they seized one Simon of Cyrene, who was coming in from the country, and laid on him the cross, to carry it behind Jesus. 27[†]And there followed him a great multitude of the people and of women who were [j]mourning and lamenting for him. 28But turning to them Jesus said, “Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep for me, but weep for yourselves and for your children. 29For behold, [k]the days are coming when they will say, [l]‘Blessed are the barren and the wombs that never bore and the breasts that never nursed!’ 30 [m]Then they will begin to say to the mountains, ‘Fall on us,’ and to the hills, ‘Cover us.’ [31]For [n]if they do these things when [o]the wood is green, what will happen [o]when it is dry?”

[32][†][p]Two others, who were criminals, were led away to be put to death with him. [33][†][q]And when they came to the place that is called The Skull, there they crucified him, and the criminals, [p]one on his right and one on his left. [34][†]And Jesus said, “Father, [r]forgive them, [s]for they know not what they do.” [2] And they cast lots [t]to divide his garments. [35][†]And [u]the people stood by, watching, [v]but [w]the rulers [x]scoffed at him, saying, [y]“He saved others; [z]let him save himself, [a]if he is [b]the Christ of God, [c]his Chosen One!” [36][†]The soldiers also mocked him, coming up and [d]offering him sour wine [37]and saying, [e]“If you are [f]the King of the Jews, save yourself!” [38][†][g]There was also an inscription over him, [3] “This is [f]the King of the Jews.”

[39][†][h]One of the criminals who were hanged [i]railed at him, [4] saying, “Are you not [j]the Christ? Save yourself and us!” [40]But the other rebuked him, saying, “Do you not fear God, since you are under the same sentence of condemnation? [41]And we indeed justly, for we are receiving the due reward of our deeds; but this man has done nothing wrong.” [42]And he said, “Jesus, remember me [k]when you come into your kingdom.” [43]And he said to him, “Truly, I say to you, today you will be with me in [l]Paradise.”

The Death of Jesus

[44][†][m]It was now about the sixth hour, [5] and there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour, [6] [45]while the sun’s light failed. And [n]the curtain of the temple was torn in two. [46][†]Then Jesus, [o]calling out with a loud voice, said, “Father, [p]into your hands I [q]commit my spirit!” And having said this [r]he breathed his last. [47][†]Now [s]when the centurion saw what had taken place, [t]he praised God, saying, “Certainly this man was innocent!” [48][†]And all the crowds that had assembled for this spectacle, when they saw what had taken place, returned home [u]beating their breasts. [49][†]And all [v]his acquaintances and [w]the women who had followed him from Galilee [x]stood at a distance watching these things.

Jesus Is Buried

[50][†] [y]Now there was a man named Joseph, from the Jewish town of Arimathea. He was a member of the council, a good and righteous man, [51]who had not consented to their decision and action; and he [z]was looking for the kingdom of God. [52][†]This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. [53][†]Then he took it down and wrapped it in a linen shroud and [a]laid him in a tomb cut in stone, [b]where no one had ever yet been laid. [54][†]It was the day of [c]Preparation, and the Sabbath was beginning. [7] [55][†] [d]The women [e]who had come with him from Galilee followed and saw the tomb and how his body was laid. [56][†]Then they returned and [f]prepared spices and ointments.

On the Sabbath they rested [g]according to the commandment.

The Resurrection

LUKE 24 [†] [h]But on the first day of the week, at early dawn, they went to the tomb, [i]taking the spices they had prepared. [2]And they found [j]the stone rolled away from the tomb, [3]but when they went in they did not find the body of the Lord Jesus. [4][†]While they were perplexed about this, behold, [k]two [l]men stood by them in dazzling apparel. [5][†]And as they were [m]frightened and bowed their faces to the ground, the men said to them, “Why do you seek the living among the dead? [6][†]He is not here, but has risen. Remember how he told you, [n]while he was still in Galilee, [7][†] [n]that the Son of Man [o]must be delivered into the hands of sinful men and [p]be crucified and on [q]the third day rise.” [8][†]And [r]they remembered his words, [9][†]and returning from the tomb they [s]told all these things to the eleven and to all the rest. [10][†]Now it was [t]Mary Magdalene and [u]Joanna and Mary the mother of James and the other women with them who told these things to the apostles, [11]but these words seemed to them an idle tale, and [v]they did not believe them. [12][†]But [w]Peter rose and ran to the tomb; stooping and looking in, he saw [x]the linen cloths by themselves; and he went home marveling at what had happened.

On the Road to Emmaus

[13][†]That very day [y]two of them were going to a village named Emmaus, about seven miles [1] from Jerusalem, [14]and they were talking with each other about all these things that had happened. [15]While they were talking and discussing together, Jesus himself drew near and went with them. [16][†] [z]But their eyes were kept from recognizing him. [17]And he said to them, “What is this conversation that you are holding with each other as you walk?” And they stood still, looking sad. [18]Then one of them, named Cleopas, answered him, “Are you the only visitor to Jerusalem who does not know the things that have happened there in these days?” [19][†]And he said to them, “What things?” And they said to him, “Concerning Jesus of Nazareth, a man who was [a]a prophet [b]mighty in deed and word before God and all the people, [20]and [c]how our chief priests and [d]rulers delivered him up to be condemned to death, and crucified him. [21]But we had hoped that he was [e]the one to redeem Israel. Yes, and besides all this, it is now [f]the third day since these things happened. [22]Moreover, some women of our company amazed us. [g]They were at the tomb early in the morning, [23]and [h]when they did not find his body, they came back saying that [i]they had even seen a vision of angels, who said that he was alive. [24][†] [j]Some of those who were with us went to the tomb and found it just as the women had said, but him they did not see.” [25]And he said to them, “O foolish ones, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken! [26][†] [k]Was it not necessary that [l]the Christ should suffer these things and enter into [m]his glory?” [27][†]And [n]beginning with [o]Moses and [p]all the Prophets, he interpreted to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning himself.

[28]So they drew near to the village to which they were going. [q]He acted as if he were going farther, [29]but they urged him strongly, saying, “Stay with us, for it is toward evening and [r]the day is now far spent.” So he went in to stay with them. [30][†]When he was at table with them, he took the bread and [s]blessed and broke it and gave it to them. [31][†] [t]And their eyes were opened, and they recognized him. And [u]he vanished from their sight. [32]They said to each other, [v]“Did not our hearts burn within us while he talked to us on the road, while he [w]opened to us the Scriptures?” [33]And they rose that same hour and returned to Jerusalem. And they [x]found the eleven and [y]those who were with them gathered together, [34][†]saying, “The Lord has risen indeed, and [z]has appeared to Simon!” [35]Then they told what had happened on the road, and [a]how he was known to them in [b]the breaking of the bread.

Jesus Appears to His Disciples

[36][†]As they were talking about these things, [c]Jesus himself stood among them, and said to them, “Peace to you!” [37]But they were [d]startled and [e]frightened and [f]thought they saw a spirit. [38][†]And he said to them, “Why are you troubled, and why do doubts arise in your hearts? [39][†]See my hands and my feet, that it is I myself. [g]Touch me, and see. For a spirit does not have flesh and bones as you see that I have.” [40]And when he had said this, [h]he showed them his hands and his feet. [41][†]And while they still disbelieved [i]for joy and were marveling, [j]he said to them, “Have you anything here to eat?” [42]They gave him a piece of broiled fish, [2] [43]and he took it and ate before them.

[44][†]Then he said to them, [k]“These are my words that I spoke to you while I was still with you, [l]that everything written about me in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms must be fulfilled.” [45][†]Then [m]he opened their minds to understand the Scriptures, [46][†]and said to them, “Thus [n]it is written, [o]that the Christ should suffer and on the third day [p]rise from the dead, [47][†]and that [q]repentance and [3] forgiveness of sins should be proclaimed [r]in his name [s]to all nations, [t]beginning from Jerusalem. [48][†] [u]You are witnesses of these things. [49][†]And behold, I am sending [v]the promise of my Father upon you. But stay in the city until you [w]are clothed with [x]power [y]from on high.”

The Ascension

[50][†]Then [z]he led them out as far as [a]Bethany, and lifting up his hands he blessed them. [51][†]While he blessed them, [b]he parted from them and was carried up into heaven. [52][†]And they [c]worshiped him and [z]returned to Jerusalem [d]with great joy, [53]and [e]were continually in the temple [f]blessing God.

Study Notes for Luke

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:1–4 The Prologue. The prologue to Luke's Gospel is a single sentence. It is among the finest Greek writing of the first century and demonstrates Luke's skill as a writer.

FACT

Who wrote Luke? Luke wrote both this Gospel account and Acts. He probably traveled with Paul and participated in his ministry (see Col. 4:14; 2 Tim. 4:11; Philem. 24). Luke was also a physician (Col. 4:14).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:1 Many may include more than just the authors of the Gospels. Accomplished emphasizes that Jesus' ministry is the fulfillment of OT prophecy.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:2–3 The sources for Luke were eyewitnesses and ministers, especially the faithful 11 of the 12 apostles (6:13–16). delivered. A technical Greek term for passing on tradition. word. Divine revelation. most excellent. An address for officials and people of high social standing (compare Acts 24:2; 26:25).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:5–2:52 The Infancy Narrative. The opening (1:8–23) and conclusion (2:21–52) of this section take place in the temple (see Herod's Temple in the Time of Jesus).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:5–25 In Jesus' day, most Jews believed that for more than 400 years the Holy Spirit had not been active in Israel, because there had been no prophets since Malachi. Now God once again visits his people.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:5–7 John the Baptist's birth is foretold during the reign of Herod the Great, the king of Judea. After Rome made him king in 40 B.C., Herod ruled Judea, Galilee, Samaria, Perea, and Idumea from 37–4 B.C. He murdered his wife, several of his own sons, and other relatives. He restored the temple in Jerusalem and built many theaters, cities, palaces, and fortresses throughout the Roman Empire. division of Abijah. The priests were divided into 24 divisions, each of which served for a week, twice a year. During major festivals (Passover, Pentecost, Feast of Tabernacles) all the divisions served.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:12 fear fell upon him. A typical reaction to an angelic or divine presence (compare vv. 29–30, 65; 2:9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:13–14 your prayer has been heard. Zechariah may have been pleading for Israel as a nation. He apparently also asked God for a child, as indicated by v. 13b (compare Gen. 25:21; 30:22; 1 Sam. 1:10–17).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:15 Not using wine and strong drink indicates John's lifestyle was like the Nazirites' (Num. 6:1–3). His being filled with the Holy Spirit in the womb (Luke 1:41) reveals God's equipping him for ministry. It also indicates that he was a distinct human person before birth.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:16–17 turn. Compare Acts 9:35; 11:21. go before him. Compare "Prepare the way," Luke 3:4. The terms spirit and power are frequently linked (e.g., 4:14; Acts 1:8; 10:38; 1 Cor. 2:4; 1 Thess. 1:5), for the Holy Spirit gives power for ministry. For John's association with Elijah, compare Luke 9:8–9, 19; and see note on John 1:20–21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:19 Gabriel. See Dan. 9:21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:22 Mute may mean both deaf and mute (see note on vv. 62–63).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:24–25 Why Elizabeth remained in seclusion five months is unclear. to take away my reproach. Childlessness was considered a disgrace (compare Gen. 30:23; Isa. 4:1).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:26 sixth month. The sixth month of Elizabeth's pregnancy (v. 24). Nazareth was a small agricultural settlement.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:27 Virgin describes Mary's condition both before the conception and during pregnancy (Matt. 1:25). betrothed. A legally binding engagement, breakable only by divorce (Matt. 1:19). Joseph is a descendant of David (see Matt. 1:20; Luke 2:4; 3:23–38).

FACT

Mary's song includes one of Luke's major themes: the great reversal taking place in the world, in which God will exalt the humble and humble the proud (1:48, 52–53). God often uses seemingly insignificant people to achieve his remarkable purposes.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:32 Most High. This name for the true God comes from Gen. 14:18–22. Whereas John is the "prophet of the Most High" (Luke 1:76), Jesus is the "Son of the Most High." throne of his father David. See 2 Sam. 7:12–13, 16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:35 The Holy Spirit will perform a great miracle, so that Mary will become pregnant without having sexual relations with a man. Therefore indicates that Jesus' holiness comes from his being conceived by the Holy Spirit. He did not inherit a sinful nature from Adam (see 2 Cor. 5:21; Heb. 4:15; 1 Pet. 2:22; 1 John 3:5; by contrast, Ps. 143:2; Eph. 2:3).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:39–41 In those days links the present account with the previous one (compare 6:12; Acts 1:15).

MARY

As a young woman in Nazareth, Mary became betrothed to Joseph, a carpenter. The angel Gabriel visited Mary to announce that she had "found favor with God" (1:30) and would become the mother of the Messiah, whose name would be Jesus. While still a virgin, she would conceive through the power of the Holy Spirit. Though understandably confused by this news, Mary submitted to the Lord's will for her life, saying, "Let it be to me according to your word" (1:38). As she observed the amazing events unfolding around her, Mary "treasured up all these things, pondering them in her heart" (2:19; see also 2:51). This included the warning that a "sword will pierce through your own soul also" (2:35), a prophecy fulfilled as, some 30 years later, she watched with sorrow as her son died on a cross. (Luke 1:26–38)

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:44 leaped for joy. At the sixth month of pregnancy, the unborn child was a distinct person, able to feel joy.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:46–55 Mary's song of praise traditionally has been called the "Magnificat," based on the Latin for the opening word, "magnifies." The Magnificat is the first of three hymns in chs. 1–2. The other two are the "Benedictus" (1:68–79) and the "Nunc Dimittis" (2:29–32).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:46–47 My soul magnifies the Lord. Mary's hymn of praise follows the common form of psalms of thanksgiving. These begin by thanking God and then telling why one is thankful. God my Savior. Mary herself is not free from sin but is in need of a Savior.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:48 for he has looked. This first reason for Mary's praise recalls Hannah's hymn (1 Sam. 2:1–10). humble estate. See Luke 1:52; 1 Cor. 1:26–29. All generations . . . blessed recalls Luke 1:42.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:50–55 fear. Reverent, humble obedience that seeks to please God. The second reason for Mary's praise is introduced by He has shown strength with his arm, a tribute to God's power. To Abraham and to his offspring emphasizes the fulfillment of God's promises.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:58 shown great mercy. See v. 25. Rejoiced with her is a partial fulfillment of v. 14 (see 2:10).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:59 Circumcision on the eighth day is commanded in Gen. 17:12–14; 21:4; Lev. 12:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:60 John. See v. 13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:62–63 They made signs to his father indicates that Zechariah was deaf as well as mute, or else they would simply have spoken to him. This is confirmed by the people's amazement (v. 63) that he chose the same name Elizabeth chose.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:67 Zechariah, filled with the Holy Spirit like Elizabeth (v. 41), gives a prophecy (vv. 68–79).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:68–79 Zechariah's prophecy is a single sentence in Greek. It is often called the "Benedictus," from its first word in Latin. Like the Magnificat (see note on vv. 46–55), the Benedictus begins with a word of praise: Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, for he has visited and redeemed his people. With the events of vv. 5–67, the promised time of salvation has begun.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:69 The horn, symbolizing strength, refers to Jesus. David. See v. 27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:70 As he spoke . . . from of old emphasizes the fulfillment and continuity between the old and new covenants (see vv. 72–73).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:76–77 knowledge of salvation. Such knowledge results in a change of heart and behavior (e.g., “repentance”; compare 3:7–8).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:78–79 the sunrise shall visit us . . . to give light. Probably a metaphor referring to the coming of the Messiah (compare Isa. 60:2–3; Mal. 4:2; and perhaps Num. 24:17).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:80 the child grew and became strong in spirit. Compare 2:40.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:1–52 Luke records the events of Jesus’ birth (vv. 1–20), his presentation in the temple (vv. 21–40), and his visit to the temple at age 12 (vv. 41–52).

Jesus' Birth and Flight to Egypt

As the time drew near for Jesus to be born, a mandatory Roman registration made it necessary for Joseph to return to his ancestral home of Bethlehem. There Mary gave birth to Jesus, and later, wise men from the East came to worship him. The wise men's recognition of a new king, however, troubled King Herod and the ruling establishment in Jerusalem, and Herod the Great sought to kill Jesus. Joseph and his family escaped to Egypt and stayed there until Herod died. When they returned to Palestine, they settled in the remote district of Galilee, where Jesus grew up in the village of Nazareth, to avoid the attention of the rulers in Jerusalem.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:1 Jesus was born in Bethlehem because of a decree, that is, a command (see Acts 17:7), from Caesar Augustus (reigned 31 B.C.–A.D. 14). In those days suggests that Luke did not know the exact year (see Luke 3:23). All the world means the entire known, inhabited world that was subject to Rome. People were registered for the purpose of taxation.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:2 the first registration when Quirinius was governor. According to Josephus, Quirinius was governor of Syria A.D. 6–7 and conducted a census in A.D. 6 (which Luke mentions in Acts 5:37). But this cannot be the census Luke is referencing here, since it occurred after the death of Herod the Great in 4 B.C., and Jesus was born during Herod's reign (see Matt. 2:1; Luke 1:5). Some interpreters believe that Quirinius was the "governor" of the census, but not the governor proper. Another solution is to translate the verse, "This was the registration before Quirinius was governor of Syria" (see ESV footnote). Luke would then be clarifying that this was before the well-known, troublesome census of A.D. 6 (Acts 5:37). (One additional proposal is that Quirinius was governor for two separate terms, though this lacks confirming historical evidence.) The most reasonable date for the registration is late in the year of 6 B.C. or early 5.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:3–4 Joseph's ancestral home (own town) was Bethlehem. They went up . . . to Judea, since Bethlehem (in Judea) lies on a mountain 2,654 feet (809 m) high. The references to David (1:27, 32–33; 2:11; see 1 Sam. 16:4, 13) explain why Jesus was born in Bethlehem (see Mic. 5:2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:6 the time came. See Mic. 5:2; Matt. 2:1–6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:7 swaddling cloths. Strips of cloth that wrapped babies to keep them warm and secure. manger. A feeding trough for animals. The inn, with the definite article ("the"), indicates that this was a specific, publicly known lodging place for travelers. no place for them. The inn was full, since many had come to Bethlehem to register for the census (see note on v. 2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:9 the glory of the Lord. The bright light that surrounds the presence of God himself. It may appear as a cloud, a bright light, or a burning fire (see Ex. 16:10; 24:17; Ezek. 1:28; Rev. 21:23).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:10 Fear not. A typical reaction to an angelic or divine presence. I bring you good news is the verb form of "gospel."

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:11 a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. These three titles reveal the greatness of Mary's son. For "Savior," see 1:69; Acts 5:31; 13:23. "Christ" is Greek for the Hebrew "Messiah." See "the Christ," Acts 5:42; 17:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:13 a multitude of the heavenly host. Thousands of angels.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:14 peace. The peace of salvation that God gives through his Son (see note on John 14:27; also Isa. 9:6). among those with whom he is pleased. God's gift of "peace" will come not to all humanity but to those whom God calls to himself.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:21 he was called Jesus. The name Jesus ("Joshua" in Hebrew) means "the Lord saves."

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:22 the time . . . for their purification. Forty days after Jesus' birth (Lev. 12:3–4). up to Jerusalem. Jerusalem is on a mountain.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:24 A pair of turtledoves, or two young pigeons indicates that Joseph and Mary were poor (see Lev. 12:8).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:25–26 Nothing else is known about Simeon. Consolation of Israel is the hope that God would come to rescue and comfort his people (see 23:50–51; Acts 10:22; see also Isa. 40:1; 49:13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:27 in the Spirit. Under the guidance and direction of the Holy Spirit (compare Matt. 22:43; Acts 19:21; Eph. 6:18; Rev. 1:10; 4:2). The encounter is in the temple complex (see Herod's Temple Complex in the Time of Jesus).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:30–32 all peoples. Both Israel and the Gentiles.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:34–35 Fall refers to judgment; rising refers to salvation. A sign that is opposed foretells future opposition to Jesus. Sword refers to Mary's future sorrow at Jesus' crucifixion (see John 19:25).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:39 Nazareth was a small agricultural settlement.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:40 grew and became strong, filled with wisdom. . . . the favor of God. Compare 1:80. Jesus experienced physical and intellectual growth as any ordinary human child would, but he also experienced "the favor of God" in an unusual and increasing way (2:52).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:41 every year. See Deut. 16:16. The Passover was the opening-day feast of the seven-day Feast of Unleavened Bread (Lev. 23:5–6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:43–44 a day's journey. About 20 miles (32 km).

FACT

Why was Jesus taken to Jerusalem at age 12? At age 13, a Jewish boy was considered a man. It is possible that Joseph and Mary took Jesus to Jerusalem as part of his final preparation for this new stage in his life.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:46–47 After three days (a day's journey from Jerusalem, a day returning, and a day of searching for Jesus) his parents found Jesus in the temple. On the temple, see note on John 2:14.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:49 I must be reveals a sense of obligation. In my Father's house indicates that, at age 12, Jesus was clearly aware of being the Son of God. He also understood that teaching would be central to his ministry.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:50 And they did not understand. For similar misunderstandings, see 9:45; 18:34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:51 went down. The reverse of v. 4. his mother treasured. Compare v. 19.

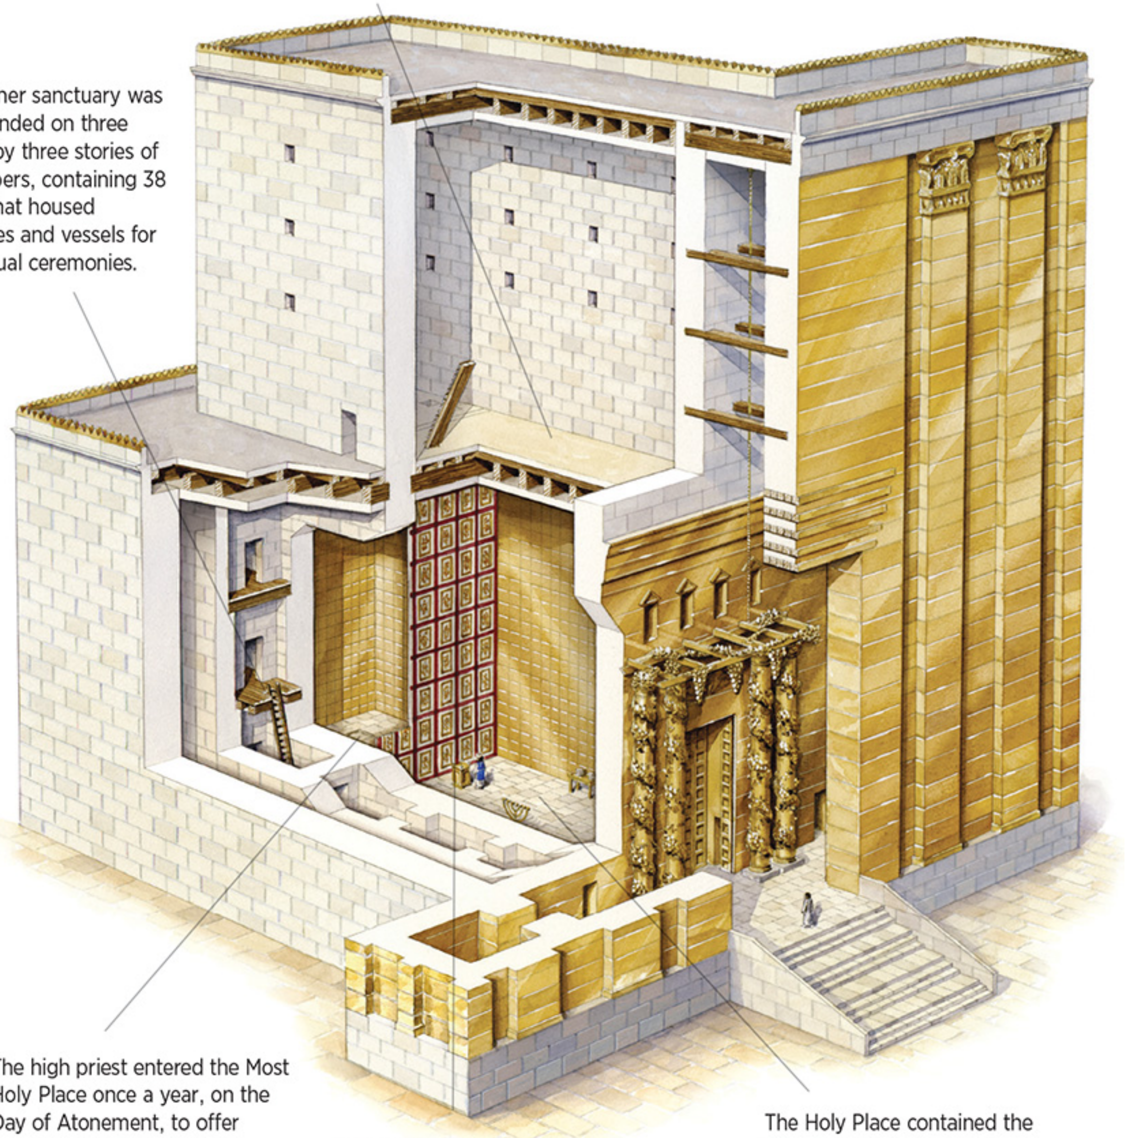
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:52 Jesus increased in wisdom. See 1:80; 2:40. His true humanity is seen in his learning as other human beings learn.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:1–4:15 Preparation for the Ministry of Jesus. Luke describes John the Baptist's ministry of preparation for Jesus (3:1–20). Then the focus shifts to Jesus himself (3:21–4:15).

Herod's Temple in the Time of Jesus

Herod began construction of this magnificent temple in 20/19 B.C., during the 18th year of his reign. The main construction phase was completed within about a decade. Detailed descriptions of the temple exist in Josephus (Jewish Antiquities 15.380–425; Jewish War 5.184–247) and in early rabbinic writings. The Roman army under Titus destroyed the temple during the capture of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. The temple was 172 feet (52 m) long, wide, and high (about 16 to 20 stories tall).



There was an upper chamber above the sanctuary, which allowed access (through holes in the floor) for cleaning of the gold-covered walls below. A ladder (shown partly cut away in this section) gave access to the upper roof level.

The inner sanctuary was surrounded on three sides by three stories of chambers, containing 38 cells that housed supplies and vessels for the ritual ceremonies.

The high priest entered the Most Holy Place once a year, on the Day of Atonement, to offer incense and sprinkle blood. Josephus reports that this room was empty, although the original emplacement of the Ark of the Covenant in the "Foundation Stone" was still visible.

A massive curtain separated the Holy Place from the Most Holy Place. When Jesus died, this curtain was torn in two from top to bottom (Matt. 27:51; Mark 15:38; Luke 23:45).

The Holy Place contained the lampstand, the table for the bread of the Presence, and the altar of incense. An angel of the Lord appeared to Zechariah on the right side of the incense altar (Luke 1:11).

FACT

What is a tetrarch? A tetrarch (3:1) ruled over part of a region. Herod Antipas became the tetrarch of Galilee when his father, Herod the Great, died in 4 B.C. Luke lists the names of rulers in order to show the historical accuracy of his writing (see 1:1–4).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:1 In the fifteenth year of . . . Tiberius Caesar is probably A.D. 29 (plus or minus a year). Tiberius reigned as emperor from 14 to 37. Pontius Pilate . . . governor of Judea. Pilate ruled over Judea A.D. 26–36 (see note on 23:1). Herod Antipas was a tetrarch, ruling Galilee and Perea from 4 B.C. to A.D. 39 (see Matt. 14:1). Herod Philip II was tetrarch of the territories east of the Jordan River and largely north of the Yarmuk River from 4 B.C. to A.D. 34. Antipas and Philip II were both sons of Herod the Great. They were designated as Herod's heirs upon his death in 4 B.C. Lysanias ruled a territory near Damascus. Luke's precision in naming five Roman officials with their specific titles shows his concern for historical detail. Historical records outside of the Bible confirm Luke's accuracy.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:2 high priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas. Caiaphas was the actual high priest at this time (A.D. 18–36). Annas had been high priest A.D. 6–15 but was still called "high priest" after he left office (see notes on John 18:13; 18:24). The word of God came to John designates him as a prophet like the OT prophets (compare 1 Sam. 15:10; Jer. 1:4; Ezek. 1:3). After a silence of some 460 years, God was once again speaking to his people (see note on Luke 1:5–25). in the wilderness. See Isa. 40:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:3 baptism of repentance. To repent, or “change one’s mind,” called for a change in a person’s attitude toward God that affected one’s actions and life choices. Baptize means “to dip or immerse.” When people were baptized by John, going under the water symbolized the cleansing of sin. See note on Mark 1:4. John apparently baptized in several locations throughout the region near the Jordan River (see note on John 1:28).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:4–5 The quotation is from Isaiah 40:3–5. These metaphors of “preparing” the way of the coming Messiah involve both the removal of obstacles (every mountain and hill shall be made low) and the bringing about of moral reform (the crooked shall become straight; compare Luke 1:52; 14:11; 18:14; Acts 2:40).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:6 All flesh shall see predicts the salvation of the Gentiles (see 2:30–32).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:7 vipers. Poisonous snakes. Who warned you to flee? That is, “Who has told you to flee the coming wrath by merely submitting to a rite of baptism?”

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:8 “We have Abraham as our father.” Compare John 8:39, 53. One is not a member of God’s family by birth but by responding personally to God’s call.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:9 the axe . . . trees. A warning that the coming judgment is very close (compare 13:6–9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:10 What then (in light of vv. 7–9) shall we do? See vv. 12–14.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:11 tunics. Garments worn under the cloak (see 6:29).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:12–14 Tax collectors. See note on Matt. 5:46–47. They collected tolls, tariffs, and customs, and were notoriously dishonest and despised. soldiers. John does not say that working for the Roman government as a tax collector or soldier is in itself morally wrong, but God expects upright conduct from all his people.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:16 He (the Messiah) will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire. This baptism took place at Pentecost in Acts 2. Whether being baptized "with the Holy Spirit and fire" will be positive (the purifying fire of the Spirit at Pentecost; Acts 1:8; 2:3) or negative (the divine judgment of fire; Luke 9:54; 12:49) depends on the response of the individual person. See notes on Matt. 3:11; Acts 2:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:17 winnowing fork. A wooden pitchfork used to throw chaff and grain into the air to separate them. Unquenchable fire portrays the horrible nature of the final judgment.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:18–20 John is different from the OT prophets because he is the first preacher of the good news of the kingdom of God (see 16:16).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:21–4:15 Jesus' identity as God's Son (1:31–35) is confirmed at his baptism by a voice from heaven (3:22) and his anointing by the Spirit (3:22; 4:1, 18); by his genealogy (3:38); and by Satan's acknowledgment of him as the Son of God at his temptation (4:3, 9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:21–22 Jesus submits to John's baptism of repentance to identify with Israel's sin. This foreshadows the vicarious judgment he will endure at the cross.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:22 the Holy Spirit descended on him. The Holy Spirit prepares Jesus for his ministry (see 4:1, 14, especially vv. 18–19). You are my beloved Son. God's declaration (compare 1:31–35; 2:49) will be repeated at the transfiguration (9:35). Well pleased shows that the Father takes delight in all that Jesus is and has done. It may also refer to Isa. 42:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:23–38 Luke traces Jesus' lineage back to Adam to show that Jesus is the fulfillment of the hopes of all people (compare note on Matt. 1:17). The genealogies in Matthew and Luke differ significantly in the period from David to Jesus, even naming different fathers for Joseph (Jacob in Matt. 1:16; Heli in Luke 3:23). The most commonly accepted explanation for this difference is that Matthew traces the line of royal succession while Luke traces Joseph's actual physical descent. Both lines converge at Joseph. In this scenario, a second marriage of Joseph's mother is usually assumed (sometimes a levirate marriage; see note on Matt. 22:24), so that Joseph was the legal son of one of her husbands but the physical son of the other. In any case, both of these genealogies emphasize that Jesus was the "son of David" (Luke 3:31; see Matt. 1:6). Luke further emphasizes the virgin birth (see Luke 1:34–35) with the wording “being the son (as was supposed) of Joseph” (3:23).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:23 If Jesus was born sometime before Herod the Great’s death in 4 B.C. (see Matt. 2:16) and began his ministry c. A.D. 28 (see Luke 3:1), he would have been about thirty years old (or in his early 30s).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:38 For the son of God, see 1:31–35; 2:11; 3:22.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:2 forty days. Jesus’ 40 days of fasting in the wilderness corresponds to Israel’s 40 years of testing in the wilderness (Deut. 8:2–3). Moses also fasted and prayed for 40 days and nights on two occasions (Ex. 24:18; 34:28). Fasting was a means of focusing on prayer. Being tempted indicates Jesus was tempted the entire 40 days and that the three temptations mentioned marked the end of the temptations. devil. He is God’s supreme enemy.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:3–4 command this stone . . . bread. Satan tempted Jesus to use his power to satisfy his own desires rather than trusting in God to supply all that he needed during this temptation. Jesus’ reply tells what the people of Israel should have learned in the wilderness: “Man shall not live by bread alone” (Deut. 8:3). Satisfying one’s feeling of need for food is not as important as trusting and obeying God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:5–8 And the devil took him up introduces another temptation but does not imply that the temptations occurred in this order (compare Matt. 4:1–11). all this authority and their glory . . . has been delivered to me. Though in some sense Satan is the “ruler of this world” (John 12:31; see 1 John 5:19), his claim here should not be accepted as fully true, for all authority belongs to God (see Rom. 13:1–4; Ps. 24:1). This is a temptation to break the first commandment (Ex. 20:3).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:9–12 The next temptation takes place on the pinnacle of the temple, the southeastern corner of the Temple Mount, overlooking the Kidron Valley (see note on Matt. 4:5). “He will . . . guard you.” This time the Devil quotes Scripture (Ps. 91:11–12), but the psalmist did not mean that a person should try to force God to protect him. Jesus replies, “You shall not put the Lord your God to the test” (Deut. 6:16).

FACT

The pinnacle of the temple (4:9) was probably located at the southeastern corner of the Temple Mount. It overlooked the steep drop into the Kidron Valley, some 300 feet (91 m) below.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:13–15 Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit to Galilee. For the connection between "power" and "Spirit," see note on 1:16–17. That Luke describes Jesus as being glorified by all shows Luke's strong belief in Jesus' deity.

FACT

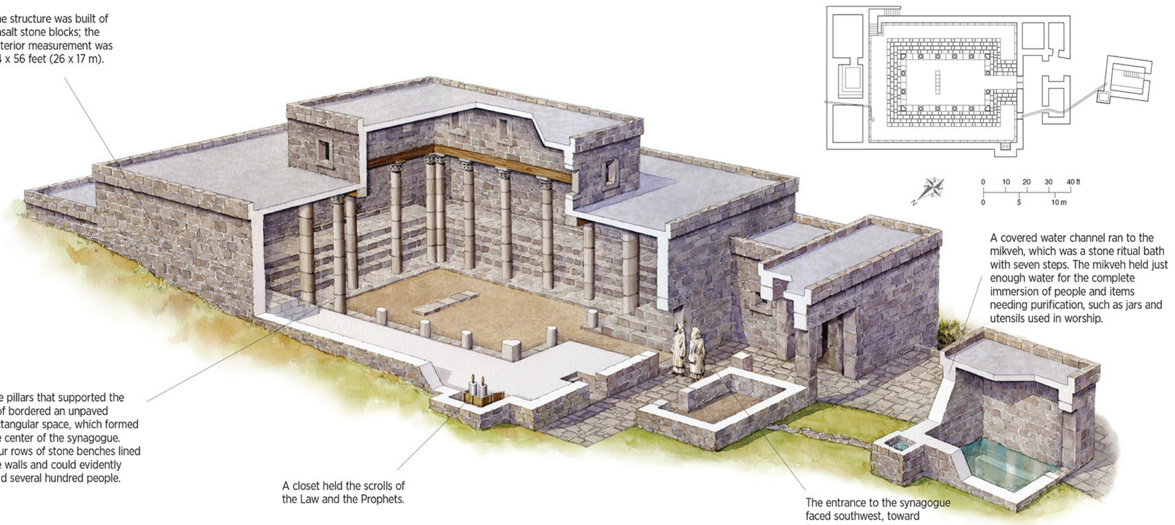
Jesus endured many temptations from Satan in the wilderness, designed to discourage him in his ministry. But he met each temptation with a specific Scripture that addressed that particular temptation. We should follow his example.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:16–9:50 The Ministry of Jesus in Galilee. Except for 8:26–39, this next section of Luke takes place in Galilee.

The Synagogue and Jewish Worship

In cities other than Jerusalem, the synagogue was the center of Jewish worship during the time of Christ. Synagogues were located in most of the leading towns of Israel. Although very little remains of the original first-century synagogue at Nazareth, extensive archaeological evidence exists for a typical Jewish synagogue in the town of Gamla, which would have had much in common with the synagogues Jesus visited in Nazareth and other cities.

This illustration is based on the excavation of the Gamla synagogue, one of the oldest in Israel. The city of Gamla was 6 miles (9.7 km) northeast of the Sea of Galilee. It was destroyed by the Romans in A.D. 67, early in the Jewish Revolt.



The structure was built of basalt stone blocks; the exterior measurement was 84 x 56 feet (26 x 17 m).

A covered water channel ran to the mikveh, which was a stone ritual bath with seven steps. The mikveh held just enough water for the complete immersion of people and items needing purification, such as jars and utensils used in worship.

The pillars that supported the roof bordered an unpaved rectangular space, which formed the center of the synagogue. Four rows of stone benches lined the walls and could evidently hold several hundred people.

A closet held the scrolls of the Law and the Prophets.

The entrance to the synagogue faced southwest, toward Jerusalem.

Jesus' Ministry in Galilee

Jesus spent most of his life and ministry in the region of Galilee, a mountainous area in northern Palestine. Jesus grew up in the small hill town of Nazareth, about 3.5 miles (5.6 km) south of the Gentile administrative center of Sepphoris. Soon after he began his public ministry, Jesus relocated to Capernaum on the Sea of Galilee. By Jesus' time, a thriving fishing industry had developed around the Sea of Galilee, and several of Jesus' disciples were fishermen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:16–5:16 Jesus began his ministry by preaching in his hometown of Nazareth. Soon thereafter he was preaching in many places, healing many people, and calling disciples to work with him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:16 as was his custom. Jesus faithfully attended services at the synagogue. Synagogues usually had large rooms with bench seating along the wall (see The Synagogue and Jewish Worship). There is evidence from some synagogues of a special decorative seat called the "Seat of Moses" (see note on Matt. 23:2). Sabbath services at a synagogue involved singing, Scripture and prayer readings, a sermon based on the weekly Scripture reading, and a priestly blessing. Those who did not follow accepted belief and practice were sometimes "put out of the synagogue" (John 9:22).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:17 He . . . found the place. Jesus chooses to read Isa. 61:1–2a, but also quotes from Isa. 58:6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:18–19 The Spirit of the Lord is upon me. Jesus claims to be the messianic servant of the Lord who is speaking in Isaiah 61 (see Luke 4:21). Jesus' mission involves proclaiming good news to the poor (see 6:20) and liberty to the captives ("liberty" elsewhere in Luke–Acts refers to forgiveness of sins). Sight to the blind includes both physically and spiritually blind. Liberty for those who are oppressed includes healing the sick, casting out demons, forgiving sins, and teachings on social justice. Proclaim the year of the Lord's favor quotes Isa. 61:2, but the Year of Jubilee (Lev. 25:10) is also in view.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:24 The word Truly occurs more than 70 times in the Gospels, emphasizing the truth of Jesus' words.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:25–27 The examples Jesus cites from the ministries of Elijah and Elisha show that, when Israel rejects God's prophets, God sends them elsewhere, even to Gentiles.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:28–29 Throw him down the cliff describes one method of stoning. Like other NT stoning incidents, which usually involved throwing rocks, this is a mob activity. Under Roman rule, only government officials could carry out a death penalty.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:30 passing through their midst. Luke does not explain how Jesus escaped, but it seems to have been miraculous.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:32 his word possessed authority. The rabbis merely cited other rabbis' opinions; Jesus' teachings had authority of their own (see Matt. 5:22).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:34 I know who you are. The demons know who Jesus is (v. 41) but they do not put their personal trust in him (see also note on Mark 1:23–25).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:35 Be silent. Compare v. 41.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:36 they were all amazed. Jesus' triumph over demons was a clear indication that God's kingdom was breaking into the present age in a new and decisive way (see note on Matt. 12:28).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:38 Simon was also called "Peter" (6:14).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:40 the sun was setting. See note on Mark 1:32–34. every one of them. Though it was late, Jesus did not perform a "group healing" but paid individual attention to each person.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:41 And demons also. Luke clearly distinguishes between the casting out of demons and healing (compare 13:10–17).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:42–44 Luke often refers to what must be, emphasizing the necessity of God's plan being fulfilled. The kingdom of God refers to his reign in people's hearts, not to geographical territory.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:1 lake of Gennesaret. The Sea of Galilee.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:3 Getting into one of the boats . . . he . . . taught. Compare Mark 4:1–2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:8–9 astonished. At this point, Peter understands that God is working through Jesus. Later, he will come to a deeper understanding (see Mark 8:29). Only after the resurrection will Peter and the other disciples fully understand who Jesus is (Luke 24:31, 36–43, 52).

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:10 Do not be afraid. See 1:13. Catching men builds on the analogy of catching fish. It means bringing people into the kingdom of God (see also ESV footnote).

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:12 leprosy. See note on Matt. 8:2–3. The term included a variety of serious skin diseases, not just what is today called “leprosy” (Hansen’s disease). fell on his face. A position of reverence (see Luke 17:16).

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:13 be clean. Jesus is not made unclean by touching the leper. Instead, the leper is cleansed by Jesus’ touch.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:14 tell no one. Jesus does not want to draw crowds who come simply for the sake of miracles. go . . . to the priest as Moses commanded (Lev. 14:2–32). This was to serve as a proof to them, that is, the people (and probably the priests as well). The healed leper is brought back into full fellowship in the Jewish community.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:15 to hear him and to be healed. Luke emphasizes Jesus’ preaching ministry over his healing ministry (see 6:18).

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:16 Would withdraw . . . and pray could also be translated “was regularly withdrawing . . . and praying.”

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:17–6:11 Luke returns to the theme of opposition to Jesus (see 4:28–30) with five accounts of controversy (compare Mark 2:1–3:6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:17 The Pharisees were the most influential of the three major Jewish sects (see note on John 1:24). teachers of the law. Scribes were experts in handling written documents. Their duties included interpreting the Mosaic law. From every village indicates Jesus’ great fame.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:19 they went up on the roof. Houses in ancient Palestine often had external stairs leading up to a flat roof. through the tiles. Evidence suggests that tiles were sometimes used for roofs, perhaps on homes of the wealthy. Typical mud roofs were made from slabs of mud baked in the sun, and Luke may have called these “tiles.”

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:20 Their faith probably refers to the faith of the friends who brought the paralytic to Jesus, but it may include the faith of the paralytic as well. your sins are forgiven. Jesus is announcing that he has the authority to forgive sins.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:21–22 The scribes and the Pharisees are often paired together in the Gospels (see note on Matt. 5:20). Jesus does not deny that God alone can forgive sins. Jesus perceived their thoughts, an indication of divine omniscience (compare Matt. 9:4; Mark 2:8).

FACT

The Pharisees may have originated from the Hasidim, Jewish separatists who fought for independence in the Maccabean Revolt. Unlike the Sadducees, who controlled the Jewish high court, the Pharisees were heavily involved in the local synagogues. They were popular with the people, but Jesus challenged them on many points.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:23–24 It is easier to say that a person's sins are forgiven (which cannot be disproved) than to claim to be able to tell him to rise up and walk (which can be disproved). Jesus' healing of the paralytic thus serves as proof (that you may know) that he, as the Son of Man, has the authority to forgive sins. (On "Son of Man," see notes on Matt. 8:20; Mark 2:10.)

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:27–28 tax collector. In Palestine, tax collectors represented the Roman government. Their own people hated them because they often charged extra taxes and took the money for themselves (see 19:8). In Matt. 9:9, Levi is called "Matthew." Follow me. An invitation to a total commitment to Christ.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:30 Why do you eat and drink with tax collectors and sinners? Eating with them implies welcoming these people. The Pharisees thought this made a person unclean. But Jesus will bring sinners to repentance (v. 32) rather than being made unclean by association with them (see note on v. 13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:31–32 Jesus compares those who are well to those who are righteous, and those who are sick to sinners.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:33–34 Can (they) fast while the bridegroom is with them? Jesus refers to himself as the bridegroom. In the OT, God the Father was the bridegroom (see Isa. 62:5; Hos. 2:19–20). On fasting, see note on Matt. 6:16–18.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:35 When the bridegroom is taken away refers to Jesus' death. In those days refers to the time between Jesus' death and resurrection, and also after he has returned to heaven. During those times, fasting will be appropriate for his followers.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:36–39 A new patch cannot be put on an old garment. It will shrink when it is washed, and then tear. Also, one does not put new wine into old wineskins. New, fermenting wine would stretch the old, inelastic wineskins and cause them to burst. No one is best understood as a criticism of the Pharisees. Jesus says they favor the past and reject the arrival of the kingdom.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:1 On a Sabbath . . . plucked and ate some heads of grain. The law permitted this (Deut. 23:24–25). Rubbing them removed the outer chaff.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:2 Some . . . Pharisees considered plucking grain on the Sabbath to be work and therefore forbidden. You (plural) includes Jesus in his disciples' activity; a teacher was responsible for his disciples' actions.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:3–4 what David did. The Sabbath is not mentioned in 1 Sam. 21:1–6, but the point is that David did something not lawful (see Lev. 24:5–9) by eating the bread of the Presence. Jesus points out that both David and his followers did this because of David's authority (see notes on Matt. 12:4; Mark 2:25–26). If David can do this, then David's Lord (compare Luke 20:41–44) and his followers can certainly do something that meets a human need even though it violated the Pharisees' interpretation of the law.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:5 The Son of Man ultimately rules over and interprets the Sabbath. See note on Mark 2:27–28.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:7 The scribes and the Pharisees would have agreed that life-threatening situations allowed for breaking the Sabbath, but this was not such a situation (compare 13:14).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:8 he knew their thoughts. An indication of divine omniscience.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:10 Stretch out your hand. Jesus did not do anything in this situation that could be called "work." He simply spoke a word. Nor did the disabled man do any forbidden "work," for he simply stretched out his hand.

his hand was restored. This is proof that Jesus is lord of the Sabbath (see v. 5).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:11 What they might do to Jesus foreshadows his suffering and death.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:12–49 Jesus appoints 12 apostles, then gives extended teaching to a large group of disciples, including what is often called the “Sermon on the Plain” (vv. 20–49; compare the “Sermon on the Mount,” Matthew 5–7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:12 he went . . . to pray. Luke alone mentions Jesus praying before choosing the apostles. All night shows the importance Jesus placed on prayer.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:14 Simon, whom he named Peter. The most prominent disciple heads each listing of the disciples. From now on, Luke will use the name “Peter” (except in 22:31 and 24:34). Andrew, the brother of Peter, is also mentioned in Acts 1:13. James and John. A second set of brothers, who were also Galilean fishermen (Luke 5:10–11) and partners (5:7) of Peter and Andrew. Philip. From Bethsaida, the same city (or birthplace) as Peter and Andrew (John 1:44). Bartholomew is a family name that occurs in each of the lists of disciples in the Synoptic Gospels. He is probably the same person as Nathanael listed in John’s Gospel (see note on John 1:45).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:15 Matthew. See 5:27. Thomas. Called the “Twin” in John 11:16; 20:24; 21:2. James the son of Alphaeus. Not to be confused with James the brother of John, James the brother of Jesus, or the James of Mark 15:40. Simon . . . the Zealot. The Zealots were political activists opposed to Roman rule. Apart from Jesus’ influence on their lives, Matthew (as a tax collector working for Rome) and Simon (as a Zealot, seeking to overthrow Rome) would have disliked each other.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:16 Judas the son of James does not appear in the parallel accounts in Matt. 10:3 and Mark 3:18. In his place is “Thaddaeus,” which is probably his other name (many of the apostles had double names). The name for the other Judas was qualified by Iscariot, which probably means “man from Kerioth,” a town in Judea (see John 6:71; 13:26). who became a traitor. See Luke 22:3–6, 47–48; Acts 1:16–20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:17 he came down. Jesus had been on a mountain (v. 12). Now he preaches on a level place (hence “the Sermon on the Plain”). A great multitude emphasizes Jesus’ growing popularity (see 4:37). People from Tyre and Sidon would likely have included Gentiles.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:18–19 For the distinction between disease and demon possession, see 4:40–41. sought to touch. Compare 8:44–47; 18:15. For the association of power and healing, see 5:17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:20–23 See note on Matt. 5:3–12. The Beatitudes mentioned here are not conditions for entering the kingdom of God but blessings pronounced on those who have already entered. The main theme of the Beatitudes and the following “woes” involves the “great reversal” (see Introduction: Key Themes). On the relationship between this “Sermon on the Plain” (Luke 6:20–49) and the “Sermon on the Mount” (Matthew 5–7), see note on Matt. 5:1–7:29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:20 Blessed are you who are poor. In the OT, “the poor” frequently referred to the faithful poor who depended on God. Jesus is not saying that poverty in itself is a state of blessing. It is a blessing only when accompanied by trust in God. for yours is the kingdom of God. Such people belong to the kingdom and will receive the blessings of the kingdom (see note on Matt. 5:3).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:21 In a way similar to the previous verse (see note), you who are hungry refers to those among Jesus’ disciples who are physically hungry and also hungry for God’s help and presence. (Compare Matt. 5:6.) Now implies that the hunger will not last forever, for you shall be satisfied. God will supply their needs, first with his abundant presence in this life (Ps. 107:9) and then also with meeting their physical needs. This could happen in this age (Mark 10:30; James 2:15–17), but it will certainly happen in the age to come (Luke 13:29). who weep now. See “mourn” in Matt. 5:4 and note. “Now” indicates that, when God’s kingdom is fully established, he will wipe away every tear (Rev. 21:4).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:24 you who are rich. Those who delight in and trust the things of this life more than God (see 1:53; 12:13–21; also see notes on James 2:1–7; 5:1–6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:25 You who laugh now refers to the mocking laughter of the arrogant rich, who care little for others or for God. They shall mourn and weep when God's judgment comes.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:26 False prophets were well spoken of, for they prophesied what people wanted to hear. This is a warning against seeking the approval of the world rather than being faithful to God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:28 The ability to bless those who curse you depends on trust in God's care and direction of life's events.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:29 strikes you on the cheek. An insulting slap (see note on Matt. 5:39). Offer the other also is not intended as a command for every circumstance or as a prohibition against governments using military or police force. takes away your cloak. Believers will often be subject to abuse or taken advantage of, but they are to face such rejection by being generous and compassionate rather than by retaliating.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:30 Christians should help those who are truly needy. They are not required to give foolishly (see Matt. 7:6), to give to a lazy person who is not in need (2 Thess. 3:10), or to give where giving would do more harm than good.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:31 The "Golden Rule"; compare Matt. 7:12.

FACT

The Golden Rule. In 6:31, Jesus teaches that his followers should treat others as they want to be treated. This is known as "the Golden Rule," and it is a good summary of OT teaching (Matt. 7:12). Since God is kind and merciful, his children should be too (Luke 6:32–36).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:35 You will be sons does not mean "you will become sons" but "you will demonstrate that you are sons" by imitating God's care and compassion even for those who are evil. For Most High as an expression for God, see note on 1:32.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:37–38 Judge not . . . condemn not. Literally, "Stop judging . . . condemning." Jesus is not ruling out the legitimate use of discernment, church discipline, and law courts. Rather, he is teaching against focusing on other people's faults (see notes on Matt. 7:1–5). be judged . . . condemned (by God). Forgive and give go beyond not judging and not condemning to seeking the positive well-being of others. For with the measure you use it will be measured back to you. Compare Matt. 7:2; Mark 4:24.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:39 The parable speaks of being blind to one's own faults while judging others (compare Rom. 2:19–21).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:40 A disciple is not above his teacher. A disciple's goal is to be like his master.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:41–42 speck . . . log. Christians should not condemn others for things they themselves are guilty of doing.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:43–45 This teaching can be taken in either of two ways. First, observing good and bad fruit allows one to judge wisely in dealing with others (v. 42). Second, it applies to the disciples themselves. The fruit of a bad tree is judging and condemning others (vv. 39–42). The fruit of a good tree is forgiving, giving to others, and loving one's enemies (vv. 37–38; compare 8:8, 15; 13:6–9). out of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaks. The true nature of people's hearts can often be seen when they speak without thinking.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:1–50 Luke helps his readers answer the question "Who is this . . . ?" (v. 49) by recounting two healing miracles (vv. 1–10, 11–17), John's testimony about Jesus (vv. 18–35), and another example of Jesus forgiving sins (vv. 36–50).

FACT

Are you the one who is to come? John the Baptist sent his disciples to ask Jesus if he was the "mightier one," or the Messiah, who would come after John. In response, Jesus pointed out how his ministry fulfilled Isaiah's prophecies about the Messiah (7:18–23; see 3:16).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:2 centurion. A Roman officer in charge of a hundred men.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:3 elders of the Jews. Local Jewish officials.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:9 Not even in Israel foreshadows the entry of Gentiles into the kingdom of God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:11–17 This miracle, involving a widow's son, recalls a similar miracle by Elijah (1 Kings 17:17–24).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:12 The only son of his mother . . . a widow reveals the woman's desperate economic situation. Without a husband or a son, she has little financial support.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:14 bier. A plank that served as an open coffin to carry the dead body outside the city to its burial place. Jesus is not made unclean when he touches the dead. Instead, the dead man comes to life.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:15 sat up and began to speak. This is proof of Jesus' miracle.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:16 God has visited his people. God is making known his presence in Jesus (see 1:68).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:18 All these things refers to Jesus' miracles and his teaching.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:19–20 Are you the one . . . to come indicates John's doubt as to whether Jesus was the promised Messiah. Perhaps this was because it did not appear that Jesus was going to overthrow the Roman rulers or immediately bring judgment on evildoers.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:22 tell John. Jesus does not answer John's question directly but gives evidence demonstrating that he is the "coming one": blind receive . . . sight (see 4:18; 18:35–43); lame walk (5:17–25); lepers are cleansed (5:12–16; 17:11–19); deaf hear (see Isa. 29:18; 35:5); dead are raised (Luke 7:11–17; 8:40–56); poor have good news preached to them (4:18; 6:20). The days of salvation foretold by Isaiah have begun, even though they will not be completed until Christ returns to establish the eternal kingdom.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:23 Jesus' word of encouragement is surely directed to John and his disciples.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:28 none is greater. John's greatness comes from his role as the one who prepared people for Jesus the Messiah. Therefore the one who is least in the kingdom of God (one who has believed in Jesus and has become a member of the new covenant kingdom) is actually greater than John, for that person lives in the age of fulfillment.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:29–30 Those among Jesus' hearers who had been baptized by John rightly took Jesus' words in vv. 24–28 as praising John, and therefore they declared God just. Those who had not been baptized by John (that is, the Pharisees and the lawyers) had a more negative response.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:31–34 This generation refers to the leaders and others dominant in the culture. They reject both Jesus and John. They are like children who do not want to play with anyone.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:35 Wisdom (God's way, v. 29) is justified (shown to be right) by all her children (the followers of John and Jesus).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:36 The Pharisees were the most influential of the three major Jewish sects (see note on John 1:24).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:37–38 a woman. Unnamed; see note on Mark 14:3–5. Alabaster is a soft stone frequently used as a perfume container. Reclining toward a low center table(s), the feet of the participants would have faced outward like spokes from a hub. Her tears are tears both of thankfulness and also of reverent awe as she senses the presence of God in Jesus. Her act would have been considered improper. It took great courage to honor Jesus in this way.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:39–40 Jesus knew what Simon said to himself, showing that he was indeed a prophet.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:41 five hundred denarii. About 20 months' wages. fifty denarii. About two months' wages.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:42 cancelled the debt. For the comparison of sin with debt, see 11:4; Matt. 6:12; 18:21–35.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:47 For she loved much refers not to the reason the woman is forgiven but the result of being forgiven (see note on v. 50; see also "which of them will love him more," v. 42).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:48–49 Your sins are forgiven. As in 5:20–25, Jesus is exercising the divine role of forgiving sins. Who is this, who even forgives sins? Luke includes this question to allow his readers to think about who Jesus is.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:50 Your faith has saved you. Compare 8:48; 17:19; 18:42. See note on 7:47. Her faith is shown in the way she honored Jesus by washing his feet.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:1–3 Luke has more references to the role of women in Jesus' ministry than any other Gospel. Here he mentions several by name. The women come from many social levels. See 23:49; 24:1–11; Acts 1:14.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:2 Mary was called Magdalene because she was from Magdala, on the western shore of Galilee. Later writers in church history connected Mary Magdalene to the sinful woman of 7:37, calling her a former prostitute. Jesus healed Mary of demonic possession, and she gratefully followed him to the foot of the cross and the empty tomb (Matt. 27:56, 61; 28:1; and parallels). Seven demons reveals the greatness of her healing.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:3 Many others and who are both feminine in Greek, referring to women who supported Jesus and his disciples.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:4–8 The focus of this parable is on the various kinds of soil on which the sower sows his seed. parable. A story that teaches a moral or spiritual lesson. Some fell on the rock lying beneath a thin layer of soil. ears to hear. An encouragement to understand and obey the parable. hundredfold. A tenfold return would have been considered a good crop.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:10 To you it has been given to know. For the disciples' unique access to Jesus' teachings, see 10:21–22; 12:32; 22:29. secrets. Jesus' parables hide the truth from the "crowd" (Matt. 13:2), who remained uncommitted to him, while they communicated truth to his disciples.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:12 The seeds along the path (through the field) represent one group of hearers. So that they may not believe and be saved assumes that faith is the means of salvation.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:13 believe. A few interpreters think this is saving faith because these people "believe." Though they "fall away" (from fellowship?), this is not an ultimate rejection of Christ. But it is more likely that this is merely intellectual “faith” (compare James 2:17), not saving faith, for these plants have no root (see Mark 4:17), they bear no fruit, and they last only for a while (on perseverance, see notes on John 6:40; Rom. 8:29; 8:30; 2 Tim. 2:11–13; Jude 21).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:14 cares. Compare 12:22–34; 21:34. riches. Compare 12:15; 16:1–13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:15 With patience can also be translated “with perseverance” (compare 21:19). Fruit-bearing in God’s kingdom often requires much work before significant results are seen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:16–18 hidden . . . be made manifest . . . secret . . . come to light. Jesus is ultimately speaking about the final judgment, but gospel proclamation and ministry in this age are like a “lamp” (v. 16) that exposes and drives away dark areas of sin before the final judgment. The one who [already] has a knowledge of God’s Word will understand it better (more will be given), whereas the one who does not listen carefully (has not) will lose even what he has heard (see Acts 28:25–28; and notes on Matt. 25:29; Mark 4:24–25).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:19–21 The brothers of Jesus are most likely the sons born to Joseph and Mary after Jesus’ birth. My mother and my brothers are those. For Jesus, spiritual relationships were more important than physical ones. Thus his real family is made up of those who hear the word of God and do it (see note on Mark 3:35).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:22–25 windstorm. The Sea of Galilee is 696 feet (212 m) below sea level, resulting in sudden storms. Jesus rebuked the wind and . . . waves, revealing that he has authority over nature, just as the Lord God does. Where is your faith? implies a deficiency rather than an absence of faith. See note on Mark 4:40.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:27 man . . . who had demons. The use of “he” (vv. 27–30) and “they” (vv. 31–33) is determined primarily by whether the demons are seen as acting in unity with the man or apart from him.

FACT

Traveling exorcists tried to cast out demons using a variety of spells and devices. Jesus cast out demons using simple commands. This demonstrated his unique authority as the Son of God and showed that Jesus was stronger than any evil power (8:26–39).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:28 When he saw Jesus, he . . . fell down before him. See note on Mark 5:6–7. I beg you reveals Jesus' authority over the demons. do not torment me. See Luke 8:31.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:29 He had commanded indicates that the demon did not come out the first time Jesus commanded it to (see note on Mark 5:8).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:30 Legion indicates thousands of demons but may be an intentional overstatement. See note on Mark 5:9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:31 abyss. The final destination of Satan and his angels; compare Matt. 25:41; 2 Pet. 2:4; Rev. 20:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:32–33 A large herd of pigs shows that this is a Gentile region, since pigs were forbidden for Jews (Deut. 14:8; see note on Matt. 8:30–34).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:35 The drowning of so many pigs verifies that a large number of demons were in the man.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:36 Healed can also be translated "saved."

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:37 So he . . . returned. Luke completes the story of the townspeople before completing the story of the demoniac. for they were seized with great fear. The townspeople seem to have had a superstitious fear of Jesus' mysterious power. Perhaps they were also afraid of losing more of their property.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:38–39 declare how much God has done. . . . proclaiming . . . how much Jesus had done. Jesus has the same status as God (compare 9:42–43).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:40 The crowd welcomed him refers back to vv. 1–21 and the “crowd” of vv. 4 and 19.

FACT

An early outreach to Gentiles. When Jesus healed a demon-possessed man in a Gentile area (8:26–39), the healed man became an early “missionary” to his fellow Gentiles. The mission to the Gentiles would not begin in earnest until after Pentecost (Acts 2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:41–42a a ruler of the synagogue. See note on Mark 5:22. A board member of the synagogue, or more likely the official in charge of arranging services (see Acts 13:15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:43 discharge of blood. Her situation is difficult because of its duration (twelve years) and hopelessness (she could not be healed by anyone). Moreover, her hemorrhaging would also have made her ceremonially unclean, which would have cut her off from many social and religious relationships (see Lev. 15:25).

Parallels in the Ministries of Jesus, Peter, and Paul in Luke–Acts

Luke shows Peter and Paul continuing the ministry of Jesus in the book of Acts. Representative examples are cited on the chart below.

Type of Ministry	Jesus	Peter	Paul
Preaching that the OT is fulfilled in Jesus the Messiah	Luke 4; 24	Acts 2; 3	Acts 13; 17
Casting out unclean spirits	Luke 4:31–37	Acts 5:16	Acts 16:16–18
Healing the lame	Luke 6:6–11	Acts 3:1–10	Acts 14:8–10
Raising the dead	Luke 7:11–17	Acts 9:36–43	Acts 20:7–12
Healing by a touch, a shadow, or cloths	Luke 8:42–48	Acts 5:15	Acts 19:11–12

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:47 trembling. Fear is appropriate when experiencing God’s presence (v. 35). The woman declared . . . why she had touched him. Compare Mark 5:33.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:48 Jesus’ addressing her as daughter probably reassures the woman, as does his statement that your faith has made you well. This seems to mean both physical and spiritual healing (see note on v. 36). Also, Jesus’ final words to her, go in peace, suggest that she has been saved.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:49 While he was still speaking marks a change back to the story of Jairus. Do not trouble the Teacher any more assumes that while Jesus could heal the sick, the girl's death placed her beyond his ability to heal.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:51 Peter and John and James. This is Luke's first mention of this inner group of disciples.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:52–53 weeping and mourning. Professional mourners and flutists were often hired to attend funerals. She is not dead but sleeping must be understood in light of vv. 49, 53.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:54–55 she got up at once. Along with the fact of her eating, this offers immediate proof of the miracle.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:56 he charged them to tell no one. A sharp contrast to v. 39. Jesus is now back in a Jewish region where mistaken expectations about a political and revolutionary messiah could make Jesus' ministry much more difficult.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:1–2 For power and authority, see 4:36; for power to heal, see 5:17. Some think this power and authority was only for this mission, as its absence in 9:40 and the equipping in 24:49 and Acts 1:8 suggest. sent. The verb form of the noun "apostle."

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:3 Take nothing for your journey. See note on Mark 6:8–9. Perhaps this is due to the brevity of their mission and to teach them to trust God to supply their needs (Luke 12:22–31). no staff. According to Mark 6:8, the disciples were allowed to take a staff. Here in Luke's account, Jesus is probably not prohibiting a staff altogether but prohibiting taking an extra one (as Luke 10:4 prohibits extra sandals).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:4 whatever house. Rather than moving from house to house, perhaps in a quest for better housing, the apostles were to establish their ministry headquarters in one home. Compare 10:7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:5 wherever they do not receive you. "Receive" is used elsewhere with respect to welcoming and receiving God's word (8:13), Jesus (9:48, 53), Jesus' followers (vv. 5, 48), and the kingdom of God (18:17). shake off the dust from your feet (compare 10:11; see notes on Matt. 10:14; Mark 6:11). This visibly illustrates the future judgment of those who reject Christ’s messengers (Luke 10:11–15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:7–8 Herod the tetrarch (see 3:1 and note on Matt. 14:1). As a careful historian, Luke uses the proper title (“tetrarch”) to describe Herod Antipas rather than the less precise, general term “king” (Matt. 14:9; Mark 6:14). it was said by some. On the various misunderstandings of Jesus’ identity, see note on Mark 6:14b–15. one of the prophets. Such as Moses (Deut. 18:15) or Jeremiah (Matt. 16:14). Compare John 6:14. had risen. A literal return from the dead is probably meant.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:9 John I beheaded. See Matt. 14:1–12; Mark 6:14–29; and notes. And he sought to see him foreshadows Luke 13:31 and 23:6–12. It refers to either Herod Antipas’s desire to see Jesus perform a miracle (23:8) or his desire to kill him (13:31).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:10 The apostles (see note on Rom. 1:1), the “twelve” (Luke 9:12), and the “disciples” (vv. 14, 16) are used interchangeably here. Bethsaida was just northeast of where the Jordan flows into the Sea of Galilee from the north.

FACT

Was Bethsaida (9:10) actually a fishing village on the Sea of Galilee, as Mark 6:45 suggests? The most likely site for Bethsaida is 1.25 miles (2 km) inland from the Sea. However, recent archaeological research has shown that this can be explained by (1) a lowering of the water level in the Sea, (2) sedimentation, and (3) seismic activity.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:11 kingdom of God. Jesus’ and the apostles’ message was identical (compare vv. 2, 6 with 4:43; 8:1).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:14 about five thousand men. See note on John 6:10–11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:15 And they did so. As in 5:5, the disciples’ obedience precedes understanding.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:17 twelve baskets. Much food is left over, and Jesus did not want any food to be wasted.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:18–20 praying alone. Jesus may have been praying that his disciples would truly understand who he is. John the Baptist. The disciples repeat the same possibilities mentioned in vv. 7–8 (see note on Matt. 16:14). But who do you say. “You” is plural and is emphasized in the Greek. Peter, spokesman for the disciples, answered, “The Christ of God.” (On Peter’s confession, see notes on Matt. 16:16; Mark 8:29b–30.) Jesus’ identity as the “Christ”—confessed by angels (Luke 2:11); by the Gospel narrator (2:26); by demons (4:41); and by Jesus himself (4:18)—is now confessed for the first time by the Twelve. For “Christ,” see note on 2:11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:21–22 For the first time, Jesus clearly teaches the Twelve that his role as God’s anointed Messiah (Christ) involves suffering and death. tell this to no one. Peter’s confession (v. 20) is correct, but proclaiming it widely at this time would be misunderstood because of Jewish nationalistic expectations. For the Son of Man, see note on Matt. 8:20. by the elders and chief priests and scribes. They are acting as a group. The “chief priests” are not the high priests but members of the most prominent priestly families. Jesus will be raised to life by God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:23–27 The following teachings on discipleship are addressed not just to the Twelve but to “all” (v. 23).

Predictions, Reminders, and Proofs of the Death and Resurrection of Jesus in the Gospel of Luke

9:22	“The Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected . . . and be killed, and on the third day be raised.”
9:44	“The Son of Man is about to be delivered into the hands of men.”
12:50	“I have a baptism to be baptized with.”
13:32	“I cast out demons and perform cures today and tomorrow, and the third day I finish my course.”
13:33	“for it cannot be that a prophet should perish away from Jerusalem.”
17:25	“But first he must suffer many things and be rejected by this generation.”
18:32	“he will be delivered over to the Gentiles and will be mocked and shamefully treated and spit upon.”
18:33	“after flogging him, they will kill him, and on the third day he will rise.”
24:6–7	“Remember how he told you, while he was still in Galilee, that the Son of Man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men and be crucified and on the third day rise.”
24:25–26	“. . . slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken! Was it not necessary that the Christ should suffer these things and enter into his glory?”
24:46	“Thus it is written, that the Christ should suffer and on the third day rise from the dead.”

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:23 Come after me means to become a disciple (compare 14:27). This requires that a disciple: (1) deny himself (renouncing personal control of one’s life); (2) take up his cross (making a commitment that will lead to rejection and possibly even death; compare 14:27 and see note on Mark 8:34); and (3) follow me (following the example and teachings of Jesus).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:24 save his life . . . lose it. See note on Mark 8:35.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:26 when he comes in his glory. The second coming (see 21:27; 24:26).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:27 Some standing here refers to Peter, James, and John, who will witness the transfiguration.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:28 About eight days after indicates that this account should be understood in light of vv. 20–27. mountain. See note on Matt. 17:1. to pray. Perhaps Jesus prayed that the three disciples would see him in his glory.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:29 dazzling white (literally, “bright as a flash of lightning”). Compare 2 Pet. 1:16–18.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:30 Moses and Elijah represent the Law and the Prophets. Their appearance counters the incorrect guesses of vv. 8, 19, indicating that Jesus is the fulfillment of both (see note on Mark 9:4).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:31 Jesus’ departure is his future death, resurrection, and ascension.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:33–34 Let us make three tents. This suggestion is a mistake, as indicated by Luke’s comment (not knowing what he said). The cloud shows that God is present (see note on Matt. 17:5).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:35 This is my Son. Compare 3:22 and see note on Mark 9:7. Listen to him means to follow Jesus’ teaching (see Luke 9:22–27). It also alludes to Deut. 18:15, confirming that Jesus is the prophet Moses predicted.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:36 Kept silent . . . in those days contrasts the situation in Jesus’ day with that of Luke’s day. After Pentecost Peter, James, and John freely proclaimed this event (see 2 Pet. 1:17).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:39 a spirit seizes him. In the parallel account in Matt. 17:15, 18 the demon is apparently associated with epilepsy. But see Matt. 4:24, where epilepsy is distinguished from demon possession.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:40 they could not. The disciples' inability to heal highlights Jesus' greater ability.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:41 O faithless and twisted generation. See note on Mark 9:19. The first of several such references (see Luke 11:30–32, 50–51; 17:25). For "generation," see note on 7:31–34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:43b The marveling of the "crowd" (see v. 37) is not necessarily due to faith (compare vv. 41, 43a).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:45 The meaning of Jesus' words was concealed from them by God (compare 18:34).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:46 which of them was the greatest. Because they thought the Messiah would be a political liberator, the disciples dream of status, honor, and power, along the lines of the Maccabean revolt (166–160 B.C.).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:47 Jesus, knowing . . . their hearts indicates divine omniscience. took a child . . . by his side. See note on Mark 9:36–37.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:48 receives this child . . . receives me; receives me receives him who sent me. An example of "step parallelism" (compare 10:16), in which the first thought is raised a step higher in the second thought: a child is received as a representative of Jesus; Jesus is received as a representative of God. who is great. Compare 14:11; 22:26.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:49–50 Because he does not follow with us probably refers to a believer outside the circle of the Twelve. The one who is not against you is for you is the reverse of 11:23. The two sayings should be seen as complementary. See note on Mark 9:40.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:51–19:27 The Journey to Jerusalem. During his ministry of teaching, healing, and making disciples, Jesus "set his face" (9:51) for his final journey to Jerusalem.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:51–56 As Jesus and his disciples go south from Galilee to Jerusalem, they minister in Samaria.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:51 Taken up means "taken up to heaven" and refers to Christ's ascension. He set his face to go to Jerusalem provides the theme for 9:51–19:27, the largest section of Luke's Gospel. It points toward Jesus' cross (23:33), resurrection (24:6), and ascension into heaven (24:51).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:52 a village of the Samaritans. For Jewish-Samaritan relations, see note on John 4:4. to make preparations. To arrange housing.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:53 did not receive him, because his face was set toward Jerusalem (compare v. 51). The Samaritans probably rejected the messengers because Samaritans did not accept Jerusalem as the place of worship (see John 4:20), and maybe also because Jesus seemed to be going there to die, so the risk of favoring him was high.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:54–55 Jesus rejects the suggestion of James and John (tell fire to come down). His ministry at his first coming is not to bring judgment (see John 3:17) but to proclaim the gospel (see Matt. 11:28).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:59 To bury a deceased parent was an important duty, and Jesus clearly encouraged honoring one's parents (Matt. 15:1–9). But Jesus knew that this man's request was merely an excuse for not following him. Burial at this time in Judaism often involved a year-long period from the time when the body was first buried until a year later when the bones of the deceased were placed in a box.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:60 Leave the dead to bury their own dead constitutes a pun in which "dead" means both spiritually dead (compare 15:24) and physically dead.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:61 I will follow you, Lord, but. This recalls 1 Kings 19:19–21, where Elijah permitted Elisha to say farewell. Jesus does not permit this. Jesus' summons to discipleship takes precedence over everything else.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:62 Anyone who puts his hand to the plow has to keep looking forward to guide the plow. If he looks back, the plow will quickly veer off course.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:1 seventy-two. Many very old and reliable Greek manuscripts have "seventy-two" here and in v. 17, while many other old and reliable manuscripts have "seventy." In any case, the number probably represents all the nations in the world (compare Genesis 10). Sending them out two by two fulfills the OT requirement for two witnesses (Deut. 19:15).

FACT

Jesus welcomed children and sometimes used them as examples of humility (10:21; 18:15–17). He taught that such humility was necessary for his followers (see Matt. 18:3–4). God delights in showing mercy to those who are humble (see Luke 1:52–53).

FACT

The coming of God's kingdom (11:2) is an important theme in the Gospels. It refers to the advance of God's rule over all creation, especially as sinful men and women put their trust in Jesus and submit to God's authority in their lives.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:3 I am sending you. Although only the Twelve are named "apostles" (6:13; 9:10; 22:14; Acts 1:26), others are also "sent ones." as lambs in the midst of wolves. Jesus warns them of the dangers they face.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:4 No sandals probably means not to take an extra pair, since Jesus is telling them what they should not carry. They are to greet no one. Such greetings were lengthy and time-consuming (see 2 Kings 4:29).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:5 Peace. See note on John 14:27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:6 son of peace. One who has found the peace that comes with salvation. it will return to you. If faith is not present, the blessing will be useless.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:7 for the laborer deserves his wages. Paul alludes to this saying in 1 Cor. 9:14 and quotes it as “Scripture” in 1 Tim. 5:18.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:9 Heal the sick assumes the same power and authority as in 9:1 (compare 10:19). The kingdom of God has come refers to his reign in people’s hearts, not to geographical territory. See 9:2; 11:20; 16:16; 17:21. The “kingdom of God” in this present age is precisely the rule and reign of God in people’s hearts and lives.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:10 go into its streets. The symbolic act of judgment against a town will be visible and public (compare 9:5).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:11 the dust of your town that clings to our feet we wipe off against you. A sign of judgment on those rejecting the gospel (compare Acts 13:51).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:12 more bearable on that day. Greater understanding of God’s revelation means greater responsibility.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:13–14 Tyre and Sidon. On these cities, see notes on Matt. 11:20–24; Mark 7:24. sitting in sackcloth and ashes. An expression of mourning and repentance. “Sackcloth” is rough cloth made from goat’s hair; “ashes” were either placed on the head (2 Sam. 13:19) or sat upon (Job 2:8; Jonah 3:6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:15 Capernaum will receive the severest judgment because they witnessed Jesus’ ministry and miracles to such a great extent (4:23; 7:1–10) yet rejected him. brought down to Hades. The place of the unrighteous dead (16:22–26).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:16 The one who hears you hears me emphasizes the unity of Jesus and his disciples.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:18 I saw Satan fall. It is not clear whether Jesus is speaking of a vision by which he saw something in the spiritual realm or if this is simply a declaration of what has been happening. In either case, Satan’s authority and power over people has been broken.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:19 Serpents and scorpions are physical dangers that the disciples will face in their preaching, and also symbols of demonic opposition. nothing shall hurt you. See 21:18; Acts 28:3–5.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:20 your names are written in heaven. Compare Phil. 4:3; Rev. 3:5; 20:15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:21 rejoiced in the Holy Spirit. See 3:22; 4:1, 18. Father. See note on Matt. 6:9. Lord of heaven and earth. Compare Acts 17:24. Jesus' rejoicing is due primarily to God's having revealed (Luke 10:22) the presence of the kingdom and Satan's fall (vv. 17–18) to little children, that is, to the disciples, who have childlike faith (v. 23). wise and understanding. Wise in the world's eyes but unwilling to accept the gospel. Compare 1 Cor. 1:19.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:22 All things . . . handed over to me. See note on Matt. 11:27. anyone to whom the Son chooses to reveal him. Compare John 14:6; Acts 4:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:25–37 The parable of the good Samaritan is an example of how the "wise and understanding" (v. 21) do not understand even the simplest commands of Scripture (compare v. 27 with Lev. 19:18).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:25 what shall I do? Compare 18:18; Acts 16:30. eternal life. Compare Luke 18:18, 30; see note on John 3:16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:26 What is written in the Law? For Jesus, the OT is the standard of faith and practice (compare 18:19–20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:27 Matthew, Mark, and Luke all include the words heart (emotions, will, and deepest convictions), soul (the immaterial part of a person's being), and mind (reason; this term is lacking in Deut. 6:5). Matthew (22:37) alone lacks the term strength.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:28 do this, and you will live. Jesus is about to show the lawyer that he falls far short of following these commands (see note on Mark 10:19).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:29 who is my neighbor? A deceitful question, because the lawyer was trying to eliminate responsibility for others by making some people "non-neighbors" (see note on v. 36).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:30 Jericho. See note on Matt. 20:29. The Jericho road, still visible today, included long stretches of rocky terrain that made it convenient for robbers. The road descended (down) about 3,200 feet (975 m) in the 18 miles (29 km) from Jerusalem to Jericho.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:31 passed by on the other side. A good picture of the priest's unwillingness to love his neighbor.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:32 Levite. A member of the tribe of Levi. The Levites assisted the priests.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:33 It would have been unthinkable for a Samaritan to help a Jew (see John 4:9; 8:48; see note on John 4:4). Loving one's neighbor involves showing care and compassion even to those with whom one would not normally have any relationship, but who are now in need (compare Luke 6:27, 35).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:34–35 two denarii. The equivalent of two days' wages.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:36 Which of these . . . proved to be a neighbor? Jesus' question corrects the lawyer's deceitful question (v. 29). The question is not "who is my neighbor?" but "how can I be a neighbor?"

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:38–42 village. Bethany (see John 12:1; see note on John 11:1). who sat at the Lord's feet. A disciple's proper place (compare Luke 8:35; Acts 22:3); unlike some in his culture, Jesus encouraged women to study the Scriptures. you are anxious . . . about many things. See Luke 8:14; 12:11, 22–30; 21:34. Mary has chosen the good portion echoes OT passages where close fellowship with the Lord is one's "portion" in life (see Ps. 16:5; 73:26; 142:5). Mary has chosen this, and it will not be taken away from her—neither now (to help Martha in the kitchen) nor for all eternity.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:1 Lord, teach us to pray. The disciples ask for a distinctive prayer that they can pray as his disciples. Usually this is called "The Lord's Prayer" (vv. 1–4).

MARTHA

Martha was the sister of Mary and Lazarus. The three of them were close friends of Jesus. Martha welcomed Jesus into her home in Bethany, where she prepared him meals as he taught. A conscientious hostess, Martha busied herself with serving her guests while Mary chose instead to listen to Jesus' teaching. This frustrated Martha, but Jesus gently rebuked her and defended Mary's desire to learn from him (10:38–42). It was Martha and Mary who sent word to Jesus when their brother Lazarus became ill (John 11). Even though Lazarus had died by the time Jesus arrived at their home, Martha believed that God could work a miracle through Jesus. When Jesus gave Martha an opportunity to express her faith, she replied, "Yes, Lord; I believe that you are the Christ, the Son of God, who is coming into the world" (John 11:27). (Luke 10:38–42)

FACT

In 11:42–52, Jesus directs six "woes" to the Pharisees and the lawyers (or scribes). "Woe" is a way of expressing grief or regret. The Pharisees and scribes took offense, but Jesus' teaching should have led them to repentance.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:2 Father. See note on Matt. 6:9. Hallowed be your name is a request that God's name be honored and treated with reverence. Your kingdom come is a prayer that God's kingship would continually advance in people's hearts and lives until the day Jesus returns and brings the kingdom in perfect fullness (see Luke 11:20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:3 daily bread. All physical needs, which God supplies every day.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:4 Forgive us our sins refers not to initial salvation but to the continual confession of sins (1 John 1:9) needed to maintain one's relationship with God (see note on Matt. 6:12). for we ourselves forgive. Asking God's forgiveness requires forgiving others. "Sins" and indebted to us are synonyms (compare Luke 7:41–43, 47–49). lead us not into temptation. See note on Matt. 6:13. The use of the first person plural ("us") throughout emphasizes that the petitions are primarily for the entire community of believers.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:6 Having nothing to set before a guest was unthinkable for a host in Jesus' day.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:7 "Do not bother me." The omission of "friend" (compare v. 5) reveals the man's irritation.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:8 Impudence means lack of sensitivity to what is proper. The friend is shamelessly and boldly awakening his neighbor, and of course the neighbor will give him whatever he needs. If even a human being will respond to his neighbor in that way, then Christians should go boldly before God with any need they face, for God is more gracious and caring than any human.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:9–10 Jesus tells his followers to ask God (a common term for "pray"), seek God (Deut. 4:29; Isa. 55:6), and knock at the gates of God for mercy (compare Luke 11:5–8; see note on Matt. 7:7–11). The promised result is that it will be given and opened (by God). Everyone who asks receives means that when they ask for things that are in line with God's plans, they will be given.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:11–13 This is a "lesser to greater" argument. Since vv. 11–12 are true, then the concluding statement (v. 13) must be even more true (compare 12:6–7, 25–27; 13:15–16; 18:1–8). If you then, who are evil. Jesus' audience would have agreed that they were sinful (see Genesis 3; Rom. 3:10–23; see note on Matt. 7:11). Fish and eggs were common foods in Palestine, while serpents and scorpions were common hazards. Holy Spirit. See Acts 1:8; Rom. 8:13–14, 26; 1 Cor. 12:11; Gal. 5:18.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:15 He casts out demons by . . . the prince of demons. The Pharisees could not deny the reality of Jesus' miracles, so they attributed his powers to Satan. Beelzebul means "master of the house" and refers to Satan.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:16 kept seeking . . . a sign. Jesus knew that no sign would convince a person who was unwilling to believe.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:17–19 Knowing their thoughts is an indication of Jesus' deity. Jesus' defense consists of two arguments. (1) A kingdom divided against itself is laid waste (that is, through civil war). The idea that Satan was working through Jesus to undermine his own work was absurd (v. 18). (2) The charge brought against Jesus in v. 15 could also be leveled against the casting out of demons by your sons, that is, "your followers" (see note on Matt. 12:27).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:20 kingdom of God has come (see note on Matt. 12:28). Compare Mark 1:14–15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:22 The one stronger is Jesus, and the "strong man" in v. 21 is Satan. Jesus has overcome him. See note on Matt. 12:29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:23 with me . . . against me . . . does not gather with me scatters. One cannot be neutral about Jesus (see note on 9:49–50).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:24–26 Cleansing from sin should be followed by obedience to God's word. unclean spirit. A demon. Demons were often associated with waterless places. Apparently deserts were thought of as lacking God's blessing. the house swept and put in order. The demon has been cast out. seven other spirits. A complete group of demons. On the significance of "seven," see note on Matt. 12:45.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:29 Verses 29–32 answer the request of v. 16. evil generation. The leaders of the day (see note on Matt. 12:39). no sign will be given. Compare Luke 16:31; John 12:9–11. The sign of Jonah refers first to Jonah's "three days and nights in the belly of the great fish" (see note on Matt. 12:40), which foreshadows Jesus' death and resurrection. Additionally, "the sign of Jonah" reflects the need to repent as Nineveh did.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:31 The queen of the South (the queen of Sheba) came a long distance to see Solomon and hear his wisdom (1 Kings 10:1–13). Something greater than Solomon (the Son of God and his wisdom; see note on Matt. 12:42) has come to them. The people reject this and ask for a sign.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:32 Even though the Ninevites were wicked, they at least repented at the preaching of Jonah (see Jonah 3:5). Jesus is both the ultimate wise man (Luke 11:31) and the ultimate prophet (v. 32).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:33 lamp. Probably a metaphor for Jesus and his mission.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:34 An eye that is healthy describes a spiritually healthy way of looking at things. A bad eye is an evil way of looking at things. It results in a life full of moral and spiritual darkness.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:36 When a person is filled with the light of Christ, it will affect his or her whole being (wholly bright).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:37 reclined at table. The usual posture at a banquet or Sabbath meal (see note on Matt. 26:20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:38 wash before dinner. An extrabiblical tradition (see note on Mark 7:5) involving ceremonial cleanness rather than personal hygiene.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:39–41 inside . . . full of greed and wickedness. See note on Matt. 23:26. For “greed,” see Luke 16:14. those things that are within. If the believer first offers his heart to God, then everything is clean. God will accept the good he does even if he does not follow the outward ceremonial washing required by Jewish traditions.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:42–44 Jesus directs three woes against the Pharisees (see note on Matt. 23:13). The woes are a combination of criticism and sorrow. tithe . . . every herb. Such specific detail is not mentioned in the law (Lev. 27:30–33; Deut. 14:22–29; see note on Matt. 23:23). best seat. See Luke 14:7–11. unmarked graves. According to the law, contact with a grave made a person unclean (see Num. 19:16; see note on Matt. 23:27–28). But if the grave was in the ground and had no marking, people might walk over it and become unclean without knowing it. Likewise people who follow the Pharisees are deceived, for they become “unclean” before God without even knowing that the Pharisees have led them astray.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:45 The second set of woes (vv. 46–52) is directed at lawyers (experts in the law, another expression for “scribes of the Pharisees”; see note on Matt. 2:4).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:46 The lawyers (v. 45) load people with burdens by interpreting the law in light of their extrabiblical traditions and making it hard to bear. Worse still, they do not touch the burdens themselves, that is, they make no effort to help people keep these laws (see notes on Matt. 3:7; 11:28).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:47–51 The unusual expression Wisdom of God probably means "God in his wisdom" or "God, speaking to express his wisdom." from the blood of Abel (Genesis 4) to the blood of Zechariah (2 Chron. 24:20–22). The murders of Abel and Zechariah encompass all of OT history (2 Chronicles is last in the Hebrew order of OT books).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:52–54 The lawyers' interpretations of Scripture deprive the people (and themselves) of the key of knowledge needed to understand God's plan of salvation.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:1 Leaven is a metaphor for the self-centered, hypocritical attitude of the Pharisees in 11:37–54. See notes on Mark 8:14–15; 1 Cor. 5:6–7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:2–3 Everything will be revealed and be (made) known by God (compare 8:17)—a reference to future judgment (Acts 17:31). Housetops were commonly flat and were used as a living space (see Acts 10:9–10).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:5 him. That is, God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:6–7 Of more value signals a "lesser to greater" argument (see note on 11:11–13).

FACT

Worth more than a sparrow? Five sparrows could be purchased for two pennies. However, even the common sparrow is of great worth in God's sight. And if that is so, Jesus says, each human person must be of infinite worth to him (12:6–7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:9 denies me before men. The eternal consequences for those who deny Christ will be far worse than the present persecution that they hoped to avoid by denying him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:10 blasphemes against . . . will not be forgiven. Blasphemy against the Holy Spirit is the persistent and unrepentant resistance against the work of the Holy Spirit and his message about Jesus (Acts 7:51). This will not be forgiven. Christians often worry that they have committed this sin, but such a concern is itself evidence of an openness to the work of the Spirit (see also note on Mark 3:29).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:11–12 Holy Spirit. See 21:14–15; see note on Gal. 5:18.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:13–15 tell my brother to divide. Since Jesus' teaching on the desire for material things immediately follows this request, this man is probably speaking from personal greed. who made me a judge? Though Jesus was Lord of the entire universe, he was careful not to become involved in matters that did not directly pertain to his earthly work and ministry. life does not consist in . . . abundance. Compare 9:24–25; 12:22–34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:19–21 Though these verses do not prohibit wealth, Jesus clearly warns his hearers about its dangers. Wealth tends to lead to self-sufficiency and greed.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:22–25 Therefore (because of the truths taught in vv. 13–21) . . . do not be anxious. The first reason why believers should not be anxious is given in v. 23 (for life is more than . . .); the second in v. 24 (of how much more value are you); and the third in v. 25 (because no one has enough control over his own life even to add a single hour to his span of life). Life (or "soul") and body refer to the whole person. (See also ESV footnote.)

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:25–27 Jesus employs two "lesser to greater" arguments (vv. 25–26 and v. 27; see note on 11:11–13) to affirm God's care for his children. Solomon in all his glory. See 1 Kings 10:4–5.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:28 the grass . . . is thrown into the oven. Due to the lack of wood in ancient Palestine, dry grass was used as fuel.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:29 Do not seek does not mean that people should neglect to work and support themselves (see 1 Thess. 4:11–12). Rather, it warns against continuously worrying about what . . . to eat and what . . . to drink.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:33–34 Give to the needy is a strong emphasis in Luke. Moneybags that do not grow old is a metaphor for the place where one stores one's treasures. The disciples are to exhibit great generosity. Throughout Scripture, the heart represents the center of one's being and one's deepest desires. The condition of the heart is reflected in the things it values most.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:35 Stay dressed for action (literally, "Let your loins stay girded," ESV footnote) describes a man prepared to run, with his long robe tucked under his belt.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:37–38 Recline at table describes the end-time messianic banquet (compare 13:29; 14:15–24; 22:27–30; Rev. 19:9). second watch, or in the third. That is, 10:00 P.M. to 2:00 A.M., or 2:00 to 6:00 A.M. The "master" could come at any time, even when one is not normally prepared.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:41–48 are you telling this parable for us or for all? Jesus does not actually answer Peter's question, which would seem to indicate that the parable was meant for "everyone" to whom much has been given (v. 48). When the master returns, the faithful and wise manager will be rewarded—a picture of the rewards to be given to faithful believers at the return of Christ. cut him in pieces and put him with the unfaithful. A picture of the punishment that awaits the unbeliever at Christ's return (compare 13:27–28; and the parallel in Matt. 24:51). much will be required. Using one's God-given abilities wisely and productively is an important part of discipleship.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:49–53 Cast fire on the earth probably refers to the division between believers and unbelievers (vv. 51–53). I have a baptism. Whereas the "fire" affects the world, this "baptism" is Christ's own suffering and death (see note on 1 Pet. 3:21). great is my distress until. Even though it would mean suffering and death, Jesus yearned to fulfill God's plan.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:54–56 A cloud rising in the west over the Mediterranean would have brought moist air that condensed as it climbed the cooler hills of Palestine (shower; see 1 Kings 18:44). The south wind blowing involved a hot, dry wind blowing in from the desert, bringing scorching heat. The crowd could interpret these signs, but their spiritual emptiness kept them from understanding the signs announcing the arrival of God's kingdom in Jesus' teaching and ministry.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:57–59 People need to be in right standing with God, the Judge of the universe, before it is too late.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:1–5 The incidents concerning Pilate killing the Galileans and the fall of the tower in Siloam are not recorded elsewhere in Scripture. whose blood Pilate had mingled. See note on 23:1. Do you think . . . worse sinners? Jesus' rhetorical question reflects a popular view that tragedies and physical ailments were due to personal sin (see note on John 9:2). His answer (No) denies any such connection in this case. unless you repent, you will all likewise perish. Nevertheless this tragic event is a warning that final judgment is coming to the entire world.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:6–9 This parable symbolizes Israel's last opportunity to repent before experiencing God's judgment. Dig around it implies loosening the soil so that water can flow easily to the roots.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:11 disabling spirit. For other examples of demons being associated with physical ailments, see 11:14.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:14 ruler of the synagogue. A board member of the synagogue, or the official in charge of arranging services (see Acts 13:15). Jesus had healed on the Sabbath. He was not violating any OT commandment, only later Jewish traditions.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:15–16 You hypocrites. Compare 6:42; 12:56. Does not each of you introduces a "lesser to greater" argument (see note on 11:11–13). Untie and loosed are the same word in Greek.

FACT

The synagogue ruler thought that Jesus was wrong to heal people on the sabbath (13:14). Keeping the sabbath meant resting from work, and some people thought that healing should be considered work. But there was actually no biblical law against healing on the Sabbath.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:19 To Jesus' audience, the mustard seed (see notes on Matt. 13:31–32; Mark 4:30–32) was the smallest known seed. became a tree. The mustard "tree" grows to the height of 8 to 12 feet (2.4 to 3.7 m). The birds . . . made nests emphasizes the great size of the final plant. The Jews expected the kingdom to come with power, bringing God's judgment on all evil. That Jesus' teaching would arrive in such an "insignificant" way was surprising (see note on Luke 17:20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:21 A tiny amount of yeast can spread throughout the dough to produce a large amount of bread (see note on 1 Cor. 5:6–7). Three measures would have produced enough bread to feed a hundred people. These parables contrast the unnoticed arrival of the kingdom with its glorious conclusion when the Son of Man returns. See New Testament Theology and Key Dates.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:23 For a similar question, see 18:26.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:24 To be "saved," one should strive to enter through the narrow door. This involves repentance (vv. 3, 5) and faith (8:12). For many . . . will seek to enter and will not be able. Someday, the opportunity to trust in Christ will be taken away. (But see note on John 6:37.)

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:25–26 "We ate and drank in your presence, and you taught in our streets." Listening to Jesus' teachings and sharing fellowship with his people are not by themselves any guarantee of eternal life. That comes only through personal faith in Christ.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:27 "I do not know. . . . Depart from me." Jesus is the final Judge of all mankind (see note on 2 Cor. 5:10).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:28 Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets represent those Israelites who believe.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:29 Many believing Gentiles (people from the east, west, north, and south; compare Ps. 107:3) will enter the kingdom (see Luke 24:47; Acts 1:8).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:30 will be first . . . will be last. See note on Matt. 20:16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:31 Herod is Herod Antipas, tetrarch of Galilee and Perea, where Jesus likely was teaching. See notes on 3:1; Matt. 14:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:32 fox. A metaphor for deceitful cunning. third day. The day of Jesus' resurrection (see 9:22).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:33 I must go. Jesus was committed to finishing his mission. that a prophet should perish away from Jerusalem. Jesus did not mean that no prophet had ever died outside of Jerusalem (see 2 Chron. 24:20–22; Jer. 26:20–23). Rather, he was using irony. Jerusalem, the center of Jewish religion and worship, was more dangerous to a true prophet of God than any threats from Herod in Galilee.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:34 O Jerusalem, Jerusalem. Jesus mourned the coming punishment of Jerusalem and all Israel (compare the lament in Psalm 137). as a hen gathers her brood under her wings. A common metaphor for loving care (compare Deut. 32:11; Ruth 2:12; Ps. 17:8; see note on Luke 19:41).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:35 you will not see me until you say, "Blessed . . . " The quoted blessing is from Ps. 118:26. It was chanted to pilgrims entering Jerusalem on feast days. This is not an allusion to Palm Sunday (Luke 19:38) because in Matthew's account (Matt. 23:39) the saying occurs after Palm Sunday, and so it must refer to a later event. It may be a veiled prediction that a large number of Jews will trust in Jesus before his second coming (compare Rom. 11:12, 14).

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:2 dropsy. Probably excess bodily fluid.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:3 Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath, or not? Compare 6:9; 13:16. See note on Matt. 12:9–10.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:6 could not reply. Jesus has answered the Pharisees' objections, and yet they will not believe in him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:7–11 will be humbled . . . will be exalted (compare 18:14). Sometimes this happens in this life, but it will take place most fully at the final judgment (James 4:10; 1 Pet. 5:5–6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:12–14 invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, the blind. Followers of Jesus should be generous toward those who are physically impaired or poor.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:15 In the kingdom of God points to the future messianic banquet, which Jesus' hearers would have seen as being for godly Jews only. Jesus, however, uses the parable to teach that the guests invited originally will miss the banquet and will be replaced by outsiders (v. 24).

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:16–20 A great banquet refers to the arrival of the kingdom in Jesus' ministry. invited many. Two invitations would have been involved. The first one, reservations for the banquet, would have been given well in advance. The second invitation would have been sent on the day of the banquet, announcing that the time for the banquet had come and everything was ready. Although the guests had been invited well in advance, they began to make excuses. The people failed to see that the kingdom is now here, and that God is inviting people to participate in its great blessings. bought a field . . . bought five yoke of oxen . . . have married a wife. These people have put the business of everyday life ahead of the claims of God and his kingdom (see 9:59–62; 12:22–31).

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:21–24 Streets and lanes within the city were where the outcasts would be found (the poor, crippled, blind, and lame; v. 13). The highways and hedges, outside the city, represent Gentiles being invited into the kingdom.

FACT

Too late for excuses. Planning a banquet was complicated and expensive. Two invitations were sent. The first required the guest to respond if they were attending so the host could determine how much food to prepare. The second would have gone out on the day of the banquet, announcing that the meal was ready. The ungrateful guests in 14:16–24 made their excuses upon receiving the second notice, after the host had already prepared the meal.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:26–27 If anyone comes to me. Those who would be Christ's disciples must (1) love their family less than they love Christ (hate; compare Matt. 10:37); (2) bear his own cross and follow Christ (Luke 14:27); and (3) “renounce all” (v. 33).

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:28–32 Two illustrations warn against making a hasty decision to follow Jesus (compare 8:15; 21:19).

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:33 See note on vv. 26–27. Compare 5:11, 28; 12:33; 18:22.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:34 if salt has lost its taste. Most salt came from the Dead Sea and contained impurities. If not processed properly, it would have a poor taste and be unusable for food. If the conditions of discipleship (vv. 26–27, 33) are not kept, the disciples likewise will become worthless (compare Rev. 3:15–17).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:1 Tax collectors (see notes on 3:12–14; Matt. 5:46–47) and sinners are also linked in Luke 5:30; 7:34; 19:7. Were all drawing near to hear him reveals Jesus’ popularity with society’s outcasts (see 14:35).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:2 receives sinners and eats with them. For similar criticisms, see 5:27–32; 7:39; 19:7. For the implications of eating with sinners, see note on 5:30.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:3 So he told them. The following parables are directed to the Pharisees and scribes. The lost sheep (vv. 4–7), lost coin (vv. 8–10), and prodigal son (vv. 11–32) all correspond to lost sinners being found by Jesus (that is, entering the kingdom of God).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:4 See 19:10.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:5 lays it on his shoulders. The sheep is too weak to return on its own.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:6 calls together his friends and his neighbors. Compare v. 9. The Pharisees and scribes should rejoice that the lost sheep of Israel are entering the kingdom.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:7 righteous persons who need no repentance (compare 5:31–32). This is best understood as an ironic description of those who think they are righteous and therefore have no need to repent.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:8 ten silver coins. Perhaps about 10 denarii, or 10 days' wages for a laborer.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:12 give me . . . property . . . coming to me. The younger son does not want to wait for his father's death to receive his inheritance. He was probably a teenager, since he was unmarried. His share would have been half of what the older brother would receive, or one-third of the estate (see Deut. 21:17).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:13 Gathered all indicates that the son converted all of his inheritance into cash.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:15 Pigs (unclean animals; Deut. 14:8) would have been offensive to the son.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:17–18 When the son came to himself he realized that his sin was against his earthly father, but in the deepest sense it was against heaven, that is, against God himself.

FACT

The pods mentioned in 15:16 are most likely carob pods. The pods of the carob tree were used for animal feed, but poor people often ate them as well.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:20 A long way off emphasizes the father's great love; he must have been watching for the son. ran. The father ignored behavioral expectations of the time, since running was considered undignified for an older or wealthy person. embraced him. Literally "fell on his neck"; see Gen. 45:14.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:21 The prodigal repeats his prepared speech (see vv. 18–19). The father does not let him finish, however, showing that he has forgiven him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:22 The ring may have contained a seal, indicating that the son has been welcomed back as a full member of the family.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:23 fattened calf. Kept for special occasions (Gen. 18:7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:24 The son was (assumed to be) dead, but is now alive (united with the family) again. This is a picture of membership in God's kingdom, with adoption into God's family.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:25 While the younger son represents tax collectors and sinners, the older son represents the Pharisees. Both groups were listening to the parables of this chapter (see vv. 1–3), but the Pharisees were probably the primary intended audience of this parable.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:28 He was angry mirrors the grumbling of the Pharisees and scribes (v. 2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:29 but he answered his father. The older brother compares life with his father to years of servitude without celebration.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:30 this son of yours. The older brother refuses to acknowledge the prodigal as his brother.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:31 Son. An affectionate appeal by the father, showing that he still loved the older son and wanted him to join in the celebration. Jesus is still inviting the Pharisees to repent and accept his teaching.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:1 The audience for the parable of the dishonest manager (vv. 1–8a) included Christ's disciples (v. 1) and also the Pharisees (v. 14). The manager is a trusted servant with responsibility for household goods. wasting his possessions. The manager is clearly guilty as charged, because when the master fired him (v. 2), the manager made no attempt to defend himself (v. 3).

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:4–7 The reduction of both bills would have amounted to about 500 denarii (about 20 months' wages).

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:8 The master commended the dishonest manager. Various explanations have been suggested for this seemingly undeserved commendation. The main point is that the manager was smart to anticipate his financial needs after his dismissal, so he used his financial expertise to make friends for himself.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:9 Unrighteous wealth probably refers to the way in which the pursuit of money may often involve (1) taking advantage of others; (2) using wealth for selfish purposes; and (3) the corrupting influence of wealth that often leads to unrighteousness. so that when it fails. Wealth will fail to satisfy and to provide for eternal needs. they may receive you into the eternal dwellings. "They" probably refers to the friends who have been helped by such generous giving. God will give eternal rewards to believers who are generous in using the resources he has entrusted to them.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:11 True riches means spiritual responsibility in God's kingdom, and heavenly reward as well (see 12:33; Matt. 6:19–21).

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:12 Not . . . faithful in that which is another's means not faithful with the worldly possessions that God entrusts to his people for their stewardship during their lifetime (see 19:11–27). Your own refers back to the "true riches" of 16:11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:13 You cannot serve God and money. See note on Matt. 6:24. "Money" is personified here in parallel with "God," indicating that money can often be an idol.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:14 For the Pharisees as lovers of money, see 11:39; 20:46–47.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:16 The Law and the Prophets. The OT. until John. The ministry of John the Baptist concluded a long history of OT prophecy that promised the coming of the messianic kingdom. Everyone forces his way into it is a puzzling statement. It may suggest that the faith that brings one into the kingdom involves a kind of holy "violence" toward oneself in the form of repentance and self-denial.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:17 But suggests that Jesus is seeking to correct a possible misunderstanding of v. 16a, that the OT moral law will become void (see also 21:33).

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:18 Everyone who divorces . . . and marries another commits adultery. No exception is mentioned in Mark or Luke. Matthew adds “except on the ground of sexual immorality” (Matt. 5:32; 19:9) and Paul allows for divorce in the case of desertion by an unbelieving partner (1 Cor. 7:10–11). For more on divorce and remarriage, see notes on Matt. 5:31–32; 19:3; 19:6; 19:8; 19:9; Mark 10:10–11; 10:12; 1 Cor. 7:15.

FACT

The rich man and Lazarus. Luke emphasizes God’s love for the poor, outcasts, sinners, and the weak. Many of the stories in his Gospel focus on this theme, including 16:19–31.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:19–20 clothed in purple. Dressed in luxurious clothes.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:21 There is no indication that the rich man gave Lazarus anything. dogs came and licked his sores. The reference here is not to friendly household pets but to dogs that ran wild in the streets.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:22–23 carried . . . to Abraham’s side. Lazarus was welcomed into the fellowship of other believers already in heaven, particularly Abraham, the father of the Jewish people. Hades. The place of the wicked, the dead, or “hell,” described as a place of torment. It is unclear how literally the details of the story should be taken. It does seem to teach that, immediately after death, both believers and unbelievers have a conscious awareness of their eternal status and enter at once into either suffering or blessing.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:24 send Lazarus. The rich man knows Lazarus’s name and thus knew of his difficulties, though in life he had ignored him. One should probably not draw too much doctrinal significance from the conversation between the rich man and Abraham, for nowhere else does Scripture suggest that there will be personal communication between those in heaven and those in hell.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:25 Although physically a “child of Abraham,” the rich man was not one of Abraham’s true offspring (see John 8:39) because he lacked Abraham’s faith (see Rom. 9:6–8; Gal. 3:29). good . . . bad . . . but now. For this great reversal, see Introduction: Key Themes.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:26 A great chasm has been fixed by God between heaven and hell. The fate of the dead is unchangeable.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:27–31 Luke will later point out that Moses and the Prophets all testify to Jesus as the true Messiah (24:27).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:2 millstone. A round stone used for grinding grain, probably weighing hundreds of pounds, powered by a donkey walking in circles on a track. one of these little ones. Those who believe in Christ or who have begun to follow him (see Matt. 18:6; see note on Mark 9:42).

FACT

How difficult it is for a rich person. In 18:18–30, Jesus challenges a rich ruler to give his money to the poor. However, the man refuses because his riches mattered more to him than obeying Jesus. Elsewhere, Jesus warns that it is impossible to serve both God and money (16:13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:3–4 If your brother sins refers here to individual acts of sin. if he repents, forgive him . . . seven times. In Judaism it was considered honorable to forgive three times. (See note on Matt. 18:21–22.)

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:5–6 Increase our faith! Jesus’ reply to this request indicates that even a very small amount of faith can lead to remarkable results (it would obey you). This passage must be understood in connection with other passages that talk about prayer and the nature of genuine faith (see notes on John 15:7; James 1:6; 1:7–8).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:7–10 The question of v. 9 (Does he thank the servant?) implies an answer of no. We are unworthy servants. Christians should acknowledge that God owes them nothing and that they owe him everything, even their very lives (compare 1 Cor. 4:7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:11 On the way to Jerusalem. See 9:51; 13:22. For Samaria, see notes on 10:33; John 4:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:12–13 ten lepers (see note on 5:12) . . . stood at a distance (see Num. 5:2–4). The law required lepers not to mingle with other people (Lev. 13:45–46; Num. 5:2–4).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:14 As they went (to show themselves to the priests) they were cleansed, that is, they were healed; the priests would declare them clean. They had to begin to obey Jesus' command to go to the priests before they were actually healed.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:15–16a One leper turned back, praising God with a loud voice (compare 4:33; 8:28; 19:37).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:16b Now he was a Samaritan. On Samaritans, see 9:52; 10:33; and note on John 4:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:19 The Samaritan's faith has made him well (literally, "saved" him; see the same Greek verb in 7:50; 8:48; 18:42). The healing here was more than physical.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:20 The Pharisees apparently want to know what cosmic signs will precede the coming of the kingdom so that they can be sure not to miss it. Jesus replies that the kingdom will not come in ways that can be observed. In light of vv. 21–37, he probably means that the kingdom will come quietly, evident only in the change in people's lives.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:21 The kingdom of God is in the midst of you, in the person of Jesus and in the reign of God shown in those who are already following Jesus.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:22 For Son of Man, see note on Matt. 8:20. One of the days probably means they will long to see a day when Jesus has already returned to the earth and is with them again. Some take it to mean that they will long for the time when Jesus was with them on earth.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:23–24 Believers should not follow people who claim that Jesus has come in a secret or hidden way, for he will come in a way that is dramatic and visible to all, like lightning.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:25 this generation. See note on 7:31–34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:26–29 Eating and drinking is not a description of specific evils in the days of Noah and Lot. It means that life went on as normal, and people were caught unprepared.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:31 On the housetop describes a Palestinian home with a flat roof and outside stairs. in the house . . . in the field. There will be no time to prepare when the Son of Man comes.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:32 Lot's wife turned back, looking longingly at Sodom (see Gen. 19:17, 26). Her death is an example of swift judgment on those who do not wholeheartedly obey the Lord's commands.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:33 See 9:24 and note on Mark 8:35.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:37 corpse . . . vultures. See note on Matt. 24:28.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:1–8 This parable consists of a "lesser to greater" argument (see note on 11:11–13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:2 nor respected man. He gave no one special treatment, whether great or small.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:7 If an unjust judge finally grants the widow's "prayer," how much more will God hear the prayers of his elect? Compare 12:22–31; see also Deut. 32:10.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:8 will he find faith on earth? The answer is yes. Jesus asks this question to encourage his disciples to watchfulness and prayer (see vv. 1, 7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:10 Two men went up into the temple. The temple was situated on hill above the rest of Jerusalem (see Jerusalem in the Time of Jesus). tax collector. See note on Matt. 5:46–47.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:11 standing. The normal posture of prayer. God, I thank you that I. The five "I's" in this passage reveal the self-centeredness of the Pharisee. Rather than expressing thanks for what God has done for him, he brags about his own moral purity and religious faithfulness.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:12 I fast twice a week. The OT law apparently required only one fast a year, on the Day of Atonement. tithes of all that I get. See Deut. 14:22–27, which required a tithe of the crops; see also Lev. 27:30–32; Num. 18:21–24.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:13 would not even lift up his eyes to heaven . . . beat his breast. This was a sign of sorrow and remorse (compare 23:48). God, be merciful to me, a sinner. The stark contrast between the sinner's regret and the Pharisee's self-righteousness is key to understanding the parable.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:14 Jesus pronounces a shocking reversal of common expectations (see 14:11 and Introduction: Key Themes). The Pharisee thought he was "righteous" (18:9) and tried to justify himself (compare 16:15). The tax collector depended on God's mercy. As a result he received God's gift of righteousness and was pronounced justified.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:15 touch them. That is, bless them (compare 5:13; 6:19). Were bringing suggests that this was a frequent occurrence in Jesus' ministry.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:16–17 Let the children come. Jesus' attitude toward children contrasted significantly with that of other religious leaders in Judaism. In most ancient cultures children were regarded as a burden until they were physically strong enough to contribute to the family. For to such belongs does not mean children automatically belong to the kingdom but that the kingdom belongs to "such"—that is, to those who possess childlike trust (see note on Mark 10:13–15; compare Matt. 18:4). like a child. That is, in childlike faith.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:18 ruler. See note on Matt. 19:16. Probably a ruler of a synagogue (Luke 8:41) or member of the Sanhedrin (23:13; 24:20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:19 Why do you call me good? Jesus does not let the ruler's superficial view of "goodness" go unchallenged (see note on Mark 10:18). No one is good except God alone. Only by understanding that God is infinitely good can the ruler discover that human good deeds cannot earn eternal life.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:20 You know the commandments. See note on Matt. 19:17. "Do not." Although only commandments 6 through 10 (Ex. 20:13–16) are mentioned, Luke expects his readers to assume that the first five (Ex. 20:1–12) are also included (see Luke 10:25–28).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:21 All these I have kept from my youth. See note on Mark 10:20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:22 One thing you still lack refers to the kingdom of God (vv. 24–25), salvation (v. 26), and eternal life (v. 18). Sell all that you have. See notes on Matt. 19:21; Mark 10:21. Compare Luke 5:11, 28; 14:33; 18:28. Jesus shows that the ruler has not really kept the commandments, and he clarifies the meaning of true repentance. treasure in heaven. In 12:33 this refers to the rewards believers will receive in heaven, but here it means eternal life itself (compare 18:24–25). follow me. See note on 9:23.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:23 very sad. The ruler had kept neither the first commandment nor the tenth, for riches were his god and he desired them more than God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:25 it is easier for a camel. See note on Matt. 19:24. It is impossible for anyone to enter God's kingdom on the basis of works, or to desire God above all else, apart from God's grace.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:26 who can be saved? Riches were supposedly a sign of God's favor. Jesus' listeners must have wondered, if a rich man, able to offer alms and sacrifices, could not be saved, then who could be?

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:27 What is impossible with man is possible with God (compare 1:37; Gen. 18:14). Because of God's power and grace, repenting and following Jesus is possible (see Luke 18:28–30), even for a rich man (19:1–10).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:29–30 who has left house or wife or brothers or parents or children. Jesus is not encouraging his disciples to abandon their families (compare Eph. 5:25; 6:4), but sometimes family members turn against a believer, or there may be times of temporary separation due to Christian ministry. for the sake of the kingdom. Compare “for my sake and for the gospel” (Mark 10:29) and “for my name’s sake” (Matt. 19:29). eternal life. The story of the rich ruler ends where it began, with the issue of eternal life (Luke 18:30; compare v. 18).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:31 we are going up to Jerusalem. See note on Mark 10:32; see Luke 9:51–53; 13:33; 19:28. will be accomplished. The cross is to be seen as the fulfillment of prophecy.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:32 Jesus will be delivered over to the Gentiles. Just as Israel was handed over to Gentiles for punishment of their sin in the OT, so Jesus was handed over to bear God’s wrath for the sins of his people. See Acts 2:23.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:34 But they (the Twelve) understood none of these things. They could not understand why Jesus was predicting this or how it could possibly fit into God’s plans for the Messiah.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:35 a blind man. Named Bartimaeus in Mark 10:46. sitting by the roadside. A good place to beg, for pilgrims heading to Jerusalem would tend to be generous.

Jesus Travels to Jerusalem

Though John mentions several trips to Jerusalem by Jesus during his ministry, Matthew, Mark, and Luke recount only one, which occurred as Jesus prepared for his triumphal entry and subsequent death and resurrection. Beginning at Capernaum, Jesus was apparently diverted from the more direct route when Samaritans refused him access (Luke 9:51–56), so he may have crossed the Jordan and traveled through Perea. Jesus then passed through Jericho and proceeded to Jerusalem.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:38 Matthew reports two blind beggars; see note on Matt. 20:30–31. Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me. See Luke 17:13. The blind man acknowledges Jesus as the Messiah.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:41 Let me recover my sight confirms the man’s great faith. Rather than continuing to beg for money, he seeks a miracle.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:42 your faith has made you well. Literally, “saved you”; compare the same Greek verb in 7:50; 8:48. The blind man was healed both physically and spiritually.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:43 More than healing takes place, because the beggar becomes Jesus’ disciple (compare 9:23). glorifying God. See 4:15 and note on 4:13–15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:1–10 Jesus’ encounter with Zacchaeus is an example of the kingdom of God bringing salvation to outcasts. It also provides a lesson on the proper place of money and possessions in God’s kingdom.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:1 He entered Jericho ties this account closely with the previous one (see 18:35). Jericho at this time was quite different from the OT city. Herod the Great had built aqueducts, a fortress, a monumental winter palace, and a chariot race course near the more ancient town. Jericho had a tropical climate and access to water for agriculture.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:2 chief tax collector. Jericho was a major toll collection point for goods passing east and west.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:7 All grumbled is in sharp contrast to “glorified by all” (4:15). For the symbolism of Jesus’ eating with tax collectors and sinners, see note on 5:30; also 4:18; 5:32; 15:1–2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:8 Half of my goods includes Zacchaeus’s possessions, not just his salary. I (shall) give to the poor (compare 12:33; 18:22). if I have defrauded . . . I (shall) restore it fourfold (compare Ex. 22:1).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:9 Today salvation has come indicates that with God all things are possible, and a rich man can be saved (see 18:26–27). By his actions, Zacchaeus reveals that he also is a true son of Abraham (see Gal. 3:7) and not just his physical descendant (see Luke 3:8).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:10 to seek and to save the lost. Compare 5:32; 15:4, 6–7, 10, 24, 32.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:11–27 This parable concludes Luke's account of Jesus' journey to Jerusalem (begun in 9:51). It is different from the parable of the talents in Matt. 25:14–30. Jesus sometimes told similar parables in different settings to emphasize slightly different truths.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:11 he was near to Jerusalem. Expectations of a political messiah may have been extra high around Jerusalem. The parable will show that the kingdom will not be seen in its fullness until Christ returns. It begins in a small way and grows gradually until then (compare 13:18–21).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:12 To receive for himself a kingdom means to receive authority over a kingdom. The kingdom that he is going to receive is not the far country to which he is traveling but the land from which he started out. Into a "far country" implies that the return of the nobleman (and the second coming of the Son of Man) will not take place immediately.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:13 The rounded number ten shows that Jesus' parable applies to all his disciples, not just the Twelve. A mina was about three months' wages for a laborer, about 100 drachmas. "Engage in business until I come." The NT in general views work and business activity in a positive way (compare Matt. 25:14–30; Luke 10:7; 19:13–23; Col. 3:23–4:1; James 4:13–15), but also as an area where there are substantial temptations to sin (see Matt. 6:19–21; 1 Tim. 6:9–10) and to exploit others (James 5:1–6). "Until I come" refers to the time between Jesus' ascension and his return at the end of the age.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:14 His citizens represents the Jews who hated Jesus. sent a delegation. This image would be familiar to the Jews since they had sent delegations to Rome protesting some of their local rulers.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:15 When he returned refers to Jesus' second coming.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:16 your mina has made ten minas more. An unusually high return in real life, indicating unusual wisdom and faithfulness on the part of the servant.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:17 “Well done, good servant!” What was important was their faithfulness in using their gifts and potential. faithful in a very little. Compare 16:10. you shall have authority over ten cities. This is one of several passages that teach degrees of reward and responsibility in heaven (see notes on 1 Cor. 3:14–15; 1 Tim. 6:17–19).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:20 Lord, here is your mina. The third servant has hidden the mina away where it did no good for anyone and did not gain additional value. Those who fail to do anything useful with the resources, talents, spiritual gifts, and opportunities God has given them will fall under his displeasure. This may indicate that they are not true believers.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:21 severe man. Strict and having high standards (compare Matt. 25:24). This is not intended as a description of Christ, for Luke 19:17, 19 show him to be abundantly generous and gracious. This servant does not know his master well, or else he is simply making up an excuse for his own failure.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:26 The person who welcomes God’s rule and presence will be given more; the one who does not welcome him will lose even the little that he has (taken away).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:27 But as for these enemies of mine may allude to the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70, but it also forecasts the final judgment of those who reject Jesus.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:28–21:38 The Ministry of Jesus in Jerusalem. In this section, Luke's Gospel is closely parallel to Mark 11:1–13:37.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:28 Jerusalem. See Jerusalem in the Time of Jesus.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:29 Bethany is on the eastern slopes of the Mount of Olives (see note on John 11:1). Although the location of Bethphage is not certain, it was clearly farther along the road from Bethany.

Jerusalem at the Time of Jesus

By the time of Jesus, the city of Jerusalem had grown from a modest military fortress to a world-class city with a newly renovated temple that rivaled nearly any in the ancient world. Public pools were fed by the Gihon Spring and by two aqueducts that brought water to the city from as far as 7 miles (11 km) away. The towns of Bethphage and Bethany were located on the eastern slopes of the Mount of Olives, which lay to the east of Jerusalem. See also Jerusalem in the Time of Jesus, pp. 1364–1365.

FACT

Olivet (19:29), also known as the Mount of Olives, is a high mountain ridge stretching some 2.5 miles (4 km) in a north-to-south direction just east of Jerusalem. Throughout Israel's history, it was an ideal location from which to see approaching armies. It is also where Jesus ascended into heaven with the promise to return in the same way (24:51; Acts 1:11–12; see also Zech. 14:4).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:30 Go . . . on entering you will find. Either an example of Jesus' foreknowledge or a prearrangement (see 22:13). A colt tied, on which no one has ever yet sat implies a kind of purity that destines an animal for a sacred task (compare the sacrificial animals in Num. 19:2; Deut. 21:3). Matthew 21:2 mentions that a donkey was with the colt, but Luke mentions only the colt, which was most important because Jesus would ride on it (see note on Matt. 21:6–7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:35 set Jesus on it. Jesus fulfills a prophecy about the Messiah in Zech. 9:9 by riding on the donkey (see notes on Matt. 21:4–5; John 12:15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:36 spread . . . cloaks on the road. An act of respect (see note on Matt. 21:8; see 2 Kings 9:13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:37 On the Mount of Olives, see note on Mark 13:3. began to rejoice (see Zech. 9:9) and praise God. This came primarily from Jesus' disciples.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:38 Blessed . . . in the name of the Lord! A blessing from Ps. 118:26 that worshipers traveling to Jerusalem received (see note on Mark 11:9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:39–40 The Pharisees' actions illustrate v. 14. the very stones would cry out. All creation was made to worship this King who is Lord of all.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:41 he wept over it. See notes on 13:34; John 11:35. Though the rejection of Jesus by many Jews was predicted in the OT (see note on John 12:37–40), Jesus still feels great sorrow over their rejection.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:42 this day. That is, the day when the true Messiah and King came, "the time of your visitation" (v. 44). The things that make for peace are the things that would lead the Jewish people to salvation (see note on John 14:27). But now they (the things that make for peace) are hidden (see note on John 12:37–40).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:43–44 days will come. See note on 21:5–6. a barricade around you. Earthworks constructed by the Romans. tear you down . . . and your children. A result of the attack. not leave one stone. Jesus' prophecy was fulfilled in A.D. 70 when the Roman army destroyed Jerusalem and the temple. See 2 Sam. 17:13; Ps. 137:7; Mic. 3:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:45–48 Luke's account of this incident is greatly shortened (compare Matt. 21:12–16; Mark 11:15–18). he entered the temple. See Matt. 21:12–17; Mark 11:15–17; see also Mal. 3:1. began to drive out those who sold. See note on Matt. 21:12. This probably occurred in the Royal Stoa, though it may have been in the Court of the Gentiles. den of robbers. See Jer. 7:11. chief priests and the scribes. They are acting as a group. The "chief priests" are not the high priests but members of the most prominent priestly families. See notes on Luke 5:17; 5:21–22. were (continually) seeking to destroy him. Luke's first clear mention of a plot against Jesus' life.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:1–8 as Jesus was teaching. See 19:47. Do these things describes Jesus' cleansing of the temple, but also his healing and teaching in the temple. He is neither an official priestly authority nor a scribal authority. Was the baptism (that is, the ministry) of John . . . from heaven (that is, "from God"; 15:7, 18, 21) or from man (that is, did it have a merely human origin; see note on Matt. 21:25–27)? The opponents have no basis on which to assess Jesus' ministry.

FACT

The widow's offering. There were 13 collection chests for offerings in the temple. The widow's contribution caught Jesus' eye not because it was impressive but because she had given sacrificially. The attitude of the giver is more important to God than the size of the gift.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:9–18 This parable, while spoken to the people (vv. 1, 9), is directed to Jesus' opponents (19:47; 20:1, 19). It is intended as an analogy to show that God (the “owner,” v. 13) is taking away the kingdom from Israel (see note on Mark 12:1–12).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:10–12 he sent. The man sent three servants, probably representing the OT prophets, to check on the tenants.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:13 My beloved son recalls the words spoken by God the Father to Jesus at his baptism (3:22; compare Matt. 3:17).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:14–15a “Let us kill him.” See 19:47. they . . . killed him. A clear allusion to Jesus’ approaching death.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:15b The owner (literally, “lord”) represents God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:16 God will destroy those tenants. In a preliminary sense this happened during the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. In a fuller sense it refers to the final judgment. Surely not! The hearers have some sense that the parable applies to the people of Israel.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:17 The stone . . . rejected has become the cornerstone (quoted from Ps. 118:22; see note on Mark 12:10). The rejected Son will become the Head of the church, the people of God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:18 Everyone who falls (compare Isa. 8:14–15; 1 Pet. 2:8) means everyone who rejects Jesus as the Messiah. When it falls on anyone refers to Christ coming back in judgment.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:20 governor. Pontius Pilate.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:22 Is it lawful? Some Jews believed that paying any tax to pagan rulers contradicted God’s lordship over his people.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:25 render to Caesar. See note on Matt. 22:21. The denarius has Caesar’s image and represents the tribute they should give to him. Jesus adds a more important command: people should give to God that which bears his image and likeness, namely, themselves (see note on Rom. 12:1).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:27 Sadducees. See notes on Matt. 3:7; 22:23. They were a priestly group. One view is that they claimed descent from Zadok, the high priest under David (1 Kings 1:26). who deny . . . a resurrection. This is the main issue in the following discussion.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:28–31 Moses wrote. The Sadducees' puzzle is based on the OT command that if a man dies leaving no children, his brother is to marry the widow and take care of her (see note on Matt. 22:24). all seven left no children and died. The example is carefully worked out so that no brother has a special claim to the woman.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:33 In the resurrection . . . whose wife? Since neither Jesus nor the Pharisees could reply that she would equally be the wife of all seven, the Sadducees believed this illustration disproved the resurrection.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:34–35 The coming age is different from this age in many ways. neither marry nor are given in marriage. See note on Matt. 22:29–30.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:36 equal to angels. Angels are immortal. sons of God . . . sons of the resurrection. The believer's relationship as a child of God becomes fully realized at the resurrection after Christ's return (see Rom. 8:23; 1 Cor. 15:53–54).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:37–38 When the Lord calls himself the God of Abraham and . . . of Jacob after their death, this indicates that he is still their God. Since he is not God of the dead, but of the living, then there must be a resurrection. See notes on Matt. 22:31–32; Mark 12:26–27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:41–44 How can they say that the Christ is David's son? Jesus answers his own question. Scripture teaches that Jesus is more than David's son. Jesus quotes Ps. 110:1: David . . . says . . . "The Lord (the God of Israel) said to my Lord" (the Messiah). See note on Mark 12:35–37. "Sit at my right hand." The Lord (Messiah) is given the place of honor. Since David calls the Messiah his Lord, how is he his son? That is, how can Jesus be only David's son? The Messiah is, in fact, greater than his father David, and thus David calls him Lord (see note on Matt. 22:41–46).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:45–47 Beware of the scribes. See 11:45–53; 12:1. They walk . . . in long (attention-grabbing) robes (see note on Matt. 23:5). They love greetings and places of honor (see Luke 11:43; 14:7–8; see note on Matt. 23:7). While doing this, they devour widows' houses (probably while managing their property) and for a pretense make long prayers (see Matt.

6:5–6). As a consequence, they will receive the greater condemnation (compare Matt. 23:13–36; Luke 11:37–52).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:1–4 offering box. One of the 13 collection chests in the temple.

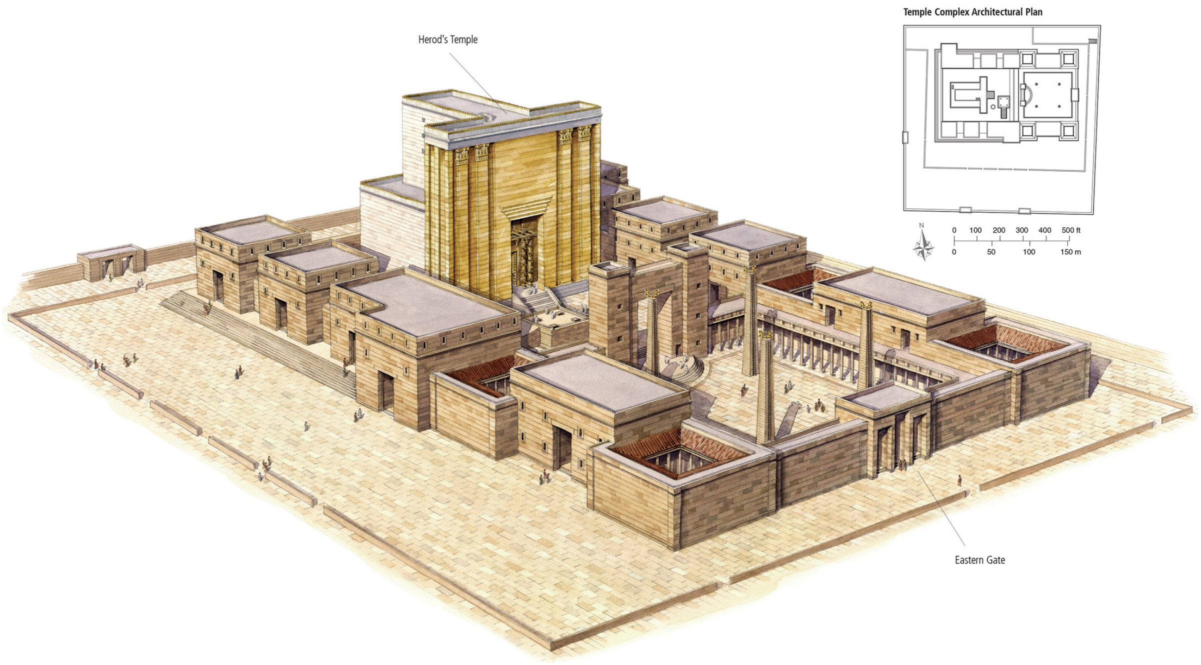
FACT

The temple mentioned in the Gospels was the second one. The Babylonians destroyed the first temple, which Solomon had built. The Jews rebuilt it, and Herod the Great fully restored it later. Shortly after Jesus' prophecy (21:6), this temple was destroyed, in A.D. 70.

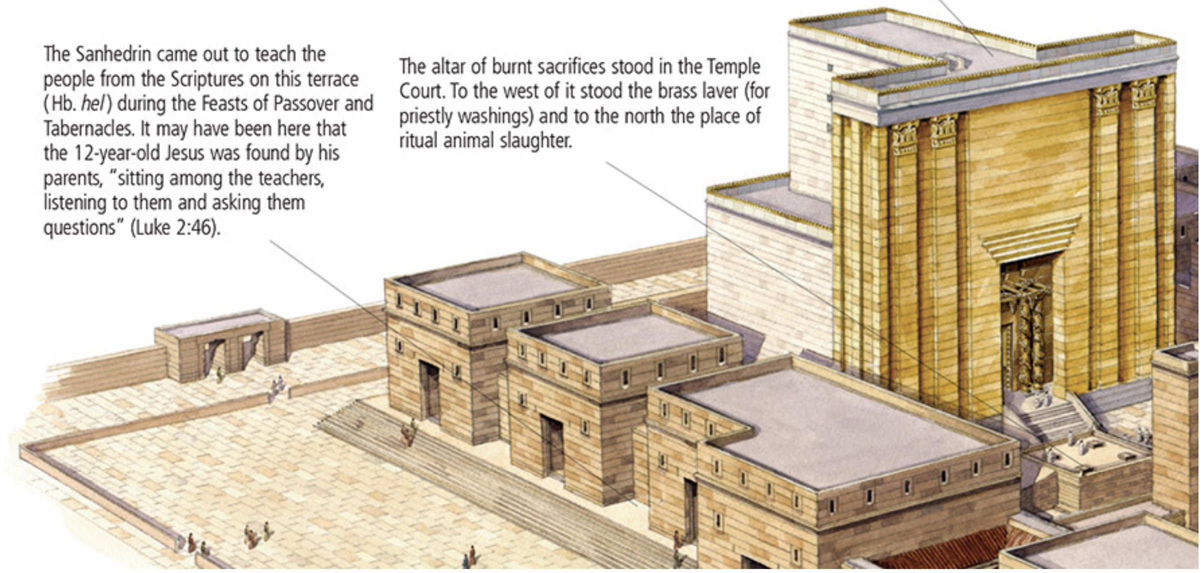
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:5–24 Jesus foretells the destruction of the temple and Jerusalem (vv. 5–24) and the coming of the Son of Man (vv. 25–38). As is also the case earlier in Luke (17:22; 19:43–44), the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70 is used by Jesus as a pattern or a "type" of the ultimate destruction at the end of the age when Christ returns.

Herod's Temple Complex in the Time of Jesus

When the Gospels and the book of Acts refer to entering the temple or teaching in the temple, it is often not a reference to Herod's temple itself, but rather to this temple complex, including a number of courts and chambers that surrounded the temple. These latter structures were the great and wonderful buildings referred to by the disciples in Matt. 24:1; Mark 13:1–2.



• •

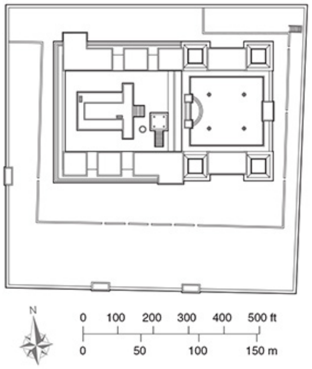


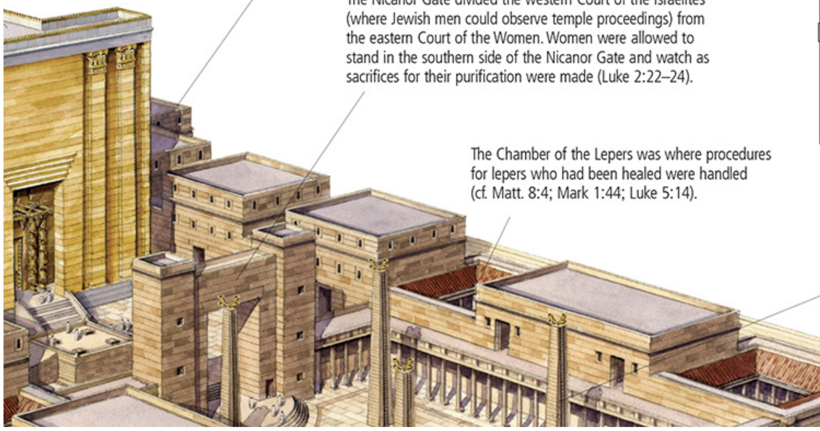
The Sanhedrin came out to teach the people from the Scriptures on this terrace (Hb. hel) during the Feasts of Passover and Tabernacles. It may have been here that the 12-year-old Jesus was found by his parents, "sitting among the teachers, listening to them and asking them questions" (Luke 2:46).

The altar of burnt sacrifices stood in the Temple Court. To the west of it stood the brass laver (for priestly washings) and to the north the place of ritual animal slaughter.

• •

Temple Complex Architectural Plan





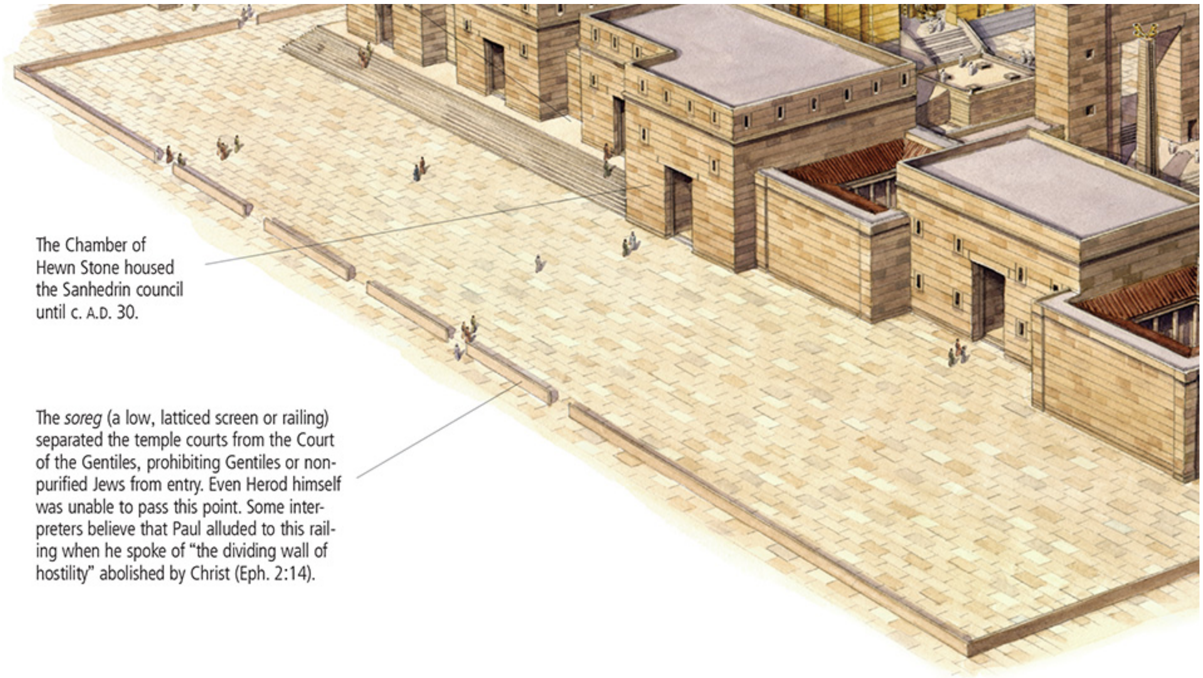
The Chamber of the Hearth was the building which housed priests who served when their division was on duty (cf. Zechariah in Luke 1:8).

The Nicanor Gate divided the western Court of the Israelites (where Jewish men could observe temple proceedings) from the eastern Court of the Women. Women were allowed to stand in the southern side of the Nicanor Gate and watch as sacrifices for their purification were made (Luke 2:22–24).

The Chamber of the Lepers was where procedures for lepers who had been healed were handled (cf. Matt. 8:4; Mark 1:44; Luke 5:14).

Each of the four massive lampstands (86 feet/26 m high) in the Court of the Women had a ladder by which to reach the four golden bowls to provide lighting at night.

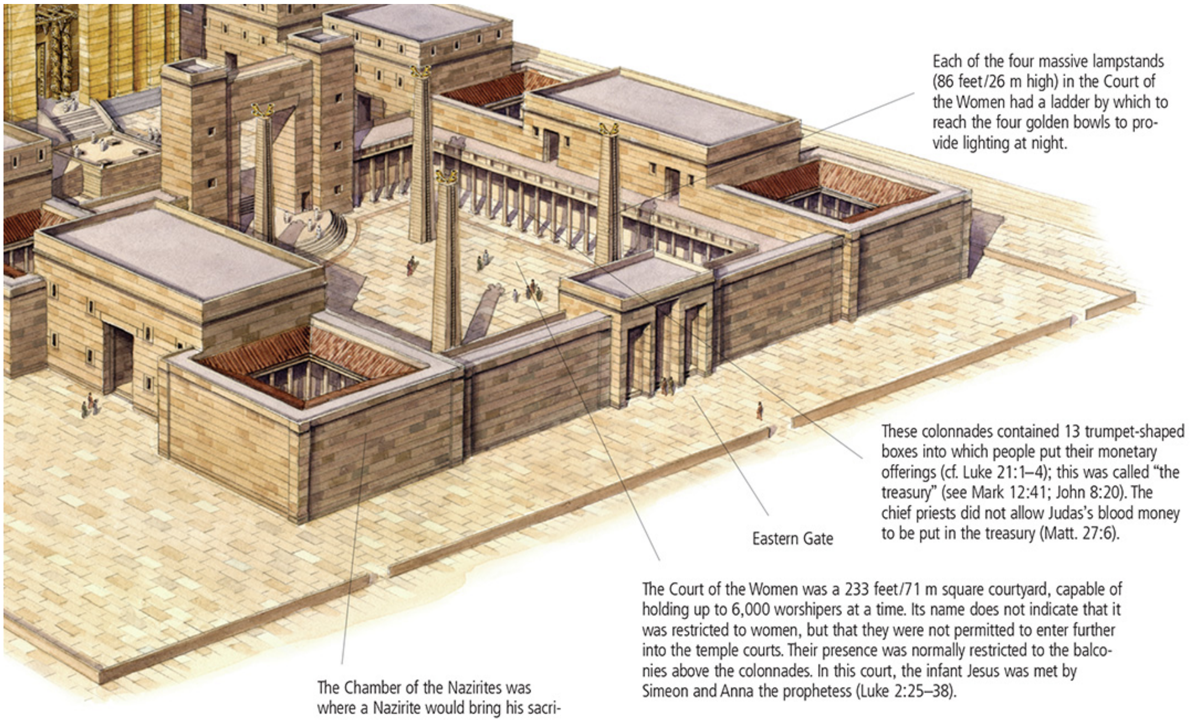
• •



The Chamber of Hewn Stone housed the Sanhedrin council until c. A.D. 30.

The soreg (a low, latticed screen or railing) separated the temple courts from the Court of the Gentiles, prohibiting Gentiles or non-purified Jews from entry. Even Herod himself was unable to pass this point. Some interpreters believe that Paul alluded to this railing when he spoke of “the dividing wall of hostility” abolished by Christ (Eph. 2:14).

• •



Each of the four massive lampstands (86 feet/26 m high) in the Court of the Women had a ladder by which to reach the four golden bowls to provide lighting at night.

These colonnades contained 13 trumpet-shaped boxes into which people put their monetary offerings (cf. Luke 21:1–4); this was called “the treasury” (see Mark 12:41; John 8:20). The chief priests did not allow Judas’s blood money to be put in the treasury (Matt. 27:6).

Eastern Gate

The Court of the Women was a 233 feet/71 m square courtyard, capable of holding up to 6,000 worshipers at a time. Its name does not indicate that it was restricted to women, but that they were not permitted to enter further into the temple courts. Their presence was normally restricted to the balconies above the colonnades. In this court, the infant Jesus was met by Simeon and Anna the prophetess (Luke 2:25–38).

The Chamber of the Nazirites was where a Nazirite would bring his sacrifices upon completion of his vow.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:5–6 how it was adorned. The beauty and size of Herod the Great’s Temple Mount exceeded that of most of the Seven Wonders of the World. It was more than twice the size of the Acropolis in Athens (see Herod's Temple Complex in the Time of Jesus). It was 0.96 miles (1.55 km) around and enclosed a space equivalent to one-sixth of the entire city. noble stones. One of the stones of the temple complex still remaining measures 45 x 11.5 x 12 feet (13.7 x 3.2 x 4 m) and is estimated to weigh 570 tons. offerings. Tapestries, gold and bronze doors, golden grape clusters, etc. The days will come refers not to the second coming but to a time in history before that (see 5:35; 17:22; 19:43; 23:29). not . . . one stone upon another. Fulfilled in A.D. 70 when Rome destroyed Jerusalem and the temple.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:7–9 when will these things be, and what will be the sign? See notes on Matt. 24:3; Mark 13:4–37. For many introduces what the disciples should not be led astray by. in my name. People claiming the title "Messiah." These imposters will say I am he, that is, "I am the Messiah," and therefore the time is at hand! (compare Dan. 7:22; Rev. 1:3; 22:10). Do not go after them, for these pretenders are not Christ himself.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:12 before all this. Before the events of vv. 6–11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:14 not to meditate beforehand how to answer. Compare 12:11–12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:16 You will be delivered up even by parents intensifies 12:53; 14:26; 18:29. Some of you suggests that there will be only a few martyrs, but there will be some.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:18 In light of the prediction that some disciples will be "put to death" (v. 16), it is best to take not a hair of your head will perish as a metaphorical way of saying that God's people will suffer no eternal spiritual harm.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:19 gain your lives. That is, will be enabled to share in the full benefits of final salvation in the end times; see 9:24.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:20–24 In vv. 8–19 the audience is Jesus' followers ("you"). Here it is described as "those," "women," "this people," and "they," indicating that Jesus' followers are not the ones being directly addressed.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:20 Jerusalem surrounded by armies. The first fulfillment of this was the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. Some of what Jesus predicted in vv. 5–24 may also find fulfillment in events that precede Christ's second coming.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:21 Then (while there is still time) . . . flee to the mountains (see note on Matt. 24:16). Those who are inside the city (should) depart before the Roman siege occurs.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:22 Days of vengeance refers to God's vengeance and judgment, not Rome's. to fulfill all that is written. Compare 18:31; 24:44; Acts 13:29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:23 women who are pregnant and . . . nursing. In war, they are the most vulnerable. What was normally a blessing would now present a great difficulty.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:24 the edge of the sword. Compare Jer. 21:7; Heb. 11:37. Until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled may point to a later time when Israel/Jerusalem will repent and be restored to God's favor (see Rom. 11:11–32).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:25–28 Signs in sun and moon and stars and the powers of the heavens will be shaken describes great changes in the skies (see note on Matt. 24:29). they will see. The second coming involves the visible return of the Son of Man from heaven (Acts 1:11; see notes on Matt. 8:20; 24:30). These things . . . take place refers to Luke 21:25–27. Redemption refers to the time of Christ's return (Rom. 8:23).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:31 So also introduces the reality to which the fig tree analogy of vv. 29–30 points. These things refers to the second coming (vv. 25–28). The kingdom of God is near means the consummation of the kingdom (see Introduction: Key Themes), when the Son of Man returns.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:32 this generation will not pass away. See note on Matt. 24:34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:33 my words will not pass away. This applies to all of Jesus' teaching, but specifically to his teaching about the certainty of his return and the events leading up to it.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:34 that day. When the Son of Man comes (v. 27) and the kingdom comes in its fullness (v. 31).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:35 The warnings of vv. 34 and 36 apply to people throughout the whole earth, not just "those who are in Judea" (v. 21).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:36 to escape all these things. That is, to avoid being harmed by the difficult times before Christ's return.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:1–23:56 The Suffering and Death of Jesus. As Jesus' death draws near, the scene shifts from the temple area to the city of Jerusalem. The emphasis shifts from Jesus' teachings to events surrounding his death.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:1–38 As Jesus has his last meal with his disciples, he once again discusses with them his approaching death. Meanwhile, plans are set in motion against him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:1 The Feast of Unleavened Bread spanned the 15th to the 21st of Nisan, the first month in the Jewish calendar (March/April in the Gregorian calendar). See note on Mark 14:12. Passover. See note on Luke 2:41.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:2 The chief priests and the scribes are acting as a group. The "chief priests" are not the high priests but members of the most prominent priestly families. See notes on Matt. 2:4; 26:3–4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:3 Judas had never truly believed in Jesus, and Jesus was aware of this (see John 6:64, 70). Apparently none of his other disciples realized it (see note on Luke 22:23). Judas's pattern of dishonest behavior was evidence of his unbelief (see John 12:6). Now, with the consent of Judas's own sinful heart, Satan entered into Judas, prompting him to go to the chief priests with a plot against Jesus (Luke 22:4; see also John 13:27).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:4–6 officers. Leaders of the temple police (see v. 52). how he might betray him. Judas planned things so that Jesus would be arrested away from the crowd (see v. 53 and note on Mark 14:10–11).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:7–13 on which the Passover lamb had to be sacrificed. See note on Matt. 26:17. The Passover meal had to be eaten in Jerusalem (Deut. 16:5–6). Go and prepare involved having the lamb sacrificed at the temple, roasting it, preparing the room for the meal, and preparing various side dishes. The disciples would be met by a man carrying a jar of water—something one would expect a woman to be doing. The secretive nature of the meeting suggests that Jesus was seeking privacy. Everything takes place just as he had told them (compare Luke 19:32), suggesting either a prearrangement or a miraculous work of God.

The Last Supper
After Jesus and his disciples ate the Passover meal, they crossed the Kidron Valley and entered a garden called Gethsemane (meaning “oil press”), where they often spent time while visiting Jerusalem (see 22:39).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:14–23 Luke’s version of Jesus’ final Passover meal with his disciples differs in two ways from Matt. 26:17–29 and Mark 14:17–25. Luke places Jesus’ statement about his betrayal after the meal rather than before (probably an arrangement by topic), and he refers to two cups (Luke 22:17–18, 20) rather than one.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:14 when the hour came. The “hour” to celebrate the Passover (v. 15) and, in a broader sense, the “hour” of Jesus’ suffering and death (v. 53; John 13:1; 17:1). he reclined at table. The Passover was eaten in a reclining position, as were other festive meals (Luke 11:37; see note on Matt. 26:20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:16 I will not eat it means “I will not eat it again” (see ESV footnote). Until it is fulfilled refers to the future messianic banquet (see note on Rev. 19:9–10).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:17 took a cup. See note on Matt. 26:27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:19 The expression This is my body has been interpreted in various ways throughout the history of the church. Roman Catholics believe that the bread and wine actually become the body and blood of Christ. Lutherans believe that the literal body and blood of Christ are present “in, with, and under” the bread and wine. Some Anglicans refer to the “real presence” of Christ in the bread and wine. Most other Protestants believe that the body and blood of Christ are not literally, physically present in the elements of the meal, but that Christ is present symbolically. Most would also add that Christ is present spiritually with and in those who receive the elements in faith. given for you. This same verb is connected to sacrifice in Mark 10:45; Luke 2:24; Gal. 1:4. The Greek translated “for you” often has the meaning of one person doing something in place of someone else. Jesus’ body will take the place of the Passover lamb. God will “pass over” the sins of the people because of Jesus’ sacrifice. Do this in remembrance of me. See note on 1 Cor. 11:24.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:20 This cup. See notes on Matt. 26:28; Luke 22:42. New covenant in my blood (see “blood of the covenant,” Ex. 24:8; see also Lev. 17:11–14) indicates that Jesus’ blood is sacrificial blood, sealing a new covenant. Poured out, that is, in death. for you. Compare Mark 14:24; Luke 22:19.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:21 the hand of him who betrays me. See note on Matt. 26:23.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:22 The approaching death of the Son of Man has been determined by God. However, woe to that man by whom he is betrayed means that Judas is still responsible for his actions (see note on Mark 14:21).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:23 which of them it could be. Judas is still present. His behavior, like his previous conduct, apparently did not give him away as the traitor.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:24 greatest. Compare Mark 8:34–38.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:27 But I. Jesus is the supreme example of humility (John 13:3–17).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:30 For eat and drink in the kingdom of God, see 13:29; 14:15. Jesus' claim that the messianic banquet is my table and that the kingdom of God is my kingdom would be seen as disrespectful if it were not true.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:31 Satan demanded to have you (compare Job 1–2), that he might sift you like wheat. "You" is plural in these two instances, indicating that all the disciples are in view, not just Peter. In other words, "Satan is seeking to shake you all violently, as one does wheat, to cause you to fall."

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:32 I have prayed . . . that your faith may not fail. "Your" here is singular, so Peter alone is addressed. turned. See Acts 3:19; 9:35.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:34 rooster . . . crow. Each morning, roosters would crow a number of times separated by a few minutes. In Mark Jesus specifies the first two individual crowings. Matthew, Luke, and John, however, refer to the entire time of several crowings. See note on John 13:38. deny three times. See Luke 22:54–62.

FACT

Jesus knows us. Jesus knew that, in his hour of greatest need, Peter would deny him (22:34). He also knew that Peter would repent and go on to be a great leader in the church (v. 32; see Acts 2:14–41). As Paul declared, "The Lord knows those who are his" (2 Tim. 2:19).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:35–36 Earlier in his ministry, Jesus sent his disciples out with no moneybag (see 9:3; 10:4). moneybag . . . knapsack. Now, however, they will need extra provisions and supplies. let the one who has no sword . . . buy one. Many interpreters believe this means being armed spiritually to fight spiritual foes (compare Eph. 6:10–17). According to this view: (1) in Luke 22:38 the disciples misunderstand Jesus' command and produce literal swords; Jesus' response that "It is enough" is a rebuke, as if he were saying, "Enough of this talk about swords"; (2) just a few minutes later Jesus will again prohibit the use of a literal sword (vv. 49–51). Others take this as a command to have a literal sword for self-defense. According to this view: (1) the moneybag, knapsack, and cloak in this verse are literal, so the sword must be literal as well; (2) Jesus' response that "It is enough" (v. 38) actually approves the swords the disciples have as being enough, and his later rebuke in vv. 49–51 only prohibits them from blocking his arrest and suffering, that is, from seeking to advance the kingdom of God by force; (3) the very fact that the disciples possess swords (v. 38) suggests that Jesus has not prohibited them from carrying swords up to this point, and Jesus never prohibited self-defense (see note on Matt. 5:39). Both views have some merit.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:37 Scripture must be fulfilled. Jesus' coming suffering and death are a necessary part of God's plan. he was numbered with the transgressors. See 23:32–33, 39–43; Isa. 53:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:38 Lord, here are two swords. See note on vv. 35–36.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:40 when he came to the place. Luke assumes his readers knew that "the place" was the garden of Gethsemane. Pray that you may not enter into temptation. The temptation was to give in to physical sleep (see vv. 45–46) and thus fail in their responsibility to support Jesus. It may point also to the temptation to deny Jesus when he is led away to the cross (see vv. 54–62).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:41 knelt down. A posture of complete humility in prayer.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:42 On Father, see note on Matt. 6:9. this cup. A symbol of Jesus' future suffering (see Matt. 20:22–23; Mark 10:38–39). Taking the cup shows that Jesus took God's wrath upon himself (see Isa. 51:17, 22; Jer. 25:15; Ezek. 23:31–33; Hab. 2:16). Jesus died for the sake of and instead of his people (see notes on Mark 14:36; John 18:11; Rom. 3:25; 1 John 2:2). Nevertheless, not my will, but yours, be done. Jesus intentionally, voluntarily, and obediently "endured the cross, despising the shame" (Heb. 12:2).

FACT

Take this cup from me. Drinking cups were often mentioned in the Bible as symbols of God’s wrath or judgment. For Jesus to figuratively drink from such a cup meant suffering God’s punishment on behalf of sinful people (22:42). This is what he willingly did when he died on the cross.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:44 Jesus was in agony in anticipation of bearing “our sins in his own body on the tree” (1 Pet. 2:24). his sweat became like great drops of blood falling down to the ground. Though the word “like” may indicate that this is a metaphor, there are other accounts of people sweating blood—a condition known as hematidrosis, where extreme anguish or physical strain causes one’s capillary blood vessels to dilate and burst, mixing sweat and blood. In either case, Luke is describing the intensity of Jesus’ emotional and physical trauma.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:45 sleeping for sorrow. It had been a long day, and the disciples were emotionally and physically exhausted.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:47 kiss. It was customary for a disciple to greet his teacher with a kiss. Here it serves to identify Jesus in the darkness (see Mark 14:44).

Jesus' Arrest, Trial, and Crucifixion

The path from Jesus' arrest to his crucifixion (part of which is often called the Via Dolorosa, "Way of Sorrows") is difficult to retrace with certainty. According to a possible harmony of the Gospel accounts, after the Passover meal Judas led a contingent of soldiers to Gethsemane to arrest Jesus (1). From there Jesus was led to Annas (location unknown), who sent him to his son-in-law Caiaphas, the high priest (2). The Jewish leaders then appealed to the Roman governor Pilate to have Jesus put to death (3). Luke records that Pilate sent Jesus to Herod Antipas (4), who questioned Jesus but returned him to Pilate without rendering any judgment (5). Pilate then sent Jesus to be crucified at Golgotha (6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:49–51 what would follow. Jesus’ arrest. shall we strike with the sword? Swords were commonly worn for protection against thieves.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:50–51 cut off his right ear. See note on John 18:10. That Jesus touched and healed him is recorded only in Luke.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:52 chief priests . . . elders. They are acting as a group. The “chief priests” are not the high priests but members of the most prominent priestly families. officers of the temple. Leaders of the temple police.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:54–62 Luke places Peter’s denial of Jesus earlier than Jesus’ appearance before the Sanhedrin (vv. 66–71), while Matthew and Mark place it afterward. Luke may have wanted to arrange his material in a more topical, “orderly” way (see 1:3).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:54 high priest’s house. The home of Caiaphas (Matt. 26:57), the ruling high priest (see notes on Matt. 26:57–58; John 18:24), was perhaps shared with his father-in-law Annas. Peter was following “to see the end” (Matt. 26:58).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:59 The people in the courtyard know by his accent that Peter is a Galilean (Matt. 26:73).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:63 The men . . . holding Jesus were probably “officers” (vv. 4, 52), that is, leaders of the temple police.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:66–71 Luke’s account of Jesus’ trial is much shorter than Matthew’s and Mark’s.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:66 When day came. Luke combines the first (Mark 14:53–65) and second (Mark 15:1) meetings of the Sanhedrin. assembly of the elders. A synonym for the Sanhedrin.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:67–68 If you are the Christ, tell us. This was the key issue of the trial.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:69 the Son of Man shall be seated at the right hand . . . of God. Jesus declares that he is the human Messiah anticipated by the Jews and also the divine Son of Man (Dan. 7:13–14) who sits at the right hand of God (Ps. 110:1–2) and who will come in power to reign over the earth (see note on Matt. 8:20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:70 Son of God, “the Christ” (Messiah; v. 67), and “Son of Man” all refer to Jesus. Each emphasizes different aspects of his person and role. “Son of God” points to Jesus’ unique relationship to God. “Christ” indicates that Jesus claimed to be the Son of David, the Messiah. “Son of Man” points to the person identified in Dan. 7:13–14 who will rule the kingdom of God. You say that I am. A Greek expression that throws responsibility back upon the one asking the question (compare Matt. 26:25, 64).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:71 What further testimony do we need? The desire to catch Jesus in something he might say (compare 11:54; 20:20, 26) has been achieved. We have heard . . . from his own lips indicates that the members of the Sanhedrin considered Jesus’ claims (22:68–70) to be enough to condemn him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:1–5 Only Rome could sentence someone to death (John 18:31), so the Sanhedrin brought Jesus to Pilate. The charges are now changed from religious (“blasphemy”) to political ones (Luke 23:2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:1 the whole company of them. The “assembly” (Sanhedrin) of 22:66. before Pilate. See 3:1. Normally the seat of the Roman government in Judea was Caesarea, not Jerusalem. Pilate was in Jerusalem at Passover to prevent rebellious activities. The Gospels suggest that Pilate was willing to execute Jesus because of his desire to maintain public calm. Jewish sources considered Pilate’s reign to have been quite harsh, charging him with greed and cruelty (see 13:1). Josephus mentions Pilate bringing pagan Roman troops into Jerusalem and taking temple funds to build an aqueduct.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:2 began to accuse him. That is, bring formal charges against him. The religious reasons for Jesus’ condemnation would be of little interest to Rome, so the Sanhedrin changes them to political charges. The first charge, misleading our nation, involves seducing the nation away from loyalty to Rome. The second, forbidding . . . tribute to Caesar, is clearly false (see 20:20–26). The third is that he himself is Christ, a king (compare John 18:33, 36, 37). Jesus’ claims to kingship would be a direct challenge to Caesar.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:3 Ignoring the first two charges, Pilate focuses on the third and asks, Are you the King of the Jews? Jesus' answer, You have said so, repeats his earlier reply (see note on 22:70).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:4–5 These verses are unique to Luke and emphasize Jesus' innocence. Pilate's verdict I find no guilt is repeated in vv. 14–16 and 22. they. The chief priests and crowds.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:6–16 This account is found only in Luke (compare Acts 4:27–28). Both Pilate and Herod Antipas found Jesus innocent (Luke 23:15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:7 On Herod Antipas, see notes on 3:1; Matt. 14:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:9 Jesus made no answer. Jesus' silence fulfills Isa. 53:7. It places the responsibility for his death squarely on his accusers.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:11 Herod and his soldiers dressed Jesus in splendid clothing (compare Mark 15:17–20) to mock his claim to kingship.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:14 did not find this man guilty. For the second time, Pilate acknowledges Jesus' innocence.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:18 they. The chief priests, the rulers, and the people who have been stirred up by them. Away with this man, and release . . . Barabbas assumes knowledge of the custom of releasing a prisoner at the Passover (see Matt. 27:15; Mark 15:6; and the ESV footnote on Luke 23:16). "Away with him" essentially means "crucify him" (compare John 19:15; see also Luke 23:21). Barabbas was a notorious criminal who had committed robbery, treason, and murder.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:22 For the third time Pilate affirms Jesus' innocence (compare vv. 4, 14–15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:25 Luke emphasizes that choosing Barabbas involved releasing one guilty of insurrection and murder and condemning Jesus. he delivered Jesus over to their will. See 9:44; 18:32; 24:7. Pilate gave in to the wishes of the crowd. He condemned Jesus to crucifixion, the Roman means of executing criminals convicted of high treason.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:26 they (the Roman soldiers) . . . seized one Simon of Cyrene. Cyrene was a region in North Africa with a large Jewish population. Simon was likely a Jew who had traveled to Jerusalem for the Passover. See notes on Mark 15:21; Acts 13:1. Since he already had been scourged (see notes on Matt. 27:26; Mark 15:15; John 19:1), Jesus' physical condition may have prevented him from carrying the cross.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:27–31 Jesus quotes from Zech. 12:10–14. the days are coming. See Luke 19:43; 21:6, 22–24. "Blessed are the barren." See note on 21:23. In those days, the "reproach" of childlessness (see 1:25) will be a blessing. "Fall on us." Compare Hos. 10:8; Rev. 6:16. green . . . dry. If God did not spare his innocent son ("green" wood), how much worse will it be when he allows the Romans to unleash his wrath on a sinful nation ("dry" wood)?

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:32 Two others . . . criminals fulfills the prophecy of Isa. 53:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:33 The Skull. In Matthew it is also called Golgotha, a transliteration of the Aramaic word for "skull." See notes on Matt. 27:33; John 19:17. In Matt. 27:38 and Mark 15:27 the criminals are called "robbers"; see note on Matt. 27:38.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:34 They cast lots to divide his garments is a clear reference to Ps. 22:18. Casting lots was sometimes used in the OT to discover God's will, but here it is a form of gambling by the Roman guards. Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do. Jesus follows his own teaching about loving one's enemies (see Luke 6:35). His death was the basis upon which those who crucified him could be forgiven (Isa. 53:12). "They know not what they do" does not take away the responsibility of the religious or political leaders for Jesus' death, but it shows that they did not fully understand the horrible evil that they were doing in crucifying the "Holy and Righteous One" (Acts 3:14).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:35 Luke contrasts the behavior of the Jewish crowds (the people stood by; compare v. 48) and the Sanhedrin (but the rulers scoffed). The highest levels of Israel's establishment seek one more opportunity to insult Jesus. He saved others; let him save himself. Compare Ps. 22:7–8. This is the first of three similar taunts (see Luke 23:37, 39). Christ of God. Christ means "Messiah" or "Anointed One."

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:36 The soldiers also mocked him . . . offering him sour wine. This "wine vinegar" was the ordinary wine soldiers drank. Giving him a drink would keep him alive and continue his suffering.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:38 It was customary for the charge against an executed person to be displayed prominently (inscription; see notes on Matt. 27:37; Mark 15:26; John 19:20). Over him suggests the cross was shaped like a lowercase "t." Jesus was crucified on political grounds for claiming to be the Messiah, the King of the Jews.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:39–43 This material occurs only in Luke. Hanged is a synonym for "crucified" (see Acts 5:30; also Deut. 21:22–23). Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom is both a plea and a confession of faith. Paradise is another name for heaven, the dwelling place of God and eternal home of the righteous (see 2 Cor. 12:3).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:44–45 about the sixth hour . . . until the ninth hour. Noon until 3:00 P.M. (compare Matt. 27:45; Mark 15:33). Darkness represents lament (Amos 8:9–10) and divine judgment (Ex. 10:21–23). Here it is both literal (the sun's light failed) and figurative, probably signifying that Jesus was bearing God's wrath for his people (compare Joel 2:2; Amos 5:18, 20; Zeph. 1:15). It also expresses God's judgment upon humanity for crucifying his Son. The darkness was not caused by a solar eclipse (see note on Matt. 27:45). The curtain leading from the Holy Place into the Most Holy Place was torn in two (see note on Matt. 27:51); see Herod's Temple in the Time of Jesus.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:46 I commit my spirit! Jesus' own human spirit returned to the presence of God the Father (see note on John 19:30; also see Ps. 31:5; Eccles. 12:7; Acts 7:59). having said this he breathed his last. See note on John 10:17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:47 A centurion is a Roman officer in charge of a hundred men. Certainly this man was innocent. A final expression of Jesus' innocence (compare v. 41; Matt. 27:54; Mark 15:39).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:48 beating their breasts. A sign of grief and repentance (compare 18:13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:49 all his acquaintances. Jesus' relatives, friends, and disciples. The women (see 8:1–3) are singled out because of their role in the resurrection account (23:55–56; 24:1–12; see John 19:25–27 and note on John 19:25).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:50–51 a man named Joseph. See note on Matt. 27:57–60. He is unknown except for this incident, recorded in all four Gospels. The location of Arimathea is not certain, though some identify it as Ramah (or Ramathaim-Zophim; see 1 Sam. 1:19). From the Jewish town implies that Luke's readers were Gentiles (see Luke 1:26). a member of the council. The Sanhedrin. A good and righteous man (compare 1:6; 2:25) and looking for the kingdom of God imply that Joseph was a believer (Matt. 27:57 calls him "a disciple of Jesus").

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:52 went to Pilate and asked. As a member of the Sanhedrin, Joseph had greater access to the governor. His request would raise less suspicion and hostility than if Jesus' family or the disciples had asked.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:53 Then he took it down. Joseph supervised the removal of Jesus' body from the cross. a tomb cut in stone. Joseph's own tomb (Matt. 27:60; see note on Mark 15:46). Thus Jesus is buried in a rich man's tomb (fulfilling Isa. 53:9). where no one had . . . been laid. Compare John 19:41.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:54 The day of Preparation was the day before the Sabbath, Friday (see notes on John 19:14; 19:31; 19:42).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:55 The women . . . followed and saw the tomb, so that they could return to it later (see 24:1).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:56 Because they thought the body was not properly prepared, the women (whom Mark 16:1 identifies as "Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, and Salome") prepared spices and ointments.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:1–53 The Resurrection of Jesus. Luke's Gospel began in the temple (1:5–23). After Jesus has risen from the dead, it will conclude in the temple as well (24:52–53).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:1 on the first day of the week. All four Gospels state that the resurrection took place on Sunday.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:4 two men. Angels (v. 23; compare Matt. 28:2, 5).

FACT

The entrance to the tomb where Jesus was buried was probably about 2 feet (0.6 m) wide and 3 feet (0.9 m) tall. It was covered with a stone, perhaps a foot (0.3 m) thick and 4 feet (1.2 m) in diameter. The body would have been placed on a bench until it could be prepared for burial.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:5 They were frightened (see v. 37; Acts 10:4) refers to fear that can lead to reverence (see Luke 1:12). The appearance of angels often produced such fear (see Judg. 13:19–20). For the living, see Luke 24:23; Acts 3:15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:6 Remember how he told you. See 9:22, 44; 18:32–33.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:7 Must emphasizes the necessity of God's providential plan being fulfilled (see 9:22). third day. See 9:22.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:8 They remembered his words, that is, his prophecies of 9:22, 44; 18:32–33.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:9 the eleven. Judas is now missing (see v. 33; Matt. 28:16; Acts 1:26). and to all the rest. See Luke 24:13–25; Acts 1:15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:10 Mary . . . and the other women. At least five women went to the tomb (see note on Mark 16:7). For apostles, see Luke 6:13 and note on Rom. 1:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:12 Peter rose and ran. Compare John 20:3–6. For the linen cloths by themselves, see note on John 20:6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:13 That very day is the first day of the week, Sunday (see v. 1). two of them. One is unnamed, the other is Cleopas (v. 18). They were going to Emmaus, possibly after having celebrated the Passover in Jerusalem. The location of Emmaus is uncertain, but it was in Judea seven miles (11 km) from Jerusalem.

Jesus’ Appearances after His Resurrection

Each of the Gospels and a few other NT books mention various appearances by Jesus after his resurrection, but only Luke notes that Jesus ascended to heaven from the Mount of Olives just outside Jerusalem. Luke also recounts Jesus’ discussion with the two disciples on the road to Emmaus (likely modern Qaluniyah, not the Emmaus of the intertestamental period, which lay too far west). Matthew and John note that Jesus also appeared to his disciples in the region of Galilee.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:16 But their eyes were kept (by God; compare 9:45; 18:34) from recognizing him. Compare John 20:14–15; 21:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:19–20 Prophet is a correct but inadequate designation (see 7:16). chief priests and rulers . . . crucified him. While the physical act of crucifixion was done by the Romans, Luke places the human responsibility for Jesus' crucifixion primarily on the Jewish religious leaders.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:24 Some of those . . . went to the tomb assumes that, after Peter's visit, other disciples went (compare John 20:2–10) and also found it empty.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:26 Was it not necessary? The OT teaches that the Messiah will die (Isa. 53:1–12) before entering into his glory (see Luke 9:22; 24:44). This glory, foreshadowed in 9:32, comes at his resurrection and then more fully at his ascension into heaven (22:69; Acts 2:33; Phil. 2:8–11; Heb. 1:3).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:27 Moses and all the Prophets. The entire OT, also referred to as all the Scriptures. Jesus explained to them how the prophecies about the Messiah and the patterns of God's activity throughout the OT looked forward to Jesus himself. (See Overview of the Bible.)

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:30 For other resurrection appearances associated with eating, see vv. 41–43; John 21:9–15; Acts 10:41. he took the bread and blessed and broke it and gave it to them. There is striking similarity between this, the Last Supper (Luke 22:19), and the feeding of the 5,000 (see 9:16).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:31 Their eyes were opened when Jesus broke the bread, suggesting that they recognized him as the crucified one who died for the redemption of Israel (see v. 21). Jesus vanished. Compare v. 36; John 20:19, 26.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:34–35 The Lord has risen indeed, and has appeared to Simon. See Mark 16:7; 1 Cor. 15:5.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:36 Jesus . . . stood among them. For Jesus in his resurrected state being able to appear and disappear, see note on John 20:19. Peace to you. See John 20:19 and note on John 14:27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:38 In light of what Jesus says in vv. 39–40, their doubts include some confusion about the physical reality of Jesus' resurrection body and continuing questions about the reality of the resurrection itself.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:39 See. . . . Touch me, and see (compare John 20:25, 27; 1 John 1:1). Jesus is not a disembodied spirit. it is I. The risen Christ and Jesus of Nazareth are the same person. The resurrected body of the risen Christ is gloriously different from his pre-resurrection body. His body now is fully healed and not subject to death and decay (see 1 Cor. 15:1–19, 50–58).

FACT

Resurrected as real people! After his resurrection, Jesus had a real physical body. He was not just a disembodied spirit. He could eat and be touched (24:39–43). Christians will also experience real, physical resurrection from the dead (1 Corinthians 15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:41 anything . . . to eat. Jesus proves the physicality of his resurrected body by eating and allowing the disciples to touch him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:44 My words refers to Jesus' teaching about his death and resurrection (see note on 9:21–22). The Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms refers to the three divisions of the OT in Jesus' day.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:45 he opened their minds to understand. True understanding of the Scriptures is a gift of God (see 9:45; 18:34).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:46 The Christ should suffer repeats v. 26. Jesus' death and resurrection were necessary in order to fulfill God's plan.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:47 repentance and forgiveness of sins. See ESV footnote; and note on Acts 2:38. in his name. See notes on Acts 2:38; 10:48. to all nations, beginning from Jerusalem. All the peoples of the earth; see Acts 1:8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:48 witnesses of these things. As eyewitnesses, the disciples served as guardians of the gospel tradition (1:2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:49 The promise of my Father refers to the Holy Spirit (see note on Acts 2:33). John the Baptist announced that the coming of the Holy Spirit is a sign that the Messiah had come (Luke 3:15–17). The Holy Spirit would enable the disciples to act as Jesus' witnesses (see Acts 1:8). But stay in the city until (see Acts 1:4). For the tie between power and the Spirit, see note on Luke 1:16–17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:50 Jesus led them out as far as Bethany on the Mount of Olives (see notes on 19:29; John 11:1).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:51 While he blessed them indicates that the blessing of v. 50 lasted for a period of time. he parted from them and was carried up into heaven (see Acts 1:9, 11). In John 20:17 Jesus states that he is "ascending" to his Father. See note on Acts 1:9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:52–53 And they worshiped him (see note on Matt. 28:9). The Gospel ends where it began, with God's people in the temple (compare Luke 1:5–17; 24:53) blessing God with great joy, "for he has visited and redeemed his people" (1:68).

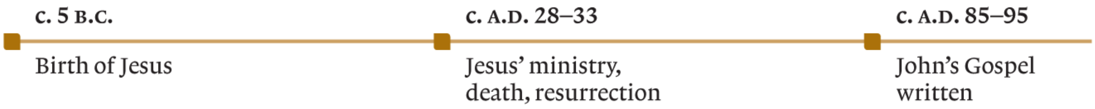
Introduction to John

Introduction to John

Timeline



Author, Date, and Recipients

John the son of Zebedee wrote this Gospel. He was a Palestinian Jew, one of the 12 disciples, and a member of Jesus' inner apostolic circle. He was referred to as the disciple "whom Jesus loved" (13:23). John also wrote 1–3 John and Revelation. He likely wrote his Gospel account between A.D. 70 (the date of the destruction of the temple) and A.D. 100 (the reputed end of John's life). It was likely written from Ephesus in Asia Minor (modern-day Turkey), one of the most important cities of the Roman Empire at the time. His original audience consisted of Jews and Gentiles living in the larger Greco-Roman world in Ephesus and beyond, toward the close of the first century A.D.

Theme and Purpose

The theme of John's Gospel is that Jesus is the long-awaited, promised Messiah and Son of God. By believing in Jesus, people have eternal life (see 20:30–31).

As evidence that Jesus is the Messiah, John relies on several selected messianic signs performed by Jesus and a series of witnesses to Jesus. These include the Scriptures, John the Baptist, Jesus himself, God the Father, Jesus' miraculous works, the Holy Spirit, and John himself.

Key Themes

1. Jesus. Jesus is God, the “I am.” He existed before the creation of the world, and he has supernatural knowledge. He fulfills the Jewish festivals and institutions. As the sent Son of God, he reflects the Sender. Signs and witnesses demonstrate that he is the Messiah.
2. The Trinity. Father, Son, and Spirit are united in their work of revelation and redemption.
3. Salvation. God is sovereign in salvation. Jesus’ death is the basis of salvation, which is obtained through believing in the living Jesus as the Son of God
4. Eternal Life. Jesus is the giver of eternal life. Believers can experience some of salvation’s benefits during this present evil age.
5. Mission. Believers are called to continue Jesus’ mission.

Outline

I. Prologue: The Incarnate Word (1:1–18)
II. Signs of the Messiah, with Teaching about Life in Him (1:19–12:50)
III. The Farewell Teaching and the Passion Narrative (13:1–20:31)
IV. Epilogue: The Roles of Peter and of the Disciple Whom Jesus Loved (21:1–25)

The Setting of John

The events of the Gospel of John take place in Palestine, incorporated into the Roman Empire in 63 B.C. Appointed by the Romans as king over the Jews in 37 B.C., Herod the Great ruled until his death in 4 B.C. The Romans divided his kingdom among his descendants.

The Global Message of John

The Gospel of John presents Christ as the longed for Messiah and Son of God, who comes to earth as a Jew to restore God's covenant people. Yet the very people who ought to have embraced their Messiah rejected him: "He came to his own, and his own people did not receive him" (John 1:11). But many people did believe in him, and "to all who did receive him, who believed in his name, he gave the right to become children of God" (1:12).

By believing in him, all people everywhere in the world, whatever their ethnic background, may enjoy life—true life, eternal life—in the name of Jesus (20:31).

John and Redemptive History

At the beginning of time, the word of God brought light and life out of nothing as the created order sprang into being. Writing his account of the ministry, death, and resurrection of Jesus, the apostle John uses precisely these themes. "In the beginning," John writes (John 1:1), using the same opening words as Genesis 1. John then speaks of the Word of God, in whom is light and life (1:4–5). Yet this Word was not simply God's uttered speech but the Word that "became flesh" (1:14). God came to earth to dwell with us so that we could one day dwell with him.

Indeed, this Word has "dwelt" among us, John says—using a Greek verb that means, literally, "tabernacled" among us. Jesus, in other words, is the true and final temple (see John 2:18–22). He is the one in and through whom God once more dwells with mankind—making possible the very restoration between heaven and earth that the tabernacle and the temple anticipated.

In Christ, the entire Old Testament drama is summed up and fulfilled. Jesus is not merely one more wise prophet or godly king. He is the Prophet and the King whom every preceding prophet and king foreshadows. All of redemptive history climaxes in Christ. He is the true bread from heaven, not the temporary manna that rots away (John 6:31–51). He is the good shepherd, unlike the many shepherds who failed to lead Israel as they should have (10:1–18). He is the fulfillment of the Jewish festivals and other institutions (1:29, 36; 2:21; 4:23–24; 8:12; 9:5; 19:14). He is the one who reveals the Father, so that to see him is to see God himself (1:14; 14:6–11).

Jesus brings eternal life to all who receive him, not just to ethnic Israel (John 1:11–13). Although he didn't realize what he was saying, Caiaphas the high priest uttered prophetic words about Jesus: "It is better for you that one man should die for the people, not that the whole nation should perish" (11:50). The irony was that Jesus would in fact die in place of the people. And as John goes on to explain, Jesus would die not only in place of the Jews but in place of his own people from all the nations of the world: "He did not say this of his own accord, but being high priest that year he prophesied that Jesus would die for the nation, and not for the nation only, but also to gather into one the children of God who are scattered abroad" (11:51–52). The gospel is for any who believe in Christ (20:23).

Universal Themes in John

The surprising welcome of Gentiles. Right from the start of John's Gospel we learn that the Jews generally rejected Christ and that God was extending his grace to any who would receive him (John 1:11–13). Then, early in Christ's ministry, John tells about Jesus extending grace to a sinful Samaritan woman, who was obviously an outsider. Thereafter in John's Gospel we see hostility toward Jesus on the part of the very people who ought to have understood and embraced him—his own fellow Jews (5:16–18; 6:41; 7:1; 8:59; 9:22; 10:31; 18:12). Instead, it is mostly Gentiles who love and trust Jesus (4:28–29, 39). The free gift of eternal life is for the whole world (3:16). Jesus will draw "all people" to himself (12:32).

Christ's extension of his worldwide mission through his disciples. Jesus was sent to earth on a mission by God the Father, and in glad response Jesus sends his disciples out on a mission to the world, empowered by the Spirit: "As you sent me into the world," Jesus prays to his Father, "so I have sent them into the world" (John 17:18; compare 4:38; 15:16; 20:21–23). Christians from that time on, down to the present day, have acted as the hands and feet of Jesus as they have proclaimed the good news of salvation throughout the world.

God's concern for the world. The word "world" (Greek kosmos, from which we get our English word "cosmos") occurs 186 times in the New Testament, and 78 of these occurrences are in John's Gospel. The meaning of this word in John's Gospel shifts slightly from one passage to the next.

Sometimes it refers to the realm of darkness and sin (John 7:7; 12:31; 14:30; 17:16; 18:36). More often, however, the "world" in John simply refers to all the people who live on this planet. John tells us many times of God's loving, saving attitude toward the whole world (1:29; 3:16–17; 4:42; 6:33; 12:47).

The Global Message of John for Today

The Gospel of John awakens Christians around the globe today to the cosmic scope of salvation in Christ, and the eternal scope of God's work in accomplishing this salvation, beginning in eternity past (John 1:1–3; 8:58).

In John we see Christ reversing the curse of the fall as, for example, he heals the lame (John 5:1–9) or the blind (9:1–7). Jesus cares deeply about the physical results of living in a fallen world. Indeed, when his friend Lazarus dies, Jesus weeps (11:35). As those who have been entrusted through his Spirit with carrying on the work of Christ, we as the global church likewise seek to help those who are suffering. Such compassion is the only appropriate way to respond to the compassion we ourselves have received from God in Christ.

Yet the deepest result of the fall is not the woundedness of our bodies but the woundedness of our souls. The great apostolic commission was not to bring physical comfort but to bring forgiveness of sins in Jesus' name (John 20:22–23). Jesus gives living water, water that becomes "a spring of water welling up to eternal life" (4:14). He is the bread of life—the nourishing sustenance that all people most deeply need (6:35). In him is life itself (1:4).

The global message of John for today's church is to trust in Christ. Believe in him. Nourish yourself in him. Find life in him. And spread that life to everyone around you in your own little corner of the world.

The Word Became Flesh

JOHN 1 [†] [a] In the beginning was [b] the Word, and [c] the Word was with God, and [d] the Word was God. [2]He was in the beginning with God. [3][†] [e] All things were made through him, and without him was not any thing made that was made. [4][†] [f] In him was life, [1] and [g] the life was the light of men. [5] [h] The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it.

[6][†]There was a man [i] sent from God, whose name was [j] John. [7]He came as a [k] witness, to bear witness about the light, [l] that all might believe through him. [8] [m] He was not the light, but came to bear witness about the light.

[9] [n] The true light, which gives light to everyone, was coming into the world. [10]He was in the world, and the world was made through him, yet [o] the world did not know him. [11][†]He came to [p] his own, [2] and [q] his own people [3] [r] did not receive him. [12][†]But to all who did receive him, [s] who believed in his name, [t] he gave the right [u] to become [v] children of God, [13]who [w] were born, [x] not of blood [y] nor of the will of the flesh nor of the will of man, but of God.

[14][†]And [z] the Word [a] became flesh and [b] dwelt among us, [c] and we have seen his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father, full of [d] grace and [e] truth. [15][†]([f] John bore witness about him, and cried out, “This was he of whom I said, [g] ‘He who comes after me ranks before me, because he was before me.’”) [16][†]For from [h] his fullness we have all received, [i] grace upon grace. [4] [17]For [j] the law was given through Moses; [k] grace and truth came through Jesus Christ. [18][†] [l] No one has ever seen God; [m] the only God, [5] who is at the Father’s side, [6] [n] he has made him known.

The Testimony of John the Baptist

[19][†]And this is the [o] testimony of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, [p] “Who are you?” [20][†] [q] He confessed, and did not deny, but confessed, “I am not the Christ.” [21]And they asked him, “What then? [r] Are you Elijah?” He said, “I am not.” “Are you [s] the Prophet?” And he answered, “No.” [22]So they said to him, “Who are you?

We need to give an answer to those who sent us. What do you say about yourself?” [23][†]He said, “I am [t]the voice of one crying out in the wilderness, ‘Make straight [7] the way of the Lord,’ as the prophet Isaiah said.”

[24][†](Now they had been sent from the Pharisees.) [25]They asked him, [u]“Then why are you baptizing, if you are neither the Christ, nor Elijah, nor the Prophet?” [26]John answered them, [v]“I baptize with water, but among you stands one you do not know, [27]even [w]he who comes after me, the strap of whose sandal I am not worthy to untie.” [28][†]These things took place in Bethany across the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

Behold, the Lamb of God

[29][†]The next day he saw Jesus coming toward him, and said, “Behold, [x]the Lamb of God, who [y]takes away the sin [z]of the world! [30]This is he of whom I said, [a]‘After me comes a man who ranks before me, because he was before me.’ [31][†]I myself did not know him, but [b]for this purpose I came baptizing with water, that he might be revealed to Israel.” [32][†]And John [c]bore witness: [d]“I saw the Spirit descend from heaven like a dove, and [e]it remained on him. [33]I myself did not know him, but [f]he who sent me to baptize [g]with water said to me, ‘He on whom you see the Spirit descend and remain, [h]this is he who baptizes [g]with the Holy Spirit.’ [34]And I have seen and have borne witness that this is the Son of God.”

Jesus Calls the First Disciples

[35]The next day again John was standing with two of his disciples, [36][†]and he looked at Jesus as he walked by and said, “Behold, [i]the Lamb of God!”
[37]The two disciples heard him say this, and they followed Jesus. [38]Jesus turned and saw them following and said to them, [j]“What are you seeking?”
And they said to him, [k]“Rabbi” (which means Teacher), “where are you staying?” [39]He said to them, “Come and you will see.” So they came and saw where he was staying, and they stayed with him that day, for it was about the tenth hour. [8] [40][†] [l]One of the two who heard John speak and followed Jesus [9] was Andrew, Simon Peter’s brother. [41][†]He first found his own brother Simon and said to him, “We have found [m]the Messiah” (which means Christ). [42][†]He brought him to Jesus. Jesus looked at him and said, “You are Simon the son of [n]John. You shall be called [o]Cephas” (which means [p]Peter [10]).

Jesus Calls Philip and Nathanael

[43][†][q]The next day Jesus decided [r]to go to Galilee. He found Philip and said to him, “Follow me.” [44][†]Now [s]Philip was from Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter. [45][†]Philip found [t]Nathanael and said to him, “We have found him of whom [u]Moses in the Law and also the prophets wrote, Jesus [v]of Nazareth, [w]the son of Joseph.” [46][†]Nathanael said to him, [x]“Can anything good come out of Nazareth?” Philip said to him, “Come and see.” [47]Jesus saw Nathanael coming toward him and said of him, “Behold, [y]an Israelite indeed, [z]in whom there is no deceit!” [48][†]Nathanael said to him, “How [a]do you know me?” Jesus answered him, “Before Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you.” [49][†]Nathanael answered him, [b]“Rabbi, [c]you are the Son of God! You are the [d]King of Israel!” [50]Jesus answered him, “Because I said to you, ‘I saw you under the fig tree,’ do you believe? You will see greater things than these.” [51][†]And he said to him, “Truly, truly, I say to you, [11] you will see [e]heaven opened, and [f]the angels of God ascending and descending on [g]the Son of Man.”

The Wedding at Cana

JOHN 2 [†]On [h]the third day there was a wedding at [i]Cana in Galilee, and the mother of Jesus was there. [2]Jesus also was invited to the wedding with [j]his disciples. [3][†]When the wine ran out, the mother of Jesus said to him, “They have no wine.” [4][†]And Jesus said to her, [k]“Woman, [l]what does this have to do with me? [m]My hour has not yet come.” [5]His mother said to the servants, “Do whatever he tells you.”

[6]Now there were six stone water jars there [n]for the Jewish rites of purification, each holding twenty or thirty [o]gallons. [1] [7]Jesus said to the servants, “Fill the jars with water.” And they filled them up to the brim. [8]And he said to them, “Now draw some out and take it to the master of the feast.” So they took it. [9]When the master of the feast tasted [p]the water now become wine, and did not know where it came from (though the servants who had drawn the water knew), the master of the feast called the bridegroom [10]and said to him, “Everyone serves the good wine first, and when people have drunk freely, then the poor wine. But you have kept the good wine until now.” [11][†]This, the first of his signs, Jesus did at Cana in Galilee, and manifested [q]his glory. And [r]his disciples believed in him.

[12][†]After this he went down to Capernaum, with his mother and [s]his brothers [2] and his disciples, and they stayed there for a few days.

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

[13][†][t]The Passover of the Jews was at hand, and Jesus [u]went up to Jerusalem. [14][†][v]In the temple he found those who were selling oxen and sheep and pigeons, and the money-changers sitting there. [15]And making a whip of cords, he drove them all out of the temple, with the sheep and oxen. And he poured out the coins of the money-changers and overturned their tables. [16]And he told those who sold the pigeons, “Take these things away; do not make [w]my Father’s house a house of trade.” [17]His disciples remembered that it was written, [x]“Zeal for your house will consume me.”

[18]So the Jews said to him, [y]“What sign do you show us for doing these things?” [19][†]Jesus answered them, [z]“Destroy this temple, and in three days [a]I will raise it up.” [20][†]The Jews then said, “It has taken forty-six years to build this temple, [3] and will you raise it up in three days?” [21]But he was speaking about [b]the temple of his body. [22]When therefore he was raised from the dead, [c]his disciples remembered that he had said this, and they believed [d]the Scripture and the word that Jesus had spoken.

Jesus Knows What Is in Man

[23][†]Now when he was in Jerusalem at the Passover Feast, many believed in his name [e]when they saw the signs that he was doing. [24]But Jesus [f]on his part did not entrust himself to them, because [g]he knew all people [25]and needed no one to bear witness about man, for [g]he himself knew what was in man.

You Must Be Born Again

JOHN 3 [†]Now there was a man of the Pharisees named [h]Nicodemus, [i]a ruler of the Jews. 2[†]This man came to Jesus [1] [j]by night and said to him, [k]“Rabbi, [l]we know that you are a teacher come from God, for no one can do these signs that you do [m]unless God is with him.” 3[†]Jesus answered him, “Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one is [n]born [o]again [2] he cannot [p]see the kingdom of God.” 4Nicodemus said to him, “How can a man be born when he is old? Can he enter a second time into his mother’s womb and be born?” 5Jesus answered, “Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one is born [q]of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God. 6 [r]That which is born of the flesh is [s]flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. [3] 7[†] [t]Do not marvel that I said to you, ‘You [4] must be born [u]again.’ 8 [v]The wind [5] blows [w]where it wishes, and you hear its sound, but you do not know where it comes from or where it goes. So it is with everyone who is born of the Spirit.”

9Nicodemus said to him, [x]“How can these things be?” 10[†]Jesus answered him, “Are you the teacher of Israel [y]and yet you do not understand these things? 11[†]Truly, truly, I say to you, [z]we speak of what we know, and bear witness to what we have seen, but [z]you [6] do not receive our testimony. 12If I have told you earthly things and you do not believe, how can you believe if I tell you heavenly things? 13[†] [a]No one has [b]ascended into heaven except [c]he who descended from heaven, the Son of Man. [7] 14[†]And [d]as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the Son of Man [e]be lifted up, 15that whoever believes [f]in him [g]may have eternal life. [8]

For God So Loved the World

16[†]“For [h]God so loved [i]the world, [9] [j]that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not [k]perish but have eternal life. 17[†]For [l]God did not send his Son into the world [m]to condemn the world, but in order that the world might be saved through him. 18[†] [n]Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe is condemned already, because he has not [o]believed in the name of the only Son of God.

[19][†] [p]And this is the judgment: [q]the light has come into the world, and [r]people loved the darkness rather than the light because [s]their works were evil. [20] [t]For everyone who does wicked things hates the light and does not come to the light, [u]lest his works should be exposed. [21]But whoever [v]does what is true [w]comes to the light, so that it may be clearly seen that his works have been carried out in God.”

John the Baptist Exalts Christ

[22][†]After this Jesus and his disciples went into the Judean countryside, and he remained there with them and [x]was baptizing. [23]John also was baptizing at Aenon near Salim, because water was plentiful there, and people were coming and being baptized [24](for [y]John had not yet been put in prison).

[25]Now a discussion arose between some of John’s disciples and a Jew over [z]purification. [26]And they came to John and said to him, [a]“Rabbi, he who was with you across the Jordan, [b]to whom you bore witness—look, he is baptizing, and [c]all are going to him.” [27]John answered, [d]“A person cannot receive even one thing [e]unless it is given him [f]from heaven. [28][†]You yourselves bear me witness, that I said, [g]‘I am not the Christ, but [h]I have been sent before him.’ [29][†] [i]The one who has the bride is the bridegroom. [j]The friend of the bridegroom, who stands and hears him, [k]rejoices greatly at the bridegroom’s voice. Therefore this joy of mine is now complete. [30] [l]He must increase, but I must decrease.” [10]

[31] [m]He who comes from above [n]is above all. He who is of the earth belongs to the earth and [o]speaks in an earthly way. [p]He who comes from heaven [n]is above all. [32][†] [q]He bears witness to what he has seen and heard, [r]yet no one receives his testimony. [33]Whoever receives his testimony [s]sets his seal to this, [t]that God is true. [34][†]For he whom [u]God has sent utters the words of God, for he gives the Spirit [v]without measure. [35][†] [w]The Father loves the Son and [x]has given all things into his hand. [36][†] [y]Whoever believes in the Son has eternal life; [z]whoever does not obey the Son shall not [a]see life, but the wrath of God remains on him.

Jesus and the Woman of Samaria

JOHN 4 Now when Jesus learned that the Pharisees had heard that Jesus was making and [b]baptizing more disciples than John [2](although Jesus himself did not baptize, but only his disciples), [3]he left Judea and departed [c]again for Galilee. [4][†][d]And he had to pass through Samaria. [5][†]So he came to a town of Samaria called Sychar, near the field [e]that Jacob had given to his son Joseph. [6][†]Jacob’s well was there; so Jesus, [f]wearied as he was from his journey, was sitting beside the well. It was about the sixth hour. [1]

[7][†]A woman from Samaria came to draw water. Jesus said to her, [f]“Give me a drink.” [8](For his disciples had gone away into the city to buy food.) [9]The Samaritan woman said to him, “How is it that you, a Jew, ask for a drink from me, a woman of Samaria?” ([g]For Jews have no dealings with Samaritans.) [10][†]Jesus answered her, “If you knew the gift of God, and who it is that is saying to you, ‘Give me a drink,’ you would have asked him, and he would have given you [h]living water.” [11][†]The woman said to him, “Sir, you have nothing to draw water with, and the well is deep. Where do you get that living water? [12][†][i]Are you greater than our father Jacob? [j]He gave us the well and drank from it himself, as did his sons and his livestock.” [13]Jesus said to her, “Everyone who drinks of this water will be thirsty again, [14][†]but [k]whoever drinks of the water that I will give him [l]will never be thirsty again. [2] The water that I will give him will become [m]in him a spring of water welling up to eternal life.” [15][†]The woman said to him, “Sir, [n]give me this water, so that I will not be thirsty or have to come here to draw water.”

[16]Jesus said to her, “Go, [o]call your husband, and come here.” [17]The woman answered him, “I have no husband.” Jesus said to her, “You are right in saying, ‘I have no husband’; [18][†]for you have had five husbands, and the one you now have is not your husband. What you have said is true.” [19]The woman said to him, “Sir, I perceive that [p]you are [q]a prophet. [20][†][r]Our fathers worshiped on [s]this mountain, but you say that [t]in Jerusalem is [u]the place where people ought to worship.” [21][†]Jesus said to her, [v]“Woman, believe me, [w]the hour is coming when [x]neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem will you worship the Father. [22][†][y]You worship what you do not know; [z]we worship what we know, for [z]salvation is

[a] from the Jews. [23]But [b] the hour is coming, and is now here, when the true worshipers will worship the Father [c] in spirit and [d] truth, for the Father [e] is seeking such people to worship him. [24][†]God is spirit, and those who worship him must worship in spirit and truth.” [25][†]The woman said to him, “I know that [f] Messiah is coming (he who is called Christ). When he comes, [g] he will tell us all things.” [26]Jesus said to her, [h] “I who speak to you am he.”

[27]Just then [i] his disciples came back. They marveled that he was talking with a woman, but no one said, “What do you seek?” or, “Why are you talking with her?” [28]So the woman left her water jar and went away into town and said to the people, [29]“Come, see a man [j] who told me all that I ever did. Can this be the Christ?” [30]They went out of the town and were coming to him.

[31]Meanwhile the disciples were urging him, saying, [k] “Rabbi, eat.” [32][†]But he said to them, “I have food to eat that you do not know about.” [33]So the disciples said to one another, [l] “Has anyone brought him something to eat?” [34]Jesus said to them, [m] “My food is [n] to do the will of him who sent me and [o] to accomplish his work. [35][†]Do you not say, ‘There are yet four months, then comes the harvest’? Look, I tell you, lift up your eyes, and see that [p] the fields are white for harvest. [36][†]Already the one who reaps is receiving wages and gathering fruit for eternal life, so that [q] sower and [r] reaper [s] may rejoice together. [37][†]For here the saying holds true, [t] ‘One sows and another reaps.’ [38]I sent you to reap [u] that for which you did not labor. Others have labored, [v] and you have entered into their labor.”

[39]Many Samaritans [w] from that town believed in him [x] because of [y] the woman’s testimony, “He told me all that I ever did.” [40]So when the Samaritans came to him, they asked him to stay with them, and he stayed there two days. [41][†]And many more believed [z] because of his word. [42]They said to the woman, “It is no longer because of what you said that we believe, for we have heard for ourselves, [a] and we know that this is indeed [b] the Savior [c] of the world.”

[43][†]After [d] the two days he departed for Galilee. [44][†](For Jesus himself had testified [e] that a prophet has no honor in his own hometown.) [45]So when he came to Galilee, the Galileans welcomed him, [f] having seen all that he had done in Jerusalem at the feast. For [g] they too had gone to the feast.

Jesus Heals an Official's Son

46[†]So he came again to [h] Cana in Galilee, [i] where he had made the water wine. And at Capernaum there was an official whose son was ill. 47When this man heard that Jesus [j] had come from Judea to Galilee, he went to him and asked him to come down and heal his son, for he was at the point of death. 48[†]So Jesus said to him, [k] "Unless you [3] see signs and wonders you will not believe." 49The official said to him, "Sir, come down [l] before my child dies." 50Jesus said to him, "Go; your son will live." The man believed the word that Jesus spoke to him and went on his way. 51As he was going down, his servants [4] met him and told him that his son was recovering. 52So he asked them the hour when he began to get better, and they said to him, "Yesterday at the seventh hour [5] the fever left him." 53The father knew that was the hour when Jesus had said to him, "Your son will live." And he himself believed, [m] and all his household. 54[†] [n] This was now the second sign that Jesus did when he had come from Judea to Galilee.

The Healing at the Pool on the Sabbath

JOHN 5 [†]After this there was a [o]feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

[2][†]Now there is in Jerusalem by [p]the Sheep Gate a pool, in Aramaic [1] called Bethesda, [2] which has five roofed colonnades. [3][†]In these lay a multitude of invalids—blind, lame, and [q]paralyzed. [3] [5][†]One man was there who had been an invalid for thirty-eight years. [6][†]When Jesus saw him lying there and knew that he had already been there a long time, he said to him, “Do you want to be healed?” [7][†]The sick man answered him, “Sir, I have no one to put me into the pool when the water is stirred up, and while I am going another steps down before me.” [8]Jesus said to him, [r]“Get up, take up your bed, and walk.” [9] [r]And at once the man was healed, and he took up his bed and walked.

[s]Now that day was the Sabbath. [10][†]So the Jews [4] said to the man who had been healed, “It is the Sabbath, and [t]it is not lawful for you to take up your bed.” [11]But he answered them, “The man who healed me, that man said to me, ‘Take up your bed, and walk.’” [12]They asked him, “Who is the man who said to you, ‘Take up your bed and walk’?” [13]Now the man who had been healed did not know who it was, for [u]Jesus had withdrawn, as there was a crowd in the place. [14][†]Afterward Jesus found him in the temple and said to him, “See, you are well! [v]Sin no more, [w]that nothing worse may happen to you.” [15]The man went away and told the Jews that it was Jesus who had healed him. [16][†]And this was why the Jews [x]were persecuting Jesus, [y]because he was doing these things on the Sabbath. [17][†]But Jesus answered them, “My Father is working until now, and I am working.”

Jesus Is Equal with God

[18]This was why the Jews [z]were seeking all the more to kill him, [a]because not only was he [b]breaking the Sabbath, but he was even calling God [c]his own Father, [d]making himself equal with God.

The Authority of the Son

[19][†]So Jesus said to them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, [e]the Son [f]can do nothing of his own accord, but only what he sees the Father doing. For whatever the Father [5] does, that the Son does likewise. [20][†]For [g]the Father loves the Son and shows him all that he himself is doing. And [h]greater works than these will he show him, so that [i]you may marvel. [21][†]For as the Father [j]raises the dead and [k]gives them life, so [l]also the Son gives life [m]to whom he will. [22][†] [n]The Father judges no one, but [o]has given all judgment to the Son, [23][†]that all may honor the Son, just as they [p]honor the Father. [q]Whoever does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent him. [24][†]Truly, truly, I say to you, [r]whoever hears my word and [s]believes him who sent me has eternal life. He [t]does not come into judgment, but [u]has passed from death to life.

[25][†]“Truly, truly, I say to you, [v]an hour is coming, and is now here, when [w]the dead will hear [x]the voice of the Son of God, and those who hear [w]will live. [26][†] [y]For as the Father has life in himself, [z]so he has granted the Son also to have life in himself. [27][†]And he [a]has given him authority to execute judgment, because he is the Son of Man. [28][†]Do not marvel at this, for [v]an hour is coming when [b]all who are in the tombs will hear his voice [29]and come out, [c]those who have done good to the resurrection of life, and those who have done evil to the resurrection of judgment.

Witnesses to Jesus

[30][†] [d]“I can do nothing on my own. As I hear, I judge, and [e]my judgment is just, because [f]I seek not my own will [g]but the will of him who sent me. [31][†] [h]If I alone bear witness about myself, my testimony is not true. [32][†]There is [i]another who bears witness about me, and [j]I know that the testimony that he bears about me is true. [33][†] [k]You sent to John, and he has borne witness to the truth. [34]Not that [l]the testimony that I receive is from man, but I say these things so that you may be saved. [35][†]He was a burning and [m]shining lamp, and [n]you were willing to rejoice for a while in his light. [36]But [l]the testimony that I have is greater than that of John. For [o]the works that the Father has given me [p]to accomplish, the very works that I am doing, [q] bear witness about me that [r] the Father has sent me. [37][†]And the Father who sent me [s] has himself borne witness about me. His voice you have never heard, [t] his form you have never seen, [38]and [u] you do not have his word abiding in you, for you do not believe the one whom he has sent. [39][†] [v] You search the Scriptures because you think that in them you have eternal life; and [w] it is they that bear witness about me, [40]yet [x] you refuse to come to me that you may have life. [41] [y] I do not receive glory from people. [42]But [z] I know that you do not have [a] the love of God within you. [43][†]I have come [b] in my Father's name, and [c] you do not receive me. [d] If another comes in his own name, you will receive him. [44]How can you believe, when you receive glory from one another and [e] do not seek the glory that comes from [f] the only God? [45]Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father. There is one who accuses you: Moses, [g] on whom you have set your hope. [46][†]For if you believed Moses, you would believe me; for [h] he wrote of me. [47]But [i] if you do not believe his writings, how will you believe my words?"

Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand

JOHN 6 [†]After this [j] Jesus went away to the other side of [k] the Sea of Galilee, which is [l] the Sea of Tiberias. [2]And a large crowd was following him, because they saw the signs that he was doing on the sick. [3][†]Jesus went up on [m] the mountain, and there he sat down with his disciples. [4]Now [n] the Passover, the [o] feast of the Jews, was at hand. [5] [p] Lifting up his eyes, then, and seeing that a large crowd was coming toward him, Jesus said to [q] Philip, "Where are we to buy bread, so that these people may eat?" [6]He said this to test him, for he himself knew what he would do. [7][†] [r] Philip answered him, "Two hundred denarii [1] worth of bread would not be enough for each of them to get a little." [8]One of his disciples, [s] Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, said to him, [9]"There is a boy here who has five [t] barley loaves and two fish, but [t] what are they for so many?" [10][†]Jesus said, "Have the people sit down." [u] Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, about five thousand in number. [11]Jesus then took the loaves, and [v] when he had given thanks, he distributed them to those who were seated. So also the fish, as much as they wanted. [12]And when they had eaten their fill, he told his disciples, “Gather up the leftover fragments, that nothing may be lost.” [13]So they gathered them up and filled twelve baskets with fragments from the five barley loaves left by those who had eaten.

[14][†]When the people saw the sign that he had done, they said, [w]“This is indeed [x]the Prophet [y]who is to come into the world!”

[15][†][z]Perceiving then that they were about to come and take him by force to make him king, Jesus [a]withdrew again to [b]the mountain by himself.

Jesus Walks on Water

[16]When evening came, his disciples went down to the sea, [17][†]got into a boat, and started across the sea to Capernaum. It was now dark, and Jesus had not yet come to them. [18]The sea became rough because a strong wind was blowing. [19][†]When they had rowed about three or four miles, [2] they saw Jesus walking on the sea and coming near the boat, and they were frightened. [20][†][c]But he said to them, “It is I; do not be afraid.” [21][†]Then they were glad to take him into the boat, and immediately the boat was at the land to which they were going.

I Am the Bread of Life

[22]On the next day the crowd that remained on the other side of the sea saw that there had been only [d]one boat there, and that Jesus had not entered the boat with his disciples, but that his disciples had gone away alone.
[23][†]Other boats from Tiberias came near the place where they had eaten the bread after the Lord [e]had given thanks. [24][f]So when the crowd saw that Jesus was not there, nor his disciples, they themselves got into the boats and [g]went to Capernaum, seeking Jesus.

[25]When they found him on the other side of the sea, they said to him, [h]“Rabbi, when did you come here?” [26][†]Jesus answered them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, [i]you are seeking me, not because you saw [j]signs, but because you ate your fill of the loaves. [27][†][k]Do not work for the food that

Man will give to you. For on [n]him God the Father has [o]set his seal.” [28]Then they said to him, “What must we do, to be doing [p]the works of God?” [29]Jesus answered them, “This is the work of God, [q]that you believe in him whom [r]he has sent.” [30]So they said to him, [s]“Then what sign do you do, that we may see and believe you? What work do you perform? [31][†][t]Our fathers ate the manna in the wilderness; as it is written, [u]‘He gave them bread from heaven to eat.’” [32][†]Jesus then said to them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, it was not Moses who gave you the bread from heaven, but my Father gives you the true bread from heaven. [33]For the bread of God is [v]he who comes down from heaven and gives life to the world.” [34]They said to him, [w]“Sir, give us this bread always.”

[35][†]Jesus said to them, [x]“I am the bread of life; [y]whoever comes to me shall not hunger, and whoever believes in me shall never thirst. [36]But I said to you that you have seen me and yet do not believe. [37][†][z]All that [a]the Father gives me will come to me, and [b]whoever comes to me I will never cast out. [38]For [c]I have come down from heaven, not to do [d]my own will but [d]the will of him [e]who sent me. [39][†]And [f]this is the will of him who sent me, [g]that I should lose nothing of [h]all that he has given me, but [i]raise it up on the last day. [40][†]For this is the will of my Father, that everyone who [j]looks on the Son and [k]believes in him [l]should have eternal life, and I will raise him up on the last day.”

[41]So the Jews grumbled about him, because he said, [m]“I am the bread that came down from heaven.” [42]They said, [n]“Is not this Jesus, [o]the son of Joseph, whose father and mother [p]we know? How does he now say, ‘I have come down from heaven’?” [43][†]Jesus answered them, “Do not grumble among yourselves. [44][†]No one can come to me unless the Father who sent me [q]draws him. And [r]I will raise him up on the last day. [45]It is written in the Prophets, [s]‘And they will all be [t]taught by God.’ [u]Everyone who has heard and learned from the Father comes to me— [46][†][v]not that anyone has seen the Father except [w]he who is from God; he [x]has seen the Father. [47]Truly, truly, I say to you, [y]whoever believes has eternal life. [48][z]I am the bread of life. [49][a]Your fathers ate the manna in the wilderness, and [b]they died. [50][c]This is the bread that comes down from heaven, so that one may eat of it [d]and not die. [51][†]I am the living bread [e]that came down from heaven. If anyone eats of this bread, he will live forever. And the bread that I will give [f]for the life of the world is [g]my flesh.”

[52]The Jews then [h]disputed among themselves, saying, [i]“How can this man give us his flesh to eat?” [53][†]So Jesus said to them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, unless you eat the flesh of [j]the Son of Man and drink his blood, you [k]have no life in you. [54]Whoever feeds on my flesh and drinks my blood [l]has eternal life, and [m]I will raise him up on the last day. [55]For my flesh is true food, and my blood is true drink. [56]Whoever feeds on my flesh and drinks my blood [n]abides in me, and I in him. [57]As [o]the living Father [p]sent me, and [q]I live because of the Father, so whoever feeds on me, he also will live because of me. [58][r]This is the bread that came down from heaven, not like the bread [3] the fathers ate, and died. Whoever feeds on this bread will live forever.” [59][†]Jesus [4] said these things in the synagogue, as he taught [s]at Capernaum.

The Words of Eternal Life

[60][†][t]When many of his disciples heard it, they said, “This is a hard saying; who can listen to it?” [61]But Jesus, [u]knowing in himself that his disciples were grumbling about this, said to them, “Do you take offense at this? [62]Then what if you were to see [w]the Son of Man [x]ascending to [y]where he was before? [63][†][z]It is the Spirit who gives life; [a]the flesh is no help at all. [b]The words that I have spoken to you are spirit and life. [64][†]But [c]there are some of you who do not believe.” (For Jesus [u]knew from the beginning who those were who did not believe, and [d]who it was who would betray him.) [65]And he said, “This is why I told you [e]that no one can come to me unless it is granted him by the Father.”

[66][f]After this many of his disciples turned back and no longer walked with him. [67][†]So Jesus said to [g]the Twelve, “Do you want to go away as well?” [68]Simon Peter answered him, “Lord, to whom shall we go? You have [h]the words of eternal life, [69][†]and [i]we have believed, and have come to know, that [j]you are [k]the Holy One of God.” [70]Jesus answered them, [l]“Did I not choose you, [g]the Twelve? And yet one of you is [m]a devil.” [71]He spoke of Judas [n]the son of Simon Iscariot, for [o]he, one of the Twelve, was going to betray him.

Jesus at the Feast of Booths

JOHN 7 After this Jesus went about in Galilee. He would not go about in Judea, because [p]the Jews [1] were seeking to kill him. [2][†]Now [q]the Jews' Feast of [r]Booths was at hand. [3][†] [s]So his brothers [2] said to him, "Leave here and go to Judea, that your disciples also may see the works you are doing. [4]For no one works in secret if he seeks to be known openly. If you do these things, [t]show yourself to the world." [5][†] [u]For not even [v]his brothers believed in him. [6][†]Jesus said to them, [w]"My time has not yet come, but your time is always here. [7][†]The world cannot hate you, but [x]it hates me because I testify about it that [y]its works are evil. [8][†]You go up to the feast. I am not [3] going up to this feast, for [z]my time has not yet fully come." [9]After saying this, he remained in Galilee.

[10]But after [a]his brothers had gone up to the feast, then he also went up, not publicly but in private. [11] [b]The Jews [c]were looking for him at the feast, and saying, "Where is he?" [12]And there was much [d]muttering about him among the people. [e]While some said, "He is a good man," others said, "No, [f]he is leading the people astray." [13]Yet [g]for fear of the Jews no one spoke openly of him.

[14][†]About the middle of the feast Jesus went up [h]into the temple and began teaching. [15][†]The Jews therefore [i]marveled, saying, "How is it that this man has learning, [4] when he has never studied?" [16]So Jesus answered them, [j]"My teaching is not mine, but his [k]who sent me. [17] [l]If anyone's will is to do God's [5] will, [m]he will know whether the teaching is from God or whether I [n]am speaking on my own authority. [18]The one who speaks on his own authority [o]seeks his own glory; but the one who seeks the glory of him who sent him is true, and in him there is no falsehood. [19] [p]Has not Moses given you the law? Yet none of you keeps the law. [q]Why do you seek to kill me?" [20][†]The crowd answered, [r]"You have a demon! Who is seeking to kill you?" [21][†]Jesus answered them, "I did [s]one work, and you all marvel at it. [22][†] [t]Moses gave you circumcision (not that it is from Moses, but [u] from the fathers), and you circumcise a man on the Sabbath. [23]If on the Sabbath a man receives circumcision, so that the law of Moses may not be broken, [v] are you angry with me because on the Sabbath I made a man’s whole body well? [24] [w] Do not judge by appearances, but judge with right judgment.”

Can This Be the Christ?

[25]Some of the people of Jerusalem therefore said, “Is not this the man whom [x] they seek to kill? [26][†]And here he is, [y] speaking openly, and they say nothing to him! Can it be that [z] the authorities really know that this is the Christ? [27][†]But [a] we know [b] where this man comes from, and when the Christ appears, [c] no one will know where he comes from.” [28][†]So Jesus proclaimed, [d] as he taught in the temple, [a] “You know me, and you know where I come from. But [e] I have not come of my own accord. [f] He who sent me is true, [g] and him you do not know. [29] [h] I know him, for I come [i] from him, and [j] he sent me.” [30][†] [k] So they were seeking to arrest him, but [l] no one laid a hand on him, [m] because his hour had not yet come. [31]Yet [n] many of the people believed in him. They said, [o] “When the Christ appears, will he do more signs than this man has done?”

Officers Sent to Arrest Jesus

[32][†]The Pharisees heard the crowd [p] muttering these things about him, and the chief priests and Pharisees sent [q] officers to arrest him. [33]Jesus then said, [r] “I will be with you a little longer, and then [s] I am going to him who sent me. [34] [t] You will seek me and you will not find me. Where I am you cannot come.” [35][†]The Jews said to one another, “Where does this man intend to go that we will not find him? [u] Does he intend to go to [v] the Dispersion among [w] the Greeks and teach the Greeks? [36]What does he mean by saying, [x] ‘You will seek me and you will not find me,’ and, ‘Where I am you cannot come’?”

Rivers of Living Water

[37][†] [y]On the last day of the feast, the great day, Jesus stood up and cried out, [z]“If anyone thirsts, let him [a]come to me and drink. [38][†]Whoever believes in me, [b]as [6] the Scripture has said, [c]‘Out of his heart will flow rivers of [d]living water.’” [39][†]Now [e]this he said about the Spirit, [f]whom those who believed in him were to receive, [g]for as yet the Spirit had not been [h]given, [i]because Jesus was not yet glorified.

Division Among the People

[40][†]When they heard these words, [j]some of the people said, “This really is [k]the Prophet.” [41]Others said, “This is [l]the Christ.” But some said, [m]“Is the Christ to come from Galilee? [42]Has not the Scripture said that the Christ comes [n]from the offspring of David, and comes [o]from Bethlehem, the village [p]where David was?” [43]So there was [q]a division among the people over him. [44] [r]Some of them wanted to arrest him, but no one laid hands on him.

[45][†] [s]The officers then came to the chief priests and Pharisees, who said to them, “Why did you not bring him?” [46]The officers answered, [t]“No one ever spoke like this man!” [47]The Pharisees answered them, [u]“Have you also been deceived? [48] [v]Have any of the authorities or the Pharisees believed in him? [49]But this crowd that does not know the law is accursed.” [50][†] [w]Nicodemus, who had gone to him before, and who was one of them, said to them, [51] [x]“Does our law judge a man without first [y]giving him a hearing and learning what he does?” [52][†]They replied, [z]“Are you from Galilee too? Search and see that [a]no prophet arises from Galilee.”

[The earliest manuscripts do not include 7:53–8:11.] [7]

The Woman Caught in Adultery

[53][[They went each to his own house, JOHN 8 but Jesus went to the Mount of Olives. [2] [b]Early in the morning he came again to the temple. All the people came to him, and [c]he sat down and taught them. [3]The scribes and the Pharisees brought a woman who had been caught in adultery, and placing her in the midst [4]they said to him, “Teacher, this woman has been caught in the act of adultery. [5]Now [d]in the Law Moses commanded us [e]to stone such women. So what do you say?” [6]This they said [f]to test him, [g]that they might have some charge to bring against him. Jesus bent down and wrote with his finger on the ground. [7]And as they continued to ask him, he stood up and said to them, [h]“Let him who is without sin among you [i]be the first to throw a stone at her.” [8]And once more he bent down and wrote on the ground. [9]But when they heard it, they went away one by one, beginning with the older ones, and Jesus was left alone with the woman standing before him. [10]Jesus stood up and said to her, “Woman, where are they? Has no one condemned you?” [11]She said, “No one, Lord.” And Jesus said, [j]“Neither do I condemn you; go, and from now on [k]sin no more.”]]

I Am the Light of the World

[12][†] [l]Again Jesus spoke to them, saying, [m]“I am the light of the world. Whoever [n]follows me will not [o]walk in darkness, but will have the light of life.” [13][†]So the Pharisees said to him, [p]“You are bearing witness about yourself; your testimony is not true.” [14]Jesus answered, “Even if I do bear witness about myself, [q]my testimony is true, for I know [r]where I came from and [s]where I am going, but [t]you do not know where I come from or where I am going. [15][†] [u]You judge according to the flesh; [v]I judge no one. [16]Yet even if I do judge, [w]my judgment is true, for [x]it is not I alone who judge, but I and the Father [1] who sent me. [17] [y]In your Law it is written that the testimony of two people is true. [18]I am the one who bears witness about myself, and [z]the Father who sent me bears witness about me.” [19]They said to him therefore, “Where is your Father?” Jesus answered, [a]“You know neither me nor my Father. [b]If you knew me, you would know my Father also.” [20][†]These words he spoke in [c]the treasury, as he taught in the temple; but [d]no one arrested him, because [e]his hour had not yet come.

[21][†]So he said to them again, [f]“I am going away, and [g]you will seek me, and [h]you will die in your sin. Where I am going, you cannot come.” [22]So the Jews said, [i]“Will he kill himself, since he says, ‘Where I am going, you cannot come’?” [23][†]He said to them, [j]“You are from below; I am from above. [k]You are of this world; [l]I am not of this world. [24][†]I told you that you [m]would die in your sins, for [n]unless you believe that [o]I am he you will die in your sins.” [25]So they said to him, [p]“Who are you?” Jesus said to them, “Just what I have been telling you from the beginning. [26]I have much to say about you and much to judge, but [q]he who sent me is true, and I declare [r]to the world [s]what I have heard from him.” [27]They did not understand that [t]he had been speaking to them about the Father. [28][†]So Jesus said to them, “When you have [u]lifted up the Son of Man, [v]then you will know that [w]I am he, and that [x]I do nothing on my own authority, but [y]speak just as the Father taught me. [29]And [z]he who sent me is with me. [z]He has not left me alone, for [a]I always do the things that are pleasing to him.” [30]As he was saying these things, [b]many believed in him.

The Truth Will Set You Free

[31][†]So Jesus said to the Jews who had believed him, [c]“If you abide in my word, you are truly my disciples, [32][†]and you will [d]know the truth, and the truth [e]will set you free.” [33]They answered him, [f]“We are offspring of Abraham and have never been enslaved to anyone. How is it that you say, ‘You will become free’?”

[34][†]Jesus answered them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, [g]everyone who practices sin is a slave [2] to sin. [35] [h]The slave does not remain in the house forever; [i]the son remains forever. [36][†]So if the Son sets you free, you will be free indeed. [37][†]I know that you are offspring of Abraham; yet [j]you seek to kill me because my word finds no place in you. [38] [k]I speak of what I have seen with my Father, and you do what you have heard [l]from your father.”

You Are of Your Father the Devil

[39][†]They answered him, [m]“Abraham is our father.” Jesus said to them, [n]“If you were Abraham’s children, you would be doing the works Abraham did, [40]but now [o]you seek to kill me, a man who has told you the truth [p]that I heard from God. This is not what Abraham did. [41]You are doing the works your father did.” They said to him, [q]“We were not born of sexual immorality. We have [r]one Father—even God.” [42]Jesus said to them, [s]“If God were your Father, you would love me, for [t]I came from God and [u]I am here. [v]I came not of my own accord, but [w]he sent me. [43][†][x]Why do you not understand what I say? It is because you cannot [y]bear to hear my word. [44][†][z]You are of your father the devil, and your will is to do your father’s desires. [a]He was a murderer from the beginning, and [b]does not stand in the truth, because there is no truth in him. [c]When he lies, he speaks out of his own character, for he is a liar and the father of lies. [45]But because I tell the truth, you do not believe me. [46]Which one of you convicts me of sin? If I tell the truth, why do you not believe me? [47][†][d]Whoever is of God hears the words of God. [e]The reason why you do not hear them is that [f]you are not of God.”

Before Abraham Was, I Am

[48][†]The Jews answered him, “Are we not right in saying that you are a Samaritan and [g]have a demon?” [49]Jesus answered, “I do not have a demon, but [h]I honor my Father, and you dishonor me. [50]Yet [i]I do not seek my own glory; there is One who seeks it, and he is the judge. [51]Truly, truly, [j]I say to you, if anyone keeps my word, he will never [k]see death.” [52]The Jews said to him, “Now we know that you have a demon! [l]Abraham died, as did the prophets, yet [m]you say, ‘If anyone keeps my word, he will never [n]taste death.’ [53][o]Are you greater than our father Abraham, who died? And the prophets died! Who do you make yourself out to be?” [54]Jesus answered, [p]“If I glorify myself, my glory is nothing. [q]It is my Father who glorifies me, [r]of whom you say, ‘He is our God.’ [3] [55]But [s]you have not known him. [t]I know him. If I were to say that I do not know him, I would be [u]a liar [v]like you, but I do know him and I keep his word. [56][†][w]Your father Abraham [x]rejoiced [y]that he would see my day. [z]He saw it and was glad." [57]So the Jews said to him, "You are not yet fifty years old, and have you seen Abraham?" [4] [58][†]Jesus said to them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, before Abraham was, [a]I am." [59][†]So [b]they picked up stones to throw at him, but Jesus hid himself and went out of the temple.

Jesus Heals a Man Born Blind

JOHN 9 As he passed by, he saw a man blind from birth. [2][†]And his disciples asked him, [c]"Rabbi, [d]who sinned, [e]this man or [f]his parents, that he was born blind?" [3][†]Jesus answered, "It was not that this man sinned, or his parents, but [g]that the works of God might be displayed in him. [4][†]We must [h]work the works of him who sent me [i]while it is day; night is coming, when no one can work. [5][†]As long as I am in the world, [j]I am the light of the world." [6][†]Having said these things, [k]he spit on the ground and made mud with the saliva. [l]Then he anointed the man's eyes with the mud [7][†]and said to him, "Go, wash in [m]the pool of Siloam" (which means Sent). So he went and washed and [n]came back seeing.

[8]The neighbors and those who had seen him before as a beggar were saying, [o]"Is this not the man who used to sit and beg?" [9]Some said, "It is he." Others said, "No, but he is like him." He kept saying, "I am the man." [10]So they said to him, "Then how were your eyes opened?" [11]He answered, [p]"The man called Jesus made mud and anointed my eyes and said to me, 'Go to Siloam and wash.' So I went and washed and received my sight." [12]They said to him, "Where is he?" He said, "I do not know."

[13]They brought to the Pharisees the man who had formerly been blind. [14][†][q]Now it was a Sabbath day when Jesus made the mud and opened his eyes. [15][r]So the Pharisees again asked him how he had received his sight. And he said to them, "He put mud on my eyes, and I washed, and I see." [16]Some of the Pharisees said, "This man is not [s]from God, [t]for he does not keep the Sabbath." But others said, [u]"How can a man who is a sinner do such signs?" And [v]there was a division among them. [17]So they said again to the blind man, "What do you say about him, since he has opened your eyes?" He said, [w]"He is a prophet."

18[x] The Jews [1] did not believe that he had been blind and had received his sight, until they called the parents of the man who had received his sight 19and asked them, “Is this your son, who you say was born blind? How then does he now see?” 20His parents answered, “We know that this is our son and that he was born blind. 21But how he now sees we do not know, nor do we know who opened his eyes. Ask him; he is of age. He will speak for himself.” 22[†](His parents said these things [y] because they feared the Jews, for [z] the Jews had already agreed that if anyone should [a] confess Jesus [2] to be Christ, [b] he was to be put out of the synagogue.) 23Therefore his parents said, [c] “He is of age; ask him.”

24So for the second time they called the man who had been blind and said to him, [d] “Give glory to God. We know that [e] this man is a sinner.” 25He answered, “Whether he is a sinner I do not know. One thing I do know, that though I [f] was blind, now I see.” 26They said to him, “What did he do to you? How did he open your eyes?” 27He answered them, [g] “I have told you already, and you would not listen. Why do you want to hear it again? Do you also want to become his disciples?” 28And they reviled him, saying, “You are his disciple, but [h] we are disciples of Moses. 29We know that God has spoken to Moses, but as for this man, [i] we do not know where he comes from.” 30The man answered, “Why, this is [j] an amazing thing! [k] You do not know where he comes from, and yet he opened my eyes. 31[†]We know that [l] God does not listen to sinners, but [m] if anyone is a worshiper of God and does his will, God listens to him. 32Never since the world began has it been heard that anyone opened the eyes of a man born blind. 33 [n] If this man were not from God, he could do nothing.” 34[†]They answered him, [o] “You were born in utter sin, and would you teach us?” And they [p] cast him out.

35Jesus heard that they had cast him out, and having found him he said, “Do you believe in [q] the Son of Man?” [3] 36He answered, [r] “And who is he, sir, that I may believe in him?” 37Jesus said to him, “You have seen him, and [s] it is he who is speaking to you.” 38He said, “Lord, I believe,” and he worshiped him. 39Jesus said, [t] “For judgment I came into this world, [u] that those who do not see may see, and [v] those who see may become blind.” 40Some of the Pharisees near him heard these things, and said to him, [w]“Are we also blind?” [41][†]Jesus said to them, “If you were blind, [x]you would have no guilt; [4] but now that you say, ‘We see,’ your guilt remains.

I Am the Good Shepherd

JOHN 10 [†]“Truly, truly, I say to you, he who does not enter the sheepfold by the door but climbs in by another way, that man is a thief and a robber. [2]But he who enters by the door is the shepherd of the sheep. [3][†]To him the gatekeeper opens. The sheep hear his voice, and he calls his own sheep by name and leads them out. [4]When he has brought out all his own, he goes before them, and the sheep follow him, for they know his voice. [5][y]A stranger they will not follow, but they will flee from him, for they do not know the voice of strangers.” [6]This figure of speech Jesus [z]used with them, but they [a]did not understand what he was saying to them.

[7][†]So Jesus again said to them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, [b]I am the door of the sheep. [8][†]All who came before me are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not listen to them. [9][†]I am the door. If anyone enters by me, [c]he will be saved and will go in and out and [d]find pasture. [10][†]The thief comes only to steal and [e]kill and destroy. I came that they may have life and have it abundantly. [11][†][f]I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd [g]lays down his life for the sheep. [12]He who is [h]a hired hand and not a shepherd, who does not own the sheep, sees the wolf coming and [i]leaves the sheep and flees, and the wolf snatches them and [j]scatters them. [13]He flees because [k]he is a hired hand and [l]cares nothing for the sheep. [14][m]I am the good shepherd. [n]I know my own and [o]my own know me, [15][p]just as the Father knows me and I know the Father; and [q]I lay down my life for the sheep. [16][†]And [r]I have other sheep that are not of this fold. [s]I must bring them also, and [t]they will listen to my voice. So there will be [u]one flock, [v]one shepherd. [17][†][w]For this reason the Father loves me, [x]because [y]I lay down my life that I may take it up again. [18][z]No one takes it from me, but [y]I lay it down [a]of my own accord. I have authority to lay it down, and [b]I have authority to take it up again. [c]This charge I have received from my Father.”

[19][d]There was again a division among the Jews because of these words. [20][†]Many of them said, [e]“He has a demon, and [f]is insane; why listen to him?” [21]Others said, “These are not the words of one who is oppressed by a demon. [g]Can a demon open the eyes of the blind?”

I and the Father Are One

[22][†]At that time the Feast of Dedication took place at Jerusalem. It was winter, [23][†]and Jesus was walking in the temple, [h]in the colonnade of Solomon. [24]So the Jews gathered around him and said to him, “How long will you keep us in suspense? If you are [i]the Christ, [j]tell us plainly.” [25]Jesus answered them, “I told you, and you do not believe. [k]The works that I do [l]in my Father’s name bear witness about me, [26][†]but [m]you do not believe because you are not among my sheep. [27][n]My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me. [28][o]I give them eternal life, and [p]they will never perish, and [q]no one will snatch them out of my hand. [29]My Father, [r]who has given them to me, [1] [s]is greater than all, and no one is able to snatch them out of [t]the Father’s hand. [30][†][u]I and the Father are one.”

[31][†][v]The Jews picked up stones again to stone him. [32]Jesus answered them, “I have shown you many good works from the Father; for which of them are you going to stone me?” [33]The Jews answered him, “It is not for a good work that we are going to stone you but [w]for blasphemy, because you, being a man, [x]make yourself God.” [34][†]Jesus answered them, “Is it not written in [y]your Law, [z]‘I said, you are gods’? [35]If he called them gods to whom the word of God came—and Scripture cannot be [a]broken— [36][†]do you say of him whom [b]the Father consecrated and [c]sent into the world, ‘You are blaspheming,’ because [d]I said, ‘I am the Son of God’? [37][†][e]If I am not doing the works of my Father, then do not believe me; [38]but if I do them, [f]even though you do not believe me, believe the works, that you may know and understand that [g]the Father is in me and I am in the Father.” [39][h]Again they sought to arrest him, but he escaped from their hands.

[40]He went away again across the Jordan to the place [i]where John had been baptizing at first, and there he remained. [41]And many came to him.

And they said, "John did no sign, but [j] everything that John said about this man was true." 42And [k] many believed in him there.

The Death of Lazarus

JOHN 11 [†]Now a certain man was ill, Lazarus of Bethany, the village of [l] Mary and her sister Martha. 2 [m] It was Mary who anointed the Lord with ointment and wiped his feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was ill. 3So the sisters sent to him, saying, "Lord, [n] he whom you love is ill." 4[†]But when Jesus heard it he said, [o] "This illness does not lead to death. It is for [p] the glory of God, so that the Son of God may be glorified through it."

5[†]Now [q] Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus. 6So, when he heard that Lazarus [1] was ill, [r] he stayed two days longer in the place where he was. 7Then after this he said to the disciples, [s] "Let us go to Judea again." 8The disciples said to him, [t] "Rabbi, [u] the Jews were just now seeking to stone you, and are you going there again?" 9[†]Jesus answered, [v] "Are there not twelve hours in the day? [w] If anyone walks in the day, he does not stumble, because he sees the light of this world. 10But [x] if anyone walks in the night, he stumbles, because the light is not [x] in him." 11[†]After saying these things, he said to them, "Our friend Lazarus [y] has fallen asleep, but I go to awaken him." 12The disciples said to him, "Lord, if he has fallen asleep, he will recover." 13Now Jesus had spoken of his death, but they thought that he meant taking rest in sleep. 14Then Jesus told them plainly, "Lazarus has died, 15and for your sake I am glad that I was not there, so that you may believe. But let us go to him." 16[†] [z] So Thomas, called the Twin, [2] said to his fellow disciples, "Let us also go, [a] that we may die with him."

I Am the Resurrection and the Life

17Now when Jesus came, he found that Lazarus had already been in the tomb [b] four days. 18Bethany was near Jerusalem, about two miles [3] off, 19and many of the Jews had come to Martha and Mary [c] to console them concerning their brother. 20 [d] So when Martha heard that Jesus was coming, she went and met him, but Mary remained seated in the house. [21]Martha said to [e]Jesus, “Lord, [f]if you had been here, my brother would not have died. [22]But even now I know that whatever you ask from God, [g]God will give you.” [23]Jesus said to her, “Your brother will rise again.” [24][†] [h]Martha said to him, “I know that he will rise again in [i]the resurrection on the last day.” [25][†]Jesus said to her, [j]“I am the resurrection and [k]the life. [4] Whoever believes in me, [l]though he die, [m]yet shall he live, [26][†]and everyone who lives and believes in me [n]shall never die. Do you believe this?” [27][†]She said to him, “Yes, Lord; [o]I believe that [p]you are the Christ, the Son of God, [q]who is coming into the world.”

Jesus Weeps

[28][†]When she had said this, she went and called her sister Mary, saying in private, [r]“The Teacher is here and is calling for you.” [29]And when she heard it, she rose quickly and went to him. [30]Now Jesus had not yet come into the village, but was still in the place where Martha had met him. [31]When the Jews [s]who were with her in the house, consoling her, saw Mary rise quickly and go out, they followed her, supposing that she was going to the tomb to weep there. [32]Now when Mary came to where Jesus was and saw him, she fell at his feet, saying to him, [t]“Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died.” [33][†]When Jesus saw her weeping, and the Jews who had come with her also weeping, he [u]was deeply moved [5] in his spirit and [v]greatly troubled. [34]And he said, “Where have you laid him?” They said to him, “Lord, come and see.” [35][†] [w]Jesus wept. [36]So the Jews said, “See [x]how he loved him!” [37]But some of them said, “Could not he [y]who opened the eyes of the blind man [z]also have kept this man from dying?”

Jesus Raises Lazarus

[38]Then Jesus, [a]deeply moved again, came to the tomb. It was [b]a cave, and [c]a stone lay against it. [39]Jesus said, “Take away the stone.” Martha, the sister of the dead man, said to him, “Lord, by this time there will be an odor, for [d]he has been dead four days.” [40]Jesus said to her, [e]“Did I not tell you that if you believed you would see [f] the glory of God?” 41So they took away the stone. And Jesus [g] lifted up his eyes and said, “Father, I thank you that you have heard me. 42 [h] I knew that you always hear me, but I said this [i] on account of the people standing around, [j] that they may believe that you sent me.” 43When he had said these things, he cried out with a loud voice, “Lazarus, come out.” 44[†] [k] The man who had died came out, [l] his hands and feet bound with linen strips, and [m] his face wrapped with a cloth. Jesus said to them, “Unbind him, and let him go.”

The Plot to Kill Jesus

45 [n] Many of the Jews therefore, [o] who had come with Mary and [p] had seen what he did, believed in him, 46but some of them went to the Pharisees and told them what Jesus had done. 47[†]So the chief priests and the Pharisees [q] gathered [r] the council and said, [s] “What are we to do? For this man performs many signs. 48[†]If we let him go on like this, everyone will believe in him, and [t] the Romans will come and take away both our [u] place and our nation.” 49[†]But one of them, [v] Caiaphas, [w] who was high priest that year, said to them, “You know nothing at all. 50[†]Nor do you understand that [x] it is better for you that one man should die for the people, not that the whole nation should perish.” 51He did not say this of his own accord, but [y] being high priest that year [z] he prophesied that Jesus would die for the nation, 52[†]and [a] not for the nation only, but also [b] to gather into one the children of God who are scattered abroad. 53So from that day on they [c] made plans to put him to death.

54Jesus therefore [d] no longer walked openly among the Jews, but went from there to the region near the wilderness, to a town called Ephraim, and there he stayed with the disciples.

55[†]Now [e] the Passover of the Jews was at hand, and [f] many went up from the country to Jerusalem before the Passover [g] to purify themselves. 56 [h] They were looking for [6] Jesus and saying to one another as they stood in the temple, “What do you think? That he will not come to the feast at all?” 57Now the chief priests and the Pharisees had given orders that if anyone knew where he was, he should let them know, so that they might arrest him.

Mary Anoints Jesus at Bethany

JOHN 12 [†]Six days before [i]the Passover, [j]Jesus therefore came to Bethany, [k]where Lazarus was, whom Jesus had raised from the dead. 2[†]So they gave a dinner for him there. [l]Martha served, and Lazarus was one of those reclining with him at table. 3[†] [m]Mary therefore took a pound [1] of expensive ointment made from pure nard, and anointed the feet of Jesus and wiped his feet with her hair. The house was filled with the fragrance of the perfume. 4But Judas Iscariot, one of his disciples (he who was about to betray him), said, 5[†]“Why was this ointment not sold for three hundred denarii [2] and [n]given to the poor?” 6He said this, not because he cared about the poor, but because he was a thief, and [n]having charge of the moneybag he used to help himself to what was put into it. 7[†]Jesus said, “Leave her alone, so that she may keep it [3] for the day of my burial. 8[†]For the poor you always have with you, but you do not always have me.”

The Plot to Kill Lazarus

9When the large crowd of the Jews learned that Jesus [4] was there, they came, not only on account of him but also to see Lazarus, [o]whom he had raised from the dead. 10 [p]So the chief priests made plans to put Lazarus to death as well, 11[†]because [q]on account of him many of the Jews were going away and believing in Jesus.

The Triumphal Entry

12[†]The next day [r]the large crowd that had come to the feast heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem. 13[†]So they took branches of [s]palm trees and went out to meet him, crying out, [t]“Hosanna! Blessed is [u]he who comes in the name of the Lord, even [v]the King of Israel!” 14And Jesus found a young donkey and sat on it, just as it is written, > 15[†] [w]“Fear not, daughter of Zion; > behold, your king is coming, sitting on a donkey's colt!"

16 [x] His disciples did not understand these things at first, but [y] when Jesus was glorified, then [z] they remembered that these things had been written about him and had been done to him. 17 [a] The crowd that had been with him when he called Lazarus out of the tomb and raised him from the dead continued to bear witness. 18 The reason why the crowd went to meet him [b] was that they heard he had done this sign. 19 So the Pharisees said to one another, [c] "You see that you are gaining nothing. Look, [d] the world has gone after him."

Some Greeks Seek Jesus

20 [†]Now [e] among those who went up to worship at the feast were some [f] Greeks. 21 [†]So these came to [g] Philip, who was from Bethsaida in Galilee, and asked him, "Sir, we wish to see Jesus." 22 Philip went and told [h] Andrew; Andrew and Philip went and told Jesus. 23 And Jesus answered them, [i] "The hour has come [j] for the Son of Man to be glorified. 24 Truly, truly, I say to you, [k] unless a grain of wheat falls into the earth and dies, it remains alone; but if it dies, it bears much fruit. 25 [†] [l] Whoever loves his life loses it, and [m] whoever [n] hates his life in this world will keep it for eternal life. 26 If anyone serves me, he must [o] follow me; and [p] where I am, there will my servant be also. [q] If anyone serves me, [r] the Father will honor him.

The Son of Man Must Be Lifted Up

27 [s] "Now is my soul troubled. And what shall I say? 'Father, [t] save me from [u] this hour'? But [v] for this purpose I have come to [u] this hour. 28 [†]Father, glorify your name." Then [w] a voice came from heaven: "I have glorified it, and I will glorify it again." 29 [†]The crowd that stood there and heard it said that it had thundered. Others said, [x] "An angel has spoken to him." 30 Jesus answered, [y] "This voice has come for your sake, not mine. 31 [†] [z] Now is the judgment of this world; now will [a] the ruler of this world [b] be cast out. 32 [†]And I, [c] when I am lifted up from the earth, [d] will draw [e] all people to myself.” [33][†]He said this [f]to show by what kind of death he was going to die. [34][†]So the crowd answered him, “We have heard from the Law that [g]the Christ remains forever. How can you say that [h]the Son of Man must be lifted up? Who is this Son of Man?” [35][†]So Jesus said to them, [i]“The light is among you [j]for a little while longer. [k]Walk while you have the light, lest darkness [l]overtake you. [m]The one who walks in the darkness does not know where he is going. [36][†]While you have the light, believe in the light, that you may become [n]sons of light.”

The Unbelief of the People

When Jesus had said these things, he departed and hid himself from them. [37][†]Though he had done so many signs before them, they still did not believe in him, [38] [o]so that the word spoken by the prophet Isaiah might be fulfilled:

[p]“Lord, who has believed what he heard from us, and to whom has the arm of the Lord been revealed?”

[39]Therefore they [q]could not believe. For again Isaiah said, [40] [r]“He has blinded their eyes and [s]hardened their heart, lest they see with their eyes, and understand with their heart, and turn,

  and I would heal them.”

[41][†]Isaiah said these things because [t]he saw his glory and [u]spoke of him. [42][†]Nevertheless, [v]many even of the authorities believed in him, but [w]for fear of the Pharisees they did not [x]confess it, so that they would not be [x]put out of the synagogue; [43] [y]for they loved the glory that comes from man more than the glory that comes from God.

Jesus Came to Save the World

[44]And Jesus cried out and said, [z]“Whoever believes in me, believes not in me but [a]in him who sent me. [45]And [b]whoever [c]sees me sees him who sent me. [46][d]I have come into the world as light, so that whoever believes in me may not remain in darkness. [47][†]If anyone [e]hears my words and does not keep them, [f]I do not judge him; for [g]I did not come to judge the world but to save the world. [48][h]The one who rejects me and does not receive my words has a judge; [i]the word that I have spoken will judge him [j]on the last day. [49][†]For [k]I have not spoken on my own authority, but the Father [l]who sent me has himself given me [m]a commandment—what to say and what to speak. [50]And I know that his commandment is eternal life. What I say, therefore, I say as the Father has told me.”

Jesus Washes the Disciples’ Feet

JOHN 13 [†]Now [n]before [o]the Feast of the Passover, when Jesus knew that [p]his hour had come [q]to depart out of this world to the Father, [r]having loved [s]his own who were in the world, he loved them to the end. [2]During supper, when [t]the devil had already put it into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon’s son, to betray him, [3]Jesus, knowing [u]that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that [v]he had come from God and [w]was going back to God, [4]rose from supper. He laid aside his outer garments, and taking a towel, [x]tied it around his waist. [5]Then he [y]poured water into a basin and began to wash the disciples’ feet and to wipe them with the towel that was wrapped around him. [6]He came to Simon Peter, who said to him, “Lord, do you wash my feet?” [7][z]Jesus answered him, “What I am doing [a]you do not understand now, but afterward you will understand.” [8][†][b]Peter said to him, “You shall never wash my feet.” Jesus answered him, [c]“If I do not wash you, you have no share with me.” [9][†]Simon Peter said to him, “Lord, not my feet only but also my hands and my head!” [10]Jesus said to him, “The one who has bathed does not need to wash, [d]except for his feet, [1] but is completely clean. And [e]you [2] are clean, [f]but not every one of you.” [11][g]For he knew who was to betray him; that was why he said, “Not all of you are clean.”

12When he had washed their feet and [h]put on his outer garments and resumed his place, he said to them, [i]“Do you understand what I have done to you? 13[j]You call me [k]Teacher and Lord, and you are right, for so I am. 14[†]If I then, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, [l]you also ought to wash one another’s feet. 15For I have given you an example, [m]that you also should do just as I have done to you. 16Truly, truly, I say to you, [n]a servant [3] is not greater than his master, nor is a messenger greater than the one who sent him. 17If you know these things, [o]blessed are you if you do them. 18[†][p]I am not speaking of all of you; I know [q]whom I have chosen. But [r]the Scripture will be fulfilled, [4] [s]‘He who ate my bread has lifted his heel against me.’ 19[†][t]I am telling you this now, before it takes place, that when it does take place you may believe that I am he. 20[†]Truly, truly, I say to you, [u]whoever receives the one I send receives me, and whoever receives me receives the one who sent me.”

One of You Will Betray Me

21[†]After saying these things, [v]Jesus was troubled in his spirit, and testified, [w]“Truly, truly, I say to you, [x]one of you will betray me.” 22[y]The disciples looked at one another, uncertain of whom he spoke. 23[†][z]One of his disciples, whom Jesus loved, was reclining at table [a]at Jesus’ side, [5] 24so Simon Peter motioned to him to ask Jesus [6] of whom he was speaking. 25[b]So that disciple, [c]leaning back against Jesus, said to him, “Lord, who is it?” 26Jesus answered, [d]“It is he to whom I will give this morsel of bread [e]when I have dipped it.” So when he had dipped the morsel, [f]he gave it to Judas, [g]the son of Simon Iscariot. 27[†]Then after he had taken the morsel, [h]Satan entered into him. Jesus said to him, [i]“What you are going to do, do quickly.” 28Now no one at the table knew why he said this to him. 29Some thought that, [j]because Judas had the moneybag, Jesus was telling him, “Buy what we need [k]for the feast,” or that he should [l]give something to the poor. 30So, after receiving the morsel of bread, he immediately went out. [m]And it was night.

A New Commandment

[31][†]When he had gone out, Jesus said, [n]“Now is the Son of Man glorified, and [o]God is glorified in him. [32]If God is glorified in him, [p]God will also glorify him in himself, and [q]glorify him at once. [33]Little children, [r]yet a little while I am with you. You will seek me, and just [s]as I said to the Jews, so now I also say to you, ‘Where I am going you cannot come.’ [34][†] [t]A new commandment [u]I give to you, [v]that you love one another: [w]just as I have loved you, you also are to love one another. [35] [x]By this all people will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another.”

Jesus Foretells Peter’s Denial

[36]Simon Peter said to him, “Lord, where are you going?” [y]Jesus answered him, “Where I am going [z]you cannot follow me now, [a]but you will follow afterward.” [37] [b]Peter said to him, “Lord, why can I not follow you now? I will lay down my life for you.” [38][†]Jesus answered, “Will you lay down your life for me? Truly, truly, I say to you, [c]the rooster will not crow till you have denied me three times.

I Am the Way, and the Truth, and the Life

JOHN 14 [†] [d]“Let not your hearts be troubled. [e]Believe in God; [1] believe also in me. [2][†]In [f]my Father’s house are many rooms. If it were not so, would I have told you that [g]I go to prepare a place for you? [2] [3]And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and will take you [h]to myself, that [i]where I am you may be also. [4]And you know the way to where I am going.” [3] [5] [j]Thomas said to him, “Lord, [k]we do not know where you are going. How can we know the way?” [6][†]Jesus said to him, “I am [l]the way, and [m]the truth, and [n]the life. No one comes to the Father except through me. [7] [o]If you had known me, you would have [p]known my Father also. [4] From now on you do know him and [q]have seen him.”

[8][†] [r]Philip said to him, “Lord, [s]show us the Father, and it is enough for us.” [9]Jesus said to him, “Have I been with you so long, and you still do not know me, Philip? [t]Whoever has seen me has seen the Father. How can you say, ‘Show us the Father’? [10][†]Do you not believe that [u]I am in the Father and the Father is in me? The words that I say to you [v]I do not speak on my own authority, but the Father who dwells in me does his works. [11]Believe me that [u]I am in the Father and the Father is in me, or else [w]believe on account of the works themselves.

[12][†]“Truly, truly, I say to you, [x]whoever believes in me will also do the works that I do; and greater works than these will he do, because I [y]am going to the Father. [13][†][z]Whatever you ask in my name, this I will do, that [a]the Father may be glorified in the Son. [14][†][z]If you ask me [5] anything in my name, I will do it.

Jesus Promises the Holy Spirit

[15][†][b]“If you love me, you will [c]keep my commandments. [16][†]And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another [d]Helper, [6] to be with you forever, [17]even [e]the Spirit of truth, [f]whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor knows him. You know him, for he dwells with you and [g]will be [7] in you.

[18][†]“I will not leave you as orphans; [h]I will come to you. [19][i]Yet a little while and the world will see me no more, but [j]you will see me. [k]Because I live, you also will live. [20][l]In that day you will know that [m]I am in my Father, and [n]you in me, and [o]I in you. [21][†][p]Whoever has my commandments and [q]keeps them, he it is who loves me. And [r]he who loves me [s]will be loved by my Father, and I will love him and [t]manifest myself to him.” [22][†][u]Judas (not Iscariot) said to him, “Lord, how is it [v]that you will manifest yourself to us, and not to the world?” [23]Jesus answered him, [w]“If anyone loves me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and [x]we will come to him and [y]make our home with him. [24]Whoever does not love me does not keep my words. And [z]the word that you hear is not mine but the Father’s who sent me.

[25]“These things I have spoken to you while I am still with you. [26][†]But the [a]Helper, the Holy Spirit, [b]whom the Father will send in my name, [c]he will teach you all things and [d]bring to your remembrance all that I have said to you. [27][†][e]Peace I leave with you; [f]my peace I give to you. Not as the world gives do I give to you. [g]Let not your hearts be troubled, neither [h]let them be afraid. [28][†][i]You heard me say to you, [j]‘I am going away, and I will come to you.’ If you loved me, you would have rejoiced, because I [k]am going to the Father, for [l]the Father is greater than I. [29]And [m]now I have told you before it takes place, so that when it does take place you may believe. [30][†]I will no longer talk much with you, for [n]the ruler of this world is coming. [o]He has no claim on me, [31][†]but I do [p]as the Father has commanded me, [q]so that the world may know that I love the Father. Rise, let us go from here.

I Am the True Vine

JOHN 15 [†]“I am the [r]true vine, and my Father is [s]the vinedresser. [2][†][t]Every branch in me that does not bear fruit [u]he takes away, and every branch that does bear fruit he prunes, [v]that it may bear more fruit. [3][†]Already [w]you are clean [x]because of the word that I have spoken to you. [4][†][y]Abide [z]in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit by itself, unless it abides in the vine, neither can you, unless you abide in me. [5][†]I am the vine; [a]you are the branches. Whoever abides in me and I in him, he it is that [b]bears much fruit, for apart from me you can do nothing. [6][†]If anyone does not abide in me [c]he is thrown away like a branch and withers; [d]and the branches are gathered, thrown into the fire, and burned. [7][†]If [e]you abide in me, and my words abide in you, [f]ask whatever you wish, and it will be done for you. [8][g]By this my Father is glorified, that you [h]bear much fruit and so prove to be my disciples. [9][i]As the Father has loved me, [j]so have I loved you. Abide in my love. [10][†][k]If you keep my commandments, you will abide in my love, just as [l]I have kept [m]my Father’s commandments and abide in his love. [11]These things I have spoken to you, [n]that my joy may be in you, and that [o]your joy may be full.

[12][†][p]“This is my commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you. [13][†][q]Greater love has no one than this, [r]that someone lay down his life for his friends. [14]You are [s]my friends [t]if you do what I command you. [15][u]No longer do I call you servants,[1] for the servant[2] [w]does not know what his master is doing; but I have called you friends, for [x]all that I have heard from my Father [y]I have made known to you.

[16][†]You did not choose me, but [z]I chose you and appointed you that you should go and [a]bear fruit and that your fruit should abide, so that [b]whatever you ask the Father in my name, he may give it to you. [17]These things I command you, [c]so that you will love one another.

The Hatred of the World

[18][d]“If the world hates you, know that it has hated me before it hated you. [19][e]If you were of the world, the world would love you as its own; but because [f]you are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, therefore the world hates you. [20]Remember the word that I said to you: [g]‘A servant is not greater than his master.’ If they persecuted me, [h]they will also persecute you. [i]If they kept my word, they will also keep yours. [21]But [j]all these things they will do to you [k]on account of my name, [l]because they do not know him who sent me. [22][†]If I had not come and spoken to them, [m]they would not have been guilty of sin, [3] but now they have no excuse for their sin. [23][n]Whoever hates me hates my Father also. [24][o]If I had not done among them the works that no one else did, [m]they would not be guilty of sin, but now they have [p]seen and hated both me and my Father. [25][†]But [q]the word that is written in their Law must be fulfilled: [r]‘They hated me without a cause.’

[26][†]“But [s]when the Helper comes, whom I will send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth, who proceeds from the Father, [t]he will bear witness about me. [27]And [u]you also will bear witness, [v]because you have been with me [w]from the beginning.

JOHN 16 “I have said all these things to you to keep you from falling away. [2][†][x]They will put you out of the synagogues. Indeed, [y]the hour is coming when [z]whoever kills you will think he is offering service to God. [3]And they will do these things [a]because they have not known the Father, nor me. [4]But [b]I have said these things to you, that when [c]their hour comes you may remember that I told them to you.

The Work of the Holy Spirit

“I did not say these things to you from the beginning, [d]because I was with you. [5][†]But now [e]I am going to him who sent me, and [f]none of you asks me, ‘Where are you going?’ [6]But because I have said these things to you, [g]sorrow has filled your heart. [7][†]Nevertheless, I tell you the truth: it is to your advantage that I go away, for [h]if I do not go away, [i]the Helper will not come to you. But [j]if [k]I go, [l]I will send him to you. [8][m]And when he comes, he will [n]convict the world concerning sin and righteousness and judgment: [9]concerning sin, [o]because they do not believe in me; [10][†][p]concerning righteousness, [q]because I go to the Father, and you will see me no longer; [11][†][r]concerning judgment, because the ruler of this world [s]is judged.

[12]“I still have many things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now. [13][†]When [t]the Spirit of truth comes, [u]he will [v]guide you into all the truth, for he will not speak on his own authority, but [w]whatever he hears he will speak, and he will declare to you the things that are to come. [14]He will [x]glorify me, for he will take what is mine and declare it to you. [15][y]All that the Father has is mine; [z]therefore I said that he will take what is mine and declare it to you.

Your Sorrow Will Turn into Joy

[16][†][a]“A little while, and you will see me no longer; and [b]again a little while, and you will see me.” [17]So [c]some of his disciples said to one another, “What is this that he says to us, [d]‘A little while, and you will not see me, and again a little while, and you will see me’; and, [e]‘because I am going to the Father’?” [18]So they were saying, “What does he mean by ‘a little while’? [f]We do not know what he is talking about.” [19][g]Jesus knew that they wanted to ask him, so he said to them, “Is this what you are asking yourselves, what I meant by saying, ‘A little while and you will not see me, and again a little while and you will see me’? [20]Truly, truly, I say to you, [h]you will weep and lament, but [i]the world will rejoice. You will be sorrowful, but [j]your sorrow will turn into joy. [21][k]When a woman is giving birth, she has sorrow because her hour has come, but when she has delivered the baby, she no longer remembers the anguish, for joy that a human being has been born into the world. [22] [l] So also you have sorrow now, but [m] I will see you again, and [n] your hearts will rejoice, and no one will take your joy from you. [23][†] [o] In that day you will [p] ask nothing of me.

Truly, truly, I say to you, [q] whatever you ask of the Father in my name, [r] he will give it to you. [24][†]Until now you have asked nothing in my name.
[s] Ask, and you will receive, [t] that your joy may be full.

I Have Overcome the World

[25][†]“I have said these things to you in figures of speech. [u] The hour is coming when I will no longer speak to you in figures of speech but will tell you plainly about the Father. [26]In that day you will ask in my name, and I do not say to you that I will ask the Father on your behalf; [27] [v] for the Father himself loves you, because [w] you have loved me and [x] have believed that I came from God. [1] [28][†] [y] I came from the Father and have come into the world, and now [z] I am leaving the world and going to the Father.”

[29]His disciples said, “Ah, now you are speaking plainly and not [a] using figurative speech! [30]Now we know that [b] you know all things and do not need anyone to question you; this is why we believe that [c] you came from God.” [31]Jesus answered them, “Do you now believe? [32][†]Behold, [d] the hour is coming, indeed it has come, when [e] you will be scattered, each to his own home, and [f] will leave me alone. [g] Yet I am not alone, for the Father is with me. [33]I have said these things to you, that [h] in me you may have peace. [i] In the world you will have [j] tribulation. But [k] take heart; [l] I have overcome the world.”

The High Priestly Prayer

JOHN 17 [†]When Jesus had spoken these words, [m]he lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, “Father, [n]the hour has come; [o]glorify your Son that the Son may [p]glorify you, [2][†]since [q]you have given him authority over all flesh, [r]to give eternal life to all [s]whom you have given him. [3] [t]And this is eternal life, [u]that they know you [v]the only [w]true God, and [x]Jesus Christ whom you have sent. [4]I [y]glorified you on earth, [z]having accomplished the work that you gave me to do. [5][†]And now, Father, [a]glorify me in your own presence with the glory [b]that I had with you [c]before the world existed.

[6][†] [d]“I have manifested your name to the people [e]whom you gave me out of the world. [f]Yours they were, and you gave them to me, and they have kept your word. [7]Now they know that everything [f]that you have given me is from you. [8]For I have given them [g]the words that you gave me, and they have received them and have come to know in truth that [h]I came from you; and [i]they have believed that you sent me. [9][†]I am praying for them. [j]I am not praying for the world but for those [k]whom you have given me, for [l]they are yours. [10] [m]All mine are yours, and yours are mine, and [n]I am glorified in them. [11][†]And I am no longer in the world, but [o]they are in the world, and [p]I am coming to you. [q]Holy Father, [r]keep them in your name, [s]which you have given me, [t]that they may be one, [u]even as we are one. [12][†] [v]While I was with them, I kept them in your name, which you have given me. I have [w]guarded them, and [x]not one of them has been lost except [y]the son of destruction, [z]that the Scripture might be fulfilled. [13]But now [a]I am coming to you, and these things I speak in the world, that they may have [b]my joy fulfilled in themselves. [14][†] [c]I have given them your word, and [d]the world has hated them [e]because they are not of the world, [f]just as I am not of the world. [15][†]I [g]do not ask that you [h]take them out of the world, but that you [i]keep them from [j]the evil one. [1] [16][†] [k]They are not of the world, just as I am not of the world. [17][†] [l]Sanctify them [2] in the truth; [m]your word is truth. [18][†] [n]As you sent me into the world, so I have sent them into the world. [19]And [o]for their sake [p]I consecrate myself, [3] that they also [q]may be sanctified [4] in truth.

[20]"I do not [r]ask for these only, but also for those [s]who will believe in me through their word, [21][†] [t]that they may all be one, just as you, Father, are in me, and I in you, that [u]they also may be in [v]us, so that the world [w]may believe that you have sent me. [22][†] [x]The glory that you have given me [y]I have given to them, [t]that they may be one even as we are one, [23] [z]I in them and you in me, [a]that they may become perfectly one, [b]so that the world may know that you sent me and [c]loved them even as [d]you loved me. [24][†]Father, I desire that they also, whom you have given me, may be [e]with me [f]where I am, [g]to see my glory that you have given me because you loved me [h]before the foundation of the world. [25] [i]O righteous Father, even though [j]the world does not know you, I know you, and these know that you have sent me. [26][†] [k]I made known to them your name, and I will continue to make it known, that the love [l]with which you have loved me may be in them, and [m]I in them."

Betrayal and Arrest of Jesus

JOHN 18 [†]When Jesus had spoken these words, [n]he went out with his disciples across [o]the brook Kidron, where there was a garden, which he and his disciples entered. [2]Now Judas, who betrayed him, also knew [p]the place, for [q]Jesus often met there with his disciples. [3][†] [r]So Judas, having procured a band of soldiers and some officers from the chief priests and the Pharisees, went there with lanterns and torches and weapons. [4]Then Jesus, [s]knowing all that would happen to him, came forward and said to them, [t]"Whom do you seek?" [5][†]They answered him, "Jesus of Nazareth." Jesus said to them, "I am he." [1] Judas, who betrayed him, was standing with them. [6][†] [u]When Jesus [2] said to them, "I am he," they drew back and fell to the ground. [7]So he asked them again, [t]"Whom do you seek?" And they said, "Jesus of Nazareth." [8][†]Jesus answered, "I told you that I am he. So, if you seek me, let these men go." [9] [v]This was to fulfill the word that he had spoken: "Of those whom you gave me I have lost not one." [10][†]Then Simon Peter, [w]having a sword, drew it and struck the high priest's servant [3] and cut off his right ear. (The servant’s name was Malchus.) [11][†]So Jesus said to Peter, “Put your sword into its sheath; [x]shall I not drink the cup that the Father has given me?”

Jesus Faces Annas and Caiaphas

[12]So the band of soldiers and their captain and the officers of the Jews [4] arrested Jesus and bound him. [13][†]First they [y]led him to [z]Annas, for he was the father-in-law of [a]Caiaphas, who was high priest that year. [14][†]It was Caiaphas who had advised the Jews [b]that it would be expedient that one man should die for the people.

Peter Denies Jesus

[15][†][c]Simon Peter followed Jesus, and so did another disciple. Since that disciple was known to the high priest, he entered with Jesus into the courtyard of the high priest, [16][d]but Peter stood outside at the door. So the other disciple, who was known to the high priest, went out and spoke to the servant girl who kept watch at the door, and brought Peter in. [17][e]The servant girl at the door said to Peter, “You also are not one of this man’s disciples, are you?” He said, “I am not.” [18]Now the servants [5] and officers had made a charcoal fire, because it was cold, and they were standing and warming themselves. [f]Peter also was with them, standing and warming himself.

The High Priest Questions Jesus

[19][†][g]The high priest then questioned Jesus about his disciples and his teaching. [20][†]Jesus answered him, “I have spoken [h]openly [i]to the world. I have always taught in synagogues and in the temple, where all Jews come together. [j]I have said nothing in secret. [21]Why do you ask me? Ask those who have heard me what I said to them; they know what I said.” [22][†]When he had said these things, one of the officers standing by struck Jesus with his hand, saying, [k]“Is that how you answer the high priest?” [23]Jesus answered him, “If what I said is wrong, bear witness about the wrong; but if what I said is right, why do you strike me?” [24][†] [l]Annas then sent him bound to [l]Caiaphas the high priest.

Peter Denies Jesus Again

[25] [m]Now Simon Peter was standing and warming himself. So they said to him, “You also are not one of his disciples, are you?” He denied it and said, “I am not.” [26][†]One of the servants of the high priest, a relative of [n]the man whose ear Peter had cut off, asked, “Did I not see you [o]in the garden with him?” [27][†]Peter again denied it, and [p]at once a rooster crowed.

Jesus Before Pilate

[28][†] [q]Then they led Jesus [r]from the house of Caiaphas to [s]the governor’s headquarters. [6] It was early morning. They themselves did not enter the governor’s headquarters, [t]so that they would not be defiled, [u]but could eat the Passover. [29][†] [v]So Pilate went outside to them and said, “What accusation do you bring against this man?” [30]They answered him, “If this man were not doing evil, we would not have delivered him over to you.” [31][†]Pilate said to them, [w]“Take him yourselves and judge him by your own law.” The Jews said to him, “It is not lawful for us to put anyone to death.” [32][†] [x]This was to fulfill the word that Jesus had spoken [y]to show by what kind of death he was going to die.

My Kingdom Is Not of This World

[33][†] [z]So Pilate entered his headquarters again and called Jesus and said to him, [a]“Are you the King of the Jews?” [34]Jesus answered, “Do you say this of your own accord, or did others say it to you about me?” [35]Pilate answered, “Am I a Jew? Your own nation and the chief priests have delivered you over to me. What have you done?” [36][†]Jesus answered, [b]“My kingdom [c]is not of this world. If my kingdom were of this world, [d]my servants would have been fighting, that [e]I might not be delivered over to the Jews. But my kingdom is not from the world.” [37][†]Then Pilate said to him, “So you are a king?” Jesus answered, [f]“You say that I am a king. [g]For this purpose I was born and for this purpose [h]I have come into the world—[i]to bear witness to the truth. [j]Everyone who is [k]of the truth [l]listens to my voice.” [38][†]Pilate said to him, “What is truth?”

After he had said this, [m]he went back outside to the Jews and told them, [n]“I find no guilt in him. [39][†] [o]But you have a custom that I should release one man for you at the Passover. So do you want me to release to you the King of the Jews?” [40][†]They cried out again, [p]“Not this man, but Barabbas!” Now Barabbas was a robber. [7]

Jesus Delivered to Be Crucified

JOHN 19 [†]Then Pilate took Jesus and [q]flogged him. [2][†] [r]And the soldiers twisted together a crown of thorns and put it on his head and arrayed him in a purple robe. [3][†]They came up to him, saying, “Hail, King of the Jews!” and struck him with their hands. [4]Pilate went out again and said to them, “See, I am bringing him out to you that you may know that [s]I find no guilt in him.” [5][†]So Jesus came out, wearing [t]the crown of thorns and the purple robe. Pilate said to them, [u]“Behold the man!” [6][†]When the chief priests and the officers saw him, they cried out, “Crucify him, crucify him!” Pilate said to them, [v]“Take him yourselves and crucify him, for [w]I find no guilt in him.” [7][†]The Jews [1] answered him, “We have a law, and [x]according to that law he ought to die because [y]he has made himself the Son of God.” [8][†]When Pilate heard this statement, [z]he was even more afraid. [9][†] [a]He entered his headquarters again and said to Jesus, [b]“Where are you from?” But [c]Jesus gave him no answer. [10]So Pilate said to him, “You will not speak to me? Do you not know that I have authority to release you and authority to crucify you?” [11][†]Jesus answered him, [d]“You would have no authority over me at all unless it had been given you from above. Therefore [e]he who delivered me over to you [f]has the greater sin.”

[12][†]From then on [g]Pilate sought to release him, but the Jews cried out, “If you release this man, you are not Caesar’s friend. [h]Everyone who makes himself a king opposes Caesar.” [13][†]So when Pilate heard these words, he brought Jesus out and sat down on [i]the judgment seat at a place called The Stone Pavement, and in Aramaic [2] Gabbatha. [14][†]Now it was [j]the day of Preparation of the Passover. It was about the sixth hour. [3] He said to the Jews, [k]“Behold your King!” [15][†]They cried out, [l]“Away with him, away with him, crucify him!” Pilate said to them, “Shall I crucify your King?” The chief priests answered, “We have no king but Caesar.” [16][†][m]So he [n]delivered him over to them to be crucified.

The Crucifixion

So they took Jesus, [17][†]and [o]he went out, [p]bearing his own cross, to the place called The Place of a Skull, which in Aramaic is called Golgotha. [18][†][q]There they crucified him, and with him two others, one on either side, and Jesus between them. [19][†]Pilate [r]also wrote an inscription and put it on the cross. It read, “Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews.” [20][†]Many of the Jews read this inscription, for [s]the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city, and it was written in Aramaic, in Latin, and in Greek. [21]So the chief priests of the Jews said to Pilate, “Do not write, ‘The King of the Jews,’ but rather, ‘This man said, I am King of the Jews.’” [22]Pilate answered, [t]“What I have written I have written.”

[23][†][u]When the soldiers had crucified Jesus, they took his garments and divided them into four parts, one part for each soldier; also his tunic. [4] But the tunic was seamless, woven in one piece from top to bottom, [24][†]so they said to one another, “Let us not tear it, but cast lots for it to see whose it shall be.” [v]This was to fulfill the Scripture which says,

> [w]“They divided my garments among them, >   and for my clothing they cast lots.”

So the soldiers did these things, [25][†][x]but standing by the cross of Jesus were his mother and his mother’s sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene. [26][†]When Jesus saw his mother and [y]the disciple whom he loved standing nearby, he said to his mother, [z]“Woman, behold, your son!” [27]Then he said to the disciple, “Behold, your mother!” And from that hour the disciple took her to [a]his own home.

The Death of Jesus

[28][†]After this, Jesus, knowing that all was now [b] finished, said ([v] to fulfill the Scripture), [c]“I thirst.” [29]A jar full of sour wine stood there, [d] so they put a sponge full of the sour wine on a hyssop branch and held it to his mouth. [30][†]When Jesus had received the sour wine, he said, [e]“It is finished,” and he bowed his head and [f] gave up his spirit.

Jesus’ Side Is Pierced

[31][†]Since it was [g] the day of Preparation, and [h] so that the bodies would not remain on the cross on the Sabbath (for that Sabbath was [i] a high day), the Jews asked Pilate that their legs might be broken and that they might be taken away. [32]So the soldiers came and broke the legs of the first, and of the other [j] who had been crucified with him. [33]But when they came to Jesus and saw that he was already dead, they did not break his legs. [34][†]But one of the soldiers pierced his side with a spear, and at once there came out [k] blood and water. [35] [l] He who saw it has borne witness—[m] his testimony is true, and he knows that he is telling the truth—[n] that you also may believe. [36][†] [o] For these things took place that the Scripture might be fulfilled: [p]“Not one of his bones [q] will be broken.” [37][†]And again another Scripture says, [r]“They will look on him whom they have pierced.”

Jesus Is Buried

[38][†] [s] After these things Joseph of Arimathea, who was a disciple of Jesus, but secretly [t] for fear of the Jews, asked Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus, and Pilate gave him permission. So he came and took away his body. [39] [u] Nicodemus also, who earlier had come to Jesus [5] by night, came [v] bringing a mixture of [w] myrrh and aloes, about seventy-five pounds [6] in weight. [40]So they took the body of Jesus and [x] bound it in [y] linen cloths with the spices, as is the burial custom of the Jews. [41][†]Now in the place where he was crucified there was a [z] garden, and [a] in the garden a new tomb [b] in which no one had yet been laid. [42][†]So because of the Jewish [c] day of Preparation, [d] since the tomb was close at hand, they laid Jesus there.

The Resurrection

JOHN 20 [†] [e] Now on the first day of the week Mary Magdalene came to the tomb early, while it was still dark, and saw that [f] the stone had been taken away from the tomb. [2][†]So she ran and went to Simon Peter and the other disciple, [g] the one whom Jesus loved, and said to them, “They have taken the Lord out of the tomb, and [h] we do not know where they have laid him.” [3] [i] So Peter went out with the other disciple, and they were going toward the tomb. [4]Both of them were running together, but the other disciple outran Peter and reached the tomb first. [5][†]And stooping to look in, he saw [j] the linen cloths lying there, but he did not go in. [6][†]Then Simon Peter came, following him, and went into the tomb. He saw the linen cloths lying there, [7][†]and [k] the face cloth, which had been on Jesus’ [1] head, not lying with the linen cloths but folded up in a place by itself. [8][†]Then the other disciple, [l] who had reached the tomb first, also went in, and he saw and believed; [9]for as yet [m] they did not understand the Scripture, [n] that he must rise from the dead. [10]Then the disciples went back to their homes.

Jesus Appears to Mary Magdalene

[11][†]But Mary stood weeping outside the tomb, and as she wept she stooped to look into the tomb. [12]And [o] she saw [p] two angels in white, sitting where the body of Jesus had lain, one at the head and one at the feet. [13]They said to her, [q] “Woman, why are you weeping?” She said to them, [r] “They have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid him.” [14]Having said this, she turned around and [s] saw Jesus standing, [t] but she did not know that it was Jesus. [15][†]Jesus said to her, [u] “Woman, why are you weeping? [v] Whom are you seeking?” Supposing him to be [w] the gardener, she said to him, “Sir, if you have carried him away, tell me where you have laid him, and I will take him away.” [16][†]Jesus said to her, “Mary.” She turned and said to him in Aramaic, [2] [x] “Rabboni!” (which means Teacher). [17][†]Jesus said to her, “Do not cling to me, for I have not yet ascended to the Father; but go to [y] my brothers and say to them, [z] ‘I am ascending to my Father and your Father, to [a] my God and your God.’” [18]Mary Magdalene

[b] went and announced to the disciples, “I have seen the Lord”—and that he had said these things to her.

Jesus Appears to the Disciples

[19][†] [c] On the evening [d] of that day, the first day of the week, [e] the doors being locked where the disciples were [f] for fear of the Jews, [3] Jesus came and stood among them and said to them, [g] “Peace be with you.” [20]When he had said this, [h] he showed them his hands and his side. Then [i] the disciples were glad when they saw the Lord. [21][†]Jesus said to them again, “Peace be with you. As [j] the Father has sent me, [k] even so I am sending you.” [22]And when he had said this, he [l] breathed on them and said to them, [m] “Receive the Holy Spirit. [23][†] [n] If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven them; if you withhold forgiveness from any, it is withheld.”

Jesus and Thomas

[24]Now [o] Thomas, one of the Twelve, called the Twin, [4] was not with them when Jesus came. [25][†]So the other disciples told him, “We have seen the Lord.” But he said to them, [p] “Unless I see in his hands the mark of the nails, and place my finger into the mark of the nails, and place my hand into his side, I will never believe.”

[26][†]Eight days later, his disciples were inside again, and Thomas was with them. [q] Although the doors were locked, Jesus came and stood among them and said, [q] “Peace be with you.” [27]Then he said to Thomas, [r] “Put your finger here, and see my hands; and put out your hand, and place it in my side. Do not disbelieve, but believe.” [28][†]Thomas answered him, [s] “My Lord and my God!” [29][†]Jesus said to him, “Have you believed because you have seen me? [t] Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed.”

The Purpose of This Book

[30][†] [u] Now Jesus did many other signs [v] in the presence of the disciples, which are not written in this book; [31] [w] but these are written so that you may [x]believe that Jesus is the Christ, [y]the Son of God, and that by believing [z]you may have life [a]in his name.

Jesus Appears to Seven Disciples

JOHN 21 [†]After this Jesus [b]revealed himself [c]again to the disciples by [d]the Sea of Tiberias, and he revealed himself in this way. [2][†]Simon Peter, [e]Thomas (called the Twin), Nathanael of [f]Cana in Galilee, [g]the sons of Zebedee, and two others of his disciples were together. [3][†]Simon Peter said to them, “I am going fishing.” They said to him, “We will go with you.” They went out and got into the boat, but [h]that night they caught nothing.

[4]Just as day was breaking, Jesus stood on the shore; yet the disciples [i]did not know that it was Jesus. [5][j]Jesus said to them, “Children, do you have any fish?” They answered him, “No.” [6][k]He said to them, “Cast the net on the right side of the boat, and you will find some.” So they cast it, and now they were not able to haul it in, because of the quantity of fish. [7][†]That disciple [l]whom Jesus loved therefore said to Peter, “It is the Lord!” When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, [m]he put on his outer garment, for he was [n]stripped for work, and [o]threw himself into the sea. [8]The other disciples came in the boat, dragging the net full of fish, for they were not far from the land, but about a hundred yards [1] off.

[9][†]When they got out on land, they saw a charcoal fire in place, with fish laid out on it, and bread. [10]Jesus said to them, “Bring some of the fish that you have just caught.” [11][†]So Simon Peter went aboard and hauled the net ashore, full of large fish, 153 of them. And although there were so many, the net was not torn. [12]Jesus said to them, [p]“Come and [q]have breakfast.” Now [r]none of the disciples dared ask him, “Who are you?” They knew it was the Lord. [13]Jesus came and [s]took the bread and gave it to them, and so with the fish. [14][t]This was now the third time that Jesus was revealed to the disciples after he was raised from the dead.

Jesus and Peter

[15][†]When they had [u]finished breakfast, Jesus said to Simon Peter, [v]“Simon, [w]son of John, [x]do you love me more than these?” He said to him, “Yes, Lord; you know that I love you.” He said to him, “Feed [y] my lambs.” 16He said to him a second time, “Simon, son of John, do you love me?” He said to him, “Yes, Lord; you know that I love you.” He said to him, [z] “Tend [y] my sheep.” 17He said to him the third time, “Simon, son of John, do you love me?” Peter was grieved because he said to him [a] the third time, “Do you love me?” and he said to him, “Lord, [b] you know everything; you know that I love you.” Jesus said to him, “Feed [c] my sheep.

18[†] [d] Truly, truly, I say to you, when you were young, [e] you used to dress yourself and walk wherever you wanted, but when you are old, you will stretch out your hands, and another will dress you and carry you where you do not want to go.” 19(This he said to show [f] by what kind of death he was to glorify God.) And after saying this he said to him, [g] “Follow me.”

Jesus and the Beloved Apostle

20Peter turned and saw [h] the disciple whom Jesus loved following them, [i] the one who also had leaned back against him during the supper and had said, “Lord, who is it that is going to betray you?” 21When Peter saw him, he said to Jesus, “Lord, what about this man?” 22Jesus said to him, “If it is my will that he remain [j] until [k] I come, what is that to you? [l] You follow me!” 23So the saying spread abroad among [m] the brothers [2] that this disciple was not to die; yet Jesus did not say to him that he was not to die, but, “If it is my will that he remain until I come, what is that to you?”

24[†]This is the disciple [n] who is bearing witness about these things, and who has written these things, and [o] we know [p] that his testimony is true.

25[†]Now [q] there are also many other things that Jesus did. Were every one of them to be written, I suppose that [r] the world itself could not contain the books that would be written.

Study Notes for John

1:1–18 Prologue: The Incarnate Word. John presents Jesus as the eternal, preexistent, and now incarnate Word (vv. 1, 14). Jesus is the one-of-a-kind Son of God the Father, which means that he is God (vv. 1, 18). John says that God's revelation and redemption in and through Jesus are the highest points in the history of salvation. This history includes God's giving of the law through Moses (v. 17), his dwelling among his people in the tabernacle and the temple (v. 14), and the sending of John the Baptist (vv. 6–8, 15). The prologue also introduces many of the major themes developed later in the Gospel: Jesus as the life (v. 4), the light (vv. 5–9), and the truth (vv. 14, 16–17); believers as God's children (vv. 12–13); and the world's rejection of Jesus (vv. 10–11).

FACT

All things were made through him. John begins his Gospel in the same way that Genesis begins: with creation (1:1–5; Gen. 1:1). He reveals that Jesus, God's Son, existed eternally with God the Father, and the whole creation was made through him (Col. 1:15–16; compare 1 Cor. 8:6).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:1 In the beginning was the Word echoes Gen. 1:1. John identifies this Word as Jesus (John 1:14). Here he highlights Jesus' existence throughout eternity with God. "The Word" conveys the idea of divine self-expression or speech. This idea occurs often in the OT. God's Word is effective: God speaks, and things come into being (Gen. 1:3; Ps. 33:6; Isa. 55:10–11). By speech he relates personally to his people (e.g., Gen. 15:1). And the Word was with God indicates interpersonal relationship "with" God. And the Word was God affirms that this Word was also in essence the same God who created the universe. Some have claimed that "the Word was God" merely identifies Jesus as a god rather than identifying Jesus as God. However, in Greek grammar, the lack of an article does not necessarily indicate indefiniteness ("a god"). The context must determine the meaning, and the context clearly indicates that "the Word" is the one true God (see also John 1:6, 12, 13, 18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:3 made through him. God the Father did his work of creation through the activity of the Son (see Col. 1:16). This verse disproves any suggestion that the Word (the Son; John 1:14) was created.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:4–5 The references to life, light, and darkness draw on language found in Genesis (compare Gen. 1:3–5, 14–18, 20–31; 2:7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:6–8 witness. John speaks of the first of several witnesses who bear testimony concerning Jesus (see 5:31–47; and chart).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:11 John moves from his own things (see ESV footnote)—that is, creation—to his own people, the Jews. The Jewish rejection of the Messiah is one of the book's major emphases (see especially 12:37–40).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:12–13 Receive him means welcoming and submitting to Jesus in a personal relationship. "Believed in" means personal trust. His name refers to all that is true about Jesus. Born, not of blood . . . , but of God makes clear that neither physical birth nor ethnic background nor human effort can make people children of God. Only God's supernatural work can do that (8:41–47). This applies to both Gentiles and Jews (11:51–52). See also 3:3–8. to all . . . who believed . . . he gave the right to become children of God. Only through believing in Jesus can one become a member of God's family.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:14 The Word (see v. 1) became flesh does not mean the Word ceased being God. Rather, the Word, who was God, also took on humanity (see Phil. 2:6–7). He lived as God and man at the same time. dwelt among us. Literally, "pitched his tent," a reminder of how God resided among the Israelites in the tabernacle (see Ex. 25:8–9) and later in the temple. Now God takes up residence among his people in the incarnate Word, Jesus Christ. The OT refers to God's glory when he manifests his presence in the tabernacle or the temple (e.g., Ex. 33:22; Num. 14:10; Deut. 5:22). the only Son from the Father. Jesus is the "Son of God," not in the sense of being created or born (see John 1:3) but in the sense of being a Son who shares all his Father's attributes, and in the sense of having a Father-Son relationship with God the Father. The Greek for "only" means "one of a kind, unique" (compare Gen. 22:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:15 bore witness. Jesus speaks of several witnesses who bear testimony concerning him (see chart).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:16–17 In the law, God graciously revealed his character and the things he required of his people. Jesus, however, is the final, definitive revelation of God's grace and truth.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:18 No one has ever seen God, that is, in a full and complete way (see 6:46). the only God. Some ancient manuscripts say "the only Son" here (see ESV footnote); the earliest manuscripts say "the only God." John refers here to two different persons as "God," as he did in 1:1. Thus John concludes the prologue by emphasizing what he taught in v. 1: Jesus is God, and he has revealed and explained God to humanity.

Jesus Is God: Specific Examples Where Greek Theos ("God") Is Applied to Jesus

John 1:1	In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.
John 1:18	No one has ever seen God; the only God, who is at the Father's side, he has made him known.
John 20:28	Thomas answered him, "My Lord and my God!"
Rom. 9:5	To them belong the patriarchs, and from their race, according to the flesh, is the Christ who is God over all, blessed forever. Amen.
Titus 2:13	. . . waiting for our blessed hope, the appearing of the glory of our great God and Savior Jesus Christ . . .
Heb. 1:8	But of the Son he says, "Your throne, O God, is forever and ever, the scepter of uprightness is the scepter of your kingdom."
2 Pet. 1:1	To those who have obtained a faith of equal standing with ours by the righteousness of our God and Savior Jesus Christ . . .

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:19–12:50 Signs of the Messiah, with Teaching about Life in Him. The first half of John's Gospel features Jesus' demonstration of his messianic identity through several selected "signs" (see note on 2:11). The section ends with a reference to the Jewish nation's rejection of the Messiah (12:36b–37).

The First Week of Jesus' Ministry

Day 1	John the Baptist's witness concerning Jesus	1:19–28
Day 2	John the Baptist's encounter with Jesus	1:29–34
Day 3	John the Baptist's referral of disciples to Jesus	1:35–39
Day 4	Andrew's introduction of his brother Peter to Jesus	1:40–42
Day 5	The recruitment of Philip and Nathanael	1:43–51
Day 6

Day 7	The wedding at Cana	2:1–11

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:19–2:11 These verses tell of the first week of Jesus' ministry. He is hailed by John the Baptist as "God's lamb" (1:29, 36), is followed by his first disciples (1:37–51), and performs his first miraculous "sign" (see Introduction: Theme and Purpose), turning water into wine at the wedding at Cana (2:1–11).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:19 The Jews is an expression John often uses to refer to hostile Jewish opponents of Jesus. The phrase does not mean all Jews, for Jesus, John the Baptist, and the apostles were also Jews. See ESV footnote on 5:10, etc. Jerusalem. See Jerusalem in the Time of Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:20–21 John the Baptist denies being the Christ or Elijah. Elijah, who never died (2 Kings 2:11), was expected to return in the end times (Mal. 4:5) to "restore all things" (Matt. 17:11). John the Baptist did resemble Elijah in his rugged lifestyle (Matt. 3:4; compare 2 Kings 1:8). And Jesus, with his deeper understanding of OT prophecy, saw John as fulfilling the prophecy about Elijah (see Matt. 11:14). John also denied being the Prophet, whose coming was predicted by Moses in Deut. 18:15, 18 (see Acts 3:22) and was expected in Jesus' day (see John 6:14; 7:40–41; and notes).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:23 the voice of one crying out in the wilderness. See Isa. 40:3; compare Matt. 3:3; Mark 1:3; Luke 3:4. This messenger was to prepare the way for the Lord to come to his people.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:24 Pharisees. A small but influential group of Jews who emphasized observance of the law and their own traditions as the path to righteousness. Many Pharisees opposed Jesus, but some followed him (3:1–5; 7:50; 19:38–40). See note on Matt. 3:7.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:28 John was baptizing. Compare Luke 3:3. John's baptism was an outward sign reflecting inward repentance (see Matt. 3:6; compare later Christian baptisms at Matt. 28:19; Rom. 6:3; 1 Pet. 3:21). The Bethany across (east of) the Jordan (see John 3:26; 10:40) is different from Lazarus's village near Jerusalem.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:29 Jesus, by his sacrifice, fulfills the symbolism of the Passover Lamb and other OT sacrifices (Lev. 1:1–5:19; 14:25; 1 Cor. 5:7; Heb. 10:1–14; Rev. 5:6–13). takes away the sin of the world. See Heb. 2:17; 1 John 4:10; and notes on 1 Pet. 2:24; 3:18.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:31 I myself did not know him. John probably means he did not know that Jesus was the Messiah until he saw the sign mentioned in vv. 32–33.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:32–34 The Spirit did not merely descend on Jesus. He remained on him, which was a sign of Jesus' divine anointing as Messiah (Isa. 11:2; 61:1; see Luke 4:18). See note on John 1:41.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:36 Lamb of God. See note on v. 29.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:40 One of the two . . . was Andrew. The name of the other disciple is not stated; most likely he was John, the author of this Gospel.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:41 The terms Messiah (Hebrew) and Christ (Greek) both mean "anointed." In the NT and early Judaism, "Messiah" combines many OT expectations about an "anointed one" who would lead, teach, and save God's people (see, e.g., 2 Sam. 7:5–16; Ps. 110:1–4; Isa. 9:6–7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:42 Cephas is an Aramaic word meaning "rock" (see Matt. 16:16–18). In the Bible, God frequently changes people's names to indicate their special calling; see Gen. 17:5; 32:28.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:43 Galilee. The region west of the Jordan and the Sea of Galilee and north of Samaria.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:44 Bethsaida was just northeast of where the Jordan flows into the Sea of Galilee from the north.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:45 Nathanael (see also 21:2) may be the personal name of Bartholomew (see Matt. 10:3; Mark 3:18; Luke 6:14). The Law and . . . the prophets commonly referred to the entire OT (e.g., Matt. 5:17).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:46 Nazareth. Nazareth was a town of no more than 2,000 people. See note on Luke 1:26.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:48 I saw you. Jesus displays supernatural knowledge, thus confirming his identity as the Messiah. The fig tree often is a symbol for Israel. See note on Mark 11:13–14. Jesus sees Nathanael as an honest Jew.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:49 Son of God designates Jesus as the Messiah predicted in the OT (2 Sam. 7:14; Ps. 2:7; see note on John 1:14). King of Israel also is an OT title for the Messiah (Zeph. 3:15).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:51 Truly, truly, I say to you is a way of emphasizing the authoritative nature of what Jesus says. The expression is found 25 times in John's Gospel. see heaven opened, and the angels of God ascending and descending. Jesus will be a greater way of access to God than the ladder on which angels traveled between God and Jacob (Gen. 28:12). The Son of Man is a messianic title referring back to the mysterious human-divine figure in Dan. 7:13–14. God gives him rule over all the nations of the earth forever (see Matt. 26:64).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:1 This is the third day—that is, two days after Jesus met Nathanael (1:43–51).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:3 The wedding party's running out of wine may symbolize the spiritual drought of first-century Judaism. Wine (but never drunkenness) was a sign of joy and God's blessing (Prov. 3:10; Matt. 26:29).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:4 My hour has not yet come. In John, Jesus' "hour" is the time of his crucifixion, when his saving work is completed (see 7:30; 8:20; 12:23, 27; 13:1; 17:1). Because of people's misconceptions about the coming Messiah, Jesus chooses not to reveal himself at this point in his ministry. Still, he performs numerous messianic "signs" (see note on 2:11).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:11 signs. Miracles (see vv. 6–10; 4:47–50; 6:13; 9:1–7) that point to Jesus' identity as Messiah and Son of God and lead unbelievers to faith. The statement that this was the first of his signs indicates that Jesus did not do any miracles during his childhood or early adulthood but lived as an ordinary man with his divine identity hidden. and manifested his glory. This miracle showed the glory of Jesus as the sovereign Creator and ruler of the universe and also as the merciful Provider for his people's needs (compare 1:14).

FACT

The master of the feast (2:9) had an important job. He was both the head server and master of ceremonies. His primary responsibility was making sure that the guests had enough to eat and drink. If he did a good job, he might be awarded a wreath at the end of the festivities.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:12 went down. Cana was in the hill country. Capernaum was at the Sea of Galilee, about 16 miles (26 km) northeast of Cana. Capernaum served as Jesus' headquarters after John the Baptist's imprisonment (Matt. 4:12–13; Luke 4:28–31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:13–22 Matthew, Mark, and Luke record a second clearing of the temple, just prior to the crucifixion (see Mark 11:15–19 and parallels). By clearing the temple, Jesus displays prophetic passion for God's house (John 2:17; compare Ps. 69:9). He also foreshadows judgment on the Jewish leaders who had allowed worship to deteriorate into commerce (see note on John 2:14).

Seven Signs Pointing to Jesus as the Messiah

The first half of John's Gospel shows that Jesus is the Messiah by way of seven signs (see 20:30–31):

Changing water into wine	2:1–11
Healing the official's son	4:46–54
Healing the invalid	5:1–15
Feeding the multitude	6:5–13
Walking on the water*	6:16–21
Healing the man born blind	9:1–7
Raising Lazarus	11:1–44

*John does not explicitly identify this event as a sign.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:13 This is the first of John’s references to the Jewish Passover (see 6:4; 11:55; 12:1; compare Ex. 12:1–28). John also mentions Jesus’ activities at an unnamed Jewish festival in John 5:1 (possibly Tabernacles), at the Feast of Tabernacles (or Booths) in 7:2, and at the Feast of Dedication (or Hanukkah) in 10:22. went up. Jerusalem was on a higher elevation than Galilee.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:14 Temple here means the area surrounding the temple itself, including the Court of the Gentiles. By selling oxen, sheep, and pigeons, the merchants and the money-changers enabled travelers to Jerusalem to buy their sacrificial animals on-site. By conducting their business in the temple grounds, however, they disrupted the worship of non-Jewish God-fearers (see note on 12:20).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:19 I will raise it up implies that Jesus himself had a part in raising himself from the dead (see note on 10:17). Other verses mention that the Father and the Holy Spirit were also involved in the resurrection (see 11:25; Acts 2:24; Rom. 6:4; Gal. 1:1; also Rom. 1:4; 8:11).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:20 forty-six years. Herod the Great’s construction of the temple building (see note on v. 14) lasted from 20/19 to 18/17 B.C. The larger temple area was not finished until A.D. 66. Some scholars favor an alternative translation: “This temple was built forty-six years ago” (see ESV footnote), which would date this statement in A.D. 29/30, since there was no year “0.”

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:23–25 Jesus knew all people, which affirms his deity (see 1:48).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:1 Ruler of the Jews refers to a member of the Sanhedrin, the court of the Jews.

FACT

The phrase born-again Christian originally comes from 3:1–8. Jesus uses the image of a second birth to explain what happens to believers at conversion. The Holy Spirit cleanses them from sin and makes them new in Christ.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:2 By night symbolizes spiritual darkness elsewhere in John (9:4; 11:10; 13:30; but not 21:3). Rabbi (meaning “teacher”) implies respect, especially since Jesus had no formal rabbinic training (see 7:15).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:3–6 Born of water and the Spirit refers to spiritual birth, which cleanses from sin and brings spiritual transformation. The background for “water” is probably Ezek. 36:25–27. born again. See John 1:12–13; 8:39–58; 11:51–52. The kingdom of God, a major topic in the other Gospels, is mentioned in John only in 3:3, 5 (compare 18:36).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:7–8 The change from singular to plural in I said to you [singular], “You [plural] must be born again,” probably is meant to include Nicodemus and his fellow Sanhedrin members (compare “we” in v. 2). The plural also carries broader application to all people: everyone “must be born again.” Wind and Spirit translate the same Greek and Hebrew words.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:10 See Deut. 30:6; Jer. 31:33; and Ezek. 36:26.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:11–12 Earthly things probably refers to Jesus’ teaching about the new birth, which takes place in a person’s life on earth. You is plural in the second instance in v. 11 and all four times in v. 12.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:13 Ascended into heaven probably means “entered into God’s heavenly council and remained there.” When Jesus descended from heaven he did not lose all fellowship with the Father. Rather, the focus of his activity became his earthly life.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:14 lifted up. The first of three “lifted up” sayings in John (see also 8:28; 12:32). All three have a double meaning (see notes on 4:10; 8:24; 19:19), referring to both Jesus’ death and his resurrection and exaltation. serpent in the wilderness. See Num. 21:9.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:16 For connects to v. 15 and explains what happened to make it possible that someone can “have eternal life” (v. 15). God so loved the world. God’s love for “the world” made it possible for “whoever” (v. 15) believes in Christ, not just Jews alone, to have eternal life. gave his only Son. God sent Jesus to earth as a man (v. 17) to suffer and die and thereby bear the penalty for sins (see note on 1 John 2:2; see Rom. 3:25). On "only Son," see note on John 1:14. whoever believes in him. That is, whoever personally trusts in him (see note on 11:25). Not perish means not perish in eternal judgment. eternal life. The life of abundant joy and blessing in the presence of God forever, which a believer begins to experience during earthly life.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:17 send his Son. See also vv. 34–36; 5:19–26; 6:40; 8:35–36; 14:13; 17:1. It was a common idea in Jewish thought that the messenger is like the sender himself (see 13:20). Being sent implies that the message is given by the sender. This verse refers to Christ's first coming. He will return to judge the world at his second coming (5:27–29).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:18 Those who do not believe in Christ do not have a neutral standing before God. They stand condemned already. This refutes the idea that a sincere person following any religion can have eternal life (see 14:6; Acts 4:12; 1 Tim. 2:5–6).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:19–21 loved the darkness. See 1:5, 10–11.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:22 Jesus was baptizing, that is, overseeing his disciples (see 4:2) as they continued administering John's baptism of repentance (see note on 1:28).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:28 sent before. See Mal. 3:1; Matt. 11:10; Mark 1:2; and Luke 7:27.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:29 John the Baptist's reference to Jesus as the bridegroom (see Matt. 9:15 and parallels; see Eph. 5:25–27; Rev. 19:7–8) identifies Jesus as Israel's long-awaited King and Messiah. In the OT, Israel is frequently depicted as God's "bride" (e.g., Isa. 62:4–5; Jer. 2:2; Hos. 2:16–20). John the Baptist's role is that of the bridegroom's friend, who selflessly rejoices with the groom (see John 1:6–9, 15, 19–36).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:32–33 What he has seen and heard refers to Jesus' eternal existence in heaven and his knowledge of God. No one receives his testimony likely means that very few people (at least to that point) had received it (but some had: whoever receives). sets his seal. See note on 6:27.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:34 See 1:32–33. The Father gives Jesus the Spirit without measure. All true believers are empowered by the Spirit to some degree, but Jesus had an unlimited anointing.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:35 The Father . . . has given all things into his hand indicates the supreme authority of the Father within the Trinity. He gives authority over the whole created universe to the Son (1:3; 3:16, 17; 5:22; 6:38; 14:16, 28; Acts 2:33; 1 Cor. 15:28; Heb. 1:2–3; 1 Pet. 3:22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:36 has eternal life. See note on v. 16. the wrath of God remains on him. Compare vv. 19–21; Rom. 1:18–25.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:4 Jesus had to pass this way because it was the shortest route. The words may also indicate that God directed his journey (see 3:7, 14, 30; 9:4; 10:16; 12:34; 20:9). Through Samaria was the usual route taken by travelers from Judea to Galilee. However, although the OT does not teach this, some Jews thought the Samaritans were unclean; to avoid defilement, they bypassed Samaria by crossing the Jordan and traveling on the east side of the river. The Samaritans were partly Jewish and partly Gentile and were disdained by both Jews and Gentiles (see Luke 10:33; 17:16; John 8:48). Second Kings 17:24–31 describes how the king of Assyria brought foreign people to settle in Samaria after he defeated it in 722 B.C. Over time they intermarried with Jews who remained in the area. The Samaritans had their own version of the Pentateuch, their own temple on Mount Gerizim, and their own version of Israelite history. See note on John 4:20–21. Tensions often ran high between Jews and Samaritans.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:5 The village of Sychar was probably on the slope of Mount Ebal near the OT city of Shechem. the field that Jacob had given to his son Joseph. See Gen. 33:18–19; 48:21–22; Ex. 13:19; Josh. 24:32.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:6 That Jesus was wearied . . . from his journey shows that he was fully human as well as fully God (see also 11:35; 19:28). The sixth hour was noon. It would have been hot and time to rest. Travelers would be thirsty. Normally, women would come to draw water in the morning or evening when it was cooler (Gen. 24:11). This woman comes when no one else would be at the well.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:7 Jesus took the initiative in speaking to a Samaritan woman—an astonishing break with his culture.

Physical Items Used by Jesus to Teach Spiritual Truths

Though often misunderstood by Jesus' hearers, these tangible metaphors explain the gospel.

Physical Item	Spiritual Truth	References
Light	true knowledge and presence of God; moral purity	1:4–5, 7–9; 3:19–21; 8:12; 9:5; 11:9–10; 12:35–36, 46; see 1 John 2:8–10
Jerusalem temple	Christ's physical body	2:19–22
Physical birth	spiritual birth: being "born again"	1:13; 3:3–8; see 6:63; 1 John 3:9; 4:7; 5:1, 18
Wind	the Holy Spirit	3:8
Water	the Holy Spirit within believers	4:7–15; 7:37–39; see 1 John 5:6, 8
Food	doing the will of God	4:31–34
Bread	Jesus himself, his life and death	6:32–51, 58
Flesh and blood	Jesus' death	6:53–56; see 1 John 1:7; 5:6, 8
Door	path to eternal life in Jesus	10:1–9
Shepherd	Jesus' self-sacrifice and care for his people	10:11–18, 26–28; 21:15–17
Vine	Jesus in relationship to his followers	15:1–11
Cup	God's wrath toward sin	18:11
Breath	the Holy Spirit coming upon the disciples	20:22

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:10 Jesus' words about living water again involve double meaning (see notes on 3:14; 8:24; 19:19). Literally, the phrase refers to fresh spring water (Gen. 26:19). John 7:38–39 identifies this "living water" as the Holy Spirit dwelling within a believer (compare Jer. 2:13).

FACT

The Samaritans. When Israel fell to Assyria in 722 B.C., many of the people were taken into exile but others remained in the land. Assyria brought people from other nations to repopulate Israel, and many of the remaining Israelites intermarried with these Gentiles. In NT times, their descendants were despised, but Jesus brought them the good news of salvation (4:1–30).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:11 The well today is still more than 100 feet (31 m) deep and was probably deeper at that time.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:12 our father Jacob. The Samaritans still thought of themselves as true descendants of Jacob.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:14 The water that I will give him is the "living water" of v. 10 (see note). Will become in him a spring of water welling up to eternal life recalls Isa. 12:3 (see also Isa. 44:3; 55:1–3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:15 The woman takes Jesus literally and misunderstands him (see 3:4; 6:52).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:18 the one you now have is not your husband. Merely living together does not constitute marriage. Marriage requires official sanction and public ceremony at which a man and woman commit to the marriage. The community then recognizes their marriage (see 2:1; also Song 3:11; Mal. 2:14; Matt. 9:15).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:20–21 Our fathers worshiped on this mountain. From Mount Gerizim (Deut. 11:29; 27:12), the blessings for keeping the covenant were announced. The Samaritans' version of Deut. 27:4 (see note on John 4:4) named Mount Gerizim (rather than Ebal) as the place for the altar. "Fathers" may have included Abraham (Gen. 12:7) and Jacob (Gen. 33:18–20), who built altars in that region.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:21 neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem will you worship the Father. Jesus opens a new age in which God's people everywhere will be the new temple where he dwells (see 1 Cor. 3:16–17; Eph. 2:19–22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:22 You is plural, implying "You Samaritans." In saying we worship what we know Jesus identifies himself as a Jew. salvation is from the Jews. The whole OT, which taught about salvation, was from the Jewish people, and the Messiah himself came from the Jews.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:24 God is spirit. God is not made of physical matter. He is present everywhere. He is not seen (see 3:6, 8), yet he is so powerful he brought the universe into existence (see 1:1–3, 10; 17:5).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:25–26 I . . . am he. Jesus does not identify himself directly among Jews as the Messiah (see note on 1:41) since most would then think he had come to bring instant political deliverance.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:32–34 food to eat. See Deut. 8:3; Matt. 4:4; Luke 4:4. work. See note on John 14:12.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:35 Jesus' coming has already ushered in the end-time harvest. A "crop" of believers is now being gathered into God's kingdom. The immediate reference may be to the Samaritans who are going to believe in Jesus (vv. 39–42).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:36 This statement recalls Amos 9:13, which also describes the abundance of the new age.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:37–38 The others who have labored are Jesus and his predecessors, especially John the Baptist and his followers. In a broader sense this includes all the OT writers and prophets. Jesus' followers benefit from their work and will bring in the harvest.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:41–42 Savior of the world. The Samaritans' response to Jesus marks the first indication of the universal scope of his saving mission (compare 10:16; 11:51–52; Acts 1:8).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:43–54 The healing of the official's son resembles the healing of the Gentile centurion's servant in Matt. 8:5–13 and Luke 7:2–10, but it is not the same incident.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:43 It is at least 49 miles (79 km) by road from Sychar to Cana (v. 46). This journey would have taken two or three days on foot.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:44 For . . . a prophet has no honor. The wording of the proverb is different in Matt. 13:57, Mark 6:4, and Luke 4:24, and the application there is also different.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:46 The official was probably a Gentile centurion (see note on Matt. 8:5–7). Jesus brings the gospel to a respected Jewish teacher (John 3:1–21), an outcast Samaritan woman (4:1–42), and now an official working for the Roman government (4:46–54). The gospel is meant for everyone in the world.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:48 Unless you see signs and wonders you will not believe does not mean one should view "signs" negatively. To the contrary, Jesus' miracles are one of the primary means God uses to bring people to faith in him (2:11, 23; 3:2; 4:53–54; 6:2, 14; 7:31; 11:47–48; 12:11, 18; 20:31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:54 second sign. That is, in John's series. See v. 46; 2:11. Jesus had also performed signs in Jerusalem (see 2:23; 3:2; 4:45).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:1–10:42 Chapters 5–10 tell of escalating conflict between Jesus and the Jewish authorities. As Jesus defends his ministry, he cites several major witnesses on his behalf.

FACT

Jesus and God. In 5:17–29, Jesus claims to be equal with God (vv. 17–19). He claims to have the ability to give life (v. 21) and to judge (v. 22), and the right to be worshiped (v. 23). His opponents denied these claims, but believers recognize them to be true.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:1 It is not known what feast of the Jews refers to.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:2 Bethesda means "house of mercy."

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:3 See ESV footnote. The material about an angel of the Lord stirring the water and bringing healing appears in some early manuscripts, but not the earliest. Thus v. 4 should not be considered part of Scripture. Still, v. 7 (which is in all manuscripts) shows that people believed something like what v. 4 reports.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:5 He had been an invalid for thirty-eight years, longer than many people lived at that time.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:6 Knew probably indicates Jesus' divine knowledge of the man's situation (compare 1:48; 4:18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:7 When the water is stirred up indicates that people thought that at least the first person entering the water would be healed.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:10 It is the Sabbath. Nothing in the OT specifically prohibited carrying one's bedroll on the Sabbath day (see Ex. 20:8–11). The man violated later Jewish traditions.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:14 temple. That is, the larger temple complex rather than the actual building (see note on 2:14). Sin no more may imply that the man's suffering was due to sin, though not all suffering is due to personal sin (see note on 9:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:16 Jesus' Jewish opponents put their merely human religious tradition above genuine love and compassion for others (contrast Lev. 19:18 and Jesus' example).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:17 My Father suggests a closer relationship with God than other people had (see 20:17). "My Father is working until now, and I am working" is clearly a claim to deity, as Jesus' hearers understood (5:18). Genesis 2:2–3 teaches that God rested on the seventh day of creation. Jewish rabbis agreed that God continually upholds the universe, yet without breaking the Sabbath. (See also John 7:22–23.)

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:19 the Son can do nothing of his own accord. God the Father and God the Son have different roles. The Son is subject to the Father in everything he does, yet this does not deny their equality. See notes on vv. 21, 22, 23. Only what he sees the Father doing may mean that Jesus had a unique ability to see the Father's work in everyday events.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:20 The Father shows Jesus all that he himself is doing. Jesus sees God's hand and purpose in every event in this world. The greater works include the raising of the dead (11:1–45), Jesus' own death and resurrection (chs. 18–20), and the final resurrection and judgment (5:27–30).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:21 Jesus' statement that the Son also gives life to whom he will is another claim to deity. It shows that Jesus does what only God can do: raise the dead and give life. This "life" is both the new "life" now given to believers (v. 24; 11:25–26; 2 Cor. 5:17) and the resurrection of the body at Christ's second coming (1 Cor. 15:42–57; 1 Thess. 4:13–18; see Dan. 12:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:22 The Father . . . has given all judgment to the Son. Another claim to deity, since only God has the right to render final judgment (e.g., Gen. 18:25; Judg. 11:27).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:23 The statement that all may honor the Son, just as they honor the Father establishes Jesus' right to be worshiped. It is a claim to deity. Whoever does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent him. Religions that consider Jesus merely a great prophet do not represent the truth about God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:24 has eternal life. See note on 3:36.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:25 now here. Jesus emphasizes the present reality of eternal life. the dead. The spiritually dead who hear and believe.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:26 God the Father was never created and was never given his life by anyone else. He has life in himself, so he can give that life to others. The Son also has life in himself and can call the dead to life. See 1:4; see also 3:15–16; 11:25; and note on 14:6.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:27 Son of Man echoes Dan. 7:13; see note on John 1:51.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:28–29 Jesus reaffirms the resurrection on the last day. Compare Dan. 12:2. Those who have done good . . . those who have done evil does not imply that people's deeds in this life are the basis on which judgment is decided (see John 3:16; 5:24–25). Instead, good works flow from true faith (see Eph. 2:9–10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:30 nothing on my own. See notes on vv. 21, 22, 23.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:31–47 Jesus speaks of several witnesses who bear testimony concerning him (see chart).

Witnesses to Jesus

1. John the Baptist	5:32–36; see 1:7–8, 15, 19, 32–34; 3:26
2. Jesus' own works	5:36; see 10:25, 32, 37–38; 15:24
3. God the Father	5:37–38; 8:18
4. The Scriptures, especially by Moses	5:39, 45–47
5. Jesus himself	3:11, 32; 8:14, 18; 18:37
6. The Spirit	14:26; 15:26; 16:8–11, 13–14
7. The disciples, especially John	15:27; 19:35; 21:24

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:31 Compare Deut. 19:15.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:32 The Jews may think another refers to the Baptist (see vv. 33–35), but Jesus means God the Father (v. 37).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:33 Salvation can be found only in Christ (see note on 3:18). Jesus as the truth fulfills the teaching of the OT (1:17) and reveals the true God (see 1:14, 17; 5:33; 18:37; also 8:40, 45–46; 14:9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:35 Jesus' description of John the Baptist as a burning and shining lamp echoes Ps. 132:17. The past tense may mean that John is now dead or at least in prison.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:37 The Father . . . has himself borne witness refers to the whole of God the Father's witness. This includes all of Jesus' miracles and teaching as directed by the Father (3:2; 5:19–20) and all of God's witness to the Messiah in Scripture (see vv. 45–47; Luke 24:27, 44; Acts 13:27; 1 John 5:9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:39 Studying the Bible ought to result in genuine faith in Jesus. it is they that bear witness about me. See Overview of the Bible.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:43 I have come in my Father's name. Jesus came with God the Father's authority and represented the Father's entire character. If another comes. Jesus predicted the appearing of false messiahs (Matt. 24:24 and parallels) as a sign of the end times (Matt. 24:5 and parallels).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:46 If you believed Moses, you would believe me assumes that true believers are eager to accept all the words of God, including those written by Moses (that is, Genesis–Deuteronomy). For he wrote of me applies to specific predictions like Deut. 18:15 and to all the ways these writings pointed to Christ (e.g., Luke 24:27, 44; John 1:45; 3:14; 8:56; Acts 26:22–23; 28:23; 1 Pet. 1:10–12; see Overview of the Bible).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:1–15 The feeding of the 5,000 is another of Jesus' messianic "signs" (see note on 2:11). It shows that Jesus can provide food in the wilderness, like God did for Israel in Moses' day. Compare Matt. 14:13–21; Mark 6:30–44; Luke 9:10–17.

FACT

Each of the four Gospels records the feeding of the 5,000. In John, this is Jesus' fourth sign showing that he is the Son of God (6:1–15). Just as God provided manna for Israel, Jesus provided food (see Numbers 11). Jesus wanted people to see that he is the bread of life (John 6:35).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:1 After this. As much as six months may have passed since the previous event. Sea of Galilee, which is the Sea of Tiberias. This lake is fed from the Jordan to the north and spills out to the Jordan in the south. Today it measures 7 miles (11 km) wide and 13 miles (21 km) long.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:3 Mountain probably refers to the hill country east of the lake, known today as the Golan Heights (compare Matt. 14:23; Mark 6:46).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:7 two hundred denarii. About eight months' wages.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:10–11 The men numbered about five thousand, plus women and children (compare Matt. 14:21), totaling perhaps as many as 20,000 people.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:14 the Prophet. The people think Jesus fulfills the prediction of the prophet like Moses, promised in Deut. 18:15, 18. (See note on John 1:20–21; compare Acts 3:22–23.) In Acts 3:22–23 Peter identifies Jesus as the fulfillment of this prophecy; compare Acts 7:37. However, “prophet” is not a common title for Jesus; it is used primarily by those who know little about him (e.g., Matt. 16:14; John 4:19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:15 to make him king. Jesus did not want to lead a rebellion against the Roman authorities. The people did not understand that Jesus’ kingship was spiritual in nature (see 18:36).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:17 A boat, from the first century A.D. or earlier, was found in the Sea of Galilee in 1986. Approximately 26.5 feet long and 7.5 feet wide (8 m by 2.3 m), it could hold about 15 people.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:19 They had rowed about three or four miles. If the feeding of the multitude took place at the eastern shore of the Sea of Galilee, the shortest distance to Capernaum would be 5–6 miles (8–10 km). Walking on the sea is a powerful demonstration of Jesus’ control over the world that he created.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:20 “It is I.” Jesus’ words can be translated “I am.” Here it may refer to God’s self-identification as “I AM WHO I AM” (Ex. 3:14). It may thus affirm Jesus’ divinity (see note on John 6:35).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:21 immediately the boat was at the land. A real-life example of God’s protection as described in Ps. 107:23–32.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:23–24 Capernaum is on the northwest edge of the Sea of Galilee. Several miles to the south is Tiberias, the largest city on the Sea.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:26 But because you ate your fill of the loaves implies that the people sought Jesus only for physical or material benefit. They should have sought him because they saw signs that pointed to his being the Messiah.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:27 set his seal. A seal made of wax, clay, or soft metal. It could be used to signify ownership or to validate a document. The second meaning is probably intended here.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:31 The OT reference seems to involve several passages, with Ps. 78:23–24 being the most prominent (see also Ex. 16:4, 15; Neh.

9:15; Ps. 105:40).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:32 The true bread from heaven gives eternal spiritual nourishment. It is infinitely superior to the manna provided in Moses' day, which met only physical needs.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:35 Jesus' claim, "I am the bread of life," is the first of seven "I am" sayings in John (see chart). See also the other places in John where Jesus refers to himself as "I am" (see v. 20; 8:24, 58; 18:5; and notes); compare the references to God as "I AM" in Ex. 3:14 and in Isaiah (e.g., Isa. 41:4; 43:10, 25).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:37 whoever comes to me I will never cast out. No one who responds to the gospel should ever fear being rejected by God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:39 All that he has given me implies that everyone who has been "given" by the Father to the Son for salvation will in fact be saved.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:40 everyone who . . . believes in him. This verse implies that no true believer will ever lose his or her salvation. the last day. The final judgment.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:43 The grumbling is like the grumbling against God in the OT (e.g., Ex. 16:8; Num. 14:27).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:44 No one can come to me unless. No human being has the ability to come to Christ unless God the Father draws him, that is, gives him the desire to do so.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:46 he has seen the Father. In a full and complete way; compare 1:18 and note.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:51 living bread. Jesus satisfies the spiritual hunger of those who believe in him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:53 To eat Jesus' flesh and to drink his blood means trusting and believing in him, especially in his death for the sins of mankind. (See also v. 35.)

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:59 synagogue. See note on Luke 4:16.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:60 It was a hard saying because they wrongly interpreted Jesus' statements in a literal way.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:63 The flesh (that is, human nature) is completely incapable of producing genuine spiritual life (see Rom. 7:14–25). Only the Spirit can do this. But the Holy Spirit works powerfully in and through the words that Jesus speaks. Those words are spirit and life; they work in the unseen spiritual realm and awaken genuine spiritual life.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:64 Jesus' divine nature is proven by his knowledge of people's hearts and their future actions.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:67 This is John's first mention of the Twelve, the apostles.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:69 Peter's confession of Jesus as the Holy One of God prepares the reader for later references to Jesus being set apart for service to God (10:36; 17:19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:2 The Feast of Booths (or Feast of Tabernacles) was celebrated in September/October. It is so named because people lived in outdoor shelters to remember God's faithfulness to Israel during the wilderness years (Lev. 23:42–43; compare Matt. 17:4 and parallels). It was also a time of celebration and thanksgiving for the harvest (Lev. 23:39–41; Deut. 16:13–15; compare Ex. 23:16). See also note on John 2:13.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:3–4 Jesus' brothers (compare Matt. 13:55; Mark 6:3) are other naturally born sons of Mary. Their advice reveals their misunderstanding of Jesus' messianic identity.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:5 not even his brothers believed in him. Even those who had lived in the same house with Jesus for nearly 30 years did not know who he was.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:6 My time in John probably refers to the cross (see note on 2:4). Your time means "your time to go up to the feast with the crowds who are going to Jerusalem." In both cases, "time" means the time that is suitable or right.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:7 The world cannot hate Jesus' brothers because they did not yet believe in Jesus; they still belonged to the world.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:8 I am not going up to this feast is not a mistake by John or a lie by Jesus, even though Jesus did go up to the feast (v. 10). The Greek present tense can have the sense, "I am not now going," indicating that Jesus did not go to the feast at the time or in the way the brothers suggested (they wanted Jesus to prove himself to his contemporaries for secular reasons).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:14 Temple here means the area surrounding the temple itself, including the Court of the Gentiles.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:15 he has never studied. Jesus lacked formal rabbinic training (as did his disciples, Acts 4:13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:20 Compare 8:48; 10:20; Matt. 12:24 and parallels. The same charge was made against John the Baptist (Matt. 11:18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:21 This one work is probably the healing in 5:1–15.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:22 This recalls Gen. 17:9–14 (the fathers, that is, Abraham) and Lev. 12:3 (Moses). Jesus' argument is "from the lesser to the greater." The Jews circumcised their males on the eighth day even if that day fell on the Sabbath (the "lesser" issue). If "perfecting" one part of the human body on the Sabbath was legitimate, how much more the healing of an entire person (the "greater" issue).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:26 The authorities probably refers to the Sanhedrin (compare 12:42).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:27 But we know. Some rabbis taught that the Messiah would be completely unknown until he began to save Israel. Others, however, were sure that Bethlehem would be his birthplace (v. 42; see Mic. 5:2; Matt. 2:1–6).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:28 temple. See note on 2:14.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:30 because his hour had not yet come. In John, Jesus' "hour" is the time of his crucifixion, when his saving work is completed (see 8:20; 12:23, 27; 13:1; 17:1).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:32 The chief priests and Pharisees, representing the Sanhedrin, sent officers (or temple police) to arrest Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:35 People misunderstand Jesus' statement in v. 34 (see also 3:4; 4:15; 6:52). The Dispersion was a common Jewish expression for the Jewish people scattered throughout the world.

FACT

The Dispersion (7:35) referred to Jewish people scattered throughout the world. Many Jews were exiled from their homeland in 722 and 586 B.C. Those taken to Babylon in 586 were later allowed to return home, but many stayed in Babylon and others moved west into Greece. After the destruction of the temple in A.D. 70, many Jews were sold into slavery and further scattered abroad.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:37 Jesus' invitation refers back to OT prophetic passages such as Isa. 55:1 (see also Isa. 12:3). thirsts. That is, "thirsts" for God (see note on John 4:14). To come to Jesus and drink means to believe in him, to enter into a trusting, ongoing personal relationship with him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:38 There is no specific Scripture passage from the OT that matches Jesus' words here. He summarizes several passages that picture God's work in believers as a river of water flowing out to bless others (see Isa. 58:11).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:39 As yet the Spirit had not been given does not mean that there was no work of the Holy Spirit in the world prior to Jesus' resurrection (see Gen. 1:2; Ex. 31:3; Num. 11:25; Deut. 34:9; Ezek. 2:2). Rather, it means the Spirit had not been given in the full and powerful sense that was promised for the new covenant age (see Ezek. 36:26–27; Joel 2:28–29; compare Acts 2:1–13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:40–42 Is the Christ to come from Galilee? . . . Has not the Scripture said that the Christ comes . . . from Bethlehem? Bethlehem is clearly predicted as the Messiah's birthplace (Mic. 5:2). Ironically, the people here did not realize that Bethlehem was in fact Jesus' birthplace.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:40–41 The Prophet is mentioned in Deut. 18:15–18. Many first-century Jews thought the "Prophet" and the Messiah were different people, but Jesus is both. See notes on John 1:20–21; 6:14.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:45–46 officers. Temple police.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:50 Nicodemus. See 3:1–15.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:52 Some prophets did come from Galilee, such as Jonah (2 Kings 14:25), and possibly Elijah (1 Kings 17:1) and Nahum (Nah. 1:1). The Pharisees may have been reflecting current bias against Galileans, or perhaps they were misrepresenting the facts to make their case against Jesus (see John 8:44, 55).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:53–8:11 This story is absent from all of the oldest manuscripts of John's Gospel, but there is nothing in it contrary to sound doctrine. It seems best to view the story as something that did actually happen during Jesus' ministry but that was not originally part of what John wrote in his Gospel.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:12 I am. See note on 6:35. Jesus is the light of the world (see 1:4–5; 3:19–21; 12:35–36, 46). Jesus fulfills OT promises of the "light" of salvation (e.g., Isa. 9:2; 42:6; 49:6; John 9:5; Acts 26:18, 23; Eph. 5:8–14; 1 John 1:5–7).

FACT

John wrote his Gospel "so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name" (20:30). In 8:24, Jesus tells his listeners that faith in him is the only way to find life (see 3:15–16; 11:25).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:13–14 The Pharisees continue the dispute from 5:31–47 (see notes).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:15 according to the flesh. According to the natural understanding and human standards of this world. “I judge no one.” During his earthly ministry, Jesus was primarily a Savior, not a judge (see 3:17; 12:47). In the future he will judge the world (see 5:22, 27, 29; 12:48).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:20 The treasury likely was next to the Court of the Women (compare Mark 12:41–44; Luke 21:1–4). The Greek term may indicate either a collection box for the treasury or the treasury structure itself.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:21 Where I am going. Heaven, in the presence of the Father.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:23 From below means belonging to this natural world; from above means from God the Father. It also means following God’s will and speaking his truth.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:24 I am he may simply mean “I am the Messiah.” However, John often uses words with a double meaning (see notes on 3:14; 4:10; 19:19) and this verse is one of several that hint at a connection with God’s statement to Moses in Ex. 3:14, “I AM WHO I AM.” See notes on John 6:20; 8:58.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:28 lifted up. The second of three “lifted up” sayings in John (see also 3:14; 12:32). All three have a double meaning (see notes on 4:10; 8:24; 19:19), referring to both Jesus’ death and his resurrection and exaltation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:31 To abide in Jesus’ word means to continue believing what Jesus has said and to continue obeying him (see note on 15:4; also 6:56; 1 John 3:6).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:32 There is only one way to know the truth. That is by continuing to believe and obey Jesus’ word (v. 31). set you free. From the guilt and enslaving power of sin (see note on v. 34).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:34 Being a slave to sin means being unable to escape from sinful patterns of conduct without Jesus' help (see v. 36; see also notes on Rom. 6:16; 1 Cor. 7:21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:36 Sets you free from both the guilt and the life-controlling power of sin.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:37 my word finds no place in you. Because of the spiritual condition of their hearts.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:39–40 They were physically descended from Abraham (v. 37), but they are not truly Abraham's children, for their behavior contradicts that claim. Abraham's true children are only those who believe in Jesus (Gen. 15:6; Rom. 2:28–29; 9:6–8).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:43 you cannot bear. Or, "you are not able." to hear my word. "Hear" means "hear and accept."

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:44 The devil was a murderer from the beginning. The devil motivated Cain to kill Abel. He is the father of lies, since he contradicted God's word (Gen. 3:3–4; see Gen. 2:17).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:47 You do not hear in the sense of hearing, believing, and following.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:48 Samaritan. See note on 4:4.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:56 Abraham rejoiced that he would see the day of Christ. He saw it and was glad. Jesus possibly refers to a consistent pattern of joyful faith in Abraham's life, rather than one specific event.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:58 Jesus claims to have been alive before Abraham was. He does not mean that he is more than 2,000 years old. Rather, he uses the present tense I am in speaking of existence more than 2,000 years earlier. Thus he claims an existence apart from time that is true only of God. For "I am," see note on 6:20.

The "I Am" Statements of Jesus

Absolute "I am" statements	6:20; 8:24, 28, 58; 18:5

Metaphorical "I am" statements
1. I am the bread of life	6:35, 48, 51
2. I am the light of the world	8:12; 9:5
3. I am the door of the sheep	10:7, 9
4. I am the good shepherd	10:11, 14
5. I am the resurrection and the life	11:25
6. I am the way, the truth, and the life	14:6
7. I am the true vine	15:1

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:59 picked up stones. See note on Acts 7:58. Stoning was the punishment for blasphemy (Lev. 24:16; John 10:31–33). However, it was supposed to be imposed only after careful judgment, not amid mob violence (Deut. 17:2–7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:2 Suffering is not always a direct result of a person's sin (e.g., Luke 13:2–3a; 2 Cor. 12:7; and Jesus' crucifixion; see also John 12:28, 37–41; 17:1, 5).

FACT

Does sin cause illness? Many people in Bible times assumed that if a person suffered, it was because that person had sinned (9:2). There are consequences for sin, but suffering is not always directly caused by a person's sin. But God can use suffering to show his power and mercy (9:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:3 that the works of God might be displayed in him. God sometimes allows people to suffer so that they can experience his mercy and power in delivering them.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:4 while it is day. The time when Jesus was here on earth. night. The time of Jesus' crucifixion and death. We indicates that Jesus involves his disciples in God's work.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:5 I am the light of the world. The second of seven "I am" sayings in John (see chart).

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:6 This verse may echo God's creative activity (Gen. 2:7). The Creator is now re-creating.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:7 pool of Siloam. Archaeology indicates a large pool (225 feet [69 m] long on one side) with steps leading down into it.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:14 Jesus mixed clay with his saliva to make mud. This activity was among the 39 classes of work forbidden on the Sabbath by Jewish tradition.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:22 the Jews. Often in John, this refers to the Jewish leaders who were opposed to Jesus, and to the people who followed their lead. See ESV footnote on v. 18, etc.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:31–33 The man's main idea, that God does not listen to sinners, reflects several OT passages (e.g., Ps. 34:15; 66:18). The man's minor point, that there was no previous act of opening of the eyes of a person born blind, is also confirmed by the absence of similar miracles in the OT.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:34 Cast him out means expulsion from the synagogue (see note on Luke 4:16). The way this is done suggests an impulsive action rather than a formal procedure.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:41 If you were blind means if they had no knowledge at all about God's words or his laws, and no knowledge about who Jesus is. You would have no guilt (or sin, see ESV footnote) for violating specific teachings or commands that they had received. Paul makes a similar argument in Rom. 1:18–3:20.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:1 The sheepfold was usually a courtyard near or beside a house, bordered by a stone wall, in which one or more families kept their sheep. Caves were also used. Sheepfolds might have a formal door and would be guarded at the entrance by a "gatekeeper" (v. 3) or by the shepherd himself (see vv. 7–10). A thief enters secretly while a robber forces his way in.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:3–4 The sheep hear his voice. . . . they know his voice. People who truly belong to God listen to and believe in Jesus' words (see 5:46–47; 8:37, 45, 47). On Christ as the true shepherd, see note on 10:11.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:7 I am the door of the sheep. Jesus is the only way by which one can become part of the people of God (that is, Jesus' flock). Compare Ps. 118:20.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:8 All who came before me may refer to messianic pretenders (e.g., Acts 5:36–37; 21:38). thieves and robbers. Compare Ezek. 34:2–4; see note on John 10:1.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:9 door. The NT elsewhere speaks of "entering" God's kingdom as through a door (e.g., Matt. 7:7, 13; 18:8–9; 25:10 and parallels; Acts 14:22). Will go in and out echoes OT passages about the covenant (see Num. 27:16–17; Ps. 121:8). Find pasture speaks of God's provision for his people (compare Ps. 23:2; Isa. 49:9–10; Ezek. 34:12–15).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:10 Jesus' promise of abundant life, which begins in this life, brings to mind OT prophecies of abundant blessing (e.g., Ezek. 34:12–15, 25–31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:11 I am the good shepherd. Another "I am" saying; see note on 6:35. In the OT, God is seen as the true shepherd (Psalm 23; Isa. 40:11; Jer. 23:1–4; Ezekiel 34; Zech. 11:4–17), and David (or the Davidic Messiah) is depicted as a good shepherd (2 Sam. 5:2; Ps. 78:70–72; Ezek. 37:24; Mic. 5:4), as is Moses (Ps. 77:20; Isa. 63:11). Jesus, as both God and man, fulfills both of these themes. David literally risked his life for his sheep (1 Sam. 17:34–37), but Jesus surpassed David in that he gave his life on the cross for his sheep. See also John 10:15.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:16 The other sheep that are not of this fold are Gentiles (see Isa. 56:8). One flock, one shepherd may refer to Ezek. 34:23; 37:24 (compare Eph. 2:11–22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:17 I lay down my life that I may take it up again means that Jesus voluntarily gave up his life (see 19:30) and that his divine nature enabled him to rise from the dead, all at his Father's will.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:20–21 The charge of demon possession is contradicted by OT teaching that says the Lord gives sight to the blind (Ex. 4:11; Ps. 146:8).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:22 The eight-day Feast of Dedication celebrates the rededication of the Jewish temple in December 164 B.C., after Antiochus IV Epiphanes had made it unclean (see note on Dan. 8:9–10).

FACT

The Feast of Dedication (10:22) commemorated the rededication of the temple in 164 B.C. after Antiochus IV Epiphanes made it unholy. Today, this feast is called Hanukkah.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:23 On temple as the larger temple area, see note on 2:14. Probably because of the cold winter weather (see 10:22), Jesus taught in the area called the colonnade of Solomon. It is likely the covered walkway on the eastern side of the Temple Mount.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:26–29 The reason people do not believe is because they are not among Jesus' sheep. God must first give them the ability to believe; then he makes them a part of his people, with a new heart (see 1:13; 6:44). Eternal life (10:28) can never be taken away, especially since Jesus' sheep belong to both him and his Father. Note the contrast with the "hired hand" (vv. 12–13), who abandons the flock in times of danger (compare Isa. 43:13). Snatch means "take by force."

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:30 Jesus' claim that I and the Father are one (compare 5:17–18; 10:33–38) echoes Deut 6:4, the basic confession of Judaism. Jesus' words are a claim to deity.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:31 picked up stones again to stone him. See notes on 8:59; Acts 7:58.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:34–35 If human judges (Ps. 82:2–4) can in some sense be called gods (for their role as representatives of God), this title is certainly much more appropriate for the one who truly is the Son of God (John 10:33, 35–36). Jesus depends on just one word ("gods") in the OT for his argument. Thus, when he says that Scripture cannot be broken, he implies that every single word in Scripture is completely true and reliable. His opponents would have agreed with this.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:36 Jesus was consecrated for his mission. This echoes OT language regarding those appointed to an office, such as Jeremiah (Jer. 1:5) or the priests (Ex. 28:41; Lev. 8:30).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:37–38 For Jesus' works as a witness to his deity, see chart.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:1–12:19 The raising of Lazarus is the ultimate messianic “sign” in this Gospel (see note on 2:11). This spectacular miracle (recorded only by John) anticipates Jesus’ own resurrection. It reveals Jesus as “the resurrection and the life” (11:25).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:1 This is the Bethany most commonly mentioned in the Gospels (see Mark 11:1; 14:3 and parallels; also Luke 24:50; contrast John 1:28).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:4 Lazarus’s illness did not ultimately lead to death though it did lead through death to being raised from the dead. Jesus knew what was going to happen. In vv. 11–14 he tells his disciples clearly that Lazarus has already died.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:5–6 So introduces the reason why Jesus stayed two days longer. He wanted the people to see his power over death, thus seeing his glory (compare 1:14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:9–10 To walk in the day means to believe and obey God. Walks in the night means not believing and obeying him. For Jesus to go to Judea is part of walking “in the day” for him, even though he is heading toward the cross (vv. 7–8).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:11 Fallen asleep means “died” (see vv. 12–14). The OT equivalent is “slept with his fathers” (e.g., 1 Kings 2:10). Occasionally, death is compared to a deep sleep from which people will one day be awakened (e.g., Dan. 12:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:16 Thomas (Aramaic) means the Twin.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:24 Martha’s affirmation of end-time resurrection agrees with the beliefs of the Pharisees (Acts 23:8), the majority of first-century Jews, and Jesus’ teaching (John 5:21, 25–29; 6:39–44, 54).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:25 I am the resurrection and the life. Resurrection from the dead and eternal life can be found only in relationship to Jesus. Therefore, believes in me implies personal trust in Christ. “In” ordinarily means “into,” giving the sense that genuine faith in Christ brings people “into” Christ, so that they become united with Christ. (Compare 3:16, 18, 36; 6:35; 7:38; 12:44, 46; 14:12; 1 John 5:10.)

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:26 Lives refers to those who have spiritual life now (see note on John 3:16). Those who believe shall never die, in that they will ultimately triumph over death.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:27 who is coming into the world. Compare 12:13 and parallels.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:28 The Teacher was a common way of referring to Jesus (1:38; 3:2; 6:25; 9:2; 20:16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:33 deeply moved. Jesus felt deep sorrow about his friend's death and about the grief his other friends felt. He may also have been angry about the evil of death, the final enemy (see ESV footnote; see also 1 Cor. 15:26; Rev. 21:4). In his spirit refers to Jesus' own human spirit.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:35 Jesus wept. Mourning because of death does not indicate lack of faith. It shows honest sorrow at the reality of suffering and death.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:44–45 Remarkably, John does not record Lazarus's reaction or any of the aftermath of his raising (compare Luke 8:55–56), except for the fact that many of the Jews . . . believed (see John 12:9–11). The focus is on Jesus, not Lazarus.

FACT

Burial garments (11:44) were made of expensive Egyptian white linen. The face was bound with a scarf. The rest of the body was laid on a sheet of linen wide enough to wrap around the body and long enough to fold over the head and down to the feet.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:47 council. The Sanhedrin.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:48 Our place almost certainly refers to the temple (compare Acts 21:28). Take away . . . our nation may refer to the feared loss of more of the Jews' freedom under Rome.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:49 that year. In fact, Caiaphas was high priest for 18 years (A.D. 18–36), longer than any other high priest in the first century.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:50–51 That one man should die for the people invokes the memory of the Jewish martyrs who died fighting Rome in the time of the Maccabees (2 Macc. 7:37–38). With the double meaning typical of John, it also anticipates Jesus' substitutionary atonement.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:52 The Gentiles are the children of God . . . scattered (compare 10:16). John is not suggesting that they are already God's children but anticipates their future inclusion.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:55 This is the third and final Passover mentioned by John; see note on 2:13. People went up early to purify themselves from any ceremonial uncleanness that would have prevented their participation (Num. 9:4–14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:1–11 When Mary of Bethany anoints Jesus (compare Matt. 26:6–13; Mark 14:3–9), it anticipates Jesus' arrest, crucifixion, and burial (John 12:7–8). The story in Luke 7:36–50 involves a different woman, a different place, a different reaction from Jesus, and a different time in Jesus' ministry.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:1 Therefore ties this verse to the previous one. John is constantly aware of God's ordering of all these events and of Jesus' obedience. Regarding the Passover, see 11:55; and note on 2:13. Six days before the Passover most likely refers to Saturday, since the Passover began Friday evening at sundown. Bethany. See note on 11:1.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:2 Dinner refers to the main meal of the day, usually toward evening. reclining . . . at table. People at special feasts would lie with their heads near a low table and their feet pointing out away from it. They would rest on one elbow and eat with the other hand.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:3 Compare 11:2. A pound (or half a liter) is a very large amount of fragrant oil or perfume. Pure and expensive nard was imported from northern India and used by the Romans for anointing the head. John says that Mary anointed the feet of Jesus, while Matt. 26:7 and Mark 14:3 mention that she anointed Jesus' head. Considering the large quantity of ointment, Mary probably anointed both Jesus' head and his feet. Attending to the feet was the work of servants (see John 1:27; 13:5), so Mary's actions show humility and devotion. Her wiping of Jesus' feet with her hair is also remarkable, since Jewish women rarely unbound their hair in public. Mary's action indicates an expression of intense personal devotion to Christ, but there is no hint of immoral thoughts or conduct.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:5 Three hundred denarii is the equivalent of about a year's wages.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:7 So that she may keep it may mean "keep the rest of the perfume." Mark 14:3 says the flask was broken, and Judas complains that it was already wasted. Other interpretations include: "so that she may keep (the memory of this)" or "Leave her alone, (for she has saved the perfume) so that she could keep it for the day of my burial."

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:8 the poor. Jesus' response echoes Deut. 15:11. He is not discouraging helping the poor. You do not always have me anticipates Jesus' approaching death, resurrection, and ascension.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:11 the Jews. John uses this expression in a positive way to speak of those coming to faith in Christ (see 11:45).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:12 The next day is probably Sunday of Passion Week. The feast is Passover.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:13 By waving palm branches (a Jewish national symbol) the people greet Jesus as the Davidic king and echo the language of Ps. 118:25–26. Most of the crowd probably understood the title King of Israel in a political and military sense. They still hoped that Jesus would use his amazing powers to overthrow Roman rule and lead Israel to independence.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:15 Jesus is portrayed as the humble shepherd-king of Zech. 9:9, who comes to the Holy City to take his rightful place. Fear not may be taken from Isa. 40:9.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:20–50 These verses conclude the first major part of John's Gospel, which narrates Jesus' mission to the Jews. The arrival of some Greeks signals to Jesus that the mission exclusively to the Jews is about to come to an end. But before Jesus can reach out to the Gentiles, he first must die (see 10:16; 11:52). His hour is now at hand (12:23–26; see note on 2:4).

FACT

The Greeks who came to see Jesus (12:20–21) were not necessarily from Greece. The term could refer to any Gentile in the Greek-speaking world. Like other Greek people such as the centurion in Luke 7:5 or Cornelius in Acts 10, they were attracted to the teachings of the Jewish Scriptures. Now, they wanted to hear more from this man who claimed to be the Messiah.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:20 Greeks refers to Gentiles, not necessarily to people from Greece. They are "God-fearers," non-Jews who had come to Jerusalem to worship at the Jewish festival.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:21 Bethsaida was just northeast of where the Jordan flows into the Sea of Galilee from the north.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:25 Loves his life means "delights in his life in this world more than in God." Hates his life in this world means "thinks so little of his life, and so much of God, that he is willing to sacrifice it all for God."

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:28 This is one of three times in Jesus' earthly ministry when a heavenly voice affirms his identity (see Matt. 3:17; 17:5).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:29 crowd . . . said that it had thundered. Events of eternal consequence are occurring. Unbelievers misinterpret them as natural events, showing their spiritual blindness.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:31 The ruler of this world in its present fallen, sinful state is Satan (compare 14:30; 1 John 5:19). Now, at the cross, the devil will be cast out, that is, decisively defeated (see Luke 10:18; Heb. 2:14–15). Jesus' triumph over Satan in his death and resurrection is the basis for his final triumph (Rev. 20:10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:32 lifted up. See 3:14 and note; 8:28; also Isa. 52:13. All people, in context, means both Jews and Gentiles (John 10:16; 11:52; 12:20–21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:33 what kind of death. See 21:19.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:34 This is the final of several misunderstandings of Jesus' role as Messiah in this Gospel (compare 7:27, 31, 41–42). The people have some idea that Jesus predicts his death. What is probably meant by the Law is the entire Hebrew Scriptures, which speak of the Davidic Messiah (2 Sam. 7:13; Ps. 89:3–4, 35–37; Isa. 9:7; Dan. 7:13–14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:35–36 Walk while you have the light. See 9:4–5.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:36 When Jesus hid himself from them, he indicated God's coming judgment and the completion of Jesus' public ministry to the people of Israel (1:18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:37–40 John cites Isa. 53:1 and Isa. 6:10 to indicate that Scripture predicted the Jewish rejection of Jesus as Messiah. This rejection confirms, rather than defeats, God's plan. These verses are the first in a series of fulfillment quotations in the second half of John's Gospel. they could not believe. See John 1:13; 6:44; see note on Eph. 1:11.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:41 The plural these things most likely refers to the general context of Isa. 53:1 and Isa. 6:10. John seems to claim that when Isaiah saw the exalted King and the suffering servant, he saw Jesus' glory.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:42–43 synagogue. Synagogues usually had large rooms with bench seating along the wall. See note on Luke 4:16.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:47 I did not come to judge the world refers to Jesus' first coming. However, he will judge the world when he returns (see v. 48; 5:22, 27–30).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:49 Not . . . on my own authority indicates that supreme authority in the Trinity belongs to the Father. He gives authority to the Son, though they are both God.

13:1–20:31 The Farewell Teaching and the Passion Narrative. The second half of John's Gospel consists of Jesus' farewell teaching (chs. 13–17) and the events surrounding his death and resurrection (chs. 18–20). Now that the Jews have rejected Jesus, he turns his attention to his new messianic community. Jesus is arrested, tried, crucified, and buried. This is followed by the resurrection, resurrection appearances, and Jesus' commissioning of his disciples. The section concludes with John stating his reason for writing his Gospel (20:30–31).

FACT

In NT times, it was common for a host's servant to wash the feet of guests (see Luke 7:44). But in John 13:1–20, Jesus himself performs this task for his disciples, setting an example of humility and service for believers to follow.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:1–17:26 Jesus prepares his new messianic community (the remaining 11 apostles) for the time following his resurrection and return to the Father. The community is cleansed literally and symbolically through the footwashing (13:1–17), and then figuratively through the removal of the betrayer (13:18–30). The Farewell Discourse (13:31–16:33) contains Jesus' final instructions to his followers. The discourse, recorded only in John's Gospel, concludes with Jesus' final prayer (ch. 17).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:1 Jesus' own are the 11 faithful disciples. They represent his new messianic community. to depart out of this world. Jesus will soon leave the earth, but in his divine nature Jesus is with believers "always" (Matt. 28:20).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:8 To have no share with Jesus means that one does not belong to him. Here the footwashing symbolizes Jesus' death for his people. It washes away their sins.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:9–11 Those who have been washed through Jesus' once-for-all death also need daily cleansing of their sins.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:14 you also ought to wash one another's feet. Footwashing continues as a regular ceremony in some Christian denominations. Others see it as a symbolic teaching about serving one another.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:18 I know whom I have chosen refers not to choosing for salvation but to Jesus' choosing of the Twelve, including Judas, to be disciples (see also 6:70). Jesus cites Ps. 41:9.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:19 Jesus' statement is one of several references to his knowledge of the future in this section (see also 14:29; 16:1, 4, 32, 33). I am he very likely is a claim to deity (see note on 8:24; also 8:28, 58; 18:5, 6, 8).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:20 The one I send refers first to the disciples whom Jesus would specifically send out at 20:22. More broadly it applies to all messengers of Christ, in every age, who proclaim the gospel. receives. To truly "receive" such a messenger is to accept and believe the gospel and to trust in Christ. (See also 1:12; 3:32–33; 5:43; 12:48.)

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:21 troubled in his spirit. See 12:27; compare Ps. 55:2–14.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:23 This is the first reference to the disciple whom Jesus loved (see Introduction: Author, Date, and Recipients). On reclining, see note on 12:2. In such a situation it would be easy for John to lean back a bit and whisper privately to Jesus, as he does in 13:25. See also 21:20.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:27 Satan entered into him. Satan had earlier put the desire to betray Christ into Judas's heart (see v. 2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:31–32 The passage echoes Isa. 49:3.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:34–35 Love must be the distinguishing mark of Jesus' disciples (compare 15:13; Lev. 19:18; Mark 12:28–33).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:38 the rooster will not crow. See also Matt. 26:34; Mark 14:30; Luke 22:34. Mark specifies the first two individual crowings (as evidently Jesus did), while Matthew, Luke, and John focus on Peter's denial and report Jesus as referring to the entire set of crowings.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:1 The ESV translates Believe in God as an imperative (a command), but it could also be rendered as a statement ("You believe in God"; see ESV footnote). The imperative is probably the better translation in light of the previous sentence (Let not your hearts be troubled). The disciples are troubled about Jesus' imminent departure (see 13:36).

FACT

Jesus promises his disciples that the Holy Spirit will live within them, to teach them and remind them what Jesus has said (14:16–17, 26; see also 16:5–15). The Holy Spirit is also called the "Helper," which can mean "Advocate" or "Counselor."

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:2–3 In light of the context (Jesus going back to the Father; 13:1, 3; 14:28), it is best to understand my Father's house as referring to heaven, and the many rooms (or "dwelling places") as places to live within that large house.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:6 Jesus is the one way to the Father. Salvation can be found only in Christ (see note on 3:18). Jesus as the truth fulfills the teaching of the OT (1:17) and reveals the true God (see 1:14, 17; 5:33; 18:37; also 8:40, 45–46; 14:9). Jesus alone is the life who fulfills the OT promises of "life" from God (11:25–26). Jesus is able to give eternal life to all those who believe in him (see 3:16). This is another I am saying, whereby Jesus claims to be God (see note on 6:35).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:8–11 Philip apparently asks for some sort of appearance by God, such as Moses and Isaiah experienced (Ex. 33:18; compare Ex. 24:10; Isa. 6:1). Jesus replies that those who have seen him have seen the Father—a clear claim to deity.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:10 I am in the Father and the Father is in me. Though there is complete unity between the Father and the Son, they are distinct persons within the Trinity (Matt. 28:19; 2 Cor. 13:14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:12 the works that I do. Jesus' "works" include both his miracles (see 7:21) and his other activities and teachings (see 4:34; 5:36; 10:32; 17:4). The works his disciples will do will be greater because they will have a worldwide scope.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:13 Praying in Jesus' name means praying in a way consistent with his character and will. It also means coming to God in the authority of Jesus. See also note on 1 John 5:15.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:14 If you ask me gives permission to pray directly to Jesus, but see ESV footnote. Many other verses encourage prayer to God the Father (see 15:16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:15 Jesus' words echo Deuteronomy (compare Deut. 6:5–6; 7:9; 10:12–13; 11:13, 22) and assume his unique authority.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:16–17 The Holy Spirit (compare v. 26), the Spirit of truth who will guide the disciples into all truth (16:13), will serve as another Helper

(or “helping Presence”; see also ESV footnote). He will live in Jesus’ followers forever. He is Jesus’ representative after Jesus ascends to heaven. The promise of the divine presence with Jesus’ followers in 14:15–24 includes the Spirit (vv. 15–17), Jesus (vv. 18–21), and the Father (vv. 22–24). He dwells with you and will be in you does not mean there was no work of the Spirit of God within believers prior to this time (see note on 7:39). Rather, it indicates that the Holy Spirit “will be in you” in a new and more powerful sense. See also ESV footnote on 14:16.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:18 I will come to you probably means Jesus will appear to the disciples after his resurrection (chs. 20–21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:21 keeps. That is, follows and obeys.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:22 The Judas referred to here is probably “Judas the son of James” (Luke 6:16; Acts 1:13), not Judas the half brother of Jesus (Matt. 13:55; Mark 6:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:26 He will teach you uses the masculine pronoun “he” instead of the neutral pronoun “it.” Many interpreters have seen this as John’s awareness of the distinct personhood of the Spirit. John follows the same usage in 15:26 and 16:13–14. That the Helper will teach the disciples all things and bring to your remembrance all that I have said to you is an important promise regarding the disciples’ future role in writing the words of Scripture; see also 16:13–15. Jesus’ promise here is specifically to these disciples, though the Holy Spirit teaches and guides all believers (Rom. 8:14). On the work of the Trinity, see chart.

The Work of the Trinity

Though the word “Trinity” does not appear in the Bible, by presenting the Father, Son, and Spirit together, all doing what no one else ever does, the Gospel of John gives us the foundation on which this doctrine is based. Observing what God says and does helps us to know him, and observing which actions are done by which members of the Godhead helps us to see which roles they play.

Action	Father	Son	Spirit
Give life	5:21, 26; (6:33); 17:3	5:21, 25–26, 40; 6:33; 17:3	3:6, 8; 6:63
Proclaim future	1:33	13:19, 26, 36–38; 14:3, 29; 16:1–4, 16–28, 32; 20:18	16:13
Indwell believers	14:23	14:20, 23; (15:4–7); 17:23, 26	14:17
Teach	6:45; 7:16, 17; 8:28	7:14; (8:2); 8:20; 13:13–14	14:26

Testify to Jesus	5:32, 37; 6:27; 8:18	8:12–14, 18	15:26
Glorify Jesus	5:22–23; 8:50, 54; 13:31–32; 17:1, 22	(1:14); 2:11; 13:31–32; 17:5, 24	16:14

Actions Common to Father and Son

Action	Father	Son
Glorify the Father	4:23; 12:28; 13:31–32	(2:16); (9:3–4); 11:40; 12:28; 13:31–32; 14:13; 17:1, 4–5
Give the Spirit	3:34; 14:16	(4:10–14); (7:37–39); 20:22
Send the Spirit	14:26	15:26; 16:7

Actions Common to Son and Spirit

Action	Son	Spirit
Be given by the Father	3:16	(4:10–14); 14:16
Be sent by the Father	3:17; 4:34; 5:23–24, 36; 6:29, 57; 7:28–29, 33; 8:16, 26, 29, 42; 9:4; 10:36; 11:42; 12:44–45; 13:20; 15:21; 17:3, 8, 18, 23, 25; 20:21	14:26; 15:26
Speak not from himself	(5:19); 5:30; (6:38); 7:16; 12:49–50	16:13
Speak only what he hears	3:32; (3:34); (5:30); 8:26, 40; 12:50; 15:15	16:13
Convict	3:19–20; 4:16, 18; (5:27); (8:7); 8:34, 40; 11:40; 12:7–8; 13:8	16:7–11
Be received	1:12 (see 1:10–11)	7:39 (see 14:17)
Disclose what belongs to God	1:18	16:13–14

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:27 Peace describes the absence of conflict and also the presence of blessing. Such blessing comes especially in a right relationship with God (e.g., Num. 6:24–26). See also John 15:18–19; 16:33.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:28 the Father is greater than I. God the Father sends and commands. Thus he is "greater" (in authority or leadership) than the Son. However, this does not mean that Jesus is inferior to the Father, as 1:1; 10:30; and 20:28 clearly show.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:30 The ruler of this world in its present fallen, sinful state is Satan. Satan is coming in the person of Judas and those with him (see ch. 18). has no claim. Satan cannot force Jesus to do anything. Jesus willingly submits to the suffering that is to come, out of obedience to his Father (see 14:31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:31 The transition from 14:31 to 15:1 is sometimes viewed as a "literary seam," an indication that John's Gospel is pieced together from different sources. More likely, John is implying that Jesus and his followers are leaving the upper room, making their way to the brook Kidron, and arriving in the Garden of Gethsemane (18:1).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:1–17 The OT frequently uses the vineyard or vine as a symbol for Israel, God's covenant people. Note the two "vineyard songs" in Isaiah (Isa. 5:1–7; 27:2–6). However, Israel's failure to produce fruit resulted in divine judgment. Jesus, by contrast, is "the true vine." His followers live in him and produce fruit.

FACT

In 13:31–16:33, Jesus prepares his disciples for his departure from them. This is often called the Farewell Discourse. Jesus shows his disciples that his death and resurrection will bring them blessing.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:1 This is the last of Jesus' seven I am sayings in this Gospel (see note on 6:35). True contrasts Jesus with OT Israel (see previous note); Jesus is the true Israel. The vinedresser refers back to Isaiah's first vineyard song, which pictures God tending his vineyard (Isa. 5:1–7; compare Ps. 80:8–9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:2 Does not bear fruit seems to indicate that the person is not a true believer (see vv. 6, 8; compare 6:66). Fruit is an image for good results coming from the life of a believer (see Matt. 13:8; compare Gal. 5:22–23). He prunes describes the painful but necessary removal of negative things in believers' lives so that the remaining branches may bear even more fruit.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:3 clean. See 13:10–11.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:4 Abide in me means to continue in a daily, personal relationship with Jesus characterized by trust, prayer, obedience, and joy. (See note on 1 John 2:6.) And I in you probably means, "See that I abide in you." The preposition "in" recalls OT texts regarding a future new covenant (see Ex. 25:8; 29:45; Lev. 26:11–12; Ezek. 43:9). The repeated references to fruit bearing (also John 15:5, 8) reflect God's primary purpose in creation (Gen. 1:11–12, 22, 28) and in redemption (John 15:8, 16). The OT prophets envisioned a time when God's people would "blossom and put forth shoots and fill the whole world with fruit" (Isa. 27:6; compare Hos. 14:4–8).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:5 nothing. Nothing of eternal value, that is, no spiritual fruit.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:6 The person who does not abide in me does not have personal faith in Christ (see notes on v. 4; Ezek. 15:1–8; Heb. 6:7–8). Fire is a common symbol for divine judgment (e.g., Isa. 30:27; Matt. 3:12 and parallels; 5:22; 18:8; 25:41).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:7 Two conditions are given for answered prayer: abiding in Jesus, and his words abiding in believers (thus transforming their thinking).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:10–11 Obedience is all about joy. The OT prophets foresaw a great end-time rejoicing (e.g., Isa. 35:10; 51:3; 61:10; Zeph. 3:14–17). God threatened judgment if his people would not serve him "with joyfulness and gladness of heart" (Deut. 28:47–48).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:12 Love must be the distinguishing mark of Jesus' disciples (compare v. 13; Lev. 19:18; Mark 12:28–33).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:13–14 You are my friends. In the OT, only Abraham and Moses are called friends of God (Ex. 33:11; Isa. 41:8). Jesus extends this privilege to all obedient believers.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:16 You did not choose me. The disciples willingly followed Jesus when he called them. Jesus chose them, however, before they followed (see Romans 1; Ephesians 1; also John 15:19). that you should go and bear fruit. The purpose of Christ's choosing people is not only that their sins be forgiven and they have eternal life. It is also so their lives will be fruitful in fulfilling God's purposes.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:22 They would not have been guilty of sin does not mean all sin (see Rom. 3:23), but the specific sin of rejecting God's supreme revelation in Christ (see John 15:18, 23, 24).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:25 Compare Ps. 35:19; 69:4.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:26 The Helper is the Holy Spirit; see notes on 14:16–17; 14:26. whom I will send . . . who proceeds from the Father. Both the Father and the Son will send the Holy Spirit into the world in new fullness at Pentecost (see Acts 2:1–33; also note on John 7:39). When believers bear witness about Christ, the Holy Spirit works invisibly through their words. On the pronoun "he," see note on 14:26.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:2 whoever kills you will think he is offering service to God. Not all religions are good. In fact, some teach that their followers are doing good when they kill true followers of the Son of God. (E.g., Acts 8:1–3.)

FACT

Praying in Jesus' name (16:23; compare 14:13) is not about whether or not the prayer ends with the exact words "in Jesus' name." It means acknowledging that Jesus is our advocate or mediator before God the Father (Rom. 8:34; Heb. 7:25; 1 John 2:1).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:5 none of you asks me. But Peter did ask this exact question in 13:36 (compare 14:5), so the present tense of "asks" clearly means, "none of you at the present time is asking me."

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:7 the Helper. See notes on 14:16–17; 14:26.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:10 because I go to the Father. Jesus will no longer be in the world to teach about righteousness, but the Holy Spirit will come to continue that function, through instruction of believers (v. 13) and through the words of those believers as they bear witness to the gospel.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:11 because the ruler of this world is judged. Satan; see note on 12:31.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:13 On the Spirit of truth, see note on 14:16–17. The Spirit's ministry of guiding Jesus' followers into all the truth is a promise especially for these 11 disciples. It applies to their work of writing or overseeing the writing of the NT books. The promise also has a broader application to all believers (Rom. 8:14; Gal. 5:18). The ability to declare the things that are to come gives evidence of the full deity of the Holy Spirit (see Isa. 48:14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:16–19 A little while . . . again a little while. The first reference is plainly to the brief period between the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus. The second reference is to the resurrection appearances. The phrase occurs four other times in John (see 7:33; 12:35; 13:33; 14:19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:23 In that day (that is, after Jesus' resurrection) you will ask nothing of me probably means Jesus' disciples will not have to ask him questions about the meaning of his death and resurrection. They will understand through the Holy Spirit's ministry (v. 13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:24 Until now you have asked nothing in my name. While Jesus was on earth the disciples had not prayed to the Father in the name of Jesus. But now he was saying that they should do so. Regarding the meaning of praying "in Jesus' name," see notes on 1:12–13; 14:13.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:25 The hour is coming refers to the time after Jesus' resurrection (see Luke 24:27; Acts 1:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:28 Now I am leaving the world and going to the Father most naturally refers to his ascension (Luke 24:50–51; Acts 1:3, 9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:32 Will be scattered, each to his own home probably echoes Zech. 13:7 (quoted in Matt. 26:31 and parallels; compare Matt. 26:56b). The shepherd will be deserted by his sheep.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:1 Jesus lifted up his eyes to heaven, a customary posture in prayer (compare Ps. 123:1). the hour has come. See note on John 2:4. The opening petition glorify your Son implies a claim to deity, since God will not give his glory to another (see Isa. 42:8; 48:11).

FACT

Jesus' final prayer. In 17:1–26, Jesus prays for himself (vv. 1–5) and for his disciples (vv. 6–19). He also prays for people in the future who will believe in Jesus because of the disciples' words (vv. 20–26). He asks God for unity and love among them all.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:2–3 That they know you implies an intimate relationship with God as a person. the only true God. See Deut. 6:4; John 5:44. Jesus, in turn, is the "one-of-a-kind" Son sent by the Father (see 1:14, 18; 3:16, 18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:2 The Father's granting of authority over all flesh to Jesus (compare 5:27) marks the start of a new era (see Isa. 9:6–7; Dan. 7:13–14; see also Matt. 11:27; 28:18). "All flesh" means the whole human race.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:5 Jesus again claims that he existed before the world existed (see 1:1, 14; 3:13; 6:62; 8:58; 16:28; 17:24). The universe is not eternal but was created by God. Jesus speaks of a sharing of glory between the Father and the Son prior to creation, implying that this has been the case from all eternity.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:6 Jesus' revelation of God's name includes making known the Father's works and words (see 1:18; 8:19, 27; 10:38; 12:45; 14:9–11).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:9 Those whom you have given me are those who have believed or who would come to believe in Christ (see vv. 2, 6, 12; also 6:37, 39; 10:29).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:11 I am no longer in the world. See note on 16:28. keep them. From denying Christ. Holy Father. This is the only time in the NT that this form of address refers to God the Father (see Lev. 11:44; compare Ps. 71:22; 111:9; Isa. 6:3). that they may be one, even as we are one. There should be a unity among believers that reflects the unity between God the Father and God the Son.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:12 your name. Jesus came in God the Father's authority and represented the Father's entire character. son of destruction. Judas.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:14 your word. Jesus' own life and teachings, which are the revelation of himself as the Word of God (1:1, 14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:15 keep them. The central request of the prayer is repeated (see v. 11). from the evil one. That is, Satan. But the Greek can also mean "from evil" (see ESV footnote). See 1 John 5:19.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:16 Those who believe in Christ are not of the world (see 3:3–8). They have different desires, different goals, and a different God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:17 Sanctify them. The sanctification of Christians is a lifelong process. It involves separation from evil and growth in moral purity in attitudes, thoughts, and actions. This occurs in the truth, that is, as Christians believe, think, and live according to "the truth" in relation to God, themselves, and the world. your word is truth. God's Word (the Bible) is truth itself and is the standard against which everything else must be tested.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:18 I have sent them into the world. Jesus actually declares that he is sending them in 20:21. He repeats that commission at his ascension (Matt. 28:19–20).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:21 that they may all be one. See v. 11 and note; v. 22. In us refers to the believer's spiritual union with God and to the personal fellowship resulting from that union.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:22 Glory probably refers to the excellence of God's character as shown in Jesus' life (see 1:14). given to them. Christians reflect God's excellency in their own lives, in imitation of Christ.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:24 The whole purpose of salvation is communicated in this verse. It begins now, but its completion comes after this life. See includes the idea of entering into and experiencing something. You loved me before the foundation of the world implies that love and interaction among the members of the Trinity has existed eternally (compare v. 5).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:26 your name. See note on 5:43. I in them. Compare 14:20; 17:23. God lived in the midst of Israel in the tabernacle (Ex. 40:34), and he frequently assured his people that he was in their midst (Ex. 29:45–46; Deut. 23:14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:1–19:42 These chapters tell of Jesus' betrayal by Judas (18:1–11), his informal hearing before Annas (18:12–27), his Roman trial before Pilate (18:28–19:16a), and his crucifixion and burial (19:16b–42). Only John reports Jesus' appearance before Annas, and the Roman trial is covered in more detail than in the Synoptic Gospels. John does not provide an account of Jesus' formal Jewish trial before Caiaphas and the Sanhedrin. John emphasizes that everything occurring in this final week fulfills Scripture and occurs in accordance with God's plan.

The Last Supper

After Jesus and his disciples ate the Passover meal, they crossed the Kidron Valley and entered a garden called Gethsemane (meaning "oil press"), where they often spent time while visiting Jerusalem (see Luke 22:39).

Jesus' Arrest, Trial, and Crucifixion

The path from Jesus' arrest to his crucifixion (part of which is often called the Via Dolorosa, "Way of Sorrows") is difficult to retrace with certainty; the traditional route was fixed by Franciscan monks in the fourteenth century. The Bible records that after the Passover meal, Judas led a contingent of soldiers to Gethsemane to arrest Jesus (1). From there Jesus was led to Annas (location unknown), who sent him to his son-in-law Caiaphas, the high priest (2). The Jewish leaders then appealed to the Roman governor Pilate to have Jesus put to death (3). Luke records that Pilate sent Jesus to Herod Antipas (4), who questioned Jesus but returned him to Pilate without rendering any judgment (5). Pilate then sent Jesus to be crucified at Golgotha (6).

FACT

The Jews believed that high priests were appointed for life, but the Roman authorities replaced them often. Perhaps this is why the Jewish officers consulted Annas, who had been high priest from A.D. 5–15, before consulting his son-in-law Caiaphas, who held the office at that time (18:12–24).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:1 the brook Kidron. East of Jerusalem, between the city and the Mount of Olives. The garden is likely Gethsemane, on the Mount of Olives (Matt. 26:36; Mark 14:32).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:3 The band of soldiers was sent to prevent a riot during the festival. The officers from the chief priests and the Pharisees (that is, the temple police) were the primary arresting officers. Lanterns and torches were needed to track down a suspect thought to be hiding in the dark corners of the garden.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:5 Jesus' self-identification, I am he, implies his deity (see note on 6:35). This is also suggested by the soldiers' reaction in the following verse.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:6 Falling to the ground is a common and natural reaction to divine revelation (Ezek. 44:4; Acts 9:4; Rev. 1:17).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:8–9 Jesus is the good shepherd who voluntarily chooses death to save his "sheep" (6:39; 10:28; 17:12; see 10:11, 15, 17–18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:10 Peter's sword was likely the Roman short sword that could be hidden under a garment (compare Luke 22:38). Peter probably intended to kill the soldier with a lethal blow to the head, but the servant only lost an ear. Luke adds that Jesus immediately healed the ear (Luke 22:51). Malchus. Only John records the slave's name.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:11 Drink the cup is a metaphor for death and symbolizes God's wrath (see Ps. 75:8; Isa. 51:17, 22; Jer. 25:15; also Rev. 14:10; 16:19). Note that the Father gives Jesus the cup.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:13 Under the Romans, three wealthy families controlled the important position of high priest. Annas was the patriarch of one of these families (see Acts 4:6). He served as high priest A.D. 6–15. The position was then held by five of his sons, including his son-in-law Caiaphas. Even after his time in office ended, Annas basically controlled the position.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:14 Caiaphas. See 11:49–52.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:15–16 The other disciple is probably John himself, "the disciple whom Jesus loved" (compare 20:2; 21:24; see also 13:23).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:19 The high priest is Annas (see note on v. 13). Questioning Jesus about his disciples and his teaching suggests that the primary concern is theological, though political charges are later made as well (see 19:7, 12).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:20 nothing in secret. Jesus' reply echoed God's words in the book of Isaiah (Isa. 45:19; 48:16). Jesus' point was that his message was the same in private as in public. He was not guilty of conspiracy. John records instances of Jesus' teaching both in synagogues (John 6:59) and in the temple area (2:14–21; 8:20; 10:23; see also note on 2:14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:22 struck. Likely a sharp slap (compare Matt. 26:67; Acts 23:1–5). The rebuke may echo Ex. 22:28 (quoted by Paul in Acts 23:5).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:24 Before Jesus can be brought to the Roman governor, charges must be confirmed by the high priest, Caiaphas, who presided over the Sanhedrin. Caiaphas was high priest for nearly 18 years (c. A.D. 18–36).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:26 the man whose ear Peter had cut off. Malchus. See note on v. 10.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:27 rooster crowed. Compare 13:38.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:28 The governor's headquarters has long been identified with the Antonia Fortress on the northwest corner of the Temple Mount. This large fortress allowed immediate access to the temple to stop any disturbance. However, many scholars believe that the Palace of Herod the Great would have afforded better accommodations for Pilate. This palace fortress, today called the Citadel, was at the western corner of the city. Early morning probably means shortly after sunrise, when the Sanhedrin met in formal session and pronounced its verdict on Jesus (Matt. 27:1–2 and parallels). not be defiled.

According to tradition, Jews could not go into a Gentile building or home with a roof on it without becoming ceremonially unclean. Passover may refer to the entire Feast of Unleavened Bread, which lasted seven days (see Luke 22:1). Thus "eat the Passover" probably means "continue to celebrate the ongoing feast" (compare 2 Chron. 30:21). The other Gospels state that Jesus had already eaten the Passover Feast with his disciples (Matt. 26:17–29; Luke 22:1–23; see also John 13:1).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:29 Pilate was appointed by the emperor Tiberius and served as governor of Judea A.D. 26–36 (see note on Luke 23:1). Pilate went outside, respecting the religious sensitivities of the Jews (see note on John 18:28). This leads to a dramatic situation as Pilate repeatedly goes outside to face the people (v. 29, 38; 19:4–5, 13) then goes back inside to speak to Jesus (18:33; 19:1, 9–11). Therefore many of Jesus' statements about himself in this section are spoken out of the hearing of his Jewish opponents.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:31 Pilate is not interested in judging internal Jewish disputes (compare Acts 18:14–15). It is not lawful for us to put anyone to death. The Romans had taken away the Sanhedrin's right to impose capital punishment. Known exceptions are probably either mob actions (Stephen's death in Acts 7; previous attempts to stone Jesus) or official Jewish actions when Roman oversight was weak. The Sanhedrin clearly wanted Jesus' execution to be done in keeping with Roman law. But since Pilate would not be interested in condemning someone for a religious crime (see Matt. 26:64; Luke 22:69–71; John 8:58–59; 10:33; 19:7), they needed to bring a political charge against Jesus. They said that he claimed to be king in opposition to Caesar (see 18:33, 37; 19:3, 12, 15, 19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:32 by what kind of death he was going to die. Compare 12:33; 21:19. The Jews thought crucifixion was horrible. If the Sanhedrin had put Jesus to death, he would have been stoned for blasphemy (Lev. 24:16; compare John 10:33; Acts 7:57–58).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:33 King of the Jews. Pilate's question aims to determine whether Jesus is a threat to Rome's power.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:36 Jesus' description of the nature of his kingdom echoes similar passages in Daniel (e.g., Dan. 2:44; 7:14, 27). See also John 6:15.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:37 Jesus as the truth fulfills the teaching of the OT (1:17) and reveals the true God (see 1:14, 17; 5:33; 14:6; also 8:40, 45–46; 14:9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:38 What is truth? Pilate apparently decides that Jesus is a teacher of abstract philosophy and poses no threat to the Roman government. He seeks no answer from the only one who could give him the answer. I find no guilt in him. Pilate states three time his belief that Jesus is innocent (see 19:4, 6; compare Luke 23:4), and yet, under extensive pressure, he sentences Jesus to death (compare John 19:12–16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:39 As in v. 28 (see note), at the Passover refers to the entire seven-day festival.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:40 Barabbas means "son of the father." Ironically, the people wanted Barabbas released rather than the true Son of the Father, Jesus. robber. Barabbas had committed many crimes, including robbery, insurrection, and murder (see Matt. 27:16; Mark 15:7; Luke 23:18–19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:1 Jesus' sentencing begins. flogged him. Jesus was beaten before (v. 1) and after being sentenced to death (e.g., Matt. 27:26; Mark 15:15). It seems likely that this first flogging was the lightest form of beating that the Romans administered for minor crimes. John 19:1 and Luke 23:16 refer to this lighter flogging, whereas Matt. 27:26 and Mark 15:15 use a stronger verb to refer to the much more severe beating that Jesus received after Pilate pronounced the sentence of death.

FACT

The English word excruciating is related to the word crucify. It should remind all English-speaking believers of the intense pain Jesus bore on the cross to accomplish their salvation.

FACT

The inscription on Jesus' cross stated that he was "Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews." Some of the onlookers urged Pilate to change it to read, "This man said, I am king of the Jews." But Pilate let the sign remain as it was. Ironically, then, Pilate proclaimed the truth, for Jesus truly is the King of all who believe in him (19:19–22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:2 The crown of thorns is a mock crown ridiculing Jesus' claim of being a king. The purple robe (compare Matt. 27:28; Mark 15:17) is a mock royal robe. Purple is the imperial color. The soldiers' actions are ironic, since Jesus truly is the King.

Golgotha and the Temple Mount

For many centuries, Christians have worshiped at the Church of the Holy Sepulcher in the belief that this was the place where Jesus was crucified, buried, and rose from the dead. This view was challenged in 1883 by General Charles Gordon, who argued that the Garden Tomb, a site just north of the Old City of Jerusalem, was the true site of Calvary.

According to the biblical writers, the requirements of the site were that it was outside the walls of Jerusalem at the time (Heb. 13:12), in a garden (John 19:41), near the city (John 19:20), and called Golgotha, meaning "place of a skull" (Matt. 27:33).

In the 1960s, excavations were carried out below the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, showing that it was built on an isolated mass of rock in the middle of an extensive quarry (which was in use from the eighth until the first century B.C.). This spur of rock was left unquarried in ancient times, because of the poor quality of the limestone. In the sides of the quarry and of this rock, a series of rock-cut tombs of the style of the first century A.D. were found.

This would indicate that the area was not then included within the city walls, as the dead were always buried outside the city. In support of the second and third points, some fortified remains found in the northern part of the nearby Jewish Quarter excavations have been identified as the Gennath (Garden) Gate mentioned by Josephus in his description of the Second Wall (Jewish War 5.146). It is assumed that this gate derived its name from a garden which lay just to the north outside the gate. Indeed, a layer of arable soil was found above the quarry fill.

The claim that the site could have been known as "the place of the skull" is said to be based on an ancient Jewish tradition reported by early Christian writers, such as Origen and Epiphanius, that the skull of Adam is preserved in this hill.

General Gordon's identification of the Garden Tomb with that of Christ was based on his discernment of the shape of a skull in the contours of the hill on the western escarpment of which the Garden Tomb is located. It has since been proven that this tomb was, in fact, a typical tomb of the First Temple period and could never have been called a "new tomb" in the time of Christ. Because of its tranquility, however, and its contrast to the bustle of the Holy Sepulcher, the site is today still regarded by many as the tomb of Christ.

The reconstruction drawing shows the traditional site of the crucifixion (that is, the Holy Sepulcher). Three crosses are shown on the Hill of Golgotha. The Second Wall of Jerusalem was built above the quarry face. The Temple Mount forms the backdrop to this view, with the Antonia Fortress on the left, the temple in the center, and the Royal Stoa on the far right.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:3 Hail, King of the Jews! mimics the "Hail, Caesar!" shouted to the Roman emperor.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:5 Pilate probably said "Behold the man!" sarcastically, as if to say, "What possible threat could this man pose?" John may have included this detail in his account to ironically highlight Jesus' identity as one who truly is the perfect man.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:6 Crucify him, crucify him. On crucifixion, see note on Matt. 27:35. Take him yourselves. Pilate uses sarcasm, fully aware that the Jews do not have the authority to impose the death penalty (see note on John 18:31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:7 The Jews' comment recalls Lev. 24:16. See note on John 8:59.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:8 Pilate was even more afraid. See the reference to Pilate's wife's dream (Matt. 27:19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:9 his headquarters. See note on 18:28. Where are you from? Jesus' origins were frequently at issue in his dealings with his opponents (e.g., 7:27–28; 8:14; 9:29–30). For John, there are clear spiritual implications to Pilate's question (see 18:36–37). gave him no answer. Compare Isa. 53:7; Mark 14:61; 15:5; 1 Pet. 2:22–23.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:11 From above refers to God. He who delivered me over to you probably refers to Caiaphas, the high priest (see 18:24, 28).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:12 Pilate remains unconvinced of Jesus' guilt. He sentences him to die only after intense pressure from the Jewish leaders (vv. 13–16). not Caesar's friend. "Friend" here is likely a technical term, used here by the Jewish leaders to accuse Pilate of being disloyal to Caesar (see v. 15; Matt. 22:17, 21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:13 The Greek for judgment seat here implies a raised area used for official judgments (see Matt. 27:19). The name Gabbatha also probably indicates a "raised place." The exact locations of the Stone Pavement and the judgment seat, however, are uncertain.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:14 The day of Preparation of the Passover may refer to the day preceding the Sabbath of Passover week (compare Matt. 27:62; Mark 15:42; Luke 23:54; see note on John 18:28). Thus all four Gospels agree that Jesus' Last Supper was a Passover meal eaten on Thursday evening (by Jewish reckoning, the beginning of Friday). About the sixth hour means about noon. This is an approximate statement since people did not keep precise time. Mark 15:25 has "the third hour" for the crucifixion. Various solutions have been proposed. The answer may simply be that the actual time was around 9:30–10:00 A.M. and John knew this but chose to emphasize that it was nearing the time when the Passover lambs would begin to be sacrificed in Jerusalem. Thus he highlights a direct connection with Jesus as “the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world” (John 1:29). Behold your King! Pilate’s words again show the irony of the situation (see note on 19:5).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:15 By professing to acknowledge Caesar alone as their king, the Jewish leaders betray their national heritage (in which God himself is their ultimate King; see Judg. 8:23; 1 Sam. 8:7). They also deny their own messianic expectations.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:16 After being sentenced, the person was first beaten (see note on v. 1) and then executed.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:17 Jesus set out carrying his own cross until he collapsed on the way. Simon of Cyrene was then forced to carry the cross (see Matt. 27:32 and parallels). He went out is in keeping with the Jewish requirement that executions take place outside the camp or city (see Lev. 24:14; Num. 15:35–36). Place of a Skull. It may have had this name because it was a place of execution, because the area had a number of tombs, or possibly because the site in some way resembled a skull (see Mark 15:22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:18 On crucifixion, see notes on 18:32; Matt. 27:35. Jesus’ crucifixion between two criminals recalls Ps. 22:16 and Isa. 53:12.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:19 The inscription indicated a person’s specific crime. the King of the Jews. This is another example of John’s frequent use of double meaning and irony (see note on 3:14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:20 Aramaic was the language most widely understood by the Jewish population of Palestine. Latin was the official language of Rome. Greek was the “international language” of the empire, understood by both Jews and Gentiles. Using multiple languages for the inscription made sure almost everyone was aware of the official reason for Jesus’ crucifixion.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:23 The soldiers’ actions fulfilled Scripture (see notes on v. 24; 12:37–40).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:24 John quotes Psalm 22 (the psalm most frequently quoted in the NT). Here David provides numerous prophetic details of the execution scene that are fulfilled in Jesus’ crucifixion nearly a thousand years later. This is the first of several references to Jesus as the righteous sufferer in keeping with Psalm 22 (see John 19:28, 36, 37).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:25 On Jesus' mother, see vv. 26–27 and 2:1–5. His mother's sister may be Salome, the mother of the sons of Zebedee mentioned in Matthew and Mark. On Mary the wife of Clopas, see Luke 24:18. Regarding Mary Magdalene, see John 20:1–18 (compare Luke 8:2–3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:26–27 Jesus provided for his mother (Ex. 20:12; Deut. 5:16). She was almost certainly a widow and probably in her late 40s or early 50s, with little or no personal income.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:28–29 The reference to Scripture being fulfilled is most likely an allusion to Ps. 69:21 (compare Matt. 27:34, 48; see also Ps. 22:15). The sour wine (see Mark 15:36) Jesus is offered here was used by soldiers to quench their thirst. It is different than the "wine mixed with myrrh," a sedative that Jesus refused on the way to the cross (Mark 15:23). Hyssop was used for the sprinkling of blood on the doorposts at the original Passover (Ex. 12:22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:30 It is finished proclaims that Jesus had completed all the work the Father sent him to accomplish (see 4:34; 9:4), particularly his work of bearing the penalty for sins (see Heb. 9:11–12, 25–28). The term gave up emphasizes the voluntary nature of Jesus' self-sacrifice (see note on John 10:17) and echoes Isa. 53:12. his spirit. Jesus' human spirit, which he voluntarily released from his body that it might return to God the Father's presence (see Luke 23:43, 46). It returned to his body at his resurrection (John 20:1).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:31 On the day of Preparation, see note on v. 14. That Sabbath was a high day (that is, a special Sabbath) because it was the Sabbath of Passover week. The Jews' request was based on Deut. 21:22–23 (compare Josh. 8:29). Bodies of hanged criminals were not to defile the land by remaining on a tree overnight. legs might be broken. The Romans typically left decaying bodies on crosses long after death (see note on Matt. 27:35). However, on certain ceremonial occasions, they could take the bodies down early. If a person's legs were broken, he could not push himself up to be able to breathe more easily, thus speeding up his death.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:34 The flow of blood and water indicates that Jesus truly died as a fully human being with a genuine human body.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:36 Not one of his bones will be broken. This is the third scriptural proof (see vv. 24, 28) cited by John to indicate that Jesus' death fulfills Scripture (Ps. 34:20; also Ex. 12:46). The spear piercing his body likewise failed to break any bones.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:37 The second of two texts fulfilled by the Roman soldiers' actions in v. 34 is Zech. 12:10: They will look on him whom they have pierced (also cited in Rev. 1:7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:38 Joseph of Arimathea, a wealthy member of the Jewish ruling council (Matt. 27:57), asks Pilate for Jesus' body, fulfilling Isa. 53:9. The location of Arimathea is not certain, though some identify it as Ramah (or Ramathaim-Zophim; see 1 Sam. 1:19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:41 Regarding the place where Jesus was crucified, see note on v. 17. Garden indicates a large space; a gardener is mentioned in 20:15. tomb. See note on Mark 15:46.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:42 Regarding the Jewish day of Preparation, see note on v. 14. The Sabbath was rapidly approaching. Work had to stop, including that of carrying spices or moving a corpse.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:1–29 Chapter 20 covers the aftermath of Jesus' crucifixion and burial: the empty tomb, the risen Jesus' encounter with Mary Magdalene, and Jesus' appearances to his disciples and their commissioning (v. 21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:1 The first day of the week is Sunday, which therefore has become the day that believers set aside to worship the Lord (see Acts 20:7; 1 Cor. 16:2). Mary Magdalene left before dawn to go to Jesus' tomb to complete the burial preparations (Luke 24:1), which had to be left undone due to the beginning of the Sabbath (see note on John 19:42). The other Gospels indicate that other women were with her (also see note on 20:2). while it was still dark. Compare the slightly different points in time of the process in Matt. 28:1; Mark 16:2; and Luke 24:1. Matthew's Gospel explains that the stone had been "rolled back" by "an angel of the Lord" (Matt. 28:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:2 At this point Mary has no thought of resurrection. The plural we suggests the presence of other women besides Mary. On the other disciple, see vv. 3–4 and note on 18:15–16.

FACT

Why John believed. Upon seeing the empty tomb, Mary Magdalene thought someone had stolen Jesus' body. If someone had done this, however, they probably would have taken everything of value in the tomb, including the expensive burial linens. Instead, the linens were neatly placed on the bench. When "the other disciple" saw this, he was convinced that Jesus had truly risen from the dead (20:1–8).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:5 stooping to look in, he saw. Apparently by now it is daylight. He (the "other disciple," vv. 2–4) did not go in, perhaps because of Simon Peter's status among the Twelve (e.g., 6:67–69).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:6 The linen cloths lying there are clear evidence that Jesus' body had not been taken by grave robbers or by his disciples (see Matt. 27:62–66; 28:11–15), or by his enemies, who would not have taken the time to remove these cloths (see John 19:40). The NT elsewhere affirms the real physical nature of Jesus' resurrection body (see Matt. 28:9; Luke 24:30, 39, 42; John 20:17, 20, 27; Acts 10:41). Most likely Jesus unwrapped these cloths from his body when he awakened from death and left them behind.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:7 The reference to the face cloth being folded up in a place by itself suggests that Jesus himself had taken it off and folded it neatly.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:8–9 the other disciple . . . also went in. The presence of two male witnesses made evidence acceptable under Jewish law (see Deut. 17:6; 19:15). As yet they did not understand the Scripture proves that the disciples did not make up a story to fit what they thought was predicted by Scripture. Only later, aided by the Spirit's teaching ministry (see notes on John 14:26; 16:13), were they able to understand. John may be thinking of specific OT passages (such as Ps. 16:10; Isa. 53:10–12; Hos. 6:2) or of broader themes in the whole of Scripture (Luke 24:25–27, 32, 44–47).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:11–12 Mary (Magdalene, see vv. 1, 18) saw two angels in white. Angels often appear in pairs (e.g., Acts 1:10) and are often depicted as dressed in white (e.g., Dan. 10:5–6; Rev. 15:6).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:15 Mary mistook Jesus for the gardener, perhaps because it was not fully light (see v. 1). She may also have turned and seen someone there but had then turned back toward the tomb as she spoke (in v. 16 she "turned" again to speak directly to Jesus). After his resurrection, the disciples did not always immediately recognize Jesus (see Luke 24:16, 31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:16 Jesus said to her, "Mary." Hearing only her name, Mary recognizes the voice of Jesus (compare 10:3–4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:17 I have not yet ascended does not deny the fact that Jesus' spirit went to the Father in heaven at the moment of his death (see note on 19:30). Rather, it means that his bodily ascension after his resurrection had not yet occurred (see Luke 24:51; Acts 1:9–11). To my Father and your Father maintains a difference between how God is Christ's God and Father and how he is the disciples' God (see note on John 1:14). But he also calls believers his brothers, implying a personal relationship.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:19 Some interpreters understand the doors being locked to imply that Jesus miraculously passed through the door or the walls of the room. Since Jesus clearly had a real physical body with flesh and bones after he rose from the dead (see note on v. 6 and verses mentioned there), it is possible that the door was miraculously opened so that Jesus could enter (compare Acts 12:10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:21–22 These verses contain the "Great Commission" (compare Matt. 28:16–20). They provide the conclusion of the entire Gospel's presentation of Jesus as the one sent from the Father (see note on John 3:17). The Sent One (Jesus) has now become the Sender. He sends his followers to serve as his messengers and representatives (see 17:18). All three persons of the Godhead are involved in this commissioning: as the Father sent Jesus, so Jesus sends his disciples (20:21), equipping them with the Holy Spirit (v. 22). When Jesus breathed on them and said, "Receive the Holy Spirit," it prepared them for what happened when the Holy Spirit was given at Pentecost (see Acts 2). This does not mean that the Holy Spirit had no presence in the disciples' lives prior to this point (see note on John 7:39).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:23 The expressions they are forgiven and it is withheld both represent perfect-tense verbs in Greek and could also be translated, “they have been forgiven” and “it has been withheld.” The idea is not that individual Christians or churches have authority on their own to forgive or not forgive people. Rather, as the church proclaims the gospel message of forgiveness of sins in the power of the Holy Spirit (see v. 22), it simply reflects what God in heaven has already done (see note on Matt. 16:19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:25 Apparently, Thomas thinks the disciples may have seen a ghost (compare Matt. 14:26).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:26 Eight days later refers to the following Sunday, one week after Easter (see v. 19), because the first day was also included in counting the number of days. the doors were locked. See note on v. 19.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:28 Thomas’s confession of Jesus as his Lord and God confirms the references to Jesus as God in 1:1, 18. This is one of the clearest NT texts on the deity of Christ. Some false religious cults try to explain this away by arguing that Thomas’s statement was merely an exclamation of astonishment that, in effect, took God’s name in vain. Such an explanation is unthinkable, however, given the strong Jewish moral convictions of the day and because Thomas said these words to him, that is, to Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:29 Note the possible echo of this text in 1 Pet. 1:8.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:30–31 John’s purpose statement and conclusion repeat his major themes: Jesus’ identity as the Christ and Son of God (see 1:41, 34), his selected messianic “signs” (see notes on 1:19–12:50; 2:11), the importance of believing in Jesus, and the gift of eternal life (see 1:12; 3:16; 17:3). On Jesus’ unique status as “Son of God,” see note on 1:14.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:1–25 Epilogue: The Roles of Peter and of the Disciple Whom Jesus Loved. Chapter 21 describes Jesus’ third and final resurrection appearance in this Gospel. It also compares the callings of Peter and “the disciple whom Jesus loved.”

FACT

“Stretch out your hands” (21:18–19) refers to the way in which people were crucified. The victim’s hands were bound to the horizontal bar of the cross. Jesus predicted that Peter would die in the same horrific way that his Lord and Savior had died.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:1 With the weeklong festival of Unleavened Bread now past, the disciples have left Jerusalem and returned to Galilee.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:2 The names of the sons of Zebedee are James and John (Matt. 4:21 and parallels). Luke mentions that they were “partners with Simon” in fishing before being called by Jesus (Luke 5:10). See also note on John 1:40.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:3 Night was the preferred time for fishing in ancient times (Luke 5:5). Fish caught during the night could be sold fresh in the morning.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:7 The disciple whom Jesus loved must be one of the seven mentioned in v. 2. He is almost certainly John the son of Zebedee, the author of the Gospel (see Introduction: Author, Date, and Recipients; and note on v. 24).

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:9 charcoal fire. See 18:18.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:11 Probably 153 represents the number of fish counted. Fishermen routinely counted the number of fish prior to selling them fresh at the market.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:15–17 On Simon, son of John, see 1:42. Peter has denied Jesus three times (18:15–18, 25–27). Now Jesus asks Peter three times to reaffirm his love for him, and then he recommissions him. Jesus’ question, “do you love me more than these?” probably means, “Do you love me more than these other disciples do?” In these three questions and answers, Peter uses the same verb for “love” all three times (Greek phileō) but Jesus uses a different verb for “love” in the first two questions (Greek agapaō) and then switches to Peter’s word phileō in the third question. The two words are often used interchangeably. Peter is grieved because Jesus kept asking him if he loved him. You know everything is an affirmation of Christ’s deity. Feed my lambs. Jesus, as the true shepherd, appoints Peter and the other apostles to assist him by caring for his people (see 1 Pet. 5:1–4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:18–19 Stretch out your hands pictures crucifixion. Early Christian sources mention Peter's martyrdom without telling how it happened.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:24 This is the disciple is typical of the way in which John, as the author of the Gospel, refers to himself either indirectly or in the third person. Other examples include: the "disciple whom Jesus loved" (21:7; cf. 20:2), "one" of the Twelve (v. 20), and one of the "sons of Zebedee" (v. 2). These identify the author as the apostle John. We know is the author referring to himself, although he probably includes his readers in this affirmation of the truth of his Gospel account.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:25 The world itself could not contain the books emphasizes the limitless nature of all Jesus accomplished for mankind's salvation as the eternal Son of God (see 1:1–3) through his incarnation, life, death, resurrection, and ascension.

Author and Date

Acts is a sequel to the Gospel of Luke. Both were written by Luke, a physician who traveled with the apostle Paul. Acts ends with Paul under house arrest, awaiting trial before Caesar, c. A.D. 62. Many scholars assume Acts was written then because it does not record Paul’s defense, release, and further gospel preaching.

Theme

The Holy Spirit empowers believers to declare the gospel among both Jews and Gentiles. In doing so they establish the church. The church is the fulfillment of God’s promises from the beginning of time.

Purpose

Luke’s purpose for writing his Gospel (see Luke 1:3–4) applies to Acts as well: to give an “orderly” account of the early church after Christ’s resurrection. Dedicating the two-volume work to Theophilus, Luke wanted him to have “certainty” about what he had been taught.

Key Themes

Acts tells of the witness of the early church to the truth of the gospel—a theme first introduced in 1:8:

1. The witness is worldwide—Judea, Samaria, the “end of the earth” (1:8).

2. The witness includes all kinds of people (chs. 2–5; 10:1–11:18; 14:8–18; 16:11–15, 25–34; 17:22–31).
3. God guides the church’s witness (4:5–22; 23:12–22; 24:1–23; 27:21–26).
4. Faithful witnesses must be prepared to suffer and even die because of their testimony to Christ (5:41–42; 7:54–60).
5. The Holy Spirit empowers the witness (1:8; 2:1–13; 8:17; 13:2–12; 19:6).
6. Effective witness demands unity in the church (2:42–47; 4:32–37; 5:12–14).
7. Jesus’ resurrection is a key part of the witness (1:22; 2:22–36; 17:30–31).
8. Acceptance of the message depends both on human response and on God’s sovereign will (2:47; 11:18; 13:48).
9. The witness to the gospel calls for a response (26:27–29). It requires repenting of one’s sins in the name of Christ. This brings forgiveness of sins (e.g., 2:38).
10. Witnesses must always maintain integrity before the world (18:12–15; 23:29; 25:18; 26:31–32).
11. Christian witnesses continue the ministry that Christ “began” (1:1).
12. Faithful witness can bring great results (4:4; 13:48–49; 17:4; 28:30–31).

The Global Message of Acts

Acts and Redemptive History

The book of Acts begins in Jerusalem, the capital city of the Jews, but ends in Rome, the capital city of the Gentiles. It begins with the ministry of Peter, apostle to the Jews, but ends with the ministry of Paul, apostle to the Gentiles (see Gal. 2:7–8; 1 Tim. 2:7). The direction of Acts is one of ever-expanding global reach.

Acts 1:8 sums up the global significance of the book of Acts: “But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth.”

Reversing the Curse of Babel

In Genesis 11 the pride of mankind led to the building of the tower of Babel. But God brought low mankind’s arrogance. He scattered the human race throughout the earth and gave different languages to different people groups, preventing a second attempt at a unified monument to human pride like Babel.

In Acts 2, the curse of Babel is reversed. Instead of one language becoming many, many languages become one. As travelers from distant lands descend on Jerusalem at Pentecost, the Holy Spirit falls on the disciples and they speak in tongues, “and at this sound the multitude came together, and they were bewildered, because each one was hearing them speak in his own language” (Acts 2:6). With the pouring out of the Spirit right after Christ’s ascension, God was beginning to undo the effects of sin. Indeed, Peter said that Pentecost was the beginning of the “last days” predicted by Joel (Acts 2:16–21). The gospel’s global reach is thus beautifully depicted in the events of Acts 2.

To the End of the Earth

The rest of Acts then describes the ongoing spread of the gospel outward from Jerusalem. This is in fulfillment of the ancient promises to Abraham (soon after Babel) that in him all the nations of the earth would be blessed (Gen. 12:1–3). The first seven chapters of Acts show the gospel spreading in Jerusalem. Chapters 8–9 describe its spread to the surrounding regions. Chapters 10–28 show the gospel going to the end of the earth, to Rome itself. In this way Acts 1:8 becomes an outline of the whole book of Acts.

Even the final verse of Acts records the unstoppable spread of the gospel: Paul was "proclaiming the kingdom of God and teaching about the Lord Jesus Christ with all boldness and without hindrance" (28:31).

The end of the Bible completes the global explosion of the gospel that begins in Acts. In Revelation 5 John sees twenty-four elders fall down before the Lamb and sing,

> "Worthy are you to take the scroll >   and to open its seals, > for you were slain, and by your blood you ransomed people for God >   from every tribe and language and people and nation, > and you have made them a kingdom and priests to our God, >   and they shall reign on the earth." (Rev. 5:9–10; compare 7:9)

Universal Themes in Acts

The global reach of the gospel. In Acts God calls his people, led by the apostles, to be witnesses of Jesus "to the end of the earth" (Acts 1:8). In chapter 2, Luke makes a deliberate point of recording the various nations represented at Pentecost in Jerusalem—"Parthians and Medes and Elamites and residents of Mesopotamia, Judea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia, Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Lybia belonging to Cyrene, and visitors from Rome, both Jews and proselytes, Cretans and Arabians" (2:9–11). This is a remarkably comprehensive list of nations that covers virtually the entire Roman Empire and thus the whole known world of the time. Acts shows us God's determination to bring his blessings to every corner of the cosmos.

The welcome of all kinds of people into the family of God. Not only does the gospel reach to all the corners of the earth in Acts, it also reaches to all kinds of people—an Ethiopian eunuch (Acts 8:26–40), a Roman centurion (10:1–48), lame men (3:1–10; 14:8–10), a merchant woman (16:11–15), a Philippian jailer (16:25–34), members of the religious elite in Athens (17:34), and magicians and sorcerers (19:18–19). In his great grace, God welcomes all kinds of people into his family.

The sovereignty of God in all things. As much as any book in the Bible, Acts lifts up the sovereign rule of God over everything in both life and salvation. This sovereignty extends to every square inch of the globe and is a deep comfort for Christians everywhere. Acts shows us God's sovereignty in appointing men and women to eternal life (Acts 2:39, 41, 47; 5:14; 11:24; 13:48), in granting faith and repentance (3:16; 5:31; 11:18; 15:8–9; 16:14; 18:27), and even in the cruel cross of Christ (2:23–24; 3:18; 4:27–28). All things, even acts of great evil, are ultimately governed by the wise hand of God, yet never in such a way that he himself could be accused of wrongdoing (see James 1:13–14, 17).

The Global Message of Acts for Today

Word and deed. Throughout Acts, ministry involves both word and deed, both speaking and doing, both preaching and serving. Miraculous acts of healing, for example, were "signs and wonders" that pointed to the life-changing power of the gospel. In Acts 14:3, we are told that Paul and Barnabas were "speaking boldly for the Lord, who bore witness to the word of his grace, granting signs and wonders to be done by their hands." Christians sometimes emphasize either word or deed to the neglect of the other. The New Testament teaches us to make God's Word our first priority in ministry (1 Cor. 1:22–23), yet the gospel must be clothed in love and good deeds, lest we "unsay" with our actions what we say with our lips (1 John 3:18).

Christian generosity with one another. The church is called to be kind and generous to all those made in God's image. Yet believers are to show special kindness to one another (Gal. 6:10). We see this beautifully in Acts, as believers share possessions in common with one another in a bold sacrifice of love (Acts 2:42–47; 4:32–37). As Christ poured his life out in self-giving compassion for us when we were in need, so we give of ourselves to others who are in need.

The power of the Holy Spirit. The worldwide mission of the church began only when the Holy Spirit came upon God's people (Acts 1:8; compare Luke 24:49). In a day when the Spirit is often the most neglected person of the Trinity, especially in the Christian West, the global church must learn from Acts to treasure the Spirit and his presence and power. Acts declares to the church today that it is by the power of the Spirit that the gospel will go forth to the end of the earth. This is humbling to human pride, yet it is also our great hope. Evangelistic effectiveness does not depend ultimately on human cleverness and sophisticated strategies. Global fruitfulness comes as weak Christians depend on the Spirit and look to him for strength.

The Promise of the Holy Spirit

ACTS 1 [†]In the first book, O [a]Theophilus, I have dealt with all that Jesus began [b]to do and teach, 2[†]until the day when [c]he was taken up, after he [d]had given commands [e]through the Holy Spirit to the apostles whom he had chosen. 3[†][f]He presented himself alive to them after his suffering by many proofs, appearing to them during forty days and speaking about the kingdom of God.

4[†]And while staying [1] with them [g]he ordered them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the promise of the Father, which, he said, "you heard from me; 5[†]for [h]John baptized with water, [h]but you will be baptized [i]with [2] the Holy Spirit not many days from now."

The Ascension

6[†]So when they had come together, they asked him, "Lord, [j]will you at this time [k]restore the kingdom to Israel?" 7[†]He said to them, [l]"It is not for you to know [m]times or seasons that the Father has fixed by his own authority. 8[†]But you will receive [n]power [o]when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and [p]you will be [q]my witnesses in Jerusalem and in all Judea and [r]Samaria, and [s]to the end of the earth." 9[†]And when he had said these things, as they were looking on, [t]he was lifted up, and [u]a cloud took him out of their sight. 10[†]And while they were gazing into heaven as he went, behold, [v]two [w]men stood by them in [x]white robes, 11[†]and said, [y]"Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking into heaven? This Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, [z]will [a]come in the same way as you saw him go into heaven."

Matthias Chosen to Replace Judas

12[†]Then [b]they returned to Jerusalem from the mount called Olivet, which is near Jerusalem, a Sabbath day's journey away. 13And when they had entered, they went up to [c]the upper room, where they were staying, [d]Peter and John and James and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew, James the son of Alphaeus and Simon [e]the Zealot and Judas the son of James. [14][†]All these [f]with one accord [g]were devoting themselves to prayer, together with [h]the women and Mary the mother of Jesus, and [i]his brothers. [3]

[15][†]In those days Peter stood up among [j]the brothers (the company of persons was in all about 120) and said, [16][†]"Brothers, [k]the Scripture had to be fulfilled, which the Holy Spirit spoke beforehand by the mouth of David concerning Judas, [l]who became a guide to those who arrested Jesus. [17]For [m]he was numbered among us and was allotted his share in [n]this ministry." [18][†](Now this man [o]acquired a field with [p]the reward of his wickedness, and falling headlong [4] he burst open in the middle and all his bowels gushed out. [19]And it became known to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that the field was called [q]in their own language Akeldama, that is, Field of Blood.) [20][†]"For it is written in the Book of Psalms, > [r]"'May his camp become desolate, > and let there be no one to dwell in it';

and

> [s]"'Let another take his office.'

[21]So one of the men who have accompanied us during [t]all the time that the Lord Jesus [u]went in and out among us, [22] [v]beginning from the baptism of John until the day when [w]he was taken up from us—one of these men must become with us [x]a witness to his resurrection." [23][†]And they put forward two, Joseph called [y]Barsabbas, who was also called [z]Justus, and [a]Matthias. [24]And [b]they prayed and said, "You, Lord, [c]who know the hearts of all, show which one of these two you have chosen [25]to take the place in [d]this ministry and [e]apostleship from which Judas turned aside to go to his own place." [26][†]And they cast lots for them, and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was numbered with the eleven apostles.

The Coming of the Holy Spirit

ACTS 2 [†]When [f]the day of Pentecost arrived, they were all together in one place. [2][†]And suddenly there came from heaven a sound like [g]a mighty rushing wind, and [h]it filled the entire house where they were sitting. [3][†]And divided tongues [i]as of fire appeared to them and rested [1] on each one of them. [4][†]And they were all [j]filled with the Holy Spirit and began [k]to speak in other tongues [l]as the Spirit gave them utterance.

[5][†]Now there were dwelling in Jerusalem Jews, devout men from every nation under heaven. [6]And [m]at this sound the multitude came together, and they were bewildered, because each one was hearing them speak in his own language. [7]And [n]they were amazed and astonished, saying, “Are not all these who are speaking [o]Galileans? [8]And how is it that we hear, each of us in his own native language? [9][†]Parthians and [p]Medes and [q]Elamites and residents of Mesopotamia, Judea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia, [10]Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya belonging to Cyrene, and visitors from Rome, [11]both Jews and [r]proselytes, Cretans and Arabians—we hear them telling in our own tongues the mighty works of God.” [12]And [s]all were amazed and perplexed, saying to one another, “What does this mean?” [13]But others [t]mocking said, “They are filled with new wine.”

Peter’s Sermon at Pentecost

[14][†]But Peter, standing with the eleven, lifted up his voice and addressed them: “Men of Judea and all who dwell in Jerusalem, let this be known to you, and give ear to my words. [15]For these people are not drunk, as you suppose, [u]since it is only the third hour of the day. [2] [16]But this is what was uttered through the prophet Joel:

[17][†] [v]“‘And in the last days it shall be, God declares, [w]that I will pour out my Spirit [x]on all flesh, and your sons and [y]your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions,
    and your old men shall dream dreams;
[18] even on my male servants [3] and female servants in those days I will pour out my Spirit, and [z]they shall prophesy.

19[†] And I will show wonders in the heavens above and signs on the earth below, blood, and fire, and vapor of smoke;
20 [a]the sun shall be turned to darkness and the moon to blood, before [b]the day of the Lord comes, the great and magnificent day.
21 And it shall come to pass that [c]everyone who calls upon the name of the Lord shall be saved.’

22“Men of Israel, hear these words: Jesus of Nazareth, [d]a man attested to you by God [e]with [f]mighty works and wonders and signs that [g]God did through him in your midst, as you yourselves know— 23[†]this Jesus, [4] [h]delivered up according to [i]the definite plan and [j]foreknowledge of God, [k]you crucified and killed by the hands of lawless men. 24 [l]God raised him up, loosing the pangs of death, because [m]it was not possible for him to be held by it. 25[†]For David says concerning him, [n]“‘I saw the Lord always before me, for he is at my right hand that I may not be shaken; 26 therefore my heart was glad, and my tongue rejoiced;

my flesh also will dwell [o]in hope.
27 For you will not abandon my soul to [p]Hades, [q]or let your [r]Holy One [s]see corruption.
28 You have made known to me the paths of life;
you will make me full of gladness with your presence.’

29[†]“Brothers, I may say to you with confidence about [t]the patriarch David [u]that he both died and [v]was buried, and [w]his tomb is with us to this day. 30 [x]Being therefore a prophet, and knowing that [y]God had sworn with an oath to him that he would set one of his descendants on his throne, 31he foresaw and spoke about the resurrection of the Christ, that [z]he was not abandoned to Hades, nor did his flesh see corruption. 32This Jesus [a]God raised up, [b]and of that we all are witnesses. 33[†] [c]Being therefore [d]exalted at the right hand of God, and having received from [e] the Father [f] the promise of the Holy Spirit, [g] he has poured out this that you yourselves are seeing and hearing. [34][†]For [h] David did not ascend into the heavens, but he himself says,

[i] "'The Lord said to my Lord,
"Sit at my right hand,
[35] until I make your enemies your footstool."'

[36]Let all the house of Israel therefore know for certain that [j] God has made him [k] both Lord and Christ, this Jesus [l] whom you crucified."

[37]Now when [m] they heard this they were cut to the heart, and said to Peter and the rest of the apostles, "Brothers, [n] what shall we do?" [38][†]And Peter said to them, [o] "Repent and [p] be baptized every one of you [q] in the name of Jesus Christ [r] for the forgiveness of your sins, and you will receive [s] the gift of the Holy Spirit. [39][†]For [t] the promise is for you and [u] for your children and for all [v] who are far off, everyone [w] whom the Lord our God calls to himself." [40][†]And with many other words he bore witness and continued to exhort them, saying, [x] "Save yourselves from this [y] crooked generation." [41][†]So those who received his word were baptized, and [z] there were added that day about three thousand souls.

The Fellowship of the Believers

[42][†]And [a] they devoted themselves to the apostles' [b] teaching and the [c] fellowship, to [d] the breaking of bread and the prayers. [43]And awe [5] came upon every soul, and [e] many wonders and signs were being done through the apostles. [44][†]And all who believed were together and [f] had all things in common. [45][†]And [f] they were selling their possessions and belongings and distributing the proceeds to all, as any had need. [46]And day by day, [g] attending the temple [h] together and [i] breaking bread in their homes, they received their food [j] with glad and generous hearts, [47][†]praising God and [k] having favor with all the people. And the Lord [l] added to their number [m] day by day those who [n] were being saved.

The Lame Beggar Healed

ACTS 3 Now Peter and John were [o]going up to the temple at [p]the hour of prayer, [q]the ninth hour. [1] [2][†]And a man [r]lame from birth was being carried, [s]whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple that is called the Beautiful Gate [t]to ask alms of those entering the temple. [3]Seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple, he asked to receive alms. [4]And Peter directed his gaze at him, as did John, and said, “Look at us.” [5]And he fixed his attention on them, expecting to receive something from them. [6][†]But Peter said, [u]“I have no silver and gold, but what I do have I give to you. [v]In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk!” [7]And he took him by the right hand and raised him up, and immediately his feet and ankles were made strong. [8]And [w]leaping up he stood and began to walk, and entered the temple with them, walking and leaping and praising God. [9]And [x]all the people saw him walking and praising God, [10]and recognized him as the one who sat at the Beautiful Gate of the temple, asking for alms. And they were filled with wonder and amazement at what had happened to him.

Peter Speaks in Solomon’s Portico

[11][†][y]While he clung to Peter and John, all the people, utterly astounded, ran together to them in [z]the portico called Solomon’s. [12]And when Peter saw it he addressed the people: “Men of Israel, why do you wonder at this, or why do you stare at us, as though by our own power or piety we have made him walk? [13][†][a]The God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, [b]the God of our fathers, [c]glorified his servant [2] Jesus, whom [d]you delivered over and [e]denied in the presence of Pilate, [f]when he had decided to release him. [14][†]But you denied [g]the Holy and [h]Righteous One, and [i]asked for a murderer to be granted to you, [15][†]and you killed [j]the Author of life, [k]whom God raised from the dead. To this we are witnesses. [16][†]And [l]his name—by [m]faith in his name—has made this man strong whom you see and know, and the faith that is [n]through Jesus [3] has given the man this perfect health in the presence of you all.

[17][†]“And now, brothers, I know that [o]you acted in ignorance, as did also your rulers. [18][†]But what God [p]foretold [q]by the mouth of all the prophets, that [r]his Christ would [s]suffer, he thus fulfilled. [19][t]Repent therefore, and [u]turn back, that [v]your sins may be blotted out, [20][†]that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord, and that he may send the Christ [w]appointed for you, Jesus, [21][†][x]whom heaven must receive until the time for [y]restoring all the things about which [z]God spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets long ago. [22][†]Moses said, ‘The Lord God will raise up for you [a]a prophet like me from your brothers. You shall listen [b]to him in whatever he tells you. [23]And it shall be that every soul who does not listen to that prophet [c]shall be destroyed from the people.’ [24][†]And [d]all the prophets who have spoken, from Samuel and those who came after him, also proclaimed these days. [25][†][e]You are the sons of the prophets and of [f]the covenant that God made with your fathers, saying to Abraham, [g]‘And in your offspring shall all the families of the earth be blessed.’ [26][h]God, [i]having raised up his servant, sent him to you first, [j]to bless you [k]by turning every one of you from your wickedness.”

Peter and John Before the Council

ACTS 4 [†]And as they were speaking to the people, the priests and [l]the captain of the temple and [m]the Sadducees came upon them, [2][†]greatly annoyed because they were teaching the people and proclaiming [n]in Jesus the resurrection from the dead. [3][†]And they arrested them and [o]put them in custody until the next day, for it was already evening. [4][†]But many of those who had heard the word believed, and [p]the number of the men came to about five thousand.

[5][†]On the next day their rulers and elders and scribes gathered together in Jerusalem, [6][†]with [q]Annas the high priest and [r]Caiaphas and John and Alexander, and all who were of the high-priestly family. [7]And when they had set them in the midst, they inquired, [s]“By what power or [t]by what name did you do this?” [8][†]Then Peter, [u]filled with the Holy Spirit, said to them, “Rulers of the people and elders, [9]if we are being examined today [v]concerning a good deed done to a crippled man, by what means this man has been healed, [10][†]let it be known to all of you and to all the people of Israel that [w]by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified, [x] whom God raised from the dead—by him this man is standing before you well. [11][†] [y] This Jesus [1] is the stone that was [z] rejected by you, the builders, which has become the cornerstone. [2] [12][†]And there is [a] salvation [b] in no one else, for [c] there is no other [d] name under heaven given among men [3] by which we must be saved."

[13][†] [e] Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were uneducated, common men, they were astonished. And they recognized that they had been with Jesus. [14]But seeing the man who was healed [f] standing beside them, [g] they had nothing to say in opposition. [15]But when they had commanded them to leave the council, they conferred with one another, [16]saying, [h] "What shall we do with these men? For that [i] a notable sign has been performed through them is evident to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and we cannot deny it. [17]But in order that it may spread no further among the people, let us warn them [j] to speak no more to anyone in this name." [18][†]So they called them and charged them not to speak or teach at all in the name of Jesus. [19]But Peter and John answered them, [k] "Whether it is right in the sight of God to listen to you rather than to God, you must judge, [20]for [l] we cannot but speak of what [m] we have seen and heard." [21]And when they had further threatened them, they let them go, finding no way to punish them, [n] because of the people, for all were praising God [o] for what had happened. [22]For the man on whom this sign of healing was performed was more than forty years old.

The Believers Pray for Boldness

[23]When they were released, they went to their friends and reported what the chief priests and the elders had said to them. [24][†]And when they heard it, they lifted their voices [p] together to God and said, "Sovereign Lord, [q] who made the heaven and the earth and the sea and everything in them, [25]who through the mouth of our father David, your servant, [4] said by the Holy Spirit, [r] "'Why did the Gentiles rage, and the peoples plot in vain?

[26] The kings of the earth set themselves, and [s] the rulers were gathered together, against the Lord and against his [t] Anointed’ [5]—

[27][†]for truly in this city there were gathered together against your [u] holy servant Jesus, [v] whom you anointed, both [w] Herod and [x] Pontius Pilate, along [y] with the Gentiles and [z] the peoples of Israel, [28] [a] to do whatever your hand and [b] your plan had predestined to take place. [29][†]And now, Lord, [c] look upon their threats and grant to your servants [6] to continue to speak your word with all [d] boldness, [30]while [e] you stretch out your hand to heal, and signs and wonders are performed [f] through the name of your [g] holy servant Jesus.” [31][†]And when they had prayed, [h] the place in which they were gathered together was shaken, and [i] they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and [j] continued to speak the word of God with boldness.

They Had Everything in Common

[32][†]Now the full number of those who believed were of [k] one heart and [l] soul, and no one said that any of the things that belonged to him was his own, but [m] they had everything in common. [33]And with great [n] power the apostles were giving their testimony to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and [o] great grace was upon them all. [34][†] [p] There was not a needy person among them, for [q] as many as were owners of lands or houses sold them and brought the proceeds of what was sold [35]and [r] laid it at the apostles’ feet, and [s] it was distributed to each as any had need. [36][†]Thus Joseph, who was also called by the apostles Barnabas (which means [t] son of encouragement), a Levite, a native of Cyprus, [37]sold a field that belonged to him and brought the money and [u] laid it at the apostles’ feet.

Ananias and Sapphira

ACTS 5 But a man named Ananias, with his wife Sapphira, sold a piece of property, [2][†]and with his wife’s knowledge [v] he kept back for himself some of the proceeds and brought only a part of it and [w] laid it at the apostles’ feet. [3][†]But Peter said, “Ananias, why has [x] Satan filled your heart to lie [y] to the Holy Spirit and [z] to keep back for yourself part of the proceeds of the land? [4][†]While it remained unsold, did it not remain your own? And after it was sold, was it not at your disposal? Why is it that you have contrived this deed in your heart? You have not lied to man but [a]to God.” [5][†]When Ananias heard these words, he [b]fell down and breathed his last. And [c]great fear came upon all who heard of it. [6]The young men rose and [d]wrapped him up and carried him out and buried him.

[7]After an interval of about three hours his wife came in, not knowing what had happened. [8]And Peter said to her, “Tell me whether you [1] sold the land for so much.” And she said, “Yes, for so much.” [9][†]But Peter said to her, “How is it that you have agreed together [e]to test [f]the Spirit of the Lord? Behold, the feet of those who have buried your husband are at the door, and they will carry you out.” [10][†]Immediately she fell down at his feet and breathed her last. When the young men came in they found her dead, and they carried her out and buried her beside her husband. [11]And [g]great fear came upon the whole church and upon all who heard of these things.

Many Signs and Wonders Done

[12][†]Now many signs and wonders were regularly done among the people [h]by the hands of the apostles. And they were all [i]together in [j]Solomon’s Portico. [13][†]None of the rest dared join them, but [k]the people held them in high esteem. [14]And [l]more than ever believers were added to the Lord, multitudes of both men and women, [15][†] [m]so that they even [n]carried out the sick into the streets and laid them on cots and mats, that as Peter came by [o]at least his shadow might fall on some of them. [16]The people also gathered from the towns around Jerusalem, [p]bringing the sick and those afflicted with unclean spirits, and they were all healed.

The Apostles Arrested and Freed

[17][†]But the high priest rose up, and all who were with him (that is, the party of [q]the Sadducees), and filled with [r]jealousy [18]they arrested the apostles and [s]put them in the public prison. [19]But during the night [t]an angel of the Lord [u]opened the prison doors and brought them out, and said, [20][†]“Go and stand in the temple and speak to the people all [v]the words of [w]this [x]Life.” [21][†]And when they heard this, [y]they entered the temple [z]at daybreak and began to teach.

Now when the high priest came, and those who were with him, they called together the council, all the senate of the people of Israel, and sent to the prison to have them brought. [22]But when the officers came, they did not find them in the prison, so they returned and reported, [23]“We found the prison securely locked and the guards standing at the doors, but when we opened them we found no one inside.” [24]Now when [a]the captain of the temple and the chief priests heard these words, they were greatly perplexed about them, wondering what this would come to. [25]And someone came and told them, “Look! The men whom you put in prison [b]are standing in the temple and teaching the people.” [26]Then [c]the captain with the officers went and brought them, but not by force, for [d]they were afraid of being stoned by the people.

[27]And when they had brought them, they set them before the council. And the high priest questioned them, [28]saying, [e]“We strictly charged you not to teach in this name, yet here you have filled Jerusalem with your teaching, and you [f]intend to bring this man’s blood upon us.” [29]But Peter and the apostles answered, [g]“We must obey God rather than men. [30][†][h]The God of our fathers [i]raised Jesus, [j]whom you killed by hanging him on [k]a tree. [31]God exalted [l]him at his right hand as [m]Leader and [n]Savior, [o]to give [p]repentance to Israel and [o]forgiveness of sins. [32]And [q]we are witnesses to these things, and [r]so is the Holy Spirit, [s]whom God has given to those who obey him.”

[33]When they heard this, they [t]were enraged and wanted to kill them. [34][†]But a Pharisee in the council named [u]Gamaliel, [v]a teacher of the law held in honor by all the people, stood up and gave orders to put the men outside for a little while. [35]And he said to them, “Men of Israel, take care what you are about to do with these men. [36][†]For [w]before these days Theudas rose up, [x]claiming to be somebody, and a number of men, about four hundred, joined him. He was killed, and all who followed him were dispersed and came to nothing. [37]After him Judas the Galilean rose up in the days of [y]the census and drew away some of the people after him. He too perished, and all who followed him were scattered. [38]So in the present case I tell you, keep away from these men and let them alone, for [z]if this plan or this undertaking is of man, it will fail; [39]but [a]if it is of God, you will not be able to overthrow them. You [b]might even be found opposing God!” So they took his advice, [40][†]and [c]when they had called in the apostles, [d]they beat them and charged them not to speak in the name of Jesus, and let them go. [41]Then they left the presence of the council, [e]rejoicing that they were counted worthy [f]to suffer dishonor for [g]the name. [42]And every day, [h]in the temple and from house to house, they did not cease teaching and [i]preaching [j]that the Christ is Jesus.

Seven Chosen to Serve

ACTS 6 [†]Now in these days [k] when the disciples were increasing in number, a complaint by the Hellenists [1] arose against the Hebrews because their widows were being neglected in [l] the daily distribution. 2And the twelve summoned the full number of the disciples and said, “It is not right that we should give up preaching the word of God to serve tables. 3 [m] Therefore, brothers, [2] pick out from among you seven men [n] of good repute, [o] full of the Spirit and of wisdom, whom we will appoint to this duty. 4But [p] we will devote ourselves to prayer and to the ministry of the word.” 5[†]And what they said pleased the whole gathering, and they chose Stephen, [q] a man full of faith and [r] of the Holy Spirit, and [s] Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolaus, [t] a proselyte of Antioch. 6[†]These they set before the apostles, and [u] they prayed and [v] laid their hands on them.

7[†]And [w] the word of God continued to increase, and the number of the disciples multiplied greatly in Jerusalem, and a great many of the priests [x] became obedient to [y] the faith.

Stephen Is Seized

8[†]And Stephen, full of grace and [z] power, was doing great wonders and signs among the people. 9[†]Then some of those who belonged to the synagogue of the Freedmen (as it was called), and of the Cyrenians, and of the Alexandrians, and of those from Cilicia and Asia, rose up and disputed with Stephen. 10But [a] they could not withstand the wisdom and the Spirit with which he was speaking. 11Then [b] they secretly instigated men who said, “We have heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses and God.” 12And they stirred up the people and the elders and the scribes, and they came upon him and seized him and brought him before the council, 13and they [c] set up false [d] witnesses who said, “This man never ceases to speak words against [e] this holy place and the law, 14[†]for we have heard him say that this Jesus of Nazareth [f] will destroy this place and will [g] change [h] the customs that Moses delivered to us.” [15][†]And gazing at him, all who sat in the council saw that his face [i] was like the face of an angel.

Stephen’s Speech

ACTS 7 [†]And the high priest said, “Are these things so?” [2]And Stephen said:

[j] “Brothers and fathers, hear me. [k] The God [l] of glory appeared to our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, [m] before he lived in Haran, [3]and said to him, [n] ‘Go out from your land and from your kindred and go into the land that I will show you.’ [4] [m] Then he went out from the land of the Chaldeans and lived in Haran. And [o] after his father died, [p] God removed him from there into this land in which you are now living. [5]Yet he gave him no inheritance in it, not even a foot’s length, but promised [q] to give it to him as a possession and to his offspring after him, [r] though he had no child. [6][†]And God spoke to this effect—that [s] his offspring would [t] be sojourners in a land belonging to others, who would enslave them and afflict them [u] four hundred years. [7][†]‘But [v] I will judge the nation that they serve,’ said God, ‘and after that they shall come out [w] and worship me in this place.’ [8]And [x] he gave him the covenant of circumcision. And [y] so Abraham became the father of Isaac, and [z] circumcised him on the eighth day, and [a] Isaac became the father of Jacob, and [b] Jacob of the twelve patriarchs.

[9][†]“And the patriarchs, [c] jealous of Joseph, [d] sold him into Egypt; but [e] God was with him [10]and rescued him out of all his afflictions and [f] gave him favor and wisdom before Pharaoh, king of Egypt, [g] who made him ruler over Egypt and over all his household. [11]Now [h] there came a famine throughout all Egypt and Canaan, and great affliction, and our fathers could find no food. [12] [i] But when Jacob heard that there was grain in Egypt, he sent out our fathers on their first visit. [13]And [j] on the second visit [k] Joseph made himself known to his brothers, and [l] Joseph’s family became known to Pharaoh. [14][†]And [m] Joseph sent and summoned Jacob his father and all his kindred, [n] seventy-five persons in all. [15]And [o] Jacob went down into Egypt, and [p] he died, he [q] and our fathers, [16][†]and [r] they were carried back to Shechem and laid in the tomb that [s] Abraham had bought for a sum of silver from the sons of Hamor in Shechem.

[17]“But [t] as the time of the promise drew near, which God had granted to Abraham, [u] the people increased and multiplied in Egypt [18]until there arose over Egypt another king [v] who did not know Joseph. [19] [w] He dealt shrewdly with our race and forced our fathers to expose their infants, [x] so that they would not be kept alive. [20][†] [y] At this time Moses was born; and he was beautiful in God’s sight. And he was brought up for three months in his father’s house, [21]and [z] when he was exposed, Pharaoh’s daughter adopted him and brought him up as her own son. [22][†]And Moses [a] was instructed in [b] all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and he was [c] mighty in his words and deeds.

[23][†]“When he was forty years old, it came into his heart [d] to visit his brothers, the children of Israel. [24]And seeing one of them being wronged, he defended the oppressed man and avenged him by striking down the Egyptian. [25]He supposed that his brothers would understand that God was giving them salvation by his hand, but they did not understand. [26] [e] And on the following day he appeared to them as they were quarreling and tried to reconcile them, saying, ‘Men, you are brothers. Why do you wrong each other?’ [27]But the man who was wronging his neighbor thrust him aside, saying, [f] ‘Who made you a ruler and a judge over us? [28]Do you want to kill me as you killed the Egyptian yesterday?’ [29]At this retort [g] Moses fled and became an exile in the land of Midian, [h] where he became the father of two sons.

[30]“Now when forty years had passed, [i] an angel appeared to him [j] in the wilderness of Mount Sinai, in a flame of fire in a bush. [31]When Moses saw it, he was amazed at the sight, and as he drew near to look, there came the voice of the Lord: [32] [k] ‘I am the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham and of Isaac and of Jacob.’ And Moses trembled and did not dare to look. [33]Then the Lord said to him, [l] ‘Take off the sandals from your feet, for the place where you are standing is holy ground. [34] [m] I have surely seen the affliction of my people who are in Egypt, and [n] have heard their groaning, and [o] I have come down to deliver them. [p] And now come, I will send you to Egypt.’

[35][†]“This Moses, whom they rejected, [q]saying, ‘Who made you a ruler and a judge?’—this man God sent as both ruler and redeemer [r]by the hand of the angel who appeared to him in the bush. [36] [s]This man led them out, performing [t]wonders and signs [u]in Egypt and [v]at the Red Sea and [w]in the wilderness for [x]forty years. [37][†]This is the Moses who said to the Israelites, ‘God will raise up for you [y]a prophet like me from your brothers.’ [38][†]This is the one [z]who was in the congregation in the wilderness with [a]the angel who spoke to him at Mount Sinai, and with our fathers. [b]He received [c]living [d]oracles to give to us. [39]Our fathers refused to obey him, but thrust him aside, and [e]in their hearts they turned to Egypt, [40][†]saying to Aaron, [f]‘Make for us gods who will go before us. As for this Moses who led us out from the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him.’ [41]And [g]they made a calf in those days, and offered a sacrifice to the idol and [h]were rejoicing in [i]the works of their hands. [42][†]But [j]God turned away and [k]gave them over to worship [l]the host of heaven, as it is written in the book of the prophets:

[m]“‘Did you bring to me slain beasts and sacrifices,
  [n]during the forty years in the wilderness, O house of Israel?
[43] You took up the tent of [o]Moloch and the star of your god Rephan, the images that you made to worship;
and I will send you into exile beyond Babylon.’

[44][†]“Our fathers had [p]the tent of witness in the wilderness, just as he who spoke to Moses [q]directed him to make it, according to the pattern that he had seen. [45]Our fathers in turn [r]brought it in with Joshua when they [s]dispossessed the nations [t]that God drove out before our fathers. So it was [u]until the days of David, [46] [v]who found favor in the sight of God and [w]asked to find a dwelling place for [x]the God of Jacob. [1] [47]But it was [y]Solomon who built a house for him. [48][†] [z]Yet the Most High does not dwell [a]in houses made by hands, as the prophet says, [49] [b]“‘Heaven is my throne,

[c] and the earth is my footstool.
What kind of house will you build for me, says the Lord, or what is the place of my rest?
50 Did not my hand make all these things?'

51[†] [d] "You stiff-necked people, [e] uncircumcised in heart and ears, you always resist the Holy Spirit. [f] As your fathers did, so do you. 52[†] [g] Which of the prophets did your fathers not persecute? And they killed those who announced beforehand the coming of [h] the Righteous One, [i] whom you have now betrayed and murdered, 53you who received the law [j] as delivered by angels and [k] did not keep it."

The Stoning of Stephen

54Now when they heard these things [l] they were enraged, and they [m] ground their teeth at him. 55But he, [n] full of the Holy Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw [o] the glory of God, and Jesus standing [p] at the right hand of God. 56And he said, "Behold, I see [q] the heavens opened, and [r] the Son of Man standing [p] at the right hand of God." 57But they cried out with a loud voice and stopped their ears and rushed together [2] at him. 58[†]Then [s] they cast him out of the city and [t] stoned him. And [u] the witnesses laid down their garments [v] at the feet of a young man named Saul. 59[†]And as they were stoning Stephen, [w] he called out, "Lord Jesus, [x] receive my spirit." 60And [y] falling to his knees he cried out with a loud voice, [z] "Lord, do not hold this sin against them." And when he had said this, [a] he fell asleep.

Saul Ravages the Church

ACTS 8 [†]And [b] Saul [c] approved of his execution.

And there arose on that day a great persecution against the church in Jerusalem, and [d] they were all scattered throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria, except the apostles. 2Devout men buried Stephen and made great lamentation over him. 3[†]But [e] Saul was ravaging the church, and entering house after house, he [f] dragged off men and women and committed them to prison.

Philip Proclaims Christ in Samaria

[4]Now [g] those who were scattered went about preaching the word.
[5][†] [h] Philip went down to the city [1] of Samaria and proclaimed to them the Christ. [6][†] [i] And the crowds with one accord paid attention to what was being said by Philip when they heard him [j] and saw the signs that he did. [7]For [k] unclean spirits, crying out with a loud voice, came out of many who had them, and many who were paralyzed or lame were healed. [8]So [l] there was much joy in that city.

Simon the Magician Believes

[9][†]But there was a man named Simon, [m] who had previously practiced magic in the city and amazed the people of Samaria, [n] saying that he himself was somebody great. [10]They all paid attention to him, from the least to the greatest, saying, [o] "This man is the power of God that is called [p] Great." [11]And they paid attention to him because for a long time he had [q] amazed them with his magic. [12]But when [r] they believed Philip as he preached good news [s] about the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, [r] they were baptized, both men and women. [13][†]Even Simon himself believed, and after being baptized he continued with Philip. And [t] seeing signs and [u] great miracles [2] performed, [v] he was amazed.

[14][†]Now when [w] the apostles at Jerusalem heard that [x] Samaria had received the word of God, they sent to them Peter and John, [15]who came down and prayed for them [y] that they might receive the Holy Spirit, [16]for [z] he had not yet [a] fallen on any of them, but [b] they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. [17][†]Then [c] they laid their hands on them and [d] they received the Holy Spirit. [18][†]Now when Simon saw that the Spirit was given through the laying on of the apostles' hands, he offered them money, [19]saying, "Give me this power also, so that anyone on whom I lay my hands may receive the Holy Spirit." [20]But Peter said to him, [e] "May your silver perish with you, because you thought you could obtain the gift of God [f] with money! [21][†]You have neither part nor lot in this matter, for [g] your heart is not right before God. [22]Repent, therefore, of this wickedness of yours, and pray to the Lord that, [h] if possible, the intent of your heart may be forgiven you. [23]For I see that you are in [i]the gall[3] of bitterness and in [j]the bond of iniquity.” [24][†]And Simon answered, [k]“Pray for me to the Lord, that nothing of what you have said may come upon me.”

[25][†]Now when they had testified and spoken the word of the Lord, they returned to Jerusalem, [l]preaching the gospel to many villages of the Samaritans.

Philip and the Ethiopian Eunuch

[26][†]Now [m]an angel of the Lord said to Philip, “Rise and go toward the south[4] to the road that goes down from Jerusalem to Gaza.” This is a desert place. [27]And he rose and went. And there was an [n]Ethiopian, a [o]eunuch, a court official of Candace, queen of the Ethiopians, [p]who was in charge of all her treasure. [q]He had come to Jerusalem to worship [28]and was returning, seated in his chariot, and he was reading the prophet Isaiah. [29]And the Spirit said to Philip, “Go over and join this chariot.” [30][†]So Philip ran to him and heard him reading Isaiah the prophet and asked, “Do you understand what you are reading?” [31]And he said, [r]“How can I, unless someone [s]guides me?” And [t]he invited Philip to come up and sit with him. [32]Now the passage of the Scripture that he was reading was this:

[u]“Like a sheep he was led to the slaughter and like a lamb before its shearer is silent, so he opens not his mouth.
[33] In his [v]humiliation justice was denied him.
Who can describe his generation?
For his life is taken away from the earth.”

[34]And the eunuch said to Philip, “About whom, I ask you, does the prophet say this, about himself or about someone else?” [35]Then Philip opened his mouth, and [w]beginning with this Scripture [x]he told him the good news about Jesus. [36]And as they were going along the road they came to some water, and the eunuch said, “See, here is water! [y]What prevents me from being baptized?”[5] [38]And he commanded the chariot to stop, and they both went down into the water, Philip and the eunuch, and he baptized him.

[39][†]And when they came up out of the water, [z]the Spirit of the Lord [a]carried Philip away, and the eunuch saw him no more, and went on his way rejoicing. [40][†]But Philip found himself at Azotus, and as he passed through he preached the gospel to all the towns until he came to Caesarea.

The Conversion of Saul

ACTS 9 [†]But Saul, [b]still [c]breathing threats and murder against the disciples of the Lord, went to [d]the high priest [2]and asked him for letters [e]to the synagogues at Damascus, so that if he found any belonging to [f]the Way, men or women, he might bring them bound to Jerusalem. [3][†][g]Now as he went on his way, he approached Damascus, and suddenly a light from heaven shone around him. [4][†]And falling to the ground he heard a voice saying to him, “Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting [h]me?” [5][†]And he said, “Who are you, Lord?” And he said, “I am Jesus, [h]whom you are persecuting. [6]But [i]rise and enter the city, and you will be told [j]what you are to do.” [7][†][k]The men who were traveling with him stood speechless, [l]hearing the voice but seeing no one. [8]Saul rose from the ground, and although his eyes were opened, [m]he saw nothing. So they led him by the hand and brought him into Damascus. [9]And for three days he was without sight, and neither ate nor drank.

[10][†]Now there was a disciple at Damascus named [n]Ananias. The Lord said to him in a vision, “Ananias.” And he said, [o]“Here I am, Lord.” [11][†]And the Lord said to him, “Rise and go to the street called Straight, and at the house of Judas look for a man [p]of Tarsus named Saul, for behold, he is praying, [12]and he has seen in a vision a man named Ananias come in and [q]lay his hands on him so that he might regain his sight.” [13]But Ananias answered, “Lord, I have heard from many about this man, [r]how much evil he has done to [s]your [t]saints at Jerusalem. [14]And here he has authority from [u]the chief priests to bind all who [v]call on your name.” [15][†]But the Lord said to him, “Go, for [w]he is a chosen instrument of mine to carry my name [x]before the Gentiles and [y]kings and the children of Israel. [16]For [z]I will show him how much [a]he must suffer [b]for the sake of my name.” [17]So [c]Ananias departed and entered the house. And [d]laying his hands on him he said, “Brother Saul, the Lord Jesus who appeared to you on the road by which you came has sent me so that you may regain your sight and [e]be filled with the Holy Spirit.” [18][†]And immediately something like scales fell from his eyes, and [f]he regained his sight. Then [g]he rose and was baptized; [19][†]and [h]taking food, he was strengthened.

Saul Proclaims Jesus in Synagogues

For [i]some days he was with the disciples at Damascus. [20]And immediately he proclaimed Jesus in the synagogues, saying, [j]“He is the Son of God.” [21]And all who heard him were amazed and said, “Is not this the man who [k]made havoc [l]in Jerusalem of those who called upon this name? And has he not come here for this purpose, to bring them bound before the chief priests?” [22]But Saul [m]increased all the more in strength, and [n]confounded the Jews who lived in Damascus by proving [o]that Jesus was the Christ.

Saul Escapes from Damascus

[23][†][p]When many days had passed, the Jews [1] plotted to kill him, [24]but their [q]plot became known to Saul. [r]They were watching the gates day and night in order to kill him, [25]but his disciples took him by night and [s]let him down through an opening in the wall, [2] lowering him in a basket.

Saul in Jerusalem

[26]And [t]when he had come to Jerusalem, he attempted to join the disciples. And they were all afraid of him, for they did not believe that he was a disciple. [27][†]But [u]Barnabas took him and [v]brought him to the apostles and declared to them [w]how on the road he had seen the Lord, who spoke to him, and [x]how at Damascus he had [y]preached boldly in the name of Jesus. [28]So he went [z]in and out among them at Jerusalem, preaching boldly in the name of the Lord. [29][†]And he spoke and disputed against [a]the Hellenists. [3] But [b]they were seeking to kill him. [30][†]And when [c]the brothers learned this, they brought him down to Caesarea and sent him off [d]to Tarsus.

[31][†]So [e]the church throughout all Judea and Galilee and Samaria had peace and was being built up. And [f]walking in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Spirit, [g]it multiplied.

The Healing of Aeneas

[32][†]Now [h]as Peter went here and there among them all, he came down also to the saints who lived at Lydda. [33]There he found a man named Aeneas, bedridden for eight years, who was paralyzed. [34][†]And Peter said to him, “Aeneas, [i]Jesus Christ heals you; rise and make your bed.” And immediately he rose. [35][†][j]And all the residents of Lydda and [k]Sharon saw him, and [l]they turned to the Lord.

Dorcas Restored to Life

[36][†]Now there was in [m]Joppa a disciple named Tabitha, which, translated, means Dorcas. [4] She was full of [n]good works and acts of charity. [37]In those days she became ill and died, and when they had washed her, they laid her in [o]an upper room. [38]Since Lydda was near Joppa, the disciples, hearing that Peter was there, sent two men to him, urging him, [p]“Please come to us without delay.” [39]So Peter rose and went with them. And when he arrived, they took him to [q]the upper room. All the widows stood beside him weeping and showing tunics [5] and other garments that Dorcas made while she was with them. [40][†]But Peter [r]put them all outside, and [s]knelt down and prayed; and turning to the body [t]he said, “Tabitha, arise.” And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter she sat up. [41][†]And he gave her his hand and raised her up. Then calling the saints and widows, he presented her alive. [42]And it became known throughout all Joppa, and [u]many believed in the Lord. [43][†]And he stayed in Joppa for many days [v]with one Simon, a tanner.

Peter and Cornelius

ACTS 10 [†]At Caesarea there was a man named Cornelius, a centurion of [w]what was known as the Italian Cohort, [2][†]a devout man [x]who feared

God with all his household, gave alms generously to the people, and prayed continually to God. [3][†] [y] About the ninth hour of the day [1] [z] he saw clearly in a vision [a] an angel of God come in and say to him, “Cornelius.” [4][†]And he stared at him in terror and said, “What is it, Lord?” And he said to him, “Your prayers and your alms [b] have ascended [c] as a memorial before God. [5]And now send men to Joppa and bring one Simon who is called Peter. [6]He is lodging [d] with one Simon, a tanner, whose house is by the sea.” [7]When the angel who spoke to him had departed, he called two of his servants and a devout soldier from among those who attended him, [8]and having related everything to them, he sent them to Joppa.

Peter’s Vision

[9][†]The next day, as they were on their journey and approaching the city, [e] Peter went up [f] on the housetop about [g] the sixth hour [2] to pray. [10]And he became hungry and wanted something to eat, but while they were preparing it, he fell into [h] a trance [11]and saw [i] the heavens opened and something like a great sheet descending, being let down by its four corners upon the earth. [12][†]In it were all kinds of animals and reptiles and birds of the air. [13][†]And there came a voice to him: “Rise, Peter; kill and eat.” [14]But Peter said, “By no means, Lord; [j] for I have never eaten anything that is [k] common or [l] unclean.” [15]And the voice came to him again a second time, [m] “What God has made clean, do not call common.” [16]This happened three times, and the thing was taken up at once to heaven.

[17]Now while Peter was inwardly perplexed as to what [n] the vision that he had seen might mean, behold, [o] the men who were sent by Cornelius, having made inquiry for Simon’s house, stood at the gate [18]and called out to ask whether Simon who was called Peter was lodging there. [19]And while Peter was pondering [n] the vision, [p] the Spirit said to him, “Behold, three men are looking for you. [20]Rise and go down and [q] accompany them without hesitation, [3] for I have sent them.” [21]And Peter went down to the men and said, “I am the one you are looking for. What is the reason for your coming?” [22]And they said, “Cornelius, a centurion, an upright and [r] God-fearing man, who is well spoken of by the whole Jewish nation, was directed by [s] a holy angel to send for you to come to his house and [t] to hear what you have to say.” [23]So he invited them in to be his guests.

The next day he rose and went away with them, and [u] some of [v] the brothers from Joppa accompanied him. [24]And on the following day they entered Caesarea. Cornelius was expecting them and had called together his relatives and close friends. [25]When Peter entered, Cornelius met him and [w] fell down at his feet and [x] worshiped him. [26]But Peter lifted him up, saying, [y] “Stand up; I too am a man.” [27]And as he talked with him, he went in and found many persons gathered. [28][†]And he said to them, “You yourselves know how unlawful it is for a Jew [z] to associate with or to visit anyone of another nation, but [a] God has shown me that I should not call any person common or unclean. [29]So when I was sent for, I came without objection. I ask then why you sent for me.”

[30]And Cornelius said, [b] “Four days ago, about this hour, I was praying in my house at [c] the ninth hour, [4] and behold, [d] a man stood before me in bright clothing [31]and said, ‘Cornelius, [e] your prayer has been heard and your alms have been remembered before God. [32]Send therefore to Joppa and ask for Simon who is called Peter. He is lodging in the house of Simon, a tanner, by the sea.’ [33]So I sent for you at once, and you have been kind enough to come. Now therefore we are all here in the presence of God to hear all that you have been commanded by the Lord.”

Gentiles Hear the Good News

[34][†]So Peter opened his mouth and said: “Truly I understand that [f] God [g] shows no partiality, [35][†]but [f] in every nation anyone who fears him and [h] does what is right is acceptable to him. [36][†]As for [i] the word that he sent to Israel, [j] preaching good news of [k] peace through Jesus Christ ([l] he is Lord of all), [37]you yourselves know what happened throughout all Judea, [m] beginning [n] from Galilee after the baptism that John proclaimed: [38]how [o] God anointed Jesus of Nazareth [p] with the Holy Spirit and with [q] power. He went about doing good and healing all [r] who were oppressed by the devil, [s] for God was with him. [39][†]And [t] we are witnesses of all that he did both in the country of the Jews and in Jerusalem. [u] They put him to death by hanging him on a tree, [40]but [v]God raised him on [w]the third day and made him to [x]appear, [41][†] [y]not to all the people but to us who had been chosen by God as [z]witnesses, who ate and drank with him after he rose from the dead. [42]And [a]he commanded us to preach to the people and to testify [b]that he is the one appointed by God to be judge [c]of the living and the dead. [43][†] [d]To him [e]all the prophets bear witness that [f]everyone who believes in him receives [g]forgiveness of sins [h]through his name.”

The Holy Spirit Falls on the Gentiles

[44][†]While Peter was still saying these things, [i]the Holy Spirit fell on all who heard the word. [45]And the believers from among [j]the circumcised who had come with Peter were amazed, because [k]the gift of the Holy Spirit [l]was poured out even on the Gentiles. [46]For they were hearing them
[m]speaking in tongues and extolling God. Then Peter declared, [47][†] [n]“Can anyone withhold water for baptizing these people, who have received the Holy Spirit [o]just as we have?” [48][†]And he [p]commanded them [q]to be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ. Then they asked him to remain for some days.

Peter Reports to the Church

ACTS 11 Now the apostles and [r]the brothers [1] who were throughout Judea heard that the Gentiles also had received the word of God. [2][†]So when Peter went up to Jerusalem, [s]the circumcision party [2] criticized him, saying, [3][†][t]“You went to uncircumcised men and [u]ate with them.” [4]But Peter began and explained it to them in order: [5][v]“I was in the city of Joppa praying, and in a trance I saw a vision, something like a great sheet descending, being let down from heaven by its four corners, and it came down to me. [6]Looking at it closely, I observed animals and beasts of prey and reptiles and birds of the air. [7]And I heard a voice saying to me, ‘Rise, Peter; kill and eat.’ [8]But I said, ‘By no means, Lord; for nothing common or unclean has ever entered my mouth.’ [9]But the voice answered a second time from heaven, ‘What God has made clean, do not call common.’ [10]This happened three times, and all was drawn up again into heaven. [11]And behold, at that very moment three men arrived at the house in which we were, sent to me from Caesarea. [12][†]And the Spirit told me to go with them, [w]making no distinction. [x]These six brothers also accompanied me, and we entered the man’s house. [13]And he told us how he had seen the angel stand in his house and say, ‘Send to Joppa and bring Simon who is called Peter; [14][y]he will declare to you a message by which [z]you will be saved, you and all your household.’ [15][†]As I began to speak, [a]the Holy Spirit fell on them [b]just as on us at the beginning. [16]And I remembered the word of the Lord, how he said, [c]‘John baptized with water, but you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit.’ [17]If then [d]God gave [e]the same gift to them as he gave to us [f]when we believed in the Lord Jesus Christ, [g]who was I [h]that I could stand in God’s way?” [18][†]When they heard these things they fell silent. And they [i]glorified God, saying, [j]“Then to the Gentiles also God has [k]granted [l]repentance that leads to life.”

The Church in Antioch

[19][†][m]Now those who were scattered because of the persecution that arose over Stephen traveled as far as Phoenicia and Cyprus and Antioch, speaking the word to no one except Jews. [20][†]But there were some of them, men of Cyprus and Cyrene, who on coming to Antioch spoke to the Hellenists [3] also, [n]preaching the Lord Jesus. [21]And [o]the hand of the Lord was with them, and a great number who believed [p]turned to the Lord. [22][†]The report of this came to the ears of the church in Jerusalem, and they sent Barnabas to Antioch. [23]When he came and saw [q]the grace of God, he was glad, and he exhorted them all to remain faithful to the Lord [r]with steadfast purpose, [24]for he was a good man, [s]full of the Holy Spirit and of faith. And a great many people [t]were added to the Lord. [25][†]So Barnabas went to [u]Tarsus to look for Saul, [26]and when he had found him, he brought him to Antioch. For a whole year they met with the church and taught a great many people. And in Antioch the disciples were first called [v]Christians.

[27][†]Now in these days [w]prophets came down from Jerusalem to Antioch. [28][†]And one of them named [x]Agabus stood up and foretold [y]by the Spirit that there would be a great [z]famine over all the world (this took place in the days of [a]Claudius). [29]So the disciples determined, every one according to his ability, [b]to send relief to [c]the brothers [4] living in Judea. [30][†] [d]And they did so, sending it to [e]the elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

James Killed and Peter Imprisoned

ACTS 12 [†]About that time Herod the king laid violent hands on some who belonged to the church. [2][†]He killed [f]James the brother of John [g]with the sword, [3][†]and when he saw [h]that it pleased the Jews, he proceeded to arrest Peter also. This was during [i]the days of Unleavened Bread. [4][†]And when he had seized him, he put him [j]in prison, delivering him over to four [k]squads of soldiers to guard him, intending after the Passover to bring him out to the people. [5]So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest [l]prayer for him was made to God by the church.

Peter Is Rescued

[6]Now when Herod was about to bring him out, on that very night, Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, [m]bound with two chains, and sentries before the door were guarding the prison. [7]And behold, [n] an angel of the Lord [o] stood next to him, and a light shone in the cell. [p] He struck Peter on the side and woke him, saying, “Get up quickly.” And [q] the chains fell off his hands. [8]And the angel said to him, “Dress yourself and [r] put on your sandals.” And he did so. And he said to him, “Wrap your cloak around you and follow me.” [9]And he went out and followed him. He did not know that what was being done by the angel was real, but [s] thought he was seeing a vision. [10]When they had passed the first and the second guard, they came to the iron gate leading into the city. [t] It opened for them of its own accord, and they went out and went along one street, and immediately the angel left him. [11]When Peter [u] came to himself, he said, “Now I am sure that [v] the Lord has sent his angel and [w] rescued me from the hand of Herod and from all that the Jewish people were expecting.”

[12][†]When he realized this, he went to the house of Mary, the mother of [x] John whose other name was Mark, where many were gathered together and [y] were praying. [13]And when he knocked at the door of the gateway, [z] a servant girl named Rhoda came to answer. [14]Recognizing Peter’s voice, [a] in her joy she did not open the gate but ran in and reported that Peter was standing at the gate. [15]They said to her, “You are out of your mind.” But she kept insisting that it was so, and they kept saying, “It is [b] his angel!” [16]But Peter continued knocking, and when they opened, they saw him and were amazed. [17][†]But [c] motioning to them with his hand to be silent, he described to them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, “Tell these things to [d] James and to [e] the brothers.” [1] Then he departed and went to another place.

[18][†]Now when day came, there was no little disturbance among the soldiers over what had become of Peter. [19]And after Herod searched for him and did not find him, he examined the sentries and [f] ordered that they should be put to death. Then he went down from Judea to Caesarea and spent time there.

The Death of Herod

[20][†]Now Herod was angry with the people of Tyre and Sidon, and they came to him with one accord, and [g] having persuaded Blastus, the king’s chamberlain, [2] they asked for peace, because [h] their country depended on the king's country for food. [21]On an appointed day Herod put on his royal robes, took his seat upon the throne, and delivered an oration to them. [22]And the people were shouting, "The voice of a god, and not of a man!" [23]Immediately [i] an angel of the Lord struck him down, because [j] he did not give God the glory, and he was eaten by worms and breathed his last.

[24]But [k] the word of God increased and multiplied.

[25][†] [l] And Barnabas and Saul returned from [3] Jerusalem when they had completed their service, bringing with them [m] John, whose other name was Mark.

Barnabas and Saul Sent Off

ACTS 13 [†]Now there were in the church at Antioch [n] prophets and [n] teachers, [o] Barnabas, Simeon who was called Niger, [1] Lucius of Cyrene, Manaen a lifelong friend of [p] Herod the tetrarch, and Saul. [2][†]While they were worshiping the Lord and fasting, [q] the Holy Spirit said, [r] "Set apart for me Barnabas and Saul [s] for the work to which I have called them." [3][†]Then after fasting and [t] praying they laid their hands on them and [u] sent them off.

Barnabas and Saul on Cyprus

[4][†]So, being sent out [v] by the Holy Spirit, they went down to Seleucia, and from there they sailed to Cyprus. [5][†]When they arrived at Salamis, they proclaimed the word of God [w] in the synagogues of the Jews. And they had [x] John to [y] assist them. [6][†]When they had gone through the whole island as far as Paphos, they came upon a certain [z] magician, [a] a Jewish false prophet named Bar-Jesus. [7][†]He was with [b] the proconsul, Sergius Paulus, a man of intelligence, who summoned Barnabas and Saul and sought to hear the word of God. [8][†]But Elymas the [z] magician (for that is the meaning of his name) [c] opposed them, seeking to turn [d] the proconsul away from the faith. [9][†]But Saul, who was also called Paul, [e] filled with the Holy Spirit, looked intently at him [10]and said, "You [f] son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, full of all deceit and [g] villainy, will you not stop [h] making crooked [i]the straight paths of the Lord? 11[†]And now, behold, [j]the hand of the Lord is upon you, and you will be blind and unable to see the sun for a time.” Immediately mist and darkness fell upon him, and he went about seeking [k]people to lead him by the hand. 12Then the proconsul believed, when he saw what had occurred, for he was astonished at [l]the teaching of the Lord.

Paul and Barnabas at Antioch in Pisidia

13[†]Now Paul and his companions set sail from Paphos and came to Perga in Pamphylia. And [m]John left them and returned [n]to Jerusalem, 14[†]but they went on from Perga and came to Antioch in Pisidia. And [o]on the Sabbath day [p]they went into the synagogue and sat down. 15[†]After [q]the reading from [r]the Law and the Prophets, [s]the rulers of the synagogue sent a message to them, saying, “Brothers, if you have any [t]word of encouragement for the people, say it.” 16[†]So Paul stood up, and [u]motioning with his hand said:

“Men of Israel and [v]you who fear God, listen. 17 [w]The God of this people Israel [x]chose our fathers and [y]made the people great [z]during their stay in the land of Egypt, and [a]with uplifted arm he led them out of it. 18And for about [b]forty years [c]he put up with [2] them in the wilderness. 19And [d]after destroying [e]seven nations in the land of Canaan, [f]he gave them their land as an inheritance. 20[†]All this took about 450 years. And after that [g]he gave them judges until [h]Samuel the prophet. 21Then [i]they asked for a king, and God gave them Saul [j]the son of Kish, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, for forty years. 22And [k]when he had removed him, [l]he raised up David to be their king, of whom he testified and said, [m]‘I have found in David the son of Jesse [n]a man after my heart, [o]who will do all my will.’ 23 [p]Of this man’s offspring God has brought to Israel [q]a Savior, Jesus, [r]as he promised. 24Before his coming, [s]John had proclaimed [t]a baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel. 25And as John was finishing his course, [u]he said, ‘What do you suppose that I am? I am not he. No, but behold, after me one is coming, the sandals of whose feet I am not worthy to untie.’

[26]“Brothers, sons of the family of Abraham, and those among you [v]who fear God, to us has been sent [w]the message of [x]this salvation. [27]For those who live in Jerusalem and their rulers, because [y]they did not recognize him nor understand [z]the utterances of the prophets, which are read every Sabbath, [a]fulfilled them by condemning him. [28]And [b]though they found in him no guilt worthy of death, [c]they asked Pilate to have him executed. [29]And when [d]they had carried out all that was written of him, [e]they took him down from [f]the tree and laid him in a tomb. [30]But [g]God raised him from the dead, [31][†]and for many days [h]he appeared to those [i]who had come up with him [j]from Galilee to Jerusalem, [k]who are now [l]his witnesses to the people. [32]And we bring you the good news [m]that what God promised to the fathers, [33] [n]this he has fulfilled to us their children by raising Jesus, as also it is written in the second Psalm,

[o]“‘You are my Son,
today I have begotten you.’

[34]And as for the fact that he raised him from the dead, [p] [q]no more to return to corruption, he has spoken in this way,

“‘I will give you [r]the holy and sure blessings of David.’

[35]Therefore he says also in another psalm,

[s]“‘You will not let your Holy One see corruption.’

[36]For David, after he had [t]served the purpose of God in his own generation, [u]fell asleep and [v]was laid with his fathers and saw corruption, [37]but he whom [w]God raised up did not see corruption. [38][†]Let it be known to you therefore, brothers, [x]that through this man [y]forgiveness of sins is proclaimed to you, [39]and by him [z]everyone who believes is freed [3] from everything [a]from which you could not be freed by the law of Moses. [40]Beware, therefore, lest what is said in the Prophets should come about:

[41] [b]“‘Look, you scoffers, be astounded and perish;

for I am doing a work in your days, a work that you will not believe, even if one tells it to you.'"

[42][†]As they went out, the people begged that these things might be told them the next Sabbath. [43]And after the meeting of the synagogue broke up, many Jews and [c]devout [d]converts to Judaism followed Paul and Barnabas, who, as they spoke with them, urged them [e]to continue in [f]the grace of God.

[44][†]The next Sabbath almost the whole city gathered to hear the word of the Lord. [45][g]But [h]when the Jews saw the crowds, they were filled with [i]jealousy and began to contradict what was spoken by Paul, [j]reviling him. [46][†]And Paul and Barnabas spoke out boldly, saying, "It was necessary that the word of God [k]be spoken first to you. [l]Since you thrust it aside and judge yourselves [m]unworthy of eternal life, behold, we [n]are turning to the Gentiles. [47][o]For so the Lord has commanded us, saying,

[p]"'I have made you [q]a light for the Gentiles, that you may [r]bring salvation to the ends of the earth.'"

[48][†]And when the Gentiles heard this, they began rejoicing and [s]glorifying the word of the Lord, and as many as were appointed to eternal life believed. [49]And the word of the Lord was spreading throughout the whole region. [50][t]But the Jews [4] incited the devout [u]women of high standing and the leading men of the city, [v]stirred up persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and [w]drove them out of their district. [51][†]But they [x]shook off the dust from their feet against them and went to Iconium. [52]And the disciples were filled [y]with joy and [z]with the Holy Spirit.

Paul and Barnabas at Iconium

ACTS 14 [†]Now at Iconium [a]they entered together into the Jewish synagogue and spoke in such a way that a great number of both Jews and Greeks believed. [2][b]But the [c]unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles and poisoned their minds against [d]the brothers. [1] [3]So they remained for a long time, speaking boldly for [e]the Lord, who bore witness to [f]the word of his grace, [g]granting signs and wonders to be done by their hands. [4][†]But the people of the city [h]were divided; [i]some sided with the Jews and some with the apostles. [5]When an attempt was made by both Gentiles and Jews, with their rulers, [j]to mistreat them and [k]to stone them, [6]they learned of it and [l]fled to [m]Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and to the surrounding country, [7]and there they continued to preach the gospel.

Paul and Barnabas at Lystra

[8][†]Now at Lystra there was a man sitting who could not use his feet. He was [n]crippled from birth and had never walked. [9][†]He listened to Paul speaking. And Paul, looking intently at him and [o]seeing that he had faith to be made well, [2] [10]said in a loud voice, “Stand upright on your feet.” And he [p]sprang up and began walking. [11][†]And when the crowds saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voices, saying in Lycaonian, [q]“The gods have come down to us in the likeness of men!” [12]Barnabas they called [r]Zeus, and Paul, Hermes, because he was the chief speaker. [13]And the priest of [r]Zeus, whose temple was at the entrance to the city, brought oxen and garlands to the gates and [s]wanted to offer sacrifice with the crowds. [14][†]But when the apostles Barnabas and Paul heard of it, they [t]tore their garments and rushed out into the crowd, crying out, [15]“Men, [u]why are you doing these things? We also are men, [v]of like nature with you, and we bring you good news, that [w]you should turn from these [x]vain things to [y]a living God, [z]who made the heaven and the earth and the sea and all that is in them. [16]In past generations he [a]allowed all the nations [b]to walk in their own ways. [17][†]Yet [c]he did not leave himself without witness, for he [d]did good by [e]giving you rains from heaven and [f]fruitful seasons, satisfying your hearts with [g]food and [h]gladness.” [18]Even with these words they scarcely restrained the people from offering sacrifice to them.

Paul Stoned at Lystra

[19][†] [i]But Jews came from Antioch and Iconium, and having persuaded the crowds, [j]they stoned Paul and dragged him out of the city, supposing that he was dead. [20][†]But when the disciples gathered about him, he rose up and entered the city, and on the next day he went on with Barnabas to Derbe. [21][†]When they had preached the gospel to that city and had [k]made many disciples, they returned to Lystra and to Iconium and to Antioch, [22][†][l]strengthening the souls of the disciples, encouraging them [m]to continue in [n]the faith, and saying that [o]through many tribulations we must enter the kingdom of God. [23][†]And when they had [p]appointed [q]elders for them in every church, with prayer and fasting [r]they committed them to the Lord in whom they had believed.

Paul and Barnabas Return to Antioch in Syria

[24][†]Then they passed through Pisidia and came to Pamphylia. [25]And when they had spoken the word in Perga, they went down to Attalia, [26]and from there they sailed to Antioch, [s]where they had been [t]commended to the grace of God for the work that they had fulfilled. [27][†]And when they arrived and gathered the church together, [u]they declared all that God had done with them, and [v]how he had [w]opened [x]a door of faith to the Gentiles. [28]And they remained no little time with the disciples.

The Jerusalem Council

ACTS 15 [†][y]But some men came down from Judea and were teaching [z]the brothers, “Unless you are [a]circumcised [b]according to the custom of Moses, you cannot be saved.” [2]And after Paul and Barnabas had no small dissension and [c]debate with them, Paul and Barnabas and [d]some of the others were appointed to go up to Jerusalem to [e]the apostles and the elders about this question. [3]So, [f]being sent on their way by the church, they passed through both Phoenicia and Samaria, [g]describing in detail the conversion of the Gentiles, and [h]brought great joy to all [i]the brothers. [1] [4][j]When they came to Jerusalem, they were welcomed by the church and [k]the apostles and the elders, and [g]they declared all that God had done with them. [5][†]But some believers who belonged to [l]the party of the Pharisees rose up and said, [m]“It is necessary [n]to circumcise them and to order them to keep the law of Moses.”

[6][†] [o]The [k]apostles and the elders were gathered together to consider this matter. [7][†]And after there had been much [p]debate, Peter stood up and said to them, “Brothers, you know that in the early days God made a choice among you, [q]that by my mouth the Gentiles should hear [r]the word of [s]the gospel and believe. [8]And God, [t]who knows the heart, [u]bore witness to them, [v]by giving them the Holy Spirit just as he did to us, [9][†]and [w]he made no distinction between us and them, [x]having cleansed their hearts [y]by faith. [10][†]Now, therefore, why [z]are you putting God to the test [a]by placing a yoke on the neck of the disciples [b]that neither our fathers nor we have been able to bear? [11]But we [c]believe that we will be [d]saved through [e]the grace of the Lord Jesus, [w]just as they will.”

[12][†]And all the assembly fell silent, and they listened to Barnabas and Paul [f]as they related what signs and wonders God had done through them among the Gentiles. [13]After they finished speaking, [g]James replied, “Brothers, listen to me. [14][†] [h]Simeon has related how God first visited the Gentiles, to take from them [i]a people for his name. [15]And with this the words of the prophets agree, just as it is written,

[16][†] [j]“‘After this I will return, and I will rebuild the tent of David that has fallen;
I will rebuild its ruins,
    and I will restore it,
[17] that the remnant [2] of mankind [k]may seek the Lord, and all the Gentiles [l]who are called by my name, says the Lord, who makes these things [18] [m]known from of old.’

[19][†]Therefore [n]my judgment is that we should not trouble those of the Gentiles who [o]turn to God, [20]but should write to them [p]to abstain from [q]the things polluted by idols, and from [r]sexual immorality, and from [s]what has been strangled, and from [s]blood. [21]For from ancient generations Moses has had in every city those who proclaim him, [t]for he is read every Sabbath in the synagogues.”

The Council’s Letter to Gentile Believers

[22][†]Then it seemed good to [u]the apostles and the elders, with the whole church, to choose men from among them and send them to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas. They sent Judas called [v]Barsabbas, and [w]Silas, leading men among [x]the brothers, [23][†]with the following letter: [x]“The brothers, both [u]the apostles and the elders, to the brothers [3] who are of the Gentiles in Antioch and Syria and Cilicia, [y]greetings. [24][†]Since we have heard that [z]some persons have gone out from us and [a]troubled you [4] with words, unsettling your minds, although we gave them no instructions, [25]it has seemed good to us, having come [b]to one accord, to choose men and send them to you with our [c]beloved Barnabas and Paul, [26][d]men who have [e]risked their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. [27]We have therefore sent [f]Judas and Silas, who themselves will tell you the same things by word of mouth. [28][†]For it has seemed good [g]to the Holy Spirit and [h]to us [i]to lay on you no greater burden than these requirements: [29][j]that you abstain from [k]what has been sacrificed to idols, and from blood, and from what has been strangled, and from sexual immorality. If you keep yourselves from these, you will do well. Farewell.”

[30]So when they were sent off, they went down to Antioch, and having gathered the congregation together, they delivered the letter. [31]And when they had read it, they rejoiced because of its encouragement. [32][†]And Judas and Silas, who were themselves [l]prophets, encouraged and [m]strengthened [n]the brothers with many words. [33][†]And after they had spent some time, they were sent off [o]in peace by [n]the brothers to those who had sent them. [5] [35]But [p]Paul and Barnabas remained in Antioch, teaching and preaching the word of the Lord, with many others also.

Paul and Barnabas Separate

[36][†]And after some days Paul said to Barnabas, “Let us return and visit [n]the brothers [q]in every city where we proclaimed the word of the Lord, and see how they are.” [37][†]Now Barnabas wanted to take with them [r]John called Mark. [38]But Paul thought best not to take with them one [s]who had withdrawn from them in Pamphylia and had not gone with them to the work. [39][†]And there arose [t]a sharp disagreement, so that they separated from each other. [u]Barnabas took Mark with him and sailed away to Cyprus, [40]but Paul chose Silas and departed, [v]having been commended by [w]the brothers to [x]the grace of the Lord. [41][†]And he went through Syria and Cilicia, [y]strengthening the churches.

Timothy Joins Paul and Silas

ACTS 16 [†]Paul [1] came also to Derbe and to Lystra. A disciple was there, named [z] Timothy, [a] the son of a Jewish woman who was a believer, but his father was a Greek. [2]He was well spoken of by [b] the brothers [2] at Lystra and Iconium. [3][†]Paul wanted Timothy to accompany him, and he [c] took him and circumcised him because of the Jews who were in those places, for they all knew that his father was a Greek. [4][†]As they went on their way through the cities, they delivered to them for observance [d] the decisions [e] that had been reached by [f] the apostles and elders who were in Jerusalem. [5] [g] So the churches were strengthened in [h] the faith, and they increased in numbers [i] daily.

The Macedonian Call

[6][†]And [j] they went through the region of Phrygia and Galatia, having been forbidden by the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia. [7]And when they had come up to Mysia, they attempted to go into Bithynia, but [k] the Spirit of Jesus did not allow them. [8][†]So, passing by Mysia, they went down [l] to Troas. [9][†]And a vision appeared to Paul in the night: a man of Macedonia was standing there, urging him and saying, "Come over to Macedonia and help us." [10][†]And when Paul [3] had seen the vision, immediately [m] we sought to go on into Macedonia, concluding that God had called us to preach the gospel to them.

The Conversion of Lydia

[11][†]So, setting sail from Troas, we [n] made a direct voyage to Samothrace, and the following day to Neapolis, [12][†]and from there to [o] Philippi, which is a leading city of the [4] district of Macedonia and [p] a Roman colony. We remained in this city some days. [13][†]And [q] on the Sabbath day we went outside the gate [r] to the riverside, where we supposed there was a place of prayer, and we [s] sat down and spoke to the women who had come together. [14][†]One who heard us was a woman named Lydia, from the city of Thyatira, a seller of purple goods, [t] who was a worshiper of God. The Lord [u] opened her heart to pay attention to what was said by Paul. [15][†]And after she was baptized, [v] and her household as well, she urged us, saying, “If you have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come to my house and stay.” And she [w] prevailed upon us.

Paul and Silas in Prison

[16][†]As we were going to [x] the place of prayer, we were met by a slave girl who had [y] a spirit of [z] divination and [a] brought her owners much gain by fortune-telling. [17]She followed Paul and us, [b] crying out, “These men are [c] servants [5] of [d] the Most High God, who proclaim to you [e] the way of salvation.” [18][†]And this she kept doing for many days. Paul, having become greatly annoyed, turned and said to the spirit, [f] “I command you [g] in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her.” And [h] it came out that very hour.

[19][†]But [i] when her owners saw that their hope of gain was gone, they seized Paul and Silas and [j] dragged them into the marketplace before the rulers. [20][†]And when they had brought them to the magistrates, they said, “These men are Jews, and they are disturbing our city. [21]They [k] advocate customs that are not lawful for us [l] as Romans to accept or practice.” [22][†]The crowd joined in attacking them, and the magistrates tore the garments off them and gave orders [m] to beat them with rods. [23]And when they had inflicted many blows upon them, they threw them into prison, ordering the jailer to keep them safely. [24]Having received this order, he put them into the inner [n] prison and fastened their feet in [o] the stocks.

The Philippian Jailer Converted

[25][†][p] About midnight Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God, and the prisoners were listening to them, [26]and suddenly [q] there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken. And immediately [r] all the doors were opened, and [s] everyone’s bonds were unfastened. [27]When the jailer woke and saw that the prison doors were open, he drew his sword and [t] was about to kill himself, supposing that the prisoners had escaped. 28But Paul cried with a loud voice, “Do not harm yourself, for we are all here.” 29And the jailer [6] called for lights and rushed in, and trembling with fear he [u] fell down before Paul and Silas. 30[†]Then he brought them out and said, “Sirs, [v] what must I do to be [w] saved?” 31[†]And they said, [x] “Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved, you [y] and your household.” 32And they spoke the word of the Lord to him and to all who were in his house. 33[†]And he took them [z] the same hour of the night and washed their wounds; and he [a] was baptized at once, he and all his family. 34[†]Then he brought them up into his house and set food before them. And he [b] rejoiced along with his entire household that he had believed in God.

35[†]But when it was day, the magistrates sent the police, saying, “Let those men go.” 36And the jailer reported these words to Paul, saying, “The magistrates have sent to let you go. Therefore come out now and go in peace.” 37[†]But Paul said to them, “They have beaten us publicly, [c] uncondemned, men who are Roman citizens, and have thrown us into prison; and do they now throw us out secretly? No! Let them come themselves and take us out.” 38The police reported these words to the magistrates, and [c] they were afraid when they heard that they were Roman citizens. 39So they came and apologized to them. And they took them out and [d] asked them to leave the city. 40So they went out of the prison and visited [e] Lydia. And when they had seen [f] the brothers, they encouraged them and departed.

Paul and Silas in Thessalonica

ACTS 17 [†]Now when they had passed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to [g] Thessalonica, where there was a synagogue of the Jews. 2[†]And Paul went in, [h] as was his custom, and on three Sabbath days he reasoned with them [i] from the Scriptures, 3[†][j] explaining and proving that it was necessary for [k] the Christ to suffer and [l] to rise from the dead, and saying, “This Jesus, whom I proclaim to you, is the Christ.” 4[†]And [m] some of them were persuaded and joined Paul and Silas, as did [n] a great many of the devout [o] Greeks and not a few of the leading women. 5[†][p] But the Jews [1] [q] were jealous, and taking [r] some wicked men of the rabble, they formed a mob, set the city in an uproar, and attacked the house of Jason, seeking to bring them out to the crowd. 6And when they could not find them, [s] they dragged Jason and some of the brothers before the city authorities, shouting, "These men who have turned the world upside down have come here also, 7and Jason has received them, and they are all acting against [t] the decrees of Caesar, saying that there is [u] another king, Jesus." 8And the people and the city authorities were disturbed when they heard these things. 9[†]And when they had taken money as security from Jason and the rest, they let them go.

Paul and Silas in Berea

10[†] [v] The brothers [2] immediately sent Paul and Silas away by night to Berea, and when they arrived they [w] went into the Jewish synagogue. 11[†]Now these Jews were more noble than those in Thessalonica; they received the word with all eagerness, [x] examining the Scriptures daily to see if these things were so. 12 [y] Many of them therefore believed, with not a few Greek [z] women of high standing as well as men. 13But when the Jews from Thessalonica learned that the word of God was proclaimed by Paul at Berea also, they came there too, [a] agitating and stirring up the crowds. 14[†]Then the brothers [b] immediately sent Paul off on his way to the sea, but Silas and [c] Timothy remained there. 15[†] [d] Those who conducted Paul brought him as far as [e] Athens, and after receiving a command [f] for Silas and Timothy to come to him as soon as possible, they departed.

Paul in Athens

16[†]Now while Paul was waiting for them at Athens, his spirit was [g] provoked within him as he saw that the city was [h] full of idols. 17[†]So [i] he reasoned in the synagogue with the Jews and the devout persons, and in the marketplace every day with those who happened to be there. 18[†]Some of the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers also conversed with him. And some said, [j] "What does this babbler wish to say?" Others said, "He seems to be a preacher of foreign divinities"—because [k] he was preaching [l] Jesus and the resurrection. [19][†]And they took him and brought him to [m]the Areopagus, saying, “May we know what this [n]new teaching is that you are presenting? [20]For you bring some [o]strange things to our ears. We wish to know therefore what these things mean.” [21]Now all the Athenians and the foreigners who lived there would spend their time in nothing except telling or hearing something new.

Paul Addresses the Areopagus

[22][†]So Paul, standing in the midst of the Areopagus, said: “Men of Athens, I perceive that in every way you are very religious. [23][†]For as I passed along and observed the objects of your worship, I found also an altar with this inscription, [p]‘To the unknown god.’ [p]What therefore you worship [q]as unknown, this I proclaim to you. [24][†][r]The God who made the world and everything in it, being [s]Lord of heaven and earth, [t]does not live in temples made by man,[3] [25]nor is he served by human hands, [u]as though he needed anything, since he himself [v]gives to all mankind [w]life and breath and everything. [26][†]And [x]he made from one man every nation of mankind to live [y]on all the face of the earth, [z]having determined allotted periods and [a]the boundaries of their dwelling place, [27][†][b]that they should seek God, [c]and perhaps feel their way toward him and find him. [d]Yet he is actually not far from each one of us, [28][†]for

> [e]“‘In him we live and move and have our being’;[4]

as even some of [f]your own poets have said,

> “‘For we are indeed his offspring.’[5]

[29][†][g]Being then God’s offspring, [h]we ought not to think that the divine being is like gold or silver or stone, an image formed by the art and imagination of man. [30][†][i]The times of ignorance [j]God overlooked, but [k]now he [l]commands all people everywhere to repent, [31][†]because he has fixed [m]a day on which [n]he will judge the world [o]in righteousness by a man whom he has appointed; and [p] of this he has given assurance to all [q] by raising him from the dead.”

[32]Now when they heard of [r] the resurrection of the dead, [s] some mocked. But others said, [t] “We will hear you again about this.” [33]So Paul went out from their midst. [34]But some men joined him and believed, among whom also were Dionysius [u] the Areopagite and a woman named Damaris and others with them.

Paul in Corinth

ACTS 18 [†]After this Paul [1] left Athens and went to Corinth. [2][†]And he found a Jew named [v] Aquila, a native of Pontus, recently come from Italy with his wife [v] Priscilla, because [w] Claudius had commanded all the Jews to leave Rome. And he went to see them, [3]and [x] because he was of the same trade he stayed with them and worked, for they were tentmakers by trade. [4][†]And [y] he reasoned in the synagogue [y] every Sabbath, and tried to persuade Jews and Greeks.

[5][†] [z] When Silas and Timothy arrived from Macedonia, Paul [a] was occupied with the word, [b] testifying to the Jews that the Christ was [c] Jesus. [6][†]And when they opposed and reviled him, [d] he shook out his garments and said to them, [e] “Your blood be on your own heads! [f] I am innocent. [g] From now on I will go to the Gentiles.” [7][†]And he left there and went to the house of a man named Titius [h] Justus, [i] a worshiper of God. His house was next door to the synagogue. [8][†] [j] Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, believed in the Lord, together [k] with his entire household. And many of the Corinthians hearing Paul believed and were baptized. [9][†]And the Lord said to Paul [l] one night in [m] a vision, [n] “Do not be afraid, but go on speaking and do not be silent, [10] [n] for I am with you, and [o] no one will attack you to harm you, for [p] I have many in this city who are my people.” [11]And he stayed a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them.

[12][†]But when Gallio was [q] proconsul of Achaia, [r] the Jews [2] made a united attack on Paul and [s] brought him before the tribunal, [13]saying, “This man is persuading people to worship God contrary to [t] the law.” [14][†]But when Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said to the Jews, “If it were a matter of wrongdoing or vicious [u]crime, O Jews, I would have reason to accept your complaint. 15But [v]since it is a matter of questions about words and names and [w]your own law, see to it yourselves. I refuse to be a judge of these things." 16And he drove them from the tribunal. 17[†]And they all seized Sosthenes, the ruler of the synagogue, and beat him in front of the tribunal. But Gallio paid no attention to any of this.

Paul Returns to Antioch

18[†]After this, Paul stayed many days longer and then took leave of [x]the brothers [3] and set sail for Syria, and with him [y]Priscilla and Aquila. At [z]Cenchreae [a]he had cut his hair, for he was under a vow. 19And they came to [b]Ephesus, and he left them there, but [c]he himself went into the synagogue and reasoned with the Jews. 20When they asked him to stay for a longer period, he declined. 21[†]But on taking leave of them he said, "I will return to you [d]if God wills," and he set sail from Ephesus.

22[†]When he had landed at Caesarea, he [e]went up and greeted the church, and then went down to Antioch. 23[†]After spending some time there, he departed and [f]went from one place to the next through the region of Galatia and Phrygia, [g]strengthening all the disciples.

Apollos Speaks Boldly in Ephesus

24[†]Now a Jew named [h]Apollos, a native of Alexandria, came to Ephesus. He was an eloquent man, [i]competent in the Scriptures. 25[†]He had been instructed in [j]the way of the Lord. And [k]being fervent in spirit, [4] he spoke and taught accurately the things concerning Jesus, though he knew only [l]the baptism of John. 26[†]He began to speak boldly in the synagogue, but when [m]Priscilla and Aquila heard him, they took him aside and explained to him [n]the way of God more accurately. 27[†]And when he wished to cross to [o]Achaia, [p]the brothers encouraged him and [q]wrote to the disciples to welcome him. When he arrived, [r]he greatly helped those who through grace had believed, 28for he powerfully refuted the Jews in public, showing by the Scriptures [s]that the Christ was Jesus.

Paul in Ephesus

ACTS 19 [†]And it happened that while [t]Apollos was at Corinth, Paul passed [u]through the inland [1] country and came to Ephesus. There he found some disciples. 2[†]And he said to them, [v]"Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you believed?" And they said, "No, [w]we have not even heard that there is a Holy Spirit." 3And he said, [x]"Into what then were you baptized?" They said, "Into [y]John's baptism." 4And Paul said, [y]"John baptized with the baptism of repentance, telling the people [z]to believe in the one who was to come after him, that is, Jesus." 5[†]On hearing this, [a]they were baptized in [2] the name of the Lord Jesus. 6[†]And [b]when Paul had laid his hands on them, the Holy Spirit came on them, and [c]they began speaking in tongues and [d]prophesying. 7There were about twelve men in all.

8And [e]he entered the synagogue and for three months spoke boldly, reasoning and persuading them [f]about the kingdom of God. 9[†][g]But when some became stubborn and [h]continued in unbelief, speaking evil of [i]the Way before the congregation, he withdrew from them and took the disciples with him, reasoning daily in the hall of Tyrannus. [3] 10[†]This continued for [j]two years, so that [k]all the residents of Asia heard the word of the Lord, both Jews and Greeks.

The Sons of Sceva

11And [l]God was doing extraordinary miracles by the hands of Paul, 12[†][l]so that even handkerchiefs or aprons that had touched his skin were carried away to the sick, and their diseases left them and [m]the evil spirits came out of them. 13[†]Then some of the itinerant Jewish [n]exorcists [o]undertook to invoke the name of the Lord Jesus over those who had evil spirits, saying, [p]"I adjure you by the Jesus whom Paul proclaims." 14Seven sons of a Jewish high priest named Sceva were doing this. 15[†]But the evil spirit answered them, [q]"Jesus I know, and Paul I recognize, but who are you?" 16And the man in whom was the evil spirit leaped on them, mastered all [4] of them and overpowered them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded. 17And this became known to all the residents of Ephesus, both Jews and Greeks. And fear fell upon them all, and [r] the name of the Lord Jesus was extolled. [18]Also many of those who were now believers came, [s] confessing and divulging their practices. [19][†]And a number of those who had practiced magic arts brought their books together and burned them in the sight of all. And they counted the value of them and found it came to fifty thousand pieces of silver. [20]So the word of the Lord [t] continued to increase and prevail mightily.

A Riot at Ephesus

[21][†]Now after these events Paul resolved in the Spirit [u] to pass through [v] Macedonia and Achaia and [w] go to Jerusalem, saying, “After I have been there, [x] I must also see Rome.” [22][†]And having sent into Macedonia two of [y] his helpers, [z] Timothy and Erastus, he himself stayed in Asia [a] for a while.

[23][†]About that time [b] there arose no little disturbance concerning [c] the Way. [24][†]For a man named Demetrius, a silversmith, who made silver shrines of Artemis, [d] brought no little business to the craftsmen. [25] [d] These he gathered together, with the workmen in similar trades, and said, “Men, you know that from this business we have our wealth. [26]And you see and hear that not only in Ephesus but in almost all of Asia this Paul has persuaded and turned away a great many people, [e] saying that [f] gods made with hands are not gods. [27]And there is danger not only that this trade of ours may come into disrepute but also that the temple of the [g] great goddess Artemis may be counted as nothing, and that she may even be deposed from her magnificence, she whom all Asia and the world worship.”

[28][†]When they heard this they were enraged and were crying out, [g] “Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!” [29][†]So the city was filled with the confusion, and they rushed together into the theater, dragging with them Gaius and [h] Aristarchus, Macedonians who were Paul’s [i] companions in travel. [30]But when Paul wished to go in among the crowd, the disciples would not let him. [31][†]And even some of the Asiarchs, [5] who were friends of his, sent to him and were urging him not to venture into the theater. [32] [j] Now some cried out one thing, some another, for the assembly was in confusion, and most of them did not know why they had come together. [33][†]Some of the crowd prompted Alexander, whom the Jews had put forward. And Alexander, [k] motioning with his hand, wanted to make a defense to the crowd. 34But when they recognized that he was a Jew, for about two hours they all cried out with one voice, [l] "Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!"

35[†]And when the town clerk had quieted the crowd, he said, "Men of Ephesus, who is there who does not know that the city of the Ephesians is temple keeper of the great Artemis, and of the sacred stone that fell from [m] the sky? [6] 36Seeing then that these things cannot be denied, you ought to be quiet and do nothing rash. 37For you have brought [n] these men here who are neither [o] sacrilegious nor blasphemers of our goddess. 38[†]If therefore Demetrius and the craftsmen with him have a complaint against anyone, the courts are open, and there are [p] proconsuls. Let them bring charges against one another. 39But if you seek anything further, [7] it shall be settled in the regular assembly. 40For we really are in danger of being charged with rioting today, since there is no cause that we can give to justify this commotion." 41And when he had said these things, he dismissed the assembly.

Paul in Macedonia and Greece

ACTS 20 [†]After the uproar ceased, Paul sent for the disciples, and after encouraging them, he said farewell and [q] departed for Macedonia. [2][†]When he had gone through those regions and had given them much encouragement, he came to Greece. [3][†]There he spent three months, and when [r] a plot was made against him by the Jews [1] as he was about to set sail for Syria, he decided to return through Macedonia. [4][†]Sopater the Berean, son of Pyrrhus, accompanied him; and of the Thessalonians, [s] Aristarchus and Secundus; and [s] Gaius of Derbe, and [t] Timothy; and the Asians, [u] Tychicus and [v] Trophimus. [5][†]These went on ahead and were waiting for [w] us at [x] Troas, [6]but we sailed away from Philippi after [y] the days of Unleavened Bread, and in five days we came to them at Troas, where we stayed for seven days.

Eutychus Raised from the Dead

[7][†] [z] On the first day of the week, when we were gathered together [a] to break bread, Paul talked with them, intending to depart on the next day, and he prolonged his speech until midnight. [8]There were many lamps in [b] the upper room where we were gathered. [9]And a young man named Eutychus, sitting at the window, sank into a deep sleep as Paul talked still longer. And being overcome by sleep, he [c] fell down from the third story and was taken up dead. [10]But Paul went down and [d] bent over him, and taking him in his arms, said, [e] “Do not be alarmed, for his life is in him.” [11]And when Paul had gone up and [f] had broken bread and eaten, he conversed with them a long while, until daybreak, and so departed. [12]And they took the youth away alive, and were not a little comforted.

[13]But going ahead to the ship, we set sail for Assos, intending to take Paul aboard there, for so he had arranged, intending himself to go by land. [14]And when he met us at Assos, we took him on board and went to Mitylene. [15][†]And sailing from there we came the following day opposite Chios; the next day we touched at Samos; and [2] the day after that we went to Miletus. [16]For Paul had decided to sail past Ephesus, so that he might not have to spend time in Asia, for he was hastening [g] to be at Jerusalem, if possible, [h] on the day of Pentecost.

Paul Speaks to the Ephesian Elders

[17][†]Now from Miletus he sent to Ephesus and called [i] the elders of the church to come to him. [18]And when they came to him, he said to them:

[j]“You yourselves know [k] how I lived among you the whole time [j] from the first day that I set foot in Asia, [19] [l] serving the Lord [m] with all humility and with [n] tears and with trials that happened to me through [o] the plots of the Jews; [20][†]how I [p] did not shrink from declaring to you anything that was profitable, and [q] teaching you in public and from house to house, [21] [r] testifying both to Jews and to Greeks of [s] repentance toward God and of [t] faith in our Lord Jesus Christ. [22][†]And now, behold, I am going to Jerusalem, constrained [u] by [3] the Spirit, not knowing what will happen to me there, [23]except that [v] the Holy Spirit testifies to me in every city that [w] imprisonment and [x] afflictions await me. [24][†]But [y] I do not account my life of any value nor as precious to myself, if only [z] I may finish my course and [a] the ministry [b] that I received from the Lord Jesus, [c] to testify to [d] the gospel of [e] the grace of God. [25]And now, behold, [f] I know that none of you among whom I have gone about [g] proclaiming the kingdom will see my face again. [26][†]Therefore [h] I testify to you this day that [i] I am innocent of the blood of all, [27]for [j] I did not shrink from declaring to you [k] the whole counsel of God. [28][†] [l] Pay careful attention to yourselves and to all [m] the flock, in which [n] the Holy Spirit has made you [o] overseers, [p] to care for [q] the church of God, [4] which he [r] obtained [s] with his own blood. [5] [29][†]I [r] know that after my departure [t] fierce wolves will come in among you, [u] not sparing the flock; [30]and [v] from among your own selves will arise men speaking twisted things, to draw away the disciples after them. [31][†]Therefore [w] be alert, remembering that [x] for three years I did not cease night or day [y] to admonish every one [z] with tears. [32]And now [a] I commend you to God and to [b] the word of his grace, which is able to [c] build you up and to give you [d] the inheritance among all those who are sanctified. [33] [e] I coveted no one’s silver or gold or apparel. [34] [f] You yourselves know that

[g] these hands ministered to my necessities and [h] to those who were with me. 35[†]In all things [i] I have shown you that [j] by working hard in this way we must [k] help the weak and [l] remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he himself said, ‘It is more blessed [m] to give than to receive.’”

36And when he had said these things, [n] he knelt down and prayed with them all. 37And [o] there was much weeping on the part of all; [p] they embraced Paul and [p] kissed him, 38[†]being sorrowful most of all because of [q] the word he had spoken, that they would not see his face again. And [r] they accompanied him to the ship.

Paul Goes to Jerusalem

ACTS 21 [†]And when [s] we had parted from them and set sail, we [t] came by a straight course to Cos, and the next day to Rhodes, and from there to Patara. [1] 2And having found a ship crossing to Phoenicia, we went aboard and set sail. 3[†]When we had come in sight of Cyprus, leaving it on the left we sailed to Syria and landed at Tyre, for there the ship was to unload its cargo. 4[†]And having sought out the disciples, we stayed there for seven days. And [u] through the Spirit they were telling Paul not to go on to Jerusalem. 5When our days there were ended, we departed and went on our journey, and they all, with wives and children, [v] accompanied us until we were outside the city. And [w] kneeling down on the beach, we prayed 6and said farewell to one another. Then we went on board the ship, and they returned home.

7When we had finished the voyage from Tyre, we arrived at Ptolemais, and we greeted [x] the brothers [2] and stayed with them for one day. 8[†]On the next day we departed and came to Caesarea, and we entered the house of [y] Philip [z] the evangelist, who was one of the seven, and stayed with him. 9He had four unmarried daughters, [a] who prophesied. 10[†]While we were staying for many days, a prophet named [b] Agabus came down from Judea. 11And coming to us, he [c] took Paul’s belt and bound his own feet and hands and said, [d] “Thus says the Holy Spirit, [e] ‘This is how the Jews [3] at Jerusalem will bind the man who owns this belt and [f] deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.’” 12When we heard this, we and the people there

[g] urged him not to go up to Jerusalem. [13]Then Paul answered, [g] “What are you doing, weeping and breaking my heart? For [h] I am ready not only to be imprisoned but even to die in Jerusalem [i] for the name of the Lord Jesus.” [14]And since he would not be persuaded, [j] we ceased and said, [k] “Let the will of the Lord be done.”

[15][†]After these days we got ready and went up to Jerusalem. [16]And some of the disciples from Caesarea went with us, bringing us to the house of Mnason of Cyprus, an early disciple, with whom we should lodge.

Paul Visits James

[17][†]When we had come to Jerusalem, [l] the brothers received us gladly. [18][†]On the following day Paul went in with us to [m] James, and all [n] the elders were present. [19]After greeting them, [o] he related one by one [p] the things that God had done among the Gentiles through his [q] ministry. [20]And when they heard it, they [r] glorified God. And they said to him, “You see, brother, how many thousands there are among the Jews of those who have believed. They are all [s] zealous for the law, [21][†]and they have been told about you that you teach all [t] the Jews who are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, [u] telling them [v] not to circumcise their children or [w] walk according to [x] our customs. [22]What then is to be done? They will certainly hear that you have come. [23][†]Do therefore what we tell you. We have four men [y] who are under a vow; [24]take these men and [z] purify yourself along with them and pay their expenses, [y] so that they may shave their heads. Thus all will know that there is nothing in what they have been told about you, but that you yourself also live in observance of the law. [25][†]But as for the Gentiles who have believed, [a] we have sent a letter with our judgment that they should abstain from what has been sacrificed to idols, and from blood, and from what has been strangled,[4] and from sexual immorality.” [26][†]Then Paul took the men, and the next day [z] he purified himself along with them and [b] went into the temple, giving notice when the days of purification would be fulfilled and [c] the offering presented for each one of them.

Paul Arrested in the Temple

27[†]When [c]the seven days were almost completed, [d]the Jews from Asia, [e]seeing him in the temple, stirred up the whole crowd and laid hands on him, 28[†]crying out, "Men of Israel, help! This is the man who [f]is teaching everyone everywhere against the people and [g]the law and [g]this place. Moreover, he even brought Greeks into the temple and [h]has defiled [g]this holy place." 29For they had previously seen [i]Trophimus the Ephesian with him in the city, and they supposed that Paul had brought him into the temple. 30[†]Then all the city was stirred up, and the people ran together. They seized Paul and [j]dragged him out of the temple, and at once the gates were shut. 31[†][j]And as they were seeking to kill him, word came to the tribune of [k]the cohort that all Jerusalem was in confusion. 32 [l]He at once took soldiers and centurions and ran down to them. And when they saw the tribune and the soldiers, they stopped beating Paul. 33[†]Then the tribune came up and arrested him and ordered him [m]to be bound [n]with two chains. He inquired who he was and what he had done. 34 [o]Some in the crowd were shouting one thing, some another. And as he could not learn the facts because of the uproar, he ordered him to be brought into [p]the barracks. 35And when he came to the steps, he was actually carried by the soldiers because of the violence of the crowd, 36for the mob of the people followed, crying out, [q]"Away with him!"

Paul Speaks to the People

37As Paul was about to be brought into the barracks, he said to the tribune, "May I say something to you?" And he said, "Do you know Greek? 38[†]Are you not [r]the Egyptian, then, who recently stirred up a revolt and led the four thousand men of the Assassins out [s]into the wilderness?" 39[†]Paul replied, [t]"I am a Jew, from Tarsus in Cilicia, a citizen of no obscure city. I beg you, permit me to speak to the people." 40[†]And when he had given him permission, Paul, standing on the steps, [u]motioned with his hand to the people. And when there was a great hush, he addressed them in [v]the Hebrew language, [5] saying:

ACTS 22 [w]“Brothers and fathers, hear the defense that I now make before you.”

2And when they heard that he was addressing them in [x]the Hebrew language, [1] they became even more quiet. And he said:

3[†][y]“I am a Jew, born in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought up in this city, educated [z]at the feet of [a]Gamaliel [2] [b]according to the strict manner of the law of our fathers, [c]being zealous for God [d]as all of you are this day. 4[†][e]I persecuted [f]this Way [g]to the death, binding and delivering to prison both men and women, 5as [h]the high priest and [i]the whole council of elders can bear me witness. From them I received letters to [j]the brothers, and I journeyed toward Damascus to take those also who were there and bring them in bonds to Jerusalem to be punished.

6[k]“As I was on my way and drew near to Damascus, about noon a great light from heaven suddenly shone around me. 7And I fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to me, ‘Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?’ 8And I answered, ‘Who are you, Lord?’ And he said to me, ‘I am [l]Jesus of Nazareth, whom you are persecuting.’ 9[m]Now those who were with me saw the light but did not understand [3] the voice of the one who was speaking to me. 10And I said, [n]‘What shall I do, Lord?’ And the Lord said to me, ‘Rise, and go into Damascus, and there you will be told all that is appointed for you to do.’ 11And since I could not see because of the brightness of that light, I was led by the hand by those who were with me, and came into Damascus.

12[†]“And [o]one Ananias, a devout man [p]according to the law, [q]well spoken of by all the Jews who lived there, 13[r]came to me, and standing by me said to me, ‘Brother Saul, receive your sight.’ And [s]at that very hour I received my sight and saw him. 14And he said, [t]‘The God of our fathers [u]appointed you to know his will, [v]to see [w]the Righteous One and [x]to hear a voice from his mouth; 15for [y]you will be a witness for him to everyone of what [z]you have seen and heard. 16[†]And now why do you wait? [a]Rise and be baptized and [b]wash away your sins, [c]calling on his name.’

17[†][d]“When I had returned to Jerusalem and [e]was praying in the temple, I fell into [f]a trance 18[†]and saw him saying to me, [g]‘Make haste and get out of Jerusalem quickly, because they will not accept your testimony about me.’ [19]And I said, ‘Lord, they themselves know that in one synagogue after another [h]I imprisoned and [i]beat those who believed in you. [20]And when the blood of Stephen [j]your witness was being shed, [k]I myself was standing by and [l]approving and [k]watching over the garments of those who killed him.’ [21]And he said to me, ‘Go, for I will send you [m]far away to the Gentiles.’”

Paul and the Roman Tribune

[22]Up to this word they listened to him. Then they raised their voices and said, [n]“Away with such a fellow from the earth! For [o]he should not be allowed to live.” [23]And as they were shouting and throwing off their cloaks and flinging dust into the air, [24]the tribune ordered him to be brought into [p]the barracks, saying that he should be [q]examined by flogging, to find out why they were shouting against him like this. [25][†]But when they had stretched him out for the whips, [4] Paul said to the centurion who was standing by, “Is it lawful for you to flog [r]a man who is a Roman citizen and uncondemned?” [26]When the centurion heard this, he went to the tribune and said to him, “What are you about to do? For this man is a Roman citizen.” [27]So the tribune came and said to him, “Tell me, are you a Roman citizen?” And he said, “Yes.” [28][†]The tribune answered, “I bought this citizenship for a large sum.” Paul said, “But I am a citizen by birth.” [29]So those who were about [s]to examine him withdrew from him immediately, and the tribune also [t]was afraid, [u]for he realized that Paul was a Roman citizen and that [v]he had bound him.

Paul Before the Council

[30][†]But on the next day, [w]desiring to know the real reason why he was being accused by the Jews, he unbound him and commanded the chief priests and all the council to meet, and he brought Paul down and set him before them.

ACTS 23 And looking intently at the council, Paul said, “Brothers, [x]I have lived my life before God in all good conscience up to this day.” [2]And the high priest [y]Ananias commanded those who stood by him [z]to strike him on the mouth. [3][†]Then Paul said to him, “God is going to strike you, you [a]whitewashed [b]wall! Are you sitting to judge me according to the law, and yet [c]contrary to the law you [c]order me to be struck?” [4]Those who stood by said, “Would you revile [d]God’s high priest?” [5][†]And Paul said, [e]“I did not know, brothers, that he was the high priest, for it is written, [f]‘You shall not speak evil of a ruler of your people.’”

[6]Now when Paul perceived that one part were [g]Sadducees and the other Pharisees, he cried out in the council, “Brothers, [h]I am a Pharisee, a son of Pharisees. It is [i]with respect to the [j]hope and the resurrection of the dead that I am on trial.” [7]And when he had said this, a dissension arose between the Pharisees and the Sadducees, and the assembly was divided. [8]For the Sadducees [k]say that there is no resurrection, nor angel, nor spirit, but the Pharisees acknowledge them all. [9]Then a great clamor arose, and some of [l]the scribes of the Pharisees’ party stood up and contended sharply, [m]“We find nothing wrong in this man. What [n]if a spirit or an angel spoke to him?” [10]And when the dissension became violent, the tribune, afraid that Paul would be torn to pieces by them, commanded the soldiers to go down and take him away from among them by force and bring him into [o]the barracks.

[11][p]The following night [q]the Lord stood by him and said, [r]“Take courage, for [s]as you have testified to the facts about me in Jerusalem, so you must [t]testify also in Rome.”

A Plot to Kill Paul

[12]When it was day, [u]the Jews made a plot and [v]bound themselves by an oath neither to eat nor drink till they had killed Paul. [13]There were more than forty who made this conspiracy. [14][†]They went to the chief priests and elders and said, “We have strictly bound ourselves by an oath to taste no food till we have killed Paul. [15]Now therefore you, along with the council, give notice to the tribune to bring him down to you, as though you were going to determine his case more exactly. And we are ready to kill him before he comes near.”

[16][†]Now the son of Paul's sister heard of their ambush, so he went and entered [w] the barracks and told Paul. [17]Paul called one of the centurions and said, "Take this young man to the tribune, for he has something to tell him." [18][†]So he took him and brought him to the tribune and said, "Paul [x] the prisoner called me and asked me to bring this young man to you, as he has something to say to you." [19]The tribune took him by the hand, and going aside asked him privately, "What is it that you have to tell me?" [20]And he said, [y] "The Jews have agreed to ask you to bring Paul down to the council tomorrow, as though they were going to inquire somewhat more closely about him. [21][†]But do not be persuaded by them, for more than forty of their men are lying in ambush for him, who [z] have bound themselves by an oath neither to eat nor drink till they have killed him. And now they are ready, waiting for your consent." [22]So the tribune dismissed the young man, charging him, "Tell no one that you have informed me of these things."

Paul Sent to Felix the Governor

[23][†]Then he called two of the centurions and said, "Get ready two hundred soldiers, with seventy horsemen and two hundred spearmen to go as far as Caesarea at the third hour of the night. [1] [24][†]Also provide mounts for Paul to ride and bring him safely to [a] Felix [b] the governor." [25][†]And he wrote a letter to this effect:

[26]"Claudius Lysias, to [c] his Excellency the governor Felix, [d] greetings. [27][†] [e] This man was seized by the Jews and [f] was about to be killed by them [f] when I came upon them with the soldiers and rescued him, [g] having learned that he was a Roman citizen. [28]And [h] desiring to know the charge for which they were accusing him, I brought him down to their council. [29]I found that he was being accused [i] about questions of their law, but [j] charged with nothing deserving death or imprisonment. [30] [k] And when it was disclosed to me [l] that there would be a plot against the man, I sent him to you at once, [m] ordering his accusers also to state before you what they have against him."

[31][†]So the soldiers, according to their instructions, took Paul and brought him by night to Antipatris. [32]And on the next day they returned to [n] the barracks, letting the horsemen go on with him. [33]When they had come to Caesarea and delivered the letter to the governor, they presented Paul also before him. [34][†]On reading the letter, he asked what [o] province he was from. And when he learned [p] that he was from Cilicia, [35][†]he said, “I will give you a hearing [q] when your accusers arrive.” And he commanded him to be guarded in Herod’s [r] praetorium.

Paul Before Felix at Caesarea

ACTS 24 [†]And [s]after five days the high priest [t]Ananias came down with some elders and a spokesman, one Tertullus. They laid before [u]the governor their case against Paul. 2[†]And when he had been summoned, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying:

"Since through you we enjoy much peace, and since by your foresight, [v]most excellent Felix, reforms are being made for this nation, 3in every way and everywhere we accept this with all gratitude. 4But, to detain [1] you no further, I beg you in your kindness to hear us briefly. 5[†]For we have found this man a plague, [w]one who stirs up riots among all the Jews throughout the world and is a ringleader of [x]the sect of the Nazarenes.
6 [y]He even tried to profane the temple, but we seized him. [2] 8By examining him yourself you will be able to find out from him about everything of which we accuse him."

9The Jews also joined in the charge, affirming that all these things were so.

10[†]And when the governor had nodded to him to speak, Paul replied:

"Knowing that for many years you have been a judge over this nation, I cheerfully make my defense. 11[†]You can verify that [z]it is not more than twelve days since I [a]went up [b]to worship in Jerusalem, 12and [c]they did not find me disputing with anyone or stirring up a crowd, either in the temple or in the synagogues or in the city. 13 [d]Neither can they prove to you what they now bring up against me. 14[†]But this I confess to you, that according to [e]the Way, which they call [f]a sect, [g]I worship [h]the God of our fathers, believing everything [i]laid down by the Law and written in the Prophets, 15 [j]having [k]a hope in God, which these men themselves accept, that there will be [l]a resurrection [m]of both the just and the unjust. 16So I always [n]take pains to have a [o]clear conscience toward both God and man.
17Now [p]after several years [q]I came to bring alms to [r]my nation and to present [s]offerings. 18[†]While I was doing this, they found me [t]purified in the temple, without any crowd or tumult. But [u]some Jews from Asia—19 [v]they ought to be here before you and to make an accusation, should they have anything against me. [20][†]Or else let these men themselves say what wrongdoing they found when I stood before the council, [21]other than this one thing [w]that I cried out while standing among them: ‘It is with respect to the resurrection of the dead that I am on trial before you this day.’”

Paul Kept in Custody

[22][†]But Felix, having a rather accurate knowledge of [x]the Way, put them off, saying, “When Lysias the tribune comes down, I will decide your case.” [23]Then he gave orders to the centurion that he [y]should be kept in custody but have some liberty, and that [z]none of his friends should be prevented from attending to his needs.

[24][†]After some days Felix came with his wife Drusilla, who was Jewish, and he sent for Paul and heard him speak about [a]faith [b]in Christ Jesus. [25]And as he reasoned [c]about righteousness and self-control and the coming judgment, Felix was alarmed and said, “Go away for the present. [d]When I get an opportunity I will summon you.” [26][†]At the same time he hoped [e]that money would be given him by Paul. So he sent for him often and conversed with him. [27][†]When two years had elapsed, Felix was succeeded by Porcius [f]Festus. And [g]desiring to do the Jews a favor, [h]Felix left Paul in prison.

Paul Appeals to Caesar

ACTS 25 Now three days after Festus had arrived in [i]the province, he went up to Jerusalem from Caesarea. [2][†]And the chief priests and the principal men of the Jews [j]laid out their case against Paul, and they urged him, [3]asking as a favor against Paul [1] that he summon him to Jerusalem—because [k]they were planning an ambush to kill him on the way. [4][†]Festus replied that Paul was being kept at Caesarea and that he himself intended to go there shortly. [5]“So,” said he, “let the men of authority among you go down with me, and if there is anything wrong about the man, let them bring charges against him.”

[6]After he stayed among them not more than eight or ten days, he went down to Caesarea. And the next day he took his seat on [l]the tribunal and ordered Paul to be brought. [7]When he had arrived, the Jews who had come down from Jerusalem stood around him, bringing many and serious charges against him [m]that they could not prove. [8]Paul argued in his defense, “Neither [n]against [o]the law of the Jews, nor against the temple, nor [p]against Caesar have I committed any offense.” [9][†]But Festus, [q]wishing to do the Jews a favor, said to Paul, “Do you wish to go up to Jerusalem and there be tried on these charges before me?” [10]But Paul said, “I am standing before Caesar’s [r]tribunal, where I ought to be tried. To the Jews I have done no wrong, as you yourself know very well. [11]If then I am a wrongdoer and have committed anything for which I deserve to die, I do not seek to escape death. But if there is nothing to their charges against me, no one can give me up to them. [s]I appeal to Caesar.” [12][†]Then Festus, when he had conferred with his council, answered, “To Caesar you have appealed; to Caesar you shall go.”

Paul Before Agrippa and Bernice

[13][†]Now when some days had passed, Agrippa the king and Bernice arrived at Caesarea and greeted Festus. [14]And as they stayed there many days, Festus laid Paul’s case before the king, saying, [t]“There is a man left prisoner by Felix, [15]and when I was at Jerusalem, the chief priests and the elders of the Jews laid out their case [u]against him, asking for a sentence of condemnation against him. [16][v]I answered them that it was not the custom of the Romans to give up anyone [w]before the accused met the accusers face to face and had opportunity to make his defense concerning the charge laid against him. [17][x]So when they came together here, I made no delay, but on the next day took my seat on [y]the tribunal and ordered the man to be brought. [18][†]When the accusers stood up, they brought no charge in his case of such evils as I supposed. [19]Rather they [z]had certain points of dispute with him about their own religion and about [a]a certain Jesus, who was dead, but whom Paul asserted to be alive. [20]Being at a loss how to investigate these questions, I [b]asked whether he wanted to go to Jerusalem and be tried there regarding them. [21]But [c]when Paul had appealed to be kept in custody for the decision of [d]the emperor, I ordered him to be held until I could send him to Caesar." [22]Then [e] Agrippa said to Festus, "I would like to hear the man myself." "Tomorrow," said he, "you will hear him."

[23][†]So on the next day [f] Agrippa and Bernice came with great pomp, and they entered the audience hall with the military tribunes and the prominent men of the city. Then, at the command of Festus, Paul was brought in. [24]And Festus said, "King Agrippa and all who are present with us, you see this man about whom [g] the whole Jewish people petitioned me, both in Jerusalem and here, [h] shouting that he ought not to live any longer. [25]But I found that [i] he had done nothing deserving death. And [j] as he himself appealed to [k] the emperor, I decided to go ahead and send him. [26]But I have nothing definite to write to my lord about him. Therefore I have brought him before you all, and especially before you, King Agrippa, so that, after we have examined him, I may have something to write. [27]For it seems to me unreasonable, in sending a prisoner, not to indicate the charges against him."

Paul's Defense Before Agrippa

ACTS 26 So [l] Agrippa said to Paul, "You have permission to speak for yourself." Then Paul stretched out his hand and made his defense:

[2]"I consider myself fortunate that it is before you, King Agrippa, I am going to make my defense today [m] against all the accusations of the Jews, [3]especially because you are familiar with all the [n] customs and [o] controversies of the Jews. Therefore I beg you to listen to me patiently.

[4] [p] "My manner of life from my youth, spent from the beginning among [q] my own nation and in Jerusalem, is known by all the Jews. [5]They have known for a long time, if they are willing to testify, that [r] according to the strictest [s] party of our [t] religion I have lived as [u] a Pharisee. [6]And now I stand here on trial because of my hope in [v] the promise made by God to our fathers, [7] [w] to which [x] our twelve tribes hope to [y] attain, as they earnestly worship night and day. And for this hope [z] I am accused by Jews, O king! [8]Why is it thought [a] incredible by any of you that God raises the dead?

[9] [b] "I myself was convinced that I ought to do many things in opposing the name of [c] Jesus of Nazareth. [10] [d] And I did so in Jerusalem. I not only locked up many of the saints in prison after receiving authority [e] from the chief priests, but [f] when they were put to death I cast my vote against them. [11]And [g] I punished them often in all the synagogues and tried to make them [h] blaspheme, and [i] in raging fury against them I [j] persecuted them even to foreign cities.

Paul Tells of His Conversion

[12]"In this connection [k] I journeyed to Damascus with the authority and commission of the chief priests. [13]At midday, O king, I saw on the way a light from heaven, brighter than the sun, that shone around me and those who journeyed with me. [14][†]And when we had all fallen to the ground, I heard a voice saying to me [l] in the Hebrew language, [1] 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me? It is hard for you to kick against the goads.' [15]And I said, 'Who are you, Lord?' And the Lord said, 'I am Jesus whom you are persecuting. [16]But rise and [m] stand upon your feet, for I have appeared to you for this purpose, [n] to appoint you as a servant and witness to the things in which you have seen me and to those in which I will appear to you, [17] [o] delivering you from your people and from the Gentiles—[p] to whom I [q] am sending you [18] [r] to open their eyes, so that they may turn from darkness to light and from [s] the power of Satan to God, that they may receive [t] forgiveness of sins and [u] a place among those who are sanctified [v] by faith in me.'

[19]"Therefore, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to [w] the heavenly vision, [20][†]but declared first [x] to those in Damascus, [y] then in Jerusalem and throughout all the region of Judea, and also [z] to the Gentiles, that they should [a] repent and [b] turn to God, performing deeds [c] in keeping with their repentance. [21]For this reason [d] the Jews seized me in the temple and tried to kill me. [22][†] [e] To this day I have had the help that comes from God, and so [f] I stand here testifying both to small and great, saying nothing but what [g] the prophets and Moses said would come to pass: [23] [h] that the Christ [i] must suffer and that, [j] by being the first [k] to rise from the dead, [l] he would proclaim [m] light both to our people and to the Gentiles."

[24]And as he was saying these things in his defense, Festus said with a loud voice, “Paul, [n]you are out of your mind; your great learning is driving you out of your mind.” [25]But Paul said, “I am not out of my mind, [o]most excellent Festus, but I am speaking [p]true and [q]rational words. [26]For [r]the king knows about these things, and to him I speak boldly. For I am persuaded that none of these things has escaped his notice, for this has not been done in a corner. [27][†]King Agrippa, do you believe the prophets? I know that you believe.” [28][†]And Agrippa said to Paul, “In a short time would you persuade me to be [s]a Christian?” [2] [29]And Paul said, “Whether short or long, I would to God that not only you but also all who hear me this day [t]might become such as I am—except for [u]these chains.”

[30]Then the king rose, and [v]the governor and Bernice and those who were sitting with them. [31]And when they had withdrawn, they said to one another, [w]“This man is doing nothing to deserve death or imprisonment.” [32]And Agrippa said to Festus, [x]“This man could have been set [y]free if he had not appealed [z]to Caesar.”

Paul Sails for Rome

ACTS 27 [†]And when it was decided [a]that [b]we should sail for Italy, they delivered Paul and some other prisoners to a centurion of the Augustan [c]Cohort named Julius. [2][†]And embarking in a ship of Adramyttium, which was about to sail to the ports along the coast of Asia, we put to sea, accompanied by [d]Aristarchus, a Macedonian from Thessalonica. [3][†]The next day we put in at Sidon. And [e]Julius [f]treated Paul kindly and [g]gave him leave to go to his friends and be cared for. [4][†]And putting out to sea from there we sailed under the lee of Cyprus, because the winds were against us. [5][†]And when we had sailed across the open sea along the coast of Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came to Myra in Lycia. [6]There the centurion found [h]a ship of Alexandria sailing for Italy and put us on board. [7][†]We sailed slowly for a number of days and arrived with difficulty off Cnidus, and as the wind did not allow us to go farther, we sailed under the lee of Crete off Salmone. [8][†]Coasting along it with difficulty, we came to a place called Fair Havens, near which was the city of Lasea.

[9][†]Since much time had passed, and the voyage was now dangerous because even [i]the Fast [1] was already over, Paul advised them, [10]saying, “Sirs, I perceive that the voyage will be with [j]injury and much loss, not only of the cargo and the ship, but also of our lives.” [11][†]But the centurion paid more attention to [k]the pilot and to the owner of the ship than to what Paul said. [12][†]And because the harbor was not suitable to spend the winter in, the majority decided to put out to sea from there, on the chance that somehow they could reach Phoenix, a harbor of Crete, facing both southwest and northwest, and spend the winter there.

The Storm at Sea

[13]Now when the south wind blew gently, supposing that they had obtained their purpose, they weighed anchor and sailed along Crete, close to the shore. [14][†]But soon a tempestuous wind, called the northeaster, [l]struck down from the land. [15]And when the ship was caught and could not face the wind, we gave way to it and were driven along. [16][†]Running under the lee of a small island called Cauda, [2] we managed with difficulty to secure the ship’s boat. [17][†]After hoisting it up, they used supports to undergird the ship. Then, fearing that they would [m]run aground on the Syrtis, they lowered the gear, [3] and thus they were driven along. [18][†]Since we were violently storm-tossed, they began the next day [n]to jettison the cargo. [19]And on the third day they threw the ship’s tackle overboard with their own hands. [20][†]When neither sun nor stars appeared for many days, and no small tempest lay on us, all hope of our being saved was at last abandoned.

[21][†]Since they had been without food for a long time, Paul stood up among them and said, “Men, [o]you should have listened to me and not have set sail from Crete and incurred this [o]injury and loss. [22]Yet now I urge you to [p]take heart, for there will be no loss of life among you, but only of the ship. [23]For this very night [q]there [r]stood before me [s]an angel of the God [t]to whom I belong and [u]whom I worship, [24][†]and he said, ‘Do not be afraid, Paul; [v]you must stand before Caesar. And behold, [w]God has granted you all those who sail with you.’ [25]So take heart, men, for I have faith in God that it will be exactly as I have been told. [26]But [x]we must [y]run aground on some island.”

[27][†]When the fourteenth night had come, as we were being driven across the Adriatic Sea, about midnight the sailors suspected that they were nearing land. [28]So they took a sounding and found twenty fathoms. [4] A little farther on they took a sounding again and found fifteen fathoms. [5] [29][†]And fearing that we might [z]run on the rocks, they let down four anchors from the stern and prayed for day to come. [30][†]And as the sailors were seeking to escape from the ship, and had lowered [a]the ship’s boat into the sea under pretense of laying out anchors from the bow, [31]Paul said to the centurion and the soldiers, “Unless these men stay in the ship, you cannot be saved.” [32]Then the soldiers cut away the ropes of the ship’s boat and let it go.

[33][†]As day was about to dawn, Paul urged them all to take some food, saying, “Today is the fourteenth day that you have continued in suspense and without food, having taken nothing. [34][†]Therefore I urge you to take some food. For it will give you strength, [6] for [b]not a hair is to perish from the head of any of you.” [35][†]And when he had said these things, he took bread, and [c]giving thanks to God in the presence of all he broke it and began to eat. [36]Then they all [d]were encouraged and ate some food themselves. [37][†](We were in all 276 [7] [e]persons in the ship.) [38]And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, [f]throwing out the wheat into the sea.

The Shipwreck

[39][†]Now when it was day, [g]they did not recognize the land, but they noticed a bay with a beach, on which they planned if possible to run the ship ashore. [40][†]So they cast off the anchors and left them in the sea, at the same time loosening the ropes that tied the rudders. Then hoisting the foresail to the wind they made for the beach. [41][†]But striking a reef, [8] [h]they ran the vessel aground. The bow stuck and remained immovable, and the stern was being broken up by the surf. [42] [i]The soldiers’ plan was to kill the prisoners, lest any should swim away and escape. [43][†]But the centurion, [j]wishing to save Paul, kept them from carrying out their plan. He ordered those who could swim to jump overboard first and make for the land, [44]and the rest on planks or on pieces of the ship. And so it was that [k] all were brought safely to land.

Paul on Malta

ACTS 28 [†]After we were brought safely through, [l] we then learned that [m] the island was called Malta. [2] [n] The native people [1] showed us unusual [o] kindness, for they kindled a fire and welcomed us all, because it had begun to rain and was cold. [3]When Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks and put them on the fire, a viper came out because of the heat and fastened on his hand. [4][†]When [p] the native people saw the creature hanging from his hand, they said to one another, [q] “No doubt this man is a murderer. Though he has escaped from the sea, [r] Justice [2] has not allowed him to live.” [5]He, however, [s] shook off the creature into the fire and suffered no harm. [6]They were waiting for him to swell up or suddenly fall down dead. But when they had waited a long time and saw no misfortune come to him, [t] they changed their minds and [u] said that he was a god.

[7][†]Now in the neighborhood of that place were lands belonging to the chief man of the island, named Publius, who received us and entertained us hospitably for three days. [8][†]It happened that the father of Publius lay sick with fever and dysentery. And Paul visited him and [v] prayed, and [w] putting his hands on him healed him. [9]And when this had taken place, the rest of the people on the island who had diseases also came and were cured. [10][†]They also honored us greatly, [3] and when we were about to sail, they put on board whatever we needed.

Paul Arrives at Rome

[11][†]After three months we set sail in [x] a ship that had wintered in the island, a ship of Alexandria, with the twin gods [4] as a figurehead. [12][†]Putting in at Syracuse, we stayed there for three days. [13]And from there we made a circuit and arrived at Rhegium. And after one day a south wind sprang up, and on the second day we came to Puteoli. [14][†]There we found [y] brothers [5] and were invited to stay with them for seven days. And so we came to Rome. [15][†]And [y]the brothers there, when they heard about us, came as far as the Forum of Appius and Three Taverns to meet us. On seeing them, [z]Paul thanked God and took courage. [16][†]And when we came into Rome, [a]Paul was allowed to stay by himself, with the soldier who guarded him.

Paul in Rome

[17][†]After three days he called together the local leaders of the Jews, and when they had gathered, he said to them, “Brothers, [b]though I had done nothing against our people or [c]the customs of our fathers, yet I was delivered as a prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans. [18]When they had examined me, they [d]wished to set me at liberty, [e]because there was no reason for the death penalty in my case. [19][†]But because the Jews objected, I was compelled [f]to appeal to Caesar—though I had no charge to bring against [g]my nation. [20][†]For this reason, therefore, I have asked to see you and speak with you, since it is [h]because of [i]the hope of Israel that I am wearing [j]this [k]chain.” [21]And they said to him, “We have received no letters from Judea about you, and none of [l]the brothers coming here has reported or spoken any evil about you. [22]But we desire to hear from you what your views are, for with regard to this [m]sect we know that everywhere [n]it is spoken against.”

[23][†]When they had appointed a day for him, they came to him at his lodging in greater numbers. From morning till evening [o]he expounded to them, testifying to [p]the kingdom of God and [q]trying to convince them about Jesus [r]both from the Law of Moses and from the Prophets. [24][†]And [s]some were convinced by what he said, but others disbelieved. [25]And disagreeing among themselves, they departed after Paul had made one statement: [t]“The Holy Spirit was right in saying to your fathers through Isaiah the prophet:

[26][†] [u]“‘Go to this people, and say,
[v]“You will indeed hear but never understand,
and you will indeed see but never perceive.”
[27] [w]For this people’s heart has grown dull, and with their ears they can barely hear,

and their eyes they have closed;
lest they should see with their eyes
and hear with their ears
and understand with their heart and [x]turn, and I would heal them.’

28Therefore let it be known to you that [y]this [z]salvation of God [a]has been sent to the Gentiles; [b]they will listen.” [6]

30[†]He lived there two whole years at his own expense, [7] and [c]welcomed all who came to him, 31 [d]proclaiming [e]the kingdom of God and teaching about the Lord Jesus Christ [f]with all boldness and [g]without hindrance.

Study Notes for Acts

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:1–2:13 Preparation for Witness. Acts opens with the account of the Spirit's descent at Pentecost. Chapter 1 relates the preparation for that event, which occurs in 2:1–13.

FACT

Acts is the sequel to the Gospel of Luke. Its main purpose is to record a selective history of the early church after Christ's resurrection and ascension. Both books are dedicated to a man named Theophilus (Luke 1:3; Acts 1:1) and written by Luke.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:1–5 After an introduction (vv. 1–2), Luke reviews the 40-day period during which Jesus prepared the disciples to be his witnesses (vv. 3–5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:1 Luke's first book is the Gospel of Luke. It describes what Jesus began to do and teach. This suggests that Acts is about what Jesus continued "to do and teach" in the world. Though physically he had ascended into heaven (v. 9), yet spiritually he was still present on earth (see Matt. 28:20). Theophilus ("lover of God") is either an actual person or a symbolic name for any Christian seeker or believer.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:2 The day when he was taken up refers to Jesus' ascension (Luke 24:51). The beginning of Acts parallels the final words of the book of Luke (Luke 24:36–53). through the Holy Spirit. As Jesus gave instructions to his disciples, the Holy Spirit empowered them to rightly understand and obey Jesus' teaching. apostles. See notes on Acts 1:20; Rom. 1:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:3 Only Acts mentions the specific 40-day period of resurrection appearances. This number recalls many biblical events, such as Israel's wilderness wanderings and Jesus' temptations. The phrase kingdom of God occurs only six times in Acts (1:3; 8:12; 14:22; 19:8; 28:23, 31). It means the spiritual reign of God that gradually transforms lives and cultures through the power of the Holy Spirit.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:4 promise of the Father. The new and greater empowering of the Holy Spirit (see Luke 3:15–17; 24:49).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:5 Baptized with the Holy Spirit looks forward to Pentecost (see ch. 2). John contrasted his “repentance” baptism with Jesus’ “Holy Spirit” baptism (Mark 1:8). Throughout Acts, baptism and the gift of the Spirit are closely related.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:6 The disciples assembled at the Mount of Olives (v. 12). They asked Jesus when he would restore the kingdom to Israel. Perhaps they still expected a military and political kingdom.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:7 the Father has fixed by his own authority. God the Father determines history’s events.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:8 This verse states the key theme of Acts. It begins with the Spirit’s empowering of the witness to Jesus. Then it provides a rough outline of the book: Jerusalem (chs. 1–7), Judea and Samaria (chs. 8–12), and the end of the earth (chs. 13–28). you will receive power. The Holy Spirit will bring effectiveness in witness and ministry (1:8; Matt. 28:19), victory over sin (Acts 2:42–46; Rom. 6:11–14; Gal. 2:20), victory over Satan (Acts 2:42–46; 16:16–18; 2 Cor. 10:3–4; Eph. 6:10–18; 1 John 4:4), and gifts for ministry (Acts 2:16–18; 1 Cor. 12:11; 1 Pet. 4:10). The word “power” occurs at least seven other times in Acts to describe the working of miracles alongside gospel proclamation (see Acts 2:22; 3:12; 6:8; 8:10; 10:38; 19:11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:9 A cloud is often associated with God’s presence (Luke 9:28–36). as they were looking on, he was lifted up. Jesus’ visible ascension into heaven indicates that he has a physical human body. He will someday return in the same body (Acts 1:11). The eternal Son of God remains fully God and fully man forever.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:10 two men. Angels in human form, as their white robes suggest (compare John 20:12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:11 will come in the same way as you saw him go. Jesus’ return, like his ascension, will be bodily and visible. See note on v. 9.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:12 A Sabbath day’s journey was the maximum distance one could travel on the Sabbath without it being considered work, according to later Jewish tradition. The rabbis set the limit at 2,000 cubits (about 0.6 miles or 1 km).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:14 The women likely included those who ministered to Jesus' followers (Luke 8:2–3), traveled with them from Galilee (Luke 23:55), and witnessed the crucifixion and empty tomb (Luke 23:49, 55–56; 24:2–11). Jesus had four brothers—James, Joses, Judas, and Simon (Mark 6:3).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:15 In Acts 1–15, Peter is the spokesman for the apostles.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:16 The Holy Spirit spoke beforehand by the mouth of David is one of the clearest statements in Scripture that the Bible is the inspired word of God.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:18 this man acquired a field. As Matt. 27:3–7 records, Judas brought the 30 pieces of silver back to the chief priests and elders. The chief priests then purchased the potter's field with Judas's money. This was considered the same as if Judas had made the purchase. he burst open. The two accounts of Judas's death should be seen as complementary. The main difference is that Matt. 27:5 speaks of Judas hanging himself, while Acts speaks of his body falling headlong and bursting open. One possible explanation is that the field overlooked a cliff; as Judas hanged himself, the rope (or the branch) may have broken so that his body fell over the edge of the cliff onto jagged rocks below. Others have suggested that Judas's body may have remained hanging for some time decaying ("swelling up," ESV footnote), eventually falling to the ground and bursting open.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:20 Judas's death fulfills Ps. 69:25. Let another take his office. Matthias's selection (Acts 1:26) as the twelfth apostle was a direct fulfillment of prophecy (see v. 16; Ps. 109:8). These leaders parallel the heads of the 12 tribes of Israel in the OT (see Luke 22:30; Rev. 21:12, 14). Later, others became "apostles," including at least Paul and Barnabas (Acts 14:4, 14) and James, the Lord's brother (Gal. 1:19). However, apostles were not replaced from this point onward. See also note on Rom. 1:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:23–24 The group turned the matter over to the Lord, praying that Jesus would reveal his choice.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:26 The lots were probably marked stones that were placed in a pot and then shaken out (compare 1 Chron. 26:13–16). This does not mean that people should cast lots to make decisions today. There is no such command in the NT. On the 12 apostles, see note on Matt. 10:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:1 Pentecost was the second of the annual harvest festivals. It came 50 days after Passover. All most likely included the 120 assembled in the upper room (1:15).

FACT

Nations at Pentecost. The list of nations in 2:9–11 covers most of the first-century Roman world. Many Jews who lived outside Palestine traveled to Jerusalem to celebrate Pentecost, an annual feast. The Holy Spirit enabled them to hear the disciples speak in their own languages (2:6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:2 Jesus compared the Holy Spirit's work to the wind in John 3:8. The house where they were sitting probably was the upper room (Acts 1:13), which must have been close to the temple grounds.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:3 The divided tongues as of fire were not literal flames, but they looked enough like fire that this was the best description. "Fire" in the OT often indicates God's presence. It also symbolizes his holiness and purity (Ex. 3:2; 19:18; Isa. 4:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:4 Filled with the Holy Spirit fulfills what Jesus promised (see notes on 1:5; 1:8). This marked the beginning of the new covenant age, which will last until Jesus returns. speak in other tongues. The word translated "tongues" can also be translated "languages," and that is the sense here. as the Spirit gave them utterance. See 10:45–46; 19:6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:5 The crowd's presence indicates that the setting is the temple grounds. This was the only place in Jerusalem that could accommodate more than 3,000 persons (v. 41). The fact that they were dwelling in Jerusalem suggests that both Jewish pilgrims and local residents were present.

Nations at Pentecost

c. A.D. 30/33

Pentecost attracted Jews from all over the world to Jerusalem to celebrate the annual festival. Those who heard the apostles’ message in their native languages at Pentecost came from various regions within the two great competing empires of the day—the Roman Empire and the Parthian Empire—with Jerusalem near the center.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:9–11 The list of nations covers most of the first-century Roman world, particularly areas where Jewish communities existed. At Pentecost the Christians start their worldwide witness. At this point the converts were mainly Jewish. The only Gentiles at Pentecost were proselytes, Gentiles who had become full converts to Judaism.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:14–5:42 The Witness in Jerusalem. Beginning with Peter’s sermon at Pentecost and continuing through ch. 5, the Christians’ witness is limited to the city of Jerusalem and restricted to Jews.

Major Sermons in Acts

Speaker	Text	Audience

Peter	2:14–36	Jews in Jerusalem
	3:11–26	Jews in Jerusalem
	10:34–43	Cornelius’s household
Stephen	7:1–53	Jews in Jerusalem
Paul	13:16–47	Jews in Pisidian Antioch
	17:22–31	Greeks in Athens
	20:18–35	Church elders in Ephesus
	22:1–21	Jews in Jerusalem
	24:10–21	Felix and his court
	26:1–29	Agrippa and his court

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:14–41 Peter’s sermon is the first in a series of speeches and teachings in Acts (see chart). It consists primarily of scriptural proofs, citing Joel 2:28–32; Ps. 16:8–11; 110:1; 132:10 (see also 2 Sam. 7:6–16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:17 The last days began at Pentecost (see Heb. 1:2). They will continue until Christ’s return. Most rabbis believed the Spirit stopped speaking through human prophets with the last of the OT prophets. Joel’s prophecy of an outpouring of the Spirit on all flesh was understood as referring to a new messianic age. daughters. The women in the upper room participated in the gift of the Spirit at Pentecost, further confirming Joel’s prophecy.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:19–21 The darkened sun and bloody moon, whether literal or symbolic, indicate the end of the earth. Peter included the full prophecy even though not all of it was yet fulfilled at this time. everyone who calls upon the name of the Lord shall be saved (Joel 2:32). The “name of the Lord” that saves is Jesus (see Acts 2:36; see 4:12), which affirms his deity.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:23 Although Jesus was delivered up according to the definite plan and foreknowledge of God, that still did not remove responsibility from those who contributed to his death. Peter goes on to say, “you crucified and killed” him (see notes on 3:13–16; 3:17; 4:27). by the hands of lawless men. By Gentile officials and soldiers.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:25–31 Peter quotes Ps. 16:8–11 as pointing to Jesus’ resurrection.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:29 Both the OT (1 Kings 2:10; Neh. 3:16) and early Jewish tradition locate David’s tomb on the south side of Jerusalem. Peter may be referring to an earlier traditional tomb not far from where he was speaking.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:33 The personal and orderly relationship among the persons of the Trinity is evident in this verse. When Christ's work on earth was accomplished, he was exalted to the second highest position of authority in the universe, at the right hand of God. On Pentecost, Jesus himself poured out the Holy Spirit on the disciples in a new and more powerful way (vv. 1–11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:34 When Peter says that David did not ascend into the heavens, he is referring to his body.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:38 Faith in Jesus as Savior is implied in the commands to repent and be baptized . . . in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins. Repentance includes a change of mind that results in trusting God (that is, having faith). On repentance, see note on Matt. 3:2. The willingness to submit to baptism is an outward expression of inward faith in Christ (see 1 Pet. 3:21). See note on Acts 10:48. Likewise, genuine faith always involves repentance, and vice versa. The gift of the Holy Spirit means the Spirit himself coming to live in the believer.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:39 Peter's word that the promise was not just for the Jews who were listening but for all who are far off implies the inclusion of Gentiles (compare Eph. 2:13, 17). everyone whom the Lord our God calls to himself. Salvation is ultimately God's work. It comes to those whom the Lord calls into personal relationship with him.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:40 many other words. Luke provided only a small portion of Peter's sermon.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:41 The three thousand converts at Pentecost were added to the initial 120 believers (1:15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:42 apostles' teaching. They shared what Jesus taught them before and after his resurrection. Fellowship included the sharing of material goods (v. 44). The breaking of bread (vv. 42, 46) was likely both the Lord's Supper and a larger fellowship meal. Prayers were offered in house meetings and also in the temple area (vv. 42, 46).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:44 all things in common. Some have seen this as a sort of socialist arrangement. This is clearly not the case, since (1) the giving was voluntary and (2) people still had personal possessions (see 12:12; 18:7).

Further, Peter told Ananias and Sapphira that they did not have to sell their property and give away the money (5:4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:45 On generosity among Christians, see 2 Cor. 8:9–15.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:47 And the Lord added to their number. God alone can enable people to repent and believe.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:2 alms. Money or goods given to the poor.

FACT

Solomon's portico was a covered walkway along the eastern wall of the temple area. It was about 300 yards (274 m) long and was lined with pillars 40 feet (12 m) high. It was apparently a popular meeting spot for the very first Christians in Jerusalem (3:11; 5:12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:6 To heal in the name of Jesus was to do so by his power and presence.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:11–26 Peter's second sermon in the temple area was primarily a call for Jews to repent of their rejection of Jesus as Messiah.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:11 Solomon's portico was a covered walkway along the eastern wall of the temple area. See also 5:12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:13–16 The reference to Jesus as God's servant recalls Isa. 52:13–53:12. you delivered over and denied. . . . you denied. . . . you killed. Thus the people need Jesus' forgiveness, which he will give if they repent of their previous unbelief.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:14 Holy One and Righteous One are messianic terms (see Isa. 53:11; Mark 1:24).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:15 you killed . . . God raised. . . . we are witnesses. The truth of Jesus' death and resurrection is a recurring theme in the speeches in Acts (see 2:23–24; 4:10; 5:30–32; 10:39–41; 13:28–29; see also 1 Cor. 15:1–4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:16 By faith in his name refers to Peter's faith, not to faith on the part of the lame man. the faith that is through Jesus. Jesus himself gives believers this kind of miracle-working faith.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:17 you acted in ignorance, as did also your rulers. They did not fully understand that Jesus was the Messiah and the true Son of God. But such ignorance does not release people from responsibility for their actions.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:18 See notes on 2:23; 3:13–16; 3:17; 4:27.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:20 People experience times of refreshing when the Holy Spirit comes to dwell within them. This "refreshing" comes also to the world in general through believers who are changed by the Spirit's power. That he may send the Christ is a clear reference to the second coming of Christ (see v. 21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:21 the time for restoring all the things. Christ will return and his kingdom will be established on earth. The earth will be renewed beyond what it was before Adam and Eve's fall (see note on Rom. 8:20–21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:22–23 Peter quoted Deut. 18:15 to establish that Jesus was the prophet like me that God had promised to send, and to point out the danger of rejecting Jesus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:24 Samuel was considered the next prophet after Moses. these days. The coming of Christ and the new covenant age that began at Pentecost.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:25–26 all the families of the earth. The gospel's worldwide mission was already present in Peter's message. Later, however, he would more fully understand what that mission entailed (see 10:1–11:18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:1 The captain of the temple was second in rank to the high priest. The Sadducees may have accepted only the Pentateuch as Scripture. They also denied the resurrection (see 23:8). They worked closely with the Romans to protect their own political and economic interests.

FACT

Not a needy person among them. The earliest Christians in Jerusalem were very generous in helping each other financially (4:34–35). Later, during a severe famine, new believers from all over the Roman Empire contributed to the needs of the Jerusalem church (see note on 11:27–30).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:2 Most other Jews, including the Pharisees, believed in the resurrection. The Sadducees were upset with Peter's preaching that in Jesus the general resurrection had begun.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:3 The Jewish high court, the Sanhedrin, met in the mornings.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:4 Since the men alone were about five thousand, the total number of Christians was probably much greater.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:5 The Jewish high court had a majority of Sadducees and a minority of Pharisees, represented mainly by the scribes (lawyers) of the court.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:6 Annas is named as high priest. High priests seem to have retained their title for life (see also note on John 18:24). His son-in-law Caiaphas was the official high priest at this time (serving A.D. 18–36).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:8 filled with the Holy Spirit, said. See Luke 12:11–12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:10 whom you crucified. Peter accused the Sanhedrin judges of responsibility in Jesus' death (compare 2:23; 3:15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:11 cornerstone. See Ps. 118:22; Isa. 28:16.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:12 Peter's statement that there was salvation in no other name meant the Sanhedrin had to place their faith in Jesus, the man they helped the Romans crucify. On Christ as the only way of salvation, see also Matt. 11:27; John 3:18; 14:6; 1 John 5:12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:13 Boldness is an important word in Acts, describing Spirit-inspired courage to speak in spite of any danger. See also 2:29; 4:29, 31; 28:31. uneducated, common. They had not gone through the advanced training of the rabbinic schools, but they were not necessarily illiterate or unintelligent. they had been with Jesus. Through knowing Jesus and spending three years with him, the disciples knew much more than the Sanhedrin.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:18–20 charged them not to speak or teach . . . in the name of Jesus. Peter realized the impossibility of obeying this order (we cannot but speak). Believers cannot obey authorities when such authorities prohibit preaching the gospel or require Christians to disobey God's commandments (5:29).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:24–30 The believers prayed, quoting Ps. 2:1–2, a messianic prophecy.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:27 Psalm 2 is interpreted in light of Jesus' death. The "kings" and "rulers" of Acts 4:26 correspond to Herod Antipas (see note on Matt. 14:1) and Pilate (see note on Matt. 27:2). The Gentiles and peoples of Israel are those who participated in the crucifixion (Acts 2:23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:29 Their prayer for boldness in witness shows a determination to disobey the Sanhedrin's command and be faithful in their witness.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:31 God answered the believers' prayer. They were all filled with the Holy Spirit indicates that people could be "filled" with the Holy Spirit more than once. Peter had already been "filled with the Holy Spirit" (v. 8), and all the disciples present at Pentecost had been "filled" with the Spirit as well (2:4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:32 everything in common. See note on 2:44.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:34 The believers' voluntary sharing exemplified the OT ideal of there not being a needy person among them (see Deut. 15:4–11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:36 Barnabas is a major character in the later chapters of Acts, particularly as Paul's companion on his first mission. That mission began on Cyprus (13:4b–6), Barnabas's home. The nickname son of encouragement describes his personality well (9:27; 11:25–26; 15:36–39).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:2 The couple kept back . . . some of the proceeds. "Kept back" means in a secret and dishonest way.

FACT

Gamaliel was considered the greatest Jewish teacher of his day. Known for his humane interpretations of the law, he intervened on behalf of Peter and the apostles (5:33–39). As a young man, the apostle Paul learned the Law of Moses from Gamaliel (22:3), and he was apparently a very good student (see Gal. 1:14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:3 Satan "filled" their hearts just as the Spirit had "filled" the community for witness (4:31). Ananias must have claimed that he was giving all the money to the Lord's work. His sin was the lie, claiming to be doing more than he did.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:4 Ananias did not have to give anything to the church. Peter accused Ananias of lying to the Holy Spirit (v. 3). Here he says that he has lied . . . to God, showing that the Holy Spirit is a person and that he is divine.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:5 great fear. Fear of the Lord is a common theme in Acts. It refers either to fear as godly awe, reverence, and devotion (as in 2:43; 10:2; 13:26) or fear of God's displeasure and fatherly discipline (as in 5:5, 11; 16:29; 19:17; see also Heb. 12:7–10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:9 Peter accused Sapphira of testing the Spirit, an expression that echoes OT passages about testing the Lord (compare Ex. 17:2; Deut. 6:16). This is another indication of the Spirit's deity (see note on Acts 5:4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:10 The text does not specify whether Ananias and Sapphira were "false" believers or if they truly belonged to the Lord despite their obvious sin.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:12 The Christians had prayed for God to grant them the power to perform signs and wonders (see 4:30). This was mightily fulfilled through the apostles, especially in the events taking place in Solomon's Portico, where the believers often witnessed.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:13 None of the rest dared join them. Some take "them" to refer to "the whole church" in v. 13, and "they" in v. 12 to refer to all the believers. Others understand "them" in v. 12 and "they" in v. 13 to be the apostles.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:15 his shadow might fall on some of them. The Holy Spirit was so powerful in and around Peter that those who came near him experienced healing (compare 19:12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:17 filled with jealousy. These Sadducees were “jealous” to keep their own influence and power (compare 7:9; 13:45; 17:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:20 words of this Life. Words of salvation and eternal life. Early Christianity may have been called “the Life” as well as “the Way” (see note on 9:1–2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:21 It was daybreak, and a crowd would be gathering at the temple for the morning sacrifices. council, all the senate. The Sanhedrin.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:30 hanging him on a tree. See note on 10:39; see also Deut. 21:22–23.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:34 Gamaliel, the most prominent rabbi of his day, was Paul’s teacher (22:3). He belonged to the Pharisaic minority on the Sanhedrin, but had considerable influence.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:36–37 Gamaliel cited two examples of failed movements. The first was a revolutionary named Theudas, and the second Judas the Galilean, who is said to have come “after him.” Judas the Galilean is well known. He led a tax revolt in A.D. 6. Although there is no other historical record of “Theudas,” he was probably a leader of a revolt following the death of Herod the Great in 4 B.C.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:40 This time the Sanhedrin enforced their command by beating the apostles. The text does not say whether it was with the maximum of 39 stripes prescribed by Jewish law (see 2 Cor. 11:24) or with fewer stripes.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:1–12:25 The Witness beyond Jerusalem. Beginning with Greek-speaking Jewish Christians in Jerusalem (6:1–7), the Christian gospel was proclaimed to an ever-widening circle—to Samaria (8:4–25), to an Ethiopian (8:26–40), to a Gentile God-fearer (10:1–48), and to the Gentiles of Antioch (11:19–30). The stage was then set for Paul’s ministry that would go to the “end of the earth” (chs. 13–28; compare 1:8).

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:1 The Hellenists were Jewish Christians whose primary language was Greek. They may have been born outside of Palestine. The Hebrews were native Palestinian Jews who spoke Aramaic as their primary language. They seem to have overlooked the Hellenist widows unintentionally. the daily distribution. Of provisions for the needy.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:5 Stephen and Philip will become prominent in Acts. The NT makes no further mention of the other five.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:6 The apostles confirmed the congregational election when they prayed and laid their hands on them. Laying on of hands is done in connection with several things in Acts: healing (9:17), the gift of the Spirit (8:18; 9:17; 19:6), and commissioning to a ministry (both here and at 13:3). Interpreters differ over whether these seven men should be considered the first "deacons" in the church. On the one hand, the noun "deacon" does not occur here. On the other hand, the corresponding verb ("to serve, help, give assistance") is used in 6:2. This same verb is used of those who serve as deacons in 1 Tim. 3:10, 13. However, this is a common verb for "render service."

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:7 A great many of the priests became Christians. The lower ranks of the priesthood numbered in the thousands. Many were poor. They may have first been attracted to Christians by their charity, provided under the guidance of the newly appointed deacons (vv. 1–6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:8–15 Stephen ministered to the needy and also taught the Word and performed wonders and signs.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:9 Stephen preached to Hellenistic Jews (see note on v. 1) and Greek-speakers like himself. Freedmen were Jews who had been enslaved and then granted freedom. Cyrenians and Alexandrians represent North Africa. Those in Cilicia and Asia represent the area of modern Turkey.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:14 Stephen must have referred to what Jesus said about destroying the temple and rebuilding it in three days (Mark 14:58). John clarified this as Jesus referring to his body (John 2:19–21).

STEPHEN

Stephen was one of seven men chosen by the disciples to care for the Greek-speaking widows in the church (6:5). Like the apostles, Stephen not only ministered to the needy but also proclaimed the gospel. Many of the religious leaders grew angry at Stephen, who was performing signs and wonders and speaking with great wisdom. They dragged him before the Sanhedrin, where he was falsely accused of blasphemy. During his defense, Stephen compared Israel's repeated disobedience in OT times to the nation's present rejection of the Messiah. This made the members of the Sanhedrin so angry that they cast him out of the city and stoned him. Stephen's prayers as he was dying echoed those prayed by Jesus on the cross (7:59–60). His martyrdom led to a time of persecution against the church. (Acts 6:8–10)

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:15 like the face of an angel. Apparently the brightness of the glory of God was on Stephen's face (compare Ex. 34:29–30; Matt. 17:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:1–53 Stephen's defense is the longest speech in Acts. It is a selective summary of OT history that turned the charges on his accusers: they were the ones disobeying God because they rejected his appointed leaders.

FACT

The speeches in Acts are an important part of Luke's historical account. They make up nearly a third of the book. Ten of these are extended speeches: three by Peter, one by Stephen, and six by Paul.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:6 four hundred years. That is, the time Israel spent in Egypt.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:7 Combining Gen. 15:13–14 with Ex. 3:12, Stephen spoke of God's assurances to Abraham that after 400 years his descendants would come to Canaan and worship God in this place.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:9 The theme of Israel's rejection of God's chosen leaders (such as Joseph) runs throughout Stephen's speech, culminating in their rejection of Jesus. God was with him. God's presence with Joseph in Egypt shows that God can bless those outside the Promised Land. A physical temple is not needed for his saving purposes.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:14 When Stephen cites the number of Jacob's kindred at seventy-five instead of seventy, he follows the Greek translation of the OT rather than Hebrew text for Ex. 1:5. The different texts were apparently based on different decisions regarding whether to include Jacob and his wife and the additional descendants born to Ephraim and Manasseh in Egypt.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:16 the tomb that Abraham had bought . . . from the sons of Hamor in Shechem. It was actually Jacob who bought land "from the sons of Hamor" in Shechem (Gen. 33:19), and this is where Joseph was buried (Josh. 24:32). Stephen may have been using the name "Abraham" to refer to all of Abraham's family or descendants, including Jacob (compare Heb. 7:9–10). Another possible explanation is that Abraham had earlier bought the same piece of land when he built an altar in Shechem (Gen. 12:6–7), but Jacob later had to repurchase it (compare Gen. 21:27–31 with Gen. 26:23–33).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:20 Stephen's recital of the story of Moses is in three parts, covering 40 years each: birth and years in Pharaoh's court (vv. 17–22), flight from Egypt and stay in Midian (vv. 23–29), and divine call at Sinai and leading Israel in the wilderness (vv. 30–43).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:22 Moses' education in Egyptian wisdom is not mentioned in the OT, but it was well established in Jewish tradition.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:23 The rejection of Moses' attempt to reconcile two quarreling Israelites (Ex. 2:11–15) illustrates Israel's constant rejection of its God-sent leaders (see Acts 7:35).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:35–36 Stephen presents Moses as a type of Christ: both were men whom God sent, both served as a redeemer (see Luke 24:21), and both performed wonders and signs (see Acts 2:22).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:37 Christ is the prophet whom Moses predicted (see Deut. 18:15; Acts 3:22).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:38 congregation. The characteristic NT word for "church." The idea that the law was mediated by angels was well established in Judaism. It is repeated in v. 53, in Gal. 3:19, and Heb. 2:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:40–41 The golden calf incident illustrates the Israelites' continuing rejection of Moses' leadership and their idolatry.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:42–43 Stephen continues his description of Israel's idolatry during their occupation of the Promised Land, when they worshiped stars and planets (the host of heaven). To establish this fact he quotes the Greek version of Amos 5:25–27. Moloch was the Canaanite sun god. The identity of Rephan is uncertain, but it may be Repa, the Egyptian name for Saturn.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:44 Stephen turned to the charge made against him regarding the temple (6:12–14). He contrasted the tabernacle (or tent) with the temple. The temple is not necessary for God's purposes, for in the wilderness God was worshiped in the tabernacle. In distinction from the temple, it was movable, and yet it contained the witness, the stone tablets inscribed with God's law. His point was not to make too much of the temple.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:48 Stephen quotes Isa. 66:1–2 to establish that God does not dwell in houses. Israel's error was in confining God to the temple. Further, Stephen suggests that neither the tabernacle nor the temple were intended to last forever. Both pointed to something greater that was to come.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:51 Stephen concludes with a direct attack on Israel for rejecting the Messiah. This seems harsh, but Luke will soon say that Stephen was "full of the Holy Spirit" (v. 55; see 6:10, 15) and so his accusation was also led by the Spirit. Using the OT, he accused his Jewish listeners of being stiff-necked (see Ex. 34:9), uncircumcised in heart and ears (Deut. 10:16; Jer. 6:10), and resisting the Holy Spirit (Isa. 63:10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:52 Like Jesus, Stephen accused his Jewish listeners of killing the prophets (compare Luke 11:47–51; 13:34) and of rejecting their ultimate God-sent deliverer, the Righteous One (see Acts 3:14–15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:58 It is debated whether Stephen was stoned on the Sanhedrin's order or killed by mob violence. The fact that he was appearing before the Sanhedrin (6:12) favors the former, but the fast nature of the stoning suggests mob behavior. Also, the Sanhedrin did not have the legal right to execute without Roman permission (see John 18:31).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:59–60 Stephen's dying prayer recalls Jesus' words during his crucifixion (Luke 23:34, 46). Fell asleep is a Christian expression for death, reflecting assurance of a future resurrection.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:1 they were all scattered. See note on John 7:35. This "dispersion" led to the fulfillment of the promise in Acts 1:8 (see James 1:1; 1 Pet. 1:1).

FACT

The Ethiopian mentioned in 8:26–40 was an official in the royal court of Ethiopia, located in what is now Sudan and Ethiopia. Philip found him reading the OT Scriptures, which means he was probably a "God-fearer," that is, a non-Jew who was seeking to know about the God of Israel. His journey to Jerusalem would have taken him three months—a true sign of his sincerity in seeking the Lord.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:3 Saul (later called Paul) was instrumental in the persecution, as he testifies later in Acts (22:4–5; 26:10–11) and in his epistles (1 Cor. 15:9; Gal. 1:13, 23; Phil. 3:6; 1 Tim. 1:13).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:5 Philip most likely visited Sebaste, the main city of the Samaritans, located at the foot of their holy mountain Gerizim. The Samaritans were a racially and religiously mixed group of partly Jewish and partly Gentile ancestry. They were disliked by both Jews and non-Jews (see note on John 4:4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:6 The Samaritans had their own expectation of a prophetic Messiah. They believed he would come to Mt. Gerizim (see John 4:20). John the Baptist and Jesus had previously ministered in this area (John 3:23; 4:4–42). Like the apostles, Philip had received the Holy Spirit's power to cast out demons and to heal. This confirmed the truth of his message.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:9 On ancient magic, see note on 13:6.

PHILIP

Along with Stephen, Philip was one of the seven men chosen to help the apostles minister to the early church. Referred to as “Philip the evangelist” (21:8), he began his ministry in Samaria, where he proclaimed Christ boldly and with power. Like the apostles, Philip had received the Holy Spirit’s power to cast out demons and to heal the sick. The Bible says that as a result of Philip’s ministry in Samaria “there was much joy in that city” (8:8). God later led Philip toward Gaza, where he explained the gospel to an Ethiopian royal official. After baptizing the man, Philip was immediately carried away by the Spirit of the Lord to a new area of ministry. (Acts 8:5–8)

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:13 Commentators differ over whether Simon had genuine saving faith. Peter’s strong rebuke of Simon suggests that he did not (see vv. 20–21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:14 The apostles at Jerusalem retained their authority over the entire church. When they heard of Philip’s mission, they sent Peter and John to confirm the accuracy of his message.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:17 they received the Holy Spirit. The Lord waited to demonstrate the full power of the Holy Spirit (vv. 15–16) until some of the apostles themselves could be present. This way there would be no question at all that the Samaritans had received the Holy Spirit in the same way that the Jewish Christians had (see Rom. 11:13–24; Eph. 2:11–22).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:18 Simon saw that the Spirit was given. Since Simon observed this, there must have been some outward evidence of the Spirit. This may have been speaking in tongues, prophesying, or both (see 10:46; 19:6). offered them money. Magicians often exchanged secrets for money.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:21 Neither part nor lot is OT language for having no share in something (see Deut. 14:27). This seems to indicate that Simon has now shown the condition of his heart and that he does not belong to God’s people (but see note on Acts 8:13).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:24 Whether Simon truly repents is unclear.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:25 The apostles’ preaching in many villages of the Samaritans fulfills 1:8.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:26–27 Gaza was the last watering place before the desert on the road from Jerusalem to Egypt. Ethiopia was the ancient Nubian Kingdom, south of Aswan on the Nile. eunuch. In the OT and NT, eunuchs were royal officials. Some were emasculated, but not all. He had been to Jerusalem to worship, so the eunuch was probably a "God-fearer," a Gentile who worshiped Israel's God but had not become a full convert. Isaiah (v. 28) promised that God would grant faithful eunuchs a heritage "better than sons and daughters" (Isa. 56:3–5). He also promised that Nubians would worship the Lord (Isa. 18:7).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:30 People usually read aloud in those days, so Philip would recognize that the eunuch was reading Isa. 53:7–8.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:39 carried . . . away. Compare 2 Kings 2:11.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:40 Philip was sent to the coastal region, first to Azotus (OT Ashdod), then to Caesarea, where he seems to have settled (see 21:8). Caesarea had a large Greek-speaking population. Originally a small harbor town, it was rebuilt by Herod the Great with a greatly improved harbor, a hippodrome, and an aqueduct. In Philip's day it was the seat of the Roman government of Judea. Tense relations existed between its Jewish and Gentile inhabitants.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:1–31 In chs. 6–12 Luke deals primarily with the witness of the Jerusalem church among the dispersed Greek-speaking Jews (the "Hellenists") and with the apostle Peter. The conversion of Saul (later called Paul) fits into this time frame. As a Greek-speaking Diaspora Jew, Paul was himself a Hellenist, and he eventually became the prime leader in their outreach to the Gentiles. Luke does not record the date of Paul's conversion, but a reasonable estimate is c. A.D. 33–34.

FACT

A famous hometown. Paul said that his hometown of Tarsus (9:11) was "no obscure city" (21:39). It had been known for years as a center of learning and in Paul's day was the capital city of the Roman province of Cilicia. One of its claims to fame was as the site of the first meeting between Mark Antony and Cleopatra.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:1–2 The account of Saul resumes from 8:3. Saul's papers from the high priest may have been official legal documents or letters of introduction to the synagogues at Damascus. belonging to the Way. A description of Christians, referring either to the way of salvation (16:17; compare Jesus' teachings in Matt. 7:14; John 14:6) or the true way of life in relation to God (see Acts 18:25–26; compare Ps. 1:6; 27:11) or to both together. The expression also occurs at Acts 19:9, 23; 22:4; 24:14, 22.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:3 Damascus was 135 miles (217 km) northeast of Jerusalem, a six-day journey by foot. Damascus was an oasis on the border of the Arabian desert and on the main route from Mesopotamia to Egypt.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:4 Jesus' reference to Saul's persecuting me shows his close identity with his followers: to persecute Christians was to persecute Christ.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:5 "Who are you, Lord?" Though Paul was physically blinded by the bright light (see vv. 3, 8–9), he indicates elsewhere that he actually saw the risen Christ on this occasion (see v. 27; 1 Cor. 9:1).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:7 Saul's companions heard the voice but saw no one. In his later testimony to the Jews, Paul spoke of them seeing the light but not understanding the voice (22:9). They had no vision of Jesus nor did they hear his message to Saul, but they could testify to a brilliant light and a sound.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:10 The Lord is Jesus and not the Father (see v. 17). Ananias's response, Here I am, is like that of OT people such as Abraham (Gen. 22:1, 11), Jacob (Gen. 46:2), Moses (Ex. 3:11), Samuel (1 Sam. 3:4–8), and Isaiah (Isa. 6:8).

FACT

Ananias. There are three different men named Ananias in the book of Acts (see 5:1; 9:10; 24:1). The Ananias who was apparently the first believer to welcome Paul after his conversion is a positive example of obedience to the Lord (9:10–19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:11 The street called Straight is one of the world's oldest continually occupied streets, still existing today. Tarsus. See note on v. 30.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:15 Later in Acts, Saul (later called Paul) preaches to Gentiles, to kings (Agrippa II, ch. 26), and to the children of Israel.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:18 something like scales fell from his eyes. This physical event was a symbol that Saul's spiritual blindness had been overcome. He could now see and understand the truth (see 2 Cor. 3:14 for a related image). was baptized. Through baptism, Saul made an immediate public declaration of his faith in Jesus as the Messiah.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:19b–20 Saul likely received instruction in the Christian "way" from the disciples at Damascus. In Galatians, Paul notes that during this time he "went away into Arabia, and returned again to Damascus" (see Gal. 1:17). Here, as throughout his ministry, Paul began his witness in the synagogues (see note on Acts 13:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:23 the Jews. Luke often uses the phrase "the Jews" to refer to Jewish people who opposed the gospel (see ESV footnote on v. 23; see also 12:3; 13:45; 14:4; 17:5; 19:33; etc.). plotted to kill him. Specifically "the governor under King Aretas" helped in the attempt to kill him (see 2 Cor. 11:32–33).

PAUL

Author of 13 out of the 27 NT books, Paul is one of the most important people in the history of the Christian faith. Born in Tarsus with the Hebrew name "Saul," he was both a Jew and a Roman citizen. He came to Jerusalem as a young man to be educated by Gamaliel, the most famous rabbinic scholar of that time. After approving the stoning of Stephen, Saul helped lead a great persecution against the church (8:1–3). Then, on his way to Damascus to arrest believers, he was dramatically converted to the faith (9:1–31). Paul would eventually go on three missionary journeys, winning many people to faith in Christ and establishing churches in cities all across the Roman Empire. He was especially effective in explaining the gospel to Gentiles. Paul faced brutal opposition throughout his ministry and eventually was imprisoned. He wrote many of his letters while under house arrest and later in prison in Rome, before being martyred for his faith. (Acts 9:1–22)

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:27 Barnabas . . . brought him to the apostles (in Jerusalem). According to Gal. 1:18–19, this visit took place three years (see note on Acts 11:27–30) after his conversion (which could make this c. A.D. 37). Paul met with Peter for 15 days. He had no discussions with the other apostles, except for meeting James, the brother of Jesus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:29 The Hellenists here are not the same as the Jewish believers called "Hellenists" in 6:1. These people were Jews, but not Christians.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:30 On Caesarea, see note on 8:40. Paul's hometown of Tarsus was a strategically important city in southeast Asia Minor on the road from Syria into central Asia Minor. Paul calls it "no obscure city" (21:39). To Tarsus corresponds to Gal. 1:21, where Paul says he went to "Cilicia," the province in which Tarsus was located. Paul was based in Tarsus and ministered in Syria-Cilicia for the next eight years (c. A.D. 37–45). Some of the events described in 2 Cor. 11:23–27 perhaps occurred during this time, and probably also his intense vision of heaven (2 Cor. 12:2–4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:31 the church throughout all Judea and Galilee and Samaria. There may have been hundreds of churches in the small cities and towns throughout this large region, but all of them together can be called a "church." peace. See also Gal. 1:22–24. fear of the Lord. See note on Acts 5:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:32 Saints refers to Christians. Lydda (OT Lod) is 23 miles (37 km) northwest of Jerusalem on the road to Joppa. Lydda served as a regional administrative town for Judea, and was on an important trade route.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:34 Jesus Christ heals you. See note on 3:6. Make your bed probably refers to folding the mat on which he was lying.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:35 Sharon referred to the whole coastal plain north of Lydda.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:36 Joppa (modern Jaffa/Yafa, south of Tel Aviv) was a port city on the coast, 11 miles (18 km) northwest of Lydda.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:40 Tabitha, arise. Peter had no supernatural power of his own, but the Lord had showed him what he was going to do in response to Peter's prayer. See note on 3:6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:41 The Greek verb for raised her up is the same word used throughout the NT for Jesus' resurrection.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:43 As a tanner, Simon worked with animal hides.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:1 Cornelius resided at Caesarea (see note on 8:40). He was a centurion, a commander of 100 men. A Cohort usually consisted of 600 men under the command of six centurions. In remote areas such as Judea a cohort might have as many as 1,000 men. Centurions were paid as much as five times the pay of an ordinary soldier, so Cornelius would have been socially prominent and wealthy.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:2 devout man who feared God. A "God-fearer" (compare v. 22; 8:26–27; 13:16, 26) was a Gentile who worshiped Israel's God but who had not submitted to Jewish conversion rites. Cornelius followed two of the primary expressions of Jewish religion—prayer and almsgiving. alms. See note on 3:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:3–4 The ninth hour is 3:00 P.M. This was a set hour of prayer for Jews according to later tradition.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:4 memorial. His deeds were equal to sacrifice (compare Lev. 2:2, 9, 16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:9 housetop. Houses in Judea typically had flat roofs, used as living space.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:12 all kinds of animals and reptiles and birds. Both clean and unclean animals. Jewish law forbade eating unclean animals (see Lev. 11:2–47).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:13–16 kill and eat. God was overturning the old clean/unclean distinctions and dietary laws in general, along with all other "ceremonial" laws in the Mosaic covenant (including laws about sacrifices, festivals and special days, and circumcision). Peter was treating Gentiles as unclean, following later tradition rather than the OT. Israel was supposed to minister to other nations (Ex. 19:5–6) and teach them to follow God. God corrects Peter's behavior.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:28 unlawful. Not in terms of violating OT commands but in the sense of not following later Jewish traditions. God has shown me refers to the vision of vv. 10–16.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:34–43 This message to the Gentiles provides a summary of Jesus' ministry. The speech may have been a much longer one, which Luke summarizes.

CORNELIUS

Cornelius was a Roman centurion and a "God-fearer"—a Gentile who worshiped Israel's God. As a centurion, Cornelius would have been a socially prominent and wealthy man. The Bible says that he "gave alms generously to the people, and prayed continually to God" (10:2), and that he was held in high regard "by the whole Jewish nation" (10:22). An angel of the Lord appeared to Cornelius in a vision and instructed him to send for the apostle Peter. When Peter arrived, he preached the gospel to Cornelius and his friends and family. While he was still speaking, the Holy Spirit was poured out on these Gentile seekers. Cornelius and his household were baptized, and their conversion convinced the early church that God's promises were for Gentiles as well as for Jews. (Acts 10:30–33)

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:35 in every nation. Not just among Jews. acceptable to him. The question here is whether God's favor is available to Jews only ("partiality," v. 34) or is now available to Gentiles also (those "in every nation"). fears him and does what is right. Although Peter does not explicitly mention saving faith, it likely is implied (see note on v. 2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:36 The references to the good news of peace and to Christ being Lord of all echo Isa. 52:7 and 57:19.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:39 Tree may refer to Deut. 21:23. Through his death, Jesus took on himself the penalty for sin. See Gal. 3:13.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:41 Who ate and drank with him shows that Jesus had a real physical body after his resurrection. Eating and drinking are signs of close personal fellowship.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:43 everyone who believes. See note on 2:38.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:44 These Gentiles had come to genuine saving faith in Christ. They had received the power and presence of the Holy Spirit, showing that God had accepted them as full members of his people. The fact that they had not followed any Mosaic ceremonial laws (such as circumcision, sacrifice, or dietary restrictions) before receiving the gift of the Spirit is important (see 11:15–17).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:47 Baptizing these people would be an outward sign of an inward work of God in their hearts and of their personal commitment to Christ. Just as we have refers to receiving the Spirit at Pentecost.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:48 To be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ (see also 2:38; 8:16) is not different from being baptized "in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit" (Matt. 28:19). The "name" of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit is the same as the "name" of Jesus Christ (see note on Acts 3:16). The Father, Son, and Holy Spirit share one "name" (that is, one character). remain for some days. Peter's willingness to stay with them likely involved his sharing meals with the Gentiles. This was a bold step for one who had been so concerned about clean and unclean foods (see also notes on Gal. 2:11–21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:2 The circumcision party was a group of strict Jewish Christians. They probably held the position that Gentiles who wished to become Christians must first become converts to Judaism. This included circumcision and living by the ritual laws.

FACT

Antioch in Syria was the third largest city in the Roman Empire, after Alexandria and mighty Rome. With a population of over a half million, it was the capital of the Syrian province and a major hub for the spread of Christianity throughout the Gentile world.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:3 On eating with uncircumcised men, see 10:28.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:12 Peter was to make no distinction between Jews and Gentiles.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:15 Just as on us refers to Pentecost. See also 10:44–48 and note on 10:47. That the Spirit came to Cornelius and other Gentiles settled matters as far as Peter was concerned.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:18 On repentance, see note on 2:38.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:19–26 With the establishing of a church at Antioch and its outreach to Gentiles, the focus in Acts shifts from Jerusalem to Antioch.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:19 persecution that arose over Stephen. See 8:1, 4. Phoenicia was in the area of present-day Lebanon. Its primary cities were Tyre, Sidon, and Ptolemais. (For Christian communities there, see 21:3–7.) Cyprus was 100 miles (161 km) off the coast. Antioch (modern Antakya) was the largest city of the area and capital of the Roman province of Syria. It had a population of a half million or more. Only Rome and Alexandria were larger in ancient times.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:20 men of Cyprus and Cyrene. Diaspora Jews, natives of the nearby island of Cyprus and of the northern African region of Cyrene. Hellenists here means Greek-speaking Gentiles. (This term can refer to a variety of groups; see note on 6:1.)

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:22 they sent Barnabas to Antioch. When the "mother church" in Jerusalem heard of Antioch's witness to the Gentiles, they sent Barnabas to confirm the faithfulness of the new outreach (compare 8:14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:25–26 Paul had gone to Tarsus after his conversion (9:30). As a Diaspora Jew, he was particularly suited for the Gentile outreach. The fact that the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch probably reflects a label applied by the unbelieving public in Antioch. It shows that the disciples were beginning to have an identity of their own apart from other Jews. See also 26:28 and 1 Pet. 4:16.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:27–30 Paul and Barnabas represented the Antioch church by bringing its offering to the Jerusalem church in a time of need (see chart). Paul says in Gal. 2:1 that this second visit to Jerusalem (Acts 11:30) took place "after fourteen years" (presumably 14 years after his conversion), so it occurred in either A.D. 45, 46, or 47. Most commentators believe these calculations of years were made according to ancient "inclusive" methods, in which part of a year was still counted as a year. Paul's "fourteen years" could have been as little as twelve and a half years by modern methods of counting.

BARNABAS

Barnabas was a Levite from Cyprus. His birth name was Joseph, but the apostles called him Barnabas, which means “son of encouragement.” The nickname fit his personality well. Following Paul’s conversion, the Christians in Jerusalem were initially afraid of their former persecutor. Barnabas, however, befriended Paul and introduced him to the apostles. He brought Paul to Antioch to help build a church there (11:25–26), and became Paul’s companion on his first missionary journey. The two men eventually had a sharp disagreement over John Mark, who had left Paul and Barnabas before the end of the first journey. As a result of the disagreement, Paul and Barnabas went their separate ways. While Paul chose Silas as his companion for his second journey, Barnabas took Mark on a separate mission back to Cyprus to strengthen the church there. (Acts 11:22–26)

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:27 Christian prophets are mentioned elsewhere in Acts (13:1; 15:32; 21:9). They provided instruction and encouragement as they spoke words revealed to them by the Holy Spirit. Sometimes such prophecies foretold the future, as Agabus did here (see also 21:4, 10–11). On the gift of prophecy, see note on 1 Cor. 12:10 and other notes on 1 Corinthians 12–14.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:28 a great famine. Historians believe this famine took place in A.D. 45–46 or 47. Over all the world is a general prediction of the many regional famines that took place during Claudius’s reign.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:30 The reference to elders marks a transition in day-to-day leadership of the Jerusalem church (see 4:35–37; 6:1–6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:1 Herod was Herod Agrippa I, a grandson of Herod the Great (see note on Matt. 2:1). He ruled over various territories in Judea until his kingdom reached the full extent of his grandfather’s territory (A.D. 41–44).

FACT

The death of James. In Mark 10:39, Jesus implies that the brothers James and John would suffer a similar death to his. For James, this was fulfilled when Herod Agrippa I, Roman ruler over Palestine, ordered his execution (Acts 12:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:2 The martyred James was Jesus' disciple, son of Zebedee and brother of John.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:3 The days of Unleavened Bread, the seven days following the Passover meal, were considered holy and were not to be violated by an execution.

HEROD AGRIPPA I

Herod Agrippa I was a grandson of Herod the Great. He grew up in Rome, where the future Roman emperors Gaius (Caligula) and Claudius were his childhood playmates. It was largely due to these friendships that Herod was granted rule over various territories in Judea. Herod was a violent persecutor of Christians, perhaps because he believed such persecution would help him gain favor with the Jews (12:3). He executed James, and had Peter put in prison. Following a well-received speech given to the people of Tyre and Sidon, Herod was enthusiastically praised as a god. Rather than reject the people's worship, he embraced it. The Bible says that because of this demonstration of godless pride, an angel of the Lord immediately struck him down, and he died a gruesome death (12:23). (Acts 12:1–3)

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:4 The prison was probably the Tower of Antonia (see note on 21:31–32). The use of four squads of soldiers reflects Roman practice: one squad of four soldiers for each of the four three-hour watches of the night. Passover refers to the entire spring festival that includes Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:12 John whose other name was Mark will be a major figure in the next three chapters. He goes with Paul and Barnabas on the first part of their first missionary journey but leaves them (see v. 25; 13:5, 13). Mark later accompanied Peter (see 1 Pet. 5:13). There is substantial evidence from the early church that he wrote the Gospel of Mark (see Introduction to Mark: Author, Date, and Recipients).

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:17 James here is the brother of Jesus (see Introduction to James: Author, Date, and Recipients; Gal. 1:19), not James the brother of John (who was killed by Herod, Acts 12:2). From this point forward in Acts, James seems to be the most prominent leader among the apostles in Jerusalem (see 15:13–21; 21:18). For some reason Peter no longer remained the leader and spokesman in Jerusalem. Rather, he went to another place, possibly either Rome or Antioch.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:18–19 In executing the sentries (guards), Herod followed Roman practice. Soldiers who lost their prisoners were subject to the same penalty as that due to the prisoners. Caesarea (see note on 8:40).

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:20 A chamberlain was a trusted personal assistant to a high government official.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:25 their service. That is, their famine relief journey to Jerusalem (see 11:29–30).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:1–14:28 The Witness in Cyprus and Southern Galatia. Chapters 13 and 14 relate Paul's "first missionary journey." Sent by the Antioch church, Paul and Barnabas witnessed on Cyprus and in the southern cities of the Roman province of Galatia.

Major Events in the Life of the Apostle Paul

A.D. 5–10?	Born in Tarsus, an Israelite from the tribe of Benjamin and a Roman citizen (Acts 22:3, 28; Rom. 11:1; Phil. 3:5); raised in either Jerusalem (Acts 22:3?) or Tarsus
15–20?	Trained as a Pharisee by Gamaliel I (Acts 22:3; 26:5; Gal. 1:14; Phil. 3:5–6)
30/33?	Death, resurrection of Christ
31–34	Present at Stephen's stoning; persecuted Christians (Acts 7:58; 8:1; 22:4a; 26:9–11; 1 Cor. 15:9; Gal. 1:13; Phil. 3:6)
33/34*	Converted, called, and commissioned on the way to Damascus (Acts 9:1–19; 22:6–11; 26:12–18; Gal. 1:15–16)
33/34–36/37	Stays in Damascus a short time (Acts 9:19b); leaves for Arabia (2 Cor. 11:32; Gal. 1:17); returns to Damascus (Gal. 1:17; Acts 9:20–22?); escapes through city wall to avoid arrest (Acts 9:23–24; 2 Cor. 11:32–33)
36/37*	Meets with Peter, sees James, in Jerusalem (Acts 9:26–30; Gal. 1:18) Hellenists seek to kill him; flees to Tarsus (Acts 9:28–30; Gal. 1:21)
37–45	Ministers in Syria/Cilicia (2 Cor. 11:22–27?)
44–47*	Ministers with Barnabas in Antioch (Acts 11:25–26) Second Visit to Jerusalem; time of famine (Acts 11:27–30; Gal. 2:1–10)
46–47	First Missionary Journey (Acts 13:4–14:26): 1.5 years?
48*	With Barnabas, spends "no little time" in Antioch (Acts 14:28; Gal. 2:11–14); writes Galatians
48–49*	Returns to Jerusalem for the apostolic council (Acts 15); Paul and Barnabas return to Antioch (Acts 15:30–33), but dispute over John Mark causes them to part ways (Acts 15:36–41)
48/49–51*	Second Missionary Journey (Acts 15:36–18:22): 2.5 years?
49	Paul and Silas travel to southern Galatia through Asia Minor, on to Macedonia (Philippi [1 Thess. 2:2]); Thessalonica [1 Thess. 2:2; Phil. 4:15–16]; and Berea [Acts 17:10–15]), and then to Achaia (Athens [1 Thess. 3:1] and Corinth [2 Cor. 11:7–9])
49–51*	Spends 1.5 years in Corinth (Acts 18:11); appears before Gallio (Acts 18:12–17); writes 1 and 2 Thessalonians
51	Returns to Jerusalem? (Acts 18:22)
52–57*	Third Missionary Journey (Acts 18:23–21:17): 5 years?
52	Travels to Antioch, spends "some time"; travels through Galatia and Phrygia (Acts 18:23)
52–55	Arrives in Ephesus (Acts 19:1; 1 Cor. 16:8); ministers for three years (Acts 20:31) and writes 1 Corinthians; makes brief, "painful visit" to Corinth (2 Cor. 2:1), then returns to Ephesus and writes "severe letter" (now lost) to Corinth (2 Cor. 2:3–4; 7:8–16)
55–56*	Travels north to Macedonia, meets Titus (Acts 20:1; 2 Cor. 2:12–13); writes 2 Corinthians
57*	Winters in Corinth (Acts 20:2–3; 2 Cor. 9:4), writes to the Romans from Corinth; travels to Jerusalem; is arrested (Acts 21:27–36)
57–59	Transferred as prisoner to Caesarea, stays for two years (Acts 24:27)
60*	Voyage to Rome; shipwrecked, spends three months on Malta (Acts 28:11); finally arrives in Rome
62*	Under house-arrest in Rome (Acts 28:30–31), writes Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, Philemon
62–67	Released from house-arrest in Rome, travels to Spain (?), writes 1 Timothy (from Macedonia?) and Titus (from Nicopolis); is rearrested, writes 2 Timothy from Rome, is martyred

* denotes approximate date; / signifies either/or

FACT

Antioch in Pisidia was one of 16 cities that the Syrian king Seleucus named after his father Antiochus. The city had a large Jewish population and the high status of being a Roman colony, probably Asia Minor's most important. Designed to be a smaller version of Rome, it was organized into seven districts and possessed all the amenities that Rome afforded. These included an aqueduct, bathhouse, and most notably its large sanctuary devoted to emperor worship.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:1 Prophets and teachers are always distinct offices in the NT church. See note on 1 Cor. 12:10 and other notes on 1 Corinthians 12–14. Niger indicates he likely came from Africa, as did the Cyrenean Lucius. (Cyrene was the capital city of a Roman province on the north coast of Africa; see Acts 2:10.) Herod the tetrarch is Herod Antipas, who reigned in Galilee 4 B.C.–A.D. 39, during Jesus' ministry (Matt. 14:1; Luke 3:1; 23:8; Acts 4:27). He was a son of Herod the Great (Matt. 2:1). Manaen, as a lifelong friend of Herod Antipas, would have been brought up with him from childhood.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:2 While they were worshiping the Lord and fasting. "They" likely refers to the whole congregation, although the five prophets may well have given the Spirit's message.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:3 they. Probably the entire congregation. The laying on of hands was a "commissioning," indicating the church's support of the two in their mission. It also provided a physical symbol of giving the Holy Spirit's power to them (see 6:6; 8:17; 9:17; 19:6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:4–12 The two missionaries worked first on Cyprus, Barnabas's home (4:36). The events of Paul's first missionary journey are recorded in 13:4–14:26. It likely began in A.D. 46 or 47 and lasted perhaps a year and a half.

Itinerary of Paul's First Journey

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:4 Setting out from Antioch (v. 1), Paul and Barnabas traveled about 16 miles (26 km) down to the port city of Seleucia.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:5 Salamis was the closest port of Cyprus (about 130 miles [209 km] southwest of Seleucia). John (John Mark) was an assistant to Paul and Barnabas (see note on 12:12). They began their witness in the synagogues of the Jews, a pattern regularly followed by Paul (17:1–2). This was a natural starting point, since the Jewish people already believed that the OT Scriptures were the authoritative and truthful words of God.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:6 Paphos was 90 miles (145 km) southwest of Salamis. It was the seat of the Roman government of Cyprus. Bar-Jesus. Paul's later description of him as a "son of the devil" suggests that his "magic" was assisted by demonic powers. Both pagan and Jewish people practiced magic. Its goals included healing diseases, bringing physical blessings, cursing or otherwise harming others, and guarding against both curses and demons. Magicians also claimed to know the future.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:7 The proconsul was the highest-ranking official in a Roman senatorial province.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:8 Bar-Jesus, also known as Elymas, opposed the missionaries because he viewed them as a threat to his profitable relationship with the proconsul.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:9 This verse marks the transition in Acts from Saul to Paul. Now that he is working in Gentile territory, the Hebrew Saul becomes known by his Roman name, Paul. He will be so named throughout the rest of Acts, except in 22:7, 13, and 26:14, which recall earlier events.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:11–12 the proconsul believed. Throughout Acts, miracles have a significant role in bringing unbelievers to genuine faith.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:13 Perga was 8 miles (13 km) inland. Paul does not seem to have remained there long, but witnessed there on his return journey (14:25). The reason for John Mark's departure is not specified. Paul's later conflict with Barnabas (15:36–41) shows that he was not pleased that John Mark left.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:14 Antioch in Pisidia. The city had a large Jewish population. It had the high status of being a Roman "colony." synagogue. See notes on v. 5; Rom. 1:16.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:15 The regular synagogue service centered around the reading of Scriptures from the Law and the Prophets. rulers. Worship was led by the ruling elder.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:16–41 Paul's sermon consisted of three parts: a sketch of OT history (vv. 16b–25), God's ultimate provision in Jesus Christ (vv. 26–37), and an invitation (vv. 38–41). You who fear God (v. 16) refers to the "God-fearers" in the synagogue (see note on 10:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:20 About 450 years seems to cover the period from Israel's time in Egypt (400 years) through the wilderness (40 years) and conquest (about 10 years), to the judges.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:31 For many days he appeared suggests that there were more resurrection appearances of Jesus than are recorded in the Gospels.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:38–39 freed. The Greek verb here is regularly translated "justified" and means "to declare innocent, to justify." Many Jews sought to deal with their sin through living by the law of Moses. The law cannot free a person from sin, though. Not only do all people fail to keep it but it was never designed to bring about final atonement for sins (Gal. 3:10–14; Heb. 10:1–14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:42–52 Although the response at the synagogue was favorable, the Jews turned against Paul the next Sabbath when a large group of Gentiles showed up. Paul responded by preaching to the Gentiles, a pattern he continued in every city he visited.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:44 Since the population of Antioch was mainly Gentile, almost the whole city indicates that the majority who came were Gentiles.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:46–47 Citing Isa. 49:6, Paul stated he was now turning to the Gentiles. Paul and Barnabas do the work of the "servant" described in Isaiah because of their connection to Jesus, God's servant. It was necessary to begin with the Jews since they were God's chosen people and had priority in salvation history (see note on Rom. 1:16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:48 as many as were appointed to eternal life believed. Throughout Acts, Luke maintains a dual emphasis on divine election ("appointed") and human response ("believed") (see 2:23; 3:13–16; 3:17; 4:27; 4:28).

God's Sovereignty in Salvation as Seen in Acts

God ordained the cross	God calls, adds, and appoints many to eternal life	God gives faith and repentance; God cleanses and opens hearts
2:23 "Jesus, delivered up according to the definite plan and foreknowledge of God" 3:18 "what God foretold by the mouth of all the prophets, that his Christ would suffer, he thus fulfilled" 4:27–28 "there were gathered together . . . Herod and Pontius Pilate, along with the Gentiles and the people of Israel, to do whatever your hand . . . had predestined to take place"	2:39 "the promise is to . . . everyone whom the Lord our God calls to himself" 2:41 "there were added that day about three thousand souls" 2:47 "the Lord added to their number day by day those who were being saved" 5:14 "believers were added to the Lord, multitudes of both men and women" 11:24 "a great many people were added to the Lord" 13:48 "as many as were appointed to eternal life believed"	3:16 "the faith that is through Jesus" 5:31 "God exalted him . . . to give repentance to Israel" 11:18 "to the Gentiles also God has granted repentance that leads to life" 15:8–9 "God . . . having cleansed their hearts by faith" 16:14 "The Lord opened her heart to pay attention to what was said by Paul" 18:27 "those who through grace had believed"

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:51 shook off the dust from their feet. See note on Matt. 10:14. Iconium was 90 miles (145 km) by road southeast from Pisidian Antioch.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:1 Paul's witness in Iconium followed the pattern in Pisidian Antioch; he began in the synagogue (see notes on 13:5; Rom. 1:16).

FACT

Why did they try to worship Paul and Barnabas? When Paul performed a miracle in Lystra, the people treated him and Barnabas as gods (14:8–18). They did this because of a local myth about the gods Hermes and Zeus visiting their region in human form, seeking hospitality. Only one couple gave them shelter, and as a result they were spared when the gods drowned everyone else as punishment.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:4 Both Paul and Barnabas are referred to as apostles (vv. 4, 14). The word has the general meaning of "one who is sent." It is also used throughout the NT as a more technical term for someone chosen and commissioned by Christ for the proclamation of the gospel (Matt. 10:2; Luke 9:1; Acts 1:2, 15–26). Paul understood his calling as an apostle to be like the calling of the original Twelve in this technical sense, because he had seen Christ on the road to Damascus and had been specifically chosen and appointed by Christ (9:15; 26:16–17). See also 1 Cor. 9:2; 15:7–9; Gal. 1:1, 12, 16–17.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:8–23 Lystra was populated mainly by Gentiles and had no synagogue. The ministry of Paul and Barnabas there centered around the healing of a lame man.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:9 seeing that he had faith to be made well. The Holy Spirit gave Paul the ability to see what was happening in the invisible, spiritual realm.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:11–13 The gods have come down to us in the likeness of men. Since the people were speaking in their native Lycaonian language, Paul and Barnabas were probably unaware of what was happening until the local priest began to offer sacrifice.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:14–15 who made the heaven and the earth. Since the Lystrans believed in many gods, it was necessary to begin with the basic message that the Israelite God is the Creator of all that exists.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:17 rains . . . and fruitful seasons. Paul tells them their regular harvests, the food they eat every day, and the gladness they experience in the ordinary activities of life are all a witness from God of his existence, wisdom, and goodness. The themes of this short speech will be developed in the speech at Mars Hill (17:16–34). These are the two occasions where Paul speaks to Gentiles who worship idols.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:19 Iconium and Antioch were more than 100 miles (161 km) distant by road.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:20 The presence of disciples indicates that, despite the opposition, a group of believers was established at Lystra (including Timothy; 16:1).

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:21 Derbe, about 58 miles (93 km) southeast of Lystra, marked the farthest point in Paul's first journey. From that city (Derbe) Paul could have continued on south to his starting point of Syrian Antioch on foot. This would have been much easier than going back through Lystra, Iconium, and Pisidian Antioch. Taking this longer route shows the importance Paul attached to maintaining contact with his churches and establishing local elders—even in the cities where he faced violent opposition.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:22 many tribulations. See Paul's account of his persecutions in 2 Tim. 3:10–12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:23 Paul's churches followed the synagogue pattern of leadership by elders. The language here indicates several elders in every church (see also, e.g., 11:30; 15:6; 20:17; 1 Tim. 5:17; Titus 1:5; 1 Pet. 5:5). See also note on 1 Sam. 4:3.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:24–26 Paul and Barnabas retraced their steps south to Perga and the port city of Attalia. They then sailed home to their sponsoring congregation in Syrian Antioch. This time they shared the gospel in Perga (see note on 13:13). the work. See 13:2. It was perhaps during this time in Antioch that Paul penned his letter to the Galatians (c. A.D. 48).

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:27 opened a door. An expression Paul used elsewhere (e.g., 1 Cor. 16:9).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:1–35 The Jerusalem Council. A conference was held in Jerusalem (c. A.D. 48 or 49) to discuss conditions for Gentile membership in the church. The "Pharisaic" group in the Jerusalem church (vv. 1–5) raised the issue. Peter defended the Gentile mission (vv. 6–11). James proposed a solution (vv. 12–21), and an official agreement was reached (vv. 22–35).

FACT

The Jerusalem Council settled some crucial practical issues to enable Jewish and Gentile Christians to worship and minister together (15:1–35).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:1–5 The Antioch church had reached out to many Gentiles (11:20–21). God had given Paul and Barnabas great success among the Gentiles on their mission (14:27). Some conservative Jewish Christians argued that Gentiles needed to be circumcised in order to be Christians.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:1 The Jewish law contained basic moral laws and many laws of a more "ceremonial" nature. These included circumcision, food laws, and many requirements involving external purity, sacrifices, and festivals. To follow them would make it virtually impossible for Gentiles to live in their communities. Paul addresses the issue of circumcision in Rom. 2:25–29; 4:9–16; Gal. 2:3–5; 5:2–12; 6:12–15.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:5 Those from the Pharisees were likely the same group as those insisting on circumcision in v. 2 and 11:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:6–11 Peter defended Paul's Gentile mission.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:6 The apostles and the elders provided the main leadership at the council. Verse 22 indicates that "the whole church" was present for the occasion and apparently also gave consent to the decision.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:7 after there had been much debate. This important theological issue in the early church was decided by careful reasoning and thoughtful discussion based on Scripture. Peter's reference to the Gentiles hearing the gospel . . . by my mouth . . . in the early days refers to his witness at the house of Cornelius (10:34–43), c. A.D. 38, as many as 10 years before the Jerusalem council.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:9 cleansed their hearts by faith. The faith of the Gentiles at Cornelius's house is implicit in chs. 10–11, but Peter refers to it clearly here. They were saved by faith in their hearts, not by circumcision in their flesh.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:10–11 Yoke here refers to the whole of the Mosaic law (see note on v. 1). By speaking of the law as an unbearable yoke, Peter argued that even the Israelites were unable to fulfill it perfectly, and that salvation could never be obtained through the law (see Rom. 2:17–24; Gal. 5:1). Only one means of salvation exists for both Jew and Gentile: faith in Jesus Christ. By contrast, Jesus calls people to take his new "yoke" upon them, a yoke that is easy (see note on Matt. 11:29).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:12–21 When some apostles had begun to leave Jerusalem for a wider witness, the Jerusalem leadership was continued by others. Jesus' brother James had a prominent role (see 12:17; 21:18–25). At the Jerusalem council, James supported Peter's conclusions about a "circumcision-free" Gentile mission and offered a suggestion for establishing fellowship between Jewish and Gentile Christians.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:14 Simeon. Simon Peter. a people for his name. This means "for himself," since someone's "name" represented all that was true about him and his character. It also seems to imply "for his reputation and his glory."

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:16–18 James refers to "prophets" (v. 15), showing that he could appeal to more than one OT text to defend the inclusion of Gentiles by faith alone. See the allusion to Isa. 45:21 in Acts 15:18, and the context of the Isaiah prophecy. James concentrated on Amos 9:11–12, which anticipated the time when God would restore the house of David and claim a people for himself from among the Gentiles. James agreed with Peter that the time of including Gentiles in God's people had arrived.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:19–21 James agreed with Peter that they should not trouble the Gentiles with the ritual laws. But he knew that Gentile Christians would have contact with Jewish Christians who still kept the ceremonial law. He offered a proposal by which Gentile Christians could have fellowship with Jewish Christians and avoid giving unnecessary offense. The first three requirements (see v. 29) seem to be culturally sensitive and designed for these specific circumstances: staying away from food offered to idols, from blood (meat with the blood in it), and from strangled meat (which would also have blood in it). (But see 1 Cor. 8:1–11:1.) The fourth requirement, dealing with sexual immorality, was not a contextual or optional standard of obedience like the other three. It may have needed special emphasis because many Gentiles did not hold to a high standard of sexual purity. This also serves as a reminder that the moral standards of the OT still need to be obeyed. James concludes his appeal by noting the widespread (in every city) teaching and acceptance of the Mosaic law. There was no need to give unnecessary offense either to Jewish believers or to unbelieving Jews who might consider becoming Christians in the future.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:22 it seemed good. Representatives of the Jerusalem church carried the letter reflecting the unanimous decision of the council. Nothing more is known of Judas called Barsabbas, but Silas soon became Paul's missionary companion (v. 40). Silas is a shortened form of the Greek name Silvanus, the name by which he is known in the NT epistles.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:23 The Roman province of Syria included Cilicia. Antioch was its capital.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:24 unsettling your minds. Those insisting that Gentile converts should be circumcised neither represented the Jerusalem leadership nor had their approval (see vv. 1–2, 5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:28 it has seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us. The apostles and elders were confident that the Holy Spirit had guided their decision. no greater burden. They were not requiring circumcision and observance of the entire Mosaic law (v. 10), for salvation is by grace alone (v. 11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:32 Prophets were gifted to speak what the Holy Spirit revealed to them (see notes on 1 Cor. 12:10; and other notes on 1 Corinthians 14).

SILAS

Silas was a Judean Christian and a leader in the Jerusalem church. After Paul and Barnabas parted ways, Silas joined Paul as a coworker on his second missionary journey. While in Philippi, Paul cast out a spirit that was enabling a girl to tell fortunes (ch. 16). The girl's owners were furious, since they had been making money from her demonic powers. They brought Paul and Silas before the magistrates, and they were flogged and jailed. Paul and Silas were miraculously freed from their bonds—but rather than flee, they saw an opportunity to share the gospel. As a result, their jailer and his household became Christians. Silas is known by the name "Silvanus" in the NT epistles. He worked closely with the apostle Peter, and delivered Peter's first letter to its recipients in Asia Minor (1 Pet. 5:12). (Acts 15:32)

AQUILA AND HIS WIFE, PRISCILLA

Aquila and his wife, Priscilla (also called Prisca), were close friends and coworkers with the apostle Paul. Forced from Rome by the emperor Claudius, they fled to Corinth (18:1–2). Like Paul, who stayed in their home, they were tentmakers by trade. On his way back to Antioch, Paul left Priscilla and Aquila in Ephesus to establish the church in that city. There the godly couple taught the Christian way "more accurately" to a gifted Alexandrian disciple named Apollos (18:26). They were eventually able to return to Rome, where the church met in their home (Rom. 16:3–5). Paul's deep love and respect for Aquila and Priscilla is obvious in his letter to the Romans, where he declares that the couple "risked their necks" for his life (Rom. 16:3). (Romans 16:3–5)

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:33 They were sent off in peace suggests that Judas and Silas returned to Jerusalem.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:36–18:22 The Witness in Greece. Paul's second missionary journey centered on the cities of the Greek provinces of Macedonia and Achaia, including Philippi, Thessalonica, Berea, Athens, and Corinth. This second journey probably began in A.D. 48 or 49 and ended in 51.

Itinerary of Paul's Second Journey

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:37 John called Mark. See note on 12:12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:39 a sharp disagreement. In the sovereignty of God, out of this disagreement came a doubling of their labor. Barnabas went to strengthen the churches in Cyprus and Paul went to the churches in Syria, Cilicia, and Galatia. In addition, both of their assistants (Mark and Silas) went on to have significant ministries.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:41 Paul’s route took him by foot to the churches of his first missionary journey in reverse order.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:1 Probably Timothy, his mother, and his grandmother had been led to Christ during Paul’s first witness in Lystra (14:8–23; see 2 Tim. 1:5). Having a Greek father, Timothy had not been circumcised, though by Jewish law the child of a Gentile father and Jewish mother was considered Jewish.

FACT

Philippi was founded by the Greek king Philip II, father of Alexander the Great, in 356 B.C. Some 300 years later, in 42 B.C., it was in Philippi that Augustus Caesar defeated Brutus and Cassius after they had assassinated Julius Caesar. But the most significant event to occur in Philippi is recorded in 16:6–15, when Paul came to Philippi, making it the first European city to hear the Good News from this great ambassador of Christ.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:3 because of the Jews who were in those places. Paul always began in the synagogues. Having an uncircumcised Jew with him would have made any witness to Jews much more difficult.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:4 The decisions of the Jerusalem council were addressed specifically to believers in Antioch and throughout Syria and Cilicia (15:23). Since the issue of Gentile converts affected all the churches, Paul reported those decisions as he traveled through other cities as well.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:6–7 Paul proceeded farther west into Phrygia. Had he continued in that direction he would have traveled through Asia. The Spirit of Jesus (the Holy Spirit) prevented this, and he went north through Mysia. He was also prevented from witnessing in Bithynia.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:8 Troas was an Aegean port 14 miles (23 km) south of ancient Troy. It was the primary Asian harbor for ships destined for Macedonia.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:9 a vision . . . a man. See 7:31; 9:10; 10:3; 12:9; 18:9. Though not far from Troas in nautical miles, Macedonia was considered part of Europe.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:10 we. Most likely at this point Luke, the author of Acts, joined the missionary group.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:11–40 Philippi was the first Macedonian city in which Paul witnessed.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:11 Samothrace was an island on the direct route between Troas and Neapolis. It was the port for Philippi, which lay 8.5 miles (14 km) inland. Paul’s ship would likely have stopped (probably simply to anchor offshore for the night) on the north side of Samothrace. Neapolis was on a natural harbor still in use today.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:12 Philippi was a Roman colony, the most privileged status for provincial cities.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:13 Few Jews lived in Philippi. Like Lydia, the women who attended the prayer meeting may have been God-fearers and not Jews.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:14 Lydia came from Thyatira (see notes on Rev. 2:18–29), a city of the province of Asia in the district of Lydia, for which she may have been named. As a seller of purple goods, she would have been wealthy.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:15 Lydia's household likely included servants as well. Her house eventually became the gathering place for Christians (v. 40).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:16 a spirit of divination. A demonic spirit who gave information to the slave girl so that she could tell people secrets about their lives. Fortune-telling was forbidden in the OT (Deut. 18:10; 2 Kings 17:17).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:18 The words of the fortune-telling girl (v. 17) were true in a formal sense. Paul was greatly annoyed, probably because he did not want it to appear that she was his partner in the gospel. I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her. Such a verbal command is consistent with the authority over demons that Jesus himself had (see Matt. 8:16; 12:28) and that he gave to his disciples (Matt. 10:8; Luke 10:17).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:19 their hope of gain was gone. Throughout Acts, greed often works against the gospel (8:18–24; 13:8–12; 19:24).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:20 The magistrates were responsible for maintaining civil order. Two of these officials were appointed to each Roman colony.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:22 gave orders to beat them with rods. Magistrates in Roman cities had attendants who carried bundles of wooden rods bound together. These symbolized the magistrates' authority and their right to inflict corporal punishment. Paul and Silas were severely beaten with these wooden rods (v. 23; compare 2 Cor. 11:25). There was no fair hearing to gather the facts or to allow Paul and Silas to speak in their own defense (see 1 Thess. 2:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:25 praying and singing hymns to God. Joy for the honor of suffering for Christ is a common theme in Acts (see 4:24–30).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:30 what must I do to be saved? The jailer's question most likely refers to being saved from God's judgment, which he would have heard about through listening to his prisoners' prayers and songs.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:31 For belief in Christ as the key to salvation, see 10:43; John 3:16; Rom. 1:16; 10:10–11.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:33 baptized . . . he and all his family. The jailer seems to have gathered his whole household to listen to Paul's message. Christians disagree as to whether the baptism of household members included infants or was confined to older members of the household who were capable of believing.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:34 Rejoiced signifies a deep spiritual joy in the NT (compare Luke 10:21; John 8:56; Acts 2:26; 1 Pet. 4:13; Rev. 19:7).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:35 Let those men go. Why the magistrates decided to release the two prisoners is not stated.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:37 do they now throw us out secretly? No! Paul insisted on being publicly cleared of the charges so the people of Philippi would not continue to believe that he was a troublemaker and a lawbreaker. citizens. Roman law forbade beating or imprisoning a Roman citizen without a formal hearing.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:1–9 From Philippi Paul traveled the 94 miles (151 km) to Thessalonica, capital of Macedonia. The Philippian church helped him during this time (Phil. 4:16).

FACT

The Court of the Areopagus had authority over the civil and religious life of Athens. In Paul's day, it had a special interest in religion and morality. Paul preached at the Areopagus to a crowd that included philosophers (17:16–34).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:1 Philippi, Amphipolis, Apollonia, and Thessalonica were all cities on the main east-west Roman highway called the "Egnatian Way." These cities were separated from each other by about a day's journey by foot.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:2 The reference to Paul preaching on three Sabbath days gives the impression of a brief stay in Thessalonica, but this was only the period of his synagogue preaching. Paul's first letter to the Thessalonians indicates a longer ministry there (see 1 Thess. 2:9; also Phil. 4:16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:3 necessary for the Christ to suffer. The Jews resisted the idea that the Messiah had to suffer, even though this theme is found in the OT (Psalm 22; Isaiah 53; Zech. 12:10; 13:7).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:4 In the Greco-Roman world women often held prominent positions (see 13:50; 17:12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:5 The Jews were jealous because they were losing power and influence (see 5:17; 13:45; see also 16:19; 19:23–28). On the expression “the Jews,” see notes on John 1:19; Acts 9:23; and ESV footnote on 17:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:9 The money as security was given as a guarantee that there would be no more disruptions as a result of Paul’s preaching. It probably meant that Paul would have to leave Thessalonica, since his Jewish opponents would continue to stir up trouble. This may have been “Satan’s hindrance,” which Paul said prevented his return to Thessalonica (1 Thess. 2:18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:10–15 Paul and Silas fled to Berea, 50 miles (81 km) by road southwest of Thessalonica.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:11 Noble originally meant “of noble birth” or “well born” in Greek. The word was also applied to people who exhibited noble behavior, who were open-minded, fair, and thoughtful. examining the Scriptures daily to see if these things were so. By praising this activity, Luke encourages searching the Scriptures as a pattern for all believers. He also supports the idea that the Bible can be understood by ordinary people who read it eagerly and diligently, depending on God for help.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:14 immediately sent Paul off. Apparently most of the opposition was directed against Paul. Thus, the believers sent him away, while allowing Silas and Timothy to remain among them. To the sea indicates that they took Paul as far as the coast. The text does not specify whether Paul then traveled to Athens by ship or by land (222 miles [357 km] along the coastal road).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:15 a command for Silas and Timothy to come to him as soon as possible. Luke does not give many details here about the travels of Silas and Timothy. Paul gives more information in 1 Thessalonians 3, and Luke gives more details at Acts 18:1, 5. These passages reveal the following sequence: (1) Paul traveled to Athens, leaving Silas and Timothy in Berea (17:14–15). (2) Paul summoned Silas and Timothy to join him in Athens (v. 15). (3) Silas and Timothy joined Paul in Athens (v. 16; 1 Thess. 3:1–2). (4) Paul became concerned for the churches he had just founded in Macedonia (in Philippi, Thessalonica, and Berea), so he sent Timothy to Thessalonica to find out how that church was doing under persecution (1 Thess. 3:1–2). At the same time he must have sent Silas somewhere else in Macedonia, perhaps to Philippi and Berea (Acts 18:5). Paul was willing to be left at Athens “alone” (1 Thess. 3:1). (5) Paul “left Athens and went to Corinth” (Acts 18:1). (6) Silas and Timothy joined Paul again in Corinth, bringing good news from the churches of Macedonia (18:5; 1 Thess. 3:6). (7) From Corinth, Paul wrote his two letters to the church at Thessalonica (1 Thess. 1:1; 2 Thess. 1:1; both of these letters come from “Paul, Silvanus [Silas], and Timothy”).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:16 Athens was filled with temples and statues of the Greek gods. The great temple to Athena (the Parthenon), stood alongside other temples atop the acropolis overlooking the city. Many other pagan sacred sites have also been found. There was also a Jewish presence in Athens. his spirit was provoked within him. Paul’s human spirit was disturbed by the idolatry.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:17 Although Paul saw a few people come to faith here in Athens (v. 34), he had no helpers with him, there is no record of any miracles being done, and there is no record of a church being established. Devout persons means God-fearing Gentiles (see note on 8:26–27).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:18 Paul spoke with representatives of two of the most popular philosophies of the day, Stoicism and Epicureanism.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:19 The Areopagus is the “hill of Ares” (named after the Greek god of war; also called Mars Hill). The Court of the Areopagus was a long-established body with extensive authority over the civil and religious life of Athens.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:22–34 Paul’s Areopagus address is the prime example in Acts of preaching to Gentiles who have no knowledge of the OT.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:22–23 Religious could be taken either positively (“pious”) or negatively (“superstitious”).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:23 To the unknown god. In the second century A.D., the Greek geographer Pausanias recorded “altars of the gods named Unknown” in Athens and at Olympia. An inscription found at Pergamum reads “to unknown gods.”

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:24–25 Paul speaks of the God who made the world and everything in it, including mankind. He identifies this one true God as superior to all the lesser, competing gods worshiped in Athens.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:26 One man refers to Adam. every nation of mankind. This idea of ancestral unity would have appealed to the Stoics' strong sense of human brotherhood. Paul affirms the historicity of Adam and the descent of the entire human race from him. He also rules out any kind of racism, since all ethnic groups come from one man.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:27 Feel their way toward him implies a kind of groping in darkness, without really knowing how to find God. Not far from each one of us implies that God exists everywhere at the same time. It also implies that God hears people's prayers and knows their hearts. There is a God to find. He is not hard to find. He has revealed himself through the story Paul prepares to tell.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:28 some of your own poets. Instead of the OT, Paul quotes some statements from pagan Greek writers familiar to his audience. He quotes them with approval, but this does not imply that he approves of everything that these writers said or wrote. The first quotation (in him we live . . .) appears to be from a hymn to Zeus by Epimenides of Crete (c. 600 B.C.). The second quotation is from the poem Phainomena by the Stoic poet Aratus (c. 315–240 B.C.).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:29 God is not like gold or silver or stone, of which idols are made. God made us (we are God's offspring). We are much more complex and wonderful than these lifeless materials. Therefore God himself must also be much more wonderful than these things.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:30 Paul now moves to his distinctly Christian appeal. He distances himself from the philosophers. God overlooked. God did not immediately judge the world in previous times.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:31 he will judge the world. God will hold all people accountable. raising him from the dead. Jesus is not just a religious teacher. Jesus' resurrection is the heart of God's plan for history. It is the basis for hope in the future resurrection of the body (1 Cor. 15:42–57; Rev. 21:4). It also provides central evidence to persuade people to believe in Christ (Acts 2:24, 32). Most importantly, the resurrection placed Jesus at God’s right hand, showing his authority to be the judge and the giver of salvation (2:30–36).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:1–22 Corinth was Paul’s last major place of witness on his second journey.

FACT

Gallio was proconsul of Achaia from A.D. 51–52, when Paul was in Corinth, the major city of that province. He was the brother of Seneca, the famous Roman philosopher. The dates of his time in office, known from extrabiblical sources, have given Bible scholars a valuable tool for determining the dates of Paul’s missionary journeys.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:1 Corinth was 46 miles (74 km) west of Athens. It was a Roman colony and the most influential city of the province of Achaia.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:2 Claudius’s expulsion of the Jews from Rome in A.D. 49 seems to have resulted from trouble in the synagogues created by the Christian message. Aquila and Priscilla were possibly already Christians when they fled from Rome.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:4 Greeks. God-fearers.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:5 Paul apparently had sent Silas and Timothy from Athens to visit the Macedonian churches (see note on 17:15). When they rejoined Paul in Corinth, they probably brought a contribution for Paul’s ministry from the Macedonian churches (see 2 Cor. 11:9).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:6 shook out his garments. A gesture of rejection, much like shaking the dust from one’s feet (compare 13:51; and note on Matt. 10:14). Your blood be on your own heads. Paul has told them the truth. It is not his fault if they reject it.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:7 Paul did not completely give up on witnessing to the Jews of Corinth, as his relocating next door to the synagogue indicates.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:8 Crispus. See 1 Cor. 1:14. believed and were baptized. Baptism seems to have occurred soon after each person’s profession of faith.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:9–11 The Lord assured Paul that, "I have many in this city who are my people," meaning that many in Corinth would come to faith in Christ. Yet Paul did not conclude that his work in Corinth was done. Rather, he stayed a year and six months (c. A.D. 49–51, during which time he wrote 1–2 Thessalonians), longer than in any other city except Ephesus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:12 The proconsul of a province was its chief judicial officer. Gallio served in this role A.D. 51–52. This provides one of the keys for determining the dates of Paul's missionary journeys. The tribunal was the proconsul's judgment seat in the marketplace.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:14 Gallio's decision that the Jewish accusations against the Christians concerned only matters of their own religion established the important legal precedent that Christians were not violating Roman law when merely teaching Christian doctrine. A similar judgment comes later, in 25:19.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:17 Sosthenes may have been a Jewish convert to Christianity. Paul mentions someone by that name as his "coauthor" in 1 Cor. 1:1. In Acts 18:8, Crispus is called "the ruler of the synagogue." Sosthenes may have succeeded him when Crispus became a Christian, or there may have been more than one person with this office in that synagogue.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:18 The many days longer that Paul continued in Corinth seems to be in addition to the 18 months noted in v. 11. Syria refers to his sponsoring church of Antioch in Syria. Cenchreae was about 6.5 miles (10.5 km) east of Corinth and was Corinth's main port to the Aegean Sea. The cutting of Paul's hair probably indicates he had completed a vow (see Num. 6:1–21; Acts 21:20–24). One took a vow to seek divine blessing or to express thanksgiving.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:21 will return . . . if God wills. Paul's brief appearance in the synagogue prepared the way for his later ministry in Ephesus (ch. 19) during his third missionary journey.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:22 Leaving from the main Palestinian port of Caesarea in the spring of A.D. 51, Paul went up and greeted the church (in Jerusalem). Then Paul went down (from Jerusalem) to Antioch (see note on 11:19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:23–21:16 The Witness in Ephesus. This section reports Paul's third missionary journey (c. A.D. 52–57). It took place primarily in Ephesus, the capital of the Roman province of Asia. Ephesus was a major commercial center and home of the famous temple of the goddess Artemis.

Itinerary of Paul’s Third Journey

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:23 Again sponsored by the church in Antioch of Syria, Paul began his third missionary journey in the spring of A.D. 52. He traveled by foot through the region of his first mission on into Galatia and Phrygia. On the second missionary journey the Spirit had prevented him from continuing west into Asia (16:6). This time Paul headed directly west toward Ephesus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:24 Alexandria was an intellectual center in Egypt with a world-famous library.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:25 Apollos knew only the baptism of John. This suggests that he had not heard about the baptism that Jesus commanded after his resurrection (see Matt. 28:19). Apollos taught accurately the things concerning Jesus as far as he knew them. He certainly knew about Jesus’ life and teachings. He may not have known about Jesus’ death and resurrection, or about the outpouring of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:26 Presumably Priscilla and Aquila . . . explained the things about Jesus that Apollos did not yet know (see note on v. 25). It is noteworthy that both of them “explained” to Apollos the way of God more accurately. This supports the idea that both men and women can explain God’s Word to each other in private or informal settings (such as personal conversation or a small group Bible study) without violating 1 Tim. 2:12. they took him aside. They corrected him in private (compare Mark 8:32).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:27 Achaia refers particularly to Corinth (in the province of Achaia), where Paul had already established a church. Aquila and Priscilla were well known there, so a letter from them on Apollos’s behalf would carry great weight. Later, Paul acknowledged Apollos’s ministry in Corinth (1 Cor. 1:12; 3:4–6, 22). Apollos evidently returned to Ephesus after his time at Corinth. He was with Paul in Ephesus when Paul wrote 1 Corinthians (Acts 19:1–20:1; 1 Cor. 16:12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:1 while Apollos was at Corinth. See 18:27. Disciples here refers to followers of John the Baptist. They did not know of Jesus (19:4).

FACT

In the Greco-Roman world, many used magic to heal, to curse, or to control evil spirits. Paul encountered such magicians on his missionary journeys (8:9–24; 13:6–12). He showed how Jesus’ power greatly surpasses any magical spells, and many former magicians became believers (19:17–20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:2 not even heard that there is a Holy Spirit. They had probably moved from Palestine to Ephesus before Jesus’ ministry began. As followers of John, they knew the Messiah would bring the Spirit (Luke 3:16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:5 Having learned how Jesus had fulfilled the message of John the Baptist, these disciples of John submitted to baptism in the name of the Lord Jesus. On baptism in the name of Jesus, see note on 10:48.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:6 the Holy Spirit came on them. They received the new covenant presence and power of the Holy Spirit, as on the day of Pentecost (see notes on 1:8; 2:4). Their speaking in tongues and prophesying was an outward demonstration and verification of their receiving the Spirit. (See note on 1 Cor. 12:10 and notes elsewhere on 1 Corinthians 12–14.)

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:9 The Way refers to followers of Christ. See note on 9:1–2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:10 Paul ministered in Ephesus for about three years (c. A.D. 52–55; see 20:31). That he reached all the residents of Asia reflects his missionary strategy. He started in the major cities and then sent coworkers into the surrounding area to establish churches.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:12 handkerchiefs or aprons. These were not magical objects. Rather, the Holy Spirit's presence sometimes remained evident in connection with objects that Paul had touched (see note on 5:15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:13 itinerant Jewish exorcists. These persons used extensive ceremonies and spoken formulas to try to free people from the influence of evil spirits.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:15–16 Using the name of Jesus was not enough to cast out evil spirits. True faith in Jesus was also necessary.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:19 The Greco-Roman world believed in magical incantations and spells (see note on 13:6). They often collected them into books that sold for large sums. Pieces of silver probably refers to the Greek drachma, which represented a laborer's average daily wage.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:21 Macedonia included the churches in Philippi, Thessalonica, and Berea. Achaia included the church in Corinth. This verse provides an outline for the rest of Acts (see 20:1–2; 21:17; 28:14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:22 having sent into Macedonia . . . Timothy and Erastus. Paul apparently wrote 1 Corinthians during the springtime, near the end of his time in Ephesus (see Acts 19:21; also 1 Cor. 16:5–10). Paul sent the letter to Corinth with Timothy and Erastus (see 1 Cor. 16:10). Later he left Ephesus to go to Corinth (see Acts 20:1–2; 1 Cor. 16:5). Erastus was a Corinthian and is included in Paul's greetings in Rom. 16:23 and 2 Tim. 4:20.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:23 The Way refers to followers of Christ. See note on 9:1–2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:24 Silver shrines were replicas of the temple of Artemis. These were used for home altars or as offerings to be presented to the goddess.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:28 Great is Artemis of the Ephesians! Civic and religious pride led to the riot.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:29 The theater had a capacity of more than 20,000 in Paul's time. It was the place people gathered for town business meetings. Gaius and Aristarchus were eventually released. Aristarchus reappears later as Paul's companion (see 20:4; 27:2; Col. 4:10; Philem. 24).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:31 The Asiarchs were the keepers of the imperial Roman cult in Asia. They were concerned about the safety of their fellow citizen Paul.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:33–34 The role of the Jew Alexander is unclear. Perhaps he wished to separate the Jews from the Christians in the crowd's minds.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:35 The town clerk was the chief administrative officer of the city. The sacred stone that fell from the sky probably refers to a meteorite. Meteorites were associated with Artemis worship.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:38–40 the courts are open. Courts conducted by the Roman proconsul to settle disputes as well as the scheduled meetings of the town assembly. there are proconsuls. A "proconsul" was the head of government in a Roman province (see 13:7; 18:12). The town clerk's reasoning shows the Christian gospel was not contrary to Roman law and did not disrupt public order.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:1 In the final days of his Ephesian ministry, after writing 1 Corinthians (see note on Acts 19:22), Paul had considerable conflict with the Corinthian church. He made a "painful" visit to them. He also wrote a "tearful" letter upon his return to Ephesus (2 Cor. 2:1–4). As his time in Ephesus neared its completion, Paul sent Titus ahead to Corinth. Upon leaving Ephesus (Acts 20:1), Paul first went north. He visited Christian communities along the way and hoped to meet Titus returning from Corinth (2 Cor. 2:12–13). In Macedonia Titus finally joined him. Titus brought the good news that the Corinthian church had repented of its opposition to Paul's leadership (2 Cor. 7:5–16). Paul then wrote 2 Corinthians.

FACT

Elders and overseers (20:17, 28) are probably two different terms for the same kind of church leader. In first-century Israel, an elder would have been an older, more mature person to whom people looked for leadership. An overseer would have been someone who was responsible for people or property. Both words describe a person who takes good care of someone or something.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:2 Greece is another name for the province of Achaia, where Corinth was located.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:3 Paul stayed at Corinth for three months, likely the winter months (see 1 Cor. 16:6). Sea travel was more dangerous then. Syria. Paul's goal was to sail to a Syrian port, with Jerusalem as the final destination (Acts 19:21). Paul wrote Romans (c. A.D. 57) during this final Corinthian visit (see note on Rom. 16:1–23). In Romans he explained that he went to Jerusalem to deliver a collection from Gentile churches for needy Christians there (Rom. 15:22–29; see Acts 24:17). he decided to return through Macedonia. This took Paul back to the churches of Berea, Thessalonica, and Philippi.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:4 accompanied him. In 1 Cor. 16:1–4, Paul noted that official representatives from the various churches of his ministry would travel with him. They protected the offering from robbers. They also guaranteed Paul's integrity in handling the funds. Aristarchus. See note on Acts 19:29.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:5 These went on ahead. This group may have included all the representatives or just the two Asians (v. 4). They perhaps arranged for the final voyage from Troas (see note on 16:8).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:7 On the first day of the week. The first reference in Acts to worship on Sunday.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:15 Chios was the birthplace of Homer. Samos was the birthplace of the mathematician Pythagoras. Miletus was a major Aegean harbor in the province of Asia in Paul's day.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:17–35 Paul's Miletus address is the only example in Acts of a major speech to Christians. Of all Paul's speeches in Acts, it has the most in common with his letters, which were addressed to Christians.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:17 The Ephesian church leaders are called elders. In v. 28 they are addressed as "overseers" (sometimes translated "bishops") who are to "care for" (or "shepherd") "the flock" (the role of pastors). "Elders" and "overseers" likely refer to the same office.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:20 did not shrink. See note on vv. 26–27.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:22–23 Constrained indicates the Holy Spirit prompted Paul to go quickly and directly to Jerusalem. the Holy Spirit testifies to me in every city. Probably through Christian prophets (see 21:11) and direct revelation from the Holy Spirit.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:24 Compare 2 Cor. 4:7–12; 12:9–10; Phil. 1:20–21; 3:8; Col. 1:24. In 2 Tim. 4:7 he used the same expression of finishing his course (or "race").

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:26–27 For Paul's claim to be innocent of their blood, compare Ezek. 33:1–6 and see note on Acts 18:6. Paul is not responsible for any future doctrinal or moral error in the Ephesian church, for he did not shrink from declaring any part of the teaching of the Word of God. whole counsel of God. The entirety of God's redemptive plan presented in Scripture.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:28 the church of God, which he obtained with his own blood. The last part of this phrase refers to Christ's atoning death on the cross (see Rom. 5:9). The first part of this phrase ("the church of God") most likely refers to Christ ("God the Son") as the head of the church. The phrase could also be translated to refer to the blood of God's "own," that is, of "God's own Son." (See also ESV footnote.)

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:29–30 Paul showed remarkable insight into the future situation of the Ephesian church (probably through a revelation from the Holy Spirit). Paul's letters to Timothy, who served Ephesus a decade or so later, mention false teachers who were using the church for their own gain. These persons came from within the church, in fact, from among the elders (from among your own selves). (See 1 Tim. 4:1–3; 2 Tim. 2:17–18; 3:1–9.)

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:31–32 Three years included the "three months" and the "two years" in Ephesus that Luke mentioned earlier (see 19:8, 10). inheritance. Salvation. sanctified. Made holy in heart and life by the Holy Spirit.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:35 the words of the Lord Jesus. This saying from Jesus is not recorded in the Gospels. Jesus did many things that are not recorded in Scripture (see John 21:25). This saying was probably passed on to Paul by those who heard Jesus teach. give. On Christian generosity, see 2 Cor. 8:9–15.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:38 sorrowful. Paul's churches had deep affection for him.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:1 Paul's ship was probably a "coasting vessel," which traveled close to shore. Each of the places mentioned probably represents a day's journey and the stopping place for the night. Cos and Rhodes are both islands with port cities of the same name. Paul and his companions boarded a sturdier vessel at Patara for the 400-mile (644-km) open-sea voyage to Tyre. Patara was the main port city in Lycia.

FACT

The island of Rhodes, which Paul visited toward the end of his third missionary journey (21:1), was famous for the Colossus of Rhodes, considered one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World. This statue, standing nearly 110 feet (34 m) high, was built in about 300 B.C. to commemorate Rhodes's victory over the neighboring island of Cyprus. It stood for only 56 years before being toppled by an earthquake.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:3 Tyre was in Phoenicia (see note on 11:19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:4 through the Spirit they were telling Paul not to go on to Jerusalem. The narrative as a whole clearly shows that Paul was guided by the Holy Spirit to go to Jerusalem (see 19:21; 20:22–24; 21:14). It is unclear why the prophets said the opposite. See 21:10–14. Paul explains elsewhere that prophecies must be tested (see notes on 1 Cor. 14:29; 1 Thess. 5:20–21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:8–9 Caesarea. A major port near Jerusalem. four unmarried daughters, who prophesied. The gift of prophecy was promised to women as well as men in Joel's prophecy (Joel 2:28–29), which was fulfilled at Pentecost (Acts 2:17–18).

LUKE

Luke was a doctor (Col. 4:14) and a faithful companion of Paul, accompanying him on several journeys. He was with Paul throughout his two-year imprisonments in both Caesarea and Rome. He is the author of the Gospel bearing his name and the book of Acts, where he records his travels with Paul. Little else is known about Luke. Most scholars believe that he was a Gentile. This is based in part on the fact that Paul does not include Luke among the "men of the circumcision" who were his fellow workers (Col. 4:10–11). How Luke came to know Christ is not revealed, though his thorough acquaintance with the OT suggests that he may have been a "God-fearer" like Cornelius before becoming a Christian. (Acts 21:1–8)

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:10–11 Agabus had earlier predicted a famine (11:28). Old Testament prophets often acted out their prophecies (e.g., Isa. 8:1–4; Jer. 13:1–11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:15 From Caesarea to Jerusalem was about 62 miles (100 km) by road. Paul probably arrived there in the spring of A.D. 57.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:17–23:35 The Arrest in Jerusalem. While fulfilling a vow at the temple, Paul was attacked by a Jewish mob and rescued by the Romans. He defended himself before the Jewish crowd and the Sanhedrin. Then a plot against his life prompted the Roman tribune to send him to the governor in Caesarea.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:17–26 When Paul arrived in Jerusalem, the Christians rejoiced over the success of his Gentile mission. They also expressed concern over rumors that he was teaching Jews to abandon their traditional laws and customs. To disprove the rumors, they asked Paul to participate publicly in a Nazirite vow (see Num. 6:1–21; see also note on Acts 21:23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:18 all the elders were present. Apparently the church at Jerusalem was now led primarily by these "elders" (see note on 12:17).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:21 not to circumcise. Circumcision is singled out because it was considered the main sign of God's covenant with the Jews. The rumor was false. Paul did not object to Jewish believers voluntarily following OT ceremonial laws (see 16:3; 1 Cor. 7:18–19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:23 under a vow. Those under a Nazirite vow stayed away from strong drink and avoided things that would defile them (such as contact with a dead body). They did not cut their hair (Num. 6:1–21). When the time of the vow was over (often 30 days), they would cut their hair and present an offering in the temple.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:25 as for the Gentiles. The Jerusalem elders reminded Paul of the requirements for Gentile Christians agreed upon in the Jerusalem council (15:28–29). This was to avoid giving unnecessary offense to either Jewish believers or unbelievers. They were not asking Paul's Gentile converts to keep Jewish laws beyond those basic requirements (see Gal. 2:11–12; 4:10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:26 he purified himself. See note on v. 27. Paul voluntarily went along with the suggestion from James and the elders. Paul's willingness to take the vow (vv. 20–24) is an example of his desire to become "all things to all people" (1 Cor. 9:22) in order to advance the gospel.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:27 Paul had to go through purification rituals for seven days (see v. 26). Jews often did so when returning from Gentile territory. The Jews from Asia were probably from Ephesus (see v. 29) and knew Paul from his three years in their city.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:28 defiled this holy place. The Jews from Asia (v. 27) wrongly charged Paul with defiling the temple by taking a Gentile ("Trophimus the Ephesian," v. 29) beyond the stone barrier that divided the outer courtyard (Court of the Gentiles) from the inner sanctuary. This area was off-limits to Gentiles, under penalty of death.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:30 The shutting of the gates was probably to prevent further defiling of the sanctuary.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:31–32 A Roman tribune was the commander of a cohort. This consisted of up to a thousand soldiers, under the command of several centurions (see note on 10:1). at once. Roman soldiers were housed in the Herodian fortress known as the Tower of Antonia on the northwest corner of the temple wall. Its high tower provided a full view of the temple area. It had two flights of stairs leading down into the temple grounds, so that soldiers could respond to an unruly crowd almost immediately.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:33 Bound with two chains probably means bound with a soldier on each side.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:38 Jewish historian Josephus mentions the revolt led by an Egyptian Jew. The Roman governor Felix had stopped it. The Egyptian fled, and his movement scattered. Josephus also wrote of the Assassins, or "dagger men," who terrorized Roman sympathizers by stabbing them amid large crowds. The tribune must have thought the Egyptian had returned to stir up another revolt.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:39 Tarsus in Cilicia. See note on 9:30.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:40–22:21 Paul's address to the Jewish crowd sought to establish what he had come to the temple to prove in the first place—his faithfulness to his Jewish heritage.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:3 Brought up in this city most likely means that Paul's parents moved to Jerusalem when he was very young (see 23:16). It could also mean that Paul came to Jerusalem as a young man for his rabbinic training under Gamaliel. (On Gamaliel, see note on 5:34.)

FACT

Paul says that he was born in Tarsus but was brought up in this city, referring to Jerusalem (22:3). In Tarsus, Paul would have spoken Greek. As a Jew, he was also fluent in Aramaic. Growing up in Jerusalem, Paul learned from Gamaliel, the greatest Jewish scholar of his day. The Lord used Paul's unique background to reach the Gentiles of the Roman Empire with the good news about the Jewish Messiah who was also the Savior of all people, Jews and Gentiles alike.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:4 On Paul's persecution of the Christians, see 8:3 and 9:1. this Way. See note on 9:1–2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:12–14 For his Jewish hearers, Paul stressed the faithfulness of Ananias.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:16 be baptized and wash away your sins. Baptism is an outward symbol of the cleansing from sin that occurs when someone trusts in Jesus (see 1 Pet. 3:21). Faith in Christ leads to cleansing, and baptism is a picture of this. As Heb. 10:19–22 shows, the believer’s sins are “washed away” through faith in “the blood of Jesus,” with the result that the believer is “sprinkled clean” and “washed with pure water.”

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:17 in the temple, I fell into a trance. This must have happened during Paul’s visit to Jerusalem after his conversion (9:26). For the Jewish audience, it placed Paul’s experience “on holy ground,” in the temple, much like Isaiah’s call (Isa. 6:1–13).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:18 him. That is, the Lord Jesus (see v. 19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:25 Roman law forbade beating a Roman citizen without a hearing or a formal sentence (uncondemned).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:28 I bought this citizenship. Persons who were not born Roman citizens but became citizens later usually took the name of their sponsor. That the tribune’s name was Claudius Lysias (23:26) may indicate he purchased his citizenship through the sponsorship of the emperor Claudius. Being a citizen by birth had especially high status.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:30 unbound him. Since v. 29 implies Paul was already unbound, the tribune’s unbinding him here may mean he took him out of confinement.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:3 Paul, like Jesus, used the metaphor of whitewash for hypocrisy (see Matt. 23:27). Ananias was a particularly bad high priest. For the illegal nature of Ananias’s action, see Lev. 19:15.

FACT

Felix, the Roman governor of Judea, was the first freed slave to ever hold the position of governor (23:26). Coming from the house of Antonia, the mother of Emperor Claudius, Felix and his brother Pallas each attained high positions within the Roman government.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:5 I did not know. Paul possibly did not recognize the high priest because he had not been to Jerusalem for many years. He also may have had poor eyesight (see Gal. 4:12–16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:14 The chief priests and elders were the dominant forces on the Sanhedrin. Most were Sadducees, the group most opposed to Paul.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:16 the son of Paul's sister. Nothing is known of Paul's family. They possibly moved to Jerusalem when Paul was young (see note on 22:3). he . . . entered the barracks. As a Roman citizen Paul was probably given generous visitation privileges.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:18 The military showed great respect to their Roman prisoner. Note the quick response of both the centurion and the tribune (Lysias) to Paul and his nephew.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:21 By rabbinic law, if a vow became impossible to fulfill, those under it were released from its terms.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:23–24 Lysias sends approximately half the Roman soldiers in Jerusalem to protect Paul.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:24 Felix was governor of Judea A.D. 52–59. He was a weak leader (see 24:24–27).

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:25–26 Lysias's letter follows standard Greek form: sender (Lysias), to recipient (Felix), followed by greetings.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:27 Lysias had no charges to list. All complaints against Paul had to do with "their [Jewish] law" (v. 29) and not Roman law. Throughout the rest of Acts, all the Roman officials testify to Paul's innocence of any charges against him.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:31 Antipatris was 35 of the 62 miles (56 of the 100 km) by road from Jerusalem to Caesarea (v. 33). This was a difficult but not impossible distance for soldiers to march in the cool of the night. Only the 70 "horsemen" (v. 32) continued to Caesarea.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:34–35 At this time Judea and Cilicia were both part of the Roman province of Syria. Since Felix administered a portion of that province and Paul's home was within it, he determined that Paul's case was within his jurisdiction.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:35 Herod's praetorium served as the Roman governor's quarters.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:1–26:32 The Witness in Caesarea. Paul was imprisoned in Caesarea for more than two years. He received formal hearings from the governors Felix and Festus and the Jewish king Agrippa II. When Festus decided to take him to Jerusalem for trial, Paul requested to be tried in Rome before the emperor.

FACT

What is "the Way?" In Acts, "the Way" appears six times (9:2; 19:9, 23; 22:4; 24:14, 22). People who belonged to the Way were followers of Christ. It means the way of salvation (16:17) and/or the true way of life in relation to God (see 18:25–26).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:1–27 The closest thing to an actual trial for Paul took place before Felix when the Jews from Jerusalem brought their charges against him. Felix was not persuaded. He dismissed the court but continued to hold Paul in custody. Felix spoke frequently with Paul in private.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:1 The spokesman . . . Tertullus may have been a Gentile, a professional lawyer.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:2 Tertullus began with flattering words designed to secure the governor's goodwill. we enjoy much peace. This was not true: Felix had the least peaceful term of any Roman administrator up until his time. The Jews hated him. He was better known for taking bribes than helping the Jews.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:5 Tertullus accused Paul of three crimes: stirring up riots, being a Christian ringleader, and profaning "the temple" (v. 6). To a Roman, the first charge would have been the most serious. It amounted to treason. Paul admitted to the second charge (v. 14). He denied the first and third charges (vv. 12–13).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:10 Paul's opening words are brief and honest when compared to Tertullus's flattery (see note on v. 2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:11–12 Paul denied starting any riots. Twelve days was not enough time to gather a following.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:14 Paul proceeded to show how as a Christian he was also a faithful Jew. He accepted the Law and the Prophets and lived his life in light of the resurrection and judgment of "the just and the unjust" (vv. 15, 25).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:18–19 Paul began to relate the events of his being captured in the temple (21:27–36). He stopped when he realized his real accusers—the Jews from Asia—were not present. Roman law called for a "face-to-face" confrontation between the accusers and the accused.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:20–21 when I stood before the council. Ananias and the elders were members of the Sanhedrin. Thus they could testify to Paul's earlier hearing before them (23:1–10). The key issue both then and here was the resurrection—not just the general possibility of resurrection but the historical reality of Jesus' resurrection.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:22–23 Felix had an accurate knowledge of the Way (see note on 9:1–2), which may have come from his Jewish wife (see 24:24). but have some liberty. Paul's "free custody" may have been due to his being a Roman citizen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:24 Drusilla was the youngest daughter of Herod Agrippa I and the sister of Agrippa II (who will appear in the next chapter). Her marriage to Felix was something of a scandal because Felix had caused her divorce from her first husband.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:26 money. . . . sent for him often. Roman law prohibited officials from taking bribes, but bribe-taking was common.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:27 Felix was removed from office in A.D. 60 for failing to deal properly with a dispute between the Jews and Gentiles in Caesarea.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:2 The chief priests and the principal men probably refers to the Sanhedrin.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:4 Festus unintentionally protected Paul by insisting that any hearing should take place in his headquarters at Caesarea.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:9–11 Paul feared Festus would give him up to the Jews. As a Roman citizen he had the right to appeal his case to Caesar. He exercised that right in order to take the matter out of the governor's hands (A.D. 59). "Caesar" was the emperor Nero Caesar, who reigned A.D. 54–68. His first five years were relatively peaceful. After that, he became increasingly cruel and irrational.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:12 In difficult or unusual cases, Roman administrators usually consulted an advisory board or council of high-ranking officials.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:13 Agrippa the king was Agrippa II, son of Herod Agrippa I (see notes on 12:1; 24:24), and great-grandson of Herod the Great (see note on Matt. 2:1). He ruled over several minor, primarily Gentile territories. The emperor Claudius had given Agrippa II rule over the temple in Jerusalem. He also gave him the right to appoint the high priest. Bernice was his sister and constant companion.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:18 brought no charge . . . of such evils as I supposed. Festus concludes that Paul had broken no Roman laws. To Festus, this was merely a religious dispute.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:23–26:32 Of Paul's three "defense" speeches (chs. 22; 24; 26), this one before Agrippa gives the most detailed explanation of the gospel.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:14 The Hebrew language most likely refers to Aramaic (see ESV footnote). To kick against the goads is a proverbial statement the Romans probably knew. It means that one cannot ultimately resist God's will. Goads were sharp sticks used to prod oxen. If the oxen kicked in resistance, the drivers would keep them in line by poking them more severely.

FACT

Kicking against the goads. Goads were long, sharpened sticks used to prod oxen when they were hitched to yokes. Not wanting to be jabbed again with the stick, the ox would kick against it. It would soon learn that it was better to accept the direction of the farmer than to "kick against the goad." In this context of 26:14, the expression means that it is foolish and futile to resist God's will.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:20 A witness by Paul throughout all the region of Judea is not recorded elsewhere in Acts. It must have occurred right after his conversion when he was in Jerusalem (9:28; compare v. 31).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:22–23 The inclusiveness of Paul's witness was both social (small and great) and racial (our people and . . . the Gentiles). The suffering of Jesus was the fulfillment of OT prophets.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:27 I know that you believe. Agrippa had a reputation as a faithful Jew.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:28–29 In a short time would you persuade me to be a Christian? Realizing that Paul was urging him to respond to the gospel, Agrippa put him off. Paul then responded to Agrippa using Agrippa's own words: short or long, he wanted everyone to trust Christ. The translation of v. 28 is not easy, but most scholars favor something similar to that given in the ESV.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:1–28:31 The Witness in Rome. The last two chapters of Acts are devoted mainly to Paul's journey to Rome (27:1–28:16). In Rome, he followed his usual pattern of beginning with the Jews and then turning to anyone who would listen to his message.

HEROD AGRIPPA II

Herod Agrippa II was the son of Herod Agrippa I and the great-grandson of Herod the Great. Following the death of his father, Agrippa II ruled over several minor territories. He had authority over the temple in Jerusalem, including the right to appoint the high priest. Festus, a Roman unfamiliar with the Jewish faith, sought Agrippa's advice regarding Paul's case (chs. 25–26). While defending himself before Agrippa, Paul presented a detailed explanation of the gospel. Though Agrippa resisted Paul's appeal to believe in Christ, he listened sympathetically to his defense (26:28). He said that if Paul had not appealed to Caesar, he could have been released. (Acts 26:27–32)

Paul's Journey to Rome

c. A.D. 60

Appealing his case to Caesar, Paul was ordered by Festus to be transferred to Rome. Paul's journey was marked by difficult weather, as they had begun their voyage late into the season for sea travel. A bad decision to try to find winter harbor at Phoenix ended with the ship being driven by a storm to the island of Malta, where the ship broke apart. All aboard the ship survived, however, and Paul was soon placed aboard another ship that took him to Puteoli. From there Paul was taken to Rome.

FACT

Running aground on the Syrtis (27:17) was a real fear for mariners on the Mediterranean Sea in NT times. The Syrtis was an extensive sandbar off the coast of North Africa. During a storm, if a ship was not properly anchored it could be carried for miles off course and into dangerous shallow waters such as the Syrtis.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:1–44 The voyage to Rome probably began in the autumn of A.D. 59. It is told in great detail. It is consistent with what is otherwise known about sea travel in that time and place. The main theme of the story is God's provision, especially in protecting Paul so that he arrives safely in Rome.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:1 Note the we, indicating Luke's presence with Paul all the way to Rome (see note on 16:10; the last "we" is found at 28:16). For centurion and Cohort, see note on 10:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:2 The ship of Adramyttium was probably a small coasting vessel (see note on 21:1). Aristarchus. See note on 19:29.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:3 Paul's friends were Christians from Sidon. Paul's guard Julius showed him respect throughout the voyage.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:4 Under the lee means sailing under shelter; they were protected from strong winds by sailing close to the island.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:5–6 Cilicia, Pamphylia, and Lycia were districts along the southern coast of what today is Turkey. Myra was directly north of Alexandria. It was a good stopping place for a ship that was sailing for Italy, probably carrying Egyptian grain.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:7 The normal route from Myra to Rome would have taken them south of Rhodes and north of Crete to Sicily. They were already well off course when they reached Cnidus (southwestern tip of Asia/Turkey). They were even more so when they sought shelter on the south side of Crete.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:8 The location of Fair Havens is uncertain. There is a town on the southern coast of Crete with that name today. It is probably close to the ancient site.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:9 The Fast refers to the Day of Atonement in the fall. By then Mediterranean voyages became too dangerous for sailing vessels.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:11 The pilot was the ship's captain.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:12 The majority probably means the majority of the crew. Phoenix may be the modern Phineka Bay, on the southwestern coast of Crete.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:14 northeaster. An extremely dangerous, gusty wind.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:16 Cauda is today known as Gozzo. The ship's boat was a smaller one used to transport people from the ship to land. It probably filled with water and was hard to lift on deck.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:17 Ancient ships were sometimes secured during storms with cables (supports) tied around the ends or across and under the center of the ship. What gear was lowered is not known—possibly the topsails or a drift anchor to slow the ship's progress. The Syrtis was a sandy shoal off the North African coast. Many ships sank there.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:18–19 The cargo may have been grain, although they kept some of it (see v. 38). The tackle may have been the beam that supported the mainsail.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:20 Sailors depended on the sun and stars to help them navigate.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:21 You should have listened to me was no doubt a statement intended to establish Paul's credibility as he prepared to give the crew some divinely revealed instructions (vv. 22–26).

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:24 must stand before Caesar. See note on 25:9–11. The ultimate reason Paul was saved was for his testimony in Rome (see 23:11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:27 Adriatic Sea. In ancient times this area extended south to Crete and Malta, farther than the modern Adriatic.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:29 the rocks. The location was probably the rocky area on the northeastern coast of Malta, known today as Point Koura. Ancient ships had multiple anchors. The four anchors from the stern kept the ship steady and facing toward land.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:30 the sailors were seeking to escape. They decided to take the ship's only small boat and get themselves safely to shore. Such a selfish action would leave no one on the ship with the skill to handle it, leading to a wreck, with many deaths. So Paul warned the centurion of the sailors' plan, and he stopped them (vv. 31–32).

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:33 The rescue was to begin at daybreak, and everyone needed food for strength.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:34 not a hair is to perish from the head. They will not die.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:35 Paul's giving thanks and breaking bread was a testimony to his faith in the God who was about to deliver them.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:37 The number of 276 passengers was not too great for large grain ships, which were up to 100 feet (31 m) long.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:39 The traditional site of Paul's shipwreck is known as St. Paul's Bay. It has a sandy beach on its western side.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:40 The ship's rudders would have been pulled out of the water and tied down during the storm. They were now placed back in the water to steer the ship. The foresail was a small sail in the bow to guide a ship.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:41 The meaning of the word translated reef is uncertain. It could also refer to a sandbar. Either way, the bow became stuck in it.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:43 Once again (see v. 24) Paul's presence resulted in the deliverance of others. This time it saved the other prisoners. The soldiers feared that the prisoners had escaped (v. 42; see note on 12:18–19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:1 Malta was on the main route from Myra (27:5) to Rome. God had brought them through the storm and back on course.

FACT

What happens next? Acts ends with Paul serving Christ from within a Roman prison. During this time, he wrote Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and Philemon. According to the church historian Eusebius, Paul was released, then arrested a second time, and eventually martyred in Rome.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:4 Justice in Greek can refer to justice or to the name of the goddess who dispenses justice.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:7 chief man. Probably a formal title.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:8 The description of Publius's father as having fever and dysentery fits the symptoms of an infection caused by goat's milk called "Malta fever."

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:10 Travelers on ancient ships had to provide their own meals. The hospitable Maltese people gave Paul and his shipmates enough food for the rest of their voyage.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:11 After three months probably indicates March (c. A.D. 60). It was now safe to navigate the Mediterranean. The ship of Alexandria was likely a grain ship. Castor and Pollux, the twin sons of Zeus and Leda, were viewed as the gods who protected seamen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:12–13 Syracuse was at the eastern end of Sicily. Its fame as a Hellenistic city rivaled that of Athens. Rhegium was at the southern tip of Italy across from Sicily. Puteoli was a major port for Roman traffic. It was 257 miles (413 km) by road up the western coast of Italy from Rhegium.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:14 The presence of brothers at Puteoli shows that Christianity had reached Rome by this time (c. A.D. 60) and was widely known in Italy. Luke's comment, so we came to Rome, may seem premature (Rome was still 130 miles [209 km] away). Perhaps he meant it as a summary statement, indicating the process by which Paul reached Rome.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:15 Paul's party was met by Roman Christians at two points along the way to Rome—the Forum of Appius, some 40 miles (64 km) from Rome, and 12 miles (19 km) farther on at Three Taverns. Paul had written his letter to the Roman church three years earlier. Though he had not personally visited Rome, his greetings at the end of Romans (Rom. 16:1–16) show that he already knew many people there.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:16 Allowing Paul to provide his own housing points to his high status as a prisoner and perhaps to the support of local believers.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:17–18 The local leaders were probably the elders of the Roman synagogues. Paul's main purpose in this meeting was to explain his presence in Rome. He declared his innocence of breaking any Jewish law. wished to set me at liberty. See 26:32.

Introduction to Romans

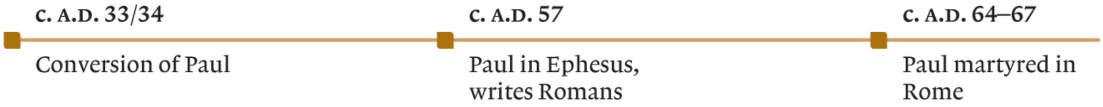
Timeline



Author, Recipients, and Date

The apostle Paul wrote to the Christians in Rome. He probably did this while he was in Corinth on his third missionary journey, in A.D. 57 (Acts 20:2–3).

Theme

In the cross of Christ, God judges sin and at the same time shows his saving mercy.

Purpose

Paul wrote Romans to unite the Jewish and Gentile Christians in Rome in the gospel. He also wanted the church in Rome to become the base of operations from which he could proclaim the gospel in Spain (15:22–24). The ultimate goal of preaching the gospel is the glory of God (11:33–36). Paul longs for the Gentiles to become obedient Christians for the sake of Christ’s name (1:5).

Key Themes

1. All people are sinners and need to be saved from their sin (1:18–3:20; 5:12–19).
2. The Mosaic law is good and holy, but only Christ can remove sin and overcome its power (2:12–29; 3:9–20; 5:20; 7:1–25; 9:30–10:8).
3. Through the righteousness of God, sin is judged and salvation is provided (3:21–26; 5:12–19; 6:1–10; 7:1–6; 8:1–4).

4. With the coming of Jesus Christ, a new age of redemptive history has begun (1:1–7; 3:21–26; 5:1–8:39).
5. The atoning death of Jesus Christ is central to God’s plan of salvation (3:21–26; 4:23–25; 5:6–11, 15–19; 6:1–10; 7:4–6; 8:1–4).
6. Justification is by faith alone (1:16–4:25; 9:30–10:21).
7. Those who are in Christ Jesus have a sure hope of future glory (5:1–8:39).
8. By the power of the Holy Spirit, those who have died with Christ live a new life (2:25–29; 6:1–7:6; 8:1–39).
9. God is sovereign in salvation. He works all things according to his plan (9:1–11:36).
10. God fulfills his promises to both Jews and Gentiles (1:18–4:25; 9:1–11:36; 14:1–15:13).
11. Because of God’s grace, Christians should be morally pure, should show love to their neighbors, should be good citizens, and should welcome their fellow believers into fullest fellowship (12:1–15:7).

The Setting of Romans

c. A.D. 57

Paul probably wrote Romans from Corinth during his third missionary journey (Acts 20:2–3). Rome was the epicenter of the powerful Roman Empire, ruling over many of the great ancient centers of Western civilization. Paul had established the church at Corinth during his second missionary journey (Acts 18:1–11).

The Global Message of Romans

The global message of Romans is that all people everywhere have free access to the riches of God's grace in Christ as they respond in faith to the gospel. In his own Son, God has made a way for lost people to be restored to him—lost people whether they are Greeks or barbarians, wise or foolish (Rom. 1:14).

Romans and Redemptive History

The letter to the Romans itself recounts much of global redemptive history. Paul moves from the problem of sin (Romans 1–3) to the solution provided in Christ (chs. 3–8) to how that solution applies in a practical way among God's people (chs. 9–16).

The second half of Romans 1 tells us of God's righteous wrath upon unbelieving Gentiles (Rom. 1:18–32). In chapter 2 Paul says, however, that not only immoral people but also moral people are under God's judgment (2:1–16). And then he presses in even deeper, saying that even religious people are ripe for judgment (2:17–29). The conclusion is that "all, both Jews and Greeks, are under sin" (3:9).

All this is a result of the fall of mankind, which we read about in Genesis 3. The sin that has flooded throughout the world is rooted in the rebellion of one man and one woman who represented all of humanity, with the man as the head (see Rom. 5:12–19). Yet at the climax of human history, at just the right time (5:6), God sent his Son to die in the place of his people and thus to begin to undo the effects of the fall (3:21–26; 5:6–21).

This great salvation is the fulfillment of promises made to ethnic Israel (Rom. 9:6). Yet the gospel has burst through all ethnic boundaries, spilling out to Jew and Gentile throughout the world until the time when Christ will come a second time and restore not only God's children but, with them, the entire cosmos (8:19–22).

The Global Reach of God's Righteousness

Indeed, one of the great themes of Romans is the worldwide scope of the gospel. The theme statement of the letter makes this clear: "I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes, to the Jew first and also to the Greek” (Rom. 1:16). The gospel is God’s saving power to anyone who trusts in Christ. This is not a geographically segregated gospel. It is not for a certain class, or ethnicity, or education level. It is for everyone who is prepared to acknowledge their sin and rebellion and turn in trusting faith to Christ.

Romans 9–11 makes this especially clear. Here Paul explains that, although God chose ethnic Israel to be his unique covenant people and made special promises to them, they failed to live up to their side of the covenant. Yet the word of God has not failed (Rom. 9:6). Indeed, God himself has sovereignly overseen everything that has taken place in Israel, even down to their own hardened hearts (9:6–24). Despite Israel’s covenant failure, God has reserved a remnant among them (11:1–12). And, Israel’s failure has been God’s mysterious way of breaking open his grace to the Gentiles all over the world (11:13–36).

In this way, the hand of God down through history is bringing his salvation to every tribe and tongue and people group.

Universal Themes in Romans

Human sin. Sin is described in Romans as ungodliness (Rom. 1:18), unrighteousness (1:18), foolish and darkened hearts (1:21), idolatry (1:23), and impurity (1:24). Paul makes clear that no one is exempt from this condition. All people everywhere are “under sin” (3:9). They are “slaves of sin” (6:17). Sin does not affect us simply by causing us occasionally to make bad decisions or other mistakes; rather, sin infects all that we are and do: mind, heart, and will. This is true of all people, Jew and Gentile alike (3:9).

The extensive reach of redemption. The reach of sin is pervasive indeed, extending to every corner of the globe and to every dimension of the human person. Yet the reach of the redemption achieved in Christ is deeper still. The magnificent letter to the Romans opens and closes with resounding statements of the global reach of the gospel of grace. In his opening greeting, Paul declares his desire to visit Rome, “in order that I may reap some harvest among you as well as among the rest of the Gentiles” (Rom. 1:13). He goes on to say that he is “under obligation both to Greeks and to barbarians” (1:14). And at the close of the letter Paul explains that he has made it his ambition to bring the gospel “from Jerusalem and all the way around to Illyricum” (15:19).

The very point of the Christian gospel is that God's grace is not for a select few—otherwise grace would not be grace (11:6). The sacrifice Christ has made is available to all people everywhere in the world. The whole world will one day be cleansed of sin and injustice, and all those who have put their faith in Christ will be restored to the glory of God for which they were created (2:7; 3:23; 8:18).

The Global Message of Romans for Today

The letter to the Romans provides the greatest remedy the world could ever know (Christ) to the greatest problem the world has ever seen (sin). And this remedy is available to the greatest diversity of people the world could ever produce: everyone.

Global Christians wrestle today with problems on a variety of fronts: political, social, economic, and more. Accordingly, God calls us to engage our world with faithful presence, representing Christ and the gospel with faithfulness and fortitude in all these various arenas of life. In Romans we see an example of this in Paul's admonition to the Roman believers to submit to the government that God has placed over them (Rom. 13:1–7).

Yet the message of Romans for the church today does not fundamentally address political or social problems; rather, it addresses the very human heart that makes such political or social problems arise. Romans tells us and shows us that the human heart is sick. Indeed, the self-salvation attempts to which all humans are so prone are both futile and unnecessary. For Romans teaches that, while immorality does not earn God's favor (Romans 1), neither does morality (ch. 2). Our goodness cannot accomplish the salvation that our badness requires. "Works of the law" will justify "no human being" (3:20). Instead, God put forward his own Son to be a sacrifice for sin that turns away divine wrath (3:25). God the Father solves the human dilemma by sending God the Son and applying the benefits of the Son's achievement by God the Holy Spirit (ch. 8).

What can Christians around the globe do in response but gladly surrender our lives as living sacrifices (Rom. 12:1) in heartfelt praise to the God of grace?

> Oh, the depths of the riches and wisdom and knowledge of God!
> How unsearchable are his judgments and how inscrutable his ways!

“For who has known the mind of the Lord, or who has been his counselor?”
“Or who has given a gift to him that he might be repaid?”

For from him and through him and to him are all things. To him be glory forever. Amen. (Rom. 11:33–36)

Greeting

ROMANS 1 [†]Paul, [a] a servant [1] of Christ Jesus, [b] called to be an apostle, [c] set apart for the gospel of God, [2][†]which [d] he promised beforehand [e] through his prophets in the holy Scriptures, [3]concerning his Son, [f] who was descended from David [2] [g] according to the flesh [4][†]and [h] was declared to be the Son of God [i] in power according to the Spirit of holiness by his resurrection from the dead, Jesus Christ our Lord, [5][†]through whom [j] we have received grace and [k] apostleship [l] to bring about the obedience of faith for the sake of his name [m] among all the nations, [6]including you who are [n] called to belong to Jesus Christ,

[7][†]To all those in Rome who are loved by God and called to be saints:

[o] Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Longing to Go to Rome

[8][†]First, [p] I thank my God through Jesus Christ for all of you, [q] because your faith is proclaimed in all the world. [9] [r] For God is my witness, [s] whom I serve with my spirit in the gospel of his Son, [t] that without ceasing I mention you [10]always in my prayers, asking that somehow [u] by God's will I may now at last succeed in coming to you. [11]For [v] I long to see you, that I may impart to you some spiritual gift to strengthen you— [12]that is, that we may be mutually encouraged [w] by each other's faith, both yours and mine. [13][†]I do not want you to be unaware, brothers, [3] that [x] I have often intended to come to you (but [y] thus far have been prevented), in order that I may reap some [z] harvest among you as well as among the rest of the Gentiles. [14][†] [a] I am under obligation both to Greeks and to [b] barbarians, [4] both to the wise and to the foolish. [15][†]So I am eager to preach the gospel to you also who are in Rome.

The Righteous Shall Live by Faith

[16][†]For [d] I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is [e] the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes, to the Jew [f] first and also to [g] the Greek. [17][†]For in it [h]the righteousness of God is revealed [i]from faith for faith, [5] [j]as it is written, “The righteous shall live by faith.” [6]

God’s Wrath on Unrighteousness

[18][†]For [k]the wrath of God [l]is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who by their unrighteousness suppress the truth. [19][†]For what can be [m]known about God is plain to them, because God has shown it to them. [20]For his invisible attributes, namely, his eternal power and divine nature, [n]have been clearly perceived, ever since the creation of the world, [7] in the things that have been made. So they are without excuse. [21][†]For although they knew God, they did not honor him as God or give thanks to him, but they [o]became futile in their thinking, and their foolish hearts were darkened. [22][†][p]Claiming to be wise, they became fools, [23][†]and [q]exchanged the glory of [r]the immortal God for images resembling mortal man and birds and animals and creeping things.

[24][†]Therefore [s]God gave them up in the lusts of their hearts to impurity, to [t]the dishonoring of their bodies among themselves, [25][†]because they exchanged the truth about God for [u]a lie and worshiped and served the creature rather than the Creator, [v]who is blessed forever! Amen.

[26][†]For this reason [w]God gave them up to [x]dishonorable passions. For their women exchanged natural relations for those that are contrary to nature; [27]and the men likewise gave up natural relations with women and were consumed with passion for one another, [y]men committing shameless acts with men and receiving in themselves the due penalty for their error.

[28]And since they did not see fit to acknowledge God, [z]God gave them up to [a]a debased mind to do [b]what ought not to be done. [29]They were filled with all manner of unrighteousness, evil, covetousness, malice. They are full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, maliciousness. They are gossips, [30]slanderers, haters of God, insolent, haughty, boastful, inventors of evil, disobedient to parents, [31]foolish, faithless, heartless, ruthless. [32][†]Though they know [c]God’s righteous decree that those who practice such things [d]deserve to die, they not only do them but [e]give approval to those who practice them.

God’s Righteous Judgment

ROMANS 2 [†]Therefore you have [f]no excuse, O man, every one of you who judges. For [g]in passing judgment on another you condemn yourself, because you, the judge, practice the very same things. [2]We know that the judgment of God rightly falls on those who practice such things. [3]Do you suppose, O man—you who judge those who practice such things and yet do them yourself—that you will escape the judgment of God? [4][†]Or do you presume on [h]the riches of his kindness and [i]forbearance and [j]patience, [k]not knowing that God’s kindness is meant to lead you to repentance? [5][†]But because of your hard and impenitent heart you are [l]storing up [m]wrath for yourself on the day of wrath when God’s righteous judgment will be revealed.

[6][†] [n]He will render to each one according to his works: [7]to those who [o]by patience in well-doing seek for glory and honor and immortality, he will give eternal life; [8]but for those who are self-seeking [1] and [p]do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, there will be wrath and fury. [9]There will be tribulation and distress [q]for every human being who does evil, the Jew [r]first and also the Greek, [10]but glory and honor and [s]peace for everyone who does good, [t]the Jew first and also the Greek. [11]For [u]God shows no partiality.

God’s Judgment and the Law

[12][†]For all who have sinned [v]without the law will also perish without the law, and all who have sinned under the law will be judged by the law. [13]For [w]it is not the hearers of the law who are righteous before God, but the doers of the law who will be justified. [14][†]For when Gentiles, who do not have the law, [x]by nature do what the law requires, they are a law to themselves, even though they do not have the law. [15]They show that the work of the law is [y]written on their hearts, while their conscience also bears witness, and their conflicting thoughts accuse or even excuse them [16][†] [z]on that day when, [a]according to my gospel, God judges [b]the secrets of men [c]by Christ Jesus.

[17]But if you call yourself a Jew and [d]rely on the law and boast in God [18]and know his will and approve what is excellent, because you are instructed from the law; [19]and if you are sure that you yourself are [e]a guide to the blind, a light to those who are in darkness, [20]an instructor of the foolish, a teacher of children, having in the law [f]the embodiment of [g]knowledge and truth— [21][†] [h]you then who teach others, do you not teach yourself? While you preach against stealing, do you steal? [22][†]You who say that one must not commit adultery, do you commit adultery? You who abhor idols, do you [i]rob temples? [23]You who [j]boast in the law [k]dishonor God by breaking the law. [24][†]For, [l]as it is written, “The name of God is blasphemed [m]among the Gentiles because of you.”

[25][†]For circumcision indeed is of value [n]if you obey the law, but if you break the law, your circumcision becomes uncircumcision. [26]So, if [o]a man who is uncircumcised keeps [p]the precepts of the law, will not his uncircumcision be regarded [2] as circumcision? [27][†]Then he who is physically [3] uncircumcised but keeps the law [q]will condemn you who have [r]the written code [4] and circumcision but break the law. [28][†]For [s]no one is a Jew [t]who is merely one outwardly, nor is circumcision outward and physical. [29]But a Jew is one [u]inwardly, and [v]circumcision is a matter of the heart, by the Spirit, not by the letter. [w]His praise is not from man but from God.

God’s Righteousness Upheld

ROMANS 3 [†]Then what advantage has the Jew? Or what is the value of circumcision? [2][†]Much in every way. To begin with, [x]the Jews were entrusted with [y]the oracles of God. [3][†] [z]What if some were unfaithful? [a]Does their faithlessness nullify the faithfulness of God? [4]By no means! [b]Let God be true though [c]every one were a liar, as it is written,

[d]“That you may be justified in your words, and prevail when you [e]are judged.”

[5][†]But if our unrighteousness serves to show the righteousness of God, what shall we say? That God is unrighteous to inflict [f]wrath on us? ([g]I speak in a human way.) [6]By no means! For then how could [h]God judge the world? [7]But if through my lie God's truth abounds to his glory, [i]why am I still being condemned as a sinner? [8]And why not [j]do evil that good may come?—as some people slanderously charge us with saying. Their condemnation is just.

No One Is Righteous

[9][†]What then? Are we Jews [1] any better off? [2] No, not at all. For we have already charged that all, both [k]Jews and [l]Greeks, are [m]under sin, [10][†]as it is written:

[n]"None is righteous, no, not one;
[11] no one understands;
no one seeks for God.
[12] All have turned aside; together they have become worthless;
no one does good,
not even one."
[13][†] [o]"Their throat is [p]an open grave;
they use their tongues to deceive."
[q]"The venom of asps is under their lips."
[14] [r]"Their mouth is full of curses and bitterness."
[15][†] [s]"Their feet are swift to shed blood;
[16] in their paths are ruin and misery,
[17] and [t]the way of peace they have not known."
[18][†] [u]"There is no fear of God before their eyes."

[19][†]Now we know that whatever [v]the law says it speaks to those who are under the law, [w]so that every mouth may be stopped, and [x]the whole world may be held accountable to God. [20][†]For [y]by works of the law no human being [3] will be justified in his sight, since [z]through the law comes knowledge of sin.

The Righteousness of God Through Faith

[21][†]But now [a]the righteousness of God [b]has been manifested apart from the law, although [c]the Law and the Prophets bear witness to it— [22]the righteousness of God [d]through faith in Jesus Christ for all who believe. [e]For there is no distinction: [23]for [f]all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, [24][†][g]and are justified [h]by his grace as a gift, [i]through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus, [25][†]whom God [j]put forward as [k]a propitiation [l]by his blood, to be received by faith. This was to show God's righteousness, because in [m]his divine forbearance he had passed over [n]former sins. [26][†]It was to show his righteousness at the present time, so that he might be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Jesus.

[27][†][o]Then what becomes of our boasting? It is excluded. By what kind of law? By a law of works? No, but by the law of faith. [28][†]For we hold that one is justified by faith [p]apart from works of the law. [29][†]Or [q]is God the God of Jews only? Is he not the God of Gentiles also? Yes, of Gentiles also, [30]since [r]God is one—who will justify the circumcised by faith and [s]the uncircumcised through faith. [31][†]Do we then overthrow the law by this faith? By no means! On the contrary, we uphold the law.

Abraham Justified by Faith

ROMANS 4 [†]What then shall we say was gained by [1] Abraham, [t]our forefather according to the flesh? [2]For if Abraham was justified by works, he has something to boast about, but [u]not before God. [3][†]For what does the Scripture say? [v]"Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him as righteousness." [4]Now [w]to the one who works, his wages are not counted as a gift but as his due. [5]And to the one who does not work but [x]believes in [2] him who justifies the ungodly, his faith is counted as righteousness, [6][†]just as David also speaks of the blessing of the one to whom God counts righteousness apart from works:

[7] [y]"Blessed are those whose lawless deeds are forgiven, and whose sins are covered;
[8] blessed is the man against whom the Lord will not [z]count his sin."

[9]Is this blessing then only for [a]the circumcised, or also for the uncircumcised? [b]For we say that faith was counted to Abraham as righteousness. [10]How then was it counted to him? Was it before or after he had been circumcised? It was not after, but before he was circumcised. [11][†] [c]He received the sign of circumcision as a seal of the righteousness that he had by faith while he was still uncircumcised. The purpose was [d]to make him the father of all who believe without being circumcised, so that righteousness would be counted to them as well, [12]and to make him the father of the circumcised who are not merely circumcised but who also walk in the footsteps of the faith that our father Abraham had before he was circumcised.

The Promise Realized Through Faith

[13][†]For [e]the promise to Abraham and his offspring [f]that he would be heir of the world did not come through the law but through the righteousness of faith. [14] [g]For if it is the adherents of the law who are to be the heirs, faith is null and the promise is void. [15][†]For [h]the law brings wrath, but [i]where there is no law [j]there is no transgression.

[16][†]That is why it depends on faith, [k]in order that the promise may rest on grace and [l]be guaranteed to all his offspring—not only to the adherent of the law but also to the one who shares the faith of Abraham, [m]who is the father of us all, [17][†]as it is written, [n]“I have made you the father of many nations”—in the presence of the God in whom he believed, [o]who gives life to the dead and calls into existence [p]the things that do not exist. [18]In hope he believed against hope, that he should become the father of many nations, as he had been told, [q]“So shall your offspring be.” [19]He did not weaken in faith when he considered his own body, which was [r]as good as dead ([s]since he was about a hundred years old), or when he considered [t]the barrenness [3] of Sarah’s womb. [20]No unbelief made him waver concerning the promise of God, but he grew strong in his faith as he gave glory to God, [21]fully convinced that [u]God was able to do what he had promised. [22]That is why his faith was “counted to him as righteousness.” [23][†]But [v]the words “it was counted to him” were not written for his sake alone, [24]but for ours also. It will be counted to us [w]who believe in [x]him who raised from the dead Jesus our Lord, [25][†] [y]who was delivered up for our trespasses and raised [z]for our justification.

Peace with God Through Faith

ROMANS 5 [†] [a]Therefore, since we have been justified by faith, [b]we [1] have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. [2][†]Through him we have also [c]obtained access by faith [2] into this grace [d]in which we stand, and [e]we [3] rejoice [4] in hope of the glory of God. [3]Not only that, but we [f]rejoice in our sufferings, knowing that suffering [g]produces endurance, [4]and endurance produces character, and character produces hope, [5][†]and [h]hope does not put us to shame, because God's love [i]has been poured into our hearts through the Holy Spirit who has been given to us.

[6][†]For [j]while we were still weak, at the right time [k]Christ died for the ungodly. [7]For one will scarcely die for a righteous person—though perhaps for a good person one would dare even to die— [8]but [l]God shows his love for us in that [m]while we were still sinners, Christ died for us. [9][†]Since, therefore, [n]we have now been justified by his blood, much more shall we be saved by him from [o]the wrath of God. [10][†]For if [p]while we were enemies [q]we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, now that we are reconciled, shall we be saved by [r]his life. [11]More than that, we also rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have now received [s]reconciliation.

Death in Adam, Life in Christ

[12][†]Therefore, just as [t]sin came into the world through one man, and [u]death through sin, and [v]so death spread to all men [5] because [w]all sinned — [13][†]for sin indeed was in the world before the law was given, but [x]sin is not counted where there is no law. [14][†]Yet death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over those whose sinning was not [y]like the transgression of Adam, [z]who was a type of [a]the one who was to come.

[15][†]But the free gift is not like the trespass. For if many died through one man's trespass, much more have the grace of God and the free gift by the grace of that one man Jesus Christ abounded for [b]many. [16][†]And the free gift is not like the result of that one man’s sin. For [c] the judgment following one trespass brought condemnation, but the free gift following many trespasses brought [d] justification. [17][†]For if, because of one man’s trespass, death reigned through that one man, much more will those who receive the abundance of grace and the free gift of righteousness [e] reign in life through the one man Jesus Christ.

[18][†]Therefore, as one trespass [6] led to condemnation for all men, so one act of righteousness [7] leads to justification and life for [f] all men. [19][†]For as by the one man’s [g] disobedience the many were made sinners, so by the one man’s [h] obedience the many will be made righteous. [20][†]Now [i] the law came in to increase the trespass, but where sin increased, [j] grace abounded all the more, [21]so that, [k] as sin reigned in death, [l] grace also might reign through righteousness leading to eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Dead to Sin, Alive to God

ROMANS 6 [†]What shall we say then? [m]Are we to continue in sin that grace may abound? [2]By no means! How can [n]we who died to sin still live in it? [3][†]Do you not know that all of us [o]who have been baptized [p]into Christ Jesus were baptized into his death? [4][†]We were [q]buried therefore with him by baptism into death, in order that, just as [r]Christ was raised from the dead by [s]the glory of the Father, we too might walk in [t]newness of life.

[5]For [u]if we have been united with him in [v]a death like his, we shall certainly be united with him in a resurrection like his. [6][†]We know that [w]our old self[1] [x]was crucified with him in order that [y]the body of sin might be brought to nothing, so that we would no longer be enslaved to sin. [7][†]For [z]one who has died [a]has been set free[2] from sin. [8]Now [b]if we have died with Christ, we believe that we will also live with him. [9]We know that [c]Christ, being raised from the dead, will never die again; [d]death no longer has dominion over him. [10][†]For the death he died he died to sin, [e]once for all, but the life he lives he lives to God. [11][†]So you also must consider yourselves [f]dead to sin and alive to God in Christ Jesus.

[12][†]Let not [g]sin therefore reign in your mortal body, to make you obey its passions. [13][h]Do not present your members to sin as instruments for unrighteousness, but [i]present yourselves to God as those who have been brought from death to life, and your members to God as instruments for righteousness. [14][†]For [j]sin [k]will have no dominion over you, since you are not under law but under grace.

Slaves to Righteousness

[15]What then? [l]Are we to sin [m]because we are not under law but under grace? By no means! [16][†]Do you not know that if you present yourselves [n]to anyone as obedient slaves,[3] you are slaves of the one whom you obey, either of sin, which leads to death, or of obedience, which leads to righteousness? [17]But [o]thanks be to God, that you who were once slaves of sin have become obedient from the heart to the [p]standard of teaching to which you were committed, [18]and, [q]having been set free from sin, [r]have become slaves of righteousness. [19] [s]I am speaking in human terms, because of your natural limitations. For [t]just as you once presented your members as slaves to impurity and to lawlessness leading to more lawlessness, so now present your members [u]as slaves to righteousness leading to sanctification.

[20][†] [v]For when you were slaves of sin, you were free in regard to righteousness. [21] [w]But what fruit were you getting at that time from the things [x]of which you are now ashamed? [y]For the end of those things is death. [22]But now that you [z]have been set free from sin and [a]have become slaves of God, [b]the fruit you get leads to sanctification and [c]its end, eternal life. [23][†] [d]For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Released from the Law

ROMANS 7 [†]Or do you not know, brothers [1]—for I am speaking to those who know the law—that the law is binding on a person only as long as he lives? [2]For [e]a married woman is bound by law to her husband while he lives, but if her husband dies she is released from the law of marriage. [2] [3]Accordingly, [f]she will be called an adulteress if she lives with another man while her husband is alive. But if her husband dies, she is free from that law, and if she marries another man she is not an adulteress.

[4][†]Likewise, my brothers, [g]you also have died [h]to the law [i]through the body of Christ, so that you may belong to another, to him who has been raised from the dead, [j]in order that we may bear fruit for God. [5][†]For while we were living in the flesh, our sinful passions, aroused by the law, were at work [k]in our members [l]to bear fruit for death. [6][†]But now we are released from the law, having died to that which held us captive, so that we serve in the [m]new way of [n]the Spirit and not in the old way of the written code. [3]

The Law and Sin

[7][†]What then shall we say? That the law is sin? By no means! Yet if it had not been for the law, [o]I would not have known sin. For I would not have known what it is to covet if [p]the law had not said, “You shall not covet.” [8][†]But sin, [q]seizing an opportunity through the commandment, produced in me all kinds of covetousness. [r]For apart from the law, sin lies dead. [9]I was once alive apart from the law, but when the commandment came, sin came alive and I died. [10]The very commandment [s]that promised life proved to be death to me. [11]For sin, [t]seizing an opportunity through the commandment, [u]deceived me and through it killed me. [12]So [v]the law is holy, and the commandment is holy and righteous and good.

[13][†]Did that which is good, then, bring death to me? By no means! It was sin, producing death in me through what is good, in order that sin might be shown to be sin, and through the commandment might become sinful beyond measure. [14]For we know that the law is spiritual, but I am of the flesh, [w]sold under sin. [15]For I do not understand my own actions. For [x]I do not do what I want, but I do the very thing I hate. [16]Now if I do what I do not want, I agree with [y]the law, that it is good. [17][†]So now [z]it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells within me. [18]For I know that nothing good dwells [a]in me, that is, in my flesh. For I have the desire to do what is right, but not the ability to carry it out. [19][b]For I do not do the good I want, but the evil I do not want is what I keep on doing. [20]Now if I do what I do not want, [c]it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells within me.

[21][†]So I find it to be a law that when I want to do right, evil lies close at hand. [22]For [d]I delight in the law of God, [e]in my inner being, [23]but I see in my members [f]another law waging war against the law of my mind and making me captive to the law of sin that dwells in my members. [24][†]Wretched man that I am! Who will deliver me from [g]this body of death? [25]Thanks be to God through Jesus Christ our Lord! So then, I myself serve the law of God with my mind, but with my flesh I serve the law of sin.

Life in the Spirit

ROMANS 8 [†]There is therefore now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus. [1] [2][†]For the law of [h]the Spirit of life [i]has set you [2] free in Christ Jesus from the law of sin and death. [3][†]For [j]God has done what the law, [k]weakened by the flesh, [l]could not do. [m]By sending his own Son [n]in the likeness of sinful flesh and [o]for sin, [3] he condemned sin in the flesh, [4][†]in order that [p]the righteous requirement of the law might be fulfilled in us, [q]who walk not according to the flesh but according to the Spirit. [5]For [r]those who live according to the flesh set their minds on [s]the things of the flesh, but those who live according to the Spirit set their minds on [t]the things of the Spirit. [6][†]For to set [u]the mind on the flesh is death, but to set the mind on the Spirit is life and peace. [7]For the mind that is set on the flesh is [v]hostile to God, for it does not submit to God's law; [w]indeed, it cannot. [8][†]Those who are in the flesh cannot please God.

[9][†]You, however, are not in the flesh but in the Spirit, if in fact [x]the Spirit of God dwells in you. [y]Anyone who does not have [z]the Spirit of Christ does not belong to him. [10][†]But if Christ is in you, although the body is dead because of sin, the Spirit is life because of righteousness. [11]If the Spirit of [a]him who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, he who raised Christ Jesus [4] from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies [b]through his Spirit who dwells in you.

Heirs with Christ

[12]So then, brothers, [5] we are debtors, [c]not to the flesh, to live according to the flesh. [13][†]For if you live according to the flesh you will die, but if by the Spirit you [d]put to death the deeds of the body, you will live. [14]For all who are [e]led by the Spirit of God are [f]sons [6] of God. [15][†]For [g]you did not receive [h]the spirit of slavery to fall back into fear, but you have received the Spirit of [i]adoption as sons, by whom we cry, [j]“Abba! Father!” [16][k]The Spirit himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God, [17][†]and if children, then [l]heirs—heirs of God and fellow heirs with Christ, [m]provided we suffer with him in order that we may also be glorified with him.

Future Glory

[18][†]For I consider that the sufferings of this present time [n]are not worth comparing with the glory that is to be revealed to us. [19]For the creation waits with eager longing for [o]the revealing of the sons of God. [20][†]For the creation [p]was subjected to futility, not willingly, but [q]because of him who subjected it, in hope [21]that [r]the creation itself will be set free from its bondage to corruption and obtain the freedom of the glory of the children of God. [22][†]For we know that [s]the whole creation [t]has been groaning together in the pains of childbirth until now. [23][†]And not only the creation, but we ourselves, who have [u]the firstfruits of the Spirit, [v]groan inwardly as [w]we wait eagerly for adoption as sons, [x]the redemption of our bodies. [24]For [y]in this hope we were saved. Now [z]hope that is seen is not hope. For who hopes for what he sees? [25]But if we hope for what we do not see, we [a]wait for it with patience.

[26][†]Likewise the Spirit helps us in our weakness. For [b]we do not know what to pray for as we ought, but [c]the Spirit himself intercedes for us with groanings too deep for words. [27]And [d]he who searches hearts knows what is [e]the mind of the Spirit, because [7] the Spirit [f]intercedes for the saints [g]according to the will of God. [28][†]And we know that for those who love God all things work together [h]for good, [8] for [i]those who are called according to his purpose. [29][†]For those whom he [j]foreknew he also [k]predestined [l]to be conformed to the image of his Son, in order that he might be [m]the firstborn among many brothers. [30][†]And those whom he predestined he also called, and those whom he called he also [n]justified, and those whom he justified he also [o]glorified.

God’s Everlasting Love

[31]What then shall we say to these things? [p]If God is for us, who can be [9] against us? [32][q]He who did not spare his own Son but [r]gave him up for us all, how will he not also with him graciously give us all things? [33][†]Who shall bring any charge against God’s elect? [s]It is God who justifies. [34][†][t]Who is to condemn? Christ Jesus is the one who died—more than that, who was raised—[u]who is at the right hand of God, [v]who indeed is interceding for us. [10] 35Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or danger, or sword? 36As it is written,

> [w]"For your sake [x]we are being killed all the day long;
> we are regarded as sheep to be slaughtered."

37No, in all these things we are more than [y]conquerors through [z]him who loved us. 38[†]For I am sure that neither death nor life, nor angels nor rulers, nor things present nor things to come, nor powers, 39nor height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord.

God's Sovereign Choice

ROMANS 9 [†] [a]I am speaking the truth in Christ—I am not lying; my conscience bears me witness in the Holy Spirit— 2that I have great sorrow and unceasing anguish in my heart. 3For [b]I could wish that I myself were [c]accursed and cut off from Christ for the sake of my brothers, [1] my kinsmen [d]according to the flesh. 4[†]They are [e]Israelites, and to them belong [f]the adoption, [g]the glory, [h]the covenants, [i]the giving of the law, [j]the worship, and [k]the promises. 5[†]To them belong [l]the patriarchs, and from their race, according to the flesh, is the Christ, [m]who is God over all, [n]blessed forever. Amen.

6[†]But it is not as though the word of God has failed. For not all who are descended from Israel belong to Israel, 7and not all are children of Abraham [o]because they are his offspring, but [p]"Through Isaac shall your offspring be named." 8This means that it is not the children of the flesh who are the children of God, but [q]the children of the promise are counted as offspring. 9[†]For this is what the promise said: [r]"About this time next year I will return, and Sarah shall have a son." 10And not only so, but [s]also when Rebekah had conceived children by one man, our forefather Isaac, 11[†]though they were not yet born and had done nothing either good or bad —in order that God's purpose of election might continue, not because of works but because of [t] him who calls— [12]she was told, [u] “The older will serve the younger.” [13]As it is written, [v] “Jacob I loved, but Esau I hated.”

[14][†]What shall we say then? [w] Is there injustice on God’s part? By no means! [15]For he says to Moses, [x] “I will have mercy on whom I have mercy, and I will have compassion on whom I have compassion.” [16]So then it depends not on human will or exertion, [2] but on God, who has mercy. [17][†]For the Scripture says to Pharaoh, [y] “For this very purpose I have raised you up, that I might show my power in you, and that my name might be proclaimed in all the earth.” [18]So then he has mercy on whomever he wills, and he hardens whomever he wills.

[19][†]You will say to me then, “Why does he still find fault? For [z] who can resist his will?” [20][†]But who are you, O man, [a] to answer back to God? [b] Will what is molded say to its molder, “Why have you made me like this?” [21] [c] Has the potter no right over the clay, to make out of the same lump [d] one vessel for honorable use and another for dishonorable use? [22][†]What if God, desiring to show his wrath and to make known his power, has endured with much patience [e] vessels of wrath [f] prepared for destruction, [23]in order to make known [g] the riches of his glory for vessels of mercy, which he [h] has prepared beforehand for glory— [24]even us whom he [i] has called, [j] not from the Jews only but also from the Gentiles? [25][†]As indeed he says in Hosea, > [k] “Those who were not my people I will call ‘my people,’ > and her who was not beloved I will call ‘beloved.’” > [26] [l] “And in the very place where it was said to them, ‘You are not my people,’ > there they will be called [m] ‘sons of the living God.’”

[27][†]And Isaiah cries out concerning Israel: [n] “Though the number of the sons of Israel [3] be as the sand of the sea, [o] only a remnant of them will be saved, [28]for the Lord will carry out his sentence upon the earth fully and without delay.” [29]And as Isaiah predicted,

> [p] [q] “If the Lord of hosts had not left us offspring,

[r] we would have been like Sodom and become like Gomorrah."

Israel's Unbelief

30[†]What shall we say, then? [s] That Gentiles who did not pursue righteousness have attained it, that is, [t] a righteousness that is by faith; 31but that Israel [u] who pursued a law that would lead to righteousness [4] [v] did not succeed in reaching that law. 32[†]Why? Because they did not pursue it by faith, but as if it were based on works. They have stumbled over the [w] stumbling stone, 33[†]as it is written,

[x] "Behold, I am laying in Zion [y] a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offense;
[z] and whoever believes in him will not be [a] put to shame."

ROMANS 10 Brothers, [1] my heart's desire and prayer to God for them is that they may be saved. 2[†]For I bear them witness that [b] they have a zeal for God, [c] but not according to knowledge. 3[†]For, being ignorant of [d] the righteousness of God, and seeking to establish their own, they did not submit to God's righteousness. 4[†]For [e] Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to everyone who believes. [2]

The Message of Salvation to All

5[†]For [f] Moses writes about the righteousness that is based on the law, that [g] the person who does the commandments shall live by them. 6[†]But [h] the righteousness based on faith says, [i] "Do not say in your heart, 'Who will ascend into heaven?'" (that is, to bring Christ down) 7"or 'Who will descend into the [j] abyss?'" (that is, [k] to bring Christ up from the dead). 8But what does it say? [l] "The word is near you, in your mouth and in your heart" (that is, the word of faith that we proclaim); 9[†]because, if [m] you confess with your mouth that Jesus is Lord and [n] believe in your heart [o] that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved. 10For with the heart one believes and is justified, and with the mouth one confesses and is saved.

11[†]For the Scripture says, [p]“Everyone who believes in him will not be put to shame.” 12 [q]For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek; [r]for the same Lord is Lord of all, [s]bestowing his riches on all who call on him. 13For [t]“everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved.”

14[†]How then will they call on him in whom they have not believed? And how are they to believe in him [u]of whom they have never heard? [3] And how are they to hear [v]without someone preaching? 15And how are they to preach unless they are sent? As it is written, [w]“How beautiful are the feet of those who preach the good news!” 16[†]But [x]they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Isaiah says, [y]“Lord, who has believed what he has heard from us?” 17[†]So [z]faith comes from hearing, and hearing through the word of Christ.

18[†]But I ask, have they not heard? Indeed they have, for [a]“Their voice has gone out [b]to all the earth, and their words to the ends of the world.”

19But I ask, did Israel not understand? First Moses says, [c]“I will [d]make you jealous of those who are not a nation;

with a [e]foolish nation I will make you angry.”

20[†]Then Isaiah is so bold as to say,

[f]“I have been found by those who did not seek me;
I have shown myself to those who did not ask for me.”

21But of Israel he says, [g]“All day long I have held out my hands to a disobedient and contrary people.”

The Remnant of Israel

ROMANS 11 [†]I ask, then, [h] has God rejected his people? By no means! For [i] I myself am an Israelite, a descendant of Abraham, [1] a member of the tribe of Benjamin. [2][†] [j] God has not rejected his people whom he [k] foreknew. Do you not know what the Scripture says of Elijah, how he appeals to God against Israel? [3][†] [l] "Lord, they have killed your prophets, they have demolished your altars, and I alone am left, and they seek my life." [4]But what is God's reply to him? [m] "I have kept for myself seven thousand men who have not bowed the knee to Baal." [5]So too at the present time there is [n] a remnant, chosen by grace. [6] [o] But if it is by grace, it is no longer on the basis of works; otherwise grace would no longer be grace.

[7][†]What then? [p] Israel failed to obtain what it was seeking. The elect obtained it, but the rest [q] were hardened, [8]as it is written,

[r] "God gave them a spirit of stupor,
  [s] eyes that would not see and ears that would not hear, down to this very day."

[9]And David says,

[t] "Let their table become a snare and a trap,
  a stumbling block and a retribution for them; [10] let their eyes be darkened so that they cannot see,
  and bend their backs forever."

Gentiles Grafted In

[11][†]So I ask, did they stumble in order that they might fall? By no means! Rather through their trespass [u] salvation has come to the Gentiles, so as to make Israel jealous. [12][†]Now if their trespass means riches for the world, and if their failure means riches for the Gentiles, how much more will their full inclusion [2] mean!

[13]Now I am speaking to you Gentiles. Inasmuch then as [v]I am an apostle to the Gentiles, I magnify my ministry [14]in order somehow to make my fellow Jews jealous, and [w]thus save some of them. [15][†]For if their rejection means [x]the reconciliation of the world, what will their acceptance mean but life from the dead? [16][†][y]If the dough offered as firstfruits is holy, so is the whole lump, and if the root is holy, so are the branches.

[17][†]But if [z]some of the branches were broken off, and you, [a]although a wild olive shoot, were grafted in among the others and now share in the nourishing root [3] of the olive tree, [18][†]do not be arrogant toward the branches. If you are, remember it is not you who support the root, but the root that supports you. [19]Then you will say, “Branches were broken off so that I might be grafted in.” [20]That is true. They were broken off because of their unbelief, but you [b]stand fast through faith. So [c]do not become proud, but [d]fear. [21][†]For if God did not spare the natural branches, neither will he spare you. [22][†]Note then the kindness and the severity of God: severity toward those who have fallen, but God’s kindness to you, [e]provided you continue in his kindness. Otherwise [f]you too will be cut off. [23]And [g]even they, if they do not continue in their unbelief, will be grafted in, for God has the power to graft them in again. [24]For if you were cut from what is by nature a wild olive tree, and grafted, contrary to nature, into a cultivated olive tree, how much more will these, the natural branches, be grafted back into their own olive tree.

The Mystery of Israel’s Salvation

[25][†][h]Lest you be wise in your own sight, I do not want you to be unaware of this mystery, brothers: [4] [i]a partial hardening has come upon Israel, [j]until the fullness of the Gentiles has come in. [26][†]And in this way all Israel will be saved, as it is written,

[k]“The Deliverer will come [l]from Zion, he will banish ungodliness from Jacob”;
27 “and this will be my [m]covenant with them
[n]when I take away their sins.”

[28][†]As regards the gospel, they are enemies for your sake. But as regards election, they are [o]beloved for the sake of their forefathers. [29][†]For the gifts and [p]the calling of God are irrevocable. [30][†]For just as [q]you were at one time disobedient to God but now have received mercy because of their disobedience, [31]so they too have now been disobedient in order that by the mercy shown to you they also may now [5] receive mercy. [32][†]For God [r]has consigned all to disobedience, that he may have mercy on all.

[33]Oh, the depth of the riches and [s]wisdom and knowledge of God! [t]How unsearchable are his judgments and how inscrutable his ways!

[34][†] “For [u]who has known the mind of the Lord, or [v]who has been his counselor?” [35] “Or [w]who has given a gift to him that he might be repaid?”

[36]For [x]from him and through him and to him are all things. [y]To him be glory forever. Amen.

A Living Sacrifice

ROMANS 12 [†][z]I appeal to you therefore, brothers, [1] by the mercies of God, [a]to present your bodies [b]as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable to God, which is your spiritual worship. [2] [2][†][c]Do not be conformed to this world, [3] but be transformed by [d]the renewal of your mind, that by testing you may [e]discern what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect. [4]

Gifts of Grace

[3]For [f]by the grace given to me I say to everyone among you [g]not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think, but to think with sober judgment, [h]each according to [i]the measure of faith that God has assigned. [4][†]For [j]as in one body we have many members, [5] and the members do not all have the same function, [5]so we, [k]though many, [l]are one body in Christ, and individually [m]members one of another. [6][†][n]Having gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, let us use them: if [o] prophecy, [p] in proportion to our faith; [7][†]if [q] service, in our serving; the one who teaches, in his teaching; [8]the one who exhorts, in his exhortation; the one who contributes, in generosity; [r] the one who leads, [6] with zeal; the one who does acts of mercy, with [s] cheerfulness.

Marks of the True Christian

[9][†] [t] Let love be genuine. [u] Abhor what is evil; hold fast to what is good. [10] [v] Love one another with brotherly affection. [w] Outdo one another in showing honor. [11]Do not be slothful in zeal, [x] be fervent in spirit, [7] [y] serve the Lord. [12] [z] Rejoice in hope, [a] be patient in tribulation, [b] be constant in prayer. [13][†] [c] Contribute to the needs of the saints and [d] seek to show hospitality.

[14][†] [e] Bless those who persecute you; bless and do not curse them. [15] [f] Rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep. [16] [g] Live in harmony with one another. [h] Do not be haughty, but associate with the lowly. [8] [i] Never be wise in your own sight. [17][†] [j] Repay no one evil for evil, but [k] give thought to do what is honorable in the sight of all. [18]If possible, so far as it depends on you, [l] live peaceably with all. [19]Beloved, [m] never avenge yourselves, but leave it [9] to the wrath of God, for it is written, [n] “Vengeance is mine, I will repay, says the Lord.” [20][†]To the contrary, [o] “if your enemy is hungry, feed him; if he is thirsty, give him something to drink; for by so doing you will heap burning coals on his head.” [21]Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good.

Submission to the Authorities

ROMANS 13 [†]Let every person [p] be subject to the governing authorities. For [q] there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God. [2]Therefore whoever resists the authorities resists what God has appointed, and those who resist will incur judgment. [3][†]For rulers are not a terror to good conduct, but to bad. Would you have no fear of the one who is in authority? Then do what is good, and you [r] will receive his approval, [4][†]for [s] he is God’s servant for your good. But if you do wrong, be afraid, for he does not bear the sword in vain. For he is the servant of God, [t] an avenger who carries out God’s wrath on the wrongdoer. [5][†]Therefore one must be in subjection, not only to avoid God’s wrath but also [u] for the sake of conscience. [6]For because of this you also pay taxes, for the authorities are ministers of God, attending to this very thing. [7] [v] Pay to all what is owed to them: taxes to whom taxes are owed, revenue to whom revenue is owed, respect to whom respect is owed, honor to whom honor is owed.

Fulfilling the Law Through Love

[8][†] [w] Owe no one anything, except to love each other, for [x] the one who loves another has fulfilled the law. [9][†]For the commandments, [y] “You shall not commit adultery, You shall not murder, You shall not steal, You shall not covet,” and any other commandment, are summed up in this word: [z] “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.” [10]Love does no wrong to a neighbor; therefore [a] love is the fulfilling of the law.

[11][†]Besides this you know the time, that the hour has come for you [b] to wake from sleep. [c] For salvation is nearer to us now than when we first believed. [12] [d] The night is far gone; the day is at hand. So then let us [e] cast off [f] the works of darkness and [g] put on the armor of light. [13] [h] Let us walk properly as in the daytime, [i] not in orgies and drunkenness, not in sexual immorality and sensuality, [j] not in quarreling and jealousy. [14][†]But [k] put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh, [l] to gratify its desires.

Do Not Pass Judgment on One Another

ROMANS 14 [†]As for [m] the one who is weak in faith, welcome him, but not to quarrel over opinions. [2][†] [n] One person believes he may eat anything, while the weak person eats only vegetables. [3]Let not the one who eats despise the one who abstains, and [o] let not the one who abstains pass judgment on the one who eats, for God has welcomed him. [4][†] [p] Who are you to pass judgment on the servant of another? It is before his own master [1] that he stands or falls. And he will be upheld, for the Lord is able to make him stand.

[5][†] [q] One person esteems one day as better than another, while another esteems all days alike. [r] Each one should be fully convinced in his own mind. [6]The one who observes the day, observes it in honor of the Lord. The one who eats, eats in honor of the Lord, since [s] he gives thanks to God, while the one who abstains, abstains in honor of the Lord and gives thanks to God. [7]For [t] none of us lives to himself, and none of us dies to himself. [8]For if we live, we live to the Lord, and if we die, we die to the Lord. So then, [u] whether we live or whether we die, we are the Lord's. [9]For to this end Christ [v] died and lived again, that he might be Lord both [w] of the dead and of the living.

[10][†]Why do you pass judgment on your brother? Or you, why do you despise your brother? For [w] we will all stand before [x] the judgment seat of God; [11]for it is written,

> [y] "As I live, says the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, > and every tongue shall confess [2] to God."

[12]So then [z] each of us will give an account of himself to God.

Do Not Cause Another to Stumble

[13] [a] Therefore let us not pass judgment on one another any longer, but rather decide [b] never to put a stumbling block or hindrance in the way of a brother. [14][†]I know and am persuaded in the Lord Jesus [c] that nothing is unclean in itself, [d] but it is unclean for anyone who thinks it unclean. [15][†]For if your brother is grieved by what you eat, [e] you are no longer walking in love. [f] By what you eat, do not destroy the one for whom Christ died. [16] [g] So do not let what you regard as good be spoken of as evil. [17] [h] For the kingdom of God is not a matter of eating and drinking but [i] of righteousness and [j] peace and joy in the Holy Spirit. [18]Whoever thus serves Christ is [k] acceptable to God and approved by men. [19]So then let us [l] pursue what makes for peace and for [m] mutual upbuilding.

[20][†] [n]Do not, for the sake of food, destroy the work of God. [o]Everything is indeed clean, but [p]it is wrong for anyone to make another stumble by what he eats. [21] [q]It is good not to eat meat or drink wine or do anything that causes your brother to stumble. [3] [22][†]The faith that you have, keep between yourself and God. [r]Blessed is the one who has no reason to pass judgment on himself for what he approves. [23][†]But whoever has doubts is condemned if he eats, because the eating is not from faith. For whatever does not proceed from faith is sin. [4]

The Example of Christ

ROMANS 15 [†] [s]We who are strong [t]have an obligation to bear with the failings of the weak, and not to please ourselves. [2] [u]Let each of us please his neighbor for his good, to build him up. [3]For [v]Christ did not please himself, but as it is written, [w]“The reproaches of those who reproached you fell on me.” [4][†]For [x]whatever was written in former days was written for our [y]instruction, that through endurance and through [z]the encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope. [5]May the God of endurance and encouragement grant you [a]to live in such harmony with one another, in accord with Christ Jesus, [6]that together you may with one voice glorify [b]the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. [7]Therefore welcome one another as Christ has welcomed you, for the glory of God.

Christ the Hope of Jews and Gentiles

[8][†]For I tell you that Christ [c]became a servant to the circumcised to show God’s truthfulness, in order [d]to confirm the promises given to the patriarchs, [9][†]and in order [e]that the Gentiles might glorify God for his mercy. As it is written,

[f]“Therefore I will praise you among the Gentiles, and sing to your name.”

[10]And again it is said,

[g]“Rejoice, O Gentiles, with his people.”

11And again,

[h]“Praise the Lord, all you Gentiles, and let all the peoples extol him.”

12And again Isaiah says,

[i] [j]“The root of Jesse will come,
even he who arises to rule the Gentiles;
[k]in him will the Gentiles hope.”

13May the God of hope fill you with all [l]joy and peace in believing, so that by the power of the Holy Spirit you may abound in hope.

Paul the Minister to the Gentiles

14[†] [m]I myself am satisfied about you, my brothers, [1] that you yourselves are full of goodness, filled with [n]all knowledge and able to instruct one another. 15But on some points I have written to you very boldly by way of reminder, [o]because of the grace given me by God 16[†]to be [p]a minister of Christ Jesus to the Gentiles [q]in the priestly service of the gospel of God, so that [r]the offering of the Gentiles may be acceptable, sanctified by the Holy Spirit. 17In Christ Jesus, then, I have [s]reason to be proud of [t]my work for God. 18For I will not venture to speak of anything except [u]what Christ has accomplished through me [v]to bring the Gentiles to obedience—by word and deed, 19[†] [w]by the power of signs and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God—so that [x]from Jerusalem and all the way around [y]to Illyricum I have fulfilled the ministry of the gospel of Christ; 20[†]and thus I make it my ambition to preach the gospel, not where Christ has already been named, [z]lest I build on someone else’s foundation, 21but as it is written,

[a]“Those who have never been told of him will see,
and those who have never heard will understand.”

Paul's Plan to Visit Rome

22[†]This is the reason why [b] I have so often been hindered from coming to you. 23But now, since I no longer have any room for work in these regions, and [c] since I have longed for many years to come to you, 24I hope to see you in passing as I go [d] to Spain, and [e] to be helped on my journey there by you, once I have enjoyed your company for a while. 25[†]At present, however, [f] I am going to Jerusalem bringing aid to the saints. 26[†]For [g] Macedonia and Achaia have been pleased to make some contribution for the poor among the saints at Jerusalem. 27[†]For they were pleased to do it, and indeed [h] they owe it to them. For if the Gentiles have come to share in their spiritual blessings, they ought also to be of service to them in material blessings. 28When therefore I have completed this and have delivered to them what has been collected, [2] I will leave [i] for Spain by way of you. 29I know that when I come to you I will come in the fullness of the blessing [3] of Christ.

30I appeal to you, brothers, by our Lord Jesus Christ and by [j] the love of the Spirit, [k] to strive together with me in your prayers to God on my behalf, 31[†] [l] that I may be delivered from the unbelievers in Judea, and that [m] my service for Jerusalem may be acceptable to the saints, 32so that by God's will I may come to you with joy and [n] be refreshed in your company. 33May [o] the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

Personal Greetings

ROMANS 16 [†]I commend to you our sister Phoebe, a servant [1] of the church at [p] Cenchreae, 2[†]that you [q] may welcome her in the Lord in a way worthy of the saints, and help her in whatever she may need from you, for she has been a patron of many and of myself as well.

3[†]Greet [r] Prisca and Aquila, my fellow workers in Christ Jesus, 4[†]who risked their necks for my life, to whom not only I give thanks but all the churches of the Gentiles give thanks as well. 5[†]Greet also [s] the church in their house. Greet my beloved Epaenetus, who was [t] the first convert [2] to Christ in Asia. 6Greet Mary, who has worked hard for you. 7[†]Greet Andronicus and Junia, [3] my kinsmen and my [u] fellow prisoners.

They are well known to the apostles, [4] and they were in Christ before me. 8[†]Greet Ampliatus, my beloved in the Lord. 9Greet Urbanus, our fellow worker in Christ, and my beloved Stachys. 10Greet Apelles, who is approved in Christ. Greet those [v] who belong to the family of Aristobulus. 11[†]Greet my kinsman Herodion. Greet those in the Lord who belong to the family of Narcissus. 12Greet those workers in the Lord, Tryphaena and Tryphosa. Greet the beloved Persis, who has worked hard in the Lord. 13[†]Greet Rufus, chosen in the Lord; also his mother, who has been a mother to me as well. 14Greet Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermes, Patrobas, Hermas, and the brothers [5] who are with them. 15Greet Philologus, Julia, Nereus and his sister, and Olympas, and all the saints who are with them. 16[†] [w] Greet one another with a holy kiss. All the churches of Christ greet you.

Final Instructions and Greetings

17I appeal to you, brothers, to watch out for those who cause divisions and create obstacles [x] contrary to the doctrine that you have been taught; [y] avoid them. 18For such persons do not serve our Lord Christ, but [z] their own appetites, [6] and [a] by smooth talk and flattery they deceive the hearts of the naive. 19For [b] your obedience is known to all, so that I rejoice over you, but I want you [c] to be wise as to what is good and innocent as to what is evil. 20[†] [d] The God of peace [e] will soon crush Satan under your feet. [f] The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

21[†] [g] Timothy, my fellow worker, greets you; so do Lucius and Jason and Sosipater, my kinsmen.

22[†]I Tertius, [h] who wrote this letter, greet you in the Lord.

23[†] [i] Gaius, who is host to me and to the whole church, greets you. Erastus, the city treasurer, and our brother Quartus, greet you. [7]

Doxology

25[†] [j] Now to him who is able to strengthen you [k] according to my gospel and the preaching of Jesus Christ, [l] according to the revelation of the mystery [m] that was kept secret for [n] long ages 26[†]but [o] has now been disclosed and through the prophetic writings has been made known to all nations, according to the command of the eternal God, [p] to bring about the obedience of faith— 27[†]to [q] the only wise God [r] be glory forevermore through Jesus Christ! Amen.

Study Notes for Romans

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:1–17 The Gospel as the Revelation of God's Righteousness. This first section includes Paul's opening greeting (vv. 1–7), thanksgiving (vv. 8–15), and statement of the letter's overall theme (vv. 16–17).

FACT

A letter to Rome. Because Romans is Paul's fullest explanation of his theology, it is easy to forget that Paul wrote it to a particular church in Rome. His letter applies the eternal truth of the gospel to their real-life concerns, but the letter applies today to people all around the globe, from all different kinds of backgrounds, because it is dealing with fundamental truths.

FACT

God's judgment. Global humanity's rejection of God is the root of all that is wrong with the world. Since Adam and Eve, everyone has responded to God's love by doing things he hates. Everyone deserves punishment, but God offers forgiveness through Christ (see 3:23–24).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:1–7 This is the longest introduction of any of Paul's letters. He has never been to Rome, so he summarizes the gospel for his Roman readers. Many of the things he mentions here are also in the final verses of his letter (16:25–27): (1) Paul's apostolic authority; (2) how the gospel fulfills OT Scriptures; (3) how the gospel centers on Jesus Christ; (4) the obedience of faith; (5) Paul's mission to the Gentiles; and (6) the glory of Jesus Christ and God the Father.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:1 Servant indicates that Paul is a "bondservant" of Christ (see note on 1 Cor. 7:21; and Preface). It also recalls the honored servants of God in the OT, such as Moses, Joshua, David, and the prophets. apostle. Paul's authority is equal to that of the 11 original apostles chosen by Christ (Matt. 10:1–7; Acts 1:24–26; Gal. 1:1), who had seen him after his resurrection (Acts 1:22; 1 Cor. 9:1; 15:7–9). They established and governed the whole church, under Christ's authority. They had authority to speak and write the words of God, and what they wrote was equal in authority to the OT Scriptures (1 Cor.

14:37; 1 Thess. 2:13). Paul was called to be an apostle when Jesus appeared to him on the Damascus road (Acts 9; 22; 26). Gospel means “good news.” This includes the call to saving faith and the message of how Jesus transforms all of life and all of history.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:2–3 Jesus fulfilled the OT prophecy that a descendant of David would rule forever. He is the Messiah (see 2 Sam. 7:12–16; Psalm 132; Isa. 11:1–5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:4 As the eternal Son of God, Jesus has reigned forever with the Father and the Holy Spirit. “Son of God” was a Jewish title for the Messiah. Christ’s reign as Messiah began when he was raised from the dead according to the Spirit of holiness (through the Holy Spirit).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:5 Paul’s mission is to all humanity. His goal is to bring about the obedience of faith (see 16:26). Saving faith results in obedience.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:7 loved by God and called. God shows his love by calling his people to himself. All believers are God’s saints, his “holy ones.” Grace means God’s unmerited favor. Peace is not just the absence of conflict. It echoes the OT concept of blessing, in which the person and community are well and whole in all aspects of life.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:8 thank. Paul typically follows the greeting in his letters with a thanksgiving (compare 1 Cor. 1:1–9; Phil. 1:1–8). He is thankful because the kingdom of God is advancing throughout all the world. It is no longer confined to the Jews but has also spread to the Gentiles.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:13 Paul neither “planted” nor “watered” the church at Rome (see 1 Cor. 3:6), but he still rejoices in the harvest of their increased maturity and obedience.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:14 Paul was under an obligation to Jesus Christ, who appointed him to be the apostle to the Gentiles. Greeks. Those who spoke Greek and adopted Greek culture in the Greco-Roman world. barbarians. Those outside of Greek culture.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:15 preach the gospel to you also. The gospel is not just the initial call to saving faith. It is also the call to keep on walking by faith (6:4; 8:4; 2 Cor. 5:17).

Rome in the Time of Paul (c. A.D. 60)

The city plan below shows most of the features of the city of Rome that archaeologists have so far identified as dating from the time of Paul. Sections of the city would have been very impressive in his time, but most of the outstanding buildings visible in Rome today date to after his death.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:16 Jew first. The Jews have priority in salvation history because they are God’s chosen people. See chs. 9–11. Greek refers here to all Gentiles.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:17 The righteousness of God most likely means “righteousness from God.” It reflects a right standing before God that is given to people by God (see Phil. 3:9). The phrase likely has this meaning in Rom. 3:21–22 and 2 Cor. 5:21 as well (see notes on those verses). However, the expression probably also refers to God’s righteous moral character. This is seen in his holiness and justice. It is also seen in the way that his act of saving sinners through Christ's death meets the just demand of his holy nature. From faith for faith probably means that right standing with God is by faith from start to finish. shall live by faith. People receive the gift of salvation by faith. It is also by faith that they live each day. See Hab. 2:4.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:18–3:20 God's Righteousness in His Wrath against Sinners. God's wrath is rightly revealed against all people, since all have sinned (3:23). Paul describes the sinfulness of the Gentiles (1:18–32), and the Jews (2:1–3:8), and of all people, Jew and Gentile alike (3:9–20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:18 The wrath of God refers to his personal anger against sin. God's anger is his holy response to rejection of his love and law.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:19–20 things that have been made. The entire natural world reveals God through its beauty, complexity, design, and usefulness. without excuse. God has given sufficient evidence of his existence and character.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:21 they knew God. All people know God exists. They also know a lot about him, even if they do not have a saving knowledge of him.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:22 Even brilliant people who do not honor God miss the whole purpose of life and are therefore fools (see Prov. 1:7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:23 Idolatry is the most basic sin. In addition to the images housed in great temples, Roman families commonly kept images of "house gods" in their homes. People today still devote their lives to, and trust in, many things other than God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:24 Three times Paul says God gave them up to sin (vv. 24, 26, 28). Each time the "giving up" is a reaction to idolatry. The idol worshiper refuses to recognize that God our Maker is the center of all existence. He worships the "creature" rather than the "Creator" (v. 25).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:25 exchanged the truth about God for a lie. All non-Christian religions are based on false ideas about God. They are not just "different paths" to God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:26–27 Not only homosexual acts but also homosexual passions or desires are dishonorable before God. Just as idolatry is unnatural (contrary to what God intended), so too homosexuality is contrary to nature. God made men and women with physical bodies that have a "natural" way of interacting with each other. Men . . . with men includes all homosexual relationships, not just those generally considered abusive. Due penalty could refer to the sin of homosexuality itself. Or, the "and" in and receiving may indicate some additional negative consequences received in themselves, that is, some form of spiritual, emotional, or physical disorder.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:32 People do not generally sin in innocent ignorance. They know God's righteous decree (at least in an instinctive way) that their evildoing deserves punishment.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:1–29 Most interpreters say that Paul focuses on the sin of the Jews throughout this chapter. Another view is that the sin of the moral person (whether Jewish or Gentile) who judges others is condemned in vv. 1–16, while Jews alone are condemned in vv. 17–29.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:4 Do you presume is probably addressed to Jews who thought that their covenant relationship with God would save them from final judgment. They thought that his kindness and forbearance and patience showed that they were right with him and had no need for Christ. Paul says God's blessings should have led them to repent of their sins.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:5 A soft and repentant heart is needed to avoid God's wrath on the day of wrath, the final judgment. Such repentance leads a person to trust in Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of sins. Unfortunately, most people are storing up wrath for themselves on that final day.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:6–11 Paul establishes the principle that God judges according to . . . works. In doing so, he shows no partiality.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:12 All will be judged according to the standard they had. Gentiles will perish (face final judgment) because of their sin (see vv. 14–15) even though they are without the law (the written laws of the OT). Jews, who possess the law, will be judged for their transgressions against it.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:14–16 For Gentiles, God's law is written on their hearts. Their consciences show what is right or wrong in their behavior. Paul does not imply that the human conscience is always a perfect moral guide (see 1 Cor. 8:7, 10; 10:29). But its existence is enough to make people accountable to God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:16 my gospel. Not Paul's alone, but the gospel that he preaches.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:21–24 The Jews fail to practice the law they proclaim. Thus they will face judgment.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:22 rob temples. Robbing temples was a common crime in the ancient world because temples contained expensive items that could be sold for profit.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:24 Because they violated the law, the Jews were exiled by God. Their military and political defeats dishonored God because they were known as his people. Although the Jews did not face exile in Paul's day, their sins still led Gentiles to dishonor the God they claimed to follow.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:25–26 The Jews tended to believe that they would be spared at the last judgment because of their circumcision (Gen. 17:9–14; Lev. 12:3). uncircumcision. Paul argues, however, that Jews who violate the law are considered by God to be uncircumcised. They are outside the covenant and headed for judgment. Circumcision would be of value for salvation if the circumcised would obey the law perfectly, but no one can do that. Paul takes up the issue of circumcision again in Rom. 4:9–16.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:27 The written code refers to OT laws.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:28–29 In striking contrast to Jewish beliefs of his day, Paul claims that true Jewishness and genuine circumcision are not ethnic or physical matters. Rather, they are matters of the heart. They are the work of the Holy Spirit. This letter/Spirit contrast compares the old era of redemptive history with the new age begun by Jesus Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:1 Now Paul raises the logical question of whether there is any advantage or value in being an ethnic Jew and being physically circumcised. He probably means "value for salvation."

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:2 One might expect Paul to answer that there is no advantage in being a Jew (see v. 1). Instead, he claims that the Jews have great advantages, mainly in possessing the oracles of God, which refers to the OT Scriptures. On the Jews being entrusted with the oracles of God, see Deut. 4:8; 5:22–27; Ps. 147:20.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:3–4 Even though most Jews were unfaithful and refused to trust and obey God, he remains faithful to them. God will fulfill his covenant promises, particularly his promise to save them. Paul does not mean that every single Jew will be saved, though. He discusses God's faithfulness to the Jews more fully in chs. 9–11.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:5–8 Some of Paul's Jewish opponents claimed that he taught a doctrine of "cheap grace," that is, that God receives more glory when Christians do evil and then are forgiven. Paul emphatically denies this but waits until ch. 6 to discuss this charge in more detail.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:9 Greeks. The entire Gentile world in contrast to the Jews.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:10–12 Paul focuses on the sinfulness of every human being, citing Ps. 14:1–3 and perhaps thinking of Eccles. 7:20. no one does good. Human beings do some things that seem to be good. But these actions, prior to salvation, are still stained by evil because they are not done for God's glory (Rom. 1:21) and do not come from faith (14:23).

OT Testimony that All Are under Sin (3:9)

Romans 3	OT Reference
Sinful Condition
v. 10, none is righteous	Ps. 14:3/53:3; Eccles. 7:20
v. 11a, no one understands	Ps. 14:2/53:2
v. 11b, no one seeks for God	Ps. 14:2/53:2
v. 12, all have turned aside; together they have become worthless; no one does good, not even one	Ps. 14:3/53:3
Sinful Speech (note progression from throat to tongue to lips)
v. 13a, b, their throat is an open grave; they use their tongues to deceive	Ps. 5:10, Septuagint (English, 5:9)
v. 13c, the venom of asps is under their lips	Ps. 140:3
v. 14, their mouth is full of curses and bitterness	Ps. 10:7
Sinful Action
v. 15, their feet are swift to shed blood	Prov. 1:16/Isa. 59:7
v. 16, in their paths are ruin and misery	Isa. 59:7
v. 17, and the way of peace they have not known	Isa. 59:8
Summary Statement
v. 18, there is no fear of God before their eyes	Ps. 36:1

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:13–14 Paul quotes from Ps. 5:9 and 10:7. The reference to the grave highlights either the corruption of the heart or the deadly effects of sin.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:15–17 Paul draws from Isa. 59:7–8 to show how human history includes murder, war, and disorder.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:18 The root cause of sin is failure to fear and honor God (Ps. 36:1).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:19–20 These verses represent the conclusion of vv. 9–18 and all of 1:18–3:20. All humans, without exception, are sinners.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:19 law. The Mosaic law.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:20 Works of the law means all that the law requires. Justified is a legal term meaning "declared righteous" (see note on Gal. 2:16).

FACT

What does it mean to be "justified"? To be justified means to be declared righteous before God. It means that, as the divine judge, God looks on those who are in Jesus and declares them "guilty as charged, but pardoned and accepted."

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:21–4:25 The Saving Righteousness of God. Paul now explains that people can have a right standing with God only through faith in the atoning work of Jesus on the cross.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:21 The righteousness of God has been shown now, in the period of salvation history that began with Jesus' death and resurrection. On the righteousness of God, see note on 1:17. By God's saving acts in Christ, humans may stand in the right before God, the divine judge. apart from the law. Righteousness is not based on obeying the law. Yet the Law and the Prophets bear witness to it. The OT Scriptures looked forward to salvation through Christ (see 1:2).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:24 The word redemption recalls the exodus and the blood of the Passover lamb (see Exodus 12–15; Eph. 1:7; Col. 1:14). On justification, see note on Gal. 2:16.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:25 Jesus’ blood “propitiated” or satisfied God’s wrath (1:18). Thus he could forgive sinners while also maintaining his holiness. Some scholars argue that the word propitiation should be translated expiation (the wiping away of sin), but the word refers to the satisfaction of God’s wrath, turning it from wrath to favor. God’s righteous anger needed to be satisfied before sin could be forgiven. God in his love sent his Son to meet the demands of God’s holy anger against sin. God’s justice was questioned because he had patiently overlooked former sins. But Paul says that God knew Christ’s death would happen, where the full payment for the guilt of sin would be made.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:26 In the cross of Christ, God has shown himself to be just (utterly holy, so that the penalty demanded by the law is not removed but is paid by Christ). He is also the justifier of all those who trust in Jesus. That is, he provides the means of justification and declares people to be in right standing with himself. Here is the heart of the Christian faith, for at the cross God’s justice and love meet.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:27 The word law in this verse probably means principle, though some think it refers to the OT law.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:28 Justification is by faith alone, apart from . . . the law. It does not depend at all on doing any works of the law.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:29–30 Since God is the Lord of all, whether Jews or Gentiles, there can be only one way of justification—by faith.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:31 Although Paul supports the lasting moral teachings of the law (uphold), he knows that some will accuse him of abandoning it (overthrow). He will defend himself against such charges in chs. 6–7.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:1–25 Abraham, the father of the Jewish people, is presented as a test case for the view that justification is by faith alone.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:3 Abraham had a right standing before God by believing, not by doing (Gen. 15:6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:6–8 Paul introduces David as a second example of righteousness by faith, citing Ps. 32:1–2.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:11 sign . . . seal. Circumcision proved the righteousness by faith that Abraham had before his circumcision.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:13–14 The world to come is another term for the final salvation that will be given to Abraham and all believers (see Heb. 11:10–16; Revelation 21–22). If the inheritance is gained by observing the law, then righteousness is no longer by faith but by works.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:15 transgression. The violation of a revealed command. The Jews, who had the written law, had even greater responsibility for their sin. Paul argues elsewhere that sin also exists where no written law is involved; see 2:12, and note on 5:13.

FACT

Transgression means to disobey a specific command from God. It could refer to a violation of a command in the written law of God (4:15) or to a verbal command from God, as in the case of Adam (5:14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:16 Faith means trusting in another, not in one's own efforts. It corresponds exactly to grace, which involves trusting God's gift of unearned favor. The adherent of the law refers to the Jewish believer in Christ. father of us all. Abraham is the father of all believers, whether Jew or Gentile.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:17 many nations. Genesis 17:5 confirms Abraham's universal fatherhood. calls into existence the things that do not exist. If God created the world out of nothing, he could certainly give Sarah a child.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:23–24 but for ours also. In God's plan, Scriptures as far back as Gen. 15:6 apply also to Christians in the new covenant age.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:25 raised for our justification. Both the death and the resurrection of Jesus Christ are necessary for forgiveness of sins and justification. When God raised Christ from the dead, it showed that he accepted Christ's suffering and death as full payment for sin. At the cross, God had directed his wrath against Christ, but now, in the resurrection, God showed his favor to Christ and to all who would believe in him. This can be true because all who believe in Christ are united with him (see 6:6, 8–11; Eph. 2:6; Col. 2:12; 3:1).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:1–8:39 Hope as a Result of Righteousness by Faith. Believers in Christ, who are righteous in God’s sight, have a sure hope of future glory and life eternal.

FACT

Those who trust in Christ have peace with God (5:1). God declares them forgiven. They stand securely in God’s grace and salvation rather than his judgment (5:2, 8–9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:1 Through faith in Christ, Christians have been justified and declared righteous by God once for all. They no longer need to live in fear of God’s wrath and judgment. Rather, they enjoy peace with God. See also note on John 14:27.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:2 grace in which we stand. The believers’ secure position as a result of their justification. hope of the glory of God. The promise that Christians will be glorified and perfected at the last day.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:5 hope does not put us to shame. Followers of Christ have no reason to fear humiliation on the judgment day, for they now belong to God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:6 In this and the following verses, Paul shows how the believer’s subjective experience of God’s love (v. 5) is firmly based on the objective work of Christ on the cross. Weak here refers to lack of moral strength and is another way to describe those who are ungodly.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:9 Christians are justified (declared right before God) because of Christ’s blood poured out at the cross. Therefore, they can know that they will be saved from God’s wrath on the day of judgment.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:10 As in v. 9, Paul argues from the greater to the lesser. Since Christians are now reconciled to God through Christ’s death, they can be assured that they will be saved on the day to come. Here “saved” includes initial justification, completed sanctification, glorification, and future rewards. Salvation is based on his life, that is, Christ’s resurrection (see 4:25; 6:1–23).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:12–21 Adam brought sin and death into the world, but those who have believed in Christ have hope. Christ has reversed the consequences of Adam's sin and has given his own life and righteousness to secure their eternal glory. The extended comparison between Adam and Christ shows that Paul considered Adam a historical person.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:12 Sin came into the world through one man, namely, Adam (v. 14; see Gen. 3:17–19; 1 Cor. 15:21–22). and death through sin. Death is "the last enemy" (1 Cor. 15:26; see 15:54) and will be conquered forever at Christ's return (Rev. 21:4). "Death" in these verses most likely includes both physical and spiritual death. Paul often connects the two. And so death spread to all men probably means "and in this way death spread to all men." Because all sinned probably means that all people participated in Adam's sin because he represented all who would descend from him (just as Christ's obedience counts for all his followers; Rom. 5:15–19). Another interpretation is that all people have sinned individually as a result of being born into the world spiritually dead. The word translated "men" can mean either males or people of both sexes, depending on the context. It is translated "men" here (and in v. 18) to show the connection with "man," referring to Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:13 sin is not counted where there is no law. Paul does not mean that people are guiltless without the law (see 2:12). Those without the written law are still judged by God (see Genesis 6–9; 11:1–9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:14 Those who did not live under the law were still judged for their sin, and therefore they died. Still, their sinning was not like the transgression of Adam: Adam violated a commandment specifically given to him by God. Adam is a type (that is, a model or pattern) of Christ. Both Adam and Christ are covenantal heads of the human race. All people are either "in Adam" or "in Christ" (see 1 Cor. 15:22). All are "in Adam" by physical birth, while only those who have placed their faith in Christ are "in" him.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:15 Paul contrasts the consequences of the work of Adam and of Christ five times in the next five verses. This shows their roles as covenantal heads of the people they represent. Paul clearly teaches "original sin," the fact that all people inherit a sinful nature because of Adam's sin. Paul probably is also teaching that all people are in fact guilty before God because of Adam's sin. Many (that is, all human beings excluding Christ) died. Death begins with spiritual separation from God and ends in physical death.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:16 The one trespass of Adam resulted in the condemnation of all. But Christ overcame sin, therefore all who belong to him enjoy justification.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:17 Death ruled the human race due to Adam's sin, but Christians now stand in eternal life as rulers because of Christ's work.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:18 for all men. Based on these verses, some interpreters have argued that all people will be saved. But Paul makes it plain that only those who "receive" God's gift belong to Christ (v. 17; see also 1:16–5:11). The wording "as . . . so" shows that Paul's focus is not on how many will be saved but on the method of either sin or righteousness being passed from the representative leader to the whole group. men. See note on 5:12.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:19 Because of Adam's disobedience, all people were made (caused to be) sinners. When Adam (mankind's representative) sinned, God viewed the whole human race as guilty sinners. All are born with a sinful nature because of Adam's sin.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:20 The typical Jewish view in Paul's day was that God gave the law in order to reduce the human impulse to sin. But Paul claims that the law was given to increase the trespass. That is, once people had written laws from God, they were not just committing "sins" against God's law as it was ingrained in their conscience (see note on 2:14–16); rather, they were willfully "trespassing" against his written word. Amid this increasing sin, however, the grace revealed through Christ abounded all the more.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:1–23 The law does not and cannot conquer sin, but the grace given to followers of Christ triumphs over sin and death.

FACT

Paul was probably asked, "Does your message about salvation by grace lead people to continue in sin?" He explains what baptism symbolizes in the Christian life: Christ's defeat of sin's rule and the gift of new life (6:1–14). God changes believers so that they can obey him "from the heart" (6:17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:1 Paul is likely responding to a question posed regularly by his Jewish opponents. They argued that his gospel led people to continue in sin.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:3 Christians died to sin when they were baptized into Christ. Paul is not arguing that baptism destroys the power of sin. Baptism is an outward, physical symbol of the inward, spiritual conversion of Christians.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:4 In the early church, baptism was probably by immersion. Baptism pictures being buried with Christ (going under the water) and being raised to new life with Christ (coming up from the water). This symbolizes union with, and incorporation into, Christ by the action of the Holy Spirit. Believers now have the power to live in newness of life.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:6 The power of sin has been broken in those who believe. Their old self (literally, "old man," meaning who they were in Adam) was crucified and put to death with Christ. Body of sin refers to the ruling power of sin that people willingly accept. Paul does not argue that Christians do not sin at all, but he does say that they are no longer enslaved to sin. The normal pattern of life for Christians should be progressive growth in maturity and obedience to God's moral law.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:7 One who has died means one who has died with Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:10 died to sin. Jesus died because he took sin upon himself. His resurrection demonstrates that he has defeated both sin and death.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:11 dead to sin. Dead to the continual love for and ruling power of sin (see note on v. 6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:12–13 Tension occurs here between what God has already accomplished and his people's responsibility to obey. They are still tempted by desires to sin and must not let those desires gain control.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:14 sin will have no dominion over you. This is not a command but a promise that sin will not defeat Christians. under grace. The new covenant in Christ (see 3:24; 4:16; 5:2, 15–21).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:16 Giving in to sin leads to becoming obedient slaves to sin. This eventually leads to death. This does not mean that genuine believers can lose their salvation. It means that sinning leads them away from full enjoyment of life with Christ. However, people who do give themselves utterly to sin will die, that is, they will face eternal punishment (see notes on Heb. 6:4–8).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:20–21 Both physical and spiritual death are probably meant here.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:23 Wages implies that the punishment for sin is what one has earned and deserves. Free gift is the opposite of something one deserves. This fits Paul's earlier emphasis on justification by grace alone (God's unmerited favor; see note on 4:16), through faith alone (trusting in Christ for justification; see 1:17; 3:21–4:25).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:1–3 In this entire chapter, law refers to the Mosaic law given at Mount Sinai. Those who know the law includes both Jews and Gentiles who are familiar with the OT. Verse 1 introduces the principle that the law applies only to living people. In vv. 2–3, Paul applies that principle to marriage.

FACT

Even Christians often struggle with sinful desires (7:7–25), but they can be confident that the Spirit lives within them, helping them to obey God (8:1–11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:4 Whereas the husband dies in the illustration in vv. 2–3, here believers die to the law through the death of Christ. The comparison does not match perfectly, but the application is clear.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:5 Flesh here stands for the old "Adam"—the unbelieving former life of those who now believe. The law led to spiritual and physical death (see 6:23) because rebellious people broke it and suffered the consequences.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:6 But now represents the new era of redemptive history. Christians now enjoy new life in the Spirit.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:7–25 The claim that the Mosaic law produced sin and death raises the question, Is the law itself sinful? Paul explains that the law itself is good and that the fault lies with sin. The "I" in these verses seems to be Paul himself (see note on vv. 13–25).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:7 The law defines sin. People ignore God's commands in order to indulge their independence. This principle is illustrated from the tenth commandment (Ex. 20:17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:8 The prohibition against coveting increased the desire for what was forbidden. Without such prohibitions, sin lies dead—it is still present, but not in a powerful way.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:13–25 Even if the law is not sin (vv. 7–12), is the good law responsible for death? Paul argues that the fault lies with sin, not with the law. Through the law, sin is revealed in all its horror, while the law is shown to be good. There has been much debate as to whether Paul is describing believers or unbelievers. Although good arguments are given by both sides, the most widely held view is that Paul is referring to believers. Advocates of both positions agree that Christians struggle with sin their whole lives (see Gal. 5:17; 1 John 1:8–9). They also agree that Christians can and should grow in sanctification throughout their lives by the power of the Holy Spirit (Rom. 8:2, 4, 9, 13–14). Those who think Paul is describing believers usually see this passage as describing both Paul's own experience and the experience of Christians generally. This view is that Christians are free from the condemnation of the law, but sin continues to dwell within them. They should understand how far they fall short of God's absolute standard of righteousness. Thus Paul cries out, "Wretched man that I am! Who will deliver me from this body of death?" (7:24). The answer follows immediately: the one who has delivered Christians once for all (see 4:2–25; 5:2, 9) and who will deliver them day by day is "Jesus Christ our Lord!" (7:25). This reflects the ongoing tension between the "already" aspect of salvation (believers have been saved) and the "not yet" aspect (believers will be saved at the return of Christ).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:17 Paul emphasizes the power of sin.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:21–23 The meaning of "law" in these verses has been debated. Some think every use of the word refers to the Mosaic law. Most argue that in vv. 21 and 23 the term means "principle." All agree that the Mosaic law is in view in v. 22. The Greek word used here can have either meaning.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:24–25 Who will deliver me? The living presence of Jesus Christ is the answer to the problem of sin.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:1–17 Paul celebrates the new life of the Spirit that Christians enjoy as a result of Christ's saving work.

The Trinity in Romans 8

This chart focuses on statements that have Father, Son, or Spirit as the subject. For additional references to Father, Son, or Spirit in Romans 8, see vv. 1–2, 4–7, 13, 15, 17–23, 28.

Father	Son	Spirit
sent his Son (v. 3) condemned sin (v. 3)
gives life to mortal bodies of believers by his Spirit in them (v. 11)	in believers (v. 10)	indwells believers (v. 9)
foreknew, predestined, called, justified, glorified (vv. 29–30)	died, raised, interceding at the right hand of the Father for believers (v. 34)	leads believers (v. 14)
is for us (v. 31)		bears witness with the spirit of believers (v. 16)
gave his Son (v. 32)		helps in weakness and intercedes for believers (vv. 26–27)
justifies (v. 33)
loves (v. 39)	loves (vv. 35, 39)

FACT

When Christ returns, he will fix everything that is broken and hurting (8:16–39; see Rev. 21:1–22:5). He will restore creation, including every corner of the globe, to its original beauty and wholeness. God will bring dead believers back to life and make all his children perfect like Christ (Rom. 8:29; 1 Thess. 4:13–18).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:1 therefore. Paul summarizes and concludes his preceding argument (see especially 7:23–25 and 3:21–5:21). Now matches the "now" in 7:6. Christ began a new era of redemptive history for those who are "now" in right standing before God because of Christ. No condemnation echoes 5:1 ("Therefore . . . we have peace with God"). There is "no condemnation" for the Christian because Jesus has paid the penalty for sin through his death on the cross (8:2–3).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:2 Sin has no dominant power in believers' lives. This work of the Holy Spirit is evidence that believers are in Christ. Law in both instances means "principle."

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:3 The law (here, the Mosaic law) could not solve humanity's problem because sin uses the law for its own purposes (see ch. 7).

God sent his Son as a sacrifice for sin (a sin offering). Jesus paid the full penalty for sin by his sacrifice (condemned sin). in the likeness of sinful flesh. Jesus became fully human, even though he was sinless. In the flesh refers to Christ's body.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:4 righteous requirement of the law . . . fulfilled. This could mean the requirement is fulfilled in the new life that Christians live on the basis of Christ's work. It could also mean Christ's death paid the full penalty of the law.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:6 To set the mind on the flesh means to constantly desire the things that express fallen, sinful human nature.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:8 Because unbelievers (those who are in the flesh) are captured by sin and unable to do what God commands, they fail to please God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:9 Paul alternates between the Spirit of God and the Spirit of Christ here, showing that Christ and God share the same status.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:10 The previous verse speaks of the Spirit's indwelling, but here Paul describes Christ's dwelling in Christians. This does not mean that there is no difference between Christ and the Spirit. It does suggest that Christ and the Spirit are both fully God, and they work together. The presence of the Spirit within believers testifies to the new life they enjoy because Christ's righteousness is now theirs.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:13 God and believers each have a role in sanctification. It must occur by the Spirit and his power, but you put to death shows that one must take an active role in battling sinful habits.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:15 Christians are no longer slaves to sin. They are adopted as sons into God's family. The Spirit assures them that God is their father. sons. See note on Gal. 3:26. Abba is Aramaic for Father. Paul's use of the term likely comes from Jesus' addressing God in this way (Mark 14:36).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:17 A willingness to follow Christ in suffering is another sign of being God's children.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:18–39 Paul began this major section of the letter (5:1–8:39) by emphasizing the final hope of believers (5:1–11), and now he concludes with the same emphasis.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:18 The ultimate glory that Christians will receive is so great that the sufferings of this present time are insignificant in comparison (see 2 Cor. 4:17). Believers look forward to the resurrection of the body (1 Thess. 4:13–18) and to the new heaven and new earth (Rev. 21:1–22:5; see Isa. 65:17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:20–21 When Adam sinned, the created world was also subjected to futility. One thinks of the thorns and thistles that accompany work on the land (Gen. 3:17–19) and the pain in childbirth for women (Gen. 3:16). The original creation (Genesis 1–2) did not have these things. On the last day, creation will be freed from the effects of sin. It will be far more beautiful, productive, and easy to live in than one can ever imagine.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:22 Again creation is personified (see v. 19). It longs for the day when salvation will be completed.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:23 Christians already have the firstfruits of the Spirit. But they still await the day of their final adoption, when their bodies, fully redeemed, are raised from the dead.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:26 Groanings too deep for words (see v. 23) refers to the believers' sense of the Spirit's intercession for them before God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:28 Good in this context means being like Christ (v. 29), enjoying closer fellowship with God, bearing good fruit for the kingdom, and final glorification (v. 30). It does not mean earthly pleasures.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:29 God has always been doing good for his people. foreknew. In the OT, the word "know" emphasizes God's special choice of his people (e.g., Gen. 18:19). See Rom. 11:2, where "foreknew" contrasts with "rejected," emphasizing God's choosing his people. God also predestined (that is, predetermined) that those whom he chose beforehand would become like Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:30 Those predestined by God are also called to faith through the gospel (see 2 Thess. 2:14) and justified (declared to be right in God's sight). Not all who are invited to believe are actually justified. Thus the "calling" here must refer to an effective call that creates the faith necessary for justification (Rom. 5:1). All those who are justified will also be glorified (receive resurrection bodies) on the last day. Paul speaks of glorification as if it were already completed, since God will certainly finish the good work he started (see Phil. 1:6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:33 Satan, their enemies, or even their own consciences may bring charges against God's elect. But God declares them justified.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:34 Who is to condemn? The question in v. 33 is repeated. Christians will never be condemned, for (1) Christ died for them and paid the full penalty for their sin; (2) he was raised, showing that his death removed sin; (3) he now is seated at God's right hand (Ps. 110:1); and (4) he intercedes for his people on the basis of his shed blood.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:38–39 rulers, powers. Probably angelic and demonic authorities.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:1–11:36 God's Righteousness to Israel and to the Gentiles. Paul has made it clear that God's saving promises have been fulfilled for the Gentiles. He now asks whether the promises God made to ethnic Israel will be fulfilled. If his promises to the Jews remain unfulfilled, how can Gentile Christians be sure that he will fulfill for them all the great promises in ch. 8? Paul answers that God is faithful to his saving promises to Israel (9:6) and that he will ultimately save his people (11:26).

FACT

Paul's love for God and his compassion for those who do not know Christ are clear (see 9:1–5; 10:1, 14–15). Believers' experience of God's grace should motivate them to share the Good News with others all over the world and to pray that they will believe.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:1–29 God's saving promises to Israel are irrevocable since they are based upon his word of promise and his electing grace.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:1–3 Paul suffers great anguish because his Jewish kinsmen are unsaved (see also 10:1). Indeed, if it were possible, Paul might almost choose to be accursed (to suffer punishment in hell) so that his fellow Jews would be saved (see Moses in Ex. 32:30–32).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:4 Israel had great privileges. The Israelites became God's adopted people when God saved them from Egypt. Glory here probably refers to the glory of God in the tabernacle and temple. Israel received the covenants in which the Lord promised to save them. God gave his people his law at Mount Sinai. He directed their worship in the Mosaic law, and he gave them his saving promises.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:5 The patriarchs (Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob) come from Israel. Most important, Jesus the Christ is a man from the Jewish people. He is also fully God, and to be praised as such.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:6–7 Though many Jews have failed to believe, God's promise to them has not failed. It was never true that all of the physical children of Abraham were part of the people of God. Genesis 21:12 teaches that the line of promise is traced through Isaac, not Ishmael.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:9–10 The promise (Gen. 18:10, 14) was not given to Hagar (Genesis 16), but specifically to Sarah and her offspring. The birth of Esau and Jacob is further evidence that God did not promise that every person of Jewish descent would be saved. They had the same parents, yet God chose Jacob and not Esau.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:11–13 God did not choose Jacob on the basis of anything in Jacob or Esau's life. He did so to fulfill his purpose of election. For the OT background to "election," see Gen. 18:10; Ex. 33:19; Mal. 1:2–3. See also Eph. 1:3–6.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:14–16 God is just in choosing one over the other because no one deserves to be saved (see 3:23). The salvation of anyone at all is due to God's mercy alone, as the words taken from Ex. 33:19 affirm.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:17 Paul quotes Ex. 9:16 to show that God is sovereign over evil as well as good. Even the wrath of man praises God (Ps. 76:10). For example, God installed Pharaoh as ruler and hardened his heart so that God's own saving power and glorious name would be spread throughout the whole world.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:19 who can resist his will? If salvation ultimately depends upon God, and he either has mercy on or hardens whomever he pleases, then how can he charge anyone with guilt?

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:20–21 Paul does not resolve the problem presented in v. 19 on the basis of human free will. Rather, he insists that human beings should not rebelliously question God's ways. Like a potter (see Jer. 18:1–6), God has the right to do what he wishes with his creation. The honorable and dishonorable vessels represent those who are saved and those who are not saved. Paul affirms that humans are guilty for their sin, but he offers no explanation as to how this fits with divine sovereignty. He insists that God controls all that happens (see Eph. 1:11). God does not sin, and he is not morally responsible for sin.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:22–23 The salvation of any person is due to the marvelous grace and love of God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:25–26 Paul quotes Hos. 2:23 and 1:10 to illustrate God's amazing grace. Those who are not my people . . . will be called "sons of the living God." In calling the Gentiles to salvation, God calls sinful people to himself. He did the same with Israel.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:27–29 Isaiah 10:22–23 notes that only some of Israel would be saved. Most of Israel was judged. Only a remnant experienced salvation. Indeed, as Isa. 1:9 says, Israel deserved to be wiped out like Sodom and Gomorrah, but God had mercy and spared some.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:30–11:10 God's sovereignty is compatible with human responsibility. Israel should have believed the gospel and trusted in Christ, but the majority refused to do so. Still, God's saving promises will be fulfilled.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:32 Following the law to try to establish righteousness led Israel to stumble over the stone (Christ). If obeying the law can save them, they see no need to believe in Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:33 stumbling. See Isa. 28:16. Those who trust in Christ will not experience shame on the day of judgment.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:2 The Jews' zeal and sincerity does not lead them to salvation. Many sincere "religious" people are wrong in their beliefs.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:3 On the contrast between the two ways to righteousness, see Gal. 3:7–14.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:4 End probably includes the idea of both goal and completion. The Mosaic law has reached its goal in Christ. Now the old covenant has ended. Since Christ is the goal and end of the law, righteousness belongs to all who trust in Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:5 Paul quotes Lev. 18:5 regarding the righteousness that is based on the law. All those who keep the law will have life. But as Paul has already shown, all people violate the law (Rom. 1:18–3:20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:6–8 Paul quotes Deut. 30:12–14 to show the contrast between the righteousness based on faith and the righteousness that comes from the law. There is no need to travel to heaven to bring Christ to earth, for God has already sent him into the world. Nor should anyone think they must bring Christ up from the realm of the dead, for God has raised Christ from the dead. What God requires is not superhuman works but faith in the gospel.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:9–10 if you confess with your mouth. Such confession gives outward evidence of inward faith, and often confirms that faith to the speaker. That God raised him from the dead implies a belief in all truth connected with the resurrection. This includes Jesus' sin-bearing death, followed by his resurrection that showed God's approval of his work (see note on 4:25). with the heart one believes. Saving faith is deep trust in Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:11 Paul again cites Isa. 28:16 (compare Rom. 9:33) to emphasize that trusting in Christ (rather than good works) is the way to salvation. Shame here is the humiliation that those judged on the last day will experience when they are sent to hell.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:14–15 How then? With a series of rhetorical questions, Paul considers the chain of events necessary for a person to be saved. The logic of these verses is clear: (1) People will call on Jesus to save them only if they believe he can do so; (2) belief in Christ cannot exist without knowledge about him; (3) one hears about Christ only when someone proclaims the saving message; and (4) the message about Christ will not be proclaimed unless someone is sent by God to do so. Paul was so urgent about spreading the gospel to the ends of the earth because he believed that the only way to be saved was to hear and believe in the gospel. (Paul is not talking here about OT believers or infants; see note on 2 Sam. 12:23). beautiful . . . feet. See Isa. 52:7.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:16 Isaiah (Isa. 53:1) prophesies that not all will believe. In the context of Romans 9–11, Paul is thinking especially of unbelieving Jews.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:17 One can come to faith only through hearing the word of Christ, that is, the good news about Jesus Christ as the crucified and risen Savior.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:18–19 They who have heard the message probably refers to the Jewish people (see vv. 1, 19–20). Paul applies Ps. 19:4 to the proclamation of the gospel to emphasize that the Jews have heard the good news because the gospel has gone even to the ends of the world (that is, to the Gentiles). Israel should have understood from the prophecy of Deut. 32:21 that the Gentiles would believe.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:20–21 Isaiah 65:1 has been fulfilled. Gentiles who did not seek after God have now experienced God's saving promises. Israel, on the other hand, has fulfilled the words of Isa. 65:2. They have rebelled and disobeyed the gospel message.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:1 The majority of Israel failed to believe. Does this mean that God has rejected his people? Paul presents himself as an example of the remnant that has been preserved. This remnant shows that God is not finished with Israel. He will fulfill his promises to his people.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:2 foreknew. See note on 8:29.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:3–5 God assured Elijah that he had preserved a remnant who still followed him (1 Kings 19:18). As in Paul's day and today, a remnant of Jews believe in Christ because of God's electing grace (see Rom. 9:27–29).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:7–10 Paul links Isa. 29:10 and Deut. 29:4 to clarify that God has hardened Israel so that they would not see or hear. Paul then prays for judgment (Ps. 69:22–23) upon the Jews of his day who have rejected Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:11–32 God's saving righteousness is seen in the salvation of Israel at the end of history, and in his saving plan for both Jews and Gentiles.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:12 World means Gentiles here. Paul argues from the lesser to the greater. If Israel's sin brought salvation to the Gentiles, then the blessing will be even greater when all Israel is saved (see v. 15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:15 If the rejection of the majority of Israel has meant that many Gentiles (the world) have been reconciled to God through Christ, then surely the acceptance of the Jews—their future coming to Christ in large numbers—will bring about the final resurrection (life from the dead) and the end of history.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:16 Two illustrations teach the same truth. The firstfruits and the root probably refer to the patriarchs (Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob) and the saving promises given to them. If the firstfruits and root are dedicated to God, so too are the whole lump (of dough) and the branches (that is, the Jewish people as a whole). As Paul has already explained in chs. 9–10, however, not every Jewish person will be saved.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:17 The people of God are portrayed here as an olive tree (see Jer. 11:16–19; Hos. 14:6–7). When Paul says some branches were removed, he probably has in mind the majority of the Jews of his day. Gentiles are the wild shoots grafted into the olive tree that now share in the root (the promises made to the patriarchs).

FACT

A wild olive branch? Farmers don’t usually graft a wild plant onto a cultivated one, but Paul says that is just what God has done in grafting the wild olive branch of the Gentile world onto the cultivated olive tree of his people Israel (11:11–24). He has done this so that all people everywhere, no matter what earthly family they come from, can become a part of his family.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:18–20 Gentile believers are warned against arrogance toward the Jews who were removed (v. 17). It is God’s saving promises (the root), not their own goodness, that saved them. This should provoke fear and awe, not pride.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:21 Whether Jew or Gentile, God will not spare anyone who does not continue to believe.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:22–24 The Gentile readers must contemplate both God’s kindness and his severity toward them and the Jews who have not believed. They must continue in faith. Otherwise, they too will be judged as unbelievers.

Paul argues from the lesser to the greater. If God grafted Gentiles, who are the wild branches, into the olive tree, then surely he will graft back into the olive tree Jews, who are the natural branches (see v. 17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:25 Mystery in this case is something previously hidden that is now revealed.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:26 in this way all Israel will be saved. It seems most likely that this salvation of the Jewish people is in the future. This interpretation fits with the promises of God's future work in vv. 12 and 15, and the future salvation of ethnic Israel at the end of history agrees with the character of this passage. God is faithful to fulfill his saving promises to his people (9:6). "All Israel" refers to a very large number, at least the majority of Jews. The Deliverer coming from Zion probably refers to Christ (see 1 Thess. 1:10), suggesting that these Jews will be saved near or at Christ's second coming.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:28 for your sake. Israel's unbelief has benefited the Gentiles. This is the period of history in which Gentiles are being saved, while most of Israel remains in unbelief. But God's promise to their forefathers Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob will be fulfilled in the future.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:29 Israel will be saved because God always keeps his promises. As used here, gifts means the unique blessings given to Israel which Paul mentioned at the beginning of this long section (9:4–5). Calling refers here to calling to salvation (see 8:30; 9:11, 24).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:30–31 God saved the Gentiles when one would have expected only the Jews to be saved. In the future he will amaze all by saving the Jews. It will be clear that everyone's salvation is by mercy alone (see note on 9:14–16). The final now in the text means that the promise of Jewish salvation could be fulfilled at any time.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:32 The word all here refers to Jews and Gentiles. God's mercy is available to all, but not all will accept it.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:34–35 Paul quotes Isa. 40:13 and Job 41:11 to highlight that all good things are gifts from God (1 Cor. 4:7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:1–15:13 God's Righteousness in Everyday Life. The gift of God's saving righteousness leads to a new life. Paul explains some practical results of God’s saving mercy.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:1 Therefore points back to the entire argument in 1:18–11:36. mercies of God. Sacrificial language from the OT is used to describe the new life of Christians. Bodies refers to the whole person. Both body and soul belong to God. Christians are a living sacrifice. They enjoy new life with Christ (6:4). “Living” also means that they will not be put to death as OT animal sacrifices were. Spiritual worship means offering one’s whole life to God (see Heb. 13:15–16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:2 The present evil age still tempts Christians, so they must resist its pressure. Their minds are made new (contrast 1:28), so that they are able to “discern” or understand God’s will. By testing you may discern translates a Greek word that means finding out the worth of something by testing it.

FACT

What does “discern” mean? To discern something means to understand it. For Christians, discernment involves the use of wisdom and the Holy Spirit’s guidance to figure out how to apply biblical principles to the concrete issues of life (12:2; see also Eph. 5:10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:4–5 The diversity and unity of the church is compared to the human body. (See also 1 Corinthians 12 and Eph. 4:4, 12–16.)

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:6 On the gift of prophecy, see notes on Acts 21:4; 21:10–11; 1 Cor. 12:10; Eph. 2:20; 1 Thess. 5:20–21; and other notes on 1 Corinthians 12–14. in proportion to our faith. Those with the gift of prophecy should speak only when they are confident that the Holy Spirit is truly revealing something to them.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:7–8 Christians should use the gifts God has given them, whether in serving others, teaching God's Word, or in exhortation and encouragement.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:9 The rest of the chapter describes the life that pleases God. Not surprisingly, love heads the list (see note on John 13:34–35).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:13 Hospitality was very important for early Christians, because most of them could not afford to pay for lodging when traveling.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:14 Bless . . . do not curse. These words reflect the teaching of Jesus (Matt. 5:44).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:17–19 Repay no one evil. . . . Vengeance is mine. This alludes to Jesus' teaching (Matt. 5:39).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:20–21 burning coals. See Prov. 25:21–22. Most interpreters think Paul is teaching that Christians must do good to people so that the others will feel ashamed and repent. That sense is possible. But in the OT the concept of "burning coals" always represents punishment (see Ps. 11:6). Thus another interpretation is that Paul is repeating the thought of Rom. 12:19: Christians are to do good to wrongdoers, whom God will punish on the last day if they refuse to repent. Overcoming evil with good includes acts of kindness toward evildoers. It may sometimes include the "good" (13:4) of the civil government stopping evil through the use of force (military or police). See 13:3–4. See note on Prov. 25:21–22.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:1–7 Christians are to be subject to (which generally means to obey, see 1 Pet. 3:5–6) the government because it has been put in place by God. Several other passages show that God approves of Christians disobeying government, but only when obedience to government would mean disobeying God (see Ex. 1:17, 21; Est. 4:16; Dan. 3:12–18; Acts 5:29; Heb. 11:23).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:1 Sometimes God gives good authorities as a blessing, and sometimes he allows evil rulers as a means of trial or judgment (2 Chron. 25:20; 32:24–25). On God's rule over earthly authorities, see Ps. 75:7 and Dan. 2:21.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:3 rulers are not a terror to good conduct, but to bad. Civil government in general is a great blessing from God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:4 Governing authorities are God's servants, for they carry out his wrath on evildoers, and they do so for your good. Even though Christians must not take personal revenge (12:17–20), it is right for them to turn punishment over to the civil authorities, who have the responsibility to punish evil. Sword most likely refers to capital punishment (see Gen. 9:6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:5 Christians should obey civil authorities to avoid God's wrath (coming through those authorities, v. 4) and because their conscience tells them to submit to the government (see note on vv. 1–7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:8 Verses 8–10 focus on the Christian's relationship to the Mosaic law. Owe no one anything does not prohibit all borrowing. It means that one should always "pay what is owed" (see v. 7), fulfilling whatever agreements have been made.

FACT

Should Christians always pay their taxes? Paul says that paying taxes is one way in which Christians show honor to the authorities God has placed over them (13:1–7). Christians should obey their government unless doing so means disobeying the Lord (Acts 5:29).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:9 Paul cites several OT commandments regarding responsibility to others. All of these are summarized in the call to love your neighbor as yourself (Lev. 19:18).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:11–12 The final verses of this section (12:3–13:14) call Christians to action, given the shortness of the time before Jesus returns.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:14 The metaphor of putting on clothing implies imitating Christ's character and living in close fellowship with him. This requires denying the flesh and refusing to gratify its desires.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:1–15:13 Paul addresses a specific dispute, probably over whether Christians need to follow Jewish food laws. He agrees with the "strong" (who did not feel compelled to follow those laws), but he encourages them not to despise or offend the "weak."

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:1 As for the one who is weak. The strong are tempted to argue with those weaker in faith.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:2 The strong believe all foods are allowed. The weak eat only vegetables, probably to avoid eating unclean foods (see Dan. 1:8, 10, 12, 16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:4 This verse is likely directed to the weak. They are not to pass judgment on the strong, who answer to their own master (the Lord).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:5 The weak thought some days were more important than others. Given the Jewish background (see v. 14), the day is the Sabbath. The strong think every day is the same. Both views are fine. Each person must follow his own conscience. Unlike the other nine commandments in Ex. 20:1–17, the Sabbath commandment seems to have been part of the "ceremonial laws" of the Mosaic covenant. Like the laws about sacrifices and diet, sabbath observance is not binding on new covenant believers (see also Gal. 4:10; Col. 2:16–17). However, regular times of worship are commanded for Christians (Heb. 10:24–25; see Acts 20:7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:10–12 The strong should not despise the weak. The weak should not judge the strong. Everyone will stand before God, who will judge all on the last day. The future day of judgment is prophesied in Isa. 45:23. Every person will give an account of his life to God at the judgment.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:14 Christians are no longer under the old covenant, so Paul rejects the view that some foods are unclean (see Leviticus 11; Deuteronomy 14). Still, if anyone thinks certain foods are unclean, then that person should avoid them.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:15–17 For the sake of the weak, the strong should refrain from eating certain foods. They must be careful not to destroy the faith of a brother or sister. Lack of love for the weak contradicts Christ's love. God's kingdom centers on the gifts of righteousness, peace, and joy granted by the Holy Spirit. Bodily appetites are secondary in importance.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:20–21 Paul urges the strong not to destroy God's work in the weak by eating food that will offend them.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:22 The strong are likely addressed here. The faith that you have means their faith that they may eat anything (see vv. 1–2, 23). They are not asked to change their convictions, but they should not behave in a way that injures the faith of others and so brings judgment on themselves.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:23 No one should eat unclean food if he has doubts about the rightness of the activity. Indeed, anything believers do apart from faith is sin.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:1–3 Christ is the supreme example of strengthening others and living for the glory of God. Paul quotes Ps. 69:9 to make this point.

FACT

Paul had not visited Rome when he wrote this letter, but he sent personal greetings to more than 25 individually named men and women plus households (16:3–15). He obviously cared deeply for his Christian brothers and sisters and appreciated their work for Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:4 for our instruction . . . encouragement. All the words of the OT are the words of God. They teach believers how to live in a way that pleases God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:8 circumcised. The Jews. In fulfilling God's saving promises to the Jews, God shows truthfulness and faithfulness to his word.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:9–12 Paul cites verses from 2 Sam. 22:50 (or Ps. 18:49); Deut. 32:43; Ps. 117:1; and Isa. 11:10. The OT clearly emphasizes the inclusion of the Gentiles into the people of God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:14–16:23 The Extension of God's Righteousness through Paul's Mission. Paul focuses on his calling as the apostle to the Gentiles, adding some greetings and final instructions.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:14 Instruct often means warning against wrong conduct (compare 1 Cor. 4:14; 1 Thess. 5:12, 14; 2 Thess. 3:15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:16 Gentile converts are the offering Paul presents to God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:19 By the power of signs and wonders refers to the miracles God did through Paul during his ministry. Miracles pointed to the power of God (see Acts 5:12; 2 Cor. 12:12; Heb. 2:4). Paul has fulfilled his charge to preach the gospel among the Gentiles from Jerusalem to Illyricum (roughly the area that is now Albania and was formerly Yugoslavia). Churches have been planted in key places. From there Paul's coworkers will bring the gospel to more remote areas (e.g., Epaphras in Colossae, Col. 1:7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:20–21 Paul's aim was to preach the gospel where no churches existed, fulfilling Isa. 52:15.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:22–24 Paul had been stopped from coming to Rome because he had not completed his work of planting churches in unreached eastern parts of the Roman Empire (v. 22), but now he feels that his work in the east has come to an end (vv. 23–24). He hopes to see the Roman church. He wants them to be his base of support for his mission to Spain. No visit of Paul to Spain is recorded in the NT. It is possible that he went there after the events recorded in Acts 28:30–31.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:25 He cannot visit Rome immediately. Paul's next task is to travel to Jerusalem to bring the money he had collected for the poor saints there (see 1 Cor. 16:1–4; 2 Corinthians 8–9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:26 Macedonia and Achaia are roughly equivalent to northern and southern Greece today, including such cities as Philippi, Thessalonica, and Corinth.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:27 they were pleased. The Gentiles enjoy the spiritual blessings of the Jewish people. They should happily assist them financially.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:31 delivered from the unbelievers. Paul did go to Rome, even if it was not in the way he anticipated (see Acts 22–28).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:1–23 Paul warmly greets those he knows in Rome. He is able to say something specific about almost every person greeted.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:1 Phoebe probably brought this epistle to the Romans. servant. The Greek word can mean either "servant" (13:4; 15:8; 1 Cor. 3:5; 1 Tim. 4:6) or "deacon" (referring to a church office; Phil. 1:1; 1 Tim. 3:8, 12). Cenchreae. See note on Acts 18:18.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:2 Paul asks the church to assist Phoebe since she has helped so many. Phoebe served as a patron, probably offering financial assistance and hospitality to other believers.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:3 Prisca and Aquila. See 1 Cor. 16:19; 2 Tim. 4:19. Prisca is called Priscilla in Acts 18:2–3, 18, 26.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:4 Perhaps Prisca and Aquila risked their lives when Paul was in danger in Ephesus (Acts 19:23–41; 1 Cor. 15:32; 2 Cor. 1:8–11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:5 the church in their house. See note on 1 Cor. 16:19. Apparently a church met in the home of Prisca and Aquila. Asia here refers to a province in what is modern-day Turkey.

AQUILA AND HIS WIFE, PRISCILLA

Aquila and his wife, Priscilla (also called Prisca), were close friends and coworkers with the apostle Paul. Forced from Rome by the emperor Claudius, they fled to Corinth (18:1–2). Like Paul, who stayed in their home, they were tentmakers by trade. On his way back to Antioch, Paul left Priscilla and Aquila in Ephesus to establish the church in that city. There the godly couple taught the Christian way "more accurately" to a gifted Alexandrian disciple named Apollos (18:26). They were eventually able to return to Rome, where the church met in their home (Rom. 16:3–5). Paul's deep love and respect for Aquila and Priscilla is obvious in his letter to the Romans, where he declares that the couple "risked their necks" for his life (Rom. 16:3). (Romans 16:3–5)

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:7 Andronicus and Junia were probably a husband-and-wife ministry team. Most scholars now think that Junia was a woman, though some have argued that a man named Junias is in view (the spelling would be the same in Greek). The verse seems to be saying that Andronicus and Junia were well known to the apostles, not that Junia was herself an apostle. This passage also reveals that the couple was Jewish, had been imprisoned, and had become Christians before Paul.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:8–10 The people greeted in these verses are not mentioned elsewhere in the NT. The family of Aristobulus probably refers to the slaves in Aristobulus's household. Some think Aristobulus is the grandson of Herod the Great (c. 73–4 B.C.) and the brother of Herod Agrippa I (10 B.C.–A.D. 44).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:11 The family of Narcissus refers to the slaves in Narcissus's household. Some scholars think Narcissus was the wealthy freedman who served the emperor Claudius (A.D. 41–54). Nero's mother, Agrippina, forced Narcissus to kill himself when Nero became emperor (A.D. 54).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:13 Rufus. Possibly the son of Simon of Cyrene (Mark 15:21). Apparently Rufus's mother ministered significantly to Paul.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:16 Christians greeted one another with a holy kiss to show their warm affection (see note on 1 Cor. 16:20; also 2 Cor. 13:12; 1 Thess. 5:26; 1 Pet. 5:14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:20 This is an allusion to Gen. 3:15.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:21 Those who are with Paul greet the Romans. Timothy is probably Paul's most beloved coworker in ministry. Lucius is unknown. Jason is likely the same person named in Acts 17:5–7, 9. Sosipater is probably the same person as Sopater from Berea (Acts 20:4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:22 Tertius functioned as Paul's secretary for the letter. It was common for those writing letters in the first century to dictate to a secretary, but the content of the letter is clearly Paul's.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:23 Gaius here is the Gaius of 1 Cor. 1:14. This supports the idea that the letter was written from Corinth. He was a man of some wealth, for he provided a place for the entire church to meet. It is difficult to know if Erastus is the person mentioned in Acts 19:22 and 2 Tim. 4:20.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:25–27 Final Summary of the Gospel of God's Righteousness. Many of the themes in the introduction reappear in the conclusion.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:26 prophetic writings. The OT Scriptures (see 1:2).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:27 glory forevermore. God’s glory is to be the theme of Christians’ lives and the joy of their hearts.

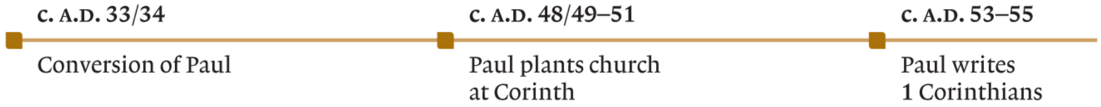
Introduction to 1 Corinthians

Introduction to 1 Corinthians

Timeline



Author, Date, and Recipients

The apostle Paul wrote this letter to the Corinthian church in the spring of A.D. 53, 54, or 55. This was near the end of his three-year ministry in Ephesus. Altogether Paul wrote four letters to this church: (1) the previous letter mentioned in 1 Corinthians 5:9; (2) 1 Corinthians; (3) the tearful, severe letter mentioned in 2 Corinthians 2:3–4; and (4) 2 Corinthians. Only 1 and 2 Corinthians have survived.

Theme

The Corinthian church, divided because of the arrogance of its more powerful members, should work together for the advancement of the gospel. They should repent of their rivalries, build up the faith of those who are weak, and witness effectively to unbelievers.

Purpose

Paul received an oral report and a letter from the Corinthian church. These revealed a church struggling with division, immorality, idolatry, and theological confusion. He wrote them this letter so that they would become a true dwelling place for God’s Spirit (3:12, 16), stay faithful to the gospel, and be “guiltless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1:8).

Key Themes

1. The church is the dwelling place of God’s Spirit. Thus, the people who make up the church should work for unity by building each other up (1:10–4:21, especially 3:10–16; 14:12).
2. Christians should build up the church in four practical ways:

a. they should be sensitive to those with fragile faith (8:1–9:18; 10:28, 33).
b. they should win unbelievers to the faith (9:19–23; 10:27, 32–33).
c. they should conduct worship services in such a way that unbelievers might come to faith (14:16, 23–25).
d. their corporate worship should use spiritual gifts not out of personal pride, or for evaluating who has the better gift, but to build up the church (11:2–16; 12:12–30; 14:1–35).

1. Sexual relations form a union between man and woman as deep as the union of the believer with Christ. Therefore sexual activity should be confined to marriage (5:1–13; 6:12–20; 7:5, 9, 36).
2. Baptism and the Lord’s Supper are important. Yet both are less important than personal trust in the gospel and living in the way God commands (1:14–17; 10:1–5; 11:17–34; 15:29–34).
3. The bodily resurrection of Jesus (and of his followers) from the dead is a key truth of the Christian faith (6:14; 15:1–58).

The Setting of 1 Corinthians

c. A.D. 53–55

Paul wrote 1 Corinthians during his third missionary journey, near the end of his three-year ministry in Ephesus (Acts 19:21–22). Both Corinth and Ephesus were wealthy port cities steeped in pagan idolatry and philosophy. Corinth benefited both militarily and economically from its strategic location at one end of the isthmus that connected the southern Greek peninsula to the mainland.

The Global Message of 1 Corinthians

The global message of 1 Corinthians is that the gospel of Jesus Christ is relevant to every dimension of church life. To a church facing many problems, Paul writes of God's empowering grace and the need to know Christ alone and him crucified. There is much for the global church today to learn from this important letter.

First Corinthians and Redemptive History

Paul's vision in 1 Corinthians stretches all the way back to the first man, Adam (1 Cor. 15:21–22), and all the way forward to the future return of Jesus (15:23–24). Paul places his letter to the Corinthian church against the backdrop of the massive sweep of world history. The Corinthians themselves are part of that history. And as equal members of the body of Christ, so are Christians today, wherever in the world they may live.

Because Christ is the center point of all human history, we see Paul connecting both the Old Testament past and his own present ministry to Christ himself. Indeed, for Paul, because Christ has come we are now those "on whom the end of the ages has come" (1 Cor. 10:11). Paul warns the Corinthians against idolatrous desires by reminding them of what had become of Israel when they wandered in the wilderness. Yet Paul also makes the surprising statement that the rock from which Israel drank was Christ himself (10:4). All of God's divine provision for his people foreshadows, and is fulfilled in, Jesus Christ.

Today, then, we live as those "on whom the end of the ages has come." We live mindful of Christ and the supreme provision God has worked out for us in him, freely available to all those around the world who will forsake worldly ways of thought and life and trust in him.

Universal Themes in 1 Corinthians

The folly of human wisdom. Paul speaks in the opening chapters of 1 Corinthians of the folly of human wisdom—that is, worldly patterns of thinking that exalt human competency and cleverness. This is contrary to the cross of Christ, where God turned the world's wisdom upside down by providing salvation through a crucified man rather than a conquering king.

As Paul puts it, “Jews demand signs and Greeks seek wisdom, but we preach Christ crucified, a stumbling block to Jews and folly to Gentiles” (1 Cor. 1:22–23). The gospel addresses every culture around the world at the very point where it believes itself to be strongest, and offers Christ instead as an alternate source of wisdom (1:28–31).

The power of the Spirit. The Corinthian church was infected with a view of life that focused on worldly glory, human triumph, eloquent speech, and natural strength (e.g., 1 Cor. 4:7–20). For this reason, when Paul came to preach to them, they disrespected him due to his lack of style and eloquence (2:1–5; 4:1–7). Yet Paul’s lack of worldly impressiveness was precisely what unlocked the power of the Spirit in his life and through his ministry. His preaching was effective not because of any words of human wisdom but because it involved a “demonstration of the Spirit and of power” (2:4). Across the globe, this remains the crying need of preaching, regardless of the cultural garb in which the preaching is clothed: the church must proclaim the gospel in the power of the Holy Spirit, not in human wisdom, so that the faith of the hearers “might not rest in the wisdom of men but in the power of God” (2:5).

The body of Christ. The fullest biblical description of the church, the body of Christ, is in 1 Corinthians. Paul tells us in chapters 12–14 that all the various members of the Christian church—whatever their particular gifts, whatever their particular location—are part of Christ’s own body. And the significance of the various parts of the body ought not to be underestimated. Indeed, some body parts that appear least important are in fact crucial to the proper functioning of the body (1 Cor. 12:22–25).

The Global Message of 1 Corinthians for Today

In the world, but not of the world. The heart of the problem in the church at Corinth was that the world was influencing them rather than they influencing the world. In the opening chapters especially, Paul reminds the Corinthians that the wisdom of God is foolishness to the world, and the wisdom of the world is foolishness to God. The Corinthians were not only in the world but also of it, whereas Christ calls believers to be in the world but not of it (John 17:14–19). Christians around the globe today are called to live in faithful presence among their unbelieving neighbors, influencing them with the love of Christ rather than being infected by worldly patterns of thinking (Rom. 12:1–2). We are to be salt and light to a lost world (Matt. 5:13–16).

Global unity. In his final prayer for the church, Christ prayed above all for unity among the generations of believers who would follow the apostles (John 17:20–21). Yet the situation in Corinth was a mess of dissension and factions (1 Cor. 1:10–17; 3:1–8, 21–23). Down through history and around the world such disunity has often plagued God's people. This is deeply offensive to the heart of God, and it is also confusing to nonbelievers as they wonder why Christians don't "practice what they preach." The global church is called, now as much as at any other time in history, to labor for unity—never by compromising doctrinal truth, but rather by celebrating our common fellowship in the family of God wherever genuine faith in Christ is exercised. The way such common faith is expressed may be quite different culturally or in other ways, but the beauty of the body of Christ will be seen in a single, unitive, though diversely expressed, love for Christ.

Love. The main way unity of faith will be seen is through love (1 Cor. 8:1; 13:1–14:1; 16:14). Across cultures, classes, languages, and borders, nothing is more central to the Christian life than love. Indeed, love is definitive of Christian living (1 John 4:7–12). Beneath the various surface-level distinguishing marks of Christian people, the global church is called to clothe itself with love toward one another and toward the world. Such love, moreover, will be more than words; it will also be actions:

> By this we know love, that he laid down his life for us, and we ought to lay down our lives for the brothers. But if anyone has the world's goods and sees his brother in need, yet closes his heart against him, how does God's love abide in him? Little children, let us not love in word or talk but in deed and in truth. (1 John 3:16–18)

Greeting

1 CORINTHIANS 1 [†]Paul, [a]called [b]by the will of God to be an apostle of Christ Jesus, and our brother Sosthenes,

[2][†]To the church of God that is in Corinth, to those [c]sanctified in Christ Jesus, [d]called to be saints together with all those who in every place [e]call upon the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, both their Lord and ours:

[3][†] [d]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving

[4][†]I [f]give thanks to my God always for you because of the grace of God that was given you in Christ Jesus, [5][†]that in every way [g]you were enriched in him in all [h]speech and all knowledge— [6]even as [i]the testimony about Christ was confirmed among you— [7][†]so that you are not lacking in any gift, as you [j]wait for the revealing of our Lord Jesus Christ, [8][†] [k]who will sustain you to the end, [l]guiltless [m]in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ. [9] [n]God is faithful, by whom you were called into the [o]fellowship of his Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.

Divisions in the Church

[10][†]I appeal to you, brothers, [1] by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that all of you agree, and that there be no [p]divisions among you, but that you be united [q]in the same mind and the same judgment. [11][†]For it has been reported to me by Chloe's people that there is [r]quarreling among you, my brothers. [12][†]What I mean is that [s]each one of you says, "I follow Paul," or "I follow [t]Apollos," or "I follow [u]Cephas," or "I follow Christ." [13] [v]Is Christ divided? Was Paul crucified for you? Or were you [w]baptized in the name of Paul? [14]I thank God that I baptized none of you except [x]Crispus and [y]Gaius, [15]so that no one may say that you were baptized in my name.
[16](I did baptize also [z]the household of Stephanas. Beyond that, I do not know whether I baptized anyone else.) [17][†]For Christ did not send me to baptize but to preach the gospel, and [a]not with words of eloquent wisdom, lest the cross of Christ be emptied of its power.

Christ the Wisdom and Power of God

[18][†]For the word of the cross is [b]folly to [c]those who are perishing, but to us [d]who are being saved it is [e]the power of God. [19]For it is written,

> [f]"I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, > and the discernment of the discerning I will thwart."

[20] [g]Where is the one who is wise? Where is the scribe? Where is the debater of this age? [h]Has not God made foolish the wisdom of the world? [21]For since, in the wisdom of God, the world did not know God through wisdom, it pleased God through the folly of what we preach [2] to save those who believe. [22]For [i]Jews demand signs and Greeks seek wisdom, [23][†]but we preach Christ [j]crucified, a stumbling block to Jews and folly to Gentiles, [24]but to those who are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ [k]the power of God and [l]the wisdom of God. [25]For the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.

[26][†]For consider your calling, brothers: [m]not many of you were wise according to worldly standards, [3] not many were powerful, not many were of noble birth. [27][†]But [n]God chose what is foolish in the world to shame the wise; [o]God chose what is weak in the world to shame the strong; [28]God chose what is low and despised in the world, even [p]things that are not, to [q]bring to nothing things that are, [29]so [r]that no human being [4] might boast in the presence of God. [30]And because of him [5] you are in Christ Jesus, who became to us [s]wisdom from God, [t]righteousness and [u]sanctification and [v]redemption, [31]so that, as it is written, [w]"Let the one who boasts, boast in the Lord."

Proclaiming Christ Crucified

1 CORINTHIANS 2 [†]And I, when I came to you, brothers, [1] [x]did not come proclaiming to you [y]the testimony [2] of God with lofty speech or wisdom.

[2]For I decided to know nothing among you except [z] Jesus Christ and him crucified. [3]And [a] I was with you [b] in weakness and in fear and much trembling, [4]and my speech and my message were not in plausible words of wisdom, but in demonstration of [c] the Spirit and of power, [5]so that your faith might not rest in the wisdom of men [3] but [d] in the power of God.

Wisdom from the Spirit

[6][†]Yet among [e] the mature we do impart wisdom, although it is not [f] a wisdom of this age or of the rulers of this age, [g] who are doomed to pass away. [7][†]But we impart a secret and hidden wisdom of God, [h] which God decreed before the ages for our glory. [8]None of [i] the rulers of this age understood this, for [j] if they had, they would not have crucified [k] the Lord of glory. [9]But, as it is written,

[l] “What no eye has seen, nor ear heard, nor the heart of man imagined, what God has [m] prepared [n] for those who love him”—

[10]these things [o] God has revealed to us through the Spirit. For the Spirit searches everything, even [p] the depths of God. [11]For who knows a person’s thoughts [q] except the spirit of that person, which is in him? So also no one comprehends the thoughts of God except the Spirit of God. [12]Now [r] we have received not [s] the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, that we might understand the things freely given us by God. [13][†]And we impart this [t] in words not taught by human wisdom but taught by the Spirit, [u] interpreting spiritual truths to those who are spiritual. [4]

[14]The natural person does not accept the things of the Spirit of God, for they are [v] folly to him, and [w] he is not able to understand them because they are spiritually discerned. [15]The [x] spiritual person judges all things, but is himself to be judged by no one. [16][y] “For who has understood the mind of the Lord so as to instruct him?” But [z] we have the mind of Christ.

Divisions in the Church

1 CORINTHIANS 3 [†]But I, brothers, [1] could not address you as [a] spiritual people, but as [b] people of the flesh, as [c] infants in Christ. [2] [†] [d] I fed you with milk, not solid food, for [e] you were not ready for it. And even now you are not yet ready, [3] for you are still of the flesh. For while there is [f] jealousy and strife among you, are you not of the flesh and behaving only in a human way? [4] For [g] when one says, “I follow Paul,” and another, “I follow Apollos,” [h] are you not being merely human?

[5] What then is Apollos? What is Paul? [i] Servants through whom you believed, [j] as the Lord assigned to each. [6] [k] I planted, [l] Apollos watered, [m] but God gave the growth. [7] So [n] neither he who plants nor he who waters is anything, but only God who gives the growth. [8] [†]He who plants and he who waters are one, and each [o] will receive his wages according to his labor. [9] For we are [p] God’s fellow workers. You are God’s field, [q] God’s building.

[10] [r] According to the grace of God given to me, like a skilled master builder I laid a [s] foundation, and [t] someone else is building upon it. Let each one take care how he builds upon it. [11] For no one can lay a [u] foundation other [v] than that which is laid, [w] which is Jesus Christ. [12] [†]Now if anyone builds on the foundation with gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, straw— [13] [x] each one’s work will become manifest, for the Day will disclose it, because it will be revealed [y] by fire, and [z] the fire will test what sort of work each one has done. [14] [†]If the work that anyone has built on the foundation survives, [a] he will receive a reward. [15] If anyone’s work is burned up, he will suffer loss, though he himself will be saved, [b] but only as through fire.

[16] [†] [c] Do you not know that you [2] are God’s temple and that God’s Spirit dwells in you? [17] If anyone destroys God’s temple, God will destroy him. For [d] God’s temple is holy, and you are that temple.

[18] [e] Let no one deceive himself. [f] If anyone among you thinks that he is wise in this age, let him become a fool that he may become wise. [19] For [g] the wisdom of this world is folly with God. For it is written, [h] “He catches the wise in their craftiness,” [20] and again, [i] “The Lord knows the thoughts of the wise, that they are futile.” [21][†]So [j] let no one boast in men. For [k] all things are yours, [22]whether Paul or Apollos or Cephas or the world or life or death or the present or the future—all are yours, [23]and [l] you are Christ’s, and [m] Christ is God’s.

The Ministry of Apostles

1 CORINTHIANS 4 [†]This is how one should regard us, as servants of Christ and [n] stewards of the mysteries of God. [2]Moreover, it is required of stewards that they be found faithful. [3][†]But with me it is a very small thing that I should be judged by you or by any human court. In fact, I do not even judge myself. [4] [o] For I am not aware of anything against myself, [p] but I am not thereby acquitted. It is the Lord who judges me. [5]Therefore [q] do not pronounce judgment before the time, [r] before the Lord comes, [s] who will bring to light the things now hidden in darkness and will disclose the purposes of the heart. [t] Then each one will receive his commendation from God.

[6]I have applied all these things to myself and Apollos for your benefit, brothers, [1] that you may learn by us not to go beyond what is written, that none of you may [u] be puffed up in favor of one against another. [7][†]For who sees anything different in you? [v] What do you have that you did not receive? If then you received it, why do you boast as if you did not receive it?

[8][†]Already you have all you want! Already you have become rich! Without us you have become kings! And would that you did reign, so that we might share the rule with you! [9][†]For I think that God has exhibited us apostles as last of all, [w] like men sentenced to death, because we [x] have become a spectacle to the world, to angels, and to men. [10][†] [y] We are fools for Christ’s sake, but [z] you are wise in Christ. [a] We are weak, but you are strong. You are held in honor, but we in disrepute. [11]To the present hour [b] we hunger and thirst, we are poorly dressed and [c] buffeted and [d] homeless, [12]and we [e] labor, working with our own hands. [f] When reviled, we bless; [g] when persecuted, we endure; [13]when slandered, we entreat.

[h] We have become, and are still, like the scum of the world, [i] the refuse of all things.

[14]I do not write these things [j] to make you ashamed, but to admonish you [k] as my beloved children. [15][†]For [l] though you have countless [2] guides in Christ, you do not have many fathers. For [m] I became your father in Christ Jesus through the gospel. [16]I urge you, then, [n] be imitators of me. [17]That is why [o] I sent [3] you Timothy, [p] my beloved and faithful child in the Lord, to remind you of my ways in Christ, [4] [q] as I teach them everywhere in every church. [18]Some are [r] arrogant, [s] as though I were not coming to you. [19][†]But [t] I will come to you soon, if the Lord wills, and I will find out not the talk of these arrogant people but their power. [20][†]For [u] the kingdom of God does not consist in talk but in power. [21][†]What do you wish? [v] Shall I come to you with a rod, or with love in a spirit of gentleness?

Sexual Immorality Defiles the Church

1 CORINTHIANS 5 [†]It is actually reported that there is [w] sexual immorality among you, and of a kind that is not tolerated even among pagans, [x] for a man has his father's wife. [2][†]And [y] you are arrogant! Ought you [z] not rather to mourn? Let him who has done this be removed from among you.

[3][†]For though [a] absent in body, I am present in spirit; and as if present, I have already pronounced judgment on the one who did such a thing. [4]When you are assembled [b] in the name of the Lord Jesus and my spirit is present, with the power of our Lord Jesus, [5][†]you are [c] to deliver this man to Satan for the destruction of the flesh, so [d] that his spirit may be saved [e] in the day of the Lord. [1]

[6][†][f] Your boasting is not good. Do you not know that [g] a little leaven leavens the whole lump? [7]Cleanse out the old leaven that you may be a new lump, as you really are unleavened. For Christ, our Passover lamb, has been sacrificed. [8]Let us therefore celebrate the festival, [h] not with the old leaven, [i] the leaven of malice and evil, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.

[9][†]I wrote to you in my letter [j] not to associate with sexually immoral people— [10] [k] not at all meaning [l] the sexually immoral of this world, or the greedy and swindlers, or idolaters, [m] since then you would need to go out of the world. [11][†]But now I am writing to you not to associate with anyone [n] who bears the name of brother if he is guilty of sexual immorality or greed, or is an idolater, reviler, drunkard, or swindler—not even to eat with such a one. [12]For what have I to do with judging [o] outsiders? [p] Is it not those inside the church [2] whom you are to judge? [13][†]God judges [3] those outside. [q] "Purge the evil person from among you."

Lawsuits Against Believers

1 CORINTHIANS 6 [†]When one of you has a grievance against another, does he dare go to law before the unrighteous [r] instead of the saints? [2][†]Or do you not know that [s] the saints will judge the world? And if the world is to be judged by you, are you incompetent to try trivial cases? [3]Do you not know that we are to judge angels? How much more, then, matters pertaining to this life! [4]So if you have such cases, [t] why do you lay them before those who have no standing in the church? [5] [u] I say this to your shame. Can it be that there is no one among you wise enough to settle a dispute between the brothers, [6]but brother goes to law against brother, and that before unbelievers? [7][†]To have lawsuits at all with one another is already a defeat for you. [v] Why not rather suffer wrong? Why not rather be defrauded? [8]But you yourselves wrong and defraud—even [w] your own brothers! [1]

[9][†]Or do you not know that the unrighteous [2] will not inherit the kingdom of God? Do not be deceived: [x] neither the sexually immoral, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor men who practice homosexuality, [3] [10]nor thieves, nor the greedy, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor swindlers will inherit the kingdom of God. [11][†]And [y] such were some of you. But [z] you were washed, [a] you were sanctified, [b] you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ and by the Spirit of our God.

Flee Sexual Immorality

[12][†] [c] "All things are lawful for me," but not all things are helpful. "All things are lawful for me," but I will not be dominated by anything.

13 [d] “Food is meant for the stomach and the stomach for food”—and God will destroy both one [e] and the other. The body is not meant for sexual immorality, but [f] for the Lord, and [g] the Lord for the body. 14[†]And [h] God raised the Lord and [i] will also raise us up [j] by his power. 15[†]Do you not know that [k] your bodies are members of Christ? Shall I then take the members of Christ and make them members of a prostitute? Never! 16[†]Or do you not know that he who is joined [4] to a prostitute becomes one body with her? For, as it is written, [l] “The two will become one flesh.” 17But he who is joined to the Lord [m] becomes one spirit with him. 18 [n] Flee from sexual immorality. Every other sin [5] a person commits is outside the body, but the sexually immoral person [o] sins against his own body. 19[†]Or [p] do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, whom you have from God? [q] You are not your own, 20[†] [r] for you were bought with a price. [s] So glorify God in your body.

Principles for Marriage

1 CORINTHIANS 7 [†]Now concerning the matters about which you wrote: [t] “It is good for a man not to have sexual relations with a woman.” 2[†]But because of the temptation to sexual immorality, each man should have his own wife and each woman her own husband. 3 [u] The husband should give to his wife her conjugal rights, and likewise the wife to her husband. 4[†]For the wife does not have authority over her own body, but the husband does. Likewise the husband does not have authority over his own body, but the wife does. 5[†] [v] Do not deprive one another, except perhaps by agreement for a limited time, that you may devote yourselves to prayer; but then come together again, [w] so that Satan may not tempt you because of your lack of self-control.

6Now as a concession, [x] not a command, I say this. [1] 7 [y] I wish that all were [z] as I myself am. But [a] each has his own gift from God, [b] one of one kind and one of another.

8To the unmarried and the widows I say that [c] it is good for them to remain single [d] as I am. 9But if they cannot exercise self-control, [e] they should marry. For it is better to marry than to burn with passion.

[10][†]To the married [f]I give this charge (not I, but the Lord): [g]the wife should not separate from her husband [11](but if she does, [h]she should remain unmarried or else be reconciled to her husband), and [g]the husband should not divorce his wife.

[12][†]To the rest I say (I, not the Lord) that if any brother has a wife who is an unbeliever, and she consents to live with him, he should not divorce her. [13]If any woman has a husband who is an unbeliever, and he consents to live with her, she should not divorce him. [14][†]For the unbelieving husband is made holy because of his wife, and the unbelieving wife is made holy because of her husband. [i]Otherwise your children would be unclean, but as it is, they are holy. [15][†]But if the unbelieving partner separates, let it be so.
In such cases the brother or sister is not enslaved. God has called you [2] [j]to peace. [16][†]For how do you know, wife, [k]whether you will save your husband? Or how do you know, husband, whether you will save your wife?

Live as You Are Called

[17][†]Only let each person lead the life [3] [l]that the Lord has assigned to him, and to which God has called him. [m]This is my rule in [n]all the churches.
[18]Was anyone at the time of his call already circumcised? Let him not seek to remove the marks of circumcision. Was anyone at the time of his call uncircumcised? [o]Let him not seek circumcision. [19][†][p]For neither circumcision counts for anything nor uncircumcision, but [q]keeping the commandments of God. [20][r]Each one should remain in the condition in which he was called. [21][†]Were you a bondservant [4] when called? Do not be concerned about it. (But if you can gain your freedom, avail yourself of the opportunity.) [22]For he who was called in the Lord as a bondservant is [s]a freedman of the Lord. Likewise he who was free when called is [t]a bondservant of Christ. [23][u]You were bought with a price; [v]do not become bondservants [5] of men. [24]So, brothers, [6] [w]in whatever condition each was called, there let him remain with God.

The Unmarried and the Widowed

[25][†]Now concerning [7] the betrothed, [8] [x] I have no command from the Lord, but I give my judgment as [y] one who by the Lord's mercy is [z] trustworthy. [26][†]I think that in view of the present [9] distress [a] it is good for a person to remain as he is. [27]Are you bound to a wife? Do not seek to be free. Are you free from a wife? Do not seek a wife. [28][†]But if you do marry, you have not sinned, and if a betrothed woman [10] marries, she has not sinned. Yet those who marry will have worldly troubles, and I would spare you that. [29][†]This is what I mean, brothers: [b] the appointed time has grown very short. From now on, let those who have wives live as though they had none, [30]and those who mourn as though they were not mourning, and those who rejoice as though they were not rejoicing, and those who buy [c] as though they had no goods, [31]and those who deal with the world as though they had no dealings with it. For [d] the present form of this world is passing away.

[32][†]I want you to be [e] free from anxieties. [f] The unmarried man is anxious about the things of the Lord, how to please the Lord. [33]But the married man is anxious about worldly things, how to please his wife, [34]and his interests are divided. And the unmarried or betrothed woman is anxious about the things of the Lord, how to be holy in body and spirit. But the married woman is anxious about worldly things, how to please her husband. [35]I say this for your own benefit, [g] not to lay any restraint upon you, but to promote good order and to secure your undivided devotion to the Lord.

[36][†]If anyone thinks that he is not behaving properly toward his betrothed, [11] if his [12] passions are strong, and it has to be, let him do as he wishes: let them marry—it is no sin. [37][†]But whoever is firmly established in his heart, being under no necessity but having his desire under control, and has determined this in his heart, to keep her as his betrothed, he will do well. [38]So then he who marries his betrothed [h] does well, and he who refrains from marriage will do even better.

[39][†] [i] A wife is bound to her husband as long as he lives. But if her husband dies, she is free to be married to whom she wishes, only [j] in the Lord. [40]Yet [k] in my judgment she is happier if she remains as she is. And I think [l] that I too have the Spirit of God.

Food Offered to Idols

1 CORINTHIANS 8 [†]Now concerning [1] [m] food offered to idols: we know that [n] “all of us possess knowledge.” This “knowledge” [o] puffs up, [p] but love builds up. 2 [q] If anyone imagines that he knows something, [r] he does not yet know as he ought to know. 3 But if anyone loves God, [s] he is known by God. [2]

4 [†]Therefore, as to the eating of food offered to idols, we know that [t] “an idol has no real existence,” and that [u] “there is no God but one.” 5 For although there may be [v] so-called gods in heaven or on earth—as indeed there are many “gods” and many “lords”— 6 yet [w] for us there is one God, the Father, [x] from whom are all things and for whom we exist, and [y] one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and [z] through whom we exist.

7 However, not all possess this knowledge. But some, [a] through former association with idols, eat food as really offered to an idol, and [b] their conscience, being weak, is defiled. 8 [†] [c] Food will not commend us to God. We are no worse off if we do not eat, and no better off if we do. 9 [†]But take care [d] that this right of yours does not somehow become a stumbling block [e] to the weak. 10 [†]For if anyone sees you who have knowledge eating [3] in an idol’s temple, will he not be encouraged, [4] if his conscience is weak, to eat food offered to idols? 11 And so by your knowledge this weak person is [f] destroyed, the brother for whom Christ died. 12 Thus, sinning against your brothers [5] and [g] wounding their conscience when it is weak, [h] you sin against Christ. 13 Therefore, [i] if food makes my brother stumble, I will never eat meat, lest I make my brother stumble.

Paul Surrenders His Rights

1 CORINTHIANS 9 [j] Am I not free? [k] Am I not an apostle? [l] Have I not seen Jesus our Lord? [m] Are not you my workmanship in the Lord? 2 [†]If to others I am not an apostle, at least I am to you, for you are [n] the seal of my apostleship in the Lord.

3 This is my defense to those who would examine me. 4 [†] [o] Do we not have the right to eat and drink? 5 [p] Do we not have the right to take along a believing wife, [1] as do the other apostles and [q] the brothers of the Lord and [r] Cephas? [6][†]Or is it only Barnabas and I who have no right to refrain from working for a living? [7][†] [s] Who serves as a soldier at his own expense? [t] Who plants a vineyard without eating any of its fruit? Or who tends a flock without getting some of the milk?

[8]Do I say these things on human authority? Does not the Law say the same? [9]For it is written in the Law of Moses, [u] “You shall not muzzle an ox when it treads out the grain.” Is it for oxen that God is concerned? [10]Does he not certainly speak for our sake? It was written [v] for our sake, because [w] the plowman should plow in hope and the thresher thresh in hope of sharing in the crop. [11] [x] If we have sown spiritual things among you, is it too much if we reap material things from you? [12][†]If others share this rightful claim on you, do not we even more?

Nevertheless, [y] we have not made use of this right, but we endure anything [z] rather than put an obstacle in the way of the gospel of Christ. [13]Do you not know that [a] those who are employed in the temple service get their food from the temple, and those who serve at the altar share in the sacrificial offerings? [14]In the same way, the Lord commanded that [b] those who proclaim the gospel should get their living by the gospel.

[15][†]But [c] I have made no use of any of these rights, nor am I writing these things to secure any such provision. For I would rather die than have anyone [d] deprive me of my ground for boasting. [16]For if I preach the gospel, that gives me no ground for boasting. For [e] necessity is laid upon me. Woe to me if I do not preach the gospel! [17][†]For if I do this of my own will, I have a reward, but if not of my own will, I am still entrusted with [f] a stewardship. [18][†]What then is my reward? That in my preaching [g] I may present the gospel free of charge, so as not to make full use of my right in the gospel.

[19]For [h] though I am free from all, [i] I have made myself a servant to all, that I might [j] win more of them. [20][†] [k] To the Jews I became as a Jew, in order to win Jews. To those under the law I became as one under the law (though not being myself under the law) that I might win those under the law. [21][†]To [l] those outside the law I became [m] as one outside the law (not being outside the law of God but [n] under the law of Christ) that I might win those outside the law. [22] [o] To the weak I became weak, that I might win the weak. [p] I have become all things to all people, that [q] by all means I might save some. [23] I do it all for the sake of the gospel, [r] that I may share with them in its blessings.

[24] [†]Do you not know that in a race all the runners run, but only one receives [s] the prize? So [t] run that you may obtain it. [25] Every [u] athlete exercises self-control in all things. They do it to receive a perishable wreath, but we [v] an imperishable. [26] So I do not run aimlessly; I [w] do not box as one [x] beating the air. [27] [†]But I discipline my body and [y] keep it under control, [2] lest after preaching to others [z] I myself should be [a] disqualified.

Warning Against Idolatry

1 CORINTHIANS 10 [†]For I do not want you to be unaware, brothers, [1] that our fathers were all under [b]the cloud, and all [c]passed through the sea, [2][†]and all were baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea, [3][†]and [d]all ate the same [e]spiritual food, [4]and [f]all drank the same spiritual drink. For they drank from the spiritual Rock that followed them, and the Rock was Christ. [5][†]Nevertheless, with most of them God was not pleased, for [g]they were overthrown [2] in the wilderness.

[6][†]Now these things took place as examples for us, that we might not desire evil as [h]they did. [7][†][i]Do not be idolaters [j]as some of them were; as it is written, [k]"The people sat down to eat and drink and rose up to play." [8][†][l]We must not indulge in sexual immorality [m]as some of them did, and [n]twenty-three thousand fell in a single day. [9][†]We must not put Christ [3] to the test, [o]as some of them did and [p]were destroyed by serpents, [10][†]nor grumble, [q]as some of them did and [r]were destroyed by [s]the Destroyer. [11][†]Now these things happened to them as an example, but [t]they were written down for our instruction, [u]on whom the end of the ages has come. [12][†]Therefore [v]let anyone who thinks that he stands take heed lest he fall. [13][†]No temptation has overtaken you that is not common to man. [w]God is faithful, and [x]he will not let you be tempted beyond your ability, but with the temptation he will also provide the way of escape, that you may be able to endure it.

[14]Therefore, my beloved, [y]flee from idolatry. [15]I speak [z]as to sensible people; judge for yourselves what I say. [16][†][a]The cup of blessing that we bless, is it not a participation in the blood of Christ? [b]The bread that we break, is it not a participation in the body of Christ? [17][†]Because there is one bread, we who are many are [c]one body, for we all partake of the one bread. [18][†]Consider [d]the people of Israel: [4] [e]are not those who eat the sacrifices participants in the altar? [19][†]What do I imply then? That food offered to idols is anything, or that [f]an idol is anything? [20]No, I imply that what pagans sacrifice [g]they offer to demons and not to God. I do not want you to be participants with demons. [21] [h]You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and [i] the cup of demons. You cannot partake of the table of the Lord and [j] the table of demons. 22[†] [k] Shall we provoke the Lord to jealousy? [l] Are we stronger than he?

Do All to the Glory of God

23[†] [m] "All things are lawful," but not all things are helpful. "All things are lawful," but not all things build up. 24 [n] Let no one seek his own good, but the good of his neighbor. 25 [o] Eat whatever is sold in the meat market without raising any question on the ground of conscience. 26For [p] "the earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof." 27[†]If one of the unbelievers invites you to dinner and you are disposed to go, [q] eat whatever is set before you without raising any question on the ground of conscience. 28[†]But if someone says to you, "This has been offered in sacrifice," then do not eat it, for the sake of the one who informed you, and for the sake of conscience— 29I do not mean [r] your conscience, but his. For [s] why should my liberty be determined by someone else's conscience? 30If I partake with thankfulness, why am I denounced because of that [t] for which I give thanks?

31So, whether you eat or drink, or [u] whatever you do, do all to the glory of God. 32 [v] Give no offense to Jews or to Greeks or to [w] the church of God, 33just as [x] I try to please everyone in everything I do, [y] not seeking my own advantage, but that of many, that they may be saved.

1 CORINTHIANS 11 [†] [z] Be imitators of me, as I am of Christ.

Head Coverings

2[†]Now I commend you [a] because you remember me in everything and [b] maintain the traditions [c] even as I delivered them to you. 3[†]But I want you to understand that [d] the head of every man is Christ, [e] the head of a wife [1] is her husband, and [f] the head of Christ is God. 4[†]Every man who prays or prophesies with his head covered dishonors his head, 5[†]but every wife [2] who prays or [g] prophesies [h] with her head uncovered dishonors her head, since it is the same [i] as if her head were shaven. 6For if a wife will not cover her head, then she should cut her hair short. But since it is disgraceful for a wife to cut off her hair or shave her head, let her cover her head.

[7][†]For a man ought not to cover his head, since [j]he is the image and glory of God, but [k]woman is the glory of man. [8]For [l]man was not made from woman, but woman from man. [9]Neither was man created for woman, but [m]woman for man. [10][†]That is why a wife ought to have a symbol of authority on her head, because of the angels. [3] [11][†]Nevertheless, [n]in the Lord woman is not independent of man nor man of woman; [12]for as woman was made from man, so man is now born of woman. And [o]all things are from God. [13]Judge for yourselves: is it proper for a wife to pray to God with her head uncovered? [14][†]Does not nature itself teach you that if a man wears long hair it is a disgrace for him, [15]but if a woman has long hair, it is her glory? For her hair is given to her for a covering. [16][†][p]If anyone is inclined to be contentious, we have no such practice, nor do [q]the churches of God.

The Lord’s Supper

[17][†]But in the following instructions I do not commend you, because when you come together it is not for the better but for the worse. [18]For, in the first place, when you come together as a church, [r]I hear that there are divisions among you. And I believe it in part, [4] [19][†]for [s]there must be factions among you in order [t]that those who are genuine among you may be recognized. [20]When you come together, it is not the Lord’s supper that you eat. [21]For in eating, each one goes ahead with his own meal. One goes hungry, [u]another gets drunk. [22]What! Do you not have houses to eat and drink in? Or do you despise [v]the church of God and [w]humiliate those who have nothing? What shall I say to you? Shall I commend you in this? No, I will not.

[23][†]For [x]I received from the Lord what I also delivered to you, that [y]the Lord Jesus on the night when he was betrayed took bread, [24][†]and when he had given thanks, he broke it, and said, “This is my body which is for [5] you. Do this in remembrance of me.” [6] [25][†]In the same way also he took the cup, after supper, saying, “This cup is the new covenant in my blood. Do this, as often as you drink it, in remembrance of me.” [26]For as often as you eat this bread and drink the cup, you proclaim the Lord’s death [z] until he comes.

[27][†] [a] Whoever, therefore, eats the bread or drinks the cup of the Lord [b] in an unworthy manner will be guilty concerning [c] the body and blood of the Lord. [28] [d] Let a person examine himself, then, and so eat of the bread and drink of the cup. [29][†]For anyone who eats and drinks without discerning the body eats and drinks judgment on himself. [30]That is why many of you are weak and ill, and some [e] have died. [7] [31][†] [f] But if we judged [8] ourselves truly, we would not be judged. [32][†]But when we are judged by the Lord, [g] we are disciplined [9] so that we may not be [h] condemned along with the world.

[33]So then, my brothers, [10] when you come together to eat, wait for [11] one another— [34] [i] if anyone is hungry, [j] let him eat at home—so that when you come together it will not be for judgment. About the other things [k] I will give directions [l] when I come.

Spiritual Gifts

1 CORINTHIANS 12 [†]Now [m] concerning [1] spiritual gifts, [2] brothers, [3] I do not want you to be uninformed. [2][†]You know that [n] when you were pagans [o] you were led astray to [p] mute idols, however you were led. [3][†]Therefore I want you to understand that [q] no one speaking in the Spirit of God ever says “Jesus is [r] accursed!” and [s] no one can say “Jesus is Lord” except in the Holy Spirit.

[4][†]Now [t] there are varieties of gifts, but [u] the same Spirit; [5]and [v] there are varieties of service, but [u] the same Lord; [6]and there are varieties of activities, but it is [u] the same God who empowers them all in everyone. [7] [w] To each is given the manifestation of the Spirit for the common good. [8][†]For to one is given through the Spirit the utterance of [x] wisdom, and to another the utterance of [y] knowledge according to the same Spirit, [9][†]to another [z] faith by the same Spirit, to another [a] gifts of healing by the one Spirit, [10][†]to another [b] the working of miracles, to another [c] prophecy, to another [d] the ability to distinguish between spirits, to another [e] various kinds of tongues, to another [f] the interpretation of tongues. [11]All these are empowered by one and the same Spirit, [g] who apportions to each one individually [h] as he wills.

One Body with Many Members

[12]For just as [i] the body is one and has many members, and all the members of the body, though many, are one body, [j] so it is with Christ. [13][†]For [k] in one Spirit we were all baptized into one body—[l] Jews or Greeks, slaves [4] or free—and [m] all were made to drink of one Spirit.

[14][†]For the body does not consist of one member but of many. [15]If the foot should say, “Because I am not a hand, I do not belong to the body,” that would not make it any less a part of the body. [16]And if the ear should say, “Because I am not an eye, I do not belong to the body,” that would not make it any less a part of the body. [17]If the whole body were an eye, where would be the sense of hearing? If the whole body were an ear, where would be the sense of smell? [18]But as it is, [n] God arranged the members in the body, each one of them, [o] as he chose. [19]If all were a single member, where would the body be? [20]As it is, there are many parts, [5] yet one body.

[21]The eye cannot say to the hand, “I have no need of you,” nor again the head to the feet, “I have no need of you.” [22]On the contrary, the parts of the body that seem to be weaker are indispensable, [23]and on those parts of the body that we think less honorable we bestow the greater honor, and our unpresentable parts are treated with greater modesty, [24]which our more presentable parts do not require. But God has so composed the body, giving greater honor to the part that lacked it, [25]that there may be no division in the body, but that the members may have the same care for one another. [26]If one member suffers, all suffer together; if one member is honored, [p] all rejoice together.

[27]Now [q] you are the body of Christ and individually [r] members of it. [28][†]And [s] God has appointed in the church first [t] apostles, second [u] prophets, third teachers, then [v] miracles, then [w] gifts of healing, [x] helping, [y] administrating, and [v] various kinds of tongues. [29][†]Are all apostles? Are all prophets? Are all teachers? Do all work miracles? [30]Do all possess gifts of healing? Do all speak with tongues? Do all interpret? [31][†]But [z] earnestly desire the higher gifts.

And I will show you a still more excellent way.

The Way of Love

1 CORINTHIANS 13 [†]If I speak in the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am a noisy gong or a clanging cymbal. [2]And if I have [a]prophetic powers, and understand all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have all faith, [b]so as to remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing. [3][c]If I give away all I have, and [d]if I deliver up my body to be burned, [1] but have not love, I gain nothing.

[4][e]Love is patient and [f]kind; love [g]does not envy or boast; it [h]is not arrogant [5]or rude. It [i]does not insist on its own way; it [j]is not irritable or resentful; [2] [6]it [k]does not rejoice at wrongdoing, but [l]rejoices with the truth. [7][†][m]Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, [e]endures all things.

[8][†]Love never ends. As for prophecies, they will pass away; as for tongues, they will cease; as for knowledge, it will pass away. [9]For [n]we know in part and we prophesy in part, [10]but [o]when the perfect comes, the partial will pass away. [11]When I was a child, I spoke like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child. When I became a man, I gave up childish ways. [12][†]For [p]now we see in a mirror dimly, but [q]then face to face. Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as [r]I have been fully known.

[13][†]So now faith, hope, and love abide, these three; but the greatest of these is love.

Prophecy and Tongues

1 CORINTHIANS 14 [†][s]Pursue love, and [t]earnestly desire the [u]spiritual gifts, especially that you may [v]prophesy. [2][†]For [w]one who speaks in a tongue speaks not to men but to God; for no one understands him, but he utters mysteries in the Spirit. [3]On the other hand, the one who prophesies speaks to people for their upbuilding and encouragement and consolation. [4][†]The one who speaks in a tongue builds up himself, but the one who prophesies builds up the church. [5][†]Now I want you all to speak in tongues, but [x] even more to prophesy. The one who prophesies is greater than the one who speaks in tongues, unless someone interprets, so that the church may be built up.

[6][†]Now, brothers, [1] if I come to you speaking in tongues, how will I benefit you unless I bring you some [y] revelation or knowledge or prophecy or [z] teaching? [7]If even lifeless instruments, such as the flute or the harp, do not give distinct notes, how will anyone know what is played? [8]And [a] if the bugle gives an indistinct sound, who will get ready for battle? [9]So with yourselves, if with your tongue you utter speech that is not intelligible, how will anyone know what is said? For you will be [b] speaking into the air. [10]There are doubtless many different languages in the world, and none is without meaning, [11]but if I do not know the meaning of the language, I will be [c] a foreigner to the speaker and the speaker a foreigner to me. [12]So with yourselves, since you are eager for manifestations of the Spirit, strive to excel in building up the church.

[13]Therefore, one who speaks in a tongue should pray that he may interpret. [14][†]For if I pray in a tongue, my spirit prays but my mind is unfruitful. [15]What am I to do? I will pray with my spirit, but I will pray with my mind also; [d] I will sing praise with my spirit, but I will [e] sing with my mind also. [16][†]Otherwise, if you give thanks with your spirit, how can anyone in the position of an outsider [2] say [f] “Amen” to [g] your thanksgiving when he does not know what you are saying? [17]For you may be giving thanks well enough, but the other person is not being built up. [18][†]I thank God that I speak in tongues more than all of you. [19]Nevertheless, in church I would rather speak five words with my mind in order to instruct others, than ten thousand words in a tongue.

[20][†]Brothers, [h] do not be children in your thinking. [i] Be infants in evil, but in your thinking be [j] mature. [21][†][k] In the Law it is written, [l] “By people of strange tongues and by the lips of foreigners will I speak to this people, and even then they will not listen to me, says the Lord.” [22][†]Thus tongues are a sign not for believers but for unbelievers, while prophecy is a sign [3] not for unbelievers but for believers. [23]If, therefore, the whole church comes together and all speak in tongues, and outsiders or unbelievers enter, [m] will they not say that you are out of your minds? [24]But if all prophesy, and an unbeliever or outsider enters, he is convicted by all, he is called to account by all, [25] [n]the secrets of his heart are disclosed, and so, [o]falling on his face, he will worship God and [p]declare that God is really among you.

Orderly Worship

[26][†]What then, brothers? When you come together, each one has [q]a hymn, [r]a lesson, [r]a revelation, [s]a tongue, or [t]an interpretation. [u]Let all things be done for building up. [27][†]If any speak in [s]a tongue, let there be only two or at most three, and each in turn, and let someone interpret. [28][†]But if there is no one to interpret, let each of them keep silent in church and speak to himself and to God. [29][†]Let two or three prophets speak, and let the others [v]weigh what is said. [30]If a revelation is made to another sitting there, [w]let the first be silent. [31]For you can all prophesy one by one, so that all may learn and all be encouraged, [32][†]and the spirits of prophets are subject to prophets. [33][†]For God is not a God of [x]confusion but of peace.

As in [y]all the churches of the saints, [34][†] [z]the women should keep silent in the churches. For they are not permitted to speak, but [a]should be in submission, as [b]the Law also says. [35]If there is anything they desire to learn, let them ask their husbands at home. For it is shameful for a woman to speak in church.

[36]Or was it from you that the word of God came? Or are you the only ones it has reached? [37][†] [c]If anyone thinks that he is a prophet, or spiritual, he should acknowledge that the things I am writing to you are a command of the Lord. [38]If anyone does not recognize this, he is not recognized. [39]So, my brothers, [d]earnestly desire to prophesy, and do not forbid speaking in tongues. [40] [e]But all things should be done decently and [f]in order.

The Resurrection of Christ

1 CORINTHIANS 15 [†]Now I would remind you, brothers, [1] of the gospel [g]I preached to you, which you received, [h]in which you stand, [2]and by which [i]you are being saved, if you [j]hold fast to the word I preached to you —[k]unless you believed in vain.

[3]For [l]I delivered to you as of first importance what I also received: that Christ died [m]for our sins [n]in accordance with the Scriptures, [4]that he was buried, that he was raised [o]on the third day [p]in accordance with the Scriptures, [5]and that [q]he appeared to Cephas, then [r]to the twelve. [6][†]Then he appeared to more than five hundred brothers at one time, most of whom are still alive, though some have fallen asleep. [7][†]Then he appeared to [s]James, then [t]to all the apostles. [8]Last of all, as to one untimely born, [u]he appeared also to me. [9][†]For [v]I am the least of the apostles, unworthy to be called an apostle, because [w]I persecuted the church of God. [10]But by the grace of God I am what I am, and his grace toward me was not in vain. On the contrary, [x]I worked harder than any of them, [y]though it was not I, but the grace of God that is with me. [11]Whether then it was I or they, so we preach and so you believed.

The Resurrection of the Dead

[12][†]Now if Christ is proclaimed as raised from the dead, [z]how can some of you say that there is no resurrection of the dead? [13]But if there is no resurrection of the dead, [a]then not even Christ has been raised. [14]And if Christ has not been raised, then our preaching is in vain and your faith is in vain. [15]We are even found to be misrepresenting God, because we testified about God that [b]he raised Christ, whom he did not raise if it is true that the dead are not raised. [16]For if the dead are not raised, not even Christ has been raised. [17][†]And if Christ has not been raised, your faith is futile and [c]you are still in your sins. [18]Then those also who [d]have fallen asleep in Christ have perished. [19]If in Christ we have hope [2] in this life only, [e]we are of all people most to be pitied.

[20][†]But in fact [f]Christ has been raised from the dead, [g]the firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep. [21]For as [h]by a man came death, [i]by a man has come also the resurrection of the dead. [22][†]For [j]as in Adam all die, so also in Christ shall all be made alive. [23][†]But each in his own order: Christ the firstfruits, then [k]at his coming [l]those who belong to Christ. [24][†]Then comes the end, when he delivers [m]the kingdom to God the Father after destroying [n]every rule and every authority and power. [25]For he must reign

[o] until he has put all his enemies under his feet. [26]The last enemy to be [p] destroyed is death. [27]For [q] “God [3] has put all things in subjection under his feet.” But when it says, “all things are put in subjection,” it is plain that he is excepted who put all things in subjection under him. [28][†]When [r] all things are subjected to him, then the Son himself will also be subjected to him who put all things in subjection under him, that [s] God may be all in all.

[29][†]Otherwise, what do people mean by being baptized on behalf of the dead? If the dead are not raised at all, why are people baptized on their behalf? [30][†]Why are we [t] in danger every hour? [31]I protest, brothers, by [u] my pride in you, which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, [v] I die every day!
[32]What do I gain if, humanly speaking, [w] I fought with beasts at Ephesus? If the dead are not raised, [x] “Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die.”
[33] [y] Do not be deceived: [z] “Bad company ruins good morals.” [4] [34] [a] Wake up from your drunken stupor, as is right, and do not go on sinning. For [b] some have no knowledge of God. [c] I say this to your shame.

The Resurrection Body

[35][†]But someone will ask, [d] “How are the dead raised? With what kind of body do they come?” [36]You foolish person! [e] What you sow does not come to life unless it dies. [37]And what you sow is not the body that is to be, but a bare kernel, perhaps of wheat or of some other grain. [38]But God gives it a body as he has chosen, and to each kind of seed its own body. [39]For not all flesh is the same, but there is one kind for humans, another for animals, another for birds, and another for fish. [40]There are heavenly bodies and earthly bodies, but the glory of the heavenly is of one kind, and the glory of the earthly is of another. [41]There is one glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars; for star differs from star in glory.

[42][†][f] So is it with the resurrection of the dead. What is sown is perishable; what is raised is imperishable. [43][†]It is sown in dishonor; [g] it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness; it is raised in power. [44][†]It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. If there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual body. [45]Thus it is written, [h] “The first man Adam became a living being”; [5] [i] the last Adam became a [j] life-giving spirit. [46]But it is not the spiritual that is first but the natural, and then the spiritual. 47 [k]The first man was from the earth, [l]a man of dust; [m]the second man is from heaven. 48As was the man of dust, so also are those who are of the dust, and as is the man of heaven, [n]so also are those who are of heaven. 49Just [o]as we have borne the image of the man of dust, [p]we shall [6] also bear the image of the man of heaven.

Mystery and Victory

50I tell you this, brothers: [q]flesh and blood [r]cannot inherit the kingdom of God, nor does the perishable inherit the imperishable. 51[†]Behold! I tell you a mystery. [s]We shall not all sleep, [t]but we shall all be changed, 52in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For [u]the trumpet will sound, and [v]the dead will be raised imperishable, and we shall be changed. 53For this perishable body must put on the imperishable, and [w]this mortal body must put on immortality. 54[†]When the perishable puts on the imperishable, and the mortal puts on immortality, then shall come to pass the saying that is written:

> [x]“Death is swallowed up in victory.”
> 55 [y]“O death, where is your victory?
> O death, where is your sting?”

56[†]The sting of death is sin, and [z]the power of sin is the law. 57But thanks be to God, [a]who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

58[†] [b]Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in [c]the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord [d]your labor is not in vain.

The Collection for the Saints

1 CORINTHIANS 16 [†]Now concerning [1] [e]the collection for the saints: as I directed the churches of Galatia, so you also are to do. 2[†]On [f]the first day of every week, each of you is to put something aside and store it up, [g]as he may prosper, [h]so that there will be no collecting when I come. 3[†]And when I arrive, I will send [i]those whom you accredit by letter to carry your gift to Jerusalem. [4]If it seems advisable that I should go also, they will accompany me.

Plans for Travel

[5][j]I will visit you after passing through [k]Macedonia, for [l]I intend to pass through Macedonia, [6]and perhaps I will stay with you or even spend the winter, so that you may [m]help me on my journey, wherever I go. [7]For I do not want to see you now [n]just in passing. I hope to spend some time with you, [o]if the Lord permits. [8][†]But I will stay in Ephesus until [p]Pentecost, [9]for [q]a wide door for effective work has opened to me, and [r]there are many adversaries.

[10][†][s]When Timothy comes, see that you put him at ease among you, for [t]he is doing [u]the work of the Lord, as I am. [11]So [v]let no one despise him. [w]Help him on his way [x]in peace, that he may return to me, for I am expecting him with the brothers.

Final Instructions

[12][†]Now concerning [y]our brother Apollos, I strongly urged him to visit you with the other brothers, but it was not at all his will [2] to come now. He will come when he has opportunity.

[13][†][z]Be watchful, [a]stand firm in the faith, [b]act like men, [c]be strong. [14][d]Let all that you do be done in love.

[15]Now I urge you, brothers [3]—you know that [e]the household [4] of Stephanas were [f]the first converts in Achaia, and that they have devoted themselves [g]to the service of the saints— [16][h]be subject to such as these, and to every fellow worker and laborer. [17][†]I rejoice at the coming of Stephanas and Fortunatus and Achaicus, because they have made up for [i]your absence, [18]for they [j]refreshed my spirit as well as yours. [k]Give recognition to such people.

Greetings

19[†]The churches of Asia send you greetings. [l]Aquila and Prisca, together with [m]the church in their house, send you hearty greetings in the Lord.
20[†]All the brothers send you greetings. [n]Greet one another with a holy kiss.

21[†]I, Paul, write [o]this greeting with my own hand. 22[†]If anyone has no love for the Lord, let him be [p]accursed. Our Lord, come! [5] 23 [q]The grace of the Lord Jesus be with you. 24My love be with you all in Christ Jesus. Amen.

Study Notes for 1 Corinthians

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:1–9 Introduction to the Letter's Main Themes. The opening verses can be divided into an initial greeting (vv. 1–3) and a report to the letter's recipients on how Paul prays for them (vv. 4–9). Both parts use language relating to some of the letter's key themes.

FACT

Apollos (1:12) was a Jew from the city of Alexandria. He was "an eloquent man, competent in the Scriptures" (Acts 18:24). At Ephesus, Aquila and Priscilla helped Apollos to better understand the gospel. From Ephesus he traveled on to Corinth, where the church benefited greatly from his teaching (1 Cor. 3:6).

---

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:1 On apostle, see notes on Matt. 10:2; Rom. 1:1. The word occurs in 1 Corinthians more often than in any other of Paul's letters.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:2 sanctified . . . saints. These two words are closely related in Greek. One is a verb meaning "make holy" and the other an adjective meaning "holy." Here the adjective is used as a noun and means "holy people." See note on 7:14. Something "holy" is set apart from evil and dedicated to God's service (Ex. 19:5–6; Lev. 11:44–45). The Corinthians tend to be self-centered and disunited, so Paul reminds them that in Christ they are spiritually united to all Christians in every place (see also 1 Cor. 4:17; 7:17; 11:16; 14:33, 36).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:3 Grace . . . and peace. See note on Rom. 1:7.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:4 thanks. See note on Rom. 1:8.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:5 enriched in him. In 4:8 Paul will say that the Corinthians' spiritual riches have led to an inappropriate pride. Paul's thankfulness here shows that the problem was not with the gifts God had given them. It was in the way the Corinthians used those gifts. The cure for their pride is a healthy dose of gratitude (4:7). The Corinthians valued especially the gifts of speech and knowledge (see 8:1–3, 10; 12:8; 13:2; 14:1–40). Using these gifts in improper ways led to disunity (8:1–3; 12:29–30; 14:4).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:7 so that you are not lacking in any gift. Paul implies that many spiritual gifts are "enrichments" (see v. 5) of abilities that people had before they became Christians. As you wait for the revealing of our Lord Jesus Christ implies that spiritual gifts are given for the interim, until Christ returns (see 13:10).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:8–9 guiltless. There is no condemnation on judgment day for those who, like the Corinthians, are in Christ Jesus (Rom. 8:1).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:10–4:21 Divisions over Christian Preachers. The Corinthians' pride has led them to value appearance and powerful speaking over the genuine work of the Spirit.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:11 Chloe's people may have reported the situation to Paul firsthand (5:1; 11:18). Chloe's identity, location, and relationship to these "people" are unknown.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:12 Apparently the Corinthian Christians were divided based on who had baptized them (vv. 14–17). Paul knew Apollos well (16:12). His speaking skills were impressive. The Corinthian Christians had received him gladly after Paul's departure (Acts 18:24–19:1). Cephas is the Aramaic equivalent of the name Peter. Both names refer to Peter the apostle (1 Cor. 15:5; Gal. 1:18; 2:7–14). Cephas was married and had traveled to Corinth with his wife (1 Cor. 9:5).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:17b words of eloquent wisdom. Effective public speaking was highly valued in the Greco-Roman world. Professional lecturers came to large cities like Corinth. Paul's preaching was not as impressive as these men's speeches. But his preaching focused on the power of the message itself (see also 2:1–5).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:18 cross. See note on the crucifixion at Matt. 27:35. folly. Paul's preaching in Corinth focused on the saving fact of Christ's crucifixion. This method of execution was considered so crude it was not even mentioned in polite company.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:23 On Christ as a stumbling block, see note on Isa. 8:11–15.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:26–31 Those who believed the gospel were foolish by the world's standards. God transformed them into his people by saving them. They must not boast in ancestry, accomplishment, or relationship with a particular preacher (see also 3:21–22).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:27 God chose what is weak . . . to shame the strong. See 1 Sam. 2:1–8; Isa. 61:1; compare Luke 1:52; John 9:39.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:1–5 not . . . with lofty speech or wisdom. Paul avoided Greek rhetoric. Instead he focused on the message of the cross. He wanted the Corinthians to trust in Christ, not in human messengers.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:6–10 God's Spirit bridges the gap between the deep things of God and the human heart, graciously preparing human beings to understand the message of the cross. See also v. 4.

FACT

The wisdom of men and the power of God. Mere intellectual persuasion does not save people. Saving faith is produced by the heart-changing power of the Holy Spirit as the gospel is proclaimed (2:5).

---

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:6 rulers of this age. Probably earthly rulers like the Jewish chief priests and the Roman procurator Pilate, who sentenced Jesus to die (see v. 8). Symbolically, it also includes all rulers who do not believe in Jesus.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:7 The secret and hidden wisdom of God centers on Christ. It includes God's plans for salvation from before the ages ("before the foundation of the world"; Eph. 1:4) to eternity (1 Cor. 2:9; Rev. 11:15). It includes everything Paul preaches (Acts 20:27).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:13 Every Christian is a spiritual person, that is, one who is led and empowered by the Holy Spirit; see also Rom. 8:9; 2 Cor. 3:16–18; Eph. 1:13. Unbelievers, on the other hand, lack the spiritual ability to understand God's teaching (1 Cor. 2:14).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:1–3 Flesh can mean different things in Scripture. In Paul's letters it often refers to unredeemed human nature, along with its desires and typical behaviors.

FACT

First Corinthians is a pastoral letter to a spiritually troubled church. Paul deeply loved the church at Corinth, but he was distressed by some of the behavior prevalent among its members. He wrote to the Corinthians to address such issues as the relationship between Christians and the surrounding culture, divisions within the church, and matters of personal morality.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:2 not ready. Paul thinks it is dangerous to give advanced teaching to spiritually immature Christians.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:8 wages according to his labor. See note on vv. 14–15.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:12 Gold, silver, precious stones symbolize what will survive the final judgment, unlike wood, hay, and straw. Work that Christians do in Christlike faith and obedience (vv. 10–11) will survive and be rewarded. Work done in the "flesh" (v. 1) or in disobedience to Scripture (4:6) will not.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:14–15 reward. . . . loss . . . saved . . . as through fire. See also v. 8 and 4:4–5. Believers in Jesus have already been justified by faith (Rom. 5:1). They will not be condemned on judgment day (John 5:24; Rom. 8:1), but God will still judge their works (Rom. 14:10–12; 2 Cor. 5:10) and reward them accordingly (Matt. 6:1–6, 16, 18; 10:41–42).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:16 On the temple and God's dwelling, see 1 Kings 6:1–38.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:21–23 let no one boast in men. Arrogance causes division in Corinth (4:6, 18). The Corinthians need to learn that they belong to God, not to the leaders who baptized them (1:13–17).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:21 All things are yours means that they are given by God to benefit his people.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:1 mysteries. Probably the gospel itself (see also Eph. 6:19) and other truths God has revealed. See, e.g., Rom. 11:25; 1 Cor. 15:51; Eph. 3:4, 6. A "mystery" in Paul's letters is something that people cannot understand unless God reveals it to them (Dan. 2:18–19, 28; Eph. 1:7–9).

FACT

What is a “steward”? A steward (4:1–2) is someone who serves as an administrator or overseer of something that belongs to someone else. All that we possess ultimately belongs to God. Because of this, everything he has given to us during our time on earth must be managed with great care. This includes our finances, possessions, time, and gifts.

---

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:3 judged by you. Some Corinthians, perhaps followers of Apollos or Cephas, probably criticized Paul, especially his lack of eloquence (1:17; 2:3–4; 4:18–21; 2 Cor. 10:9). They thought they could judge his spiritual effectiveness by his speaking ability.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:7 This set of rhetorical questions expresses the central theological truth the Corinthians seem to have forgotten: all their abilities, opportunities, and blessings are from God. They should not boast.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:8 you have become kings. Paul speaks ironically of the Corinthians’ pride.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:9 exhibited . . . like men sentenced to death. Paul probably refers to the Roman triumphal processions, in which captured enemy soldiers were paraded through the streets before being publicly executed. Or he may be thinking of gladiators condemned to die in an arena. See also 2 Cor. 2:14 and Col. 2:15.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:10–13 We are fools for Christ’s sake. Measured by the Corinthians’ “royal” standards (v. 8), Paul’s apostolic calling has involved foolishness, weakness, and suffering. See 2 Cor. 2:14–17; 4:7–12; 11:22–33; 12:9; Phil. 1:12–18.

Imitating Paul as Paul Imitates Christ

1 Cor. 4:15–17	I became your father in Christ Jesus . . . be imitators of me. That is why I sent you Timothy, my beloved and faithful child in the Lord, to remind you of my ways in Christ.
1 Cor. 10:32–11:1	Give no offense . . . just as I try to please everyone in everything . . . Be imitators of me, as I am of Christ.
Phil. 3:17	Brothers, join in imitating me, and keep your eyes on those who walk according to the example you have in us.
Phil. 4:9	What you have learned and received and heard and seen in me—practice these things.
2 Thess. 3:7–9	You yourselves know how you ought to imitate us . . . but to give you in ourselves an example to imitate.
2 Tim. 3:10–11	You . . . have followed my teaching, my conduct, my aim in life, my faith, my patience, my love, my steadfastness, my persecutions and sufferings.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:15 countless guides. Apollos and Cephas, among others. father. See v. 17; Gal. 4:19; 1 Thess. 2:7, 11; Philem. 10.

Church Leaders Should Likewise Lead Lives That Are Examples to Imitate

Phil. 3:17	Brothers, join in imitating me, and keep your eyes on those who walk according to the example you have in us.
1 Tim. 4:12	Let no one despise you for your youth, but set the believers an example in speech, in conduct, in love, in faith, in purity.
Titus 2:7–8	Show yourself in all respects to be a model of good works, and in your teaching show integrity, dignity, and sound speech.
Heb. 13:7	Remember your leaders, those who spoke to you the word of God. Consider the outcome of their way of life, and imitate their faith.
1 Pet. 5:2–3	Shepherd the flock of God . . . not domineering over those in your charge, but being examples to the flock.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:19 I will find out . . . their power. Apparently Paul expected the Holy Spirit to discipline those harming the church (see Acts 5:1–11; 13:9–11; 2 Cor. 10:3–4).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:20 On the kingdom of God, see note on Matt. 3:2.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:21 rod. A thin stick used for discipline. Paul speaks metaphorically of the church discipline he describes in 5:3–5.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:1–6:20 A Report of Sexual Immorality and Lawsuits. Paul has heard of several problems in Corinth. There is a bizarre case of sexual misconduct (5:1–13). Believers are suing other believers in pagan courts (6:1–11). Some are committing sexual immorality with prostitutes (6:12–20). Thus, Paul instructs the Corinthians on Christian holiness and the significance of judgment.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:1 has his father's wife. Not his biological mother but his stepmother. Leviticus 18:8 specifically forbids sexual relations between a man and his "father's wife."

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:2 arrogant. See v. 6. The arrogance may arise from the Corinthians' mistaken "knowledge" that they are somehow free of normal moral limitations (6:12; 8:1; 10:23). It is also possible that Paul is simply thinking of their characteristic arrogance (3:21; 4:6, 8, 18–19) despite the shocking sin in their midst.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:3–4 my spirit is present. Probably the disciplinary power of the Holy Spirit, which was present in Paul's ministry (see note on 4:19); it was also present in the Corinthian church itself, because of its connection with Paul.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:5 Deliver this man to Satan probably refers to removing him from the church. He will experience life outside the church, in Satan's realm (Luke 4:5–6; Eph. 2:2; 1 John 5:19). spirit may be saved. Hopefully this discipline will cause him to repent (see 1 Tim. 1:20).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:6–7 leaven. Fermented dough. Leftover dough was often added to a new lump of dough. By analogy, sin that goes undisciplined by the church will spread its destructive consequences throughout the whole fellowship.

FACT

Leaven is fermented or soured dough that is added in small amounts to a larger portion in order to make it rise. In the NT, leaven often symbolizes sin that goes undisciplined or unchecked and thus negatively affects the church as a whole (5:6–8).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:9 my letter. An otherwise unknown letter to the Corinthians, written prior to 1 Corinthians.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:11 not to associate. See 2 Thess. 3:6, 14.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:13 "Purge . . . from among you." Like Israel, they must preserve their holiness of life. See Deut. 13:5; 17:7, 12; 21:21; 22:21–22, 24; 24:7.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:1 a grievance against another. Paul seems to be addressing disputes related to property or money (compare "Why not rather be defrauded?" v. 7). Disputes between believers should be handled wisely and carefully (vv. 1–8) before the watching world. Wherever possible, they should be settled under the authority of the church itself (see Matt. 18:15–20). the unrighteous. Probably judges who are unbelievers (see 1 Cor. 6:4, 6) and at times unjust.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:2–3 saints will judge the world. . . . angels. See Dan. 7:22; Matt. 19:28; Luke 22:30. The people of God will participate with Christ in the final day of judgment.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:7–8 suffer wrong. . . . wrong. These terms translate the same Greek verb. Paul used the adjectival form of this verb in v. 1 to describe the "unrighteous" judges. This implies that the Corinthians are acting like unbelievers.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:9–10 Paul's use of the word unrighteous (the same Greek word discussed in the note on vv. 7–8) implies that those who act just like the unbelieving world may not be "saints" (v. 1) at all. See also 2 Cor. 13:5.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:11 washed. Spiritual cleansing from the guilt and power of sin (see Titus 3:5). This cleansing is symbolized in the "washing" of baptism (Acts 22:16). sanctified. An initial break with the love of sin, and with the power and practice of sin, occurs when one first trusts Christ for salvation (see Rom. 6:11; 2 Cor. 5:17). justified. Paul uses the word in its judicial sense of "declared righteous." (See Rom. 5:1; 8:1, 33; 1 Cor. 1:30; see also 2 Cor. 5:21.)

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:12–20 Some Corinthian Christians were engaging in sex with prostitutes. Paul reminds them that the bodies of Christians are one with the resurrected Christ and that, in risen form, the Christian's body will be eternal. What they do with their bodies now, therefore, is important.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:12–13 "All things are lawful." The quotation marks around this phrase, here and in 10:23, have been supplied to suggest that it was probably a common slogan among the Corinthians. "Food . . . for the stomach." Probably another Corinthian slogan. From the culture around them, the Corinthians have adopted the idea that the body may have everything it craves. Paul knows, however, that human desires are corrupted by sin (Rom. 6:12, 16–22; 7:7–25).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:14 Jesus' resurrection was the first step toward the resurrection of all God's people on the last day (15:20). Jesus' body and the believer's body, therefore, are eternal (15:42–49), for God will also raise us up; the eternal nature of the believer's body should affect his or her present behavior. See 15:30–34.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:15 bodies . . . members of Christ. Already in 1:13 Paul has suggested that the church is Christ's body and that divisions in the church are incompatible with this truth. See also 12:12, 27; Eph. 1:22–23; 4:13–16; 5:23; Col. 1:18.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:16–18 Sexual union has a spiritual component. That means sexual activity outside marriage is a sin against Christ (v. 15) and against one's own body (v. 18).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:19 temple of the Holy Spirit within you. The Spirit of the Lord lives within individual Christians (v. 17). This makes each Christian's body a temple where God's Spirit dwells (3:16).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:20 bought with a price. The image is borrowed from the slave market (7:23; see also Rom. 6:17–18). Christ's blood is the purchase price (Eph. 1:7; see also Rev. 5:9).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:1–11:1 Three Issues from the Corinthians' Letter. Paul discusses problems raised in a letter from the Corinthians.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:1–16 Paul tells the Corinthians to be faithful in their marriages and to avoid divorce.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:1 Now concerning. The phrase indicates Paul is writing about issues the Corinthians raised in their letter (compare v. 25; 8:1; 12:1; 16:1, 12).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:2 Have probably refers to sexual intercourse (compare 5:1).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:4 Husbands and wives should act for each other's benefit. See Eph. 5:22–23 and Col. 3:18–19.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:5–7 Do not deprive. Married couples should abstain from sexual relations only for short periods of time and only when both the husband and wife agree. concession. Paul does not demand such abstention. each has his own gift. Both marriage and celibacy have their own benefits. Both should be considered “gifts” from the Lord. See vv. 28, 36; Matt. 19:12.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:10–11 Paul’s words are in contrast to Roman law, which permitted either a husband or a wife to begin a divorce with no stated cause required.

Divorce and Remarriage in 1 Corinthians 7

vv. 10–11	Don’t separate, but if you do, seek reconciliation.
vv. 12–13	If the unbelieving spouse consents to stay, do not seek divorce.
v. 15	If the unbelieving spouse separates (i.e., leaves the marriage), the believer is not bound (i.e., is free to remarry).
v. 39	If a spouse dies, the one who lives is free to remarry, but only to marry another believer (compare Rom. 7:1–4).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:12–13 I, not the Lord. Paul knows Jesus’ sayings on divorce that were later written in the Gospels (Matt. 5:32; 19:9; Mark 10:11–12; Luke 16:18). Jesus never spoke specifically about the situation of one spouse becoming a Christian and the other remaining unconverted, and yet Paul views his instruction here as authoritative and inspired by God (1 Cor. 7:40; see 14:37–38).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:14 made holy . . . are holy. These are the same terms used earlier for God’s separation of Corinthian Christians from their pagan environment as his special people (1:2; 3:17; 6:1, 2, 11). Unbelieving spouses and children in a family with a believing spouse are not saved by this connection (7:16), but they may benefit from the believer’s Christian influence. Thus they are more likely to have faith themselves eventually.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:15 let it be so. Paul advises the Christian spouse not to create strife by trying to bring about reconciliation with an unbelieving spouse who has left the marriage. not enslaved. This at least means that the believing spouse is not obligated to seek reconciliation to the unbelieving spouse who abandoned him or her (see v. 11). Most interpreters think that the phrase also implies that the abandoned spouse is free to obtain a divorce and to marry someone else. Jesus’ teaching on divorce also appears to allow remarriage when sexual immorality has prompted the divorce (see notes on Matt. 5:31–32; 19:9). The term peace in this context probably includes the OT sense that “all is well” in one’s life and circumstances (see note on John 14:27). Most interpreters therefore conclude that God releases the believing spouse from the twin distresses of a lifelong vain hope of reconciling with the unbeliever and a lifelong prohibition against enjoying the blessings of marriage again.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:16 how do you know? Paul probably expects a negative answer to these rhetorical questions. There is no guarantee that an unbelieving spouse will be saved. The believer is not required to pursue the spouse who has left.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:17 God calls people to himself who are in various situations regarding economics (slavery vs. freedom), family (divorce vs. marriage), and religious background (circumcision vs. uncircumcision), and often God has a purpose for the new believer in that very situation (see vv. 20, 24). It is the place to which God has called him. The idea of one's occupation being a "calling" comes from this verse.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:19 Even though circumcision was no longer commanded (Gen. 17:1–14), God still had commandments for his people to keep (Gal. 6:2).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:21 Being a bondservant in NT times was different from the institution of slavery in North America during the seventeenth through the nineteenth centuries. Slaves (bondservants, servants) generally were permitted to work for pay and to save enough to buy their freedom (see Matt. 25:15, where the "servants" were entrusted with immense amounts of money and responsibility). The NT assumes that trafficking in human beings is a sin (1 Tim. 1:10; Rev. 18:11–13), and Paul urges Christian bondservants who can gain . . . freedom to do so. The released bondservant was officially designated a "freedman" and frequently continued to work for his former master. See also ESV Preface.

FACT

What is a "freedman"? A released bondservant was officially designated a "freedman" (7:21–22). Bondservants were often paid and some were able eventually to buy their freedom.

---

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:25 The betrothed translates the Greek term for "virgins." The term could apply to either men or women. Paul's use of the term in v. 28 is clearly feminine, so he probably has women in mind here as well.

Given what he writes in vv. 36–38, his comments in vv. 25–26 are directed to any man who has promised to marry a “virgin.”

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:26 present distress. This may refer to living in the last days (see note on vv. 29–31), or to some difficulty the Corinthians were experiencing, such as famine.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:28 On deciding whether to marry, see note on vv. 5–7.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:29–31 See 10:11. Paul is not saying that Jesus will definitely return within the Corinthians’ lifetimes. Elsewhere, he encourages Christians to continue with their normal daily lives, while awaiting the second coming (see 7:1–16, 25–40; 10:23–11:1; 16:1–4, 5–11). Like other NT writers, Paul considers all of time beginning with the cross to be the “last days” (compare Acts 2:17; Heb. 1:2; James 5:3). He advises Christians always to live in the light of Christ’s certain return at an unforeseen moment (1 Cor. 3:13; 15:52; see also Matt. 24:44; 25:13; Mark 13:32–37; 1 Thess. 5:1–9).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:32–35 On living as a single person, see note on vv. 5–7.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:36 If his passions are strong translates a difficult word. The ESV is consistent with Paul’s reasoning in vv. 2–3 and 9. Paul’s comment is not intended as a disapproval of marriage (see vv. 28, 38; Eph. 5:22–33; 1 Tim. 4:1–4).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:37–38 keep her as his betrothed. Paul now turns to the person who chooses to remain unmarried. does well . . . even better. Sometimes, one is free to choose between courses of action, none of which are morally better than the others, and all of which give unique opportunities for service in God’s kingdom.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:39 her husband dies. Presumably all that Paul has just said about the betrothed person applies to the widow as well (vv. 8–9, 40a). His instruction that she marry only in the Lord (that is, she should marry only a fellow Christian) would also apply to the betrothed.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:1–11:1 Because pagan temples offered animal parts in sacrifice to the gods, they also often functioned as butcher shops and banqueting halls. Sometimes meals for trade guilds, clubs, and private dinner parties were held in a temple dining room. Often meat from a temple was sold to the public in the marketplace. Paul gives clear guidance about the use of such food. He first urges the Corinthians not to eat in pagan temples (8:10) because it might lead to the destruction of a weaker brother or sister (ch. 8). He then offers himself as an example of giving up something one is convinced is a right for the spiritual edification of others (ch. 9). He urges the Corinthians not to eat in pagan temples because doing so is idolatry (10:1–22). Finally, he says that eating meat purchased in the marketplace (which may have come from a pagan temple) is not wrong unless it hinders the advancement of the gospel (10:23–11:1).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:1 food offered to idols. Since only part of an animal was used in sacrifices to pagan gods, much of the animal could still be eaten. “all of us possess knowledge.” Here the quotation marks indicate that the Corinthians probably used this statement in their earlier letter and Paul is now responding to it (see 1:12; 3:4; 6:12, 13; 7:1; 8:4; 10:23). What the Corinthians “know” is explained in 8:4.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:4–6 Paul agrees with what the Corinthians know, that idols do not represent real “gods.” There is only one God. Since he is the creator of the animals that pagan priests offer to nonexistent gods, eating this meat is not a problem (see also 10:19–20, 25–26). Paul later distinguishes between eating at a temple dinner (which, as a religious event, is idolatry) and eating meat bought in the marketplace.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:8 Those who had the supposedly superior “knowledge” (vv. 1, 4) that permitted them to participate in dinners held at pagan temples may have thought that this knowledge gave them special standing with God.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:9 this right of yours. Paul is speaking from the Corinthians’ perspective (10:7, 14, 20–22). They should choose not to use this “right,” out of concern for the spiritual well-being of the person whose conscience is weak (8:7). stumbling block. See Rom. 14:13, 20.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:10–11 eating in an idol’s temple. See note on 8:1–11:1. Paul elsewhere uses destroyed to mean eternal destruction (Rom. 2:12; 1 Cor. 1:18; 15:18; 2 Cor. 2:15; 4:3). Some interpreters take Paul’s use of the term here in the same sense. Others see this as a reference to moral harm done to the weaker brother (his conscience "is defiled," 1 Cor. 8:7).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:2 seal. Seals in the ancient Near East were used to guarantee the quality and authenticity of a document (such as a letter) or product (such as wine); see note on John 6:27. Paul's gospel preaching has changed the hearts of the Corinthians. That change shows that his apostleship is genuine. See also 2 Cor. 1:21–22; 3:3.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:4–5 right. Paul proclaimed the gospel and established churches. He had the right (see the same word in 8:8) to receive material support from those churches (see Luke 10:7; 2 Thess. 3:9; 1 Tim. 5:17–18). the brothers of the Lord. James (1 Cor. 15:7; see Matt. 13:55; Gal. 1:19), who became the leader of the Jerusalem church (Acts 12:17; 21:18; Gal. 2:9), and Judas (Matt. 13:55; Mark 6:3), probably the same person who wrote the Letter of Jude.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:6 Barnabas was a Jewish Christian from the priestly tribe of Levi. He was from Cyprus and was an early member of the Jerusalem church (Acts 4:36). He and Paul worked together on Paul's first missionary journey (Acts 13:1–14:28).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:7 With three examples from everyday life, Paul observes the obvious principle that those who work hard should benefit from their labor.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:12a others. Probably refers to those listed in v. 5. They had traveled through Corinth and received material support from the Corinthians while ministering there.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:15 I have made no use. Paul occasionally received support from churches for preaching the gospel (2 Cor. 11:8; Phil. 4:14–18), but apparently he never received such support from Christians in the places where he was currently working (2 Cor. 11:7–8). boasting. Paul uses this word to express a rightful sense of joy and fulfillment in what God has done through him (e.g., see Rom. 15:17–19; 2 Cor. 1:14; 10:7–8).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:17 Stewardship refers to managing a household. God has entrusted Paul with a responsibility to preach the gospel. He must be faithful, whether he benefits from it materially or not.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:18 free of charge. Paul preached the gospel in urban centers where traveling lecturers were common. Some of them used their speaking skills to seek fame and fortune. Paul wants to distinguish himself from such preachers (see 1 Thess. 2:3–5, 9–10). It is recorded elsewhere that Paul engaged in manual labor to set an example of hard work for new Christians (1 Thess. 4:11; 5:14; 2 Thess. 3:6–9).

FACT

Speaking for free. Traveling speakers and teachers were a common sight in Paul’s day. Some of them openly used their speaking skills to seek fame and fortune. Others claimed to despise materialism while privately pocketing large sums of money. Paul distinguished himself from such dishonest people by earning his own living through manual labor (9:18; compare 1 Thess. 4:11).

---

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:20 I became as a Jew. In Christ, God had created a new people without distinction between Jew and Gentile (Acts 15:9; Rom. 10:12; 1 Cor. 10:32). Paul was willing to adopt the Jewish way of life temporarily to gain a hearing among Jews (Acts 16:3; 21:17–26).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:21 those outside the law. Outside the Mosaic law, which defined the Jewish way of life. not . . . outside the law of God . . . the law of Christ. Paul seems to distinguish between the Jewish law and something he calls “the commandments of God” (7:19) and “the law of Christ.” This type of law has continuing importance for Christians, whatever their ethnicity. It appears to include Jesus’ ethical teaching as well as the theological structure and moral precepts of the Mosaic law. (See, e.g., Rom. 7:7, 12, 22; 13:8–10; Gal. 5:14; 6:2.)

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:24–27 This extended athletic metaphor would have been understood in Corinth. The city was the location of the biennial Isthmian games, second in fame only to the Olympic games (see also Phil. 3:12–14; 2 Tim. 4:7–8). The perishable wreath was a crown of leaves given to the winner of a public athletic contest.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:27 An athlete goes through rigorous physical training in order to achieve victory. Paul endures physical and emotional hardship to advance the gospel. (See v. 12 and 2 Cor. 6:1–10.) Disqualified in this context means "disqualified from receiving rewards" (see 1 Cor. 9:24–26).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:1 our fathers. Most of the Corinthians were Gentiles, but Paul connects them with OT Israel. The cloud . . . the sea refers to the Israelites God delivered from slavery in Egypt and led through the wilderness (Ex. 13:17–14:31).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:2 baptized into Moses. Paul interprets the events surrounding the exodus as similar to being "baptized into Christ" (Rom. 6:3; Gal. 3:27).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:3–4 spiritual food . . . drink. Paul refers to God providing Israel with bread from heaven ("manna," Exodus 16) and water from a rock. This rock appears at the beginning of their desert wanderings (Ex. 17:1–7) and near the end (Num. 20:2–13). "Rock" is a common OT name for God (e.g., Deut. 32:4), perhaps leading Paul to identify the rock with Christ.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:5 overthrown. They did not see the Promised Land. (See Num. 14:22–23.)

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:6 as examples for us. See v. 11; 9:10; Rom. 15:4.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:7 idolaters. Paul begins to make the case that eating in the temple of a pagan god is not actually the "right" that the Corinthians imagined (8:9–10). It is participation in "the table of demons" (10:21) and idolatry. For a Christian to eat meals in these temples is to follow the poor example of the Israelites who worshiped other gods (Ex. 32:1–6).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:8 sexual immorality. See Num. 25:1–9. twenty-three thousand. Numbers 25:9 says "twenty-four thousand." Both are approximations, which probably was all that either writer intended.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:9 Christ. Paul sees Christ as having been spiritually present with God's people in OT times (see note on vv. 3–4; compare Num. 21:5; Jude 5).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:10 grumble. See the grumbling and divine judgment in Num. 11:1; 14:1–38; 16:11–35. the Destroyer. Paul apparently views this angel who executed God's judgment during the exodus as the destroying agent in these instances also (Ex. 12:23; Heb. 11:28).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:11 See v. 6; 9:10; Rom. 15:4. The OT Scriptures point toward the end of the ages, the time in which the Corinthian Christians are living. Compare 1 Pet. 1:10–12. example. On the examples ("types") in the OT, see Overview of the Bible..

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:12 thinks that he stands. Perhaps a reference to the Corinthians' mistaken belief that they have the right to eat in an idol's temple (8:9–10).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:13 will not let you be tempted beyond your ability . . . will also provide the way of escape. In every situation, God empowers Christians to make choices that honor him.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:16 cup of blessing . . . we bless. See 11:23–26 and notes. Paul refers to the cup in the Lord's Supper. Jesus gave thanks for the cup (Matt. 26:27; Mark 14:23; Luke 22:17). The earliest Christian observances of the Lord's Supper imitated this custom. Participation sometimes refers to fellowship with Jesus Christ (1 Cor. 1:9) or the Holy Spirit (2 Cor. 13:14; Phil. 2:1). Other times it means sharing someone else's difficulty or cause (Rom. 15:26; 2 Cor. 8:4; Phil. 1:5; 3:10). A true believer cannot participate both in meals in pagan temples and in the Lord's Supper (1 Cor. 10:21). Those who eat the Lord's Supper identify themselves with Jesus, share his sufferings (see Phil. 3:10), and benefit from his death.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:17 one bread . . . one body. After Jesus gave thanks for and broke the bread, he said, "This is my body which is for you" (11:24). The church is also Christ's body (see also 12:12, 27; Eph. 1:22–23; 5:23, 29–30). The Lord's Supper, therefore, is an occasion when Christians declare unity with each other because of their common unity with Christ.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:18 participants. See note on v. 16. The altar in the OT was a table on which food was sacrificed to God. Priests ate from the offerings (see Lev. 6:17–18; 7:32–35). The altar is like "the table of the Lord" (1 Cor. 10:21). In both instances the benefits of the table belonged to the priests, for believers in Christ are priests (1 Pet. 2:9; Rev. 1:6).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:19–20 False religions are not just created by humans. They generally have demonic power behind them (see Deut. 32:17).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:22 See note on Ex. 20:5–6 for God's jealousy.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:23–11:1 Paul now addresses the issue of meat previously sacrificed to idols being eaten in private homes.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:23 "All things are lawful." See note on 6:12–13. build up. See 3:9–10; 14:12; 1 Thess. 5:11.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:27 without raising any question. The Christian is not to ask if the food being served had ever been involved in pagan rituals. Such questions are theologically unnecessary (vv. 25–26). Also, they could be seen as rude, which ignores the principle of vv. 23–24 and 9:19–23.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:28 someone says. This person may be: (1) an unbeliever who thinks that Christians must not eat such food and is informing the Christian where it came from; or (2) a "weak" believer whose conscience wrongly demands that Christians should avoid such food (8:10; see also Rom. 14:14, 20–21). Since the person's conscience motivated the comment, and the weak believer's conscience was an important concern in 1 Cor. 8:7–13, this second option is most likely.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:1 imitators of me. See Phil. 3:17; 4:9; 2 Thess. 3:7–9.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:2–14:40 Divisions over Corporate Worship. Paul addresses issues related to the Corinthians' behavior in worship.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:2–16 Paul addresses the issue of women wearing head coverings during public worship.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:3 But shows that Paul has quickly moved from praise (v. 2) to correction. wife. See ESV footnote. A woman's head covering in first-century Roman society was a sign of marriage. Paul's practical concern is not with the relationship between women and men generally but with the relationship between husband and wife. head. Some have argued that the Greek word used here for "head" means "source," but in over 50 occurrences of this word in ancient sources, saying that "person A is the head of person(s) B," person A has authority over person(s) B in every case. Therefore it is best to understand “head” here as referring metaphorically to “authority” (see also Eph. 1:22; 5:23; Col. 2:10). As with the authority of Christ over the church, however, this is not a self-centered exercise of power but is the kind of leadership that takes care to serve the spiritual, emotional, and physical needs of the wife. See Mark 10:44–45; Eph. 5:23, 25–30. the head of Christ is God. See notes on John 5:19; 14:28; 1 Cor. 15:28. In marriage, as in the Trinity, there is equality in being and value but difference in roles (see Eph. 5:22–33).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:4 head covered. The Greek phrase may refer to long hair that hangs loose (vv. 14–15), to a veil that covers the face, or to a piece of cloth pulled over the head (like a modern shawl or scarf) that leaves the face revealed. Roman men sometimes pulled the loose folds of their toga over their head while they worshiped pagan gods. Paul emphasizes that men should not dishonor Christ by praying according to pagan custom (8:4). He uses the idea to prepare for his argument that wives should not pray or prophesy in public with their heads uncovered (11:5, 11).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:5–6 head uncovered. In Corinth, a married woman who uncovered her head in public would have brought shame to her husband. The action may have suggested sexual availability or implied that she was unmarried. In cultures where head coverings are not a sign of being married, wives could obey this command by wearing some other physical symbol of being married (such as a wedding ring).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:7–9 See Gen. 1:26–27; 5:1. Woman is the glory of man probably uses “glory” in the sense of “one who shows the excellence of.” Paul argues that a woman, by the excellence of her being, also shows how excellent man is, since she was made from man (1 Cor. 11:8). She was also created as a helper for man (v. 9; see also Gen. 2:20–24). Paul does not deny that the woman was also made in God’s image (see Gen. 1:27). Nor does he deny that the woman reflects God’s glory. Paul probably continues to think primarily of husband and wife here since the first man and woman were also the first married couple (Gen. 2:24; Eph. 5:31). Paul’s appeal to the order of creation (see also 1 Cor. 11:3, 11–12) shows that his words are not merely directed to the cultural situation of his day. The principle of male headship in marriage continues through all generations, though some cultural expressions of that principle (e.g., that women should wear head coverings) may vary.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:10 wife ought to have a symbol of authority on her head. This probably means, in the context of the Corinthian church, that the wife should wear a covering over her head as a sign that she is under her husband's authority. because of the angels. Probably invisible heavenly beings (6:3) present when the Corinthians worship (compare Ps. 138:1). Their presence makes proper behavior in worship even more important (see also 1 Tim. 5:21; Heb. 13:2).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:11–12 Nevertheless. Paul does not want what he has just said to be misinterpreted as diminishing the importance of women. Women and men are both God's creation and are dependent on each other.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:14 Here the word nature probably means "your natural sense of what is appropriate for men and women." Norms of appropriate hair style (and dress) vary from culture to culture. Paul's point is that men should look like men in that culture, and women should look like women in that culture. People should not deny the God-given differences between the sexes.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:16 See 1:2; 4:17; 7:17; 14:33, 36 for Paul's appeal to the practice of other churches. no such practice. That is, "no such practice" as that of those who disagree with Paul.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:17–34 The Corinthians were using their gatherings around the Lord's Table as occasions to make social distinctions between rich and poor. Paul is profoundly troubled by this development and argues strongly against it.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:17–18 hear. Paul comments on what he has heard about the Corinthian church (compare 1:11; 5:1).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:19 Those who are genuine . . . may be recognized probably refers to those whose actions during the church's controversy have revealed strong spiritual character (compare 2 Cor. 10:18; 2 Tim. 2:15).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:23 The teaching that Paul received from the Lord and then delivered to the Corinthians (see also 7:10; 15:3) was probably learned from early followers of Christ such as Peter (Gal. 1:18), who were careful to teach only what Jesus had taught. Another possibility is that Paul received this information directly from Jesus (see 2 Cor. 12:1–4; Gal. 1:12, 17).

FACT

The right way to observe the Lord's Supper. Wealthy Corinthians in the church were apparently treating the Lord's Supper as an opportunity to display their elite social status (11:21–23). Paul reminds them of the true meaning of this important Christian observance (vv. 24–34).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:24 The expression This is my body has been interpreted in various ways throughout church history. Roman Catholics believe the bread and wine actually become the body and blood of Christ. Lutherans hold that the literal body and blood of Christ are present "in, with, and under" the bread and wine. Some Anglicans refer to the "real presence" of Christ in the bread and wine. Most other Protestants believe that Christ is present symbolically and spiritually, strengthening believers' faith and fellowship in him and thereby feeding their souls (see Matt. 18:20; 28:20).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:25 Israel constantly broke the Mosaic covenant. Jesus replaced it with the new covenant, which provided complete atonement for all the sins of God's people past, present, and future (Rom. 3:25–26; 2 Cor. 3:1–4:6; Heb. 8:6–13).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:27–28 Unworthy manner probably refers to the Corinthians' divisive arrogance compared to the sacrificial, unselfish nature of Jesus' death. Before partaking of the Lord's Supper, Christians should examine their own lives (v. 28) and ask forgiveness for any unconfessed sin. guilty concerning the body and blood. By their selfish behavior the Corinthians were showing disrespect for Jesus himself.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:29 without discerning the body. Some scholars think Paul is still talking about the Lord's Supper; others think he has shifted his focus to the church as the "body" of Christ. Either way, believers need to recognize the spiritual reality of what is happening as they meet together to observe the Lord's Supper.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:31 if we judged ourselves truly, we would not be judged. God would stop disciplining the Corinthians if they would stop their misconduct regarding the Lord’s Supper.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:32 disciplined. When suffering alerts a Christian to sin and leads to repentance, it functions as both disciplinary judgment and mercy. (See also 5:5.)

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:1–14:40 Some Corinthian Christians seem to have been creating divisions over spiritual gifts. Paul’s use of the body analogy in 12:12–27 implies that they have placed so much emphasis on one gift that those without that gift feel that they are not part of the body (12:16–17). Considering its prominence in the discussion, that one gift is probably speaking in tongues.

FACT

The greatest is love. Jesus said that Christians should be famous for their love for each other (John 13:34–35), but the Corinthian church was becoming known for its divisions and arguments (see 1 Cor. 3:3; 6:1; 11:18). Paul tells them what Christian love should look like (ch. 13).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:1 Now concerning. See note on 7:1.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:2 pagans. Literally, “Gentiles” or non-Jews. The Corinthians, although not ethnic Jews, are now part of God’s people. They are connected to OT Israel. See v. 13; 10:1, 32.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:3 Because of their pre-Christian experience of pagan worship services (v. 2), some Corinthians may have had concerns about speaking in tongues (see discussion of tongues in note on v. 10). Paul first assures them that they should not worry that Christians who speak in tongues might be saying things against God. He also states that all who genuinely profess faith in Christ have the Holy Spirit within them. All have valuable gifts for the benefit of the church.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:4–6 Spirit . . . Lord . . . God. A Trinitarian reference to the Holy Spirit, the Lord Jesus, and God the Father (compare 2 Cor. 13:14).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:8 utterance of wisdom . . . utterance of knowledge. Some understand these to be miraculous gifts; God gives a person supernatural “wisdom” or “knowledge” to share in a particular situation. Others take these to be more “natural” gifts—the ability to speak wisely or intelligently in a particular situation. Since Paul already has a different, broader term for speech based on something God suddenly brings to mind (“prophecy”; see note on v. 10), the second view seems preferable.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:9 faith. Probably a special gift of faith for accomplishing a particular task (see 13:2; Acts 14:9; James 5:15). gifts of healing. Both terms are plural (“gifts of healings”), suggesting that different people may be gifted regarding different kinds of healing.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:10 miracles. Probably including but not limited to healing (see Acts 8:13; 14:8–10; 19:11–12; Rom. 15:19; Gal. 3:5; Heb. 2:4). Prophecy, as used by Paul in 1 Corinthians, generally refers to something God reveals to an individual in a particular situation, which must be evaluated by other believers (see 14:29; 1 Thess. 5:19–21). An alternative view is that this gift involves speaking the very words of God, with authority equal to Scripture. A third view is that it is similar to the gifts of preaching or teaching. The gift of prophecy occurred widely in NT churches (see Acts 2:17–18; 11:27–28; 19:6; 21:9–11; Rom. 12:6; 1 Cor. 11:2–5; 12:28–29; 13:2, 8–9; 14:1–40; 1 Thess. 5:19–21; 1 Tim. 1:18; 4:14; 1 John 4:1). distinguish between spirits. A special ability to distinguish between the influence of the Holy Spirit and the influence of demonic spirits (1 Cor. 14:29; 1 Thess. 5:20–21; 1 John 4:1–3). tongues. Speech in a language the speaker does not know, and that sometimes does not follow the patterns of any known human language (1 Cor. 13:1). Paul sees this gift as a way of expressing prayer or praise to God (14:2, 14–17, 28; see Acts 10:46). The speaker’s human spirit prays even though the speaker does not understand the meaning (see 1 Cor. 14:2, 11, 13–19, 23). The nature of tongues makes their interpretation necessary if the church is to be strengthened by them (14:1–25). Paul probably listed these two gifts last because an overemphasis on tongues had led the Corinthians to neglect those with other gifts (12:14–26). See also vv. 28 and 30 and the note on 13:8.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:13 in one Spirit we were all baptized. Like the other “baptism in the Holy Spirit” passages in the NT (Matt. 3:11; Mark 1:8; Luke 3:16; John 1:33; Acts 1:5; 11:16), this one seems to refer to the cleansing and empowering work the Holy Spirit does at conversion. Baptism is used metaphorically here. It refers to the Spirit’s work within believers to unite them to the larger body of believers. Water baptism is an outward symbol of this reality (see Rom. 6:4). made to drink. Probably a reference to the outpouring of God's Spirit on his people (see John 7:37–39; Rom. 5:5).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:14 body . . . member. See Rom. 12:4–5; Eph. 1:22–23; 4:11–16.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:28 On apostles, see notes on Matt. 10:2; Rom. 1:1. prophets. See note on 1 Cor. 12:10. First . . . second . . . third . . . then seems to be a ranking of importance or benefit to the church. Teachers, helping, and administrating do not appear in the list in vv. 8–10. Helping and administrating are not in the rhetorical questions in vv. 29–30. Thus, the lists do not include all possible gifts.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:29–30 Are all apostles? The answer is obviously no. Paul also expects the reader to answer no to all of the following questions.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:31 Earnestly desire implies that Christians can and should want additional spiritual gifts (see 14:1, 13; James 1:5). The higher gifts means those that do more to build up the church (see 1 Cor. 14:5, 12, 17, 26). A still more excellent way than merely seeking the higher gifts is to use the gifts in love (ch. 13) so that others are built up (ch. 14).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:1 tongues . . . angels. See note on 12:10. Tongues is probably mentioned first because the Corinthians have used and emphasized it without love (12:21). On love, see note on John 13:34–35.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:7 The terms believes and hopes are sandwiched between bears and endures and, like them, probably refer to relationships between people. Love believes the best of others and hopes the best for them.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:8 Interpreters differ over the time when Paul expects prophecies to pass away and tongues to cease (along with other gifts represented by these examples). Some think gifts such as prophecy, healing, tongues, interpretation, and miracles were given to validate the apostles' ministries in the early years of the church but then ceased once the entire NT was written and the apostles died (c. A.D. 100). Others think that Paul expected these gifts to continue until Christ returns, which will be the time when "the perfect" (v. 10) ways of speaking and knowing in the age to come replace the "in part" (v. 9) gifts of this age. Support for the second position is found in v.

12, which suggests that “then” (the time when these gifts will cease) is the time of Christ’s return.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:12 mirror dimly. Ancient mirrors were made from polished metal. Thus one’s reflection was more “dim” than in modern mirrors. Face to face seems to refer to Christ’s second coming. The spiritual gifts of this age will no longer be needed then.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:13 faith, hope, and love. The relationship of these three Christian qualities is a frequent theme in Paul’s letters. See Rom. 5:1–5; Gal. 5:5–6; Eph. 4:2–5; Col. 1:4–5; 1 Thess. 1:3.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:1 earnestly desire. God gives spiritual gifts for the good of the church (see v. 12; 12:31). that you may prophesy. See note on 12:10.

FACT

When the church meets, it should be to worship the Lord and to “build up” the church (14:12, 16). “Building up” includes using words and actions to edify and instruct others, or to make others stronger and more mature in Christ.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:2 Speaks not to men but to God indicates that Paul views tongues as a form of prayer and praise in a language the speaker does not understand (contrast Acts 2:1–13). On tongues and prophecy, see note on 1 Cor. 12:10.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:4 The one who speaks in a tongue builds up himself because his spirit prays to God even though he does not understand what is said (see vv. 2, 14, 28).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:5 I want you all to speak in tongues. Paul’s desire to set boundaries on speaking in tongues does not mean he thinks the Corinthians should abandon this gift. It builds up the individual who has it (v. 4) and, if interpreted, it builds up the church. (See also vv. 13, 18, 27, 39.) Still, prophecy is greater because it needs no interpretation. It is more directly useful to the church. Unless someone interprets implies that, when there is an interpreter, prophecy and tongues have equal value.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:6–19 Paul uses several illustrations to show that speaking in tongues without interpretation does not strengthen the faith of anyone other than the speaker; such edification requires understanding.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:14 The comparison between my spirit and my mind shows that Paul is not speaking here of the Holy Spirit but of his own human spirit. "Spirit" in reference to human beings means an inner, invisible faculty that can be especially open to the things of God (see 2:10–15; 5:3–5; Rom. 1:9; 8:16).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:16–17 with your spirit. That is, with your spirit only (in tongues) but not understanding with your mind (see note on v. 2). outsider. An interested inquirer into Christianity (see vv. 23–24).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:18 tongues. See note on 12:10.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:20 Paul tells them not to speak in tongues in church without interpretation, for that would be acting like children and not caring for the needs of others. Compare 3:1–3.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:21 Paul refers to Isa. 28:11. There, God's word of judgment against Israel is spoken in a foreign language.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:22–25 Thus tongues are a sign . . . for unbelievers. As in Isa. 28:11, quoted in 1 Cor. 14:21, uninterpreted tongues are a negative sign of God's judgment on the unbelieving: unbelievers may conclude from hearing uninterpreted tongues that Christians are out of their minds and may therefore leave the church, never to return. prophecy is a sign . . . for believers. Prophecy primarily benefits believers. It also convicts the unbeliever. It exposes the secrets of his heart and causes him to worship God. This, in turn, shows the believers that God is at work among them.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:26 When you come together. Worship in the early church included a hymn, a lesson, a revelation, a tongue, or an interpretation. The goal of building up is like the building of the temple (see 3:16; compare Ex. 25:8).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:27 Each in turn implies that those speaking in tongues could control themselves and take turns. And let someone interpret could include either the person speaking in tongues (see v. 13) or someone else.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:28 And speak to himself and to God means the speaker would use the gift of tongues privately in prayer.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:29 let the others weigh what is said. "The others" means the whole church, not just those with gifts of prophecy or discernment (see 1 Thess. 5:20–21; 1 John 4:1–3). Those who claimed to speak under the Spirit's prompting could be mistaken. It was important for the assembly to decide whether the prophecies were really from the Lord.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:32 the spirits of prophets. The Holy Spirit's work through the prophets (see Rev. 3:1; 4:5 for similar usage).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:33b As in all the churches of the saints is connected to v. 34.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:34–35 the women should keep silent in the churches. Since Paul seems to permit wives to pray and prophesy as long as they do not dishonor their husbands by the way they dress (11:5, 13), it is difficult to see this as an absolute prohibition of their speaking in church meetings (compare Acts 2:17; 21:8–9). Paul is likely forbidding women to speak up and judge prophecies (this is the activity in the immediate context; see 1 Cor. 14:29), since such an activity would undermine male headship. Law also says. Paul is probably thinking of the woman's creation "from" and "for" the man (see 11:8–9; Gen. 2:20–24), as well as a general pattern of male leadership among the people of Israel in the OT.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:37 a command of the Lord. When he wrote to the churches, Paul's words as an apostle had authority equal to the OT Scriptures (see also 1 Tim. 5:18; 2 Pet. 3:15–16).

15:1–58 The Futility of Faith If the Dead Are Not Raised. Many people in the ancient Greco-Roman world believed that death ended life completely or led to a permanent but shadowy existence in the underworld. The concept of having a physical body after death was known mainly from popular fables. Educated people thought the idea was ridiculous. Paul deals with the Corinthians' denial of and confusion about the future, bodily resurrection of Christians (vv. 12, 35). These issues were probably raised in their letter to him (7:1).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:1–11 Paul first establishes the historical reliability of Jesus' resurrection. This lays a firm foundation for his argument that it was only the first step in the resurrection of all deceased believers.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:1–4 in accordance with the Scriptures. Compare Luke 24:27; Acts 17:2–3; Rom. 1:2–4. Paul may be thinking especially of Isa. 53:3–12. For the resurrection, compare Hos. 6:2 and Jonah 1:17; 2:1; Matt. 12:40. For the OT in general pointing to Christ, see Luke 24:27 and Overview of the Bible.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:6 though some have fallen asleep. Paul is careful not to exaggerate (compare 7:10, 12). This shows the great care that early Christians took in preserving historically accurate details about Jesus.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:7 James. See note on 9:4–5. all the apostles. The full group of apostles is larger than “the Twelve.” It included, among others, James and Paul (15:8). One of the qualifications for apostleship was seeing the risen Lord (9:1).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:9 On Paul as persecutor of the church, see Acts 7:58; 8:1–3; 9:1–2; Gal. 1:13; 1 Tim. 1:13.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:12 raised from the dead. Some of the Corinthians denied that believers would be raised. Paul emphasizes four times in vv. 12–19 that those who deny the bodily resurrection of believers also deny the bodily resurrection of Christ.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:17 still in your sins. Jesus’ resurrection is proof that his death was an effective substitutionary sacrifice for sin.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:20 Firstfruits is the first sample of an agricultural crop, which indicates the nature and quality of the rest of the crop. Christ’s resurrection body indicates what the bodies of resurrected believers will be like (see also Rom. 8:29; 1 Cor. 15:23; Col. 1:18).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:22 in Adam all die. See Rom. 5:12, 14–15, 17; Eph. 2:1, 5. in Christ shall all be made alive. See Rom. 5:17, 21; 6:4; Eph. 2:5–6. Adam represented the whole human race. His sin therefore affected all human beings. Similarly, Christ represented all who would belong to him. His obedience therefore affected all believers.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:23 at his coming. When Christ returns, all his people from all time will receive resurrection bodies. Until that time, those who have died exist in heaven as spirits without bodies (see 2 Cor. 5:8; Heb. 12:23; Rev. 6:9). The phrase those who belong to Christ shows that the "all" in 1 Cor. 15:22 does not mean that all people will be saved.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:24–27 On the reign of Christ and his control of all things (under his feet), see Ps. 8:6; 110:1; Eph. 1:20–21; Heb. 2:5–9. death. When believers are finally resurrected from the dead, the destruction of death will be complete. See 1 Cor. 15:54–55; Heb. 2:14–15; Rev. 20:13–14; 21:4.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:28 the Son . . . will also be subjected. Jesus is one with God the Father and equal to the Father in deity (8:6; John 10:30; 14:9; Heb. 1:8). Yet he also submits to God the Father (Mark 14:36; John 5:19, 26–27, 30; 17:4). God will be all in all, in the sense that God's supreme authority over everything will be eternally established, never to be challenged again.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:29 baptized on behalf of the dead. Some interpreters believe this refers to baptism on behalf of deceased people, probably those who had believed in Christ but had not been baptized before they died (see Luke 23:43). Whatever the practice is, Paul reports it without necessarily approving it. He clearly does not command it. The Bible gives no support to the idea that anyone can be saved apart from personal faith in Christ (see notes on John 3:18; 14:6).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:30–34 Taking risks to proclaim the gospel makes no sense if there is no resurrection.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:35–58 Apparently the Corinthians did not understand how material bodies, subject to sickness, death, and eventual decay, could live eternally. Paul explains that God will change the bodies of believers to make them immortal.

FACT

Speaking the truth in an understandable way. When Paul said, “Bad company ruins good morals” (15:33), he was probably quoting the words of a famous Athenian playwright. This is similar to Paul’s sermon in Athens (Acts 17:22–31), where he quotes from non-Christian writers. Christians can often share God’s truth with nonbelievers by relating it to ideas with which they are familiar.

---

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:35–43 How are the dead raised? Using illustrations from the natural world, Paul explains that God will change the bodies of the deceased to make them appropriate for their new, imperishable existence.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:42 imperishable. No longer subject to physical decay or aging.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:43 The terms dishonor and glory refer here to outward physical appearance.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:44–47 Paul’s contrast between natural and spiritual is a contrast between that which is temporally alive and that which is eternal (compare 2:14–3:3). Starting from Gen. 2:7, Paul explains that God created Adam from the dust and animated him with breath. Christ, however, is the last Adam. His resurrection gave him a “spiritual” and therefore imperishable body (compare Phil. 3:21). spiritual body. Not a ghostly, immaterial body but a body animated and empowered by the Holy Spirit.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:51–53 mystery. See notes on 4:1 and 1 Thess. 4:13–18.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:54–55 Death is swallowed up. See v. 26.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:56 power of sin is the law. See Rom. 5:20–21; 7:5–25; 8:1–3.

Earthly Bodies and Resurrection Bodies (1 Corinthians 15)

Verse	Earthly Bodies	Resurrection Bodies
v. 42	perishable	imperishable
v. 43a	exist in dishonor	raised in glory

v. 43b	exist in weakness	raised in power
v. 44	natural	spiritual
vv. 45, 47	first Adam a living being, from the earth	last Adam (Christ) a life-giving spirit, from heaven
vv. 48–49	those who are of earth bear the image of the man of dust	those who are of heaven shall bear the image of the man of heaven
vv. 53–54	mortal	immortal

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:58 Therefore implies a practical application for the doctrine of the resurrection. The work Christians do for the kingdom of God will bring results that last forever.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:1–12 The Collection for the Saints and Travel Plans. Paul explains how his future ministry will involve the Corinthians.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:1 Now concerning. See note on 7:1. collection. This is Paul's collection of money for needy Jewish Christians in Jerusalem. (See Acts 24:17; Rom. 15:25–28, 31; 2 Corinthians 8–9.) Paul brought such offerings to the church in Judea more than once. (See Acts 11:27–30, to which Gal. 2:10 may refer.) On generosity among Christians, see 2 Cor. 8:9–15.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:2 first day of every week. A Jewish expression for Sunday. It is similar to the phrase used in the Gospels to describe the day when Jesus rose from the dead (Matt. 28:1; Mark 16:2; Luke 24:1; John 20:1). Christians gathered for worship on Sunday, not Saturday (see Acts 20:7).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:3 Paul would send the money with several representatives chosen by the Corinthian church. He took care to prevent even an appearance of misuse of funds.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:8 Pentecost. The "Feast of Weeks," described in Lev. 23:15–22. It was a grain harvest celebration that ended 50 days after Passover. This means Paul was probably writing in the spring, between Passover and this final day of Pentecost.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:10 When Timothy comes. Timothy is apparently already on his way to Corinth. (See 4:17 and Acts 19:22.)

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:12 Paul would not have urged Apollos to visit Corinth if he disagreed with his theology (see 1:12; 3:4; 4:6).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:13–24 Closing Admonitions and Greetings. Paul tells the Corinthians to persevere, love, and submit to good leaders. He then gives greetings from Christians in Asia.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:13 act like men. Compare Josh. 1:6–7, 9; 10:25; 1 Chron. 28:20.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:17 Perhaps these were the men who brought the Corinthians' letter to Paul (7:1).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:19 the church in their house. Early Christian churches usually met in homes (compare Rom. 16:3–5) since they were usually small and Christianity was not recognized as a legal religion (see Acts 18:7; Col. 4:15; Philem. 2).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:20 holy kiss. See note on 2 Cor. 13:12–13. Many practices with symbolic meanings change from culture to culture (such as footwashing, or head covering for wives; see note on 1 Cor. 11:5–6). A "holy kiss" would not mean the same thing today that it did in the first century. Such commands are best obeyed by substituting an action (such as a handshake or hug or bow) that would have the same meaning today.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:21 I, Paul. Paul typically dictated his letters to secretaries (Rom. 16:22), but sometimes he would sign the letter by hand to authenticate it (2 Thess. 3:17), to give a personal farewell greeting (Col. 4:18), or to emphasize a point (Gal. 6:11; Philem. 19). In light of 1 Cor. 16:22, Paul's personal signature here probably falls into the third category.

FACT

I, Paul. Paul typically used a scribe or secretary to write down his letters as he dictated them. However, in order to remove any doubt that the letter reflected his actual thoughts and words, Paul would often sign his own name at the end (16:21).

---

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:22 Anyone who might say "Jesus is accursed" (12:3) is himself accursed. The phrase Our Lord, come! is Aramaic rather than Greek. It is probably an early Jewish Christian prayer for Jesus' return (compare Rev. 22:20). It is additional evidence that early followers of Jesus gave him the same title they used for God the Father.

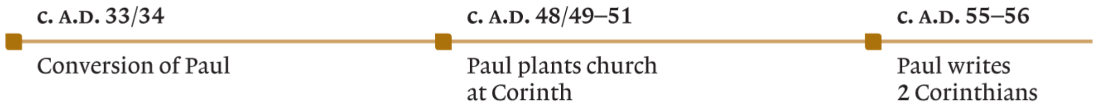
Introduction to 2 Corinthians

Introduction to 2 Corinthians

Timeline



Author, Date, and Recipients

The apostle Paul wrote 2 Corinthians from Macedonia around A.D. 55/56. This was approximately a year after he wrote 1 Corinthians and a year before he wrote his letter to the Romans. This is the fourth letter he had written to the Corinthian church (in addition to 1 Corinthians, see the letters mentioned in 1 Cor. 5:9 and 2 Cor. 2:3–4).

Theme

The central theme of 2 Corinthians is the relationship between suffering and the power of the Spirit in Paul's apostolic life, ministry, and message. Paul's opponents had questioned his motives and his personal courage. They argued that he had suffered too much to be a Spirit-filled apostle of the risen Christ. But Paul argues that his suffering is the means God uses to reveal his glory (1:3–4, 11, 20).

Purpose

Paul vindicates his apostolic ministry in order to (1) strengthen the faithful majority in Corinth (primarily chs. 1–7); (2) encourage them to contribute to the financial needs of other believers, as an expression of their repentance (primarily chs. 8–9); and (3) offer the rebellious minority in Corinth another chance to repent before he returns to judge those still rejecting him and his message (primarily chs. 10–13).

Key Themes

1. Paul's suffering imitates the cross of Christ. Those who reject him because he suffers are "false apostles" and "servants of Satan" (11:13–15).
2. Paul is a servant of the new covenant (3:6). His ministry and message of the cross mediates the Spirit of the living God and God's righteousness to believers (3:3, 6–9; 5:14–15, 21).
3. Endurance through difficulty and Christlike behavior are made possible by the grace of God and are modeled by Paul himself. These qualities are the greatest display of God's presence, power, and glory in this fallen world (1:12–14; 6:14–7:1; 12:7–10; 13:4).
4. The Spirit transforms believers into the image of God, which is seen in Christ. This new creation is characterized by God's righteousness. Believers therefore embody the new creation of the new covenant by living for the sake of others. This is made possible because believers are reconciled with God through the cross (3:18; 5:15, 17–21).
5. Repentance expresses itself in holiness. This is a purity-producing love for God and his church and a unity-creating love for one's neighbor (6:14–7:1; chs. 8–9).
6. Christ, as Savior, is also the universal Judge. He will judge all people according to their deeds. The Spirit transforms those in whom he dwells as a guarantee of the "eternal weight of glory" to come for believers at the resurrection (1:22; 3:18; 5:5, 9–11).

The Setting of 2 Corinthians

c. A.D. 55–56

Paul wrote 2 Corinthians from Macedonia a year or so after writing 1 Corinthians, during his third missionary journey. He had just finished his three-year ministry in Ephesus and was visiting the churches in Macedonia as he made his way to Corinth. In Macedonia he met Titus, who had returned from Corinth with news about the church there.

The Global Message of 2 Corinthians

Paul's second letter to the Corinthians unlocks one of the great secrets of Christian life and ministry to believers all around the globe: God's power is channeled through human weakness.

Second Corinthians and Redemptive History

Throughout the Old Testament we see an ever-heightening anticipation of the coming Messiah—a Davidic king who was expected to wipe out God's enemies once and for all, restore God's people, and reign forevermore (2 Sam. 7:12–16; Psalm 110; Jer. 33:14–18; Dan. 7:13–14; Zech. 6:12–13). Mingled in with these hope-filled prophecies, however, are perplexing predictions of a coming one who would suffer on behalf of God's people (Psalm 22; Isa. 52:13–53:12).

At the pinnacle of world history, God brought about his long-promised restoration through the suffering of his own Son. God brought together these two strands—the triumphant king and the suffering victim—in one person.

The result is that believers all over the world are not required to qualify themselves with any kind of moral goodness or education or family background or anything else they might bring to the table. Rather, all it takes to qualify for God's favor is to acknowledge that one does not qualify—and then look to Christ. As God's triumphant Son, Jesus qualified for God's favor in a way none of us ever can. Yet as God's suffering servant he allowed himself to be treated as one who was disqualified. Consequently, all people around the world who trust in him, though condemned in themselves, can be counted as righteous in God's sight.

Universal Themes in 2 Corinthians

Strength in weakness. This is the central message of 2 Corinthians. Throughout the letter Paul turns upside down our natural expectations of the way life works. Contrary to the way the world and our own human hearts naturally function, God takes what is low, despised, and weak to accomplish his purposes. Second Corinthians tells us that comfort comes through affliction (2 Cor. 1:3–7), sufficiency through insufficiency (3:1–6), life through death (4:7–15), blessing through suffering (6:3–10), salvation through grief (7:2–10), abundance through poverty (8:1–2, 9, 14), and boasting through hardship (11:16–30). Chapter 12 then gives the key principle: God's "power is made perfect in weakness" (12:9). Weakness is not good in itself, yet it is God's chosen means of displaying his grace and glory and power.

Reconciliation. One of the main reasons Paul wrote 2 Corinthians was to emphasize the importance of reconciliation among believers. Paul addresses the need for the Corinthians to reconcile with an estranged brother (2 Cor. 2:5–11) as well as with Paul himself (7:2–16). Indeed, to fail to reconcile is to be outwitted by Satan (2:11). As believers face divisions across the global church as well as broken relationships closer to home, Paul's gentle exhortations to pursue restoration when possible are words worth remembering.

Servant leadership. In both letters to the church at Corinth but especially in 2 Corinthians, Paul gives a powerful example of what it means to lead the body of Christ. Above all, Christian leaders are to do what Christ himself did: pour out their lives in self-giving love for the sake of others. While Christians in no way atone for sin as Christ did, we do spread the knowledge of that atonement in the way he did—through sacrificial love (2 Cor. 4:10–12). "If we are afflicted, it is for your comfort and salvation" (1:6). "For what we proclaim is not ourselves, but Jesus Christ as Lord, with ourselves as your servants for Jesus' sake" (4:5). Servant leadership is not optional for the global church. It is not for some regions of the world but not for others. It is the high calling of all who lead God's people.

The Global Message of 2 Corinthians for Today

The letter of 2 Corinthians provides rich comfort and hope for believers today around the world.

God's way of measuring success and significance is entirely different than the world's way. In many places today the church is publicly marginalized because it is seen as silly, or it is persecuted because it is seen as threatening, or it is simply ignored because it is seen as irrelevant. Judged by the world's standards of influence, the church seems powerless at such times. Viewed with heaven's eyes, however, it is often precisely in such places of adversity that the Spirit is alive and well and the gospel is advancing (2 Thess. 3:1).

This is hope-giving, but also humbling. In those places around the world today where statistics would seem to indicate that the church is healthy, such health may be hollow. Where the numbers seem to indicate success in evangelism, who knows how many will turn out to have been “rocky ground” (see Mark 4:5)? Where significant financial resources have produced slick programs and impressive services, has dependence on the Holy Spirit been neglected? God will accomplish his work in the world, whether “by many or by few” (1 Sam. 14:6).

Paul’s second letter to the Corinthians is therefore both heartening and chastening. It encourages those who are struggling while cautioning those whose lives may be outwardly impressive. As the global church continues to pursue our sacred calling to make disciples of all nations (Matt. 28:19), may we do so in the glad knowledge that natural eloquence, impressive resumes, and sparkling educations are not required for the Spirit to move in power. Such things, while good, may even get in the way. All that is needed is sincere openness to the Lord who in Christ became weak himself (2 Cor. 13:4) so that weak sinners can know true strength, by his grace.

Greeting

2 CORINTHIANS 1 [†]Paul, [a]an apostle of Christ Jesus [b]by the will of God, and [c]Timothy our brother,

To the church of God that is at Corinth, [d]with all the saints who are in the whole of Achaia:

[2][†] [e]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

God of All Comfort

[3][†] [f]Blessed be the [g]God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and [h]God of all comfort, [4][†] [i]who comforts us in all our affliction, so that we may be able to comfort those who are in any affliction, with the comfort with which we ourselves are comforted by God. [5][†]For as we share abundantly in [j]Christ's sufferings, so through Christ we share abundantly in comfort too.[1] [6][†] [k]If we are afflicted, it is for your comfort and salvation; and if we are comforted, it is for your comfort, which you experience when you patiently endure the same sufferings that we suffer. [7]Our hope for you is unshaken, for we know that as you [l]share in our sufferings, you will also share in our comfort.

[8][†]For we do not want you to be unaware, brothers,[2] of [m]the affliction we experienced in Asia. For we were so utterly burdened beyond our strength that we despaired of life itself. [9]Indeed, we felt that we had received the sentence of death. But that was to make us [n]rely not on ourselves [o]but on God [p]who raises the dead. [10][†] [q]He delivered us from such a deadly peril, and he will deliver us. [r]On him we have set our hope that he will deliver us again. [11] [s]You also must help us by prayer, so that many will give thanks on our behalf [t]for the blessing granted us through the prayers of many.

Paul's Change of Plans

[12][†]For our boast is this, [u]the testimony of our conscience, that we behaved in the world with simplicity[3] and [v]godly sincerity, [w]not by earthly wisdom but by the grace of God, and supremely so toward you. [13]For we are not writing to you anything other than what you read and understand and I hope you will fully understand— [14][†]just as you did [x]partially understand us—that [y]on the day of our Lord Jesus [z]you will boast of us as [a]we will boast of you.

[15][†]Because I was sure of this, [b]I wanted to come to you first, so that you might have [c]a second [d]experience of grace. [16]I wanted to visit you [e]on my way to Macedonia, and to come back to you from Macedonia and have you send me on my way to Judea. [17]Was I vacillating when I wanted to do this? Do I make my plans [f]according to the flesh, ready to say "Yes, yes" and "No, no" at the same time? [18][†]As surely as [g]God is faithful, [h]our word to you has not been Yes and No. [19]For [i]the Son of God, Jesus Christ, whom we proclaimed among you, [j]Silvanus and Timothy and I, was not Yes and No, but [k]in him it is always Yes. [20][†]For [l]all the promises of God find their Yes in him. That is why it is through him that we utter our [m]Amen to God for his glory. [21][†]And it is God who establishes us with you in Christ, and [n]has anointed us, [22]and who has also [o]put his seal on us and [p]given us his Spirit in our hearts as a guarantee. [4]

[23][†]But [q]I call God to witness against me—it was [r]to spare you that I refrained from coming again to Corinth. [24]Not that we [s]lord it over your faith, but we work with you for your joy, for you stand firm [t]in your faith.

2 CORINTHIANS 2 [†]For I made up my mind [u]not to make another painful visit to you. [2]For [v]if I cause you pain, who is there to make me glad but the one whom I have pained? [3]And I wrote as I did, so that when I came I might not suffer pain from those who should have made me rejoice, [w]for I felt sure of all of you, that my joy would be the joy of you all. [4][†]For [x]I wrote to you out of much affliction and anguish of heart and with many tears, not to cause you pain but to let you know the abundant love that I have for you.

Forgive the Sinner

[5][†]Now [y]if anyone has caused pain, [z]he has caused it not to me, but [a]in some measure—not to put it too severely—to all of you. [6][†]For such a one,

[b]this punishment by the majority is enough, [7]so [c]you should rather turn to forgive and comfort him, or he may be overwhelmed by excessive sorrow. [8]So I beg you to reaffirm your love for him. [9]For this is why I wrote, that I might [d]test you and know [e]whether you are obedient in everything. [10]Anyone whom you forgive, I also forgive. Indeed, what I have forgiven, if I have forgiven anything, has been for your sake in the presence of Christ, [11][†]so that we would not be outwitted by Satan; for [f]we are not ignorant of his designs.

Triumph in Christ

[12][†]When [g]I came to Troas to preach the gospel of Christ, even though [h]a door was opened for me in the Lord, [13]my spirit [i]was not at rest because I did not find my brother Titus there. So I took leave of them and went on to Macedonia.

[14][†]But [j]thanks be to God, who in Christ always [k]leads us in triumphal procession, and through us spreads [l]the fragrance of the knowledge of him everywhere. [15][†]For we are the aroma of Christ to God among [m]those who are being saved and among [n]those who are perishing, [16][†] [o]to one a fragrance from death to death, [o]to the other a fragrance from life to life. [p]Who is sufficient for these things? [17]For we are not, like so many, peddlers of God’s word, but as men of sincerity, as commissioned by God, in the sight of God we speak in Christ.

Ministers of the New Covenant

2 CORINTHIANS 3 [†] [q]Are we beginning to commend ourselves again? Or do we need, [r]as some do, [s]letters of recommendation to you, or from you? [2][†] [t]You yourselves are our letter of recommendation, written on our [1] hearts, to be known and read by all. [3]And you show that you are a letter from Christ delivered by us, written not with ink but with the Spirit of [u]the living God, not on [v]tablets of stone but on [w]tablets of [x]human hearts. [2]

[4] [y]Such is the confidence that we have through Christ toward God. [5][†] [z]Not that we are sufficient in ourselves to claim anything as coming from us, but [a]our sufficiency is from God, [6][†]who has made us sufficient to be [b]ministers of [c]a new covenant, not of [d]the letter but of the Spirit. For the letter kills, but [e]the Spirit gives life.

[7][†]Now if [f]the ministry of death, carved in letters on stone, came with such glory [g]that the Israelites could not gaze at Moses’ face because of its glory, which was being brought to an end, [8]will not the ministry of the Spirit have even more glory? [9]For if there was glory in [h]the ministry of condemnation, [i]the ministry of righteousness must far exceed it in glory. [10][†]Indeed, in this case, what once had glory has come to have no glory at all, because of the glory that surpasses it. [11]For if what was being brought to an end came with glory, much more will what is permanent have glory.

[12][†]Since we have such a hope, [j]we are very bold, [13][†]not like Moses, [k]who would put a veil over his face so that the Israelites might not gaze at the outcome of what was being brought to an end. [14][†]But [l]their minds were [m]hardened. For to this day, [n]when they read [o]the old covenant, that same veil remains unlifted, because only through Christ is it taken away. [15]Yes, to this day whenever Moses is read a veil lies over their hearts. [16]But when [p]one [3] turns to the Lord, [q]the veil is removed. [17][†]Now the Lord [4] is the Spirit, and where [r]the Spirit of the Lord is, there is [s]freedom. [18][†]And we all, with unveiled face, [t]beholding [u]the glory of the Lord, [5] [v]are being transformed into the same image [w]from one degree of glory to another. For this comes from the Lord who is the Spirit.

The Light of the Gospel

2 CORINTHIANS 4 [†]Therefore, having [x]this ministry [y]by the mercy of God, [1] we do not lose heart. [2][†]But we have renounced [z]disgraceful, underhanded ways. We refuse to practice [2] cunning or [a]to tamper with God’s word, but [b]by the open statement of the truth [c]we would commend ourselves to everyone’s conscience in the sight of God. [3][†]And even [d]if our gospel is veiled, [e]it is veiled to [f]those who are perishing. [4]In their case [g]the god of this world [d]has blinded the minds of the unbelievers, to keep them from seeing [h]the light of [i]the gospel of the glory of Christ, [j]who is the image of God. [5]For what [k]we proclaim is not ourselves, but Jesus Christ as Lord, with [l]ourselves as your servants [3] for Jesus’ sake. [6][†]For God, who said, [m]“Let light shine out of darkness,” [n]has shone in our hearts to give [o]the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

Treasure in Jars of Clay

[7][†]But we have this treasure in [p]jars of clay, [q]to show that the surpassing power belongs to God and not to us. [8]We are [r]afflicted in every way, but not crushed; perplexed, but not driven to despair; [9]persecuted, but [s]not forsaken; [t]struck down, but not destroyed; [10][u]always carrying in the body the death of Jesus, [v]so that the life of Jesus may also be manifested in our bodies. [11][†]For we who live are always being given over to death for Jesus’ sake, so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our mortal flesh. [12]So [w]death is at work in us, but life in you.

[13][†]Since we have [x]the same spirit of faith according to what has been written, [y]“I believed, and so I spoke,” we also believe, and so we also speak, [14]knowing that [z]he who raised the Lord Jesus [a]will raise us also with Jesus and [b]bring us with you into his presence. [15]For [c]it is all for your sake, so that as [d]grace extends to more and more people it may increase thanksgiving, [e]to the glory of God.

[16][†]So we do not lose heart. [f]Though our outer self[4] is wasting away, [g]our inner self [h]is being renewed day by day. [17][†]For [i]this light momentary affliction is preparing for us an eternal weight of glory beyond all comparison, [18][j]as we look not to the things that are seen but to the things that are unseen. For the things that are seen are transient, but the things that are unseen are eternal.

Our Heavenly Dwelling

2 CORINTHIANS 5 [†]For we know that if [k]the tent that is [l]our earthly home is destroyed, we have a building from God, [m]a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. [2][†]For in this tent [n]we groan, longing to [o]put on our heavenly dwelling, [3]if indeed by putting it on[1] we may not be found naked. [4]For while we are still in this tent, we groan, being burdened—not that we would be unclothed, but that we would be further clothed, so that what is mortal [p] may be swallowed up by life. [5][†]He who has prepared us for this very thing is God, [q] who has given us the Spirit as a guarantee.

[6][†]So we are always of good courage. We know that [r] while we are at home in the body we are away from the Lord, [7][†]for [s] we walk by faith, not [t] by sight. [8][†]Yes, we are of good courage, and we [u] would rather be away from the body and at home with the Lord. [9][†]So whether we are at home or away, we make it our aim to [v] please him. [10][†]For [w] we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, [x] so that each one may receive what is due for what he has done in the body, whether good or evil.

The Ministry of Reconciliation

[11][†]Therefore, knowing [y] the fear of the Lord, we persuade others. But [z] what we are is known to God, and I hope it is known also to your conscience. [12][†] [a] We are not commending ourselves to you again but [b] giving you cause to boast about us, so that you may be able to answer those who boast about outward appearance and not about what is in the heart. [13][†]For if we [c] are beside ourselves, it is for God; if we are in our right mind, it is for you. [14][†]For the love of Christ [d] controls us, because we have concluded this: that [e] one has died for all, therefore all have died; [15]and he died for all, [f] that those who live might no longer live for themselves but [g] for him who for their sake died and was raised.

[16][†]From now on, therefore, [h] we regard no one according to the flesh. Even though we once regarded Christ according to the flesh, we regard him thus no longer. [17][†]Therefore, if anyone is [i] in Christ, he is [j] a new creation. [2] [k] The old has passed away; behold, the new has come. [18][†]All this is from God, [l] who through Christ reconciled us to himself and gave us [m] the ministry of reconciliation; [19]that is, in Christ God was reconciling [3] the world to himself, [n] not counting their trespasses against them, and entrusting to us [m] the message of reconciliation. [20]Therefore, [o] we are ambassadors for Christ, [p] God making his appeal through us. We implore you on behalf of Christ, be reconciled to God. [21][†] [q] For our sake he made him to be sin [r] who knew no sin, so that in him we might become [s] the righteousness of God.

2 CORINTHIANS 6 [†] [t]Working together with him, then, [u]we appeal to you [v]not to receive the grace of God in vain. [2][†]For he says,

[w]"In a favorable time I listened to you, and in a day of salvation I have helped you."

Behold, [x]now is the [y]favorable time; behold, now is the day of salvation. [3][†]We [z]put no obstacle in anyone's way, so that no fault may be found with our ministry, [4][†]but [a]as servants of God we commend ourselves in every way: [b]by great endurance, [c]in afflictions, [d]hardships, calamities, [5][e]beatings, imprisonments, [f]riots, labors, sleepless nights, hunger; [6][g]by purity, [h]knowledge, patience, kindness, [i]the Holy Spirit, [j]genuine love; [7][†]by [k]truthful speech, and [l]the power of God; with [m]the weapons of righteousness for the right hand and for the left; [8]through honor and dishonor, [n]through slander and praise. We are treated as impostors, and yet are true; [9]as unknown, and [o]yet well known; [p]as dying, and behold, we live; [q]as punished, and yet not killed; [10][r]as sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; [s]as poor, yet making many rich; [t]as having nothing, [u]yet possessing everything.

[11]We have spoken freely to you, [1] Corinthians; [v]our heart is wide open. [12]You are not restricted by us, but [w]you are restricted in your own affections. [13][†] [x]In return (I speak [y]as to children) widen your hearts also.

The Temple of the Living God

[14][†] [z]Do not be unequally yoked with unbelievers. For [a]what partnership has righteousness with lawlessness? Or [b]what fellowship has light with darkness? [15][†] [c]What accord has Christ with Belial? [2] Or what portion does a believer share with an unbeliever? [16][†]What agreement has the temple of God with idols? For [d]we are the temple of the living God; as God said, [e]"I will make my dwelling among them and [f]walk among them, and [g]I will be their God,

and they shall be my people.

17[†] Therefore [h] go out from their midst, and be separate from them, says the Lord,
and touch no unclean thing;
then I will welcome you,
18 [i] and I will be a father to you, and you shall be sons and daughters to me,
says the Lord Almighty.”

2 CORINTHIANS 7 [†]Since we have these promises, beloved, [j] let us cleanse ourselves from every defilement of body [1] and spirit, bringing holiness to completion in the fear of God.

Paul’s Joy

2[†] [k] Make room in your hearts [2] for us. [l] We have wronged no one, we have corrupted no one, we have taken advantage of no one. 3I do not say this to condemn you, for I said before that [m] you are in our hearts, to die together and to live together. 4I am acting with [n] great boldness toward you; [o] I have great pride in you; [p] I am filled with comfort. In all our affliction, I am overflowing with joy.

5[†]For even [q] when we came into Macedonia, our bodies had no rest, but we were afflicted at every turn—[r] fighting without and fear within. 6[†]But [s] God, who comforts the downcast, [t] comforted us by the coming of Titus, 7and not only by his coming but also by the comfort with which he was comforted by you, as he told us of your longing, your mourning, your zeal for me, so that I rejoiced still more. 8For [u] even if I made you grieve with my letter, I do not regret it—though [v] I did regret it, for I see that that letter grieved you, though only for a while. 9As it is, I rejoice, not because you were grieved, but [w] because you were grieved into repenting. For you felt a godly grief, so that you suffered no loss through us.

10[†]For [x] godly grief produces a repentance that leads to salvation without regret, whereas [y] worldly grief produces death. 11[†]For see what earnestness this godly grief has produced in you, but also what eagerness to clear yourselves, what indignation, what fear, what longing, [z] what zeal, what punishment! At every point you have proved yourselves innocent in the matter. [12]So although I wrote to you, it was not for the sake of the one [a]who did the wrong, nor for the sake of the one who suffered the wrong, but in order that your earnestness for us might be revealed to you in the sight of God. [13][†]Therefore [b]we are comforted.

And besides our own comfort, we rejoiced still more at the joy of Titus, because his spirit [c]has been refreshed by you all. [14]For [d]whatever boasts I made to him about you, I was not put to shame. But just as everything we said to you [e]was true, so also our boasting before Titus has proved true. [15]And his affection for you is even greater, as he remembers [f]the obedience of you all, how you received him with fear and trembling. [16][†]I rejoice, because I have complete [g]confidence in you.

Encouragement to Give Generously

2 CORINTHIANS 8 [†]We want you to know, brothers, [1] about the grace of God that has been [h]given among the churches of Macedonia, [2][†]for in a severe test of affliction, their abundance of joy and [i]their extreme poverty have overflowed in a wealth of generosity on their part. [3]For they gave [j]according to their means, as I can testify, and beyond their means, of their own accord, [4]begging us earnestly [k]for the favor [2] of taking part in [l]the relief of the saints— [5]and this, not as we expected, but they [m]gave themselves first to the Lord and then by the will of God to us. [6]Accordingly, [n]we urged Titus that as he had started, so he should complete among you [o]this act of grace. [7][†]But as [p]you excel in everything—in faith, in speech, in knowledge, in all earnestness, and in our love for you [3]—[q]see that you excel in this act of grace also.

[8][†] [r]I say this not as a command, but to prove by the earnestness of others that your love also is genuine. [9]For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that [s]though he was rich, yet for your sake he became poor, so that you by his poverty might become rich. [10]And in this matter [t]I give my judgment: [u]this benefits you, who [v]a year ago started not only to do this work but also to desire to do it. [11]So now finish doing it as well, so that your readiness in desiring it may be matched by your completing it out of what you have. [12][†]For if the readiness is there, it is acceptable [w]according to what a person has, not according to what he does not have. [13][†]For I do not mean that others should be eased and you burdened, but that as a matter of fairness [14]your abundance at the present time should supply [x]their need, so that their abundance may supply your need, that there may be fairness. [15]As it is written, [y]“Whoever gathered much had nothing left over, and whoever gathered little had no lack.”

Commendation of Titus

[16][†]But [z]thanks be to God, [a]who put into the heart of Titus the same earnest care I have for you. [17]For [b]he not only accepted our appeal, but being himself very earnest he is going [4] to you of his own accord.

[18][†]With him we are sending [5] [c]the brother who is famous among [d]all the churches for his preaching of the gospel. [19][†]And not only that, but he has been [e]appointed by the churches to travel with us as we carry out this act of [f]grace that is being ministered by us, [g]for the glory of the Lord himself and to show our good will. [20]We take this course so that no one should blame us about this generous gift that is being administered by us, [21]for [h]we aim at what is honorable [i]not only in the Lord's sight but also in the sight of man. [22]And with them we are sending our brother whom we have often tested and found earnest in many matters, but who is now more earnest than ever because of his great confidence in you. [23][†]As for Titus, he is [j]my partner and fellow worker for your benefit. And as for our brothers, they are messengers [6] of the churches, the glory of Christ. [24]So give proof before the churches of your love and of [k]our boasting about you to these men.

The Collection for Christians in Jerusalem

2 CORINTHIANS 9 Now [l]it is superfluous for me to write to you about [m]the ministry for the saints, [2]for I know your readiness, [n]of which I boast about you to the people of Macedonia, saying that Achaia has been ready [o]since last year. And your zeal has stirred up most of them. [3]But [p]I am sending [1] the brothers so that our boasting about you may not prove empty in this matter, so that you may be ready, [q]as I said you would be. [4]Otherwise, if some Macedonians [r]come with me and find that you are not ready, we would be humiliated—to say nothing of you—for being so confident. [5]So I thought it necessary to urge the brothers to go on ahead to you and arrange in advance for the [s]gift [2] you have promised, so that it may be ready [t]as a willing gift, [u]not as an exaction. [3]

The Cheerful Giver

[6][†]The point is this: [v]whoever sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and whoever sows bountifully [4] will also reap bountifully. [7][†]Each one must give as he has decided in his heart, [w]not reluctantly or under compulsion, for [x]God loves a cheerful giver. [8]And [y]God is able to make all grace abound to you, so that having all sufficiency [5] in all things at all times, you may abound in every good work. [9]As it is written, > [z]"He has distributed freely, he has given to the poor;

> his righteousness endures forever."

[10][†]He who supplies [a]seed to the sower and bread for food will supply and multiply your seed for sowing and [b]increase the harvest of your righteousness. [11] [c]You will be enriched in every way to be generous in every way, which [d]through us will produce thanksgiving to God. [12]For the ministry of this service is not only supplying [e]the needs of the saints but is also overflowing in many thanksgivings to God. [13]By their approval of this service, [f]they [6] will glorify God because of your submission that comes from your [g]confession of the gospel of Christ, and the generosity of your contribution for them and for all others, [14]while they long for you and pray for you, because of the surpassing grace of God upon you. [15][†] [h]Thanks be to God for his inexpressible gift!

Paul Defends His Ministry

2 CORINTHIANS 10 [†] [i]I, Paul, myself entreat you, by the [j]meekness and gentleness of Christ—I who am humble when face to face with you, but bold toward you when I am away!— [2]I beg of you [k]that when I am present I may not have to show [l]boldness with such confidence as I count on showing against some who suspect us of walking according to the flesh. [3][†]For though we walk in the flesh, we are not waging war according to the flesh. [4]For the [m]weapons of [n]our warfare are not of the flesh but have [o]divine power [p]to destroy strongholds. [5]We destroy arguments and [q]every lofty opinion raised against the knowledge of God, and take every thought captive to [r]obey Christ, [6] [s]being ready to punish every disobedience, [t]when your obedience is complete.

[7] [u]Look at what is before your eyes. [v]If anyone is confident that he is Christ's, let him remind himself that just as [w]he is Christ's, [x]so also are we. [8][†]For even if I boast a little too much of [y]our authority, which the Lord gave for building you up and not for destroying you, I will not be ashamed. [9][†]I do not want to appear to be frightening you with my letters. [10]For they say, “His letters are weighty and strong, but [z]his bodily presence is weak, and [a]his speech of no account.” [11]Let such a person understand that what we say by letter when absent, we do when present. [12][†]Not that we dare to classify or [b]compare ourselves with some of those who [c]are commending themselves. But when they measure themselves by one another and compare themselves with one another, they are [d]without understanding.

[13][†]But we will not boast [e]beyond limits, but will [f]boast only with regard to the area of influence God assigned to us, [g]to reach even to you. [14]For we are not overextending ourselves, as though we did not reach you. [h]For we were the first to come all the way to you with the gospel of Christ. [15][†]We do not boast beyond limit in the labors of others. But our hope is that [i]as your faith increases, our area of influence among you may be [j]greatly enlarged, [16]so that we may preach the gospel in lands beyond you, without boasting of work already done in another’s area of influence. [17][†]“Let [k]the one who boasts, boast in the Lord.” [18]For it is [l]not the one who commends himself who is approved, but the one [m]whom the Lord commends.

Paul and the False Apostles

2 CORINTHIANS 11 I wish you would bear with me in a little foolishness. Do bear with me! [2][†]For I feel a divine jealousy for you, since [n]I betrothed you to one husband, [o]to present you [p]as a pure virgin to Christ. [3][†]But I am afraid that [q]as the serpent deceived Eve by his cunning, your thoughts [r]will be led astray from a [s]sincere and [t]pure devotion to Christ. [4][†]For if someone comes and [u]proclaims another Jesus than the one we proclaimed, or if you receive a different spirit from the one you received, or if you accept [v]a different gospel from the one you accepted, you put up with it readily enough. [5][†]Indeed, I consider that [w]I am not in the least inferior to these super-apostles. [6][x]Even if I am unskilled in speaking, [y]I am not so in knowledge; indeed, in every way [z]we have made this plain to you in all things.

[7][†]Or [a] did I commit a sin in humbling myself so that you might be exalted, because [b] I preached God's gospel to you free of charge? [8][†]I robbed other churches by accepting support from them in order to serve you. [9][†]And when I was with you and was [c] in need, [d] I did not burden anyone, for the brothers who came from Macedonia [e] supplied my need. So I refrained and will refrain [f] from burdening you in any way. [10] [g] As the truth of Christ is in me, this boasting of mine [h] will not be silenced in the regions of Achaia. [11]And why? [i] Because I do not love you? [j] God knows I do!

[12]And what I am doing I will continue to do, [k] in order to undermine the claim of those who would like to claim that in their boasted mission they work on the same terms as we do. [13][†]For such men are [l] false apostles, [m] deceitful workmen, [n] disguising themselves as apostles of Christ. [14]And no wonder, for even Satan disguises himself as [o] an angel of light. [15][†]So it is no surprise if his servants, also, disguise themselves as [p] servants of righteousness. [q] Their end will correspond to their deeds.

Paul's Sufferings as an Apostle

[16][†]I repeat, [r] let no one think me foolish. But even if you do, accept me as a fool, so that I too may boast a little. [17]What I am saying [s] with this boastful confidence, [t] I say not as the Lord would [1] but as a fool. [18]Since [u] many boast according to the flesh, I too will boast. [19]For you gladly bear with fools, [v] being wise yourselves! [20][†]For you bear it if someone [w] makes slaves of you, or [x] devours you, or takes advantage of you, or puts on airs, or [y] strikes you in the face. [21][†]To my shame, I must say, [z] we were too weak for that!

But whatever anyone else dares to boast of—I am speaking as a fool—I also dare to boast of that. [22]Are they Hebrews? [a] So am I. Are they Israelites? So am I. Are they offspring of Abraham? So am I. [23]Are they [b] servants of Christ? [c] I am a better one—I am talking like a madman—with far greater labors, [d] far more imprisonments, [e] with countless beatings, and [f] often near death. [24][†]Five times I received at the hands of the Jews the [g] forty lashes less one. [25][†]Three times I was [h] beaten with rods. [i] Once I was stoned. Three times I [j] was shipwrecked; a night and a day I was adrift at sea; [26]on frequent journeys, in danger from rivers, danger from robbers, [k] danger from my own people, [l] danger from Gentiles, [m] danger in the city, danger in the wilderness, danger at sea, danger from false brothers; [27] [n] in toil and hardship, through many a sleepless night, [o] in hunger and thirst, often without food, [2] in cold and exposure. [28][†]And, apart from other things, there is the daily pressure on me of my anxiety for [p] all the churches. [29] [q] Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is made to fall, and I am not indignant?

[30][†] [r] If I must boast, I will boast of the things that show my weakness.
[31] [s] The God and Father of the Lord Jesus, [t] he who is blessed forever, [u] knows that I am not lying. [32][†]At Damascus, the governor under King Aretas [v] was guarding the city of Damascus in order to seize me, [33] [w] but I was let down in a basket through a window in the wall and escaped his hands.

Paul’s Visions and His Thorn

2 CORINTHIANS 12 [†]I must go on boasting. Though there is nothing to be gained by it, I will go on to visions and [x] revelations of the Lord. [2][†]I know a man [y] in Christ who fourteen years ago was [z] caught up to [a] the third heaven—whether in the body or out of the body I do not know, [b] God knows. [3]And I know that this man was caught up into [c] paradise—whether in the body or out of the body I do not know, [b] God knows— [4]and he heard things that cannot be told, which man may not utter. [5]On behalf of this man
I will boast, but on my own behalf I will not boast, [d] except of my weaknesses— [6]though if I should wish to boast, [e] I would not be a fool, for I would be speaking the truth; but I refrain from it, so that no one may think more of me than he sees in me or hears from me. [7][†]So [f] to keep me from becoming conceited because of the surpassing greatness of the revelations, [1] [g] a thorn was given me in the flesh, [h] a messenger of Satan to harass me, to keep me from becoming conceited. [8] [i] Three times I pleaded with the Lord about this, that it should leave me. [9][†]But he said to me, [j] “My grace is sufficient for you, for [k] my power is made perfect in weakness.” Therefore I will boast all the more gladly of my weaknesses, so that [l]the power of Christ may rest upon me. [10][m]For the sake of Christ, then, [n]I am content with weaknesses, insults, hardships, persecutions, and calamities. For [o]when I am weak, then I am strong.

Concern for the Corinthian Church

[11][†][p]I have been a fool! You forced me to it, for I ought to have been commended by you. For I was [q]not at all inferior to these super-apostles, [r]even though I am nothing. [12][†][s]The signs of a true apostle were performed among you [t]with utmost patience, with signs and wonders and mighty works. [13][†]For in what were you less favored than the rest of the churches, except that [u]I myself did not burden you? Forgive me this wrong!

[14][†]Here [v]for the third time I am ready to come to you. And I will not be a burden, for [w]I seek not what is yours but you. For [x]children are not obligated to save up for their parents, but [y]parents for their children. [15][z]I will most gladly spend and be spent for your souls. If [a]I love you more, am I to be loved less? [16][†]But granting that [b]I myself did not burden you, I was crafty, you say, and got the better of you by deceit. [17]Did I take advantage of you [c]through any of those whom I sent to you? [18][d]I urged Titus to go, and sent [e]the brother with him. Did Titus take advantage of you? Did we not act in the same spirit? Did we not take the same steps?

[19]Have you been thinking all along that we have been defending ourselves to you? It is [f]in the sight of God that we have been speaking in Christ, and [g]all for your upbuilding, beloved. [20][†]For I fear that perhaps [h]when I come I may find you not as I wish, and that you may find me not as you wish—that perhaps there may be quarreling, jealousy, anger, hostility, slander, gossip, conceit, and disorder. [21][†]I fear that when I come again my God may humble me before you, and I may have to mourn over many of those [i]who sinned earlier and have not repented of the impurity, [j]sexual immorality, and sensuality that they have practiced.

Final Warnings

2 CORINTHIANS 13 [†] [k]This is the third time I am coming to you. Every charge must be established [l]by the evidence of two or three witnesses. [2][†] [m]I warned [n]those who sinned before and all the others, and I warn them now while absent, as I did when present on my second visit, that [o]if I come again I will not spare them— [3][†]since you seek proof that Christ [p]is speaking in me. He is not weak in dealing with you, but [q]is powerful among you. [4]For [r]he was crucified in weakness, but [s]lives by the power of God. For [t]we also are weak in him, but in dealing with you [u]we will live with him by the power of God.

[5][†]Examine yourselves, to see whether you are in the faith. [v]Test yourselves. Or do you not realize this about yourselves, that [w]Jesus Christ is in you?—unless indeed you fail to meet the test! [6]I hope you will find out that we have not failed the test. [7][†]But we pray to God that you may not do wrong—not that we may appear to have met the test, but that you may do what is right, though we may seem to have failed. [8]For we cannot do anything against the truth, but only for the truth. [9]For we are glad when [x]we are weak and you are strong. Your [y]restoration is what we pray for. [10]For this reason I write these things while I am away from you, that when I come [z]I may not have to be [a]severe in my use of [b]the authority that the Lord has given me for building up and not for tearing down.

Final Greetings

[11][†]Finally, brothers,[1] rejoice. [c]Aim for restoration, comfort one another,[2] [d]agree with one another, [e]live in peace; and the God of love and [f]peace will be with you. [12][†] [g]Greet one another with a holy kiss. [13] [h]All the saints greet you.

[14][†] [i]The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ and [j]the love of God and [k]the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with you all.

Study Notes for 2 Corinthians

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:1–7:16 Paul's Defense of His Ministry as an Apostle. Paul's ministry reflects the work of the Holy Spirit.

FACT

Amen is the Greek form of the Hebrew word meaning "to confirm." The word is used throughout the Bible to affirm the truth of important statements (see 1:20). Paul often ends his letters with "Amen" (see Rom. 16:27), but here in 2 Corinthians he says it near the beginning of his letter.

---

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:1 apostle of Christ Jesus. See note on Rom. 1:1. The Greek word for "apostle" comes from the verb "to send out." It was used in the Greek OT for persons who had the authority of those who sent them (Ex. 3:10; Judg. 6:8; Jer. 1:7). saints. Literally, "holy" or "dedicated ones." All who belong to God are saints (see 1 Cor. 3:16–17; 5:1–6:20; 2 Cor. 6:14–7:1). Corinth was 46 miles (74 km) west of Athens. A Roman colony, it was the most influential city of the province of Achaia.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:2 Grace. A wordplay on the normal Greek greeting. Whereas the Greeks said, "Hello" (Greek charein), the Christians said, "Grace" (Greek charis). peace. The profound well-being that comes from resting in God's sovereignty and mercy (see note on John 14:27).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:3–11 Paul offers praise to God as he introduces the main themes to follow.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:3 God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. These titles describe Yahweh's relationship to Jesus and Jesus' relationship to his people.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:4 us . . . our. Most of the plural first-person pronouns in 2 Corinthians ("we," "us," "our") seem to refer to Paul himself (see v. 8; 7:5–7). At times these plurals may also include Timothy (1:1), other ministry partners (vv. 19, 21), or Christians generally (5:1–10). In this verse, Paul probably uses the plural to indicate that he represents both the apostolic office and believers generally.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:5 Christ's sufferings refers not to Jesus' unique atonement for sin (Rom. 5:8–10) but to Paul's sufferings in imitation of Christ. Paul endured these sufferings in faithfulness to God and for the sake of God's people.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:6–7 it is for your comfort. The opponents maintained that Paul's sufferings disqualified him as an apostle. Paul maintains that God uses his sufferings to strengthen other believers.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:8 Asia may refer back to Paul's suffering in Ephesus (1 Cor. 15:32). That Paul was burdened and despaired in Asia points forward to 2 Cor. 4:8, 17 (see note on 4:17–18).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:10 Biblical hope is absolute confidence in God's promises for the future (v. 10) based on his faithfulness in the past (v. 9).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:12–2:17 Paul offers a detailed defense of why he had changed his mind more than once about returning to Corinth. The process included: (1) an initial plan to visit Macedonia first, then Corinth (1 Cor. 16:5); (2) a subsequent plan to visit Corinth first, then Macedonia (2 Cor. 1:15); and finally (3) a decision to avoid "another painful visit" to Corinth, so that he went, by way of Troas, to Macedonia first (1:23; 2:1).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:14 The day of our Lord Jesus assigns to Jesus the divine and messianic role of judge that God the Father holds on "the day of the LORD" (e.g., Isa. 13:9; Joel 1–3; Zechariah 12–14; see 1 Cor. 5:5; 2 Pet. 3:10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:15–16 first . . . on my way to Macedonia, and to come back to you from Macedonia . . . on my way to Judea. Originally, Paul had planned to travel from Ephesus through Macedonia to Corinth (see map) on his way back to Jerusalem (1 Cor. 16:5–9). In the meantime, he sent Timothy to visit the Corinthians (Acts 19:22; 1 Cor.

16:10–11). When Timothy arrived in Corinth, he found the church in turmoil. When Paul learned of this he decided to go immediately to Corinth to resolve the issues, then travel on to Macedonia before returning to Corinth for a second visit on his way to Jerusalem. a second experience of grace. Some think this refers to a second opportunity to contribute to the collection for the believers in Jerusalem (see 2 Corinthians 8–9). Contributing to others' needs is called "grace" because it is made possible by God's grace in the lives of those who give (8:1, 4, 6–9, 19; 9:6–14). Others see this as a reference to the added blessings from God that would come from another visit by Paul.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:18–19 Paul can affirm that his word . . . was not Yes and No, but in him (Christ) it is always Yes because his change of plan was within God's will.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:20 God's promises find their fulfillment in Christ. Thus the OT Scriptures should be read as pointing to Christ (see the Overview of the Bible). Paul expresses his agreement—that is, his Amen. He confirms what God has done through Christ (through him) by preaching Christ (v. 19) and by behaving in a Christlike way toward the Corinthians. This included changing his plans in order to minister to them.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:21–22 To be anointed is to be set apart and gifted by God. This is symbolized in the OT by the pouring of olive oil as a sign of God's rich provision. seal. A mark of ownership. See note on John 6:27. guarantee. A financial term referring to the first installment paid as a pledge to complete the purchase. The Spirit comes as God's pledge to complete ("pay in full") the final redemption of his people at the end of the age (see Rom. 8:11).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:23–2:4 Paul makes clear that just as his first change of plans was a Christlike act in accordance with the promises of God, so too his decision not to come but to send them a "tearful letter" was an expression of God's love to them in Christ (2:3–4).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:23 to spare you. Paul did not return immediately to Corinth. He wanted to spare them God's punishment.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:1–2 painful visit. Paul’s visit turned out to be “painful” because of the church’s open rebellion against him (see vv. 5–8; 7:8–13; 11:4).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:4 Paul wrote a severe letter that called the Corinthians to repentance (see 7:8–9).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:5–11 The majority in Corinth had expressed their repentance by punishing the leader of the rebellion against Paul. Paul now calls them to follow his own Christlike example toward them by extending mercy to the offender, lest Satan have his way once again in the church.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:6 punishment. Mostly likely exclusion from the fellowship of the church (compare 1 Cor. 5:2, 5, 13).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:11 Satan’s designs are to destroy the mutual forgiveness, love, and unity that is to characterize God’s people (see 5:16–6:2).

The Believer’s Apparent (Temporal) Defeat and Actual (Spiritual) Victory

The Believer’s Apparent (Temporal) Defeat	The Believer’s Actual (Spiritual) Victory
For we were so utterly burdened beyond our strength that we despaired of life itself. Indeed, we felt that we had received the sentence of death (1:8–9).	He delivered us from such a deadly peril, and he will deliver us. On him we have set our hope that he will deliver us again (1:10).
When I came to Troas to preach the gospel of Christ . . . my spirit was not at rest . . . (2:12–13).	But thanks be to God, who in Christ always leads us in triumphal procession . . . (2:14).
We are afflicted in every way, but not crushed; perplexed, but not driven to despair; persecuted, but not forsaken; struck down, but not destroyed; always carrying in the body the death of Jesus, so that the life of Jesus may also be manifested in our bodies (4:8–10).	Though our outer self is wasting away, our inner self is being renewed day by day. For this light momentary affliction is preparing for us an eternal weight of glory beyond all comparison, as we look not to the things that are seen but to the things that are unseen (4:16–18).
A thorn was given me in the flesh, a messenger of Satan to harass me, to keep me from becoming conceited (12:7).	But [the Lord] said to me, “My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness” (12:9).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:12–17 These verses explain some of Paul’s actions behind writing 2 Corinthians (vv. 12–13; see also 7:5–16). They also reintroduce the letter’s main theme (2:14–17).

The Sufficiency of God in 2 Corinthians

2:16	Who is sufficient for these things?
3:5	Not that we are sufficient in ourselves . . .
3:5	but our sufficiency is from God
12:9	“My grace is sufficient for you . . .”

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:12–13 Paul came to Troas after leaving Ephesus for Macedonia, hoping to meet sooner with his coworker Titus. He had sent Titus to Corinth to present the “tearful letter” (vv. 3–4; see ch. 7). Despite a good response to the gospel in Troas (a door was opened for me in the Lord), when Titus failed to show up, Paul’s spirit was not at rest. He was concerned over the welfare of Titus and the church in Corinth (see 7:5–7; 11:28).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:14 leads us in triumphal procession. Most interpreters think this refers to the grand victory parades celebrated in Rome after great battles. Here God is portrayed as the sovereign victor. Christ is the general, leading the victory procession. Paul is “captured” by Christ but now joyfully follows him. This picture reflects an ongoing theme throughout 2 Corinthians: the contrast between the believer’s apparent defeat and his actual (spiritual) victory.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:15–16a aroma . . . fragrance. Some believe this refers to the incense spread along the streets during the triumphal procession (see note on v. 14). However, the terms used here are used often in the Greek OT to refer to the aroma of a sacrifice pleasing to God (e.g., Ex. 29:25). Christ is pictured as the primary sacrifice. Paul’s offering of his entire life to God (compare Rom. 12:1; Heb. 13:15–16) can then be seen as an extension of Christ’s death (see 2 Cor. 1:5). It is the aroma of Christ to God. from death to death . . . from life to life. Some dislike Paul’s life and message. This leads to their own condemnation. Others are attracted by the Christlike beauty seen in Paul and his message. Their acceptance of his message leads to their own eternal life.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:16b–17 Who is sufficient for these things? The implied answer clearly is “No one.” Our “sufficiency” comes only from God by means of his grace. Some of Paul’s opponents demanded payment for their ministries as if they were peddlers of God’s word (see 11:7–15; 12:13–16). In contrast, Paul’s commitment to support himself brought with him many hardships (see 1 Cor. 4:11–13; 15:10; 2 Cor. 6:5; 11:23).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:1–6 Paul makes it clear that, as an apostle, he was called to mediate the Spirit in fulfillment of the new covenant.

FACT

A new covenant. God wrote the first covenant, the law, on stone tablets (Ex. 24:12). The new covenant is “written” on hearts (2 Cor. 3:2–3; see Jer. 31:31–34; Ezek. 11:19). In other words, the Spirit changes believers’ hearts to enable them to obey God.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:1 Paul expects a negative answer to his two rhetorical questions, since his claim to be an apostle is not an empty boast (he does not commend himself). His claim of apostleship is supported by the Spirit and by his ministry of suffering. For the theme of “commendation” in 2 Corinthians, see notes on 4:2; 6:4; 10:12; 10:17–18.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:2–3 letter from Christ. By the Corinthians’ changed lives, Christ testifies to Paul’s true apostleship because he is the one who brought the gospel to them (delivered by us). on tablets of stone. See Ex. 24:12; Deut. 9:10. on tablets of human hearts. See Ezek. 11:19; 36:26.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:5 sufficiency is from God. Paul’s sufficiency as an apostle echoes the accounts of the callings of the OT prophets (see Judg. 6:11–24; Isa. 6:1–8; Jer. 1:4–10; Ezek. 1:1–3:11).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:6 ministers. Whereas “apostle” refers to Paul’s authoritative office, “minister” (or “servant”) refers to how he carries out his work. He can share this role with non-apostles (e.g., 4:1; 5:18; 1 Cor. 3:5). Here “minister” refers to Paul’s role of mediating the Spirit as promised in the new covenant (Jer. 31:33–34; Ezek. 36:25–27). the letter kills, but the Spirit gives life. Compare Rom. 2:29 and 7:6, the other two NT occurrences of this contrast. The letter kills since it announces God’s will without granting the power to keep it. This brings people under God’s judgment as covenant breakers. The Spirit alone gives life because only the Spirit can change the heart, enabling God's people to keep his commands.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:7–9 Moses' ministry is described as a ministry of death because Israel would not obey the law (see Ex. 32:9; 34:9) and so received condemnation (2 Cor. 3:9). The giving of the law was accompanied by so much glory that the Israelites could not gaze at Moses' face. See Ex. 34:29–35.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:10–11 Now that the new covenant has come, the old covenant has come to have no glory at all, since God is no longer revealing himself through it. The glory of the new covenant also surpasses that of the old in that the new covenant is a permanent, everlasting covenant.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:12–18 If Paul's ministry announces life, not death, then why are the majority of the Jews in Paul's day still rejecting it? Does Israel's rejection of Paul's message call the gospel itself into question? Paul answers these questions in this next section.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:12 Paul's confident expectation (his hope) is that God is pouring out the Spirit to change people's hearts.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:13 Veil is the key concept in vv. 13–18. so that the Israelites might not gaze at the outcome of what was being brought to an end. This explains why Moses veiled his face (Ex. 34:33, 35). The most likely interpretation is that Moses put a veil over his face so the Israelites would not see that the glory was gradually fading. This fading signified the temporary nature of the old covenant.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:14–15 Despite Paul's ministry, Israel's minds, which were hardened in Moses' day (Ex. 32:9; 33:3, 5; 34:9), remained so to this day. See also Deut. 29:4; Isa. 29:10. This is seen by the fact that that same veil remains unlifted in Paul's day whenever Moses is read. Here Paul uses Moses' veil as a symbol for the people's hardened condition. This hardness kept most Jews in Paul's day from recognizing that the law of Moses itself points to Jesus as the Messiah.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:17 the Lord is the Spirit. Paul seems to be saying that the Christian's experience of the ministry of the Spirit under the new covenant (vv. 3–8) is parallel to Moses' experience of God the Father under the old covenant. The Spirit (under the new covenant) sets one free from the veil of hard-heartedness (vv. 12–15). Paul regularly distinguishes Christ from the Holy Spirit in his writings. That is surely the case here, since later in this verse he speaks of the Spirit of the Lord. There is freedom most likely refers to the many kinds of freedom that come with salvation in Christ and with the presence of the Holy Spirit. These include freedom from condemnation, guilt, sin, death, the old covenant, and blindness to the gospel. It also includes access to the loving presence of God.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:18 with unveiled face, beholding the glory of the Lord. As a result of seeing the Lord through the ministry of the Spirit, the believer is being transformed (over time) into the same image of God that was distorted at the fall (see Gen. 1:26–27; 2 Cor. 5:17; also 1 John 3:2). The "image" of God includes every way in which humans are like God. This includes their moral character, their knowledge, their many God-given abilities, and their rule over creation (see Gen. 1:26–28).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:1–6:13 Paul explains why he does not become discouraged in his ministry, despite his many afflictions (4:1, 16; 5:6). He then goes on to discuss further the message and character of the new covenant ministry itself (5:11–6:13).

FACT

Treasure in jars of clay (4:7). Paul used this word picture to contrast believers' knowledge of the gospel ("treasure") with the hardships and weaknesses believers experience daily (see Ps. 30:12; Isa. 30:14).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:2 Paul is not motivated by money (2:17). He does not crave human approval (Gal. 1:10). Thus, Paul refused to tamper with God's word by watering it down or changing it to suit what people want to hear (compare 2 Tim. 4:3). (The Greek word for "tamper" was also used to describe diluting wine.) Rather, Paul's open statement of the truth shows that he does not proclaim a "secret" or hidden gospel.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:3–5 If our gospel is veiled refers to the hardened heart that makes it impossible for some to recognize Jesus as the Messiah (see 3:12–15). The god of this world refers to Satan. the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ. The gospel shows how Christ's death on the cross makes it possible for God's people to be in his presence. This gospel is both proclaimed and modeled by Paul (see 1 Cor. 2:1–5). See further the contrast between Paul's attitudes and actions and those of his opponents (2 Cor. 11:4).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:6 Paul uses the creation of light in Gen. 1:3 to picture conversion as the dawning of the new creation in this fallen world. the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. To know the glory of Christ (2 Cor. 4:4) is to encounter the life-transforming glory of God.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:7 treasure. A reference to the "knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Christ" (v. 6) as the content of the gospel (v. 4). jars of clay. A common metaphor in the ancient world for human weakness (see Ps. 31:12; Isa. 30:14). This verse restates the central thesis of 2 Corinthians as seen in 1:3–11 and 2:14–17: God triumphs amid human weakness (see 1 Cor. 1:27; 2 Cor. 12:5–9; 13:4).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:11–12 Paul's suffering and endurance are intended to bring about resurrection life among the Corinthians as they learn to trust God during difficulty (see 1:6–7).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:13 the same spirit of faith. Most interpreters have understood "spirit" to refer not to the Holy Spirit but to the attitude of trust in spite of affliction that Paul shared with David (see Ps. 116:10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:16 Outer self . . . inner self describes the contrast between Paul's life of suffering in this present evil age (his outer self) and the moral and spiritual transformation of his life into the image of God (his inner self; see 3:18). See Rom. 6:5–6; Eph. 3:16; 4:20–24; Col. 3:5–14.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:17–18 Earlier, Paul's suffering was a burden too heavy to carry (1:8). Now it is a light momentary affliction in view of the eternal weight of glory beyond all comparison (see Rom. 8:18). Far from harming him permanently, the difficulty is preparing him to receive a great eternal reward. the things that are seen. Paul's suffering and all the shortcomings of this present age. the things that are unseen. The full restoration of all things at the final resurrection.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:1 the tent that is our earthly home. Present human bodies, which will die. building from God . . . eternal in the heavens. The resurrection body that believers will receive on the last day (see 1 Thess. 4:13–18; Rev. 21:1–22:5).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:2–4 Paul longs for the resurrection (that is, being further clothed; see v. 1) in order to not be found naked or unclothed. This likely refers to the intermediate state in which believers' spirits are with God but they do not yet have their resurrected bodies.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:5 the Spirit as a guarantee. The presence of the Spirit in Christians' lives now is the down payment or guarantee that they will receive resurrection bodies when Jesus returns.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:6 at home . . . away. See note on v. 8.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:7 walk by faith, not by sight. Trusting in God's promises (4:18–5:1).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:8 away from the body and at home with the Lord. Paul expects that, when he dies, his spirit will go immediately into Christ's presence. He will remain in that state until the day of resurrection (compare Phil. 1:23; Heb. 12:23).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:9 we make it our aim to please him. See Eph. 5:10; Col. 3:20; Heb. 13:21; by contrast, Paul fears displeasing God; see 2 Cor. 5:11; also Eph. 4:30.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:10 the judgment seat of Christ. The "judgment seat" in the Roman courtroom was where the governor sat while giving verdicts. In the coming age, Christ will judge as God the Father's representative. He will rule the kingdom that the Father has given him (see Rom. 14:10–12). so that each one may receive what is due for what he has done . . . whether good or evil. Present-day actions have eternal consequences.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:11–6:2 Paul offers one of his most extensive descriptions of the motivation (5:11–15), content (5:16–19), and call of the new covenant ministry.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:11 the fear of the Lord. See 7:1; see note on Acts 5:5.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:12 On Paul's commending himself, see note on 4:2.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:13 if we are beside ourselves . . . if we are in our right mind. This possibly responds to some Corinthians calling Paul crazy. Paul's motivation is to please Christ (v. 9), so his goal is to persuade others (v. 11b). It is not to urge others to seek exotic religious experiences.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:14–15 one has died for all, therefore all have died. By Christ's death, the death penalty for sin (see Gen. 2:17) has been paid for all those who trust in him (see Rom. 3:21–26; 1 Cor. 15:3). the love of Christ controls us. See Titus 2:11–14.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:16 Regard no one according to the flesh, that is, according to worldly standards and values which claim that one's present physical life is all that matters. Before Paul's conversion, he regarded Christ according to the flesh. He considered Christ to be a false messiah whose suffering and death were punishment from God (see Deut. 21:23).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:17 The redemption of a people who live for Christ by living for others is the beginning of the new creation (see Isa. 43:18–19; 65:17–23; 66:22–23). This new creation also begins Israel's final restoration from God's judgment in the exile (see the context of Isa. 43:1–21; 65:17–25).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:18–20 reconciliation. These verses outline (1) the basis of Paul's apostolic ministry of the new covenant (Paul's own reconciliation to God through Christ); (2) its consequence (his ministry and message of reconciliation to the world for Christ); (3) its essential content (the forgiveness of sins because of Christ's death); and (4) its call (on behalf of Christ, be reconciled to God). ambassadors for Christ. Paul is God's prophetic minister of the new covenant (3:4–6). He announces God's "peace treaty" (see Isa. 53:5) with those who will trust in Christ to free them from the penalty and power of sin (2 Cor. 5:14–15; see Rom. 5:11).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:21 This verse is one of the most important in all of Scripture for understanding the meaning of the atonement and justification. The one who knew no sin is Jesus Christ (v. 20), and he (God) made him (Christ) to be sin. God the Father made Christ to be viewed and treated as "sin" even though Christ himself never sinned (Heb. 4:15; see Gal. 3:13). For our sake. God viewed and treated "our" sin as if it belonged to Christ himself. Thus Christ "died for all" (2 Cor. 5:14) and became our substitute. Christ took the punishment that we deserved (1 Pet. 2:24). The background for this is Isaiah 53, the most lengthy and detailed OT prophecy of Christ's death. It contains several parallels to 2 Cor. 5:21. so that in him we might become the righteousness of God. Just as God gave our sin and guilt to Christ ("he made him to be sin") so God also gives Christ's righteousness to all who believe in Christ. God now views and treats believers as having the legal status of "righteousness." See further notes on Rom. 5:18; 10:3; 10:6–8; see also Isa. 53:11.

FACT

What does it mean to be "reconciled"? To be reconciled means to be reunited with someone from whom one has been alienated. Forgiveness can lead to restored fellowship. Sin leads to alienation from God, but through Christ we can be forgiven and reconciled to God. "Be reconciled to God" (5:20) is thus a wonderful invitation to the gospel (see also Rom. 5:11).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:1 The grace of God comes through the death of Christ (5:14–19). Those who turn back from Christ show that their initial, apparent acceptance of God's grace was not real but in vain.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:2 By quoting Isa. 49:8, Paul identifies his apostolic ministry with Isaiah's prophetic role. Both call Israel to repentance and perseverance in view of the coming day of redemption and judgment (salvation).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:3–13 Paul defends his ministry as an apostle by once again calling attention to his faithfulness amid the changing circumstances of his apostolic life. Paul's ministry reflects God's power in spite of human weakness.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:4 we commend ourselves in every way. Not only by victories but also by enduring hardship, Paul gives testimony to the truthfulness of his apostolic ministry. See note on 4:2.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:7 weapons of righteousness for the right hand and for the left. The spiritual weapons God provides (see Eph. 6:11). Paul may have in mind a weapon for offense (usually a sword, on the right; see Eph. 6:17), and one for defense (usually a shield, on the left; see Eph. 6:16).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:13 Paul calls those Corinthians still in rebellion against him his spiritual children (see 1 Cor. 4:14–15; 2 Cor. 12:14–15). He asks them to respond to him the way he has responded to them.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:14 Do not be unequally yoked with unbelievers. This command, which is Paul's main point in 6:14–7:1, will be restated in different words at the end of the section (7:1). The Greek word can mean either "yoked" or crossbred (Lev. 19:19). In this context, it refers especially to those still rebelling against Paul.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:15 Belial. This name for Satan was used in Judaism in Paul's day. It was often used to stress Satan as an opponent of God's. This fits Paul's concern with his opponents.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:16 idols. See note on Rom. 1:23. we are the temple of the living God. The word for temple refers to the Most Holy Place. There God's presence was shown over the ark of the covenant. This equation of believers with the Most Holy Place (see also 1 Cor. 3:16) reflects the amazing reality of the new covenant: God dwells directly and immediately in the midst of his people. as God said. This one phrase introduces six OT quotations in 2 Cor. 6:16c–18. Taken together, these OT texts support the commands of v. 14 and 7:1. The first quotation combines Lev. 26:11–12 with Ezek. 37:27.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:17–18 Therefore. Paul explains what it means to be the new covenant people of God with three commands from Isa. 52:11 and three promises from Ezek. 20:34; 2 Sam. 7:14; and Isa. 43:6.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:1 The fear of God, that is, reverent obedience, is the only way to live wisely (Prov. 1:7, 29; 8:13).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:2–4 Paul resumes the exhortation from 6:11–13. The Corinthians are to side with Paul and reject the false teachers (see 6:14–7:1).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:5 Paul goes back to the topic from 2:13.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:6–9 Titus reported that the Corinthians had fully repented and had turned back to Paul, and therefore back to the gospel. This news comforted Paul.

FACT

Titus (7:6) was Paul’s coworker (8:23). He had the unenviable task of delivering a severe letter from Paul to the Corinthians. Thankfully, the majority of the Corinthians repented of the sins that had prompted Paul’s letter (7:7). Paul later wrote to Titus in Crete, where he was establishing churches.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:10 repentance. Regret for having lost God’s approval, which leads to a commitment to reverse one’s conduct and live for God (5:6–10, 15). worldly grief. Grief brought about by losing the world’s approval. This leads to trying to regain that approval, and this produces death, or divine judgment.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:11–12 The Corinthians’ response to the letter Paul wrote to them demonstrated that they belonged to God.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:13–14 Paul had boasted to Titus that the Corinthians were truly a work of the Spirit. Their response showed that he was correct.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:16 Paul is confident that the Corinthians will do what he asks.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:1–9:15 Paul's Appeal to the Repentant Church Regarding the Collection. In view of 7:2–16, Paul encourages the church to complete the collection that they had begun earlier for the suffering believers in Jerusalem (see Rom. 15:25–32; 1 Cor. 16:1–4; Gal. 2:9–10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:1 the grace of God . . . given among the churches of Macedonia. A reference to the generosity of the churches in the region of Philippi, Thessalonica, and Berea (see Acts 16:9–17:15; 18:5; 19:21–22, 29; 20:1–4; 27:2). Paul calls the collection an act of "grace" because contributing to the needs of others is made possible by God's gifts (2 Cor. 8:1, 4, 19; see also 8:9; 9:8).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:2–5 not as we expected. God's grace was shown since the Macedonians gave even though they were poor. gave themselves first to the Lord. The Macedonians recommitted their lives. and then . . . to us. They offered money and any other personal help they could give Paul.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:7 faith . . . speech . . . knowledge. A reference to the Corinthians' spiritual gifts (see 1 Cor. 1:5; 8:1–7; 12:8–10; 14:19).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:8–10 not as a command. Giving to the Lord's work must be voluntary. was rich . . . became poor. A reference to Christ's status as the eternal Son of God in heaven (John 1:1–3; Gal. 4:4; Phil. 2:6) and the humility of his life on earth, including his death (Phil. 2:7–8). He did these things so that believers might become rich (might have salvation and all its benefits).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:12 according to what a person has. Paul did not pressure people to give what they did not have or could not afford to give.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:13–14 fairness . . . fairness. Paul was asking that Corinth do its fair share in meeting the extreme needs of the Christians in Jerusalem. At the present time the Gentile believers can contribute financially, while the Jewish believers can contribute leadership and the ministry of the gospel (see Rom. 11:11–12, 25–26, 30–32).

FACT

Doing your fair share. In chs. 8–9, Paul asked the Corinthians to contribute money to his collection for poor Christians in Jerusalem. Paul did not expect them to give so much that they would be "burdened"; he only asked that they do their fair share (8:13–14).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:16 Once again, Paul's thanks . . . to God begins a new section (compare 1:3; 2:14).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:18 The identity of the famous . . . brother is unknown.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:19–22 ministered by us. . . . administered by us. This same phrase appears in 3:3 to describe Paul's new covenant ministry of the Spirit ("delivered by us"). This shows that the collection for the needy in Jerusalem was an essential part of the apostolic ministry of the gospel. so that no one should blame us. As Paul delivers the gift to Jerusalem, a team of men well known for their integrity will travel with him. Their presence will protect Paul from charges that he stole from the collection and also provide protection from robbers. See chart.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:23 the glory of Christ. The delegates' love reflects Christ's love for his people (v. 9). It results from their having encountered the glory of God through Christ (3:18; 4:4–6).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:6 sows bountifully. Paul expands a well-known proverb, "You reap what you sow" (e.g., Job 4:8; Gal. 6:7). God provides opportunities to give generously. Those who sow generously will also reap bountifully in terms of bearing fruit for God's kingdom (2 Cor. 9:11).

FACT

More than simple charity. From the Jerusalem church, the good news about Christ had spread to the Gentile world. Paul's collection (chs. 8–9) was an opportunity for Gentile believers to show gratitude to their Jewish brothers and sisters in Christ (see Rom. 15:27).

---

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:7–8 God loves ("approves of") a cheerful giver (see Deut. 15:10; Rom. 12:8).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:10 God will increase the harvest in terms of increasing your righteousness. Thus the quoted OT texts (Isa. 55:10; Hos. 10:12) refer specifically to the provision of God's Word for the salvation of his people.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:15 The Corinthians' gift reflects the inexpressible gift God has given believers in Christ (see 8:9; Rom. 8:32).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:1–13:10 Paul's Appeal to the Rebellious Minority in Corinth. In the third major section of his letter, Paul directly appeals to those who are still rejecting his gospel and apostolic authority. During his third visit, Paul will be forced to judge those who have not repented (10:6; 12:20–21; 13:1–10).

FACT

Problems in Corinth. Paul's second visit to Corinth was a painful one. The Corinthians had accepted false teachers, and they openly rebelled against Paul and the gospel. Grieved, he left and sent them a severe letter (now lost). Paul now warns them that during his third visit he will be forced to judge those who have not repented from their sins (10:2; 12:20–21; 13:10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:1–11 Paul responds to criticism of his humble appearance (vv. 1–6) and his refusal to use impressive public speaking techniques (vv. 7–11; see 1 Cor. 2:1–5).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:1 the meekness and gentleness of Christ. Christ's willingness to allow time for repentance before he returns to judge (see 2 Pet. 3:8–10). I who am humble when . . . with you, but bold toward you when I am away. Paul probably quotes accusations made by his opponents (see 2 Cor. 10:10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:3–4 The weapons of Paul's warfare are not physical but spiritual, such as prayer, the Word of God, faith, and the power of the Holy Spirit. By the Spirit Paul tears down the strongholds of wrong thinking and behavior in the lives of those who resist his authority.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:8 for building you up and not for destroying you. "Building up" the church is a common Pauline description of new covenant ministry (see Rom. 14:19; 15:2; 1 Cor. 3:9–14; 14:3–5).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:9–11 absent . . . present. See note on v. 1.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:12–18 Paul now turns to reestablishing his authority in Corinth by (1) defining the proper standard for apostolic authority and (2) demonstrating that his ministry actually meets that standard, while his opponents' ministry does not.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:12 Paul's opponents recommend one another by comparing their abilities, spiritual gifts, and experiences. These are irrelevant for establishing apostolic authority in a church.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:13–14 In contrast to his opponents, Paul does not boast beyond limits (that is, beyond the sphere of his God-given apostolic authority). His apostolic authority in Corinth (the area of influence God assigned to us) was based on God sending Paul to establish the church in Corinth (to reach . . . you). See 1 Cor. 4:15; 2 Cor. 3:1–3.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:15–16 lands beyond. Paul's aim is to plant churches in areas where the gospel has never been proclaimed (see Rom. 10:14–17). These false teachers try to change the gospel in places where it has already been established (another's area).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:17–18 Paul supports his boasting as an apostle (vv. 12–16) by citing Jer. 9:23–24 (compare 1 Cor. 1:31). Since all human abilities and achievements are gifts from God, the only true basis for boasting is to boast in the Lord, that is, boasting in what the Lord provides, not in one's accomplishments. The Lord commends his people by working in and through their lives (see 2 Cor. 3:1; 4:2; 5:12; 6:4).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:2 As their "father" in the faith (see 1 Cor. 4:15; 2 Cor. 6:13; 12:14), Paul feels the same divine jealousy that God felt for Israel (Ex. 34:14). In Jewish culture, when a daughter was betrothed, her father guaranteed that he would present her as a pure virgin at her wedding (Deut. 22:13–24; see 2 Cor. 6:14–7:1). Here the "betrothal" was the Corinthians' conversion through Paul's ministry. The husband is Christ, and the "wedding day" is the day of Christ's return (see 1:14; Eph. 5:27; Col. 1:22; Rev. 19:6–9). Paul's picture of the church as engaged to Christ (compare Eph. 5:25–27; Rev. 19:7–8) carries on the OT view of Israel as committed to God.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:3 See Gen. 3:1–13.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:4 different gospel. The "gospel" of Paul's opponents may have promised health and wealth but no suffering. This was contrary to Paul's message and experiences (4:5; 5:14–15, 18–19).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:5–6 super-apostles. This is probably a sarcastic description of the false apostles troubling the Corinthian church (see vv. 4, 13–15; see also 12:11).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:7 Paul supported himself in Corinth. Thus he preached God's gospel . . . free of charge for the sake of the Corinthians. This exalted the Corinthian believers but was a humbling experience for Paul. It required physical suffering as a result of his hard work and low pay. It also required accepting the disdain that the wealthy had for manual laborers (see 1 Cor. 4:11–13; 9:4–18; 15:10; 2 Cor. 11:23).

FACT

Preaching for free. Some traveling teachers in Paul's day accepted money from their listeners, but Paul worked as a tentmaker to support himself (Acts 18:3; see 1 Cor. 9:4–18). Churches also supported his missions financially (2 Cor. 11:9).
